Candidates for state office talk issues in community forum

BY MARK FOYNES

Contributing Writer

NEW DURHAM — Candidates vying for multiple state elected offices had a chance to talk with voters at a public forum that drew about 20 attendees on Oct. 27.

The two-hour session, held at the town library, was guided by New Durham Town Moderator Cecile Chase, who outlined the evening's format.

Running for Executive Council District 1 are Republican incumbent Joe Kenney of Union and Democratic challenger Michael Cryans of Hanover.

Candidates for the State Senate seat being vacated by the retiring Sam Cataldo are Democrat Joe Casey and Republican Jim Gray.

Finally, on Nov. 8, New Durham voters will have a chance to select two from among the following four candidates for State Representative seats: Democrats Bob Perry and Ellen Phillips and Republicans Michael Harrington and Kurt Wuelper.

Each candidate or a designee was given an opportunity to provide an opening statement. Following this portion, Chase read questions submitted by attendees or provided in advance. Below is a partial summary of candidates' remarks.

Opening statements - Executive Councilor

Neither candidate could be present in person. Both sent representatives to speak in their behalf.

Issuing a statement in behalf of Cryans was New Durham resident Rich Leonard. The statement invoked the memory of former Republican Councilor Ray Burton, who was widely well-regarded in an electoral geography that stretches from the Canadian border to northern Strafford County. Leonard said Cryans knows "people feel forgotten by Concord" and embraces the "importance of constituent service" - in part by having collaborated with Burton in his role as Grafton County Commissioner.

Cryans' priorities, according to Leonard, include addressing "failing infrastructure," improving education, approving a Planned Parenthood health services contract, and expanding Medicaid.

Kenney sent representative Cody Morrison to speak in his behalf. He said Kenney logs about 120k of road miles driving to the outer reaches of the district to gather input so citizens can have "their voice heard in Concord."

Morrison noted, "He doesn't care if you're a Democrat or a Republican - he asks, 'How can I help?'" He cited Kenney's 14 years in the State Senate and many years in the Marine Corps and the Reserves as a testament to his commitment to service.

Morrison said the opioid crisis, aging infrastructure, and economic development through workforce education are his top goals. Regarding the last item, he said partnerships with UNH, community colleges, and vocational centers are key.

Residents, officials look to the future

Master Plan forum talks municipal services in New Durham

BY MARK FOYNES

Contributing Writer

NEW DURHAM — A robust gathering of residents and elected officials came together last week to share insights at the New Durham Planning Board's Oct. 20 Master Plan forum, which was devoted to what taxpayers expect of core municipal services.

Selectmen's representative David Swenson initiated the session, held in the fire station community room, with a slide deck that outlined some basic facts "on what the town should plan for."

Swenson said a Master Plan is akin to a private sector strategic plan and should be a "dynamic document" that's regularly revisited and used as a performance metric.

"It fails if you do not follow up on it," he urged, with several department heads amongst those in the audience. Swenson said a Master Plan can "hold those accountable who need to be accountable from a citizens' perspective."

Swenson added that the document, viewable in draft form on the town web site, can serve as a "blueprint for economic development" and should be "used, reviewed, and periodically updated."

As part of his talk, Swenson said the town is gifted "in terms of natural resources."

As in past sessions, Swenson hoped to gather input that would identify broad goals that advance the town's interests. To achieve these goals, Swenson said he hoped strategies would emerge that could target specific tactics that could advance community interests.

Evolving demographics could play a large role in the type of services residents require, Swenson suggested. Citing data provided by the Strafford County Planning Commission, he said the town can expect to see an older population that's more densely concentrated. Swenson observed the community is both reflective of a statewide aging trend, and that the overall population is projected to increase.

Town Administrator Scott Kinmond facilitated the next portion of the session, saying he wanted to get a broad sense of the community's expectations for town services. He said facilities such as the town hall, the transfer station, and library are key points of delivery.

Kinmond said the Rec Department also provides many vital services and described its director as "something of a ping pong ball" who splits her time between her town hall office, the ball fields, the town beach and other locations. He praised Nichole Hunter as someone who delivers a lot of service on a part-time basis "with a handful of other folks" who help out on a part-time or volunteer basis.

Regarding public safety and road maintenance, Kinmond said his approach is informed by a background in law enforcement and public works. He said the fire department has structural space needs issues, and that the police department is in the midst of staffing shortages. Regarding the NDFD, Kin-

Sowing bee

The New Durham Public Library's FIRST LEGO League Junior Team disperses poppy seeds in the library's garden to produce an early spring food supply for bees. The insects are a major focus of the international robotics challenge posed for youngsters this year. The seeds will produce annuals with lavender blooms, and packets of them are available for free to all residents due to the generosity of Les Turner of Merrymeeting Daylilies. Just stop by the library to pick some up, and spread them before the first snowfall.

Turkey raffle will benefit New Durham Food Pantry

BY CATHY ALLYN

Contributing Writer

NEW DURHAM — "I can't get over the size of this town and the number of people who help out," said resident and volunteer Joan Swenson. "It's amazing to me what people give to help out, and I like being part of it."

She is referring to the New Durham Food Pantry, a town fixture for decades.

Many of the founders of the charitable group are no longer with us, but Treasurer William Herman believes the pantry started up in the early to mid-1970s.

I had no idea that the food pantry has been around for so long," Terry Jarvis, also associated with the group, said. "Think of the number of people that have been helped over the years."

Winnie Berry has been president for the past seven years, about the time when the pantry moved into its Main Street digs, but had volunteered for years before that. She explained the upcoming Turkey Raffle on Saturday, Nov. 19, at the New Durham School.

"This is the first raffle we've done," she

Election Day is Tuesday

Election Day is Tuesday, Nov. 8, and polls will be open throughout the day in the three local communities. Residents will be allowed to register to vote at the polls on the day of the election.

In Alton, voting takes place at the Pearson Road Community Center from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.

In Barnstead, voting takes place at Town Hall from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.

In New Durham, the polls will be open from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. at the New Durham Elementary School.

Jacob Cantrall earns Eagle Scout rank

NEW DURHAM — Troop 53 of the Abnaki District, Daniel Webster Council of the Boy Scouts of America would like to congratulate Scout Jacob Cantrall for achieving the Boy Scouts of America's highest scout rank, Eagle Scout, on Oct. 16. Cantrall, son of Eric and Elizabeth Cantrall of New Durham, has been with Troop 53 since 2009, after crossing over from being a Cub Scout. Cantrall's Eagle Award Court of Honor ceremony was held at the Calvary Wolfeboro Evangelical Church in Wolfeboro, where Pastor Justin Marbury performed the Invocation. In order to earn the Eagle Scout Award, Cantrall had to fulfill requirements in the following areas: Scout spirit, community service and leadership, and had to maintain an attitude consistent with the Scout Oath and Scout Law. He had to earn a minimum of 21 merit badges, exceeding this requirement by earning 25. He held various leadership positions within the Troop, to include Assistant Patrol Leader, Patrol Leader and Assistant Senior Patrol Leader. Cantrall also had to complete a community service project, which included the planning, financing and execution of the project. He chose to complete his Eagle community service project by building 10 handmade wooden benches for the benefit of the Calvary Wolfeboro Evangelical Church and members of the Wolfeboro community. Cantrall is also an active member of the Calvary Wolfeboro youth group. Troop 53 Scoutmaster Jamie Tuttle presented Cantrall with his Eagle Scout Award as members of his family and Troop 53 looked on. Assistant Scoutmaster Andrew Rydlewski and Troop 53 Chartered Organization Representative Karen Comeau told stories about Cantrall's rise from Cub Scout to Eagle Scout. As a token of his appreciation, Cantrall presented his parents with their own Eagle pins, and Karen Comeau and his Eagle Scout mentor, Frank Comeau with mentor pins.

Cantrall joins a long length of Boy Scouts who have earned the Eagle Scout rank, to include such notable figures as astronauts Neil Armstrong and Charles Duke, film director Steven Spielberg, President Gerald Ford, former Secretary of Defense Donald Rumsfeld and Discovery Channel host Mike Rowe.

Republicans meet Tuesday in Barnstead

ALTON — The Barnstead-Alton-Gilmanton Republican Committee (BARC'G) will hold their next meeting on Tuesday, Nov. 8, at 6:30 p.m. at J.J. Goodwin's Restaurant (upstairs dining room), 769 Suncook Valley Highway (Route 28), in Center Barnstead.

Since the committee will be meeting at 6:30 p.m. on Election Day, members and guests will be anxiously awaiting election returns. In the meantime, they'll be reacting to reports of voter turnout nationwide and the results of "exit polls." In addition, the committee will be discussing legislation that has already been submitted in the House and Senate in Concord for the upcoming term. BARC'G meetings are open to all Republicans and like-minded Independents from Alton, Barnstead and Gilmanton, and any other towns in New Hampshire. Don't miss this opportunity to hear from the various nominees. There is no charge to attend the meeting.

Per their usual meeting format, if you're interested in having dinner (at your option) or wish to socialize before the meeting, plan to arrive as early as 5:30 p.m.

The committee reminds those attending to bring a non-perishable food item (cans of soup, tuna fish, etc.) to the meeting for distribution to local food pantries.

For more information, please check the committee's web site, BARC-NEWHAMPSHIRE.COM, or send an e-mail to Barnstead.Alton.RepubComm@gmail.com or alan.glassman@gmail.com.

Doll tea party set for Saturday at Oscar Foss

BARNSTEAD — Join in at the Oscar Foss Memorial Library on Nov. 5 at 10 a.m. for an American Girl tea party and dolly spa. Dress up and bring along your favorite doll for a morning of pampering. You can have your hair and nails done (and your doll's hair), make a necklace and dress up in a tutu and crown. Participants can also have a picture taken on the "stage" with your doll to take home with you. All refreshments will be provided by the library. They will also be raffling off a ballerina doll, with proceeds to go towards children's programming at the library. Raffle tickets are available to be purchased at the library and the winner will be drawn on Nov. 15. Registration is required and space is limited. You can sign up on the library's web site, or contact the library at 269-3900.

Please call the library at 269-3900 or visit oscarfoss.org for more information about these or any of our other programs or events. There is always something happening at the Oscar Foss Memorial Library. Library hours are Mondays from 2 to 8 p.m., Tuesdays and Wednesdays from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., Thursdays from 5 to 8 p.m., Fridays from 2 to 5 p.m. and Saturdays from 9 a.m. to noon.

ALTON CENTRAL'S SCOOP

Art, art everywhere at ACS

BY CRIS BLACKSTONE

Alton Central School Principal

With Ms. Amanda Woods and Ms. Jasmyn Gray, the two art teachers working with ACS students, opportunities for meaningful, creative expression with a variety of materials are embedded in students' days in many different ways. On a stroll around the school, you will see art on bulletin boards that connected making 3-D raised pictures of "Artifacts" with the fifth graders' Native American unit of study or art that was a product of "landform art" from Ms. Woods' trip with the eighth graders spanning two days outdoors around Knight's Pond.

These connections help reach all learning styles while helping students demonstrate their knowledge about lessons from each teacher during the school day. Ms. Woods and Ms. Gray have made a clear point of introducing the students to famous artists, so there is an element of art appreciation and art history during this very important Unified Arts class, too.

When students are producing land form art, they are taking their awareness of the simplest details as well as the macro images of their surroundings and translating those elements in to graceful, appealing sculptures.

Jasmyn Gray (left) and Amanda Woods (right), the art teachers for ACS in front of some of the monochromatic portraits by their students. It's a fulfilling gallery walk, as you see their many displays of student artwork throughout the school. Rich vocabulary enhances their lessons, too, extending the art experience in to many academic standards.

Scouting for Food, can trailer updates from Troop 53

ALTON — Alton / New Durham Boy Scout Troop 53 will be participating in the national "Scouting for Food," an annual event held in November. On Saturday, Nov. 5, Scouts will leave door hangers at many houses advertising the food drive and asking the residents to leave foodstuffs outside for pick-up on the following Saturday, Nov. 12. The food donations will be collected by the Scouts on Saturday, Nov. 12, please have your donation out by 8 a.m. The food will be received at a central location in Alton and will be divided between the Alton and New Durham Food Pantries. Your donations will help local families in need. If you do not receive a door hanger but wish to make a donation, please call Karen Comeau at 455-0621 or e-mail your location information to kcomeau115@yahoo.com.

Can trailer finished for season

The Troop 53 aluminum can collection trailer has retired for the winter months. The Troop thanks everyone who gave the Scouts the opportunity to recycle and to make a little money to use on Scout activities. With permission of the American Legion, the trailer will resume its summer location as early as weather permits in 2017. Large quantities of cans can usually be handled and if you would like to make arrangements for a private pick-up, please call Karen at 455-0621 or e-mail kcomeau115@yahoo.com. The Scouts apologize to any that they weren't able to pick up from last year and they are willing to try again.

Dinner to benefit Robertson family is Nov. 19

BARNSTEAD — Friends, family and community members of a local Barnstead family are sponsoring a benefit buffet dinner to raise funds for a local family during a very difficult and financially draining time. Eric Robertson, a long-time resident of Barnstead, has worked in area towns for many years as a juvenile probation/parole and law enforcement officer. He and his wife, Wendy, have raised their two children in the town of Barnstead and they have been active in community and school events with their children.

Eric Robertson has been battling cancer for quite some time now and his medical bills have accumulated significantly. In addition, Wendy Robertson has experienced pay losses when she has missed work to help her husband with his medical treatments.

Please join in at the Parade Fire Station on Saturday, Nov. 19, from 5 p.m. to 8 p.m. for a delicious all-you-can-eat buffet to support raising funds for this worthy cause. The cost is your generous donation. Menu will feature grilled hot dogs and buns with all the fixings and side dishes you can imagine, with fresh apple crisp for dessert.

A silent auction of locally provided farm and craft items and 50/50 raffle will also be held.

For more information, please contact Carol Troy at 545-1099.

Wolfeboro seniors looking for new members

WOLFEBORO — The Wolfeboro Senior Citizens Club is looking for 50 and over citizens to join the group. They meet on the third Wednesday of the month, except July and August, with entertainment and refreshments provided at each meeting. Dues are minimal. The group also sponsors a spring and Christmas luncheon at an outside facility for a nominal cost.

The club is planning trips to different venues such as Indian Head in Lincoln, the Stoneham Theatre or the Ogunquit Playhouse. These trips usually include lunch at an area restaurant such as Warren's Seafood or Danvers Port Yacht Club, tickets for the show and transportation.

The club needs new members to add new life to the club as well as new ideas and programs. Men and women are invited to come to one of the monthly meetings on the third Wednesday of the month at 1:30 p.m. at the Episcopal church next to Huggins Hospital.

THE BAYSIDER, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 3, 2016

Please, be over with

In just a few days, our long national nightmare will be over. Or at least, we assume it will be over.

This election seems to have lasted forever and has left the American people with two people viewed as the worst possible candidates imaginable by large chunks of the country. Thankfully, come next Wednesday, this should all have passed.

This election has seemingly been going on forever. Here in New Hampshire we have the honor of being the first state to vote in a primary, but that also means that we usually get a good deal of attention before other people, making our election season one of the longest around. But really, what has made this election seem so much longer is probably the candidates themselves.

We expressed our disappointment in the choices before us in this space before. However, what is most disappointing is that these candidates don't spend their time debating issues, rather they spend their time hurling insults at each other and at the other candidate's supporters. Attack ads run rampant and America is more divided than ever.

Sadly, this has trickled down to the state level as well, with numerous attack ads sponsored by outside special interest groups gracing our airwaves. Our sitting US Senator is being attacked by ads saying she bows to special interests, ads paid for by special interest groups who certainly would never want anything from our sitting governor, who is challenging said senator, if she were to win the election.

Our Congressional race in District One is not much better. We have a lying Congressman seeking re-election against a candidate who has done just about nothing each time she's been elected over the past few years. The fact that these two have exchanged the same seat over and over again for the past few elections is embarrassing to the state of New Hampshire. Neither of these fools has proven they can do a good enough job to win re-election, so why should we be voting for either of them?

Our candidates for governor have at least had some executive council experience and that's a positive, but one has gone on record as a Northern Pass supporter, something that doesn't sit well with the northern portion of the state and the other's big plan to bolster the economy is to build a commuter rail from Nashua into Massachusetts when it's been proven over and over again that, while a great way to get places, rail travel does not pay for itself and needs the support of taxpayers to make it work.

The constant back and forth of ads, attacking one person or another, has been maddening and the fact that at least that portion of our election season is coming to an end, is glorious. But you know, no matter which of the idiots on the ballot wins on Tuesday, the whole thing's not going to be over. Hillary's supporters will revolt if Trump wins and Trump's supporters will revolt if Hillary wins. And who loses? Everyone.

The American people deserve better than what we have to choose from. Sadly, there's few options. We urge everyone to vote, but at this point, we completely understand if you don't want to. After all, the worst of two evils is still evil.

Letters to the Editor

Bickford supports Wuelper and Harrington

To the Editor:

I have served as New Durham's State Representative for 16 years. I have also served Strafford, Middleton, Milton, Farmington and Barrington in the past. I have decided not to be a candidate for state office this term.

I am satisfied the Republican candidates Kurt Wuelper and Mike Harrington of Strafford will serve New Durham and Strafford well. In the last session Kurt came forward and assisted me in ushering two bills through the Judiciary Committee he was a member of. These bills eventually passed the legislature with ease, which is a very difficult task to accomplish.

Mike Harrington also served with me about 10 years ago. Mike is a nuclear engineer and former Public Utilities Commissioner. He is well versed in science and technology. He understands nothing is free and over the years he has continued to converse with me over pending legislation. I valued his input and thank him for sharing it with me.

David A. Bickford

Unite behind Shea-Porter

To the Editor:

Hopefully most of the Baysider's readers are registered to vote in New Hampshire's First Congressional District. You do not have to be much of a civic activist to be keenly aware that Frank Guinta is our current representative. For the past decade he and Carol Shea-Porter have been trading the job back-and-forth.

I have been very dissatisfied with Guinta's performance (too far to the right for my values) while comfortable enough with Shea-Porter's (very centrist). Therefore, this election cycle I am eager to see Guinta removed from his seat representing the 1st C.D.

It will not be easy inasmuch as there are five names on the ballot.

That has the high potential of splitting the anti-Guinta vote four different ways and giving him a plurality to retain his seat.

Voters unite, and not let that happen.

Shea-Porter has good name recognition having "been there, done that." Two other names are unknowns to me. A newcomer, Shawn P. O'Connor, is running an aggressive campaign funded largely with his own money and that from small donors. Under different circumstances he would get my vote for not being beholden to moneyed interests and being openly gay.

These are not "ordinary interests," however. To throw the rascal out please give thoughtful consideration to the persuasive case I hope I made, above.

Very respectfully submitted.

Questions Rep. Howard's votes

To the Editor:

Rep. Ray Howard (District 8, including Alton, Barnstead and Gilmanston) has a legislative record that makes me question both his values and his judgment. In my view, his votes have been inconsistent with the values of our district.

Ray Howard's response to the drug crisis has been consistently irresponsible and short-sighted. In 2015, he voted against the cost-free task force to study the problem. After that bipartisan effort passed, three substantive (bipartisan) bills were passed to address prevention, treatment, rehabilitation and enforcement issues related to the drug crisis. Rep. Howard voted against all three. He also voted against a bill requiring high schools to provide a civics course and a competency test on the subject.

Mr. Howard showed the same irresponsibility and short-sightedness in his votes on the county budget, as he exhibited in Concord. Most of us want to keep seniors in their homes longer, both for their own good and to avoid the much higher cost of paying for their care in nursing homes. Mr. Howard, however, voted to slash the appropriation to the Community Action Program, which provides Meals on Wheels, senior medical transportation and companionship, by 1/3 of the recommended level. Similar poor judgment was shown by Rep. Howard when he voted to totally defund Genesis, which provides mental health counseling.

Some of Mr. Howard's votes may have been based on a view that no government dollars should be spent for anything, at either the state level or the county level, although that argument does not apply to the drug task force or to the civics course. The merit of attempts to address and reduce the drug crisis, assist needy seniors and provide mental health services could be based on compassion alone. Even a person lacking any compassion, however, should be able to understand that dealing with these problems now saves the taxpayers money in the long run. The drug crisis-related costs of increased law enforcement, incarceration, hospital and other health treatment, together with reduced economic productivity make it clear that we need to do something about the problem; the same applies to mental health issues. About 3/4 of our jail population suffers from substance abuse problems, mental health problems, or both. Wouldn't it make sense to support providers such as Genesis, to treat mental health issues prior to involvement of the criminal justice system?

As for elder care, it should be noted that in home care costs about 1/3 of nursing home care. Supporting programs provided by Community Action Program would allow many seniors to remain in their homes longer and delay entry into nursing homes. Belknap County taxpayers currently pay (as required) the 50 percent non-federal Medicaid share of the cost of providing either home care or nursing home care for needy seniors. It is clearly to the benefit of taxpayers to assist seniors in remaining in their homes as long as feasible.

Looking at Rep. Howard's record from a viewpoint of compassion, he comes up empty. Looking at the same record from a concern about cost, he receives another failing grade.

We need a representative who will use common sense in decision making. That representative is Jean Henry, and I urge you to join me in voting for her, in voting for the change we need.

Letters to the Editor

Vote Donald J. Trump for President

To the Editor:

The upcoming national election is incredibly significant for the destiny of America and Americans.

The fundamental struggle has been for many years and still is the struggle between liberal-socialism and conservative-capitalism.

Today, liberal-socialists try to impose liberal-socialism upon America and Americans. Liberal-socialists try to tell us what is good for us, and promise free education, free healthcare, etc., but the reality is that liberal-socialists are primarily concerned about gaining and consolidating political influence/power no matter what it takes.

The recent Hillary Rodham Clinton e-mail scandals and their potential damage to America and Americans and the recent Wikileaks e-mails and James O'Keefe videos that revealed the corruption and election-rigging of the Democrat National Committee prove that Hillary Rodham Clinton and liberal-socialists will do anything to grab and consolidate political power. Moreover, these e-mails prove that liberal-socialists have incredible disdain for Americans who are not in their elitist circles – the 'deplorables.'

Her incredible corruption has proven that Hillary Rodham Clinton is a criminal who should be prosecuted and jailed and her incredible incompetence – especially in not giving the US Ambassador and the US Embassy in Benghazi, Libya, the additional security Ambassador Stevens was begging for even on the morning of the day of the terrorist attack have proven that Hillary Rodham Clinton is not fit to be President.

Donald J. Trump is a conservative-capitalist who has built a huge company and has made a fortune for himself and many other people who have worked for and with him.

He is a businessman. He knows American and world-wide business. And he knows how to make money. And how excessive government regulations and taxes interfere with the conduct of business here in America and prompt American businesspeople to take their companies overseas. He knows what will have to be done to make American conservative-capitalism great again – get rid of excessive government regulations and lower taxes so American busi-nesspeople will have the incentive to do business here in America and bring back their companies from overseas.

Donald J. Trump understands how it is and why it is that Americans distrust politicians and established political elites and want a change of political policies and practices. That is why he decided to run for President and why he is running now for President and stands a good chance of becoming President.

With Hillary Rodham Clinton we would get the liberal-socialist Supreme Court Justices and the eventual destruction of the US Constitution – particularly the elimination of the First Amendment inre freedom of speech, freedom of religion, and freedom of peaceful assembly and the Second Amendment inre the right to bear arms for defense against all enemies foreign and domestic including tyrannical US and state government officials and employees including the President, members of Congress, US Supreme Court Justices, US troops, and state, county and city/town officials and employees.

With Donald J. Trump we get conservative-capitalist Supreme Court Justices and the preservation of the US Constitution and the American way-of-life.

The political differences between Hillary Rodham Clinton and liberal-socialism and Donald J. Trump and conservative-capitalism are enormous and the impact upon Americans and the American way-of-life has to be to make American great again.

Vote for Donald J. Trump for US President.

Comtois concerned about future of state

To the Editor:

My name is Barbara Comtois, and I am running for State Representative. I am very concerned about the future of our state. Recently, I learned state agencies have come out with their budgets to be approved by the new legislature. Combined, these budgets are asking for a $1,400,000,000 (1.4 billion dollars) increase over the last budget, or 12.5 percent. Are you getting a 12.5 percent increase in your wages? Let's remember that this is just the state level, the county's departments are asking for increases, and when the town and school meetings roll around in March, we will most likely see an increase in those budgets as well.

Increases in budgets just seem to be inevitable, but we need to be responsible and think about the taxpayers who are footing these bills. My children's future is at risk, as well as their children's future. We have many problems that need solving, but throwing money at them is not a solution. We have to work diligently to make sure that we and our children can afford to live here, while at the same time providing the necessary services needed to run our state.

As your State Representative I will work to bring back the NH advantage, and explore cost-effective measures that are constitutional to reach this goal. It would be an honor to serve as your State Representative. Please vote on Nov. 8.

Howard seeks support in re-election bid

To the Editor:

I would like to thank the people of Belknap County District 8, from Alton Barnstead and Gilmanton for your support during my first term as your representative. It has been gratifying to help some of you with issues related to the state or county government; some issues with resolution and some I'm still working on. Yes, I have been attacked by the liberal Democrats on my voting record but, I'm a conservative Republican and my votes are in line with the Republican platform. That is why I have been endorsed by the National Federation of Independent Business, New Hampshire Job Creation Alliance, American Conservative Union Foundation, New Hampshire Liberty Alliance, National Rifle Association, and I have a 97.4 percent score with the House Republican Alliance.

It's easy to attack someone through a letter to the editor like Ruth Larson's recent letter attacking me for my votes. Did you know as a member of the Gunstock Area Commissioners, Ruth voted to not reimburse the county taxpayers the millions of tax dollars that were used in 2001, to bail out Gunstock when it was insolvent? I promise to negotiate for the taxpayers to get a share of the annual profits of Gunstock, which is owned by the residents of Belknap County. In government I've learned that some tax dollars are well spent and some are not, for example, look at the war on drugs. Did you know that even with the increased spending, NH is on track to set a new record for overdose deaths this year? Is this money well spent? You decide. I'm not a politician, just a citizen like you trying to do what is right for everyone.

I ask for your support on Nov. 8, for a second term to represent you in our citizen legislature. Thank you for your support and please call me if you have any concerns on county or state related issues.

Family friendly economy key for Phillips' campaign

To the Editor:

My name is Ellen Phillips and I am running for State Representative for Strafford and New Durham. For the past four weeks I have been traveling around these two towns to introduce myself and explain my position on critical issues facing our state. Time is running short and I have not had the opportunity to meet with many of you because of schedule constraints. I am taking my campaign to the editorial page to briefly explain my positions and to ask for your support on Nov. 8.

One of the basic tenets of my campaign is my support of a "family friendly economy." Critical to the future growth and financial health of New Hampshire is our ability to attract and retain young families, which are the backbone of a skilled labor force. This is why I will work hard to preserve and adequately fund K-12 public education and affordable in state higher education tuition for qualified students. I pledge to support affordable, quality childcare that offers the opportunity for both parents to support their family as well as contribute to a solid labor force. Quality schools, affordable childcare and a paid family and medical leave insurance program are three key considerations when young families are choosing a place to settle and raise their families.

An essential component of a friendly family economy is to secure the funding of Medicaid expansion for the 40,000 working families who would otherwise access healthcare through hospital emergency rooms, which is the most expensive and least efficient use of healthcare funds.

Making this program permanent coupled with raising the minimum wage will assist families to move out of poverty.

These and many other missions are at the strongly held core of my philosophy. I am a first time candidate and know I have much to learn about the process in the State Legislature, but my pledge to the residents of New Durham and Strafford is that I will be faithful to my philosophy, and will always be open to their questions, feedback and concerns.

*Ellen Phillips
New Durham*

Harrington asking for support

To the Editor:

My name is Mike Harrington and I am asking for your vote on Nov. 8 for State Representative representing the towns of New Durham and Strafford. To start, let me tell you a little bit about myself. I have lived in Strafford for over 30 years with my lovely wife Linda (a computer engineer) to whom I have been married to for 39 years. We have two adult daughters who have gone on to have very successful careers. I have a degree in nuclear engineering and spent over 25 years working in the electric power generating field.

In 2000 I was elected as a State Rep and was re-elected in 2002 (this time the district included New Durham). In 2004 I was appointed as a NH Public Utilities Commissioner by Gov. Benson (a Republican) and was later re-appointed by Gov. Lynch (a Democrat). In total, I spent 10 years at the PUC as a commissioner and as the senior regional policy advisor. As you might guess, my field of expertise is NH and New England energy markets.

If I am elected as your State Representative I realize I will be only one of 400 Representatives so I am not going to promise you that I will change the world. I will however, base my votes on the following:

My only special interest group will be you, my constituents. The State House is full of lobbyists trying to get laws passed to benefit their clients (mostly at the expense of taxpayers). I will work against laws that give special benefits and subsidies to the few at the expense of the many.

I believe more government and more taxpayer dollars is not the solution to all problems, sometimes it is the cause.

I believe the people of NH are smart enough to make most decisions for themselves. They know best how to spend their own money.

I will oppose a sales or income tax and any net increase in taxes.

I will never propose new spending without specifying who and how it is going to be paid for.

I will always remember that as a state representative I am dealing with other people's money and never forget how easy it is to be generous with other people's money.

I will try to make new and existing programs subject to "sunset provisions." If they cannot be shown to be doing what they are suppose to, they get cancelled.

I will provide bipartisan periodic updates to the residents of New Durham and Strafford on what is going on in the State House.

If you have any questions, please feel free to contact me, Mike Harrington, at harringt@metrocast.net or 942-8691. Again, I would appreciate your vote for State Representative on Nov. 8.

Letters to the Editor

Supports Clinton and Hassan

To the Editor:

It is unfortunate that in this year's election the candidates' personalities obscure the issues. On Nov. 8 voters will elect leaders who will shape America's pathway in the world for years to come. Their actions will affect young and old persons as well as children yet unborn. Here are some of the critical issues. Guns. Powerful weapons of destruction are everywhere in the United States. Guns are out of control. More than 33,000 Americans lost their lives to gun violence last year. That's 10 times more than were murdered on 9/11.

Climate change. Some of us continue to claim it's a hoax, and deny its existence. Conversely science and a majority of Americans say it's real and are embracing new technologies that create job growth and build our economy.

Healthcare. Historically more than 50,000,000 Americans had no health insurance. I was one of them when I started my own business. We lived each day knowing we were one severe injury away from financial disaster. I have a friend who has a low grade form of cancer. She was denied coverage by 10 private insurers because she had a "pre-existing condition." Along came the much-maligned Obamacare to the rescue. It's not perfect, but it's a step in solving a crisis.

Equal pay for female workers, and a woman's "right to choose" are also at issue. Senator Kelly Ayotte blocked nomination of a Supreme Court justice to replace Anthony Scalia. She knows a President Trump will appoint a judge who will overturn Roe V. Wade and a woman's right to choose. Senator Ayotte plays a dangerous "two-faced" game. While pretending to be a friend of NH voters she accepts millions from the gun lobby, big oil, and anti-environment special interests.

I am now 78 years old, and in total disbelief that Donald Trump has come this far. His slogan is "We Will Make America Great Again." How can anyone accomplish any objective by insulting and belittling people and inspiring hate? Have we sunk so low as a nation? Neither Trump nor Ayotte have served a minute of military service, yet they would hold the power to send our young men and women off to war. I served in the First Cavalry Division in Korea. It's insulting to all veterans that Trump pays no taxes to sustain our military.

On Nov. 8 please vote for Clinton and Hassan. It's crucial for our children and grandchildren.

Perry makes his case for seat

To the Editor:

My name is Bob Perry, a 44-year resident of Strafford, running for State Representative in District 3, Strafford and New Durham. There are two seats in the district, and Ellen Phillips from New Durham and I are running as a team. An important goal at the heart of my campaign is campaign finance reform - getting big money out of politics, to make political spending more transparent, and expanding our right to know who is disproportionately influencing our elections.

Ellen and I have, as one of the basic tenets of our campaign, an interest in supporting a family friendly economy in order to attract and keep young families in our state. This includes supporting excellent K-12 public education, quality, affordable childcare, as well as a family and medical leave insurance program.

We also support expanding Medicaid permanently, providing health insurance for over 40,000 working families; restoring and increasing the minimum wage to move families out of poverty, reducing the need for taxpayer assistance, and contributing to a more vibrant overall economy.

If you share our concerns and values, we ask for your vote on Nov. 8. Thank you.

Ad Council Healthy Smiles Healthy Lives

BY JACK MILLER
Contributing Writer

November is the month to give thanks, including thanks for the bounty around the Bay. This includes the beautiful area that many people choose to vacation in, but we are lucky enough to live in. It also includes the wealth of wildlife, both fish and game, that surrounds us, and of course our family and friends.

Muzzleloader for deer is in progress right now, firearm season is Nov. 9-11 for any deer, and Nov. 12 - Dec. 4 for antlered deer in our J-2 area. If you hunt elsewhere, be sure to check the season's dates. You may continue to bait until Nov. 16. Be sure you follow the rules. The moose hunters had a 72 percent success rate this year, which is very good.

If you are lucky enough to harvest nature's bounty, be sure not to ruin it. The taste of the meat depends on how you handle it. That "gamey" taste is not an older deer, but a mishandled one. Be sure to clean your animal out as soon as possible, washing out the body cavity with vinegar to remove any stomach acids that may have spilt in there, causing distasteful meat. If you are not comfortable making the various cuts of meat, take it to a competent butcher. It is well worth the price to be able to enjoy all of your harvest.

Mink, muskrat and weasel season opens Nov. 1. Nov. 6 ends waterfowl hunting of ducks, coots, mergansers and Canada geese, but it reopens on Nov. 22 in our inland zone. Be sure to check the rules if you hunt elsewhere.

A lot of fishing can still occur. Trout, including post-spawn brook and brown trout of 2-3 pounds, are being stocked in various ponds and streams for fall and winter fishing. Check out the state web site for a listing of stocking waters. Be careful as the "ice in" starts to appear around the edges of the waters, it can get slippery very fast. If you fish from the edges of rivers or ponds, it is not too early to start wearing your creepers. The water is much too cold to fall into now, especially if you are by yourself.

See you out there.

Christmas Craft Fair at KRHS set for Nov. 26

WOLFEBORO — Kingswood Regional High School announces that the 20th annual Christmas Craft Fair will take place on Saturday, Nov. 26, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the high school.

More than 80 crafters participating will make this a great opportunity to shop for unique Christmas gifts. You can fill up a tin with delicious holiday cookies at the "cookie walk," have the children visit with Santa from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m., get all of your gifts wrapped free of charge, and even enjoy a delicious lunch in the cafeteria. There is no charge for admission to the fair and there is plenty of parking available throughout the day. For more information, e-mail krhscraft@gmail.com or call the high school at 569-4851. The KRHS craft fair is organized and managed as a fundraiser by three organizations at the high school: National Honor Society, Future Business Leaders of America, and Technology Students Association.

New Hampshire author to talk to Alton Book Chat

ALTON — After you have fulfilled your civic duty at the polls, consider popping over to the Gilman Library to join in with the Alton Book Chat group, with guest speaker, New Hampshire author and life-long resident Jessie Crockett. Crockett lives in a small New Hampshire village with her husband and children and writes light-hearted and entertaining murder-mysteries. Her debut novel, "Live Free or Die" was the 2011 winner of the Daphne du Maurier Award, Mainstream Mystery Division.

The book title up for discussion is "Maple Mayhem (A Sugar Grove Mystery, Book 2)," set in the fictional town of Sugar Grove, N.H., where "people are serious about their maple syrup." Crockett will talk with her readers about this title and her new book as well as bringing copies of all her books, available for purchase and signing. It promises to be an entertaining evening. All are invited.

County Republicans to discuss election results Wednesday

BELKNAP COUNTY — The Belknap County Republican Committee has announced that its next monthly meeting is scheduled for Wednesday, Nov. 9 at 6:30 p.m. at the Top of the Town

Restaurant, 88 Ladd Hill Road in Belmont.

The focus of this month's meeting, scheduled for the day after the general election, will be to discuss the results of the election and the impact of those results. Members and guests will have a lot to discuss.

Belknap County GOP meetings are open to all Republicans and like-minded Independents. Per their usual meeting format, if you're interested in having dinner (at your option) and/or wish to socialize before the meeting, plan to arrive as early as 5 p.m.

The committee thanks its members for continuing to bring food pantry donations to the meetings and again reminds them to bring a non-perishable food item to this month's meeting.

OBITUARY

John Phillips Brooks, Sr. Veteran of D-Day

ALTON — John Phillips Brooks, Sr., age 91, of Barnes Avenue in Alton, died Oct. 25.

Born Nov. 30, 1924 in Kittery, Maine, a son of Herbert and Sarah "Sadie" (Woodward) Brooks, John was one of 12 children. He resided in Alton the past 15 years, having previously resided on Chalk Pond in New Durham, since 1979.

John served with the United States Army during World War II. He was a surviving member of the 1st Infantry Division "The Big Red One," having landed on Omaha Beach on D-Day June 6, 1944. He also took part in the Battle of the Bulge along with many other conflicts. John was a recipient of multiple Purple Hearts, a Bronze Star as well as many other honors for his military service.

He retired from the United States Postal Service after 30 years. John also worked as a courier for Robbins Auto Parts in Dover for 14 years.

John was a commu-nicant at St. Katharine Drexel Church, a member of the Knights of Columbus, a member of the American Legion, the V.F.W., Alton Seniors and Wolfeboro Senior Citizens Club. John led a very full and active life. He was always happy, a great storyteller, had many friends and loved to make people laugh. He proudly served as Grand Marshall with the American Legion at the Memorial Day Parade this year.

He is survived by his wife, Paulette Alden Brooks; five children, John Brooks, Jr., Greg Brooks, Carol (Tina) Scarbrough and husband Joe, Roger Brooks and partner Christine Ashburn, Paul Brooks and wife Cheryl; three stepchildren, Dawn Law and husband Steve, John Alden and friend Kim, Ric Alden and wife Cathy; numerous grandchildren and great grandchildren; two sisters, Ruth Slonski and Janet Still; and many nieces, nephews and friends. He was predeceased by his first wife, Nancy (Rocco) Brooks.

Calling hours were Oct. 28 at Peaslee Alton Funeral Home. A mass of Christian burial was celebrated on Saturday, Oct. 29, at St. Katharine Drexel Church in Alton, NH with Fr. Robert F. Cole, pastor, as celebrant. Interment with military honors by the United States Army was on Monday at 11 a.m. at New Hampshire State Veterans Cemetery in Boscawen. In lieu of flowers donations can be made to the Veterans of Foreign War (VFW). To express condolences, please visit www.peasleefuneralhome.com.

Roger Eugene Scott Had a lifelong love of flying

OSSIPEE — Roger Eugene Scott, 86 passed away peacefully Oct. 30.

He was born May 21, 1930 in Van Wert, Ohio to the late Francis and Pearl (Tomlinson) Scott as the sixth of seven children.

While in high school, he worked at a shoeshine parlor earning money to learn how to fly. Soon after graduating the Van Wert High School, he joined the Air Force and became a radio operator in a B-29 sending Morse code messages. He was honorably discharged as an Airman First Class from Randolph Air Force Base in San Antonio, Texas in 1954.

He met his wife, Ann Rosenbach, and was married on Sept. 3, 1955.

His career started with Northeast Airlines in 1958 as a co-pilot and then to be a captain. After Delta Air Lines purchased Northeast Airlines in 1972, he became a check airman. In 1985, he became the Assistant Chief Pilot in Boston and then to be the Chief Pilot opening up the pilot base in Cincinnati, retiring in June 1990, at age 60. Soon after he was chosen to be Vice President of Flight Operations for Pan American World Airways but the courts would not allow Pan Am to continue. He then flew for a charter company in Lawrence, Mass. for 10 years. Then in 2002, 2003, 2004 he flew a fire expert over forest fires in Pocatello, Id. He loved flying his amphibian airplane or a favorite two-seat tail dragger, the Swift. He also liked fishing, hunting and skiing.

He loved and was loved by his family leaving his wife of 61 years, Ann, his younger brother Stanley, daughters Toni Scott, Tina Scott, Melissa Mckeagney and husband Dave, a son Gregory and wife Alicia, along with grandchildren and great grandchildren.

Calling hours will be 5-7 p.m. Sunday Nov. 6, at the Baker-Gagne Funeral Home, 85 Mill St., Wolfeboro.

Services will be 10:30 a.m. Monday, Nov. 7, at the funeral home followed by burial at 1 p.m. at the New Hampshire State Veteran Cemetery in Boscawen.

In lieu of flowers, please send a donation in his memory to the Swift Museum Foundation, Inc., 223 County Road 552, Athens, TN 37303.

To sign an online guest book and write a note of condolence, go to www.baker-gagnefuneralhomes.com.

The Baker-Gagne Funeral Home and Cremation Service is assisting the family with the arrangements.

Church group selling pies at the polls

ALTON — Everyone's been building up to the elections this coming Tuesday with much anticipation. The ladies of the Community Church of Alton's Women's Fellowship have been preparing as well. Many people know that on election day, members of the group will be selling baked goods at the polling place from 7 a.m. to 1 p.m. to raise money for the group's many charities throughout the area and town. They'll be very busy Monday putting together apple pies in the church kitchen. They will bake some to be sold at the election and then freezing the rest. They'll be ready to pop into the oven Wednesday or Thanksgiving morning so you'll have homemade pies to add to your menu. Please be ready to purchase the baked pies election day to enjoy now. They'll have a sign-up sheet at the voting place so you can reserve your frozen pie. You can pick them up at the church on 20 Church St., the week before the holiday on Nov. 15, 17 and 18 from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Friends accepting books for annual sale

BARNSTEAD — The Friends of the Oscar Foss Memorial Library will be collecting clean, gently-used books starting on Nov. 1 for the annual fall book sale, which will take place on Friday, Nov. 11, from 1 to 5 p.m. and Saturday, Nov. 12, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. The sale is by donation only. The sale will take place at the Oscar Foss Memorial Library in Barnstead. Call 269-3900 for more information.

Hypnotist Paul Ramsay at PMHS on Nov. 18

ALTON — The days of clucking like a chicken are over. Hypnotist Paul Ramsay will bring his unique brand of stage hypnotism to the Prospect Mountain High School on Friday, Nov. 18, at 7 p.m. in the high school's theater. Tickets can be purchased in advance at a discount (available in the main office) or can be purchased at the door.

"Our culture today is much more about interactivity, particularly through technology, so I built that into my hypnotism show," said Ramsay.

"Mind Games" uses remote controls and interactive polling software so that the audience can vote on what they want to see happen on stage. Ramsay says this provides an audience experience unlike any other stage hypnotism show in the world.

Ramsay is a board certified hypnotist and a certified instructor of hypnotism. Hypnosis has a long tradition as a form of entertainment. Ramsay hypnotizes more than 1,500 people each year. Hypnosis is safe, natural and effective for a variety of personal growth areas

If you would like to learn more about Ramsay or his "Mind Games" hypnotism show, please contact Ramsay directly at 834-0810.

Mini-Maestros coming to New Durham

NEW DURHAM — "We've offered rhythm and movement classes in the past that were popular, but it's time for a straight out music class." So said Library Director Cathy Allyn of New Durham Public Library regarding the Mini-Maestros, a fun new program for four-year-olds.

Beginning Nov. 15, the free program will run Tuesday mornings at 11 a.m. for four weeks. Registration is requested.

Making music is the focus, but movement and pre-dance will also figure prominently in the classes taught by Sarah Grasso, a former music and drama teacher in Pembroke with a BA in Music Education from the University of Rhode Island.

"I've been aware of Sarah's background for a while and have been itching to get her to teach for us," Allyn said.

Grasso said watching young children learn about music warms her heart.

"Seeing them use an instrument for the first time, listen to a song that they love, or move with such freedom is pure joy for me. It is a door to something that they can enjoy in many different ways their entire lives, whether as a performer or an observer."

The library has been in the process of acquiring musical instruments such as hand drums, shakers, resonator bells and rhythm sticks that are used in the First Steps and Storytime programs.

A keyboard, more percussive instruments, and Boomwhackers that children can play with a mallet or tap on the floor to produce different pitches have been added to augment Mini-Maestros.

"In my eyes, music is a universal language," Grasso said. "No matter our age, our background, or where we are from, we can all connect and enjoy it."

Call the library at 859-2201 for more information or to register your child.

Accessory Dwelling Units forum is Nov. 29

OSSIPEE — Homeowners, citizen planners, elected officials, builders, real estate professionals and others are invited to attend a free, informative panel discussion on the new law pertaining to Accessory Dwelling Units (ADU).

The ADU forum will be held on Tuesday, Nov. 29, at the Sunny Villa Restaurant on Route 16 in Ossipee from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. Light refreshments will be provided.

In March, Governor Hassan signed into law Senate Bill 146 relative to accessory dwelling units. The fundamental requirement of the new law is that every municipality with a zoning ordinance shall allow accessory dwelling units — also called in-law apartments — as a matter of right, or by either conditional use permit or by special exception, in all zoning districts that permit single family dwellings.

The Eastern Lakes Region Housing Coalition worked with sister coalitions and NH Housing Finance Authority to support passage of SB 146 as another tool in the toolbox to increase the supply of workforce housing without the need for more infrastructure or land development. The legislation, which takes effect on June 1, may benefit aging or disabled homeowners and their caregivers, single parents, recent college graduates weighed down with debt, and others.

To date, many communities from throughout the ELRHC service area, which includes the towns of Alton, Brookfield, Effingham, Farmington, Freedom, Middleton, Milton, Moultonborough, New Durham, Ossipee, Sandwich, Tamworth, Tuftonboro, Wakefield and Wolfeforo, have been working on aligning their accessory dwelling unit ordinance or creating a new one in accordance with the new state law. The coalition make sure homeowners, real estate professionals and builders are informed about the new ADU law and the potential benefits.

The panel of experts will include Ben Frost, Director, Public and Legal Affairs from NH Housing Finance Authority, Stephen Buckley, Legal Services Counsel and Director of the New Hampshire Municipal Association's legal services program, town of Ossipee Zoning and Code Enforcement Officer and builder Steve McConarty, and other experts from the real estate and construction trades.

Save the date, Nov. 29 and join the Coalition and its partners for this informative event. More information will be posted on the coalition's web site, www.elrhc.org, as it becomes available.

MARK ON THE MARKETS

Off the grid

BY MARK PATTERSON
Contributing Writer

When I say "off the grid" most people probably think of independence from the electric company via solar or the ability to have a self-sustainable food supply with a garden or raising livestock. In other words just living like people did many years ago detached from power companies, grocery stores or town sewer and water. Staying with that theme, I would like to talk about saving money and investing "off the grid" or detached from conventional beliefs. There is a real trend developing centered around the lack of saving and investing by the younger people in this country. You could make the case that the job market for younger people is not very good thus not having money to save and invest. But when I speak with younger working people, I do not get the sense that they believe in the same methods of saving and investing like generations before them. Going back just 20 years when I started a career with the brokerage firm, Tucker Anthony, there were the seasoned brokers that typically bought and sold stocks in a few select companies or maybe bought some preferred stock or municipal bonds for their clients. A few of these brokers were buying shares for their clients and their own accounts in a company called "Berkshire-Hathaway," which is a conglomerate holding company whose CEO is Warren Buffett. Well, I probably do not have to tell you that these brokers made many of their clients and themselves wealthy. About that time you could see the industry moving away from hands-on brokers to asset gathering sales-oriented financial advisors. These new advisors were in charge of collecting assets and allocating these assets to third party managers and mutual funds. The stockbroker has now morphed into a financial advisor whose time is reallocated to sales and asset gathering rather than stock picking or hands-on portfolio management. Now we are conditioned to have a 401K, 403b or IRA and to defer taxes until retirement when we are led to believe that we will be in a lower tax bracket. Younger working people are not buying into the same story that older generations have just apathetically owned. We older generations have dumped a 19 plus trillion-dollar debt on the younger working people that do not believe that Social Security will be there for them, and they will be forced to carry the increased tax burden of retiring baby-boomers. All these factors make a case for all of us to look to ways of saving and investing differently than even 20 years ago. It is unrealistic to return to the days of being a stockbroker. The equity (stock) markets have changed anyway and we as advisors need to view the world through the eyes of those wanting to build wealth in a day and time when the old rules do not apply anymore. Think "off the grid" and explore some non-traditional saving and investing.

a brief biography highlighting his 34 years at the Portsmouth Naval Shipyard. The Strafford resident said education will be a priority for him through his continued advocacy for charter schools and school choice.

He said it's important "to recover the unity we had until very recently," suggesting that the Declaration of Independence can provide "a touchstone for everything we do in government" to "protect the people's rights" as delineated in the Constitution.

Wuelper said he bases his votes on dictates mandated by the Founding Fathers.

Fellow Republican Harrington said his experience in the Legislature in the early 2000s gives him necessary experience. He also cited his experience as a nuclear engineer in the Navy and two terms as a utility regulator as assets that he'll use to "keep electric rates down."

Harrington positioned himself as a realist, noting that as a House member, he'd be "one of 400." He vowed to "make no promises," and spoke jaundicedly of "promising everything humanly possible - and some that aren't." He said private sector solutions are more often preferable to government programs.

As an individual member, Harrington said he'd oppose a sales or income tax and not be beholden to special interests and lobbyists who promote the benefits "of the few at the expense of the many."

Democrat Phillips, who's making her second run at a House seat, said her platform is shaped by 26 years of teaching. She said she was initially compelled to run for office amidst calls to abolish the DOE. "That frightened me," Phillips recalled.

She said as an educator, she saw "many families who struggled in many ways" and that household woes often trickled down into kids' personal lives, affecting their academic performance. She said her late husband, an oncologist, often took extraordinary measures to deliver care to cancer patients unable to afford healthcare, whose affordability would be a priority through expanded Medicaid.

To this end, Phillips said boosting the minimum wage can help the neediest. She said low-wage employers often use federal safety net programs as a way of helping minimum-wage employees subsist. "You can't have it both ways," she added. Forcing large corporations to pay what Phillips called "their fair share" could also help, she added.

Perry, a resident of Strafford since 1972, said his 30 years as a Superior Court staffer gave him "an affinity for the social safety net." He recalled his Navy veteran father's premature death at the age of 36 after complications from rheumatic fever. Perry said his widowed mother struggled to make ends meet working at a low-wage factory job with few advancement opportunities.

Perry said his involvement with NH Rebellion is borne of a conviction to institute "greater transparency" in government and chase out "big money." He said his seven years in the House have been devoted to "protecting your right to vote."

Perry said he is "troubled" by the "evolution of corporate personhood," which, he says, is very troubling, especially as concrete human rights such as speech and actual voter enfranchisement are beginning to be applied to corporate entities.

Opening statements - State Senate

Rochester's Gray, a Republican, said he served in the Army during Vietnam after graduating from St. Thomas Aquinas, adding that the GI Bill allowed him to earn a degree in electronics and become a member of the management team at Simplex. He said his civic experience includes serving several terms as the Rochester city moderator. "I know what local government is about," he added.

Gray said he believes the opioid crisis represents a major issue. As senator, he said he would champion local control for education and attempt to boost the economy by focusing on lowering energy costs and taxes.

Democratic candidate Casey touted his "blue-collar background." He said as an electrician he's traveled the nation and the state doing work for clients including Davidson Rubber, GE and Phillips Exeter.

Casey said his experience in negotiating union contracts will help the state wrestle with high health costs, which, he said, are the second highest per capita in the country.

Casey positioned himself as a problem solver noting he approaches challenges by asking the question, "What things can we do to make things work and make things better?"

Priorities

A question submitted by an audience member asked what each official would make a priority. Below is a brief summary. (Omitted are those from executive council candidates since most questions related to legislative matters that are beyond the pale of the council):

Wuelper: "Protections for the unborn," energy, and improving education by being "open to alternatives" such as charter schools and online learning portals.

Casey: Victims of the opioid "epidemic" are "literally dying in the street" so finding solutions to root causes is essential. Healthcare improvements are needed so residents needn't travel out of state to obtain the best care. Noting the rise in health expenses, he later called the industry a "filthy rotten business."

Perry: Supports Medicaid expansion, wants to incentivize alternative energy and supports alternative education but "not to the detriment of public education" in how resources are allocated. Regarding reproductive health, he said, "I would not hold myself to be the master of any woman."

Harrington: Energy policy is key to keeping rates low and attracting and retaining N.H. business. He later cited his affiliation with the Business and Industry Association - essentially the N.H. chamber of commerce. He said many businesses would like to locate here were it not for a "shortage of qualified people." He expanded that "too many kids are pushed into" post-secondary opportunities that aren't creating the kind of skilled workforce employers need.

Gray: The opioid crisis is dire but resources "have not gotten out and put to work." He believes spiraling health costs can be reined in through tort reform. Regarding education, he is opposed to Smarter Balance.

Phillips: Favors a "family-friendly economy," which she describes as key "if we want to keep young people here." On education, Phillips said it's "up to a parent to decide" where and how a child is schooled but that non-public options oughtn't be funded through taxpayer dollars.

Other comments

Casey said he is "very discouraged by my own party," citing his blue collar background and pro-Northern Pass stance. Regarding the Second Amendment, He said, "I will not vote for any legislation that will take away or diminish current rights." "We need to move beyond that," he urged. Regarding higher education, he said he's the father of a 2016 UNH grad "with three more coming." He cited the $26k per year expense as "absolutely crazy" and unrealistic. He said there is wasteful competition among institutions trying to lure students with fancy amenities like new dorms and dining halls. Casey said the phenomenon is akin to "an arms race" as each university tries to "turn themselves into the Taj Mahal."

Harrington said he's "never been a favorite of the Republican leadership." He said he aligns himself with the party "when they agree with me and not the other way around" and promised he will "never trade my principles for a parking space in Concord." He likens calls for tighter gun restrictions as a "solution looking for a problem." He said the "most horrific" recent shootings involved firearms that were legally acquired by others and later fell into the wrong hands. Harrington said curtailing the basic right to self-defense "means the terrorists have won." On the topic of higher education, he noted that tuition expenses are outpacing other costs and laid the blame with government subsidies that, he believes, incentivize higher rates.

Gray said he makes up his mind based on information. "I vote by reading the bills," he said. Gray spoke highly of his Democratic opponent, noting that both have run positive, forward-looking campaigns. "I promise you I will not put out anything negative about Joe [Casey]," he said, though noting that outside political groups are sending mailings without his endorsement to influence the campaign. He said "the Constitution is very clear" that citizens can arm themselves for self-defense and that concealed carry (as opposed to open carry) is "advantageous" in many situations. On higher education costs, Gray questioned recent expenditures including a six-figure athletics scoreboard and a $17k meeting table that indicate the university has skewed priorities.

Phillips said she would "listen to the people of New Durham and Strafford" and vote their interests "unless it completely goes against my conscience." She cited her experience on the New Durham Budget Committee and other volunteer work as examples of her commitment to public service. Regarding the right to bear arms, she said, "I understand there is a culture" of carrying in N.H., but that she supports comprehensive background checks. Regarding higher education costs, Phillips said public support for the university system is the second lowest in the U.S. and should be boosted "if we want young people to stay," noting that natives who go to college out of state often don't come back.

When considering a piece of legislation, Wuelper said, "The first thing I consider is, 'Is this Constitutional?'" He also considers whether the government can provide the best path to a solution. He said listening to constituents is not "a sound way" to arrive at a decision; rather, he maintained, legislative choices should be based on "a guiding principle" based on an interpretation of founding documents. Regarding the Second Amendment, Wuelper said, "It's not about hunting" but about self-defense. "Any law abiding person should be allowed to carry concealed," he emphasized. He also considers "protecting the rights of the pre-born" a priority. Wuelper, who graduated from UNH in 1974 on the GI Bill, said colleges are "looking in the wrong direction." He said the financial sustainability of institutions comes from "our choices" as individuals and shouldn't be determined by subsidies. Wuelper called "conversion therapy" a legitimate way to address gender identity issues, which, he says, are considered a "recognized medical ailment."

Perry said he mostly agrees with the state Democratic platform but acknowledged that much of it is determined by others and he's not afraid to stand up on principle. Regarding gun rights, he said he supports the Second Amendment but supports both concealed carry and closing the so-called "gun show loophole" that obviates background checks. Perry said secondary education is key since it "trains the future leaders of tomorrow" and "shouldn't be reserved for just the wealthy." Like others, Perry questioned the wisdom of colleges spending on amenities like athletic fields with tuitions rising. He said a strong post-secondary system is essential "if we are to keep up with the rest of the world." Perry stressed that "it's a matter of priorities" and that getting corporations to pay their "fair share of taxes" to this end will be necessary.

This 2,200-word piece offers a brief synopsis of the evening's conversation. Voters are encouraged to watch the video as captured by Wolfeboro Community TV. Or, even better, reach out to the candidates themselves.

Drive thru flu shot clinic serves 270 patrons

WOLFEBORO — Huggins Hospital urged community members to roll down their windows and roll up their sleeves, and that is exactly what 270 participants did during the hospital's free drive thru flu shot clinic last week. Huggins Hospital offered a new and convenient way for adults to receive their flu shots this year by administering the flu shots directly through participants' car windows at stations set up outside the hospital.

Community members expressed their gratitude for the convenience of the drive thru with some noting they would not have been able to receive the flu shot otherwise. Participants included mothers and fathers who were able to keep their children and pets in the car while getting the vaccine. One mother said she hadn't received the flu shot in many years because she could not afford it and it was a challenge to bring her children to her medical appointments. This event offered her the opportunity to get care for herself while keeping her children safe and happy in the vehicle with her. Other participants included people with mobility issues and many others who simply enjoy convenience and trying something new.

"We were thrilled to see so many community members drive through to visit us and get their flu shots," said Kim Daley, Vice President of Physician Services at Huggins Hospital. "It was heartwarming to know this event helped many people who struggle to get their flu shot each year. We were all smiling, laughing and having a great time while providing important preventative care to our community."

Public Health, worked together to provide the flu shots featuring the Quadrivalent vaccine to help minimize the impact of contagious strains of the flu virus. The Quadrivalent vaccination provides the most widespread coverage available. The Centers for Disease Control (CDC) indicate that flu vaccines cause antibodies to develop about two weeks after the vaccine is administered. The antibodies offer protection against the viruses in the vaccine. Each year, the vaccine is designed to protect people against the viruses predicted to be the most common for that season.

Flu shots are still available inside all Huggins Hospital primary care locations throughout flu season by appointment. For more information about Huggins primary care, visit www.HugginsHospital.org or call 515-2032.

RAFFLE

said. "We're doing a fundraiser to buy food for the pantry and help with the Wish Upon a Star program."

Doors will open at 5 p.m. and a concession stand, run by pantry members, will take center stage. Specialties of some members are a real drawing card. Raffle tickets are three for 25 cents and the raffle itself begins at 5:30 p.m.

"You could potentially win an entire turkey dinner for a quarter," Berry said.

The pantry will be raffling off a total of 18 turkeys; nine whole turkeys and nine turkeys with "fixins" in a basket.

"Fixins are stuffing, gravy, potatoes and onions," Berry said. "We're doing all of the preparation."

A 50/50 raffle will be another highlight of the evening.

"We also have three terrific donated gifts to raffle off," Jarvis said.

Cardinal and Glidden has donated a gift certificate for 100 gallons of oil, Belknap Landscaping is giving a cord of wood, and a lucky winner will have a clean furnace thanks to Winnepesaukee Heating and Cooling.

Berry said she volunteers because she likes "helping the community. The pantry serves about 12 to 18 families a week, and we have at least 12 volunteers."

Swenson is one of them. She said she and her husband David have always volunteered in towns where they've lived. "I've been at the pantry for more than five years. It's a great feeling being able to help people in town who have a need."

Swenson said she also sits on boards, but feels more of a personal touch at the pantry.

"Volunteering on a committee or board is a service to the community as a whole," she explained, "but this has more of a connection to the people who have a real need. They are so appreciative. It's gratifying when you can help someone out."

Pantry volunteers spend approximately three hours on Saturdays working to clean and organize for the open hours from 9 to 10 a.m. It's not unusual for residents to drop by with a bag of food to donate, and there is a collection area at the New Durham School, also, that fills quickly.

Local stores donate food, and in the summer, gardeners share their produce with the pantry.

After the Boy Scouts' food drive, the youngsters drop off canned goods, and pantry members comb through them, dating and organizing the cans. Swenson is right there to help with that chore.

"I used to do that for my father in his kitchen," she said, "and I love it."

The pantry is always looking for donations of all kinds, from paper goods to money. Not only does the group help feed struggling families, but it also ensures people get Thanksgiving dinners and a Christmas, no matter their financial situation.

Swenson singles out the Wish Upon a Star program, a community-wide effort that pairs residents with people needing a gift for the holidays. "It's wonderful what the pantry does in organizing gifts so kids have something to open."

She said wrapping the presents is one of her favorite duties. "It's positive and uplifting."

Of the pantry, one resident noted that there are groups of people in town who just seem to get something accomplished. "I never would have thought to get a group like that going. Look at all the good it's done."

It may be a somewhat silent presence in town, but to those who draw upon its services, it's a bridge they could not do without.

"I'd be grateful if someone were there to help out one of my family members," Swenson said. "You can make an impact on their lives, so your reward is actually greater than theirs."

The Turkey Raffle will be an occasion that allows the New Durham Food Pantry to continue its good work. All of the volunteers are looking forward to it.

"There's so much camaraderie at events like these," Swenson said. "It's fun. People buy tickets, the pantry benefits, and everyone has a good time in the process."

ANNUAL THANKSGIVING BASKETS

Another year has gone by with Thanksgiving right around the corner. It is time to start thinking about the food baskets for the families in need of Alton. Donations would be gratefully accepted in the form of cash, check or money orders. Make donations payable to "Operation Blessings". You may drop off your contribution at the Town Hall to Paulette Wentworth or mailed to Town Hall, P.O. Box 659, Alton, NH 03809.

Canned good donations can be dropped off at the Town Hall between 8AM and 4:30PM on or before Friday, November 18, 2016. Please specify that they are for the "Operation Blessing" Project.

If you are interested in helping distribute baskets, or can suggest the home of a shut-in or a needy family, please contact Paulette at 875-0203 between 8AM and 4:30PM.

Wolfeboro Lions Club poinsettia sale under way

WOLFEBORO – The Wolfeboro Lions Club is pleased to announce that its annual poinsettia sale is under way. The plants feature an abundance of rich green foliage, the mark of a superior poinsettia. They have consistently drawn rave reviews.

The Lions are using the same supplier as they have all along. The plants come in three colors, red, white, or pink, and in three sizes. Plants ordered on or before Nov. 18 will be available for delivery for commercial customers on Nov. 22. Plants ordered by Nov. 28 can be picked up on Dec. 3 at the Wolfeboro Public Library, at 259 South Main St., Wolfeboro, between 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. The Lions would like to thank the trustees of the library for allowing them to use the library for this activity.

The Lions will also arrange to deliver your plants on Dec. 3 if requested. Orders must be placed no later than Nov. 29 for Dec. 3 delivery.

The Lions support many local organizations throughout the year. They can only do so with the community's support. If you would like to help them help others by ordering a plant and need an order form or have questions, call Joe DeChiaro at 569-1553 or 630-3724 or e-mail Joe at jrdecho@aol.com.

Kinmond said the bulk of its staff are on an "on-call" basis, reporting for duty mostly in emergency situations.

Fire chief Peter Varney said, "It's all about who you have in your community," lauding an average seven-minute response time.

Kinmond said space needs are also felt by the police, calling the current station a renovated "modular home."

Police chief Shawn Bernier said he expects his staff to have general standards knowledge and court testimony experience. He added that EMT credentials are also vital in the event that a NDPD officer is the first on the scene.

David Curry spoke from the audience to suggest that a broad goal should be to staff the NDPD at a "level that would promote public safety." He said current staff levels allow for a "bare minimum."

On the public works front, Kinmond observed that the town has some 54 miles of roads - about 20 percent of which is unpaved. He said plowing and grading these surfaces requires considerable resources.

As the town considers paving gravel surfaces, Kinmond said the quality of new surfacing material has a shorter life cycle and will have a long-term budget impact.

While expressing an interest in knowing if the new dump hours are working out, Kinmond said his ultimate goal as an administrator is "the idea to have the greatest efficiency."

John Goyette wondered if town security precautions are sufficient. He said he has concerns for town hall staffers who might encounter disgruntled residents upset about their tax bills. He said violent incidents in Sunapee and Colebrook should serve as cautionary tales. Goyette suggested that metal detectors and bullet-proof glass in the town hall could deter would-be assailants.

Kinmond said the matter is a concern to the town's joint loss committee, which assesses such risks and vulnerabilities.

Terry Jarvis said the town examined such matters in 2014. She said barriers to such installations were prohibitive.

Kinmond said he doesn't like considering such matters but that a "cold and hard" analysis of current conditions might warrant a reexamination. Swenson agreed, suggesting the installation of security cameras in the town hall.

Relating to the broader safety perspective, Chief Bernier said that it's fortunate that over half of the population lives within a mile of the station - but that far-flung localities such as Copple Crown are a 25-minute drive away. He said responding to calls in this geography leaves the rest of the town vulnerable based on current staffing.

One resident, who cited his commute to the west, said he can tell without looking when he crosses the town boundary based on road conditions - especially in winter. He said the section of Valley Road at the town line is less maintained on the Alton side. He praised DPW crew members for their efforts. Goyette, who chimed in frequently during the session, cited Wolfeboro and Peterborough as "walkable" communities the town should emulate by installing sidewalks along main pedestrian thoroughfares such as the stretch between the school and the ballfields.

Having been told that the responsibility of plowing the walkways would be a cost liability, Goyette responded, "Well 'duh,' isn't that the idea?" He also cited the speed limit increase from 25 mph on the road in Alton to 35 mph in New Durham, noting that the change invites motorists to accelerate as they approach the ballfields.

Planning board member Scott Drummey said communities like Dover are making thoroughfares more pedestrian-friendly through the addition of bike lanes.

Later in the session, Ellen Phillips said that if the walkways were plowed, it could open the ballfields up for winter activities; she called the Smitty's Way facility "wasted space" during the winter months.

Jarvis said forums like these help distinguish between "wants" that are "nice to have" and "needs."

Resident David Curry, who also serves as on the budget committee, said that revisiting capital projects is important since building facilities have a "lifecycle of 65 to 70 years."

Kinmond said his staff are polling residents to set priorities including a more walkable downtown, Downing Pond water quality, and determining which programs and library hours are "the most conducive."

Drummey added it was "nice to see the popularity of these issues."

Swenson said a "tactical takeaway" might be more wellness programs to "reflect the town's aging demographic."

Selectman David Bickford spoke from the audience to note that school enrollment is down two percent. Phillips contextualized that overall attendance is down but is increasing in the lower grades.

"The feeder stream is coming," Swenson said, suggesting that student populations may again increase.

Chief Bernier said having State Police provide gap coverage results in lengthy response times. He said in some cases it takes two-and-a-half hours to respond, adding that a recent call for service was handled by a state officer at the Hampton tolls.

Goyette said each summer the town experiences a "population explosion" that warrants additional police patrols.

Another resident citing a considerable commute, said snow plowing is a major priority. "I need to get to work - I need to make a living," he said, adding that the prospect of privatizing a snow removal "scares me."

Regarding core service regionalization, Swenson said the approach would require a careful risk-benefit analysis. He said ceding some town control could be one trade-off. Swenson added that if the town found itself in a pact with a larger town like Alton or Wolfe-boro, New Durham could find itself as "the small dog" and receive proportionally less service.

Bickford said he's talked to an Alton official interested in exploring a regional relationship; he said such a relationship could deliver 24-hour police coverage at an annual savings of $100k.

Following the public forum, department heads were asked to provide brief reports.

Chief Varney said his department's service is effectively regionalized already since multiple municipalities respond. He said the town both benefits from and contributes in-kind to mutual aid, adding that the hard cost to the town is about $1,700 to respond to a fire.

Regarding the need for a ladder truck in a town with few buildings of significant height, Varney said they're needed in responding to fires at structures with roof-mounted solar panels. He said their slick surfaces pose a risk for gear-laden personnel attempting to mount them.

Hunter said 2017 program planning will involve more offerings for seniors. Looking forward, she said, some potential capital requests might involve $15k for ballfield improvements and the acquisition of a van that could be used to take seniors and other constituents on field trips. Hunter said other staff expressed an interest in using the vehicle when not being used for departmental activities.

Library Director Cathy Allyn said there is a "huge transition" from printed books to audio or eBook formats that's "much more rapid than we anticipated." She said plans are afoot to develop a "Technology Cove" at the library, but that "compatibility issues" are hampering efforts. Regarding youth program development, Allyn said her department has established some "really, really, really good partnerships" with local childcare providers.

Michael Gingras of the Department of Public Works praised the work of his staff who work on road crews and at the transfer station. "They do a phenomenal job."

Bernier said his department's greatest need is "boots on the ground," expressing a desire to bring staffing levels to those approved by the 2006 town meeting. He estimates six full-time officers are needed, adding that a force consisting primarily of part-timers "is not working." In addition to curtailing patrol cycles, Bernier says that it can take up to a week to conduct follow-ups to inquiries - and that oftentimes, it's not the first-responding officer who executes them.

Resident Mark Sullivan said a goal should be to ensure "consistent service for everyone in town." He cited the community's far-flung geography encompassing areas like Copple Crown and Meaderboro Road.

Swenson said notes from the evening's discussion will be condensed into a draft chapter that will be posted on the town web site and available for comment. He said the process is on target to integrate the forthcoming town services draft chapter into a draft master plan.

Some horses were loose, all right, but this time they weren't mine

On Thursday morning I got a call from my daughter Karen, who had apparently received a call from someone else, informing me that my horses were loose.

"I don't have any horses," I replied, almost gleefully, and she said "I guess that means it's someone else's problem," and I said (and here I admit the glee part), "Right."

I then quickly called the friends who pasture their horses and cows on my place, just to make sure they had not sneaked their horses back onto my pastures, which they use during the time of green grass, roughly late May to late October.

And it was late October, and there was still a smidgen of green grass that hadn't quite been chewed down, so I called Linda and Paul to make sure they hadn't slipped their horses back under cover of darkness or something, which they have been known to do, for one last nibble.

So I asked Linda if by some chance they had re-installed Stealth Horses on my property without my knowledge.

NORTH COUNTRY NOTEBOOK

By JOHN HARRIGAN

"Nope, no Stealth Horses," she said quickly, meaning that their horses were not loose on South Hill, galloping up and down the road, but were over on West Road right where they belonged, chewing on round-bale hay.

Four of the more dreaded words for anyone dealing with livestock are "Your animals are loose," especially at this time of year. It also perhaps bears mentioning that I'm on crutches, which would make chasing livestock around a bit more difficult.

This little episode somehow reminded me of the place in the woods where Bob Vashaw and I sometimes put things that are just best left to rot, slowly, over a very long time. We call it the SEP Pile, Someone Else's Problem. Most of it will gradually melt into the soil, and the rest can just await the next scrap drive.

New Hampshire Electric Co-op announces rate increase

The New Hampshire Electric Cooperative (NHEC) Board of Directors has approved rate changes effective with bills rendered Nov. 1, that will result in an overall bill increase of 14.2 percent, or $12.69 per month, for a typical residential member using 500 kilowatt-hours (kWh) per month.

The rate increase is the result of increases in two portions of members' bills - co-op power (the actual electricity used) and the regional access charge (the cost to access the regional transmission grid in order to get power to the NHEC distribution system). For most members, the co-op power rate is increasing 42 percent from 5.4 cents per kWh to 7.6 cents per kWh. By comparison, that is 25 percent lower than last winter's co-op power rate of 9.5 cents per kWh.

For most members the regional access charge (RAC) is increasing 12.5 percent during this winter period from 2.4 cents per kWh to 2.7 cents per kWh. Driving this increase are the continued costs of major investments being made in the region's bulk transmission facilities that move large amounts of power from generators to points throughout New England.

Electric rates typically increase during the winter months, due to higher wholesale electricity costs. The same conditions that have caused New England electric rates to spike for the past four winters are still to blame for this latest seasonal increase. Though natural gas prices remain low at the wellhead, a lack of adequate pipeline capacity into New England means that power producers will be competing again this winter with home heating for limited natural gas supplies. This causes a significant delivery premium to be added to the wellhead price for natural gas, which is used to generate more than half of the electricity produced in New England.

NHEC is encouraging members to mitigate the effects of higher winter rates by conserving and, when possible, participating in NHEC's Energy Solutions programs. Energy efficiency improvements can help members save energy and money year-round. NHEC provides a full slate of energy-saving opportunities for residential, commercial and municipal members. Complete details are available online at www.nhec.com/energysolutions. Members can also view and manage their electric usage on SmartHub, NHEC's online home for account management at www.nhec.com.

NHEC is a member-owned electric distribution cooperative serving 84,000 homes and businesses in 115 New Hampshire communities.

Kiss Me, Kate features a cast of all ages and experience

WOLFEBORO — Producing and putting on a musical theater production takes an army of people, countless hours of rehearsal, and a lot of heart. This season's production of Cole Porter's, Kiss Me, Kate by The Village Players, gives the audience an insight into the lives and travails of the stage performers. The story focuses on a theater troupe putting on a production of Taming of the Shrew. She-nigans in the actors' lives interfere with their production of this Shakespeare play with humorous results.

Kiss Me, Kate is directed by Carol Bense, with the help of assistant directors Rosemary Lounsbury and Kristi Nieman, and musical director Keith Belanger.

Show dates are Nov. 11, 12, 13, 18, 19 and 20 with Friday and Saturday performances at 8 p.m. and Sunday matinees at 2 p.m. All performances are at The Village Players Theater, 51 Glendon St., Wolfeboro. Tickets are available online, at the box office, or at Black's Paper and Gifts on Main Street in Wolfeboro.

Kiss Me, Kate features a cast of 33 actors, many of whom are veterans with The Village Players and some who are having their very first experience with this group. There is also an exciting mix of seasoned and young performers. Among the young are members and alum of Perform It!, a local young people's theater group: Sam Marsh, Beth Marsh, Emily Marsh, Gwen Collins, Stephen Watson, Lisa Penny, Abbie Cameron and Maggie Fraser.

Sam Marsh, who is playing Nathaniel/Stagehand 1, says, "I'm having fun with having a larger singing part, and it's awesome to be in a play set in the 1940s. It's also great to be in a show with two of my sisters."

Emily Marsh, who is playing one of the woman dancers, has an interesting perspective on the production. "I think one of my biggest contributions to this show is the poster art and design. I am a free-lance illustrator and loved painting Kate (Flower) and Christian (Boudman) for the poster image. I actually photographed them at rehearsal the day they met, and got to see their

The Division II volleyball semifinals are tonight, Nov. 3, at 5 and 7 p.m. at Pinkerton Academy and the finals are Saturday, Nov. 5, at 7 p.m. at Pinkerton. The Division III volleyball finals are Friday, Nov. 4, at 7 p.m. at Plymouth State University.

The cross country Meet of Champions takes place at Nashua South High School on Saturday, Nov. 5, with the girls running at 2:30 p.m. and the boys at 3:20 p.m.

BRIANNA BURLEY of Prospect Mountain leaps in the air with teammates rushing in after scoring the game-winning goal on a PK in the first overtime of the opening round contest of the Division III tournament against Stevens.

PROSPECT MOUNTAIN'S Sadie DeJager heads the ball down the field away from Stevens' Kelsey Belisle.

Opening round fireworks

Burley penalty kick sends Prospect on to quarters

BY JOE SOUZA

Contributing Writer

ALTON — When it came down to crunch time, the Prospect Mountain girls' soccer team picked each other up in the opening round of the Division III tournament. Unfortunately, the Timber Wolves could not find the same magic in the quarterfinal round.

Senior Brianna Burley fired in the game-winner on a penalty kick with less than five minutes remaining in the first overtime period, lifting the eighth-seeded Timber Wolves to a thrilling 2-1 come-from-behind victory over No. 9 Stevens in Wednesday's first round action. The Timber Wolves had an impressive performance against top-seeded Fall Mountain on Saturday, eventually dropping a 1-0 decision in penalty kicks after a scoreless 100 minutes of soccer. Prospect Mountain ends its season at 10-7-1.

For much of the opening round contest, the Timber Wolves struggled. The hosts had some scoring opportunities, but Stevens enjoyed the better scoring opportunities. Prospect Mountain did come to life in time to extend its season, getting the equalizer from Kasey Lacroix late in the second half to set the stage for Burley's winner.

The Timber Wolves earned a corner kick in the extra session, their first of the afternoon. The ball came loose in front and appeared to be heading in when it was stopped by a Stevens defender with her hands, and the hosts were awarded a PK. Prospect Mountain had just one PK this season and missed it, but head coach Matt Locke had all the confidence in the world in his powerful senior.

"That was only our second of the year and missed the one we had during the season," Locke said. "I wanted someone I knew would be calm under pressure. Bri is calm under pressure. She's a softball pitcher who is used to being on the big stage... And she's got the power."

Burley certainly does have the power, and it was a good thing as Stevens keeper Amber Duford was able to get her hands on the ball, but could not keep it out of the goal. Duford finished with seven saves on the day.

It was a disappointing ending for the Cardinals (9-8).

"It's a tough way to lose (on PK), but I think the ball was heading in off the corner kick anyway," Stevens coach Tom Belaire said.

"I think we played well," added Belaire. "We had a lot of opportunities. I thought we did a lot of good things and we had opportunities to score, but we didn't take the shots. We had to shoot more. We had girls wide open at the 18 and we looked for that one extra pass when we should've taken the shot."

The opening half went back-and-forth, with both teams getting opportunities, but coming away empty handed to set the stage for the exciting second half.

Momentum shifted to the Cardinals in the second half, starting in the opening minutes when Kelsey Belisle had an opportunity stopped by Prospect keeper Mackenzie Burke (nine saves). The ball scooted away from Burke but Burley was able to clear it out of danger.

With about 27 minutes remaining, a shot by Stevens' Audrey Puksta went off a defender and glanced off the crossbar before going out of bounds.

The Cardinals broke the scoreless battle in the 10th minute. After Duford stopped a bid by Prospect Mountain's Leah Dunne, the ball was cleared down the field where Jazmyn Griffin jumped on the loose ball. The senior forward weaved through the Prospect defense and placed the ball in the back of the goal to put the visitors up 1-0 at 10:14.

Now trailing, the Timber Wolves went on the attack.

Duford caught a shot by Lacroix moments later, but the sophomore midfielder wouldn't be denied on her next opportunity. Lacroix broke free and lofted a shot over Duford and into the top of the goal to knot the game at 1-1 with 8:55 on the clock.

Neither team could convert down the stretch, setting the stage for the OT final.

"This was not our best effort," Locke said. "I thought we came out good, but we got sloppy. We were fortunate, very lucky. We didn't have our best game back there where we have been solid all year."

The Timber Wolves got strong efforts from Dunne and Lacroix up front as well as Melissa Stowell on defense.

PMHS seeking JV girls' hoop coach

ALTON — Prospect Mountain High School in Alton is looking for a girls' JV basketball coach for the upcoming winter season. Anyone interested in the position can find more information or can apply on the school's web site at www.pmhschool.com.

Howlett advances to Meet of Champions

Prospect boys and girls compete in Division III State Meet

BY JOSHUA SPAULDING

Sports Editor

MANCHESTER — Prospect Mountain cross country coach John Tuttle always looks ahead and tries to figure out, based on previous years and races, just how his team is going to perform on any given day.

Prior to Saturday's Division III State Meet at Derryfield Park in Manchester, Tuttle figured his boys would finish in sixth place, just out of the running for a Meet of Champions bid, which go to the top five teams.

And the veteran coach was right on the money, as the Timber Wolf boys came up with a sixth place finish on the day. The Timber Wolf girls finished in 16th place. Monadnock won the boys' title and Campbell picked up the girls' title.

"The kids have really been improving every week and that's a good thing," Tuttle said. "When they are running like that, it usually continues."

The story of the day for the Timber Wolves was freshman Tommy Howlett, who turned in an impressive time of 17:20 for 13th place overall, which earned him a bid to the Meet of Champions next week. Tuttle noted he is the first freshman from Prospect Mountain to make the Meet of Champions.

Hudson Ingoldsby finished in 39th place overall in 18:16 to finish as Prospect's second scorer and senior classmate Alex Amann was not far behind in 18:25 for 41st place overall.

Fellow senior Zander Guldbrandsen finished in 49th place in a time of 18:44 and Riley McCartney rounded out the scoring for the Timber Wolves with a time of 19:12 for 66th place overall.

Jake Blair finished in 116th place in a time of 20:21 and Patrick Hodgman rounded out the field of Timber Wolves with a time of 21:52 for 143rd place.

Junior Brittany Rogers led the way for the Timber Wolf girls, as she finished in 51st place in a time of 23:29.

Naomi Ingham finished in 66th place in a time of 24:06 and Anna DeRoche was the third Timber Wolf, crossing in 97th place in 25:30.

Kayley Hoyt was 102nd overall in 25:51 and Lily Michaud rounded out the scoring with a time of 25:56 for 105th place overall.

Ashlyn Dalrymple finished in 118th place in 26:59 and Wyleigh Chase rounded out the field of Timber Wolf girls with a time of 29:18 for 138th place overall.

"They had some great times, a great effort across the board," Tuttle said. "I was very, very happy with the boys and girls."

The Timber Wolf coach noted that the race was the best of the season in his mind, though it's hard to judge on different courses and with

Lakers take care of business, bounce Prospect

BY JOSHUA SPAULDING

MEREDITH — Plain and simple, the better team won.

Such was the accessing done by Prospect Mountain volleyball coach Mike Christy after his team fell to Inter-Lakes in the opening round of the Division III tournament on Thursday, Oct. 27.

“They were just a better team,” Christy said of the Lakers. “We pretty much got outplayed in every situation.

“I don’t feel we played to our potential,” Christy added. “Too many free balls and not enough hits. That’s how you lose in this game.”

The second-year Timber Wolf coach noted that things just didn’t quite go as well as they could have for his team and he is well aware that the team can play better.

GABRIELLE FOSSETT (left) and Shannon Armstrong go up at the net in action against Inter-Lakes last week. RC GREENWOOD

“I know they are capable of more,” Christy said. “Our possession was not good enough, our defense was not good enough.

“We could not set up as good as Inter-Lakes, so the offense was not there,” Christy added.

He pointed out that for many of the girls, this was their first playoff experience and he hopes that they learned from it and will be more prepared for it when the situation arises in the future.

“We have got to keep going, the girls should play a little bit more in the offseason and we’ll get there,” Christy said.

The Timber Wolves finished at 5-11 on the regular season and earned the 13th seed in the Division III tournament.

Knights almost pull the big upset

BY JOSHUA SPAULDING

PEMBROKE — After a long, long absence from the playoffs, the Kingswood boys’ soccer team made up for the missing time with quite a game in the first round of the Division II tournament on Wednesday, Oct. 26.

The 15th-seeded Knights traveled to Pembroke and took on second-seeded Pembroke Academy and the game went to penalty kicks before the Spartans escaped with the win.

“It was an incredible game,” said Kingswood coach Kempes Corbally. “If you were neutral, it would’ve been a lot of fun to watch, but it wasn’t as much fun for me as a coach.

“I’m definitely proud of the guys,” the first-year head coach continued. “There were exciting times, nervous times, it was a fantastic game.”

Things did not start out so well for the Knights, as they gave what Corbally called a “gift goal” to the Spartans in the first two minutes.

However, the Knights didn’t get down and David Mansfield answered with a goal for the Knights about 20 minutes later, tying the game at one.

The Knights then poured on the pressure in the final 10 minutes of the half and Corbally was convinced his team was going to the half with the lead, but the Spartans held tight and the game went to the break with a tie score.

The two teams battled back and forth in the second half but again, nobody was able to score and the game went to overtime and then a second overtime. After 100 minutes of soccer, the two teams remained tied and the game went to penalty kicks. The Spartans were able to escape with the win in the kicks.

RYAN WILLETTE has his eyes on the ball for a save in playoff action on Oct. 26. KATHY SUTHERLAND “Penalty kicks are a coin toss,” Corbally said, noting the Pembroke coach came up to him after the game and said the Knights didn’t deserve to lose. The Knight coach also noted that the Spartans didn’t deserve to lose either.

“That was the biggest game of their lives,” Corbally said. “When have they experienced such a pressure moment in sports? They probably haven’t.”

Corbally noted that throughout the season, he had heard from numerous coaches that they had heard Kingswood had changed and he is proud that the Knights are now a team not to be taken lightly.

“He was telling his kids, ‘we can’t take Kingswood lightly,’” Corbally said of the Pembroke coach. “The guys have proved it throughout the season, on any day, they can play with anybody.

“I wanted the kids to believe,” the first-year head coach said. “We have the potential, we have the athletes to compete, they all just needed to learn their jobs and how they fit in.”

The Knight coach said that one of the goals at the start of the season was to make the playoffs and he was happy that the team got in, though he admits he would’ve liked to have a better record going in.

“The record is on me,” he said. “That’s why coaches get fired all the time, because of the record.

“But ultimately, we made it to the playoffs,” Corbally continued. “I knew because I had seen this team starting to understand their roles, that it’s starting to change, the kids are starting to get it.”

And he pointed out that on the bus ride to Pembroke, he said that he didn’t have any fear of what was ahead and he could see from his team that they were not fearful either.

“I’m really proud of the boys,” Corbally noted.

Kingswood finished at 5-10-1 on the season and earned the 15th seed in the Division II playoffs.

Timber Wolves fall short in quarterfinals

BY JOSHUA SPAULDING
Sports Editor

MANCHESTER — The Prospect Mountain soccer boys grabbed the momentum early against top-ranked Derryfield on Saturday afternoon.

However, the Cougars showed why they are the team to beat in the Division III playoffs, as they came charging back and scored the next five goals to secure a 5-1 win over the Timber Wolves in the Division III quarterfinals.

“The first half was really good,” Prospect coach Cory Halvorsen said. “Then they adjusted and did things different than what we expected.”

He noted that his team tried to make adjustments and went on a defensive plan as the first half was coming to a close and that was not the plan at all.

“The half couldn’t come fast enough for me to say we were not doing that,” Halvorsen said. “We came out like we wanted to, we wanted to continue to play our game, possession and continue to move the ball and we didn’t do that.”

After Drew Nickerson made a couple of early saves and Tyler Brown and Matt Sepulveda had early clears, the Timber Wolves were able to get on the board first, as Jonah Dudzik sent a nice cross through the box.

The ball was tipped on to the foot of Jesse DeJager, who fired it to the far post for a 1-0 lead less than five minutes into the game.

Derryfield came back and tested Nickerson, but the Prospect goalie was up to the task, stopping three shots in a row, while TJ Batte and Brandon Sinclair helped out with good clears from in front of the net. Derryfield had a pair of corners but could not convert, as DeJager and Brown stood strong in front of Nickerson. Tucker Kierstead also got in on the defensive play with a good block of a shot and Nickerson made a save in close on a bid by the Cougars.

The Manchester private school was able to get on the board on a corner kick with 14:40 to go in the first half. Nickerson made a diving attempt and the ball hit off his fingers but went into the net for the tying goal.

DeJager and Doug Krivitsky teamed up on a scoring chance for the Timber Wolves but they were turned away and DeJager had another bid stopped by the Derryfield keeper.

The Cougars came up with three corners in a row and Nickerson came through with a good clear out on the third.

However, with 5:27 to go in the first half, the Cougars were able to slip through the defense and get in alone on Nickerson and fire the ball in the net for the 2-1 lead.

That lead held for the final minutes of the half, with Batte and DeJager both getting good clears from the defensive zone before the break.

Nickerson was tested early in the second half as well, forced to make a couple of big saves, while Krivitsky had a shot go high and Dudzik and Andy Hamilton teamed up on a bid that was cleared out. DeJager just missed connecting with Dudzik on a run into the zone and Hamilton had a header stopped by the Derryfield keeper.

Brown came through with a nice clear on a Derryfield corner kick and DeJager again just missed connecting with Dudzik on a bid in the zone. Dudzik also was able to get by the defense along the sideline, but his pass through the crease found nobody home and the Cougars held the lead.

A collision in the box with 23:21 to go in the game saw the Cougars awarded a penalty shot and they delivered for a 3-1 lead.

If that didn’t deflate the Timber Wolves, the goal scored just 20 seconds later probably did, as the Cougars again got in the box and were able to sneak one into the net for the 4-1 lead.

DeJager had a shot go wide, Sepulveda turned in good defense and Nickerson made another save as the Timber Wolves fought to stay in the game. However, the Cougars added another goal with 8:08 to go for the 5-1 lead.

Prospect did not get its first corner kick until the final six minutes of the game. They had two in a row but could not convert and the Cougars eventually took the 5-1 win.

“That’s part of the game,” Halvorsen said. “We take the 50 kids from our school who try out and we’re playing against an All-Star team that’s hand-picked.”

“We competed well, we showed up to play,” the Timber Wolf coach said. “The scoreline doesn’t tell the story of the game.”

“Today, I felt they put it all on the field and the left it on the field,” Halvorsen continued. “I’m really happy with how they showed up today.”

He admitted that the penalty kick was something that never should have happened, but also pointed out his team should’ve bounced back from it and didn’t.

The Timber Wolves finished the season at 12-4 and earned the eighth seed in the playoffs. They defeated Mascoma 6-0 in a rainy and cold second round game after earning a first-round bye.

Turkey Trot set for Nov. 19

WOLFEBORO — Wolfeboro will once again attract runners from throughout the region for the 25th annual “Gift of Sight and Hearing” Turkey Trot on Saturday, Nov. 19. A local hometown favorite, the annual race is held the Saturday before Thanksgiving each year. The event features a 1.2-mile kids race and an adult 3.2-mile race with cross country components for runners of all ages and abilities. There will be a division specifically for fast walkers. New this year they are having a Senior Turkey Trot located at Brewster in the Smith Center. It is geared towards seniors that want to participate, but would need a more flat walking surface. The cost is $10 and no shirts are available for that race.

The race is organized by the Wolfeboro Parks and Recreation Department in partnership with The Wolfeboro Lions Club and many local businesses.

Registration forms are already flowing in for this year’s event, which will be held on Saturday Nov. 19. Each year the race features a competitive and fun field of entrants and a serious contingent of postseason high school cross country rivalries. The races start and end at the Wolfeboro Railroad Station. The kids’ 1.2-mile course heads out the Bridge Falls Path to the end (Route 28) and then circles back past Foss Field and up the road just past the Lehner Street parking lot to the top of the hill and a right turn down to the railroad depot. The 3.2-mile course covers a road and cross country route that leaves the Bridge

Online registration is available at the Parks and Recreation web site. Just click on the blue link for “online registration.” Registration forms are available at the Wolfeboro Area Chamber of Commerce, the Wolfeboro and Tuftonboro Town Halls and libraries and the Pop Whalen Arena. The registration fees are $15 for 12 and under and $25 for 13 and over. Race day registrations are $20 for 12 and under, $30 for 13 and over, and $10 for senior race at Brewster Smith Hall. The kids’ race starts at 10 a.m., the fast walkers 5K start at 10:15 a.m. and the 5K starts at 10:30 a.m. Brewster race is ongoing between 10 a.m. and 12 p.m.

Ten in a row for Eagles

Kennett football beats Kingswood for 10th consecutive Carroll County title

BY JOSHUA SPAULDING
Sports Editor

WOLFEBORO — The last time the Kingswood football team defeated Kennett for the Carroll County championship, it was a rainy afternoon in Conway.

The weather on Friday night in Wolfeboro certainly bode well for the Knights, but it was the Eagles who executed, as Tanner Brown racked up the yards behind a monster performance from the offensive line and the Eagles shut out their Carroll County rivals for the second year in a row, this time by a 42-0 score.

“Tonight we knew the kind of game we would get,” Kennett coach Vaughn Beckwith said. “Having Tanner back tonight was huge.”

“The offensive line saw the blitz well and picked it up,” the Eagle coach continued. “And there’s only two seniors there so we’re getting everyone else back.”

“They dominated the line of scrimmage, that was key,” said Kingswood coach Justin Leonard. “They did a great job, they had a very good game plan.”

Kingswood went three and out on the first drive and Kennett was able to get a first down on the legs of Brown on their first drive, but a fumble on the fourth play was recovered by Jake Merrill of Kingswood and the Knights got the ball back. However, on their fourth play, after Evan Lavoice hit Cole Johnston for a first down, a Knight fumble was recovered by Jack Hanson of Kennett and the Eagles were back in business.

Brown raced the ball down the field, getting six of the seven carries on the drive for 38 yards and he took the touchdown in with 4:04 to go from three yards out. Sam Pollard drilled the extra point and the Eagles had a 7-0 lead.

Kingswood came back and James O’Leary was able to hit Johnston with a 16-yard pass to get a first down, but the Knights couldn’t get any further and a bad punt gave the Eagles good field position. The Knights were playing without kicker/punter Mark Chrysafidis and his backup was also on the bench with an injury at that time.

Aaron Lamar escaped tackles for a 12-yard gain as the first quarter ended and then Brown carried three times for 13 yards to get in the end zone with 50 seconds gone in the second quarter. Pollard’s extra point made it 14-0.

Kingswood was able to move the ball on the legs of O’Leary and Cam Mann, with Mann converting a fourth and two, but on first down, Devon Ouellette intercepted a Knight pass to give the Eagles the ball back.

Brown carried twice for 12 yards and then after Ouellette picked up seven yards, Brown converted a third and two. But the Eagles had to punt away.

Pat Cullen was able to stop the Knights in the backfield on the first play and then a bad snap on the second play bounced into the end zone and Trevor Mills pounced on the ball for the touchdown with 4:11 to go in the half and Kennett was up 20-0.

Kingswood went three and out on the next drive and Kennett needed just two plays to go 50 yards for a touchdown. Miller picked up five yards on the first play and then ran 45 yards down the sideline for the touchdown. Brown carried in the conversion for a 28-0 lead with 1:57 to go in the first half.

Kingswood’s next drive was cut short when Ryan Meader intercepted a pass on third and five, but Kennett’s drive to the end zone, which included a fourth and eight pass from Miller to Ouellette for a first down, ended at the five-yard line when Mann recovered a fumble and the game went to the half with Kennett up 28-0.

The Eagles got the ball to start the second half and went 60 yards for the touchdown. Brown did most of the work, though Travis Arnold also carried the ball. O’Leary appeared to have a sack for the Knights on third and eight but a penalty negated the play. Dylan Douglas had a stop and a sack for the Knights, putting Kennett in fourth and long at the 15. However, Cullen made an impressive grab along the sidelines for a touchdown with 7:12 to go in the third. The two-point conversion was stopped but Kennett was up 34-0.

Kingswood was unable to convert a fourth down on the next drive and the Eagles again went to Brown, with Arnold and Miller each getting carries as well. Douglas made a stop in the backfield, but Miller converted a third and two and Brown picked up two first downs in a row. Arnold caught a pass for first down, getting the ball to the three and Lamar carried in from there with 1:01 to go in the third. Brown’s conversion made it 42-0.

Lavoice hit Mann for a first down to close out the third quarter and then hit Mike Kelley for a first down on the first play of the fourth quarter. However, Shawn Kenny stepped in front of the next pass and Kennett got the ball back. The Eagles went four and out but the Knights couldn’t convert on fourth and down on their next drive. Kennett was stopped on fourth down on their next drive, including a big stop by Lavoice on third down. Meader came up with an interception on Kingswood’s first pass from scrimmage and the Eagles took a knee to close out their 10th consecutive Carroll County championship.

“The trophy is back at Kennett, the Carroll County championship is back in Conway,” Beckwith said. “They’re a hungry group.”

The Eagle coach admitted that his team wishes the county title game was not their last game, but the team missed out on the playoffs after a couple of tough losses leading up to the Kingswood game.

“We had our opportunities, we just weren’t able to get it done,” the Eagle coach said of the season. “We lost two games by a touchdown and one by 10 points.”

“Does a 6-3 team make the playoffs, I don’t know,” Beckwith added, also noting that the future looks bright.

“(The line) is a strong building block for us for the next couple of years,” the Eagle coach said. “Brett has the ability to be a good quarterback.

“They kept fighting,” said Leonard, praising the work of Lavoice, both on offense and defense, as a standout in the game. “The kids gave me everything they had this year.”

Like Beckwith, he was also looking ahead to next year, now that this season is in the books.

Pooler earns bid to Meet of Champions

Kingswood boys and girls compete in Division II State Meet

BY JOSHUA SPAULDING
Sports Editor

MANCHESTER — Injuries and illness didn't do any favors to the Kingswood cross country team this season and that continued into the Division III State Meet on Saturday, Oct. 29, at Derryfield Park in Manchester.

Two of the team's top four boys took to the course while battling injuries and the Knights were unable to secure a bid to the Meet of Champions.

Kingswood finished 11th in the boys' race, with Coe-Brown and Oyster River taking the top two spots. In the girls' race, Souhegan and Coe-Brown earned the top spots and Kingswood finished in 16th place.

"It was a little disappointing on the season, since I wish everyone was healthy," coach Paul Harvey stated. "But overall, I'm proud of the kids and what they've done."

The good news for the Knights is that they will be represented at the Meet of Champions, as junior Wyatt Pooler, in his first cross country season, qualified for the next round with an 18th place finish in 17:10.

Pooler is now the only Kingswood athlete, among any sport, still competing in the fall sports season.

"Him going on to Meet of Champions is cool," Harvey said. "Especially since it's first time running cross country. I'm really proud of what he's done."

Cam Stinchfield, one of the Knights battling injury, finished in 32nd place in 17:47 to finish as the second Knight and senior Owen Gwizdala ran to 42nd place in 17:58 to cap off his Kingswood career.

Brent Coope scored as the fourth Knight ished in 107th place in 19:26 and Brodie Deshaies placed 109th overall in 19:30, fighting through injury to complete the race.

"Brodie and Cam were both battling injuries and they tried to work through it," Harvey said. "To finish the way they did, I give the kids lots of credit."

Sarah Huckman led the way for the Kingswood girls, as she finished in 65th place overall in 22:17.

Grace Trites was second for the Knights and 91st overall in 23:32 and Eileen McKenna finished in 102nd place in 23:59.

Zoe McClain was fourth for the Knights in her first State Meet, placing 104th in 24:09. Fellow freshman Sarah Bellefleur rounded out the scoring for Kingswood with a time of 24:53 for 112th place.

Emma Bellefleur, in her final race for the Kingswood cross country team, finished in 133rd place in 26:21 and Hannah Chatigny finished in 136th place in 26:35.

"We had a couple of girls who had a rough time, but we had some young girls who did well," Harvey said, pointing to Huckman, McClain and Sarah Bellefleur. "And Grace had a strong run."

"I'm proud of the work they've put in this season," Harvey said. "The whole team did awesome."

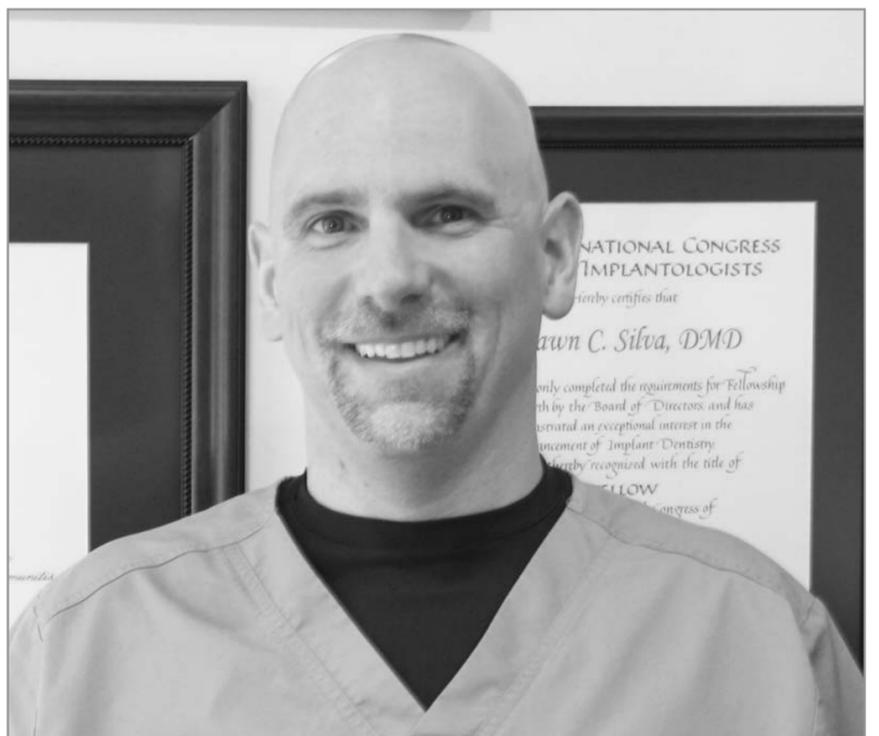

Pooler will now continue his season at the Meet of Champions, which is held at Nashua South High School on Saturday, Nov. 5, with the girls racing at 2:30 p.m. and the boys following at 3:20 p.m.

'Toppers end Kingswood's season in quarterfinals

BY JOSHUA SPAULDING

SOMERSWORTH — Down 2-0 in the quarterfinals on the road in Somersworth, the Kingswood volleyball team got a huge momentum swing, getting a big win in the third set to keep the season alive.

However, the "Toppers" were able to grab that momentum back in the fourth set and took the 3-1 win, bringing Kingswood's season to an end.

"I'm lost for words," said coach Al Koehler. "But I'm very proud of what they've done."

"I'm not disappointed at all," the first-year head coach continued. "That was a really good team in a high-pressure game."

Out of the gate, a Courtney Drew ace allowed Kingswood to get a 3-0 lead and a Liz McLaughlin tip made it a 4-1 lead before Somersworth came back to tie the game at four. The Knights were able to go ahead by an 8-5 score on hits from Geri Andrea and Marie Luckern before Somersworth came back and tied the score at eight. The "Toppers" went ahead by two points before Bridgeman helped lead the Knights to the 11-10 lead.

Drew had a hit that led the Knights back to the 12-11 lead but Somersworth continued to fight back, tying the score at 13, 14, 15 and 16. A Michelle Frady hit put Kingswood up 17-16 and a block from Andrea pushed the lead to 18-16. Somersworth came back and took a 19-18 lead before Kingswood tied the match. The hosts went up 21-19 but hits from Drew and Luckern tied the match at 21. The match was tied again at 22 but the "Toppers" got three of the final four points for the 25-23 win.

Kingswood got out to a 5-0 lead in the second set, led by a big block from Bridgeman. Somersworth got a pair of points, but a McLaughlin hit got the Knights back on the board. Somersworth continued to climb and was able to cut the lead to 7-6 before a pair of tips and a hit from Andrea allowed Kingswood to take a 10-6 lead. Luckern also had a hit for an 11-7 lead and the Knights were able to get the lead to 13-8 before the "Toppers" came charging back.

Somersworth was able to run off five points in a row to tie the score at 13. McLaughlin had a hit that helped get Kingswood to a 17-13 lead but again the "Toppers" rallied, cutting the lead to 17-15. A McLaughlin tip continued to keep the Knights ahead but the "Toppers" rallied and scored four points in a row to tie the match at 20.

McLaughlin finished off a great volley to give the Knights a 21-20 lead but the hosts tied the match at 21 and then took a 22-21 lead. Kingswood tied the match at 22 but the "Toppers" got the final three points for a 25-22 win and a 2-0 lead.

Kingswood scored five of the first six points in the third set, with Bridgeman getting a big kill and a block to lead the way. Somersworth fought back and tied the match at six and then took a 7-6 lead before a McLaughlin hit pulled Kingswood even. The Knights were able to get up 14-8, thanks in part to strong play from Maddison Rabideau and Frady. An ace from Andrea allowed the Knights to continue to pull away, as they upped the lead to 19-11. Somersworth slowly tried to get back in it, but Bridgeman had a big hit and Kasey Birth had a great get on a good volley. A Bridgeman block, a hit from McLaughlin and a Bridgeman tip allowed Kingswood to get the 25-17 win and take a little momentum.

However, that didn't last too long, as Somersworth jumped out to a 7-1 lead in the fourth set. McLaughlin had a service ace to allow Kingswood to get to 7-3. However, the next five points went to the "Toppers" and they went up 12-3. Luckern found a nice spot to get a point for the Knights but Somersworth continued to pull away, getting the lead to 18-4 and then 21-5. Bridgeman had a block for the Knights but Somersworth closed out the 25-7 win and the 3-1 victory.

"We really worked hard," Koehler said. "I think this is one of the best defensive teams to come out of Kingswood."

"We were able to play some good ball against some good teams and beat them," Koehler continued. "You don't win nine in a row because of a fluke."

He noted that the Knights were able to attack the ball, which led to a good offensive plan throughout the season. "The girls still played well, I'm very proud of all of them," the Knight coach said.

Koehler also looked to the future with good feelings.

"This is a good start for Kingswood," he said. "We'll never lay down."

"I'll develop players to the best of their abilities and beyond," Koehler continued. "That's what I am hired to do."

"We had 68 kids on five teams, there is excitement there," the Knight coach said of the Kingswood program.

The Knights finished at 11-5 on the season and earned the sixth seed in the tournament.

Salmon Sunday set for Nov. 13

TUFTONBORO — Bring the kids and explore the life cycle of landlocked salmon, fish prized by anglers on New Hampshire's big lakes, at the New Hampshire Fish and Game Department's annual "Salmon Sunday" event on Sunday, Nov. 13, from noon to 2 p.m. at Pope Dam in Melvin Village. Pope Dam is nine miles north of Wolfeboro on Route 109 in the town of Tuftonboro.

During the event, fisheries biologists will be busy harvesting, or "stripping," eggs and milt from adult salmon. Standing knee-deep in the cold water of the Melvin River, scientists expertly relieve the colorful adult female salmon of their eggs by stroking their stomachs. Milt from the male fish is obtained in the same way, and mixed with the gold-colored eggs to fertilize them.

This activity is all part of the work the New Hampshire Fish and Game Department carries out each year, with support from the Federal Aid in Sport Fish Restoration Program, to maintain the landlocked salmon population in New Hampshire's big lakes.

Salmon used for the stripping demonstration are netted from Lake Winnepesaukee during October and early November. They are returned to the lake after their eggs and milt have been collected. The fertilized eggs are taken to Powder Mill Hatchery in New Durham, where they will hatch in three to four months. The salmon are raised in the hatchery for about 18 months, then stocked into Lake Winnepesaukee and other New Hampshire lakes.

Fish and Game staff will be on hand to answer questions about salmon, the egg-stripping process and the stocking program that ensures these beautiful fish continue to be available in the lakes for anglers to catch. Salmon Sunday is a "rain or shine" event. Dress warmly. If you have questions about Salmon Sunday, call 744-5470.

Planned trip to New York means missing a big game

I don't like to miss big moments for the local high school sports teams. I hated missing the Kingswood Nordic ski team's Division II championship back in 2014, but the fact that I was at the Olympics made it at least somewhat excusable.

It happened again last Wednesday, when the Kingswood boys' soccer team made its first playoff appearance in my many years on the job. However, I was out of town and unable to be at the game, which turned out to be quite the battle, with the Knights taking second-seeded Pembroke to penalty kicks before finally dropping a 2-1 decision to the Spartans.

Photographer Kathy Sutherland and Kingswood Athletics Director Aaron House kept me updated with text messages but I was on a pre-planned trip to New York City for yet another Survivor event. Having purchased the tickets in advance, the plans were in place so I had to miss the playoff game.

These trips to New York City have become a semi-annual event. Former Survivor Rob Cesternino hosts his live Rob Has a Podcast Know It Alls show once every Survivor season and I always try to make the trip down to the city for the event.

I've gotten the travel part down over the last few years (this was the fifth trip to New York City for one of these events). I get out of bed pretty early and go to the bus station in Dover and from there, take the bus in to South Station in Boston for the 8:15 a.m. train to New York.

The train gets me in to the city just after noon and gives me some time to see a few different things each time. Last time, I made the trip up the Empire State Building. This time I decided to do another trip to the top of a building, this time going to the Top of the Rock, at the top of Rockefeller Center, the building where shows like the Tonight Show and Saturday Night Live are filmed (after a quick lunch at Shake Shack). I spent some time walking around the bottom of Rockefeller Center (the skating rink was there but the tree was not there yet) before heading up on the elevator to get a great view of the city. The three-tiered roof offered some great views of the city, from Central Park on one side to the Empire State Building and lower Manhattan on the other side.

A group of Rob Has a Podcast fans met up for dinner at Hell's Kitchen and then headed over to Carolines on Broadway for the live show. We watched what was a fantastic episode of Survivor with both Adam and Zeke from this season, both of whom had great episodes. In addition to Rob and co-host Stephen Fisbach, other former Survivors in attendance included Aubry Bracco, Eliza Orllins, Michele Fitzgerald, Liz Markham, Anna Khait and Francesca Hogi. It's always great when the episode we watch is a good one and last week's episode did not disappoint. After watching the episode, Rob and Stephen hosted their show and then we headed over to a post-show function a few blocks off of Times Square.

And as is my tradition, I was able to catch the 2:40 a.m. train back to Boston. The train actually got in 10 minutes early so I was able to catch an earlier bus and made it back to the office before noon and was out on the field in the rain for a play-off soccer game a few hours later, back to the grind of the work life.

Finally, have a great day Kempes and Elizabeth Corbally.

different teams competing.

"The teams ahead of us, we really didn't see much," Tuttle said, noting that the Campbell boys, who finished just one spot ahead of the Timber Wolves in fifth, were five spots ahead of Prospect in an early-season race.

"Everybody ran as good as the times I wrote down on paper," Tuttle said.

He also pointed to what he hopes is a little symmetry.

"The year we won, that same team was sixth the year before and missed Meet of Champions by a point," Tuttle said. "Everything can change in a year."

Encouraging news:

Central to this media campaign to eliminate underage drinking is the encouraging news that studies show parent disapproval is the No. 1 reason children choose not to drink alcohol. Parents empowered can trump peer pressure.

The most effective parenting techniques are among the most simple, including:

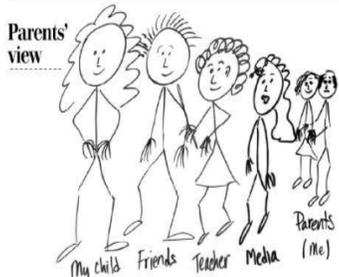

- Set clear rules about no underage drinking
- Know where your children are and whom they are with
- Know your children's friends
- Ensure your children's social environments are alcohol free
- Have daily, positive communication and interaction with your children
- Eat dinner together

Research shows
teens who regularly eat as a family (5-7 times per week) are 33 percent less likely to use alcohol.

Most parents don't realize they are the No. 1 influence in their children's lives.

When parents were asked to draw the greatest influences on their teens, they placed themselves last.

When teens were asked to draw the major influences in their lives, they placed their parents first, before peers and activities.
