Laconia man hides from authorities in local home

BY DONNA RHODES drhodes@salmonpress.news

BELMONT – A man wanted on multiple arrest warrants was spotted by a Belmont Police officer last Wednesday afternoon, but rather than heeding the officer's order to stop, he recklessly fled the scene, narrowly missing the officer as he tried to approach the vehicle. The car he was driving was quickly located nearby however, thanks to additional officers who arrived to assist.

Capt. Richard Mann of BPD said the incident began at 2:56 p.m. on April 5, when the suspect pulled into a driveway at 20 Wildlife Blvd., but refused all orders to stop the vehicle and show his hands. Instead. he made a U-turn and drove the vehicle across the lawn as the officer approached, forcing the officer to jump to safety as the vehicle fled. As he drove off, a female passenger was also observed inside the car and a call for back-up was placed. Responding soon located the vehicle abandoned and left idling outside a home at 752 Laconia Rd. (N.H. Rte. 106). Police cordoned off the building and surrounding area as they initiated a K9 search for the suspect, later identified as 29-year-old Steven SEE STANDOFF, PAGE A11

drhodes@salmonpress.news BELMONT - Two of 18 students and their teacher from Fenelon High School in Elbeuf, Normandy, France were visiting Belmont High School as part of a cultural exchange program last week and sat down to discuss what they have seen and done so far in the United States.

The whole purpose of their trip, teacher Ann Barsot-Moreau pointed out, is to get to know American students and observe what they do in their daily lives.

"We're here to discover, not make plans," added her 17-year-old student Solene.

All About the Frame!

TILTON — On Monday, April 15, the Lakes Region Art Association will be hosting a presentation by Sara Rimes, owner of "U-Frame We-Frame" in Laconia. She will be speaking on how to frame your artwork to enhance and protect it. The meeting and presentation will be held in the Woodside Building at the Taylor Community in Laconia, at 7 p.m. A short meeting will be held prior to the program on framing.

Rimes has worked in the family business of framing since the age of thirteen, taking over as owner about four years ago. She will discuss professional framing techniques and materials that preserve and protect art as well as ready it for shows, sale or for hanging at home. In addition to full framing services, her store also sells framing supplies and serves as a resource for all your framing questions whether you are an artist or just want to give artwork you own a new look.

When discussing her upcoming presentation, Rimes commented that, "I love when people ask me questions, because there is a lot more to framing than people realize."

During her presentation she will show and explain the differences in glass, mats and hanging hardware, providing samples and will explain how the right frame and mat can make all the difference in the final presentation of the artwork.

U-Frame We-Frame is located at 50 Canal St., Laconia. The presentation if free and open to the public.

Community meeting planned on town buildings

BELMONT — Belmont residents are invited to a Community Meeting on Town Buildings on Wednesday, April 11 at 6:30 p.m. at Belmont High School.

This Community Meeting includes a presentation on the final Space and Feasibility Study report focused on Town Hall and Police needs, followed by community discussion.

"We need community input to move forward. The recommendations we'll discuss are based on feedback at our January 10th Community meeting," said Donna Hepp, Belmont Facility Strategy Committee member.

This report by Lavalle/Brensinger Architects includes a 20-year projection of Town Hall and Police Department space needs, conceptu-ing a second story to the building. Other suggestions made regarding these preferred options included shifting which programs were on the first floor of the Mill and a suggestion to consider the entire Corner Meeting House and Police Department site for longrange use of the Police Department. Both Police Department options will be conceptual with basic design for use of space and cost estimates to allow comparison by the community and Committee. These designs will be less detailed than those for Town Hall in the Belmont Mill. This option includes a more detailed design concept and cost estimate.

The Belmont Facility Strategy Committee will continue to work closely with the community to complete a Facility Strategy for all town buildings by this Fall. One of the important considerations of this effort is to how to phase recommended changes over time. The Facility Committee welcomes participation in this effort and will be providing notice of key meetings and opportunities for community discussion and feedback. Facility Committee members include Tom Garfield, Donna Hepp, and Carmen Lorentz. A video of the January Community Meeting is available at https://livestream.com/ belmontnh/live/videos/185747983.

STRATEGIES FOR LIVING

On the darkness and the dawn

BY LARRY SCOTT

From the New Testament, on the darkest day in history:

As evening approached, there came a man from Arimathea, named Joseph ... he asked for Jesus body, and Pilate ordered that it be given to him. Joseph took the body, wrapped it in a clean linen cloth, and placed it in his own new tomb that he had cut out of the rock. He rolled a big stone in front of the entrance ... and went away. — Matt. 27:57-60

End of the story...or so they thought.

For Herod and Pilate, a troublesome, although popular, figure was dead;

For Caiaphas, Annas and the Chief Priests, the One claiming to be Messiah, the One who challenged their control of temple activities, had been eliminat-

For Joseph of Arimathea, it marked an end to his hopes of recovering from his cowardice during Jesus' trial by the Sanhedrin;

For the disciples and Peter, it was an unbelievable disaster. Their hopes for the promised Kingdom, their dreams and their faith, all of which had been strengthened by their Messiah and Best Friend were a thing of the past;

For the women, the one Man who had treated them with dignity and respect was no longer avail-

For the guards, it was a gravy assignment, but one at which their failure to secure the tomb would doom them to death.

But not so fast guys. You're dealing with God here, and you are about to learn the rest of the story!

After the Sabbath, at dawn on the first day of the week ... the angel said to the women, "Do not be afraid, for I know that you are looking for Jesus, who was crucified. He is not here, he has risen. — Matt. 28:5-6

For the guards, their gravy assignment had just turned into a nightmare as the stone began to move;

For Herod and Pilate, it was not the end but the er recover:

For the temple hierarchy, an aggressive, new church would soon emerge...and in their heart of hearts they would have to acknowledge they had crucified their Messiah, and that to their own damnation;

For Joseph of Arimathea, it anticipated a new opportunity to serve the One he had grown to love and

For the disciples, it renewed their faith and gave them new hope, new direction, and a new mission to which they could dedicate their lives;

And for the women, unbelievably, "He's back! Happy days are here again!"

But it was not for them alone! For me too, and I note with great thanksgiving:

Praise be to the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ! In his great mercy he has given us new birth unto a living hope through the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead, and into an inheritance that can never perish ... kept in heaven for you. — I Peter 1:3-4

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Sanbornton's Old Town Meetin ain't what it should be

To the Editor:

Overall, I was disappointed at the outcome of our Town Meeting on March 13. However, I was very pleased when an over capacity of voters turned out to defeat the proposed $5 million Bond Issue, plus $2 million interest on the Warrant Article for a new Town Municipal Complex. Sadly there was a mass exodus following the vote leaving the balance of the voting to the usual 100 - 135 group that always seems to raise the bar, when it comes to spending the tax payer's hard earned dollars.

Déjà vu...Remember a few years ago, when the hiring of two fulltime Firemen was defeated due to an over capacity voter turn-out? The article was reintroduced the following year, and then again in the successive third year, when the article passed due to the usual low voter turnout. Now we have a three man full time Fire Department and all of its trappings, in a town of 2,800 people. Meredith, with all its exposure and population of over 6,000 year around (two to three times that in summer), has only one full time firefighter!

Thankfully, Sanbornton has a functioning and responsible Budget Committee. They determined that we, as a town, are on a collision course with rapidly increasing Health Care Premiums and did their best to draw the voters and the Select Board's attention to this fact. They also asked the voters to approve their $35,000 health insurance budget reduction from the Select Boards proposed budget. A town employee, looking after their own personal interest, moved to put the $35,000 back into the budget. Needless to say, the usual group of attendees voted Yea in much greater numbers than the Nay folks. I'm convinced that the voting block of town employees, their spouses, friends, neighbors and relatives of 70-100 or more "Yes" votes present an obstacle impossible to overcome with a light attendance. We need more conservative thinking voters to attend Town Meeting in overcapacity numbers to bring about financially sound decisions.

In what other employment situation can employees vote "in" their pay and benefit packages?

Sanbornton taxpayers pay 100 percent of either single employee and/or family plan Health Insurance premiums. And if that is not generous enough we pay all health care out of pocket expenses from $500 up to $5,000 per person (setting their deductible per person at $500), after which medical coverage per person is 100 percent. I would bet that there are taxpayers who have no employer sponsored medical insurance and if they do have employer sponsored coverage almost all pay some portion of their health care benefit premium, while they try to scrape together enough money to pay their personal property residence to consider whether or not they can continue to live in Sanbornton. This is a self-fulfilling prophesy. We need Sanbornton voters to attend and stay for the whole of Town Meeting!

Jack Robinson Sanbornton

A report to the citizens of Franklin

To the Editor:

This report is to inform you about the actions made by the City Council that impact your daily lives.

The Council meets the first Monday of every month at 6 p.m. at City Hall. You are always welcome to attend, observe and/or share your opinion. During these meetings your legislators present an overview of things going on in Concord and we are introduced to various programs that involve our residents:

Representative Werner Horn expressed his frustration. One-time revenues of $168 million received in the state due to reductions in business taxes had been allocated in the budget presented by Governor Chris Sununu to certain locales towards projects that would enhance New Hampshire's offerings, among them the Franklin Mill City Park. Sadly the House Finance Committee decided to remove all the funds from these projects.

The Teachers' Contract was approved with one dissenting vote. Mine. As one who has taught in public, private and home school settings, I recognize the dedication our teachers devote to the children of Franklin. My concern was not with the financial agreement, and I want you to know why I would not support the contract as originally presented and some issues I have with final form.

The contract was initially presented to the City Council in January in draft form. By that, I mean it was an annotated Word document with strike through corrections. (Like this)

The "draft" contract contained illegal language due to the decision in 2018 by the Supreme Court of the United States in Janus vs. American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees stating that those who chose not to be members of the trade association cannot be forced to pay for the services provided. This language was removed in the final contract.

Appendix D is the form a teacher submits to the business manager requesting that trade association dues be deducted from the paycheck. In the "draft" contract, there were amounts listed, but in the final copy these amounts were omitted. This is like giving the trade association a blank check. Theoretically, teacher A could pay $X for dues and teacher B could be asked to pay $Y for dues. Why wasn't this noted before it was presented for approval?

Appendix A in the final contract contained additional paragraphs that were not explained.

I still did not receive an adequate explanation to another concern: When a teacher chooses to attend a trade association meeting (scheduled for after the school day ends) that goes past 12 midnight, or choses to accept a "delegate to the trade association" position, why isn't that teacher required to take a personal day? Why are the taxpayers fully responsible for supplying a substitute?

Because of my fiduciary responsibility to you the taxpayer, I could not in good conscience vote to support the Teachers' Contract until my concerns were addressed.

The Franklin Tornados Robotics Team 7314 gave a well prepared and impressive demonstration of their project. In order to compete and to cover travel expenses they are looking for sponsors and donations. These young students are excited about their learning experience. In most locales, the FIRST Robotics teams have a corporate sponsor, i.e. BAE Systems in Nashua. If you can help, please contact them through Leda Guillotte at the High School.

Congratulations to Tim Flaherty for his appointment as an alternate member of the Planning Board. This kind of volunteerism is what Franklin needs.

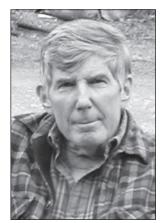

You are invited to attend the Economic Development and LEAN Management meeting on Monday, April 22 at 6 PM at City Hall. If you want to see what is in the Franklin's future exciting development.

If at any time you would like to contact me, I can be reached at karen@sanbornhall.net or at (603) 934-7111.

NORTH COUNTRY NOTEBOOK

Note to helicopter parents: Just give the kid a stick

By John Harrigan COLUMNIST

Editor's note: Due to unforeseen computer issues, Mr. Harrigan was unable to submit a new North Country Notebook column in time to meet our press deadline for this week's edition. The following column was published the second week of April 2018.

You never know what you're going to bump into on the Internet in the middle of the night. This time it was an article in High Country News, which took my mind far west with Lewis and Clark, and to the Pacific Ocean and back.

The article, headlined "Let Your Kids Play with Fire," was all about letting kids be kids. But an article about kids and fires begs the very basic (and somehow pathetic) question, which is how many kids even get to see an open fire these days, let alone play around one without someone calling Child Welfare or at the very least 911.

Author Alan Crow, a former underground miner and journeyman carpenter who is now a teacher and paralegal in Arizona, writes that his son learned early on how to lay out a fire pit in the shape of a lightbulb, so coals for cooking could be raked into the narrow end. But after supper, it was all play.

"One of my most vivid memories is the image of him crouching by the campfire against a background of a billion stars, mesmerized by the smoke swirling upward from the end of his poking stick," Crow wrote. "It's impossible to measure the positive effect this backcountry activity, as well as others like it, had on his confidence and sense of self-worth."

Canadian trapper and explorer Alexander Mackenzie, who reached the Pacific nine years before Lewis and Clark did.

Crow likened letting kids play around a fire to "running with scissors on steroids." That six-year-old, he noted, is now a six-foot, 220-pound police officer in Kansas with a family of his own. Captains Lewis and Clark and their company of 30 or so soldiers, backwoodsmen and adventurers had been on the trail for about a month when their scouts encountered the Mandans. They encamped just below the village and prepared for a parley, as was common for the times.

It was not, of course, the Indians' first experience with Europeans. French fur traders and explorers had long since visited from the far north, as had Spanish traders from the south-

Still, this was an official party sent forth by the young United States government. By all accounts, and I think I have read most, the Mandans treated the Corps of Discovery as honored guests.

The officers and many of the men gathered in one of the biggest Manages, and a reminder of dan lodges, where the peace-pipe was passed around before ous dignitaries made long-winded speeches. After more food than most could eat, the visitors fell back against their packs and blankets for more passing of the

A bright-eyed little Mandan child of perhaps two was playing at the edge of the fire, not far from the two captains' feet. A hot coal tumbled from the heap of embers, and the child crawled to grab it.

In a reaction instilled since childhood, Meriwether Lewis reached to grab the child's hand. Equally fast, Captain Clark grabbed Lewis.

The Indian custom was to let the child learn by experience, Clark later explained. Interference would have been an affront.

Lewis and Clark had many months and more than a thousand miles to go before they reached the Pacific, where they were supposed to rendezvous with ships providing supplies and a choice for the way home. The Pacific coast, after all, was fairly well known, if not accurately mapped, after the voyages of Bougainville, Cook and others. The big mystery was the territory between the Mississippi and the Pacific Ocean.

On a cool July night, sparks from the fire compete with fireflies for attention, kids chasing the fireflies or watching the sparks disappear into the awesome magnitude of the night sky.

Let the kids go, I've wanted to tell anxious parents as we sat around the fire, talking about what the next generation of kids will know, or not. In the meantime, just give them a stick to poke the fire with, relax, and let them go, and enjoy the show.

HEALTH CORNER

Preparing to age: A five part series — Advanced Directives

In this five-part series we look at what it means to age in modern times and the steps we should take to make that process go how we want it to.

April 16 is National Healthcare Decisions Day. A day to educate and empower you about advanced care planning. But what are Advance Directives, and are they really necessary?

Advanced Directives are a set of guidelines that allow you to approve or decline certain types of medical care at end-of-life, called a Living Will, or guidelines that will help someone you trust to make healthcare decisions for you if you have become unable to make those decisions yourself, called a Durable Power of Attorney for Health Care. This could be because you have a debilitating disease, like advanced dementia, or it could be something like decisions that need to be made while you are temporarily unconscious or in a coma after an accident. You, and any of your loved ones over 18, should have both and you can get them for free. AARP has a clear and easy set of forms here: https:// www.aarp.org/content/ dam/aarp/relationships/caregiving/2015/ ad/New-Hampshire-advance-directives-updated-2014-aarp.pdf and we at the Franklin VNA & Hospice are holding a free Advanced Directives information session Tuesday, April 16 as part of our celebration of National Healthcare Decisions Day. Briefly, a Durable Power of Attorney, or DPOA, should be someone you trust, someone who will stand up for your wishes, and someone who is willing to take responsibility for your healthcare decisions. You name them in your Advance Directive, which is then witnessed and signed, making it legal. You can still change it at any time if you need to, and you likely will. The person you choose at 18 will likely not be the same person you choose at 80. Your Advance Directives are the roadmap, for the DPOA you chose, to follow so they can make the right decisions for you, and choose the treatment options you would choose for yourself.

This year, on April 16, take some time to write your Advance Directives, and help someone you love to write them as well.

Franklin VNA & Hospice offers spring Grief Group

FRANKLIN — Beginning May 22 and going for six weeks through June 26, 2 - 4 p.m., Franklin VNA & Hospice is offering their free Spring Grief Group at their 75 Chestnut St. office. Each session focuses on a different aspect of healing through your grief, so they ask people to register for the Group. You can do that by calling 934-3454.

"This is truly a journey that we will go on together," says Tobias Nyatsambo, Chaplain and grief group facilitator for Franklin VNA & Hospice. "Because the group is the same each week, it allows people to trust and open up more to each other, creating some truly special relationships. These are people who know exactly what you are going through, because they are there going through it as well.'

And that is what so many who are moving through grief on their own want - someone to help them process what has happened, and others who understand what they are going through.

"So often families and friends consider the funeral the end," Nyatsambo notes. "But for the grieving person, the funeral is just the beginning."

Franklin VNA & Hospice also hosts a Walk-in Grief Group, the second Monday of every month. This requires no pre-registration and is also free.

"The Walk-In Group is wonderful for those who don't feel the structure of the Spring Grief Group is for them, or for those who find that they need support intermittently. We have those who come around holidays, or other dates that were meaningful to them, when they feel like they need more support or just to be around people who understand," says Elaine Cartier,

Therapy dog brings joy to Spaulding Youth Center

NORTHFIELD Spaulding Youth Center is excited to announce a local therapy dog named Rose has been making bi-weekly visits to its Northfield campus. Rose, a fiveyear-old Great Dane, is a graduate of the American Kennel Club (AKC) Canine Good Citizen® (CGC) Program, which she completed at Doggonit Training in Laconia, New Hampshire.

The AKC's Canine Good Citizen (CGC) Program is a two-part program designed to reward dogs who have good manners at home and in the community. Many dog owners complete CGC training and testing as a prerequisite to therapy dog certification. Rose serves as a therapy dog on Spaulding's campus every Monafternoon, where visits students ranging from age five to twenty-one. The children take turns petting even reading to Rose, which gives them a fun and unique opportunity to practice their skills in phonics, public speaking and socialization. Therapy dogs like Rose help ease social anxiety and create a calm atmosphere for children and youth facing behavioral, emotional and physical challenges.

"Rose and I have been warmly welcomed at Spaulding's beautiful school," said Samantha Stevens, Rose's owner. "My husband, Patrick, and I adopted Rose in August 2018 and immediately knew she was destined for special things thanks to her calm and soothing demeanor. We instantly fell in love with her and are thrilled the children and staff at Spaulding Youth Center feel the same way."

Mr. and Mrs. Stevens previously adopted a child who had been enrolled in Spaulding Youth Center, so the organization holds a very special place in her

Spaghetti Western adventure on LRPA

LACONIA—Join Lakes Region Public Access Television at 10:30 p.m. this Friday and Saturday night (April 12 & 13) for our "LRPA After Dark" presentation of 1969's spaghetti western "Death Rides a Horse," starring Lee Van Cleef and John Phillip Law.

"Death Rides a Horse" is a tale of murder, betrayal and retribution. A young boy named Bill witnesses the degradation and murder of his family at the hands of outlaws. Fifteen years later, Bill (Law) is an angry, vengeful man bent on finding and killing the men who massacred his family. Bill meets up with Ryan (Van Cleef), an ex-con bounty hunter with his own dark reasons for tracking down the criminals. As the two unlikely partners get closer to their prey, Bill slowly uncovers secrets from Ryan's past.

Though it may not be one of the most famous examples of its genre, "Death Rides a Horse" is a fan-favorite spaghetti western, filled shoot-outs, low-lives, and bloodlust. The film features a gorgeous score by the renowned film composer Ennio Morricone, as well as a memorable and understated performance by Van Cleef, truly one of the stars of that genre. You know you want to watch it -- so grab your popcorn and join LRPA after dark for this gem from the cinematic past.

Try to Avoid "Titanic" Investment Mistakes

It's been 107 years this month since the tragedy of the Titanic. Of course, this disaster has fascinated the world ever since, leading to books, movies, musicals and, ultimately, a successful search for the big ship's remains. On the positive side, commercial shipping lines learned a great deal from the Titanic, resulting in safer travel across the oceans. And as an investor, you, too, may be able to draw some important lessons from what happened on that cold April night more than a century ago.

Paid Advertisement

So, to avoid some "titanic" investment mistakes, consider the following:

Create a financial strategy with a solid foundation. Although considered a technological marvel, the Titanic had some real structural, foundational flaws – such as compartments that weren't fully watertight. To withstand the inevitable rough seas ahead, your investment strategy needs a strong foundation, based on your needs, goals, family situation, risk tolerance and time horizon.

Be receptive to advice. The Titanic's crew had received plenty of Marconi wireless warnings from other ships about ice in the area. Yet they did not take precautions, such as slowing down. When you invest, you can benefit from advice from a financial professional - someone who can caution you when you're making dangerous moves, such as pursuing inappropriate investments, which could ultimately damage your prospects for

Be prepared for anything. The Titanic had far fewer lifeboats than it needed, resulting in a tragic loss of life that could have been prevented. As an investor, you need to be prepared for events that could jeopardize your financial well-being, and that of your family. So, at a minimum, you need to maintain adequate life and disability insurance. And it's also a good idea to build an emergency fund containing six to 12 months' worth of living expenses, with the money kept in a liquid, low-risk account.

Don't overreact to perceived threats. When the iceberg loomed directly ahead, the Titanic's crew frantically tried to steer clear of it. While this move was understandable, it inadvertently hastened the ship's demise, because it exposed a more vulnerable part of the hull to the huge ice mass. When you invest, you might also be tempted to overreact when facing perceived dangers - for example, if the financial markets plunge, you might think about selling your stocks. This is often a bad idea, especially if you're taking a big loss on your sales. If your investments are still fundamentally solid, you might well be better off by staying patient and waiting for the markets to recover.

Give yourself time to reach your goals. Edward J. Smith, the Titanic's captain, apparently wanted to break speed records on the Atlantic crossing - and this desire may have contributed to his somewhat reckless passage through fields of ice. As an investor, you could also run into problems if you rush toward a goal. To illustrate: If you wanted to retire at 65 with a certain amount of money, but you didn't start saving and investing until you reached 55, you'd likely have to put a lot more away each year, and possibly invest a lot more aggressively, than if you had started investing when you were 30.

Put to work some of the Titanic's lessons - they might help you improve your chances of smooth sailing toward all your important financial goals.

As part of the art presentations that day, Elise Ford, a Sanbornton logger who also does chain saw carving, was popular with students at all grade levels. Kate Chadbourne shared beautiful harp music and poetry from Ireland, and BMS teachers Susan Dwyer and Mary Mc-Guire helped students build kaleidoscopes. Dwyer began with a bit of history on them, telling one class that kaleidoscopes actually touch on all fields of STEAM. A scientist invented them in 1819 when he was studying the properties of light, which of course covered "science," but since then they have been greatly improved by technology. Engineering skills are used for one to work properly with the desired design of colored glass or plastic, while math is required to make an equilateral triangle that fits inside a tube to create the body of the kalei-"intense" but useful, doscope. Finally, since they are used as a form means art is involved.

"And that's what makes this the perfect project for STEAM Day," Dwyer said.

Over the past five years, the BMS STEAM Day has grown in size and scope, thanks to the planning and organization of faculty members Karen Gingrich and Joe Wernig. Gingrich said they first brought the event to the school as a means in which to expose young students to some of the career options available to them in the future. Besides the exposure she said it also provides opportunities for them to try their hand at activities they might not experience in a classroom or at home. "There's so much out there that has to do with subjects like math, science and art," Gingrich said. "Even logging, like we have here today. She's explaining how math is used when figuring out the width or height of the tree, the angle to cut it on...it even incorporates art when she does her sculptures. SUBARU

Subaru offered to donate $250 to a charity of choice whenever people purchased or leased a new Subaru from their business in Tilton. Among the notable charities the dealership chose to support during this year's campaign were the ASPCA, Makea-Wish Foundation, Meals on Wheels Association of America and the National Park Foundation. However, they also selected ECIO as their local charitable partner and as a result many of their customers named that nonprofit group for a donation when they signed a purchase or lease agreement.

"People really liked the idea of giving locally, where they knew where the money was going and what it was being used for," one sales representative said. As Johnstone presented the check to ECIO on Friday morning, he thanked not only their many customers but everyone on the Belknap Subaru team who helped make the Share the Love campaign a success this year.

"I'd also like to thank the sales staff for creating awareness of the critical work done by Every Child is Ours in the Lakes Region. This is an amazing partnership; customers, local business and Subaru coming together to do the right thing for this amazing group," Johnstone said.

Chuck and Lisa Drew head up Every Child Is Ours but are helped in their endeavors by a group of dedicated volunteers. They also work closely with school nurses and guidance councilors who assist them in identifying students of families that are in need of assistance, as well as people of the Tilton Senior Center who then fill food bags for those children each week. On Fridays, those students are then sent home for the weekend with a bag filled with lunch and snack items. At the middle school and high school levels, Lisa Drew said the students are a bit more self-conscious about picking up those bags though, so they have developed a different method to assist them.

"There's a Secret Closet in both their schools and at the Youth Assistance Program on Main Street in Tilton. That way the students can just drop by to get what they need for the weekend. We even have some toiletry items in there, too, if they need any," she said.

Both Lisa and her husband Chuck were thrilled to receive such a large donation toward their program. Lisa said that in addition to stocking the Secret Closets, they currently fill 50 bags of food for elementary school-aged students. It's all done through volunteerism and donations, therefore the check from the staff and customers of Belknap Subaru last week was a big boost to ECIO.

"We'll incorporate some of the money into other services perhaps. It all means more uses, more ways we can give back to the community," she said. Chuck added that not only will the money provide more for local children, it will free up time for their volunteers, too.

"Instead of doing fund raisers to keep this going we'll now be able to focus on doing more for the kids," he said.

Mark Bergeon, District Sales Manager for Subaru of New England, was also excited about this year's Share the Love initiative and expressed delight that they were not only able to help fund a local program like ECIO, but be a part of their Lakes Region community by doing so.

Belknap Subaru has been in business since 2001, selling and servicing Subaru vehicles as well as other makes and models. They are located at 35 Tilton Rd. (Route 140) in Tilton and are an accredited partner of the Better Business Bureau.

gifts. the Elementary School category, the winner was Connor Dunn of Pleasant Street School in Laconia. Connor is an active member of Cereal Heroes. He does work around his neighborhood and spends time with his elderly neighbors. He is especially respectful of veterans, he will hear wartime stories and always thanks veterans. During school book fairs he will bring extra money to buy books for classmates who are not able to afford them.

Also nominated in Preschool/Elemen-School category was Parker Ashton of Pleasant Street School, Eila Petty of Southwick Elementary School in Franklin, and Lydia Pickowicz of Gilford Elementary School.

The winner of the Middle School category was Nathan Hobby of Laconia Middle School.

Nathan helps out his elderly neighbors, including mowing lawns and shoveling snow. He is also a member of Cereal Heroes. He has helped put together hygiene backpacks for students in need and summer baskets for kids ate summer camp. Nathan helps out with the Laconia Fire Department's boot campaign, and makes cards for the residents of St. Francis Home in Belmont. Also nominated were Matthew Beaupre of Laconia Middle School, Emma Davidson of Compass Classical Academy in Franklin, and Luke Stafford of Laconia Middle School.

MacKenzie Roys, a freshman at Gilford High School, won in the High School category. MacKenzie helped plant a garden at Gilford Village Knolls, a senior housing community, with her church youth group. She has helped clean up Gilford beach, volunteered at Santaland at the Gilford Youth Center, tutors math, and helps out at Sunday school. She went to Tennessee as part of a mission trip to help rebuild a home that had been damaged in a fire.

The other nominees were Cassie Carron of Winnisquam Regional High School in Tilton, Jasmine Morrissette of Inter-Lakes High School in Meredith, and Lydia Tucker of Laconia High School.

Each of the nominees will receive at least $200 and the winners will receive more money. The final amounts are still being totaled and will be presented on May 1. Any prize money must be used toward a charity or non profit organization; a random act of kindness; organizing an event to benefit a person, group, or organization; or any combination of the above.

The keynote speaker was Jessica Dutile, former executive director of the Pemi Youth Center and a teacher at PSU.

Dutile talked about the power of love, from what she saw at the Pemi Youth Center to researching the impact of love in educational settings.

"Though true experts on love and understanding will already be in the room and are the youth we are celebrating tonight," Dutile said, saying she has learned that, "service is love in action."

She teaches a unit on service to students, teaching them there is a difference between doing service from a place of ego and doing service out of a place of love. She said all of the nominees do their service with the right motivations.

"Service says, 'I see you, I love you, and I honor the connection that exists as fellow human beings," Dutile said. "To all the young people in the room I know it takes courage to share a piece of your heart. Thank you for your service."

She ended with, "You are bringing so much light into a world that desperately needs you."

Twenty-nine-year-old Steven R. Fereshetian of Laconia was taken into custody in Belmont last week for several outstanding warrants, but now faces additional charges after fleeing police then hiding out in a home on Route 106 for nearly five

R Fereshetian, whose last known address was Harvard St. in Laconia. Assisting in that search were members of the Belknap County Special Operations Group.

Once police were able to obtain homeowner authorization to search the residence, loud speakers were used to request that Fereshetian surrender. In the meantime, Route 106 was shut down for a period of time in the interest of public safety.

At 6 p.m., the suspect had still not come outside, but the female passenger did emerge from the home to give herself up to police. The woman, who was not identified, confirmed she was in the vehicle when police initially made contact with it, then informed law enforcement officers that Fereshetian was hiding in the basement.

After repeated tempts to have Fereshetian surrender, at 8:12 p.m. officers finally entered the premises and took him into custody. He was first transported by ambulance to Lakes Region General Hospital however for treatment of a pre-existing leg injury.

Once discharged from the hospital Mann anticipated that the suspect would be held at the Belknap County Jail for his outstanding warrants. In addition to those offenses, Fereshetian would also be facing an arrest warrant and several new charges as a result of last week's incident in Belmont.

The female involved was arrested for an outstanding warrant from Rockingham County and turned over to officials in that jurisdiction.

Mann said several agencies were involved in the search and arrest that day, including Belmont and Laconia police, the Belknap County Sheriff's office and members of the State Department of Transportation who assisted with road signs to shut down the highway.

meals when we go out to eat and since I've been in America it seems I eat all day."

She and Aurelia were quick to laugh and say that that was not necessarily a bad thing, they were enjoying it all, but Solene thought American food was also a bit "too fatty" at times. While Aurelia agreed, she said she was pleased to discover that her host family in Belmont leads a "healthy lifestyle" and the meals they prepared reflected that.

"The host families here are really nice and very attentive to what we need. We're being treated like princesses," Aurelia said with a smile. BHS junior Seth Rupp and his family are among those hosting the French contingency and said it has been a wonderful educational experience for both their guests and themselves. With three boys in his family, they are hosting a male student and he said they liked getting to not only know each other but to discover the cultural differences they have.

"It can be difficult having new people in your home but we're enjoying it quite a lot! I'm learning a lot, too. What's been interesting is that sometimes something I think is normal can be strange to them, sion. Considering what's going on here with drug abuse, I think that's a good thing [in their country]," Rupp said.

Ramsay Stroud, also a junior at BHS, said she and her host student Lucy have had fun together, too, even though it's been a bit of a challenge for her busy family. Luckily Ramsay has her driver's license though so while her mom and dad ran her younger brother to his school and athletic events, she took Lucy out on adventures. The two drove around central New Hampshire so Lucy could see more of the countryside and also went on visits to see the family's horse at a nearby stable.

"I want her to see and do as much as we can while she's here," Stroud said last week.

That freedom of driving when in high school was also new to the French students. They cannot drive in their country until they are Auerlia and Solene said they really enjoyed a trip to Tanger Outlets, where multiple stores at one location provided shopping experiences they are unaccustomed to. Their teacher Barsot-Moreau explained that in France stores are situated individually throughout town, not clustered together like commercials for pre- like America's shopping scription drugs on televi- malls so her students were excited to have all types of stores readily available on one stop. She said jeans ("Levis") are always high on a shopping list when she brings them to the U.S., but cosmetics are popular too, since in France they have to be purchased online. Cultural differences aside, the students said they discovered many academic differences as well. Schools in France do not support extra-curricular activities; sports are presented through their town and music is not a part of their school day. Lessons are offered privately. The French students also said their school day is much longer, sometimes lasting until five or six at night, but lunches are longer, too. "Lunch breaks in France can last an hour or more, but here they rush to eat in 22 minutes," Barsot-Moreau observed.

Solene and Aurelia also commented on the fact that students in the U.S. can bring snacks and drinks into the classrooms.

"In our school you cannot eat or drink in the class. You can't even talk unless asked a question. Here it is very much different," Aurelia

Other adventures for the French students during their 10-day visit were a trip to the University of New Hampshire, one to Boston that included the Freedom Trail and a tour of Harvard University, and finally a few days in New York City before heading back to Normandy.

While still in Belmont they did have a special request granted. Since one of their chaperones, David Barsot, is an officer with the Police Nationale in France, they asked Belmont's School Resource Officer Joe DeMello if they could see an American police vehicle. DeMello not only let them explorer a Belmont police vehicle, he allowed them to hit the sirens, talk over the loudspeaker and even try on a bit of their safety gear.

"It's much heavier than ours," Officer Barsot observed as he held up the vest one of his students tried on.

As their visit ended this weekend and the students said "Bon Voyage," they all left knowing they will soon see their American friends once again. Students from Belmont's French Club will be headed to France on April 22 to not only visit their host students' homes and school, but enjoy a few days of springtime in Paris as well during their cultur-

Belmont baseball has high hopes again this season

Division 3, both behind the plate and in the batter's box.

BY BOB MARTIN

Bob@Salmonpress.news

BELMONT – The Belmont High School baseball team had an early end to last season despite being one of the top teams in Division 3 all spring. Coach Matt Leblanc hopes the team can use this as inspiration that can propel the Belmont to a championship run.

Last year the Red Raiders went 15-4 but were upset in the quarterfinals by Newport.

"We are looking to use that as a learning experience and be competitive in a very strong Division 3," Leblanc said.

The Red Raiders lost four-year starter Matt Pluskis, DH/3B/OF Kyle Minery and number two pitcher Brett Lima. These were huge pieces to the puzzle last season, and solid members of the Red Raider program for years. Leblanc said he will be looking for a host of players to fill the void.

The good news is that Belmont returns some outstanding players to the squad. Griffin Embree was last year's runner up for Division 3 Player of the Year and he returns for his senior season. Embree was a force at the mound, on the plate and in the outfield last spring.

Embree had a .420 average, .606 on base percentage, four doubles, a triple, 16 RBIs, 22 runs and 17 walks. He is also great on the base paths, going 8/8 in steals. On the mound he was lights out. He set the school record with 102 strikeouts in 61.2 innings pitched. He had an 8-2 record and was almost always facing the opposing team's top pitcher. He allowed only six earned runs good for a 0.681 ERA.

"Griffin was one of the best, if not the best, baseball players in Division 3," Leblanc said at the end of last season.

Catcher Cam Magerer returns behind the dish and looks to have another stellar season. Last year he was an All-Stater who had a .426 average, 23 RBI, 19 runs, five doubles, a triple and four steals. He was the team's "field general" who called pitches, defensive alignments and situational adjustments. Leblanc said he is also the best all-around hitter on the team that plays best in big games.

Colby Brown is once again at shortstop and hopes to continue his strong play, exhibited last season in an All-State season. He has phenomenal speed and was 20/20 on the base paths. Brown also does well swinging the bat with a .365 average, six doubles, a triple and 11 RBIs. He had 27 runs. Defensively, Leblanc praised him for being able to get to just about any ball in play, while making long throws from the hole.

Another All-State was Brett Auclair, who will be back at first base this spring. He had a breakout year in his first varsity season, batting .404 with a homer and 13 RBIs. He also had seven doubles and scored 17 runs. He has pop in his bat, evident by his home run against Inter-Lakes that Leblanc said was "the hardest ball I've seen hit in my tenure as a varsity coach."

Other returners include Austin Garrett, who shifts from third to second base to fill the hole left by Pluskis. The outfield returners include Embree, Austin Didsbury and Nate Sottak. Leblanc looks to see Sottak improve on an already impressive freshman campaign. He also sees this as being a big year for Didsbury, who last year got plenty of time as a starting outfielder.

Jason Gaudette, who was a JV player last year, will be looked upon to play third base and provide depth at pitcher and catcher. Lars Major will be at first base and outfield this season. Michael Sprague, another JV/swing player, is also expected to be a utility player that will get some innings on the mound.

Belmont is scheduled to face Berlin on the road on April 12, but this is questionable based on field conditions. The next home game scheduled for the Red Raiders is a big one against Gilford on April 17 at 4 p.m.

Raider lax girls looking to bounce back

Bob@Salmonpress.news

BELMONT – The Belmont girls' field hockey team is looking to turn things around after a 1-13 season last year, which coach Meya Minor said was a big wakeup call for the program.

"Being a new coach I had to get them to see that we had really great pieces, and I feel like we succeeded on breaking those down and highlighting them," said Minor. "This year I hope to put those pieces back together and really let the girls get out there and play."

Minor said the team's lineup is a work in progress, as there are many new faces this season. She says that there are a couple young freshmen that will be leading the attack side and running on midfield, but also she will be relying on some of the upperclassmen to lead.

"Last year we not only lost six seniors but we lost the soul of Belmont lacrosse, the very last of the girls who really built the program," said Minor. "That showed in our first couple of practices. We definitely have been working on our leadership skills and motivating the girls the same way our seniors did. Mostly we need girls to just step up into the spots and show their skills."

A player to watch this year will be Katie Gagnon, who in her junior year looks to build off what was a promising campaign last spring. She is athletic and tall, and should be a kev source of scoring and big on draws.

"She was our top scoring threat and really just dominated that draw control to get us possession of the ball," Minor said. "You will see her driving, assisting and really making some great cuts through the middle, which I hope creates a ton of scoring opportunities."

Minor explained that needed goals, but then

Chloe Colarusso returns to first base for the Bears this season.

Dawalga takes helm for Winnisquam softball

Bob@Salmonpress.news

TILTON – The Winnisquam softball team had its ups and downs last season and finished 8-8, and under the helm of a new coach with seven players returning, the Bears hope to increase their win title and make a playoff push.

Those in the Lakes Region will recognize the new skipper, Mark Dawalga, as he also coaches soccer and basketball for Belmont High School.

Providing senior leadership, and pitching this season will be Aubrey St. Onge.

Returning for her junior year is shortstop Carly Catty. Catty was highly regarded as one of the best players in Division 3 last vear, and former coach Kevin Dame constantly praised her for her field awareness, dependability and pure skill. She had an amazing .641 batting average and an even more amazing .767 on base percentage in what was an incredible sophomore season. Catty also led the team with six homers to go along with five doubles, three triples, 19 RBIs and 26 runs.

"She was one of the best hitters in the division," Dame said when it was announced she was being recognized as an All-Stater.

The one issue is that teams like to pitch around Catty due to her pop with the bat. Last year she had 21 walks with the Bears. She hits for both average and power, meaning the rest of the batting lineup will need to improve and get on base more often to produce runs.

The team lost a couple key players to graduation including Emily DeCormier and Cailey Clogston. DeCormier was an All-Stater who had a .404 batting average and 19 runs scored. She was at the top of the order and often set the table for Catty. The team will miss her speed and fielding in the outfield. Clogston was also an outfield who could cover plenty of ground. She was a a four-year player that also brought leadership.

While these are big holes to fill, the Bears have a good nucleus coming back this spring. Players returning to the lineup are the following juniors: Hannah Max at catcher, Olivia Dill at second base, Ashley Deshaies at third base and outfield, Natalie Deshaies at first base and outfield and Chloe Colarusso at first base and outfield.

Newcomers to the team include sophomore outfielders Abby Smith and Eveline Auger. New freshmen include catcher/outfielder Lea Dalton, first baseman Emma Griffin, pitcher Cheylenne Cooper and second baseman/outfielder Kaitlyn Carey.

Dawalga admitted that he will be relying on his returning players to help with the transition process of having a new coach. He is very happy with the way the team has responded ear-

"Being a first-year head coach, I will be leaning on our returners from last season's team for experience," said Dawalga. "The kids really have been amazing to work with. The older group has really taken on leaderships roles, helping out our younger group to get up to speed and learning new positions. With a wet spring and time on the the field hard to find. We will look to improve every game. I know the kids really cannot wait to get the season going."

Looking at the schedule Dawalga feels that the teams to beat include White Mountains, Berlin, Belmont and Gilford.

Winnisquam had a game against Gilford scheduled on April 10 after deadline, but it was unclear if this game would be played due to field conditions and weather. Next on the schedule is Somersworth on April 12 at 4

Teagan Mosenthal going the extra mile(s) for students

CAMPTON — Distance running can be a lonely endeavor, but that's not the case for Campton resident Teagan Mosenthal. As a Boston Marathon charity runner on Team Hale, she has hundreds of students, campers and families rooting for her, not to mention her 14 fellow teammates. Mosenthal was chosen out of a large pool of applicants to represent Hale's mission from Hopkinton to Boston this month, a selection process that sought out runners motivated to help Hale close the achievement gap among Boston Public Schools (BPS) students. The funds raised by Mosenthal and Team Hale will directly benefit Hale Outdoor Learning Adventures (HOLA) and Intrepid Academy at Hale (IAH), two landmark programs that share Hale's educational and natural resources including its 1,137 acres of woodlands, trails, and ponds in Westwood and Dover, Mass. — with BPS students.

A college senior, Mosenthal isn't that much older than the students she is running to support. She believes wholeheartedly that all its important programs students should have directly benefit from all access to programs like those at Hale. She explains, "I am running for Hale because I think everyone should have non-profit organization the opportunity to experience the transformative power of the great lands, including four outdoors."

HOLA strives to prevent summer learning wood and Dover. Hale is loss among BPS stu- most widely recognized dents by encouraging for its summer day academic gains, healthy camp programs, which physical activity, and social-emotional skill than 4,400 children from building during the summer months. IAH is an outdoor semester school that breaks down the walls of conventional schools, gets BPS students outside, and enables them to earn traditional course credits through a non-traditional, active educational experience. Now in its seventh year as an official charity of the Boston Marathon, Hale and of Team Hale's fundraising, projected to reach $130,000 this year.

Hale is a private, that manages more than 1,137 acres of woodponds and more than 20 miles of trails in Westannually serve more more than 70 communities in the Greater Boston area.
