

Patten Brook Farm hosts riding clinic

BY DONNA RHODES

ALEXANDRIA — Equestrians from the Pemiquaney Riding Club of central New Hampshire gathered at Patten Brook Farm in Alexandria for a trail riding clinic last Saturday and Sunday, during which riders learned patience and techniques that would help keep both themselves and their horses safe on a ride.

Trainer Jim Badger of Brunswick, Maine headed up the weekend-long clinic and said on Saturday that the weekend's goal was to take all 16 participants on a three-to-four mile trail ride through the woods on Sunday afternoon.

"Everything they're seeing here today is bigger than what they'll find on the trails. What we're

Horse training specialist Jim Badger of Maine helped Jen Tuthill coax her Icelandic horse "Gydja" through a small pool of water during the Pemiquaney Riding Club's two-day trail riding clinic at Tuthill's farm in Alexandria last weekend.

Throughout the day on Saturday, the horses had the opportunity to interact with each other as the clinic progressed. They and their riders also learned the importance of patience and trust as they manipulated their way through the obstacle course Badger had set up. One by one, they repeatedly crossed pools of water, stepped over logs, and even crossed wooden walkways, steps and teeter bridges. Some horses balked at the prospect at first but eventually they became confident enough to smoothly manipulate the course.

"This is a lot about communicating and slowing down with your horse. Breathing is a big part of trail riding. You have to remember to breathe because a horse senses all of that," said former Pemiquaney president Marla Walls of Alexandria.

For the clinic last weekend, Francine King and Jean Murray were doing now is just getting the horses and riders comfortable with these types of obstacles and each other," he said.

Badger stated that many of the calls he receives for his training skills are to work with horses who have developed "human problems."

"Humans can transfer human characteristics like fear," he explained. "Through clinics like this, the change can be huge. The horses start out skittish in the morning but they're fine by the end of it all. It isn't just about riding, it's about socialization, too, and being comfortable riding in a group."

BRISTOL — Police in Bristol said that just before noon on Sunday, June 25, they received a call for a vehicle that had crashed into a home at 230 Pleasant St., and upon arrival, they discovered a van had broken all the way through the exterior wall of the residence where two women were living.

"The vehicle crashed through the bedroom wall and stopped on their bed. The wall and vehicle landed on one of the females and she was pulled out from underneath it by her wife," Lt. Kristopher Bean reported.

The car was heading north on Pleasant Street at the time of the accident and appeared to have crossed the road and hit two granite posts at the neighboring cemetery before crashing into the home.

Bristol Fire Department also responded to the scene but found there were miraculously no major injuries sustained by neither of the women or the driver that required transportation to

Morning stroll

A pretty doe and her young fawn went out for a stroll in New Hampton last Saturday morning. There are many more like them along the roads this time of year so stay alert while driving and remember to always keep a safe distance from any wild animals you may encounter.

Bristol Summer Concert Series begins June 29

the public. Families are encouraged to bring blankets and chairs to enjoy the park and the sounds of some great local musicians.

Concerts are rain or shine, and in case of inclement weather the concerts will be held indoors at the Old Bristol Town Hall on Pleasant Street.

The concert schedule for 2017 is as follows:

June 29 — Studio Two—The Beatles Tribute ... Start off the season with a trip back in time...back to the '60's with true Beatles classics!

July 6 — Jordan Tirrell-Wysocki Trio... Back by popular demand — enjoy traditional Celtic tune with a fresh and creative twist!

July 13 — Ragged Mountain Band...

July 20 —Swing Rocket... Great Swing, and Jazzy tunes from the '30's, '40's and more from this local family band!

July 27 — Club Soda...Another local favorite — this band will keep you on your feet - playing top hits and favorites from the '50's through today!

Aug. 3—Bryan Conway... The Uncle Steve Band is back to play for one of their favorite audiences! A little, rock, a little blues — well known and home grown!

Aug. 10—No Concert... please support the Bristol Rotary Club Penny Sale tonight.

Aug. 17 — Annie & the Orphans... Bring your dancing shoes to really enjoy some old time Rock & Roll - with Anatole!

And don't miss the bonus concert at the end of August! In addition to this great Thursday night line-up of music, there will be a special bonus concert on Friday, Aug. 25 to help kick off Old Home Day weekend. Join the "Country Mile Band" band on Friday, Aug. 25 from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Bristol Old Town Hall. This popular New England band will be playing some great country classics as well as some newer country rock — all for your listening and dancing pleasure!

Kelley Park is the place to be on Thursday nights as the Bristol Summer Concert Series brings people of all ages together to enjoy and celebrate some great local music. Up to date concert info is posted on the Town of Bristol web site at www.townofbristolnh.org, on local Bristol TV and on the TTCC web site at www.ttccrec.org. You can also follow the Bristol Community Events Committee on Facebook — Facebook.com/BristolCommunityEvents.

In addition to planning the Summer Concerts in the Park, the Bristol Community Events Committee is hard at work planning the Bristol Old Home Day which will take place on Saturday, Aug. 26. Burt Williams withdraws from District 9 race

REGION — Burt Williams of Bristol, one of several candidates vying for former state Rep. Jeff Shackett's seat in the District 9 special election next month, notified the Record Enterprise and Newfound Landing earlier this week that he has been forced to withdraw his name from consideration for personal reasons.

Although state law prohibits the removal of his name from the ballot at this late stage in the process, Williams stressed to us that he is no longer campaigning for the position, and urged voters to choose another candidate who will be better able to serve if elected.

Bristol Community Services needs your help

BRISTOL — As we come into our summer months (i.e. yard sale season), we at Bristol Community Services need your help.

While donations are the lifeblood of our operation (we love your donations!), our space limits how much we are able to accept. We are extremely blessed to live in a community with so many generous people.

To give everyone a chance to make donations, we are able to accept only three bags/boxes per person during our regular business hours.

Please, as you bag or box up your donations, be sure that all items are in good, clean, working condition. We don't sell ripped, stained or worn-out clothing or vhs/dvd combos where 'part of it still works'; we sell good, clean, high quality items. Please do not donate anything you would not put your name on. If you will have a larger donation, please call ahead to see how much we are able to accept. We hate to refuse anyone but we need to provide a safe working environment for our volunteers.

All sales from the thrift shop and donations we receive cover our minimal operating expenses and support our food pantry, special programs (like our backpack program, Thanksgiving baskets, food vouchers and GOT LUNCH!) and the financial assistance we are able to provide to our clients.

Can you prevent addiction?

BY DEB NARO
Contributor

One way that addiction and substance abuse can be prevented is through screening and early intervention. Prevention must begin during childhood and extend into later adolescence. Despite the benefits and availability of screening and early intervention tools, too few health professionals, school personnel, and social service providers routinely screen for tobacco/nicotine, alcohol and other drug use.

Addiction Prevention Strategies

Messages that parents, doctors, teachers, the media and others in the community send to children and teens about the dangers of tobacco/nicotine, alcohol and other drug abuse can be extremely influential in helping to prevent addiction and reduce substance abuse.

School and community-based addiction prevention programs can help children, teens and adolescents: resist social pressures to engage in substance use;

strengthen self-esteem; improve decision-making and communication skills; and manage stress and anxiety.

Other prevention strategies include:

Increasing taxes on tobacco and alcohol products to reduce use, particularly among young people.

Reducing the availability of excess prescription medications.

Restricting advertising of addictive substances, particularly to young people.

Restricting marketing of addictive substances in ways that appeal to youth.

As former Drug Czar, Michael Botticelli says, "Addiction is a preventable disease." Ninety percent of those struggling with addiction began using alcohol, marijuana, or other substances before they turned 18. If we can prevent youth substance abuse, we can prevent addiction and save many lives. For more information on ways to prevent substance misuse, please go to www.cadyinc.org.

PET of the Week Grover

Most cats are scooped up quickly once we at New Hampshire Humane Society have rehabilitated them and placed them on the Adoption Floor. Grover, an abandoned Laconia stray was in particularly rough shape suffering from the scrapes and results of fisticuffs on the streets by other cats.

He had to have been an owned cat at some point in his life, but ended up fending for himself – which is not something most former housecats can adopt to very well. Poor Grover, he arrived under police escort with horribly matted fur, and injuries from trying to defend himself outside. His long black and white fur was just a mess, matted and filthy. So disheveled was he that the best bet was to give him a 'kitty makeover', the so called Lion Cut, thus freeing him from that mantle of bedragglement, allowing him to grow a new luxuriant coat.

Grover is affection personified. He'd love to be your confidante, he will keep your secrets. Given his harrowing road experiences, he'd rather not share a home with a dog, or other cats, but he is big enough to totally fill your heart with love and your home with feline companionship.

June is ADOPT A SHELTER CAT Month! Our man Grover is the fourth in the series of showcased cats we'd love to see in permanent loving homes. Come and visit this big boy today www.nhhumane.org for more details.

Letters to the Editor

Budget passes and you get high utility costs

To the Editor:

This is the 19th of my reports to the voters of Hill and Franklin on what is happening in Concord. This last week was filled with budget issues. With the legislative year coming to a close I will continue writing to you but on a series of topics that I believe will interest you.

The New Hampshire budget, as I predicted, passed, but on a partisan vote. It started as the Governor's budget...spending was cut some by the House but failed to be approved.... Spending was cut more by the Senate and the Committee of Conference reduced spending again. This wasn't because the Republicans are heartless; it was because there are not the revenues necessary to do more. It fully supports what we can afford and puts some money in our severely depleted rainy day fund. I was disappointed that it could not garner Democratic support but they decided against supporting anything "Republican," including what the Governor wanted. All this in the desire that Gov. Sununu will fail and not be reelected. However, as with President Trump this is not going to happen while the Democrat party driven by the hard left is spiraling into insignificance. They are letting Elizabeth Warren and Bernie Sanders steal their party's heart. They can do better by returning to the John Kennedy type of Democrat.

On another note, Senate Bill 129 passed, and is on its way to the Governor, along with increased utility costs for businesses and ratepayers like you. It was a bill that promotes solar and biomass (wet wood) generated electricity. It subsidizes these "renewable" sources by mandating the utility companies purchase a certain percentage of electricity from these sources. Sounds good, but they are forced to purchase from you at retail prices rather than the wholesale prices they use to purchase other energy sources, like natural gas. But don't worry, the utility companies are allowed to pass the extra cost on to you. The utility companies are happy while your pocketbook suffers. The solar, wind, and wet wood suppliers are happy because their uneconomical product has a guaranteed customer. Some of the cost is hidden as a set aside for low income customers, but that is just a smoke screen.

What's the problem and solution? Remove all the subsidies for all energy related ideas and sources. Is there any wonder why New England, and New Hampshire in particular, has the highest rates in the country? This is something that we have to address rather than passing the buck on for someone else to solve.

Oh, and by the way, don't be fooled by the repeal of the Electrical Consumptions Tax. It is just a feel good so you wouldn't be as concerned about the renewable subsidies. Don't let them pull the wool over your eyes. It amounts to a minuscule amount in comparison the solar and wet wood subsidy.

As I said in the beginning of the letter, the Legislature concluded the work of this term last week. Activities will begin again in October. There are a few bills we will study over the summer, but our work load will be much lighter. Please contact me if you have any thoughts by email at dave@sanbornhall.net or you may call me at 320-9524 with your comments or if you just want to talk.

Cheers!

Chief Donald Sullivan

Chief Sullivan provided information on the incidence involving Officer Suckling's exposure to a white powder containing methamphetamine and fentanyl during an arrest; Officer Suckling was treated at the hospital and released the same day.

There was discussion regarding the concerns about the drug problems in the area; Chief Sullivan said there has been two nonfatal overdoses in Alexandria in the past week. Chief Sullivan mentioned that the Police Department is working on policy changes regarding safety procedures and the option of having police officers carry Narcan. Chief Sullivan is planning a public awareness meeting to discuss safety concerns regarding the drug crisis.

Michael Provost, Health Officer

Mr. Provost provided before and after pictures of 608 Welton Falls Road cleanup; Mr. Provost said that the cleanup work is almost complete.

Business

The next Selectmen's Meeting is scheduled for July 11.

The Selectmen discussed property owners' concerns regarding loggers using Healey Road. Mrs. Dostie said that Jeff Cantara, Road Agent, checked Healey Road and took pictures of the current conditions. Mr. Cantara had reported that there were some potholes on the road but that the culverts were in good shape. The Selectmen will be sending a letter to the logger letting him know that he will be required to fix any damage to the road that may be caused by the logging trucks.

The Selectmen reviewed the budget and determined that amounts budgeted for Executive Professional Services and Legal Expenses could be used to replace the furnaces in the old town hall; the Selectmen chose to have Nick's Plumbing and Heating replace the furnaces.

The Selectmen reviewed letters from the Lakes Region Planning Commission regarding the Town of Alexandria's vacancy for Commissioner to the Lakes Region Planning Commission and Alternative Representative to the Transportation Advisory Committee. The Selectmen are looking for volunteers for these positions.

Charlotte Barron from the Ladies Auxiliary presented a letter to the Selectmen stating that the Ladies Auxiliary has disbanded and provided a check to the Selectmen in the amount of $4,132.25 to be used for the Fire Department; the Selectmen will have the funds deposited in the Fire Department Expendable Trust Fund. The Ladies Auxiliary also gave the Selectmen a frame copy of the town report cover and dedication from 2008 when the report was dedicated to the Ladies Auxiliary.

South Danbury Church

The regular Sunday worship at the South Danbury Church will be at 11 a.m. on Sunday, July 2. Conversation and refreshments will follow. All are welcome and encouraged to attend. Saturday, July 29, 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. is the date for the famous South Danbury Church Fair! The preservation project at the church continues. The LCHIP grant will match funds raised by the preservation committee for the project. So far, $50,000 of the needed $80,000 have been raised. Donations are being requested at this time to cover the $30,000 deficit. Your gift of any amount ends up being matched by the grant so your donation gets doubled!

Donors of $100 or more will receive a copy of "So We Reach for Pie," a small book of poetry and prose celebrating the church and the community. It features work from Audrey Curren, Tom Curren, Donald Hall, Jane Kenyon, Gail Kinney and Mary Lyn Ray. Donations of $500 or more will receive their copy signed by Donald Hall. Donations are tax deductible and can be mailed to South Danbury Church Preservation Project, 1411 US Route 4, Danbury NH 03230.

It was wonderful to see so many out for the Groton Historical Society's Open House in honor of Pamela Yinger on Saturday. The displays were very nicely done with many pictures and documents from Pam's life in Groton as well as some family pictures, certificates and letters. She was a great lady and we miss her dearly. Thank you to the Historic Society for all the hard work. I saw cars out there in front of the school house several days before the open house, so I know a lot of work was done. We look forward to the next Groton Historical Society open house - GHS Special Military Display on Saturday, July 15, from 1 to 3 p.m. at the Historical Society Museum.

Due to the death of Louise Traunstein, a beloved member of Groton's Historical Society, the gravestone cleaning, planned for July 8, is postponed. There will be a graveside service for Louise at Foster's Cemetery 813 Mt Moosilauke Highway, Wentworth, NH 03282 Saturday the 8th at 2 p.m.

Old Home Day in Groton is Aug. 5. If you're interested in helping with Old Home Day preparation, please submit your name to the Select Board Office: selectmen@grotonnh.org or 744-9910 and Christina Goodwin will contact you. If you'd like to put up a display/craft or other booth or have an entry in the parade you could also contact Christina Goodwin as there will be paperwork to fill out for this.

No matter what your personal history, age, background, race...no matter what your present status in the Catholic Church...no matter what your current family or marital situation...no matter what your own self-image is, you are invited, welcomed, accepted and loved here at Holy Trinity Parish.

In 1980, the bishops, in their pastoral statement Called and Gifted, acknowledged and reflected upon the ways lay men and women were answering the Lord's call and employing their gifts to take an active and responsible part in the mission of the Church. That statement called us all to become a part of the mission and ministry of our Catholic community. The years since Vatican II have seen great numbers of lay people become involved in the liturgy as lectors, Eucharistic ministers, altar servers, decorators and hospitality ministers. If you feel called to serve, or would like more information, please call the rectory at 536-4700.

Richard Gere comes to the Flying Monkey screen in "Norman"

PLYMOUTH — “Norman: The Moderate Rise and Tragic Fall of a New York Fixer” is coming to the Flying Monkey July 5, 6, 7, and 9. The recent release stars Richard Gere in a powerful performance as a wheeler-dealer who falls in with an Israeli politician (Lior Ashkenazi) on the rise. “Norman” is a character study set in the world of Jewish politics that follows a classic wannabe through his sham. Gere has won accolades from reviewers for his performance in this endearing film. Also on deck for the Monkey film series is the 1928 silent film “The Crowd” on July 20 with live accompaniment with Jeff Rapsis. Also playing July 19, 26, 29 and 30 is “Hired Gun,” a documentary film about session and touring musicians that are hired by well established and famous bands and artists like Metallica, KISS, and Billy Joel.

For movie times and more information about these and other upcoming films and live performances, menus and promotions, please call 603-536-2551 or visit fly-as a community and regional cornerstone for the appreciation of music, theater and film in a small town venue. The Flying Monkey is a proud member of the Common Man family.

Wildflower program at New Hampton Garden Club

NEW HAMPTON — Wild flowers and lilac information was the program at the June meeting at the Gordon Nash Library presented by Guy Giunta, member of the New Hampton Garden Club and Chairman of the Governor's Lilac and Wildflower Commission, and Barbara Rollins, the Department of Transportation Landscape Supervisor. Guests were members of the Pasquaney Garden Club and friends. Everyone was encouraged to ask questions and gain new knowledge about garden issues. Guy is always glad to share his many years of experience. The Garden Therapy ladies, Linda Dowal, Muriel Smith and Phyllis Schofield visited Golden Crest Assisted Living and helped residents with making red, white and blue flower arrangements in honor of Flag Day. They also put a small flag in their finished artwork to take to their apartment. A song and many laughs were enjoyed, along with a special treat in their patriotic napkins. Trustees of the library have granted the club permission to place a granite bench along the walkway as a memorial to long-time member Trudy Mudgett Powers. Trudy was a dedicated gardener, keeping the front of the library looking most attractive. The club is once again putting raffle baskets together to be raffled at New Hampton Old Home Day on August 12. Tickets are available from members, the public has enjoyed these bountiful prizes for several years and look forward to the project.

The New Hampton Garden Club awards a homeowner the distinction of Garden of the Month. This award is for most effort to make our town attractive to others with an attractive garden. The most recent recognition goes to Sue and Bill Vachon, who came to New Hampton two years ago. They bought an 1840 house on Fire House Lane and have put a lot of work into house and gardens. On the corner of the front garden is a huge rhubarb plant, which had belonged to Sue's grandmother and has been moved many times as the family moved. We thank Sue and Bill for their hard work in making our town more attractive.

PLYMOUTH — Stacey Lucas, a.k.a. Veggie Art Girl, will offer Garden Barn Board Sign Painting Class on July 12 from 5-7 p.m.

Lucas will share the techniques that she uses on her signs. She encourages students to look for their own sayings to use in their projects. Cost is $25 for members and $30 for non-members.

On July 18, Suzan Gannett will offer an Acrylic Painting Class from 5-7 p.m. Participants will make their own 11-by-14-inch painting of flowers falling. The painting will be taught step by step and participants will be finish the class with a painting suitable for framing. Cost is $30 for members, $35 for non-members.

On July 20, Lynn Haust will offer a Melted Glass Summer Sun Catcher Class from 5-7 p.m. Participants will create beautiful glass designs to place in a window and catch the light. Students will learn to use stringers, frit and how to cut and place glass. Cost of the class is $25 for members and $35 for non-members

On July 26 from 5-7 p.m., Suzan Gannett will offer a Russian Spiral Bracelet Class. You will learn this stitch and make a beautiful bracelet either to wear or to give as a gift. All materials are included. The cost of the class is $30 for members and $35 for non-members.

I have had a very positive experience in healing my knee problems, plus some other issues that I was having. Katie is very conservative in her approach to physical therapy and I am so pleased with my recovery. I would recommend Choice Physical Therapy to my family and friends.”

Social wellness in seniors

BY MARTHA SWATS
Owner/Administrator
Comfort Keepers

The Importance of Fighting Isolation
As we age, it's important to maintain physical well-being, but often times, psychological, emotional, and social health can fall by the wayside due to increased isolation. For some, this isolation can come about rather suddenly, with the passing of a loved one or close family members moving away. For others, it can be a more gradual process as the natural effects of aging begin to take hold.

Scientific and health communities have, for many years, viewed isolation as detrimental to the overall wellbeing of older adults. Studies continually suggest that those who are chronically isolated tend to have a higher frequency of health-related issues – while, conversely, socialization efforts can lead to healthier, more fulfilling lives. In fact, the Global Council on Brain Health (GCBH) – an international collaborative of AARP – recently released a report which includes a consensus statement indicating that social engagement helps “thinking skills and slows cognitive decline later in life.” Other research studies suggest even more benefits of socialization, including:

- Strengthened immune system
- Reduced depression
- Better sleep
- Increased productivity

Maintaining Social Wellness
As mentioned, there are several ways in which isolation can exist in the lives of older adults, and – depending on the situation – it may take some work to get back to a happier, healthier state of mind. If you have an aging loved one experiencing the effects of isolation, here are some ways that they can maintain positive wellbeing through socialization. Join a class or group – Whether it's enrolling in a computer class or joining an exercise group at the local senior center, there are countless ways for older adults to be engaged in new activities or learnings. In addition to strengthening their cognitive abilities, these opportunities provide the chance to make new social connections with like-minded people. And because many of these activities are structured, there is a great amount of stability added to day-to-day routines for older adults. Religious organizations also offer a number of different opportunities for socialization, including retreats and community outreach events. Stay/become involved – Sometimes giving back to others is the best way to help maintain social wellness. Most towns have a wide array of organizations dedicated to providing assistance to those in need. This can be anything from giving music lessons or tutoring students. If your aging loved one has a skill or talent that can be utilized in the community, encourage him or her to reach out to their local civic and charity organizations. Giving back can even be as simple as volunteering at a soup kitchen once a month. These opportunities will certainly facilitate healthy socialization, while also providing a meaningful sense of accomplishment. Strengthen existing relationships – Throughout the course of a lifetime, it's not uncommon for certain friends and family members to drift in and out of our “social circles.” We may be closer with one sibling, cousin, or neighbor over another – and as life begins to slow down for your aging loved one, those that have drifted away may be feeling the same feelings of isolation as your loved one. All it takes is one instance of reaching out in order to reconnect and catch up on old times. Social media platforms, like Facebook, have made this easier and more convenient than ever before. Your loved one can send instant messages and even share photos. The visual, interactive component of social media can make a world of difference, especially when face-to-face interaction is not possible or feasible.

Comfort Keepers® Can Help
When your aging loved one needs companionship and socialization, he or she can count on Comfort Keepers®' trusted caregivers. As part of our service offering, our caregivers can also provide everything from meal preparation to dependable transportation. Call your local Comfort Keepers' office to learn even more about our services.

FRANKLIN — As the 2017 Motorcycle Week drew to a close last weekend, a Massachusetts man was killed in a three-vehicle collision on Hill Road (Route 3A) near the intersection with Lake Shore Drive in Franklin last Sunday morning.

At 10:13 a.m. on June 18, Franklin Fire Department was asked to respond to Hill Road, where they were advised that one person was trapped inside their automobile and a motorcyclist, who had been thrown onto the hood of the vehicle, was unresponsive at the time of the call.

When FFD arrived at the accident, CPR was immediately begun on the injured man and he was taken by ambulance to Franklin Regional Hospital where he was later pronounced dead. The driver of one of the other two vehicles was also transported to the hospital for treatment of minor injuries.

Early reports from an investigation into the accident indicate that the motorcyclist, a 37-year-old male from New Bedford, Mass. whose name has not yet been released, collided head-on with an SUV. Another passenger vehicle was also caught up in the collision.

That portion of Route 3A was closed for several hours, but reopened again at approximately 5 p.m. on Sunday. Police say the accident is still under investigation, but no criminal charges are expected to be filed at this time.

Smith joins legislators calling for protection of public lands

PLYMOUTH — New Hampshire State Rep. Suzanne Smith, Grafton 8 (Plymouth, Hebron, Holderness) joined state legislators from 44 states calling for President Trump and Congress to maintain designations of national monuments, following the President's recent executive order calling for a review of the Antiquities Act. The move could jeopardize national monuments designated by presidents in the past two decades.

Three hundred twenty-five members of the National Caucus of Environmental Legislators (NCEL) signed a letter urging the president and Congress not to rescind or shrink the lands currently designated as national monuments under the Antiquities Act.

"Last spring, I spent time hiking in Escalante-Grand Staircase in Utah," said Rep. Smith. "It is one of the monuments now in jeopardy. In addition to being a wilderness treasure, Escalante and Bears Ears in Utah and the many national monuments throughout the US provide sustainable growth in rural communities."

"National monuments hold an important place in our history and culture in the United States. No president has attempted to revoke a national monument before," said Jeff Mauk, Executive Director of NCEL. "We urge the president to work with Congress and state legislators to increase funding for public land management and boost the surrounding local economies."

The letter was initiated by Washington State Senator Kevin Ranker.

"Public support for protecting special places is strong, and many small communities increasingly depend on tourism and the growing outdoor recreation economy," said Ranker. "The effort to eliminate or shrink national monuments risks $45 billion generated nationwide by public lands, including national monuments."

National Forest urges you to plan ahead for summer hikes

CAMPTON — With the warmer weather and Memorial Day weekend approaching, we are all looking forward to getting outside and enjoying our favorite activities. Whether your plans include a camping trip, or your first hike of the season, forest officials encourage you to plan ahead.

Visitors should be prepared for a variety of spring conditions, including snow across many areas of the White Mountains. People are often surprised by the difference in the weather at higher elevations. At any time of year you should be prepared with arm clothing and good rain/wind gear. Remember you are responsible for yourself. Don't rely on a cell phone to keep you safe as they have limited or no coverage in many areas of the National Forest. For information to help you plan a safe hike go to the hike-Safe Web site at www.hikesafe.com/.

Spring melting and heavy rainfall can cause stream crossings to be high. Slippery rocks, hazards below the surface, and the strength of moving water all affect your safety. Always be responsible and assess the hazards and risks before entering any section of water.

If you're planning a camping trip be sure to properly store all food, including drink containers, condiments like ketchup and mustard, and empty food wrappers. Feeding bears, intentional or unintentional, is prohibited and not only risks your safety and those that come after you, but may result in a fine.

"Whether you are planning a camping trip, a hike, or a scenic drive, we want everyone to return home safely," said Forest Supervisor Tom Wagner. "Taking some time to plan ahead will help ensure everyone enjoys a safe summer."

This summer, for the first time in 20 years recreation fees on the White Mountain National Forest will change. On June

1, fees will increase at some sites while other sites will no longer require a fee. More than 95 percent of these recreation fees stay on the Forest and are used to complete projects that otherwise wouldn't be funded, including maintenance and improvement of sites. Purchasing a recreation pass is an investment in your public lands, and purchasing an annual pass is the best way to support the White Mountain National Forest. For more information about these changes visit the White Mountain National Forest Web site, <https://www.fs.usda.gov/main/whitemountain/passes-permits/recreation>.

there will also be crafts or activities related to that week's book. From July 14 until Aug. 11, there will also be a Summertime Movie Matinee on Fridays, beginning at 1 p.m. Titles of the movies to be featured each week will be made available on the library's Web site.

Besides all of that fun, there are five other special events being offered this year, beginning at 10 a.m. on Wednesday, July 12. Entertainer Daniel Jolley will be in Hill that day to amuse the audience with his "comedic antics, high energy activity, magical, mystical mayhem and balloon buffoonery." His fun-filled performance is one will also encourage creativity as a means to build a better world.

Next up will be a birdhouse craft project at the library on July 19, when children will learn to build something on their own that they can take home and enjoy in their backyards.

Wildlife Encounters will then take everyone on an imaginary safari around the world at 1 p.m. on Aug. 2 when they bring their exciting "animal ambassadors" to Hill, and on Aug. 2 at 10:30 a.m., a bottle rocket project, courtesy of The Magic of Science group, will offer additional excitement and fun as well.

Children are encouraged to also register for the summer reading challenge at Hill Library, where they can log how many books they read on those hazy, lazy days of summer that lie ahead. Christopher said that the summer reading program will wrap up on Aug. 1 with lots of outdoor activities, an ice cream buffet and awards to this year's top readers.

All of the programs being presented this summer are free of charge. For more information about them and the reading challenge, please contact the library at 934-9712 or visit them online at www.hillpubliclibrary.com.

Upstairs in the back barn is a rustic 1,500 square foot library. The downstairs houses an evaporator and chimney used annually for a maple sugar operation. Many of the original features of the home remain including the beamed ceilings, paneling and wainscoting. The kitchen and downstairs office have tin ceilings dating from the 1869 construction. A visit to the beautiful vegetable and flower gardens outside is a must.

George C. Harrigan, of Lisbon, was a 47-year man for the Boston & Maine, beginning as a track worker ("gandydancer," in the parlance of the times) and ending up as a section foreman, quite a step up in the day. Railroad came up because my uncle, whom I call Uncle Fudd, had a visitor that day, the son of a visiting therapist. This boy's father commutes to Boston each day, and of course, being an inveterate railroad guy (I've taken trains all over the continent, and the world), I asked Uncle Fudd whether he commuted on the justly famed Downeaster. "I don't know," was the answer, but I'll bet he'll find out between that call and the next.

I've ridden the Downeaster several times. It is clean, quiet, fast (80 m.p.h.), smooth, and most always on time. There must be hidden problems, but I can't fathom why anyone who commutes from Portland to Boston doesn't go by train, thereby avoiding (a) the hassle of driving, which in this age of declining road manners and safety rules can be pure hell on wheels, and (b) parking fees, which in Boston can be out of sight.

On the train the seats are spacious, to say the least, and you can get up and move about, say, to the Snack Car, and can sit in a booth with a table and spread out your newspaper, or work at your seat with a fold-down tray and free wi-fi.

Well, okay, there's the cost of riding the Downeaster on a regular basis. The train's "commuter fee" promotes itself as from anywhere from $6 to $29 each way. That's a pretty wide stretch. Try finding out exactly what the "commuter fare" from Portland to Boston is. Good luck.

But wait! There's More! I actually found it---not on the Downeaster site, but by calling Julie, Amtrack's pretty-damned-good automated answering system.

You can get a 30-day Portland-Boston commuter special for $299, round-trip. That's about $10 per day. No way can you drive for that, considering gas, tolls and parking.

So what's the rub? The time. It takes the train about two and a half hours, versus a driving time at about an hour and 45 minutes. That's because of the Downeaster's ten station stops. But that's a 45-minute difference.

But then if you drive, how much time does it take to park, and walk, or take public transportation or a cab?

All of which is part of why I decided, about 40 years ago, not to pursue a job offer from the Boston Globe. I'd have spent half my working time trying to find ways to vacation or do stories up where I've actually been living and writing for half a century, and counting.

This was while I was working for the Nashua Telegraph. At just about decision time, I heard Joe Green in the WBZ Copter doing a traffic report, featuring a jam-packed Storow Drive and a pileup on the Alewife Parkway. That pretty much did it.

But were we? With my Uncle Fudd, and his young friend at Village Crossing.

If I were this kid's Dad, and had to commute from Portland to Boston every single stinking day, like a rat going back and forth to the dump, I'd budget the extra 45 minutes into the daily slog--and to try feeling like a human being, take the train.

typically ride, but this breaks it up and makes them think about things they may come across that they’re not expecting,” said King.

Bud Clayton of Ellsworth was observing and assisting with the event. He said clinics such as the one at Tuthill’s farm last weekend were valuable for those heading out on any trail.

“Some horses balk at water. You have to let them look at it until they figure out what it is,” Clayton said. “They’ll think at first that it could be an ‘enemy,’ the same as any other obstacle they come across. You just have to be patient and not try to rush them.”

Besides clinics, Walls said the Pemiquaney Riding Club also holds two public fundraising rides a year and 10-percent of the proceeds from those events are donated to Becky’s Gift.

“Becky’s Gift is a (non-profit) organization that helps provide short term care for a horse should their owner become ill, have to be hospitalized or face other tough times. It’s an incredible help to people who own horses,” she said.

The next scheduled group ride will take place from 9 a.m.-4 p.m. on July 22 at Profile Falls in Bristol. For more information about that and other aspects of the organization, please visit their Pemiquaney Riding Club page on Facebook or text them at @PemiquaneyRidingClub.

Fillion, Brickley lead Durand-Haley to their first win of the season

PLYMOUTH — With the Plymouth Durand-Haley Rangers trailing Manchester Post 79 by a score of 7-6 heading into the bottom of the ninth inning on Thursday, June 22, Owen Brickley hit a single to left center field and was followed up by Brody Fillion, who crushed a two-run, walk off homerun to right center field, earning the Rangers their first win of the summer season, 8-7.

After two scoreless innings, the Plymouth offense came out in the bottom of the third to break the 0-0 tie, scoring two runs off a hit by pitch to Mike Hogan and two singles from Brickley and Cole Donovan to take a 2-0 lead heading into the fourth inning.

Brickley, who got the start on the mound for the Rangers, continued to throw strong as he recorded another scoreless inning in the fourth to keep the score at 2-0. The Plymouth offense tallied another run in the bottom of the fourth to extend their lead to 3-0 as Brickley reached first off a fielder's choice, was moved to second on an error off a hit by Fillion and came around to score on a single to center field by Donovan.

Brickley finished his solid day on the mound with yet another scoreless inning in the top of the fifth while the Plymouth offense was kept quiet in the bottom of the fifth as the game stayed at 3-0 going into the sixth inning.

A pitching change by the Rangers started the sixth inning and Manchester Post 79 would find their offense as they took advantage of four walks and started crushing the ball, recording six hits to score six runs and taking a 6-3 lead. The Manchester defense shut down the Plymouth offense once again, keeping the 6-3 lead heading into the seventh inning.

Hogan came in to pitch for Plymouth in the seventh and the defense behind Hogan would be great, picking up all three outs to bring up the Ranger offense in the bottom of the seventh. Plymouth battled back to score three runs off two walks, an error and two singles from Tony Velez and Garrett Demas to knot the score up at 6-6 going into the eighth.

An early error by Plymouth started the top of the eighth and it would prove costly for the moment as the baserunner came around to score off a double and Manchester Post 79 took a 7-6 lead. The 7-6 lead by Manchester held up until the bottom of the ninth inning where Fillion came up clutch.

With their last at bats in the bottom of the ninth and an early out to start the inning, Brickley came up for the Rangers and started the comeback rally with a single to left center field. Fillion then stepped up to the plate and blasted a homerun to right center field, walking Plymouth off with their first win of the season.

"I thought we played really tough all day. We weathered the storm in the sixth inning and hung on until Brody gave us the walk off win. Owen Brickley gave us a great start on the mound. We have to continue to get better and eliminate errors that extend innings," explained Plymouth coach Mike Boyle.

The Rangers were led by Fillion with a hit and three RBIs while Manchester was led by Keith Swetland with three hits and two RBIs.

Plymouth improves to a record of 1-2 on the season while Manchester Post 79 falls to a record of 1-3. The Rangers will play again on Saturday, July 1, as they host Keene for a doubleheader. Game times are posted for 12 and 3 p.m.

Lions Cup soccer matches July 15 at NEC

REGION — The Lions Twin State Soccer Association is proud to announce the 43rd annual "Lions Cup" matches will be held on July 15 at New England College in Henniker. Both the women's and men's teams will be comprised of All-Star seniors representing Vermont and New Hampshire. The women's game kicks off at 4 p.m. with the men's game following at 6:30 p.m. Admission is free for children under age 12.

The Lions Twin State Soccer Association was established in 1975 with the mission to devote itself to the celebration of athletic achievement while promoting fellowship through combined charitable acts and interpersonal relations. Since its inception, the association has raised approximately $600,000 and donated it equally between Vermont Lions charities and the Lions Sight and Hearing Foundation of New Hampshire. The funds have assisted those in need of eyeglasses, eye surgeries, hearing aids and sending children to summer camp.

Without the generosity of the Vermont and New Hampshire Soccer Coaches Associations, the Lions of New Hampshire and Vermont, the parents and players and the general public, these games would not be possible. The association extends its gratitude for the support and looks forward to seeing you at the games.

Soccer program provides essential skills to young players

LAKES REGION — Four years ago, local soccer club Lakes Region United established an “Early Development Program” (or EDP) to teach essential soccer skills to players 6-9 years old. The brainchild of Belmont parent Keith Duggan, the goal was to allow young players to develop skills in a fun, local environment.

The program has been extremely popular with parents and budding soccer stars from throughout the Lakes Region. This spring 16 players participated. They were coached by Northfield resident (and member of Belmont High School’s 1998 state championship team) Dave Nelson, with Steve Jordan providing assistance.

Nelson was enthusiastic about the program, saying “We teach them foot skills, decision-making, passing, cuts, pull-backs, and other basic skills they will be using forever.”

The program involves two practices a week and an organized scrimmage (typically 3v3) every weekend. It runs year round (with indoor soccer at Tilton Sports Center in the winter), but players can sign up for one season at a time.

This fall, as Nelson’s son ages out of EDP, the program will be coached by former college stand-outs Uni Karlsson and Caitlin Dulac. Karlsson comes from a soccer-loving Icelandic family. He played club soccer in Iceland after helping Gilford High School win a state championship in 1990. His wife, Dulac, was a standout defensive player at New Hampton School before playing for two years at Smith College.

Karlsson and Dulac were recruited by Duggan to lead EDP. Duggan emphasized the impor-forts of coaching volunteers,” Duggan said.

Lakes Region United is in its ninth season with more than 120 players from a variety of local towns, including Laconia, Gilford, Belmont, Gilmanton, Meredith, Alton, Moultonborough, Sanborton, Canterbury, Northfield and New Hampton. Parents and athletes can learn more about the club at lrusoccer.com.

Lazy afternoon

BY RAYMOND KUCHARSKI
Contributing Writer

It was a lazy afternoon and the beetle bugs were zooming while Larry and I were enjoying the sun and a couple of submarine sandwiches at the Mashpee-Wakeby boat ramp. We had fished a couple of ponds on Cape Cod in the morning and were just killing a little time before we set out for the evening fishing.

An old, small, foreign-made station wagon towing a fairly large boat pulled into the parking lot and backed down the ramp to launch the boat. The car backed down until the trailer and boat were in the water and the rear tires were a foot or so from the water’s edge. The driver got out of the car and climbed onto the trailer to release the winch and launch the boat, but it was apparent he was having trouble with the rusted winch.

Larry and I approach the car on the passenger side to see if there was anything we could do. The boat captain said he was ok, and started to jump up-and-down on the trailer to free the rope. His jumping up-and-down on the trailer was rocking the boat as well as the entire station wagon.

I said to Larry, “the car is going backward,” Larry reassured me it was only going up-and-down and not moving. I said, “Larry watch the tires, every time they go up-and-down there inching backward.” Just as I finished speaking, the boat, trailer and car started to slide into the lake.

Larry quickly opened the passenger door, sat down, and reached over and put his foot on the brake – nothing. The old, beat-up car’s brakes could not stop the car. Time now seemed in slow motion; I could see the panic on Larry’s face as he realized he was going for a swim. He looked me in the eye and slowly waved a goodbye.

Luckily the trailer jackknifed and stopped the car, but by now the waterline was from the top of the back window to the front bumper covering Larry up to his waist. Larry calmly stepped out of the car and smiled. The captain waded to shore, got in the driver’s seat and turned the key. Miraculously we heard the engine start. The next sound Larry and I heard was blub-blub-blub as the bubbles from the exhaust rose to the surface of the water. Larry and I could no longer contain ourselves and started laughing.

Edward Jones: Financial Focus

Declare Your Financial Independence Day

We’re getting close to the Fourth of July, when we celebrate the freedoms we enjoy in this country. The U.S. constitution grants us many of these liberties, but we have to earn others – such as our financial freedom. What steps can you take to achieve the financial independence you need to reach your long-term goals?

For starters, always work to build your resources. Contribute as much as you can afford to your IRA and your 401(k) or other employer-sponsored retirement plan. At a minimum, put in enough to earn your employer’s matching contribution, if one is offered. If you don’t take advantage of this match, you are essentially leaving money on the table.

While how much you invest is an essential factor in gaining your financial freedom, how you invest your money is equally important. So make sure you have sufficient growth potential in all your accounts. While growth-oriented investments, such as stocks and stock-based vehicles, carry investment risk, you can help moderate this risk by also including other investments, such as bonds.

Another way to gain your financial independence is to liberate yourself from the shackles of debt. This isn’t always easy, of course – most of us have experienced times when our cash flow simply wasn’t sufficient to meet our expenses, so we had to take on some type of debt, either through a credit card or a loan. But the more you can control your debts, the more money you’ll have to save and invest for your future.

One way to manage your debt load is to build an emergency fund, containing three to six months’ worth of living expenses, which you can use to pay unexpected costs such as a major car repair or a large medical bill. Ideally, you should keep this money in a liquid, low-risk account, so you can access the funds quickly and without penalty. Aside from possibly helping you control your debts, an emergency fund also may enable you to avoid dipping into your long-term investments to pay for short-term needs.

Thus far, we’ve only discussed achieving your financial freedom through methods of saving and investing. But you also need to consider your protection needs, too. If you were to become ill or suffer a serious injury, and you could not work for a while, your financial security could be jeopardized. Your employer might offer you disability insurance as an employee benefit, but it may not be enough for your needs, so you might need to purchase some additional coverage on your own. And to help ensure your family’s financial security, you’ll also need sufficient life insurance.

You also might want to protect yourself from the catastrophic costs of long-term care, such as an extended nursing home stay. The average annual cost for a private room in a nursing home is more than $92,000, according to the 2016 Cost of Care Study issued by the insurance company Genworth. And Medicare generally covers only a small percentage of these expenses. You may want to consult with a financial professional to learn about ways you can protect yourself from the long-term care burden.

By following these suggestions, you can go a long way toward declaring your own financial independence. Consider taking action soon. This article was written by Edward Jones for use by your local Edward Jones Financial Advisor.

Plymouth 12U comes up short in tourney openers

BY JOSHUA SPAULDING
Sports Editor

FARMINGTON — The Plymouth 12U squad struggled in the opening games of the District Eight Cal Ripken tournament in Farmington on Saturday.

The team was able to rebound to pick up a win on Sunday.

The team opened against Plymouth and after a nice grab from Logan Finkle at shortstop in the first inning, got a two-out double from Colin Kenneally in the top of the second inning but they could not capitalize.

Kingswood brought the bats in the second inning, plating 11 runs in the frame, the first nine coming while starter Johnny Flaherty was in the game. The other two came after he left in favor of Finkle. Flaherty made a nice grab at shortstop to end the inning.

Finkle led off the top of the third with a base hit but was forced on a bouncer back to the mound from Flaherty and Plymouth could not score.

Kingswood continued with the bats in the bottom of the third inning, putting across two more runs before Dalton Donovan took over on the mound and then added five ore to go up 18-0 before Plymouth got out of the inning.

Plymouth was able to get some runs on the board in the top of the fourth inning. Camden Stratton led off with a walk and stole second. He scored on a double by Tommy Kill and one out later, Kenneally worked a walk and two runners scored on a base hit by Donovan. A sacrifice fly from Finkle plated the fourth run for Plymouth, but they wouldn't get any more runs and Kingswood took the 18-4 win.

Plymouth's next game was against the defending 12U champions from Suncook Valley. Stratton worked a two-out walk in the top of the first inning but he was stranded and Suncook got to Kill for a pair of runs in the bottom of the inning, taking advantage of a walk and a homer for a 2-0 lead.

Plymouth got a lead-off walk from Cammeron Manning in the top of the second but he was erased on a grounder to short by Kenneally. A 4-6-3 double play ended the inning and Plymouth's chances of scoring. Suncook came through with four more runs in the bottom of the second inning, plating two against Kill and then two more on a base hit against reliever Tayton Rourke, who got out of the inning with no further damage.

Plymouth got on the board in the top of the third inning. Finkle led off with a base hit and moved up on a sacrifice bunt by Rourke. Flaherty reached on an error to plate the first run and then a wild pitch drove in another to make it 6-2.

Suncook added three more runs in the bottom of the third inning and could've had more, but Flaherty made a great play in the hole at shortstop to end the inning.

Plymouth went quietly in the top of the fourth and Suncook added three more runs in the bottom of the inning against Stratton to close out the 12-2 win.

On Sunday, Plymouth fell by a 7-1 score to Suncook Valley before edging Mount Washington Valley 8-6 in the final game of the tournament.

The Plymouth roster includes Camden Stratton, Johnny Flaherty, Tommy Kill, Aaron Desmond, Tayton Rourke, Dalton Donovan, Logan

Finkle, Chris Rubbe, Colin Kenneally, Nathan Hillger and Cammeron Manning. The team is coached by Gary Finkle, Jeb Stratton and Jeremy Hillger.

10U Plymouth squad earns one win in three games

BY JOSHUA SPAULDING
Sports Editor

PLYMOUTH — The Plymouth 10U Cal Ripken squad won one of the first three games of the District Eight tournament over the weekend in Farmington.

Plymouth started strong by earning a 7-3 win over Farmington on Saturday. The team then dropped an 11-0 decision to Mount Washington Valley to finish the first day of the tournament at 1-1.

They returned on Sunday afternoon to take on Kingswood and fell behind early. Kingswood scored two runs in the first inning off of two walks, a base hit and a double steal against starter Cillian Kenneally.

Kyle Dodge led off the bottom of the first with an infield hit and was forced at second by Kenneally's grounder back to the mound and Plymouth could not answer.

Kenneally was able to keep Kingswood off the board in the second, thanks in part to a nice scoop at first base by Liam Manning.

Manning then led off the bottom of the second with a base hit and two outs later, Caedon Manseau had a base hit as well but both runners were stranded on the bases.

Catcher Noah Shaw earned his keep in the top of the third inning as he gunned down a Kingswood runner stealing third base and then Kenneally got a strikeout to end the inning.

Kenneally had a base hit in the bottom of the third but he took too big a turn around first and was cut down by the Kingswood defense.

Luke Diamond took over on the hill for Plymouth in the fourth inning and struck out two, working around an infield hit.

Plymouth then took the lead in the bottom of the fourth inning. Shaw, Manning and Cam Magoon all drew walks to start the inning and then a base hit from Peyton Long scored two runners to tie the game. After a base hit by Manseau, two runners were forced at the plate on grounders back to the mound before Kenneally delivered a base hit to plate two more runs and give Plymouth the 4-2 lead after four.

Kingswood answered, however, scoring seven runs in the top of the fifth inning to take a 9-4 lead. Plymouth went in order in the bottom of the fifth and then worked around a leadoff Kingswood walk in the top of the sixth.

In the bottom of the sixth, Long led off with a base hit but was forced on a grounder by Manseau, who in turn was forced on a bunt attempt by Mason Hershey and Plymouth could not muster any more runs, dropping the 9-4 decision to Kingswood.

The Plymouth roster included Kyle Dodge, Cillian Kenneally, Luke Diamond, Noah Shaw, Liam Manning, Cam Magoon, Peyton Long, Caedon Manseau and Mason Hershey. The team is coached by Matt Manning, Mike Dodge and Rod Diamond.

WOLFEBORO — In July the Wolfeboro Free Masons will be hosting a family friendly running series at Abenaki ski area. There will be a three-mile trail race for all abilities, a short one-mile course and a popsicle dash for toddlers. The trails used are maintained by the Lakes Region Conservation Trust. The three-mile race will be timed, the one-mile race will not be timed as they would like it to be stress free and fun for all abilities. The dates for the races will be July 13, 20 and 27. It will be called the Wolfeboro Masonic Summer Cross Country Series. The toddler dash will start at 6 p.m., the one-mile fun run at 6:05 p.m. and the three-mile race at 6:30 p.m. All races will start on time.

This summer race series is for first time runners and seasoned runners. The goal is to create a non-intimidating environment that brings adults, children, families, new runners and fast runners together. Track teams are encouraged to come out and run too. With three different race options on well-marked courses there is something for everyone who wants to get out in the woods and make new friends. Socialization before, during and after the races will be encouraged and the last race will offer an awards ceremony.

You can register the day of the race or save some money by preregistering for the entire series at www.runreg.com/summerxc. Races will happen rain or shine.

For more information or to register, visit www.tangeroutlets.com/race. If a business or organization will have 10 or more participants, please contact Tanger General Manager Eric Proulx at eric.proulx@tangeroutlets.com for group discount information.

I'm not a huge fan of parking at Logan Airport, so when possible, I take the bus from Dover to the airport. With an early morning flight, I had an even earlier morning bus ride. The bus left Dover at 2:30 a.m. and after covering Prospect Mountain graduation on Friday night and then sorting pictures and doing some of the work I traditionally do on Sunday on Friday night, by the time I got home it was after midnight. I ate breakfast at about 1 a.m.

and hit the road to Dover.

The flight was uneventful (despite what the screaming kid near the front of the plane seemed to think) and when I left the airport in Houston, the heat hit me pretty hard. But, that was not unexpected for June in Texas. I went and visited the Johnson Space Center outside of town and really enjoyed a tour around the facility and a look at the space shuttles and rockets used over the years.

Unlike many of my quick trips, I made a last minute decision to book a hotel room near the airport rather than staying in the airport overnight. I'm pretty glad I did because after the space center, the lack of sleep and the heat caught up to me a bit and I was glad to have an air-conditioned place to take a break.
