Motor vehicle revenues, tax collection especially strong

BY ERIN PLUMMER
mnews@salmonpress.news

Motor vehicle revenues and tax collection are coming in at higher rates than expected, according to an update from the town's Finance Director.

Last Wednesday, Finance Director Glenn Waring gave the board of selectmen an update on his department and the town's financial status

According to a recording of the meeting, Waring said revenues are in line for this time of year. Motor vehicle registrations are above what is anticipated, so far, they are above 113 percent halfway into the year.

Selectman Chan Eddy asked if they had any idea why the vehicle registrations are above expectation and if it is because more people are buying cars. Waring said that seems to be the case.

"I think it's a sign of the economy being much stronger last year, and this year compared to several years in the past," Waring said.

Departments that are running behind in revenue are those that have onetime large receipts or seasonal revenue, including New Hampshire Rooms and Meals revenue, Pay-

Selectmen approve town hall roof insulation

BY ERIN PLUMMER

The town will put $37,480 toward new insulation in town hall to prevent possible ice dam and water damage.

At a previous meeting the board of selectmen discussed insulation options for the town hall roof to prevent a build-up of ice and snow and resulting water damage. One company offered to work with the town,

Quality Insulation of Meredith.

During last Wednesday's meeting, the selectmen discussed company's estimate of $37,480 and the option to either do the project now or go another winter. According to a recording of the meeting, board chair Gus Benavides asked for a recommendation from Public Works Director Jason Hayden on how they should proceed.

Hayden recommended going with the new estimate. He said putting in $5,000 to $10,000 every other year in smaller repairs is going to add up to $37,000 eventually.

After the subject was discussed at a previous meeting, Hayden said at the time there were no guarantees it would solve the problem. After discussions with the company and doing

Gilford going forward with Phase 1 of WRBP roadmap

BY ERIN PLUMMER
mnews@salmonpress.news

The town will sign onto Phase 1 of a roadmap plan aiming toward making the Winnepesaukee River Basin Program a self-governing entity.

During last Wednesday's selectmen's meeting, town administrator Scott Dunn said three years ago the Winnepesaukee River Basin advisory committee voted to accept a consultant study that would examine the possibility of the WRBP members moving in the direction of self governance. According to a recording of the meeting, Dunn said the primary reason this was taken on was the possibility of seeing 14 percent budget savings a year.

Dunn said the resulting roadmap is complicated and said he was not optimistic that it was going to happen. The group hired an attorney, who has recommended undertaking a Phase 1 to examine a possible governance structure, which could cost $3,500 to $7,600 from their sewer budget. Four other communities have signed onto this so far.

Concerns expressed by both Dunn and selectman Richard Grenier related to how dry and complex the document is.

"Is there a cost to the way its being done now? Yes, but it's one governing body," Grenier said. "We start throwing 10 different

Notes from the Gilford Public Library

BY MARK THOMAS
Library Correspondent

BOOM! That’s what’s going to happen when this ‘time’-bomb goes off in your brain: The library has been at the ‘new’ location at 31 Potter Hill Rd. for 10 years. 10! Years! On the one hand, it feels like the opening just happened. On the other hand, it feels like the fond memories of the old location are from B.C. It’s our tenth anniversary here, and we intend to bring the house down (not literally... we are celebrating the building as much as the experiences after all).

This is a celebration for all of the donors that made the new building possible. It’s a celebration for all of the taxpayers that contribute to library’s ongoing service. All of the library trustees, staff, Friends of the Gilford Public Library, and volunteers can celebrate and be celebrated. Every patron, of the thousands and thousands of people who have visited the library, has contributed to making the Library what it has been and what it is now; you too are celebrated. The Shindig is Aug.

9. Start the day off with a Mushroom Hike in Weeks Woods with the New Hampshire Mushroom Company. We love programs that combine wellness, education, and fun, and this hike will surely deliver on all three. It’ll be followed up by an informational presentation.

After the warmup, the real party begins at 4 p.m. We put the Summer Reading Finale together with the Anniversary Party together with a musical performance. The Summer Reading Program has been fabulous this year, and the finale party is a chance to recognize participants of all ages for their reading passion. There will be a (weather permitting) cookout, games for all ages, crafts, people, music, and happiness.

The music is the biggest draw of all. Katie Dobbins will surround the library with her energetic and elegant guitar and voice performance. She is vocal about the benefits of being free spirited and letting go of worry—something we can get behind on the day of celebration. Check out her music at katedobbinsmusic.com.

She grew up here in Gilford and she performs in the area frequently even though she is branching out to venues far beyond the local scene.

This event will be something to remember. 10th anniversary only happens once, so be there! Go readers, go libraries, go us!

Two great organizations join forces for one day

GILFORD — On Wednesday, June 6, Camp Resilience teamed up with the Lake Winnepesaukee Sailing Association (LWSA) in order to get American Veterans on the water with the LWSA sailing fleet.

The day began with a lunch together at the Lake Winnepesaukee Sailing Center on Davis Road in Gilford. During the lunch, the sailors and volunteers got to meet the Veterans as both groups got to know a little more about each other while making plans for the afternoon sail. From the Sailing Center, the group travelled to Fay’s Boatyard on Varney Point where everyone boarded the cruising sailboats; Haleakala, Painkiller, Renaissance, and Claddagh for a fun day on the water. Each of the veterans played an active role in setting sail for the day including raising the sails, skippering the boats and trimming the sails for the most speed. The cruise began by motoring out of Smith Cove and on to the southern portion of Welch Island in the “Broads” of Lake Winnepesaukee. Due to initial light winds, the four vessels motor-sailed with just their mainsails around the southern portion of Welch then north towards Six Mile Island where the wind began to come alive and the genoa sails were raised and the motors snuffed so the veterans could enjoy the quiet of a Lake Winnepesaukee late spring day-sail. As the wind picked up and Haleakala, Painkiller, Renaissance and Claddagh sailed between Birch and Dollar Island, it seemed as though a bit of competition ensued as winches began ticking on all the boats to improve sail trim and speed to see which boat would sail back to the docks at Fay’s the fastest. Everyone arrived back at Fay’s Boatyard late in the afternoon and all were thankful to have gotten to know each other and enjoy a day on the water. The LWSA sailors and Camp Resilience volunteers were especially thankful to have gotten to spend the day with American heroes that afternoon.

Gregory Peck and Susan Hayward find love amid “The Snows of Kilimanjaro” on LRPA

LACONIA — Join Lakes Region Public Access Television at 10:30 p.m. this Friday and Saturday night (Aug. 3 & 4) for our “LRPA After Dark” presentation of 1952’s adventurous melodrama “The Snows of Kilimanjaro,” starring Gregory Peck, Susan Hayward and Ava Gardner.

“The Snows of Kilimanjaro” tells the story of American writer Harry Street (Peck) who is on safari in Africa with his second wife Helen (Hayward). Their marriage suffers from Harry drinking, womanizing and world-weary cynicism. A wound on Harry’s leg becomes infected, and as he lays in a feverish delirium, he reflects on his life and past loves. One of his great regrets is losing his beautiful first wife, Cynthia Green (Gardner). Her memory and the way that he lost her haunt his dreams. As Harry clings to life, Helen nurses him and protects him from the many dangers lurking just outside of the campfire. Will Harry survive the long night, and will he and Helen be able to find love again?

Based on the short story by Ernest Hemingway, “The Snows of Kilimanjaro” was well received by critics and movie goers alike. It was nominated for two Academy Awards, including Best Art Direction and Best Cinematography. In his New York Time column, critic Bosley Crowther noted “ ... They have made a picture that constantly fascinates the eye and stimulates the emotions in small, isolated ways.” It is a beautiful and exotic Technicolor film that exemplifies the often spectacular filmmaking of its generation. Need we say more? Grab your popcorn and join LRPA after dark for this gorgeous, dramatic adventure.

Musical comedy with Jackson Gillman Aug. 10 at Taylor Community

LACONIA — While you’ll be tempted – and invited – to sing along to familiar tunes with Stand-up Chameleon Jackson Gillman, you’ll find many of the lyrics have been comically adulterated.

In this rollicking review of topical songs and parodies, no musical form is safe or sacred with Gillman’s disorderly conduct.

He will also practice his tendency to swap personalities before your very eyes, slipping through a variety of characterizations like a veritable cha-meleon, which in fact he is. Do we have your attention? Then join us Friday, Aug. 10 at 6:30 p.m. in Taylor Community’s Woodside Building for all the fun. This free event is open to the public.

Kenneth R. Kneuer, 84

GILFORD — Kenneth R. "Nutsy" Kneuer, 84, died peacefully in his sleep on July 21, 2018, at Golden View Health Care Center.

Ken was born on Dec. 18, 1933, in Rockville Centre, N.Y. to the late Fred and Caroline (King) Kneuer. His life was marked by service, helping those in need, and mentoring others, considering many as extended family.

Ken grew up in Hempstead, N.Y. and graduated from Hempstead High School. For reasons and escapades too numerous to list, he earned the nickname Nutsy early in life and it stuck. After graduation, he enlisted in the U.S. Navy in 1951 and served for three years. He served as an Aviation Mechanics Mate, attained the rank of Petty Officer 3rd Class and survived three plane crashes.

On a vacation to Laconia, he met a waitress at the Windmill Restaurant, Jane Murgatroy. In 1957, they were married, with the Windmill's owner, Duane Thomas, serving as his best man. Nutsy and Jane raised their two children, Bruce and Brenda, in South Hempstead, N.Y., but on every family vacation to Laconia, Duane's children, Heidi and Walter, were extended family, joining in for swimming and badminton tournaments refereed by Ken.

When they moved to South Hempstead, they met Peg Giles, a widow who lived across the street. He would mow her lawn and do maintenance projects. "Aunt Peg" became part of the family and would babysit and make Ken's favorite dish, pot roast. When their friends next door tragically died in a car accident, leaving two teenage boys alone, Jane and Ken were there to provide guidance and support for them, making them part of the family. During a blizzard, Ken went door-to-door, relighting ev-everyone's furnace. When there was a need, he felt it his duty to help.

In New York, he was a paid Fire Officer for the Garden City New York Fire Department from 1957 until a work-related injury caused by an exploding hydrant ended his fire-fighting career. In addition, Ken served his local communities as a volunteer fire fighter for the Hempstead Fire Department Exempts and the South Hempstead Volunteer Fire Department, where he rose to the rank of Assistant Chief. Ken was a member of the Seventh Battalion Fire Chiefs Council; New York Fire Chiefs Association, and the Fire Engineers in Gilford. During his career and life, he believed in mentoring and befriending others and took a young fire-fighter, Steve Crobet, under his wing, making him part of the extended family.

Before the injury, Nutsy loved to referee high school football, lacrosse and soccer, where he earned a second nickname - The Sarge. He ran tight games and demanded respect. Yellow flags and red cards often appeared. He was awarded lifetime and honorary memberships in the Long Island New York Association of Football Officials and the Nassau County Lacrosse and Soccer Officials Associations. He passed on this no-nonsense attitude to a young referee, Mike Labrys, who also became part of the extended family. Ken was involved in Bruce and Brenda's sports activities, often attending games and practicing with them. Once retired and living in New Hampshire, Grandpa Nutsy often went to his grandchildren's sports activities. If he couldn't make the game, he could be counted on to call at night for all the updates.

In the 1990s, Jane and Ken decided they would visit all 50 state capitals. With many road trips, and a few detours, they visited the 50th capital in 2007, the year of their 50th wedding anniversary year. When not on the road, Ken was an avid golfer and sports fan - rooting for his New York teams.

Ken is survived by his wife of 61 years, Jane (Murgatroy) Kneuer; a son, Bruce Kneuer, and his wife Gwen (Spencer) Kneuer; a daughter, Brenda (Kneuer) Zurita; and six grandchildren, Sarah (Kneuer) Szymkowski, Bethany (Kneuer) Clifton, Timothy Kneuer, Rebekah Kneuer, Caleb Kneuer, and Lydia Kneuer. He is also survived by three nieces and four nephews.

A Graveside Service with military honors will be held on Saturday, July 28, 2018 at 10 a.m. at the Bayside Cemetery.

A Celebration of Life will follow the Graveside Services at 11 a.m. at the United Baptist Church, 35 Park St., Laconia.

For those who wish, the family suggests that memorial donations may be made in Ken's name the Gilford Fire-Rescue, 39 Cherry Valley Rd., Gilford, NH 03249 and the New Hampshire Humane Society, PO Box 572, Laconia, NH 03247.

Arlia C. Vusvunis, 87

LACONIA — Arlia "Nancy" C. Vusvunis, 87, of Laconia died Sunday, July 29, 2018 at Golden View Health Care Center in Meredith.

Arlia was born June 14, 1931 in Lagrange, Maine, to the late Raymond and Florence (Burke) Prouty.

Arlia worked as a hairdresser for 25 years, and was the owner together with her husband, Charles Vusvunis, of Bluebird Motel for 40 years.

Survivors include her son, Peter Vusvunis, of Hempstead, N.Y.; two daughters, Cheryl Gunnerson of Gilford and Lisa St. Laurent and her husband, Thomas, of Center Sandwich; two grandchildren, Diane Liakas of Gilford and Michael Gunnerson of Gilford; six great grandchildren and many nieces and nephews.

In addition to her parents, Arlia was predeceased by her husband, Charles Vusvunis.

Private calling hours and Funeral Services for family and friends will be held from 11 a.m. to noon, with noon services on Thursday, Aug. 2 at Wilkinson-Beane-Simoneau-Paquette Funeral Home, 164 Pleasant St., Laconia, using the Carriage House entrance.

Art Place to showcase artwork by Peter Ferber

WOLFEBORO — On Saturday, Aug. 4, The Art Place in downtown Wolfeboro will hold its semi-annual Peter Ferber Gallery Show featuring new original paintings by local well-known artist Peter Ferber. The unveiling and artist’s reception will commence at 9:30 a.m. All are welcome to attend and meet the artist.

Peter Ferber has been showing at The Art Place gallery in downtown Wolfeboro since the early 1990’s.

“It’s not just about the familiar visual scene when looking at Peter Ferber’s paintings, it’s about the emotions stirred and the many feelings one gets from his beautiful artwork, says Barbara Gibbs, owner of The Art Place,” he says.

Peter Ferber describes it best, saying “Once again I feel so fortunate to share this new collection of paintings that come out of a deep love for this area that so many people feel. Nothing makes me happier than making that connection—hearing the wonderful memories and feelings evoked in those that come to see the work. In many ways, there’s nothing new in this ‘new’ collection. There will be some vintage boats—hundred-year-old launches and a Lyman outboard from the 1950’s. Wonderful, simple cottages—a few on islands, and one done in the cut paper medium; boathouses here and there, including a great, rustic Adirondack style one; plenty of pine trees, mountains, and at least one loon! That being said, I hope it never feels like I’m repeating myself! In order to have integrity, and that spark, I always rely on some new element in the concept to inspire me. This often comes in the form of a different color pallet or an interesting lighting effect I’ve observed. And I’m always trying to bring out the idyllic, romantic or timeless aspect of a subject—to convey more than a literal portrayal, and tap into what the subject means to people. This approach developed in college, where we painted local scenes around town, and were taught accentuate and augment certain things about the subject to give it more weight and importance and make the painting more dramatic and interesting. I still do this today, though in more subtle ways, since there’s not usually the need to ‘improve’ on the beauty and interest of the subjects I find around here!

“Of course lakes are a constant throughout, and this time include Wentworth, Newfound and Sunapee, in addition to Winnepesaukee—though they will feel familiar no matter what your particular favorite may be.

“The paintings will include work in watercolor, acrylic, oil, and the one cut paper piece I mentioned.

“In contrast to the aspects of life that seem to be constantly changing and upgrading, I love the fact that the things I’m depicting seem so timeless and solid. And it’s always about more than just beautiful images of loved scenes. The real connection is with deep and treasured feelings of family, in having roots in something lasting, in experiences that taught us important things, in a sense of comfort, caring, and being valued. It’s the kind of “place” where we all want to spend time.”

Ferber has exhibited in more than 50 shows in New England and the Midwest. More than 100 reproductions of his work have been made, including more than 75 limited edition prints.

Peter Ferber’s Gallery Show at The Art Place will be on display through Aug. 18, or as long as paintings are available. The Art Place is the exclusive gallery for Peter Ferber’s original artwork, and produces most of his limited edition prints. The Art Place is located at 9 North Main St., downtown Wolfeboro, and is open year round. Our Summer hours are Tuesday through Saturday, 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., Sunday 11 a.m. -3 p.m. For more information, please call 569-6159. or toll free, 866 569-6159.

Hansel & Gretel Antiques spotlights work of Lynda Vogel in new display opening Aug. 10

WOLFEBORO — Wolfeboro artist Lynda S. Vogel will display her latest work in a special showing at Hansel & Gretel Antiques Aug. 10 - 12.

“Simply Charming” is Vogel’s second annual summer showing of found object/mixed media jewelry in the Wolfeboro and Tuftonboro area around Lake Winnepesaukee. Although her jewelry is available on regular basis at Hansel & Gretel Antiques, the three day show provides viewers with a unique opportunity to explore a larger exhibit and once a year special offerings from her Designs East collection. It will also be a chance for the public to meet the artist as well.

Located at 436 Gov. Wentworth Highway, Route 109 in Melvin Village, Hansel & Gretel will open the show starting at noon on Friday, Aug. 10.

Lynda S. Vogel moved to Wolfeboro from Estes Park, Colorado with her husband Michael in December 2015. Both enjoy their new life in New England - Lynda exploring different art mediums and Michael as a professional photographer.

While in Colorado she served as the Cultural Arts Council of Estes Park’s executive director. She held this position for 24 years until her retirement in June 2014.

Vogel’s 40 year arts career in Colorado involved many different aspects including non-profit organization directorship, freelance graphic design, gallery owner, Estes Park Museum exhibits/education curator, Art Center of Estes Wolfeboro artist Lynda S. Vogel will display her latest work in a special showing at Hansel & Gretel Antiques Aug. 10 - 12.

Park, Colo. co-founder and exhibits/education curator, musician and fine artist.

Now as a full time resident of New Hampshire, she continues to pursue her ongoing passion for the arts and love of the great outdoors.

Currently, Vogel creates unique mixed media assemblage jewelry incorporating found objects, metals, gemstones, original art, vintage treasures and flea market finds. Each piece of jewelry is hand crafted and the Designs East collection features a variety of work including her Charmed Series. Themes represent lakes region life, holidays, travel, abstract shapes and/or ethnic cultures. Necklaces range from simple designs on chain to more complex mixed media assemblage.

Since childhood she has collected and cherished charms, beads and small objects from around the world.

“Charms can tell stories, bring back or make new memories,” states Vogel. “I remember my first charm bracelet and finding new additions on travels. Trinkets and charms were also given to me by others who traveled. I was also fond of the small charms you would find in boxes of Cracker Jacks or cereals. I would trade with friends in the ‘50’s and early ‘60’s and keep them in a special little pouch – what treasures back then and now.”

In the mid 1970’s, while working at an art gallery in Boulder, Colo., Vogel had the opportunity to buy an entire box of strung antique African trade beads from an Ethiopian diplomat.

“It was a stretch for me to come up with the $300 cash, but I managed to borrow enough from friends to make it work,” she says.

Even after years of making jewelry, some of those original beads can be found in her jewelry at this show.

Today, she still delights in the hunt – with an eye searching for that vintage charm, bead or well worn piece of jewelry. For her, it is a joy to repurpose and recycle them into wearable works of art mixing old and new. Each piece has its own story with more intricate designs having an individual theme and title. Some of the earrings and necklaces are one of a kind, and others created in limited production. It is made to be enjoyed and worn by everyone in a wide price range.

Artist Reception and Meet the Artist

The public is invited to attend an Artist Reception on Aug. 10 from 4 to 6 p.m. Refreshments will be served. On Saturday, Aug. 11 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., Vogel will be on hand to answer questions about her work. Visitors can also enter door prize giveaways over the three days of the show. Some restrictions will apply. Winners will be selected at random on Sunday, Aug. 12 at 3 p.m.

“Simply Charming” will be on display through Aug. 12. The show is free and open to the public. Visitors are also invited to enjoy the shop’s wonderful array of antiques and collectables for sale by over 50 vendors. Hansel & Gretel Antiques hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Thursday through Saturday, and Sunday 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

“The Drunkard” auditions Sunday and Monday

WOLFEBORO — The Village Players will be presenting “The Drunkard” this fall, bringing back one of the theater group's favorite musicals from years past. November will mark the third time the theater has performed this show, the first coming in 1987 and the second in 2003. Fifteen years later, veteran Village Players director Jay Sydow will be bringing the show back for local audiences.

“The Drunkard” made its premiere back in 1844 at the Boston Museum and had regular revivals in the following years and in 1964, Bo Herrod and a young Barry Manilow added music and brought the show to Broadway, where it ran for eight years. This temperance melodrama has a long history and the Village Players are excited to bring it back for a third time.

Sydow will be assisted in this production by assistant directors Michaela Andruzzi and Priscilla Adams, while Julie Carbone, who served as music director for “The Music Man” last fall, will be the music director and Kaylin Dean, who has choreographed many of the recent musicals, will be leading the choreography. Laura Cooper has signed on to lead the stage crew, with Catherine Collins and Cathy Fraser as producers and Cate Poole running the lights.

Auditions for “The Drunkard” will be held at 7 p.m. on Sunday, Aug. 5, and Monday, Aug. 6, at the theater. Those coming to audition are welcome to bring sheet music if they would like, but all those attending will be taught a song from the show as well as a short dance. And Sydow notes that if you are a tap dancer, feel free to bring tap shoes, as there will be a chance for those skills to be utilized. Those auditioning will also be asked to do some reading from the script as part of the audition process.

The directors will be welcoming any actors 16 and up for this show and there are parts for actors of different ages. The Village Players also want to let the younger actors in the community know that while there are no parts in “The Drunkard” for kids, they will be doing a Christmas show in December with many parts for kids (look for audition notices in early October).

Additionally, there are many roles in the production staff available, including stage crew, set construction and more. Anyone interested in any behind the scenes roles is invited to come to auditions and meet the directors.

The Drunkard will take to the Village

Players stage on Nov. 2, 3, 4, 9, 10 and 11. The Village Players Theater is located at 51

Glendon St. in downtown Wolfeboro. More information can be found at village-players.com. The Drunkard is being sponsored in part by Bruce and Kris Gural.

Winnepesaukee Wine Festival raises $21,000 for Girl Scouts of the Green and White Mountains

MEREDITH — A total of $21,000 was raised by The Common Man Family and Martignetti Companies of New Hampshire at the 13th annual Winnepesaukee Wine Festival in Meredith on June 28, to benefit Girl Scouts of the Green and White Mountains (GSGWM).

Girl Scout adult representatives were on hand at the event to welcome guests, network, and talk about opportunities as G.I.R.L.s (Go-getters, Innovators, Risk-takers, Leaders)™, along with the benefits of Girl Scouting and the positive impact they have as future leaders and advocates for change.

The night’s proceeds benefit leadership development programs for girls around New Hampshire and Vermont, as

The winner of a lake cruise and dinner reacts to the shout of “Sold!” at the Winnepesaukee Wine Festival, which took place June 28 at Church Landing at Mill Falls in Meredith. The event raised $21,000 to benefit Girl Scouts of the Green and White Mountains.

Girl Scouts participate in troop settings, learn new outdoor skills at day and resident camps, explore their interests in STEM (science, technology, engineering, and math), enact far-reaching changes through civic engagement, and take action to make positive and sustainable changes through community and council-wide events. More than 4,600 adults are registered Girl Scout members who give generously of their time and talent to ensure girls have the mentors and experiences that foster their imagination, their confidence, and their leadership. GSGWM recruits, trains and supports those volunteers, providing the resources they need to become leaders themselves.

“We are so grateful to The Common Man Family and Martignetti Companies,” said Girl Scouts of the Green and White Mountains Chief Executive Officer, Patricia Mellor. “The event was fun, delicious and a great success. What’s more, of the nearly 200 in attendance, we are so pleased to have signed up more than fifty new members of our Alumnae Association!”

The festival took place at Church Landing, where wine, craft beer and spirits from local, national and international producers were offered for tasting, along with food from The Common Man, Lakehouse Grille, Camp, Town Docks, Lago, The Corner House Inn, Ooo La La Creative Cakes, Six Burner Bistro, Ben & Jerry’s, and other local restaurants.

Silent and live auctions featuring weekend getaways, wine tastings, tickets for concerts and plays, boutique baskets and more added to the evening’s festivities.

Support of this kind provides the resources needed to provide the girl-focused and girl-led programs that make Girl Scouts the world’s premiere leadership development organization for girls. GSGWM serves more than 10,000 girls throughout New Hampshire and Vermont.

some further research including than energy audit from around 2009, Hayden said the company representative told him they were comfortable that this was going to solve the issue.

Hayden said the vapor barrier in town hall is in rough shape and the insulation is old. With last year's weather including heavy snow, wind, rain, and resulting melt-off, this was the best option. Hayden said the company representative did tell him they probably should get a contractor to make sure the ventilation is working correctly and this will fix the issues.

Benavides asked about the likelihood of the town getting some more estimates, Hayden said he has already reached out to companies in the state as well as Maine, Vermont, and Massachusetts and the only one that came back to them was this one.

Selectman Chan Eddy asked if sprayfoam insulation could be an option. Hayden said the vapor barrier is at the end of its life and it would require more invasive and involved work.

"When we discussed this last I pushed for not piecemealing it because piecemealing town hall projects has led us to this," said selectman Richard Grenier.

He said they should "do it now and do it right" and it wouldn't be as efficient to wait another year and have another ice dam. Grenier said he also wanted something that would increase the building's energy efficiency.

Hayden said if they leave it for a year they are risking potential water and ice damage.

Town Administrator Scott Dunn said he was reluctant to spend that much money. He said they have already put in a significant amount of money into town hall and said his initial impression is to see if removing the gutter would prevent ice dams forming and solve the issue. Grenier echoed Dunn's statement that the town has already invested a lot of money into the building, saying it would be better to get the efficient insulation and have possibly less energy costs.

"I certainly would not say that the money would be foolishly spent," Dunn said. "It has a lasting impact. It's just a lot of money and I wish it wasn't necessary I guess, wishful thinking."

Hayden said he also wished there was a cheaper way to do this.

The selectmen unanimously approved a motion to accept the bid for $37,480 from Quality Insulation of Meredith.

ment in Lieu of Taxes (PILOT), and administrative fees from the Gunstock Acres Village Water District.

Tax collection for 2018 started in late May through June.

"Through the end of June, it has been stronger than it has been in years past," Waring said.

He said they have so far collected 79.3 percent of taxes, or $12,999,837.

As of last Monday, the collection rate for short term investments was $15,918,746 with an additional $50,000 in accrued interest greater than anticipated.

The town's operating cash balance as of the previous Monday was $585,931.

The department has been working with some new technology. A number of different warrants, tax bills, and other forms and records were processed through the new BMSI Software.

"Certainly not without some hiccups, but all was successful by the time the tax bills were ready to go," Waring said.

So far, 14 different workstation systems have been purchased and will be replacing others. The network connectivity switches between town hall, the fire station, and the Public Works Department have all been updated. All of the town's email accounts were migrated from an in house server to Office 365. The WiFi access points have also been updated.

towns having a say in it, and I think it will turn into a quagmire."

Dunn said there is no governing body now, the program is being run by the state and the town gets a bill for it. Dunn said he agreed that having a system operated by 10 different communities would be impossible, but Phase 1 would examine what the governance structure would be. Some proposed models could include the Concord Region Solid Waste Cooperative and the Massachusetts Water Resource Authority.

"I think that either one would be better than the current system, but getting there is complicated and full of pitfalls especially (with) the lawyers in our legislature involved," Dunn said.

Dunn asked if the board had a consensus on going forward with the Phase 1 proposal.

Grenier asked if there was a point where the town could decide it doesn't want to go this route. Selectman Chan Eddy said even going with Phase 1 isn't going to commit the town further. Eddy said as an engineer he would like to see more on this going forward.

"If it means we have to spend some money to do it knowing that in the future it might save us money if we go for with it, I don't want to just say no lets not do this, lets back away from it," Eddy said. Because let's face it 14 percent is a considerable amount of money compared to what we're paying now."

The selectmen agreed by consensus to go forward with Phase 1 of the roadmap.

Pair of Nor'Easter teams win tourney titles

GILFORD — This past weekend 58 teams from around the northeast competed in the 21st Nor'Easter Classic, and this year the Nor'Easters had incredible success with the 18U and 14U teams winning the championship.

This was the first time in the tournament's existence that a Nor'Easter team came away with the title. The 16U team also fared well last weekend and made it to the quarterfinals before being knocked out on Sunday.

18U Nor'Easters
The 18U Nor'Easters had an incredible run during pool play on Friday and Saturday. It began with a 13-0 mercy rule shortened win over the Showstoppers on Friday night. On Saturday the Nor'Easters beat Maine Revere 10-0 in another mercy rule shortened game. Later in the day the team beat Brattleboro Heat 13-0, again by mercy rule.

After scoring 36 runs and giving up none in pool play, the Nor'Easters entered Sunday as the number one seed.

The team started Sunday with an 8-0 win over Blue Hills, again winning by mercy rule. The second game was 5-2 over the Comets and then the team beat the Rangers Elite by a score of 5-3 in the semifinals.

The championship game was an 8-0 mercy rule victory over the Maine Xplosion.

The 18U Nor'Easters were led by outstanding play by local athletes. Carly Catty of Winnisquam was the leadoff hitter and went 10 for 22, doing her job getting on base and setting the table for players like Jill Lachapelle of Gilford and Meeka Bolduc of Tilton. Lachapelle went seven for 17 with a homer in the cleanup spot while Bolduc hit three homers on an eight for 18 showing.

Ella Harris, who was an All-Stater in her freshman season for Gilford High School, has had a great summer for the Nor'Easters both at the plate and on the mound. She went six for 25 in the tournament and with three games on the mound she only gave up three total runs.

Coach Fern Beaudet was proud of the team, saying the defense, pitching and fielding were what led the team. He also commended them on the way they ran the bases.

This was the second straight tournament win for the 18U Nor'Easters, who previously won the 25th annual Barbara Hamilton Memorial Tournament during the weekend of July 20 and 21. The Nor'easters went

Morea wins regional water ski title

BY BOB MARTIN
Bob@Salmonpress.news

MONROE, N.Y. — Gilford High School graduate Olivia Morea has followed in her father's footsteps in water-skiing, and most recently she took first place in the Eastern Region Water Ski Championships in girls' three tricks. The tournament took place from July 26 to 28 on Twin Lakes in Monroe, N.Y. This was the second straight year she has competed in Eastern Regionals, placing second last summer. Morea explained that her run consists of side slides, wake tricks that send her airborne over the boat's wake, 180 and 360-degree spins. She admits that she is still learning despite water-skiing since she was a toddler, and knows that there are even more complicated tricks to learn. Competitively she has been involved in water skiing for only a few years, she said. Eastern Regionals involves water skiers from New England, Pennsylvania, Virginia and New York. She explained that this is a smaller region compared to the southern states. Morea competed against seven girls between 14 and 18-years-old. By winning this competition she is qualified for the Goode Water Ski National Championship. Morea said she is on the fence about whether she will compete, but last year she placed 20th. The National Championship takes place from Aug. 7 through 11 in Maize, Kansas. While Morea lives in Gilford full time near plenty of lakes, during the summer she trains on Clark Lake in Michigan. This is because her parents were from the area and her father, Daniel, has been skiing there since he was a child. She explained that waterskiing legend Tony Krupa trains her and her father on the lake. Morea's father is competing in the World Water Ski Championship this year. Morea was very happy to come away with the win this year after coming so close last summer, but most of all she said that it is the camaraderie of the event that is so special to her. "It was definitely a great feeling to win," said Morea. "I did everything I could and pulled off all my tricks. It was really nice. Part of the thing I really love about skiing is the people. It is a small community so it was great to see all them, who are all so friendly. Everyone really knows everyone."

Wernig leaves UNH with school record in hand

BY BOB MARTIN
Bob@salmonpress.news

GILFORD — During her days at Gilford High School, Emily Wernig was a standout thrower for the track and field team. The former Golden Eagle continued this trend in college, and Wernig finished her time at the University of New Hampshire as school record holder in the discus.

Wernig graduated in May with a Bachelor of Fine Arts, and had a stellar track and field career for the Wildcats. Her accolades include a first and second place finish in the discus at the America East Championship, two fifth place finishes in the discus at New England, a third and fourth place finish in the America East in the hammer throw and a sixth place finish at the America East Indoor Championship in the weight throw. She was a two time qualifier for ECACs in the discus and once for the hammer throw. Wernig also helped UNH to two America East runner up seasons.

The discus record was set in the American East Championship during her sophomore year, where Wernig took first place with a throw of 148 feet. This incredible toss is even more remarkable when comparing to her Gilford High School record throw of 117 feet just two years prior.

“I had some really good practices that spring,” said Wernig. “It was crazy because it wasn’t my goal for that year. I thought it would be something I did further along the line. But chasing after that was a big motivator.”

Wernig said after she hit the record she had a love/hate relationship with discus. She had already improved roughly four meters, she said, and this momentum was tough to keep up with. Fortunately she had hammer throw as a secondary event, which is one that was not available to her in high school.

“I really improved in that the past two years, and most recently I placed third in the ham-

Emily Wernig is the University of New Hampshire and Gilford High School record holder in the discus. She graduated from UNH this past spring after an outstanding throwing career for the Wildcats.

mer as well as second in the discus at the America East Conference meet,” said Wernig. “It was really nice to continue learning that since it was something you only throw in college. It was a nice change in training.”

Wernig explained that her love for throwing stems from her high school days. She went to a summer track and field camp and learned from coaches how to properly throw discus and hammer, and the rest is history. She looked at several colleges where she could walk on to a team and UNH was the right choice, she said.

She said she will miss the team aspect, saying that some of the girls she faced in meets in high school became her teammates that she ended up being close with. One in particular was Abbie Kaplan, who was a star thrower Franklin High School that Wernig later became teammates with at UNH.

Wernig said being close with her teammates, and sharing success, made UNH seem much smaller than it actually was.

“That is something I’ll miss,” said Wernig. “It was kind of funny to see all the New Hampshire athletes together and part of the team. A lot of these New Hampshire athletes did really well. Seeing them at smaller meets in high school and then cheering them on as teammates in college was fun.”

Her father, Joe Wernig, is the coach for Gilford High School track and field and is immensely proud of his daughter for her achievements at UNH.

“That’s quite a career for a walk on thrower from Division 3 Gilford,” he said.

Wernig said it was interesting to go from being a top athlete in a small New Hampshire school to a division one university where she was facing some of the best throwers around.

She said it was a different experience for her, as she was a three sport athlete at Gilford and switched her focus solely on throwing at UNH.

She had sound advice for the Gilford High School athletes who may have thoughts of athletics at the collegiate level.

“Enjoy it and only do it as long as you are still in love with the sport,” said Wernig. “Make sure you’re doing it for the right reasons. I’ve seen a lot of athletes go on scholarship and they got dragged down with the pressure. But if you keep that love alive it is a lot of fun to do what means so much to you.”

Edward Jones: Financial Focus

How Can You Help Your Kids Pay for College?

It's still summer, but we're getting close to a new school year. One day, though, "back-to-school" will mean "off to college" for your children. Will you be financially prepared to help your kids cope with the costs of higher education?

Your first step, of course, is to know what you're up against, so here are some numbers: For the 2017-18 academic year, college costs (tuition, fees, room and board) were, on average, nearly $21,000 for in-state students at four-year, public schools and nearly $47,000 for students attending private colleges or universities, according to the College Board. And you can probably expect even bigger price tags in the years to come.

To help prepare for these costs, you might want to consider putting your money in a vehicle specifically designed to help build assets for college, such as a 529 education savings plan. All withdrawals from 529 plans are free from federal income taxes as long as the beneficiary you've named uses the money for qualified college, trade school or graduate school expenses. Withdrawals for expenses other than qualified education expenditures may be subject to federal, state and penalty taxes on the earnings portion of your plan. (However, tax issues for 529 savings plans can be complex, so please consult your tax advisor before investing.)

You can generally invest in the 529 savings plan offered by any state, but if you invest in your own state's plan, you may be able to claim a tax deduction or receive a tax credit.

By starting your 529 plan early, when your children are just a few years old, the investments within the plan have more time for potential growth. Plus, you can make smaller contributions each year, rather than come up with big lump sums later on.

A 529 plan is not the only education-savings tool you can use, but it has proven effective for many people. Yet you may also want to consider ways to keep college costs down in the first place.

For one thing, your children may be eligible for various forms of financial aid. Some types of aid depend on your family's income, but others, such as merit-based scholarships, are open to everyone. But you don't have to wait until you get an offer from a school's financial aid office – you can explore some opportunities on your own. For example, many local and national civic and religious groups offer scholarships to promising young people, and your own employer may even provide some types of grants or assistance. Plus, your state also may offer other benefits, such as financial aid or scholarship funds. It can certainly take some digging to find these funding sources, but the effort can be worthwhile.

Here's another option for reducing college costs: Consider sending your child to a local community college for two years to get many of the "general" requirements out of the way before transferring to a four-year school for a bachelor's degree. Community colleges are typically quite affordable, and many of them offer high-quality programs.

A college degree is costly, but many people feel it's still a great investment in their children's future. And by taking the appropriate steps, you can help launch that investment.

Forge takes helm for PSU volleyball

PLYMOUTH — The Plymouth State University women’s volleyball team will begin a new era under first-year head coach Joan Forge when the Panthers kick off the 2018 season in late August. Forge revealed the upcoming schedule last week.

The Panthers, coming off a 19-win campaign and 21-straight Little East Conference (LEC) Tournament appearances, will play a 30-match schedule, which includes eight LEC contests.

PSU opens the season at the Best Western Plus – Ground Round Cardinal Classic hosted by Plattsburgh State over Labor Day weekend. Plymouth will face

Sage (4 p.m.) and Utica (6 p.m.) on Aug. 31, before meeting Mt. Saint Mary (11 a.m.) and SUNY Canton (1 p.m.) on Sept. 1. Last fall the Panthers went 2-2 at the season-opening tournament.

Plymouth State opens the home slate with a non-conference match against St. Joseph’s of Maine on Sept. 4 (6 p.m.), in advance of the fifth annual Granite State Challenge. PSU will square off against Elmira (6 p.m.) and New England College (8 p.m.) at NEC on Sept. 7, before wrapping up the tournament with matches against Rivier (12 p.m.) and Rochester Institute of Technology (4 p.m.) at Keene State on Sept. 8.

The Panthers welcome Middlebury to Foley Gymnasium on Sept. 11 (6 p.m.) leading up to a string of eight straight games on the road to wrap up September. PSU opens the LEC schedule on Sept. 15 at Western Connecticut State (12 p.m.) where it also faces Lehman (2 p.m.), then travels to Amherst on Sept. 19 (7 p.m.). PSU visits Rhode Island College for another league contest on Sept. 22 (12 p.m.), where the team will also battle Trinity (2 p.m.).

Plymouth State visits rival Keene State on Sept. 25 (7 p.m.) for another conference matchup, then closes the month with a pair of contests at Smith on Sept. 29. The Panthers open the day against Wheaton (2 p.m.), before wrapping up with the host Pioneers at 4 p.m.

PSU welcomes conference foe Southern Maine to town for its Dig Pink game on Oct. 2 (6 p.m.), then visits Endicott for a tri-match on Oct. 6. The Panthers face the Gulls at 11 a.m. before squaring off against Babson in the afternoon (1 p.m.).

UMass Boston comes to town on Oct. 10 (6 p.m.). The Beacons have knocked the Panthers out of the LEC Tournament each of the last two years on the way to eight LEC championships in nine years.

PSU hits the road for a tri-match at Wellesley on Oct. 13 (1 p.m.), which also includes a contest against Geneseo (11 a.m.), then heads back into league action on Oct. 19 at Eastern Connecticut State (6 p.m.).

The Panthers play a pair of matches on Oct. 20 as part of the annual Hall of Fame Tournament hosted by Amherst and Smith. Plymouth’s opponents and match times for the tournament have yet to be announced.

Plymouth State hosts Castleton for the first LEC meeting between the two schools on Oct. 23 (6 p.m.), before visiting in-state rival Colby-Sawyer on Oct. 25 (7 p.m.). PSU wraps up the regular season with a Senior Day match against UMass Dartmouth on Oct. 27 (12 p.m.).

The top six finishers in the regular season will advance to the LEC Tournament with first round action on Oct. 30. The top two seeds earn byes to the semifinals, with the third and fourth seeds hosting the opening round. The top overall seed will host the Final Four, with semifinals set for Nov. 2 and the championship game slated for Nov. 3.

Refer to athletics.plymouth.edu for the most current information regarding all 24 of Plymouth State’s athletic programs, as schedules are subject to change.

2-1 in pool play.

The first game was a blowout 16-0 victory over the White Comets. Catty was three for three with a double and four RBIs and Lachapelle was two for three with a double and two RBIs. Bolduc was three for three with an RBI and Harris was one for three.

The second game was a 7-5 loss to the Vermont Storm. Catty was one for one with a walk, Lachapelle was two for three with an RBI and Bolduc was one for three with an RBI.

Game three was a 14-1 win over the Northeast Extreme. Lachapelle led the way with a homer and two RBIs one committing zero errors.

“Overall great hitting by the Nor’Easters team,” said Beaudet who was proud of the .529 average posted in the series. “Good pitching and defense made it an overall great weekend of softball.”

14U Nor’Easters

The 14U Nor’Easters went 7-0 over the weekend en route to the team’s first ever championship at its host event.

On Friday the Nor’Easters beat the Plymouth Thundercats 4-0 with Lilly Simpson of Meredith getting a complete game shutout win. In the first inning Sierra Halligan doubled and knocked in a run to get the scoring started. While I was a tight game throughout, strong pitching gave the Nor’Easters the advantage.

Simpson allowed a hit and struck out seven while walking zero.

Jaiden McKenna of Gilford, Kara Stephens of Belmont, Norah Dunleavy of Laconia, Sierra Halligan of Laconia and Gwendolyn O’Keefe of Sugar Hill picked up hits. Rebecca Fleming of Belmont played solid defense with seven chances and no errors.

On Saturday the Nor’Easters dominated the Danvers Falcons 10-1 thanks mostly to a big five run second inning. Morgan Hall of Belmont allowed one hit and no runs while striking out six batters. Fleming and Dunleavy had multiple hits in the game, with Fleming going three for four to lead the team’s offense.

The Nor’Easters then beat South Shore Chaos 3-1 with pitching allowing only five hits. Simpson was the star in the circle allowing three hits and striking out four batters over five innings.

The team was ranked first out of 16 teams heading into Sunday and in a field of tough competition, coach Bill Clary said the Nor’Easters were playing their best. The team won the finals 5-1 over the Showstoppers.

Hall won the championship game and the quarterfinal game, while Simpson was the winner on the mound in the semifinals. He said both pitchers were outstanding over the weekend, and it was a time where Lakes Region athletes shined.

“Fern and I have been fighting on who was the first one to win this,” joked Clary. “The Nor’Easters have never won their own tournament so was really good for both teams to win this for the first time.”

Clary said winning the home tournament was a great feeling. While it took 21 years to have a host team win, he said it was great to see this group win it because many of them are local girls.

16U Nor’Easters

The 16U Nor’Easters lost in the quarterfinals in the tournament. The team went 2-1 in pool play and then went 1-1 on Sunday before being knocked out. The coaches were unavailable for a comment at press time, but Clary said he is proud of the team. His daughter Caitlin Clary is an assistant coach for the 16U squad.

“I’m extremely proud of them,” said Clary. “I’ve been with the Nor’Easters for a long time and this was a really great weekend for my family.”
