

Marilyn Manson wanted in Gilford for alleged assault

Gilford police have issued an arrest warrant for singer Marilyn Manson stemming from an incident in which he allegedly spit on a videographer during a performance at the Bank of New Hampshire Pavilion in 2019.

Gilford Police have an arrest warrant out for rocker Marilyn Manson after allegedly spitting on a professional videographer during a 2019 show at Bank of New Hampshire Pavilion.

Gilford PD made a Facebook post on Tuesday about the outstanding warrant against the singer, whose real name is Brian Hugh Warner. The warrant is for two counts of Class A Misdemeanor Simple Assault, which carry a sentence of less than one year in prison and a $2,000 fine.

The warrant stems from a concert at the Pavilion on Aug. 18, 2019. Gilford Police Chief Anthony Bean Burpee said police are not giving any specific details, but confirmed reports that it involved Manson allegedly spitting on a videographer. The videographer, who had been subcontracted to film the show by a New Hampshire-based company, was in the stage's pit area at the time of the alleged incident.

The videographer filed a complaint with police the day after the show. Bean Burpee said after an investigation an arrest warrant affidavit was prepared by the investigating officer. The affidavit was reviewed by bail commissioner and probable cause was found. The warrant was issued on Oct. 8, 2019.

Bean Burpee said they haven't heard from the singer or his attorneys since, and have tried to contact them multiple times. He said they last reached out in January of 2020 with no contact.

"Mr. Warner, his agent and legal counsel have been aware of the warrant for some time and no effort has been made by him to return to New Hampshire to answer the pending charges," read the Facebook post.

Bean Burpee said in light of a number of women alleging that Manson assaulted them, Gilford Police decided to go public with this outstanding warrant.

Gilford Police emphasized in a statement that the issuance of a warrant is not a presumption of guilt. They also noted in a statement that the alleged assault is related to state law regarding "unprivileged physical contact with another" and is not sexual in nature in light of the recent accusations against Manson.

Manson's attorney Howard E. King issued a statement that has appeared in several media outlets:

"It is no secret to anyone who has attended a Marilyn Manson concert that he likes to be provocative on stage, especially in front of a camera," read the statement. "This misdemeanor claim was pursued after we received a demand from a venue videographer for more than $35,000 after a small amount of spit came into contact with their arm. After we asked for evidence of any alleged damages, we never received a reply. This whole claim is ludicrous, but we remain committed to cooperating with authorities, as we have done throughout."

Bean Burpee said Manson's attorney might call the charges "ludicrous" but said there is an alleged victim who has been waiting for over a year.

Seasonal speed limit in effect on section of Route 11

BY ERIN PLUMMER
mnews@salmonpress.news

A section of Route 11 will now be a 35-mile-per-hour zone starting June 1 until the end of September after approval from the state.

The Gilford Police Department announced on its Facebook page that a section of Route 11 (Lakeshore Road) from the Ellacoya Bar and Grille to the Gilford/Alton town line will be reduced from 40 mph to 35 from starting on June 1 and lasting through Sept. 30.

That section of road is known for being congested over the summer. Last November the board of selectmen approved a motion to petition the Department of Transportation for a seasonal speed limit from Memorial Day and Labor Day. Police chief Anthony Bean Burpee presented the proposal to the selectmen after meeting with Public Works director Meghan Theriault and Planning and Land Use director John Ayer.

The town didn't receive any response on the petition for months and Executive Councilor Joe Kenney agreed to talk with the DOT about the proposal. The state did get back to the town on the matter, giving a list of conditions that would need to be met before the request was approved. The approval was announced on the Gilford PD's Facebook page on Tuesday.

The speed limit change was initially proposed to go to 30, though the approved limit was 35.

"NHDOT utilizes a metric from other NH jurisdictions with similar speed reductions to determine that speeds should only be reduced by 6 mph or less," the Facebook post read.

New signs were posted in that area that will have a slightly different design than usual speed signs. Public Works posted photos of the new signs on its Facebook page showing the signs will have a yellow section on the top saying "Seasonal."

Police officers will also be out in that area enforcing the new speed limit and educating the public about the change.

Gandini dominates distances at Division III State Meet

Abby Shute tries to clear the bar during the pole vault at the Division III State Meet last week.

GILFORD — Members of the Gilford track team didn't have to travel far for the Division III State Meet, as Gilford High School played host to the championships on Tuesday, May 25, and Wednesday, May 26.

This year, to keep the number of athletes to a minimum, the meet was divided into two meets, with the girls competing first on Tuesday and the boys following on Wednesday.

The story of the boys' State Meet was Patrick Gandini, as the Gilford sophomore claimed the title in the three distance events.

Gandini started the day with a win in the 1,600 meters, crossing in a time of 4:48.31.

Next up was the 800 meters, where he finished in a time of 1:58.46.

Gandini finished up the day with the win in the 3,200 meters, crossing in a time of 10:18.42. Teammate Aiden Bon-daz finished in seventh place in a time of 11:05.77.

The 4X800-meter Golden Eagle boys finished in seventh place in a time of 9:28.01.

In the pole vault, Nick Arenstam finished in 11th place and Anthony Haddocks finished in 12th place, with both clearing eight feet. Had-docks was also eighth in the javelin with a toss of 145 feet, five inches.

Catherine Stow had a solid day on the track. The Golden Eagle junior finished fifth in the 800 meters with a time of 2:28.59 and also took fourth in the 1,600 meters with a time of 5:24.77. Coach Joe Wernig reported that both times were personal best for Stow.

Freshman Abby Shute finished in 10th place in the pole vault, clearing seven feet.

Traffic issues, cable consortium among selectmen's updates

BY ERIN PLUMMER
mnews@salmonpress.news

Updates on traffic control by the Gilford East Drive Dunkin Donuts, the progress of the cable TV consortium, and some air conditioning issues at town hall were some of the topics of discussion during the recent selectmen's meeting.

The Gilford selectmen met in a brief meeting on Wednesday to discuss a variety of agenda items.

The town is continuing to work with the Gilford East Drive Dunkin Donuts on addressing traffic problems as a result of long lines and backups at the drive through.

The selectmen and police have been discussing the situation for a while and talking about options to mitigate the backups by the drive thru. At a previous meeting the town reported they were talking with the owners of that Dunkin Donuts location and the company's traffic engineers about ways to work on the issue.

The selectmen submitted some suggestions to Dunkin's including having two drive throughs to spread out the line and putting a sign out letting people know the lobby is open for ordering. The town has also ordered signs that say "No Stopping, Standing, and Parking" along that area.

The consortium of Lakes Region communities working on the cable franchise agreement with Atlantic Broadband is mostly put together. Town administrator Scott Dunn said about eight out of the nine towns have gotten approval from their governing bodies to be part

Anticipation growing for Progressive Laconia Motorcycle Week®

LACONIA — Take a stroll anywhere near Weirs Beach these days and you can sense the excitement building for this year’s Progressive Laconia Motorcycle Week®. The “Bikers Welcome” signs are already up in the windows of many local shops and hotels, with restaurants putting the final touches on sprucing up their establishments for the anticipated crowds. Any other year you would be more likely to hear the word “brace” when asking a local what they do to get ready, but this year, the vibe is a little bit different.

“In my 22 years working with Laconia Motorcycle Week, I’ve never seen anything like it,” explains Jennifer Anderson, Deputy Director. “We’re getting a huge number of people who skipped last year’s rally, either because they couldn’t get here during the rescheduled August dates, or just didn’t feel comfortable being around large numbers of people during the pandemic, and now, they are geared up and excited to finally be coming back. Couple that with the growing sense of excitement we’re all feeling about getting outside and feeling safe again, and you’ve got the perfect recipe for a Motorcycle Week like we’ve never seen before.”

Much of the buzz around this year’s rally can be attributed to the fact that, until recently, no one really knew what the event would look like or if it would really happen at all given the ever-changing guidelines and restrictions hovering around COVID-19. Thanks to the vaccines, and the tireless work by local and state officials, the 98th Progressive Laconia Motorcycle Week® was officially declared a “go” in early May, with few if any restrictions for vendors, bars, and other businesses.

Many inns, hotels and campgrounds are filling up if not full already and visitors are encouraged to make their reservations NOW! If visitors are having a hard time getting a reservation, the Laconia Motorcycle Week Association recommends people consider altering travel days or expanding the lodging search elsewhere in New Hampshire and commuting into Weirs Beach. In addition to Laconia-MCWeek.com and VisitNH.gov, The Lakes Region Tourism Association and Lakes Region Chamber of Commerce are great resources for all travel needs.

Adds Jenn, “The City of Laconia is excited to host another historic event as we continue the countdown to our 100th rally. We welcome all, no matter where you’re coming from, and urge everyone to be safe, respectful and, most importantly, have fun!”

Be sure to keep checking the events page on the official site of Progressive Laconia Motorcycle Week® laconiamicweek.com for more information about this year’s rally.

Laconia Motorcycle Week® gives great appreciation to all of our sponsors, especially our Presenting Sponsors: Progressive, AMSOIL and Team Motorcycle, as well as the State of New Hampshire for their large financial support of our rally each year.

Lions to host electronic waste collection

Got an old computer collecting dust in your closet, or a broken air conditioner sitting on the back porch? What do you do with such items when you replace them? Everything from laptops, phones and computers to TVs cost a fortune to haul away.

Turn all that junk over to the Laconia-Gilford Lions Club during their Electronic Waste Collection Day fundraising event which will be held on Saturday, April 11 in the Cinemas 8 parking lot in Gilford (9 Old Lake Shore Rd.) from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Note: this is a new location as of a couple of years ago. For a small disposal fee (most items are $5), not only will we take your old electronic items off your hands, we will recycle them. The disposal charge is almost always less than the prices at local transfer stations. Cash or checks will be accepted but not debit or credit cards.

Just bring your electronics to Cinemas 8 parking lot, 9 Old Lakeshore Rd. in Gilford, on Saturday, June 5 between 8:30 a.m. and 12:30 p.m. Lions Club members will even help you unload them! You do not have to be a resident of Laconia or Gilford to take advantage of this fundraiser - it is open to everyone.

Items you may want to consider dropping off are laptops, PC towers, PC LCD monitors, servers, CD/DVD players, camcorders, AV equipment, VCRs, speakers, copiers, faxes, scanners, printers, phones (land and cell), phone systems, humidifiers and computer accessories (all $5).

In addition, we will also take microwaves, air conditioners, dehumidifiers (all $10), CRT monitors less than 50 pounds and TVs less than 25 inches ($20), TVs 26 inches and larger ($30). For TVs needing more than one person to lift or CRT monitors over 50 pounds, the item will be weighed on site and price determined. Anything with a cord not listed will also be accepted.

cepting Teflon pots and pans for $1.

You cannot drop off: smoke detectors, oils, paints, thinners, batteries (except car batteries), tires, items containing mercury such as fluorescent and CFL light bulbs or thermometers, capacitors, ballasts, or any other hazardous waste.

Don't miss this opportunity or you'll be storing these things another year - "Don't throw it out, Recycle it!" You'll not only help the environment by disposing of your unwanted electronics responsibly but also help the Lions, the largest service organization in the world, raise funds to meet pressing needs in our community: eye exams, eye glasses, hearing aids, food pantries, college scholarships, holiday food baskets for needy families, youth sports programs, are just a few of the local charitable organizations that we assist. All that for a disposal fee that, in most cases, is less than the cost at local transfer stations.

The Laconia-Gilford Lions Club appreciates your help with their Electronic Waste Collection Day fundraising event and wishes to thank in advance everyone who contributes to making a real difference in our community.

Look for the yellow Lions' vests on Saturday, June 5 from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. at the Gilford Cinemas 8 parking lot. No matter how large or small, every item adds up!

Edward Jones: Financial Focus

Financial tips for the self-employed

Being self-employed has some benefits: You get to choose your own hours, you don't have to count "vacation days" and you'll never worry about getting downsized. On the other hand, you're truly on your own - there's no employer-sponsored retirement plan and no benefits package. So, if you've recently started a business or become a "gig worker," possibly due to the COVID-19 pandemic, what can you do to get on the road to financial security?

- There are several steps you can take, including the following:
- Establish a budget. When you're self-employed - and especially when you're first starting out - you need to keep tight control over where your money is going. So, establish a budget and stick to it.
 - Open a retirement plan. As a self-employed individual, you can choose a retirement plan, such as a SEP-IRA, a SIMPLE-IRA or an "owner-only" 401(k). When your earnings are limited, you can contribute modest amounts to any of these plans, but when your income rises, you can boost your contributions. While these retirement plans have some things in common, including tax-deferred growth of earnings, they differ in other areas, such as contribution limits, and one plan may be more suitable for you than another, depending on whether you have employees. You may want to consult with a financial advisor to determine which plan is best for your needs.

- Build an emergency fund. When you work for a business or other organization, your income is predictable - but that's usually not the case when you're self-employed. And when your earnings are uneven, you can be vulnerable to financial stress when you face an unexpected expense. To help protect yourself from these threats, try to gradually build an emergency fund containing a few months' worth of living expenses, with the money kept in a liquid, low-risk account.

- Pay down your debts. Some debts, such as loans to help your business, may be unavoidable - and even productive. But other debts, especially those that can't be deducted from your taxes and carry a high interest rate, are far less useful, so you may want to set up a repayment plan. With your other expenses, you might not be able to whittle these debts down as fast you'd like, but, over time, your efforts can pay off.
- Put money aside for taxes. Because no employer is withholding taxes from your paychecks, you will likely have to make quarterly estimated payments. Plus, you're responsible for all your Social Security taxes, which, if you worked for someone else, would be split between you and your employer. To make sure you've got enough money available to pay your taxes, you might want to set up a special account - one that's not used for any other purpose.

- Get proper insurance. Depending on the nature of your work, you may or may not need some type of business insurance, but if you have a family, you should certainly consider the need for life insurance, and you may also want to consider disability insurance.

Self-employment can be quite fulfilling - and you'll find it even more rewarding when you make the right financial moves.

A history of Memorial Day

When Memorial Day was first celebrated in the aftermath of the Civil War, it was known as Decoration Day. Youngsters would place flowers in cemeteries while they sang songs and honored those lost due to war. The Civil War, that ended in 1865 took the lives of more people than any other war in the history of the United States, the estimate is roughly 620,000 — the Union losing 365,000 and the Confederacy 260,000. History says that more than half of these losses came as the result of disease. As a result, the first national cemeteries were created.

In 1868, General John A. Logan, the leader of an organization for Northern Civil War veterans, called for a nationwide day to honor fallen soldiers. General James Garfield gave a speech at Arlington National Cemetery on the first Decoration Day and the more than 5,000 people in attendance decorated more than 2,000 graves, both Union and Confederate.

The holiday as we all know is celebrated on the last Monday in May, and became an official holiday in the year 1971. Parades across the country take place, and people visit cemeteries where family members who have served in the military have been laid to rest.

At 3 p.m. every year, a moment of silence takes place across the country. In December of 2000, President Bill Clinton signed the “National Moment of Remembrance Act,” which designated the time be at 3 p.m. In 1966, the government marked Waterloo, N.Y. as the official birthplace of Memorial Day. In Waterloo, every business in town would shut their doors and owners would venture out to decorate graves with flags as well as flowers.

Originally, Decoration Day was intended to honor those lost in just the Civil War. After WWI America felt the need, and rightfully so, to honor all those lost serving their country. During the Great War (also known as the First World War), 116,516 Americans died, and 405,399 were lost during WWII. The Korean War took 36,574 lives, and the Vietnam War cost 58,220 lives. A total of 4,411 were lost in Operation Iraqi Freedom, 73 in Operation New Dawn, 2,346 as the result of Operation Enduring Freedom, 48 in Operation Freedom’s Sentinel and 61 in Operation Inherent Resolve.

An estimated 38 million people in America traveled over the holiday weekend, and two and a half million travelers will board flights. Memorial Day is the fourth busiest travel day of the year.

In New York, Washington, D.C., and Chicago you can find the largest parades in the country. Because of the three-day weekend, many Americans were expected to throw parties and barbecues or head out of town for a mini getaway.

North Country Notebook

When Spring Street meant just that, and the highway was not the by-way

By JOHN HARRIGAN
COLUMNIST

Editor’s note: Mr. Harrigan was unable to submit a new North Country Notebook column in time to meet our press deadline for this week’s edition. The following column was originally published in June 2020.

There are streets, and then there are roads. Nary the twain should meet, but they often do. The thing is, the two terms are not interchangeable.

They also are not mutually exclusive. Confusion reigns, particularly in the media. Just recently, I saw an absolutely fine piece on cow-plop derbies. It was not at all damaged by the author’s confusion of “road” with “street.” Only a curmudgeon editor would notice (that would be me).

The street I grew up on, Park Street, is a street within the village precinct. But when it leaves downtown, it becomes what most people called it in our growing-up years, the Hollow Road. That’s because it went to Stewartstown Hollow. Map-readers and sign-observers know it as Route 145, otherwise known as the back road to Pittsburg, although it really isn’t (there are other truly “back roads”).

Similarly, Route 3 comes straight through town, but to us it’s Main Street, our main thoroughfare. Thus, we engage in good-natured struggles with state officials whenever we want to shut it down and detour traffic for one festival or another.

Spring Street got its name from a hillside loaded with ice-cold, year-round springs that were a good and reliable source of water during settlement times. Titus Hill Road veers off from it, and from beginning to end is a road, not a street.

Confusing the two terms is a dead giveaway that you’re from Somewhere Else, or as the joking around goes, “The Other,” which is the extreme version of the Downeast Maine term, “From Away.”

If I go over to check my mailbox, I’m crossing the road. If I go downtown and park across from the post office, I’m crossing the street.

Street, road—they’re often the same, in fact and name, but there’s a difference. Either way, no matter where you’re from or live, From Away or From Here, you’d better look both ways twice.

Frost-heaves, that bane of old roads that should never have forced-morphed into tarred high-ways, are a fading memory as the climbing June sun draws the cold from the earth.

In my town, as in many towns, the old road into town was bypassed by a newer road, a true high-way, so-called because it was constructed on built-up ground, hence the term “high way.” In many towns, on both sides of the Atlantic, highways were built on mud and gravel dredged or scraped or dug and hauled by ox-led dump-carts from either side of the right of way.

In New England, cedar logs and the trunks of other slow-to-rot trees were laid side-by-side across boggy areas, hence the term “corduroy road.” The final topping in coastal regions was often smashed-up sea-shells, which wagon wheels would compress into relatively smooth going.

As European settlement leap-frogged on up the rivers, New Englanders became more ingenious about keeping their roads high and dry. They did not have the wherewithal to cross miles of low-lying, valuable tillage land on the valley’s floor anyway.

Farmers often considered a road a waste of good land. And for what? Saving time—one of their cheaper commodities at the time, another being labor. Still, this view of a road as a waste of land persisted well into the last century. As a young lawyer, my Dad represented the current generation of a frontier farm family in a suit for damages during the re-routing of Route 3 across good, tillable bottomland north of town.

If travelers on just about any of today’s highways look left or right, they’ll often see remnants of the old road, snaking along the contour line. These old high-ways were laid out well above the annual spring floods, when the meadows did what floodplains are supposed to do—act as the safety valve that avoids havoc where the valley narrows.

Once every June, my brother Peter and I biked from Park Street

all the way through town and down to South Main Street, just beyond the oldest timber-framed house in town. We ventured there to meet our maternal grandparents, Ruth and Merton White, on their annual pilgrimage all the way up from Concord.

They had stopped in Lancaster to call ahead, as usual, so we could time our rendezvous. It was a big time for Pete and me, biking clear across town and beyond, with grandparents thrown in for good measure.

Eventually, Gramp White’s beautiful dark-green Pontiac Straight-Eight came down the hill from the Shrine of Our Lady of Grace, and up the road into Colebrook, and stopped where two buzz-headed kids were jumping up and down in delight.

They had left Concord at about 9:30, as usual. They had pulled over into a shaded picnic area just north of Franconia Notch, for (of course) a picnic. The shaded pull-out, minus the picnic table, is still there.

And then, a couple of hours later, there they were, on the southern approach to town, otherwise known as Route 3, the Daniel Webster Highway, also known, a bit farther on, as Main Street. And the trip had taken them, Concord to Colebrook (picnic included) about six hours, give or take a piece of cake or two.

Loon Cam streaming live

A loon incubates an egg on the Loon Preservation Committee's Live Loon Cam.

MOULTONBOROUGH — The Loon Preservation Committee (LPC) is now broadcasting a 24/7 live Loon Cam. The Loon Cam, which is in its seventh year of operation, features a pair of loons nesting in the Lakes Region of New Hampshire. The loons laid their first egg on May 24, and if all goes well, biologists expect chicks to hatch from June 19-21. Viewers can tune in to watch as the loons incubate their eggs and interact with one another and with the other wildlife species that they share the lake with.

Longtime LPC volunteer and Loon Cam

Operator, Bill Gassman, noted the social value that the Loon Cam had in 2020, when many people were confined to their homes due to the Covid-19 pandemic.

"In many ways, watching the Loon Cam became an escape for our viewers. Watching the loons carry on with their normal nesting routine, as well as being able to immerse themselves in the peaceful lake setting, seemed to be a much needed respite from everything else that was going on in the world last spring," he said.

Gassman also noted that the Loon Cam has an active chat community, which allows viewers to share events that happen on the camera, connect, and socialize over their love of the birds.

LPC hopes that the Loon Cam will help to educate the public about New Hampshire's loons and the threats that they face while on our lakes.

"Over the course of the breeding season, loons face a variety of challenges," says LPC Senior Biologist and Executive Director, Harry Vogel. "These include natural threats like dealing with swarms of black flies or predation, but also many human-caused threats, such as lead poisoning resulting from the ingestion of lead fishing tackle, fishing line entanglement that renders loons unable to eat or keep their feathers waterproofed, boat strikes, and nest failures due to human recreational pressure. If the Loon Cam can help to get more people to care about loons and become interested in protecting them, then we've done our job."

Those interested in viewing the Loon Cam can do so at loon.org/looncam.

The Loon Preservation Committee monitors loons throughout the state as part of its mission to restore and maintain a healthy population of loons in New Hampshire; to monitor the health and productivity of loon populations as sentinels of environmental quality; and to promote a greater understanding of loons and the natural world.

Comfort Keepers

Malnutrition: A serious concern for seniors

BY MARTHA SWATS
Owner/Administrator
Comfort Keepers

One out of every two older adults is at risk of becoming malnourished.

We all know that we feel better when we eat well. Good eating habits, and being mindful of healthy eating goals, can improve mental and physical health, and give us the energy we need to do the activities we love.

Unfortunately, too many seniors are not having their nutritional needs met. Changes in our bodies as we age, and changing dietary needs, can make healthy eating more difficult for older adults.

One in three hospital patients is malnourished upon admission and almost one-third of U.S. patients (31 percent) experiences declines in nutritional status while in the hospital.

The health risks associated with malnutrition can be especially concerning for seniors. Symptoms can include:

Weakened immune system

Poor wound healing
Muscle weakness
Weight loss
Dental issues

If engaging in good eating habits is a struggle, there are steps anyone can take to ensure that they are getting proper nutrition. In addition to consulting a physician about diet or health concerns, they can also try the following tactics to get back on the right track:

Make meals a social occasion – Sharing a meal is one of the most enjoyable ways to ensure that someone is eating well. This can look like making something healthy and delicious for others or reaching out to people that love to cook healthy food and offering them your company.

Make healthy eating fit your budget – Good food doesn't have to be expensive. A doctor or nutritionist can point patients to budget friendly, nutritious food options. And, maintaining a healthy lifestyle saves money on medical care in the future.

Shop for healthy foods – Having a kitchen stocked with healthy snacks and meal options is one of the most important steps to maintaining a balanced diet.

Encourage people to ask for help – If someone you know has concerns about their ability to plan healthy meals, shop for the groceries or if they just aren't getting the nutrition they need, tell them to ask for help! In-home caregivers, delivery services, family, friends and medical professionals can all help older adults reach their nutrition goals.

For those concerned about their nutrition, or the eating habits of a senior loved one, speaking to a medical professional is critical.

NH LAKES LakeSmart Service Provider Partner Program kicks off

CONCORD — NH LAKES is building a team of lake-friendly living service providers that property owners can easily access in their region to help keep the lakes the live near clean and healthy. So far, 12 businesses have joined the team.

“Over the years, most people I’ve met don’t really know how their actions affect the health of our lakes,” comments Andrea LaMoreaux, NH LAKES President, reflecting on the past twenty years she’s spent working in lake conservation. “I’ve also learned that most people want to know what they can do to help keep the lake they love and enjoy, clean and healthy. That’s why I was so excited to launch the LakeSmart Program—to help property owners find out how to live in a lake-friendly way.”

Through the NH LAKES LakeSmart Program, property owners receive tailored recommendations about adopting lake-friendly living practices in their home, on their property, and along and on the lake. “Often, we provide relatively simple, do-it-yourself recommendations to property owners,” LaMoreaux explains. “But, sometimes the projects can be big and complicated, or property owners just don’t have the time or interest in doing it themselves. That’s why we’re launching the LakeSmart Service Provider Partner Program this year.”

LakeSmart Service Provider Partners pledge do their work in a way that supports clean and healthy lakes and to help their clients live in a lake-friendly way. Depending on what services they provide, there are various trainings they must take to participate in LakeSmart.

NH LAKES is pleased to welcome aboard their first team of LakeSmart Service Provider Partners and encourages you to reach out to them with your lake-friendly living needs! Please see below and find out more at nhlakes.org/lakesmart.

Town to talk with the state about expanded handicapped parking at Glendale

BY ERIN PLUMMER
mnews@salmonpress.news

The town will talk with the state about designating a small section of their land on Glendale as handicap parking for boat trailers at the request of a resident.

Resident Bob Galeckas spoke with the selectmen during Wednesday’s meeting about the possibility of designating a few spots in a state-owned area of the parking lot by the Lyon’s Den. Galeckas said he spoke with Town Administrator Scott Dunn about this possibility and Dunn told him to come to the selectmen’s meeting that night.

He gave the board pictures of an area near the Lyons Den where those spaces could be put in. He said the area is a sharp drop that is basically dead space not being used for anything. The area, however, is owned by the state. Galeckas aside the board to talk to the state and potentially have those areas used for handicap parking for vehicles with trailers.

Galeckas said he has been to a number of boat ramps that had these kinds of spaces, including a few on Squam.

All members of the board supported the idea and agreed by consensus to talk with the state about that area. Board Chair Gus Benavides said they would send a letter to the state about this idea.

“We all recognize that it’s state property, we would have to get the state’s permission from it but we appreciate the fact that you brought this to our attention and let’s see what we can do,” Benavides said.

Selectman Chan Eddy also suggested contacting the Glendale Committee about this proposal.

Resident Jim Barry

also supported the idea as a frequent user of the docks. He questioned if the town should get the Glendale Committee involved in this as it’s a matter between the town and the state. Eddy and Benavides said they did want to contact the committee so they’re aware of the proposal.

Goldman earns prestigious Certified Public Safety Executive Professional designation

Jon Goldman

LACONIA — Lakes Region Mutual Fire Aid provides 24x7 professional Fire/EMS Emergency Communications Dispatch services and mutual aid coordination to 35 communities in the Lakes Region of New Hampshire.

LRMFA Chief Coordinator Jonathan M.

Goldman has successfully completed the coursework necessary to achieve the professional designation as a Certified Public Safety Executive (CPE).

The CPE designation, conferred by the Association of Public Safety Officials (APCO), is the only executive leadership program focused specifically on the public safety communications profession. It consists of two 12-week online courses in addition to a ten-day capstone seminar.

The first of the online courses begins with an introduction to leadership concepts, leadership issues, models of leadership and leadership in the 21st century. The second course explores how leaders provide vision, manage change, and ensure accountability. The program culminates with the capstone course, during which participants draw on what they have learned during the program to tackle challenging case studies.

“We are the leaders of our industry. We are the ones that need to forge ahead and make the changes we want to see,” class president Tammy Wright, of the Berlin,

Conn. Police Department, said. “We need to lead our profession into the next generation by being brave leaders who create courageous cultures.”

Achieving this designation signifies Chief Goldman’s commitment to his career in emergency communications, and public safety dispatch. Chief Goldman is the only CPE in New Hampshire, and one of only 125 graduates of the CPE program in the United States, with only five CPE’s in New England.

of this and they are waiting for one more.

Dunn said the air conditioning wasn't working in town hall.

In November of last year, the board approved replacing the copper pipes with plastic ones for a good price. He said the contractor is a little behind schedule.

There was a repair issue on the air conditioning system in the police station. Dunn said the system was turned on and one of the units was leaking freon. After some work most of the station is air conditioned save for the chief's office.

"We are working diligently to get the rest of this building air conditioning going as well," Dunn said.

Board Chair Gus Benavides also publicly praised the DPW and GMI Paving for their roadwork, saying Scenic Road especially was looking great.

"What they've done in these last couple of weeks is phenomenal; it's great," Benavides said.

He also praised the DPW for its posts on social media asking the general public and contractors to take care of the road.

Gilford softball closes regular season with wins over Laconia

BY JOSHUA SPAULDING
Sports Editor

GILFORD — The Gilford softball team took care of neighboring Laconia twice last week, riding the strong right arm of pitcher Ella Harris along the way.

At Laconia on Monday, May 24, the Golden Eagles picked up the 13-0 win, scoring four in the first and never looking back. They added one in the third, three in the fourth and five in the sixth to close things out.

Thirteen was the lucky number for the Gilford girls, as they scored their 13 runs on 13 hits and Harris finished with 13 strikeouts.

In the first, Millie Caldon led off with a single and scored on a double by Maddie McKenna, Harris singled and a Kim Daigneault single scored both Maddie McKenna and courtesy runner Jessica Gannon. Madi Cusello added a fielder's choice to plate the fourth run.

In the fourth, Marlow Mikulis walked and moved up on a bunt by Caldon before scoring on a passed ball. Maddie McKenna walked, Jaiden McKenna singled and a Harris base hit scored both of them.

In the sixth, Jaiden McKenna singled, Harris doubled to drive her in, Daigneault singled and Cusello added a two-run single to keep the inning going. After a pair of errors, Caldon laced a two-run double to finish off the scoring.

Harris allowed just one hit in the outing.

NHSaves Virtual Button Up Workshop presented by Gilmanton Energy Committee

GILMANTON — Button Up New Hampshire, the popular home energy savings workshop series is coming virtually to the Gilmanton Area. It will take place on Zoom with screen and audio over the internet, on Tuesday June 8 from 7-8:30 p.m., including a live Q and A time. The workshop is hosted by the Gilmanton Energy Committee, The Gilmanton Library and Solarize Gilmanton and it is sponsored by NHSaves and coordinated statewide by the Plymouth Area Renewable Energy Initiative (PAREI).

NHSaves is a collaboration of New Hampshire's electric and natural gas utilities (Eversource, Liberty Utilities, NH Electric Cooperative and Unitil). The utilities are working together to provide NH customers with information, incentives, and support designed to save energy, reduce costs, and protect the New Hampshire environment.

PAREI of Plymouth is working with local groups around the state to bring these workshops to the public on behalf of New Hampshire's utilities.

This NHSaves Button Up Workshop is a one-and-a-half-hour presentation about how to improve the energy efficiency of your home. It is conducted by a certified energy auditor and covers basic building science principles as well as examples of whole house weatherization measures that will button up your home for the heating and cooling seasons. It also covers details about the energy efficiency programs offered by NH utilities (for existing homes and new construction) that provide energy audits, weatherization measures such as air sealing and insulating and rebates on new technologies and products such as electric and gas appliances and high efficiency electric heating/cooling equipment.

Daigneault had three hits and two RBIs to pace the offense, while Caldon had two hits, including a double and three RBIs, Maddie McKenna had a pair of hits and Harris had a pair of hits and three RBIs.

On Thursday, Gilford came through with a 7-1 win over Laconia, with Harris again striking out 13 batters and giving up just three hits and three walks. Gilford scored six runs in the third.

After Laconia scored in the top of the first, Gilford tied things in the bottom of the second. Harris singled and courtesy runner Claire Bartley scored on Cusello's fielder's choice.

In the third, Gilford had five singles in a row, starting with Maura Hughes, continuing with Caldon, Maddie McKenna, Jaiden McKenna and Harris. After a Cusello sacrifice fly, Lauren Nash-Boucher added an RBI single.

Coach Joan Forge also noted the team had a number of great defensive plays, with catcher Jaiden McKenna throwing out a runner at home following a passed ball and Daigneault making a diving catch at first base.

Harris had two hits and two RBIs to pace the offense.

The Golden Eagles were slated to open the Division III tournament after deadline Monday at Somersworth. The winner of that game moved on to take on Raymond after deadline Wednesday, while the quarterfinals are Saturday, June 5, against either Prospect Mountain, St. Thomas or Campbell.
