Community celebrates Birch Ridge preservation

NEW DURHAM — The sun was shining and the mood was celebratory on a beautiful July Saturday morning in New Durham. The 2,000-acre Birch Ridge Community Forest had been successfully purchased and conserved just two weeks before and nearly 100 members of the New Durham community, Southeast Land Trust of New Hampshire (SELT), Merrymeeting Lake Association (MMLA) and Moose Mountains Regional Greenways (MMRG) were gathered to celebrate and to enjoy scenic walks on the property.

The morning began with Merrymeeting Lake Association's Annual Meeting, at which outgoing President Bill Bassett thanked many individuals of this all-volunteer organization for their contributions. Bassett noted the accomplishments of continuing the 40-year effort of monitoring the lake's water quality and initiating the acquisition of the 2,000 forested acres on Birch Ridge overlooking the lake, which had been the focus of many previously failed conservation attempts over the past decade. MMLA board member Russ Welton added his thanks to the many deeply generous individual donors to the Birch Ridge project, whose gifts totaled approximately $1.8M. He also proclaimed, "This is only the beginning," and advocated for the organization continuing to conserve land in the lake watershed in order to better protect its water quality and scenic beauty. Newly-elected MMLA President Laurie Smith encouraged members to participate in the celebration walks and to 'get out and enjoy the view of success.'

New Durham Select Board member Dot Veisel expressed her gratitude to all three organizations involved in achieving this conservation success, with a special thank you for Merrymeeting Lake Association members. She added, "We have seen what can be accomplished when working with a common purpose for a common goal." Appreciations were picked up by MMRG Interim Executive Director Dan Coons, who recognized several granting agencies for their support of this project with grants totaling almost $1.1M from the US Forest Service Community

Bell leaves a legacy on Alton Bay

WATER SKIING PROGRAM CONTINUES TO TEACH KIDS

BY CATHY ALLYN
Contributing Writer

ALTON — People leave legacies of all kinds. The word itself means something handed down from a predecessor, and that process is going on every morning right now in Alton Bay on the lake.

You can see the legacy play out in front of you; come by the lake just east of the Mount Washington wharf anytime between 7 and 10 Monday through Friday and there it is. Kids from ages four to 20 are hanging out by the benches, while some are on the dock, and some sit with their parents. You can hear laughter and see kids clowning around.

Then there is the roar of a motorboat in the distance and things change abruptly. Kids run to the water and point and wave. A child on the dock stands at the ready with a lifeguard. Zipping along after the boat is a young water skier. The boat slows and pulls up to the dock.

With mind-boggling efficiency, a transfer takes place - the skier is quickly replaced with another child and the boat roars back to life.

"Those on the banks start to shout. "You can do it." "Keep going."

The child wobbles, but hangs on. The boat takes off, pulling a triumphant skier and cheers burst from the audience.

Russ Bell's legacy continues.

The youth water ski program at the Alton Bay Christian Conference Center (ABCCC) has been in existence for 25 years and it owes its origins completely to Bell.

He was a natural athlete who'd discovered water skiing as a youngster in Pennsylvania. Invited once to the "campground," he fell in love with Lake Winnepesaukee, bought a cottage called Happy Days at ABCCC, and became a member resident with the in-

Selectmen approve alarms for water department

BY KATHERINE LESNYK
Contributing Writer

ALTON — Updates from town departments and committees, a proposal for an alarm system for Alton Water Department, concerns about speeding in town during public input and a continued discussion with the highway department about winter-maintained private roads were focal points of the Alton Board of Selectmen meeting on July 15.

Under old business, the board first decided on a July 22 workshop date to discuss COLA merit proposals. Highway Manager Ken Roberts then came forward for the board's approval to send letters to residents on private winter-maintained roads containing requests for improvements that need to be done in order for the highway department to continue maintaining the roads safely. At the May 20 meeting, when Roberts initially bought the issue to the board, he said that there are branches hanging into the roads and rocks along the roadsides that pose a danger to highway department equipment. The board approved a motion to allow Roberts to send the letters to residents. Improvements will be due by Oct. 31.

Roberts also reported on an insurance claim on a highway department truck that was damaged by a private vehicle. Roberts said that the truck sustained $12,000 in damage, in addition to the $1,000 deductible. The 1997 Mack truck is valued at $5,000 for a trade-in. The $12,000 from the insurance claim will be going into the highway department general fund. The truck is safe enough to continue using, according to Roberts.

Under new business, Water Works Superintendent Courtney Mitchell spoke with the selectmen to propose the purchase of an alarm system for the Alton Water Works office and the pump stations at Levey Park and Jones Field. Mitchell said that the office and the pump stations are all in areas that are used frequently by hikers and visitors to the nearby parks, so the alarm system would increase the safety of the water department equipment. The cost of the initial installation along with the monitoring for the remainder of the year will be $2,027, and in following years the only costs will be for monitoring, according to

Alton residents speak at Wolfeboro hearing

ELISSA PAQUETTE

DAVID COUNTWAY OF ALTON complained to DOT officials at the July 17 public hearing on rumble strips in Wolfeboro that the noise from the rumble strips lowers property values.

BY ELISSA PAQUETTE
Contributing Writer

WOLFEBORO — Public Works Director Dave Ford opened the July 17 public hearing on the state's plans to install “mumble” strips along Route 28, beginning just north of the New Hampshire Boat Museum to the Ossipee town line, with appreciation to the state for its financial support of two major road projects — the Middleton Road and Center Street projects in the amount of one million and two million dollars respectively.

The state is scheduled to begin resurfacing Route 28 in 2020 and intends to follow new guidelines that call for the installation of sinusoidal rumble strips, aka mumble strips, so named for the wavy pattern that reduces the noise level of rumble strips. The audience was told that the slight difference in the strip made quite a difference according to studies in Minnesota.

While the town is indeed grateful for its support, Ford, speaking to the panel of three Department of Transportation officials on stage in the Great Hall on this particular aspect of the upcoming Route 28 paving, said, “Our town is unique and it is also the state's responsibility to listen to the public.”

Those two sentiments were echoed throughout the hearing from the residents filling the hall, who listened to the state's safety study reports but questioned their application to Wolfeboro.

DOT personnel stated that the state experiences an average of 100 – 150 fatalities a year and around 450 people sustain serious injuries, two thirds of which are caused by lane departures. They said the state wants to strike a balance between safety and local concerns.

Speaking in support of the claims of increased safety, Police Chief Dean Rondeau stated, “Route 28 is the most dangerous road in Wolfeboro,” and recalled accidents involving children and their parents who he said survived with permanent injuries.

He believes rumble strips could have prevented those accidents. In his view, it's a “balancing act” between the external noise from cars touching the strips, and the safety aspect. “If they can wake somebody up, good.”

Yet one after another, residents complained of the noise transmitted to neighborhoods north and south of that stretch, including those right along the road — densely populated as one travels from the Route 109A intersection, the tourist related businesses close to the projected start of the rumble strips, and neighborhoods along Lake Wentworth.

The owner of the 1810 Inn said the noise from the rumble strips presently in place is the most frequently mentioned complaint from her guests. She added, “We can hear it all the way to the back of our eight acres.” And now, the newly opened Lake Wentworth Inn guests will be in the same position.

She asked if the state would consider not placing the strips on that section of Route 28 despite its policy of placing them on stretches of road over a certain width with a designated speed of over 40 miles per hour.

Kathy Eaton, who said she has driven Molly the Trolley for 12 years, declared that the strips, especially when installed down both the center and side lines, produce a “dangerous, distracting noise” when a vehicle has to go around cyclists, for instance, and “have no place in our small towns.” She said tourists come to the area for peace and quiet and asserted, “The noise is detrimental to our economic vitality and well being.”

She joined the comments of Rick Masse, who decried the state's position, based on federal studies, that two lane undivided highways with speeds of 40 and above all require the strips, and suggested that there “has to be another component” in the decision making. For Eaton, that component was the difference between comparing statistics based on “the straight highways” in Minnesota, which can allow drivers to become “compliant” and the “curvy” roads of the Northeast, which demand that they pay attention. “One size doesn't fit all,” she declared.

Moderator Randy Walker had to turn down the emotional heat when truck driver Scott Ducharme engaged the DOT panel in a vivid run down of the damage he said the strips have caused to his truck. A disadvantage of the sinusoidal (aka mumble) strips is that truck drivers don't feel the intense vibration that the rumble strips create.

State Senator Jeb Bradley spoke to the panel, as he noted he had done before at the Alton hearing, to urge “a more judicious use” of the placement of the strips. He asked them to consider beginning placement of the strips just north of Haines Hill Road rather than starting at Trotting Track Road.

While that might be a useful compromise, another resident reported that he hears the harsh sounds of cars passing each other all night long, even though he lives 100 feet off the road and has triple pane glass windows.

DOT officials agreed to return to meet with the board of selectmen, at its request, in the coming weeks. Assistant Commissioner William Cass said the state intends to begin resurfacing Route 28 in Wolfeboro (beginning at Willow Street and continuing to the Ossipee line) in 2020.

Mitchell. The board ap-proved the alarm system installation at the three locations.

The board then ap-proved the signature of a waiver of insurance for bands that perform on the water bandstand. Paul LaRochelle, the selectmen's representative for the water bandstand committee, said that the requirement to have a certificate of insurance for the performances "disturbed [the bands] a little bit that they had to do that," and he noted that the bands often donate the proceeds from the performances to charities. The bands are brought to the bandstand and back by private-owned boats driven by the boat owners, ac-cording to LaRochelle.

Of the various selectmen reports, sev-eral were previews to upcoming committee meetings. LaRochelle said that there would be a water bandstand committee meeting the following Wednesday. Philip Wittmann dis-cussed the agenda for an upcoming planning com-tee meeting, during which the committee will address topics such as businesses on boats, tiny homes and Airbnb. Chairman Reuben Wentworth said that the work of the millfoil committee is "looking better" than past years, and he also reported that there is a job opening at the solid waste center.

Wittmann also gave an update from the Old Home Week Committee.

"We believe at this point that we've got every-thing together," he said, adding that at the most recent Old Home Week Committee meet-ing, they discussed where the food would be purchased for the events. He said that the committee was plan-ning on getting food at BJ's Wholesale Club, but Chairman Reuben Wentworth expressed concern about tempera-ture and sanitation of the food, due to the dis-tance to Alton from the nearest BJ's. He suggest-ed reaching out to Han-naford to see if the more local store would be able to help with Old Home Week instead. Wittmann said that he would bring the suggestion to the committee.

An update about the 2019 town auction con-tract opened the town administrator reports.

The contract with the auctioneering company states that the town will not be paying for any-thing unless the town "fails its commitment" to the company - for ex-ample, cancelling the event unexpectedly, ac-cording to the town ad-ministrator. The board approved a motion for the town administrator to sign the contract on behalf of the selectmen. The date of the auction was not yet set on the day of the meeting.

The second segment of the town administra-tor reports regarded the interview panel for the town planner position. The proposed panel would consist of one per-son from the planning committee, one from zoning, one selectmen's representative, one from the conservation commission and one non-governmental Alton resident. Vice Chair-man Virgil MacDonald suggested including two people from the plan-ning committee, because the town planner works so closely with the plan-ning committee. LaRo-chelle volunteered to be the selectmen's representative on the inter-view panel.

Much of the public input session was spent with residents express-ing concerns about speeding, particularly on Stockbridge Corner Road. One resident re-quested a daily patrol of the road.

The police chief re-sponded to the concerns, noting that the police de-partment is not staffed for the fluctuation in population during the summer months, but that they "leave a paper trail," tracking speeds and following outlined policies and procedures for speed-related traffic stops.

"We're trying to do our best with our re-sources," he said.

Wentworth also said that next year, the cross-walks in town should be checked so that changes can be made to increase visibility of pedestrians.

There were no an-nouncements from the board about upcoming town events. The next Alton board of selectmen meeting will be on Aug. 5.

Fear of missing out

Vacation photos.... birthday party pics.... cute selfies at a concert... the evidence is everywhere, on Facebook and other social connection platforms, and certainly in the pages of your community newspaper: lots of people are doing a ton of fun things. And some of those fun things are better than the fun things you're doing. Ouch.

While social media certainly has provided an excellent way to connect people, it is safe to say it has also been one of the unique causes of a specific type of anxiety: that everyone else is doing something great and you aren't. To put it succinctly, it's the fear of missing out. And summer is a prime breeding ground for this worry, because there is something going on somewhere, all the time.

There are the fairs and festivals, which seem to occur every weekend of every month in summer and well into fall. There's the Oyster Festival; the Sail-fest; the Jazz Festival; the Craft Expo. There are festivals to celebrate blueberries, garlic, smoked meats, Irish heritage and butterflies. It's safe to say there's truly something for everyone.

There are countless "Bring a Friend" days at the local farmers' market; the zoo; mini golf courses; aquariums. (These events can be twice as stressful, as it will lead to a person thinking that they are not only missing out, but are also lacking friends. Not true. Be the person who does the inviting and make someone else's day.)

One cannot overlook the special stress-inducing "once a year" events that speak for themselves in terms of missing out: who really wants to admit they didn't watch the 4th of July fireworks? Or the summer solstice moon viewing? How about the first sweet corn harvest? (The stress level is multiplied by the number of children in a household who will also obsess over missing out on any yearly event.)

As we reach the mid-point of summer and all it has to offer, the fear of missing out increases with each Facebook post of that other family's vacation, or their perfect picnic, or their berry-picking excursion. Every edition of your community newspaper features pics of people enjoying local events. The good news is that there are tons of local events that will appeal to people of all ages, life stages and areas of interest. And the better news is that all it takes to prevent the fear of missing out is to get out the door and enjoy them.

Septic Sense seminar is Tuesday

ALTON — On Wednesday, June 19, the watershed management planners explained that four factors would determine the future of water quality in Merrymeeting watershed and they were stormwater run-off, septic systems, agriculture and fertilizer use, and development. For Merrymeeting Lake, the future depends on attention to stormwater runoff and failing septic systems. The Cyanobacteria Mitigation Steering Committee will try to assist the public in meeting these challenges by making available free and confidential advice to property owners on the lake and river who have stormwater run-off issues and by sponsoring (with the Lake Winnepesaukee Association) a seminar called Septic Sense to be held in Alton's Gilman Library on July 30, at 6:30 p.m.

Those seeking free advice on stormwater run-off issues should contact Fred Quimby at fwq1@cornell.edu or call 859-4280 and leave your name, address and telephone number. An Americorp intern, trained in stormwater issues, will call and make final arrangements with you personally.

The Septic Sense seminar will address the following issues regarding septic systems: How can I find a record of my septic system's history?; a history of regulations regarding on-site sewerage disposal systems; applicable NH laws and recent changes; types of septic systems and how they work; proper maintenance and the dos and don'ts; signals of a failing system, legalities, and costs; alternative solutions for difficult sites; and why should we care- water quality and health impacts? The seminar will be followed by a question and answer session. The Gilman Library is located in Alton's downtown village on Main Street, a 10th of a mile from Town Hall. Parking is available behind the library.

Talking trips

Rotarian Peter Bolster (right), a member of the Alton, Barnstead, New Durham Centennial Rotary, is thanked by Rotary Club President Duane Hammond for his presentation to the club about his and his wife, Clare's, many trips they've taken visiting a number of the many islands, state parks and federal parks in Maine. He pointed out that one of the things that make these trips most interesting is to stay at Airbnb establishments. Owners of these establishments have local and historical knowledge to tell you won't hear anywhere else. Their trips often include hiking and bicycling on islands and through parks, and he said, "If you just take the time to stop and enjoy the many incredible views, they'll recharge your 'batteries.' We truly live in a most beautiful part of the world and you only have to take the time, stop and see for it yourself."

Letters to the Editor

Milestone in New Durham

To the Editor:
Saturday, July 13, was a milestone moment in the long history of New Durham and Merrymeeting Lake. A standing room only crowd met in the school auditorium to celebrate creation of the Birch Ridge Community Forest. It was a roomful of smiles and happy faces. More than 2,000 acres overlooking Merrymeeting Lake will now be preserved forever. Acquisition of this valuable watershed property was facilitated by a partnership that included the town of New Durham, Merrymeeting Lake Association, Moose Mountains Regional Greenways and the Southeast Land Trust of New Hampshire. As we all know, success does not come easily. In this case victory was achieved because we had strong, visionary leadership. We won't mention names here. But we know who you are, and you know who you are. Congratulations on your achievement.

Perhaps the true winners are green trees, clean water, deer, moose, loons and all creatures of the natural world who have no voice and count on us for protection. A beautiful small body of water, now preserved by the forest, is Coldrain Pond. It's a place where my dad taught me how to use a fly rod in the 1950s. Thanks to this conservation success, the pond will be a place where future dads can teach their kids how to catch a trout.

One last word about an institution that joined more than 250 individual donors. LCHIP awarded a grant of $350,000. What the heck is an LCHIP you may ask. It's an acronym for the New Hampshire Land and Community Heritage Investment Program. We received an award from this fund for restoration of Rochester Opera House. LCHIP is dependent upon bipartisan support from the state legislature, and the whim (or whimsy) of the governor. Just something to think about. Best of all, however, is the knowledge that my children, and theirs will have woodlands they can roam forever. Thanks to all who have made it possible.

Deadline looming for Paint a Puppy contest

ALTON — President of the Alton, Barnstead, New Durham Centennial Rotary and chairman of the club's annual art contest, Duane Hammond, is reminding all who have entered, or planning to enter this year's 'Paint a Puppy' art contest deadline to return your entry is Aug. 10, to Profile Bank, Alton. On Aug. 17, all entries will be on display for public viewing, 12-3 p.m. at the B&M Railroad Park, Alton, as part of 'Alton's Old Home Week' celebration. The 'Puppies in the Park' exhibit gives the public the opportunity to view and vote for their favorite painted puppy entered in both the student and adult categories.

First and second place winners will receive cash and a trophy. Third place and honorable mentions are awarded trophies and ribbons, and popular vote winners, cash. Professional artists will judge entries during the morning and select those they pick as the best for originality, creativity, and execution. Chairman Hammond says, "You don't need to be an artist; to enter, just do what you want create a painted puppy that's either funny, beautiful, crazy or over the top. Embellish, decorate, add stuff, anything you want to do is OK," he added. At the Puppies in the Park exhibit, Rotary will host a free, to the public, cake and ice cream party. Anyone coming may bring their pet dog, on a leash including a poop scooper. There's no charge to attend, however donations are accepted to help fund the Alton and New Durham Police K-9 corps and the Barnstead Police Department. The police K-9 corps receive no tax dollars in support and are self-supporting needing to raise funds from the work they do by confiscating drugs, rescues, fighting crime, etc.

All costs for vets, food and training police dogs also depends on public donations.

There are three dog breeds to select from: scotty, lab and a mutt. Profile Bank is open daily and pickup or return is Monday through Friday between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. Rotary thanks LaValley/Middleton, Winter Harbor Veterinary Hospital, Winni Paw Station, Wolfeboro and Profile Bank, Alton for their sponsorship of the 'Paint a Puppy' contest. For information, contact Duane Hammond at 569-3745.

The Windham Community Bands (WCB) were established in May 1997. The band is a volunteer non-profit organization serving musicians from Windham, Derry, Londonderry, Salem, Methuen, Hudson, Manchester, Nashua and other area communities.

The Windham Concert Band continues to grow today musically as a wind ensemble. In the past, they have performed at numerous concerts including Windham Town Day, The Boston Festival of Bands at Faneuil Hall, the family-oriented Fall Concert in Derry. The concert band had a very busy summer concert series, performing in Windham, Derry, Nashua, Pelham, Bedford, Exeter, Wolfeboro and Pittsfield.

The Windham Community Bands enrich the culture of the Windham and Southern New Hampshire area. The groups attract talented musicians of all ages and entertain year round.

JoyAnna Yanka Deneva Winslow Touched countless lives

BARNSTEAD — JoyAnna Yanka Deneva Winslow, 12, of Center Barnstead, passed away into the arms of Jesus suddenly on Saturday, July 20.

Born on April 24, 2007 in Stara Zagora, Bulgaria, she was the beloved daughter of Glenn and Mary (Meserve) Winslow of Center Barnstead.

JoyAnna was welcomed with open hearts into the Winslow family on Aug. 6, 2014 and since that time, she grew into a tremendous young lady that touched countless lives wherever she went without ever uttering even one word. She absolutely loved being with people, attending church, eating, smiling and music to name a few things. All of these things brought her great joy. She was blessed to be a part of Barnstead Elementary School, especially the fifth grade class she was in this past school year. She loved hearing God's word read to her. One of her favorite verses was, "Since then, you have been raised with Christ, set your hearts on things above where Christ is, seated at the right hand of God. Set your minds on things above not on earthly things" Colossians 3:1-2.

She was predeceased by a sister, Zoey Winslow in 2014 as well as her maternal grandmother, Linda Meserve in 2012.

In addition to her parents, she is survived by her siblings, Amy Lyons of Concord, Brittany Thorn and her husband Christian of Gilman Iron Works, Madelyn Collomy and her husband Mitchell of W. Baldwin, Maine, Grace Winslow of Whitinsville, Mass., Elisha Winslow, Jonathan Winslow, Jeremiah Winslow, Nicole Winslow, Meira Winslow, AnnaBella "Peppy" Winslow and Rosalinda Winslow all of Center Barnstead; paternal grandparents, Jon and Shirley Winslow of Deerfield; maternal grandfather, David Meserve of Freedom as well as many nieces and nephews, and aunts and uncles.

A celebration of JoyAnna's life will be held on Tuesday, Aug. 6, at 6 p.m. in the Park Street Baptist Church, 11 Park St., Pittsfield. This date marks the five-year anniversary of JoyAnna coming to America and joining the Winslow family. In lieu of flowers, donations may be made in JoyAnna's name to reecesrainbow.org, a non-profit that helps fund international adoptions of special needs children for families. The Still Oaks Funeral and Memorial Home in Epsom is assisting the family with arrangements. To share a memory or offer a condolence, please visit www.stilloaks.com.

Specialized in heating, air conditioning*

WOLFEBORO — James Gordon Donnelly, 83 of Wolfeboro Common, formerly of Needham, Mass., died peacefully at home on July 14 surrounded by family.

Born in Brooklyn, N.Y., Jan. 29, 1936, son of the late James C. Donnelly and Gertrude B. Donnelly (Sussmann) and has lived in Wolfeboro since 1997.

Jim graduated in 1959 from the University of Detroit as a civil engineer. Later, he earned his MBA from Boston College. He specialized in commercial heating and air conditioning for more than 50 years.

Survivors include his wife of 61 years, Mary Catherine Donnelly (Porter) of Wolfeboro; a son, John Donnelly of Walpole, Mass.; three daughters, Julia Minard of Ijamsville, Md., and her husband Tom, Kathleen Picone of Fremont and her husband Richard, and Tracey Geden of Holliston, Mass. He was the proud grandfather of seven grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

A memorial mass at St. Katharine Drexel Church in Alton, will be held at a future date.

The Baker-Gagne Funeral Home and Cremation Service of Wolfeboro is assisting the family with the arrangements.

Helane Shields

Operated Shields Best Value Gas

ALTON — Helane Shields, age 81, of Alton passed away peacefully at home July 5. She was born Feb. 23, 1938 in Dedham Mass. Helane is preceded in death by her mother, Ruth Costello, father Edmund Vara, and stepfather Fredrick Costello. She is survived by husband of 61 years, Charles Shields, daughters Ruthanne Barnett, Andrea Shields-Gould and Diana Brand, along with many beloved grandchildren.

She lived her earlier years in Dedham, Mass. Helane and husband Charlie moved to Alton in 1969 and started Shields Best Value Gas, which operated for 40 years. Alongside she restored furniture, ran their own antique shop and operated Cozy Cottages for more than 10 years. She was a self-taught electrician, carpenter and created multi-family homes throughout town. She wrote and published her own newspaper in the 70s called The Alton Liberty. A true entrepreneur and woman ahead of her times.

Helane had a true passion for animals and the environment. She was an activist, environmentalist and philanthropist. She conserved many acres of land from development and supported multiple animal and wildlife charities. A member of The Sierra Club, Nature Conservancy, PETA, WWF and many more.

One of her greatest passions was the study and research of the health and environmental effects of biosolids. She is cited in publications on the subject and aided environmental scientists in their fight for spreading awareness of the unsafe use of biosolids. She produced her own web site called Sludge Victims, which compiled much of her work.

Loving and caring wife, mother, grandmother who was selfless in bettering the world and her family. She showed us all that one person can make a difference in this world.

In lieu of flowers, donations can be made to Elaine Connors Center for Wildlife.

BIRCH RIDGE

nity Forest and Open Space Program, the New Hampshire Land and Community Heritage Investment Program (LCHIP), the town of New Durham, and New Hampshire Department of Environmental Services Aquatic Resources Mitigation Program.

SELT's Executive Director Brian Hart handed out framed photos as tokens of appreciation to several key individuals whose efforts helped bring this project to fruition. He cited the outstanding work of Russ Weldon, Mark Sullivan and Bill Bassett of Merrymeeting Lake Association, Matt Murphy and Mike Gelinias of Powdermill Snowmobile Club, Charlie Bridges, Chair of the Community Forest Steering Committee and Duane Hyde, SELT's Conservation Director. Hart also pointed out that the year-long process just completed was in fact 'lightning speed' compared to similar land conservation projects and that this huge first step is really just the beginning, since "the work of stewardship goes on and on and on..."

The 20 volunteer members of the steering committee have been meeting almost monthly for the past year as part of the community engagement process mandated by the Community Forest Program. Bridges reported that the steering committee has adopted a vision statement that opens with "The Birch Ridge Community Forest (BRCF) grows into a mature woodland of high-quality trees, interspersed with young forest stands and openings that provide landscape views and habitat for native wildlife." The full vision and goals, which include mention of multiple benefits and public accessibility, is available at seltnh.org/birchridge. Later this fall, the steering committee will seek public input on a draft stewardship plan and it hopes to finalize and adopt a plan by the end of the year.

As the final celebration activity, school buses transported about 80 participants up to Birch Ridge to get a group photo, eat lunch and take part in walks heading off to different parts of the property. One group picked a few ripe berries up on Blueberry Hill, others headed downhill to get views over the breadth of the lake, and the most energetic group climbed to the old Aspinwall Settlement and over the Geological Ridge. Participants came back enthusiastic about the beauty of the land and its potential for future recreational opportunities.

Afterwards, Coons remarked, "It was a wonderful event to celebrate a huge success, not only for the organizations that worked so hard to achieve this, but for folks on the lake, in the watershed, within the town, and within the greater region." Hart noted, "It was wonderful to see such a strong turnout for the celebration and hike at the Birch Ridge Community Forest. SELT looks forward to continued collaboration with the community as we steward this amazing landscape."

The Partnership for Birch Ridge Community Forest (BRCF), consisting of Southeast Land Trust of New Hampshire (SELT), Moose Mountains Regional Greenways (MMRG) and Merrymeeting Lake Association (MMLA), was formed to acquire, conserve and steward the 2,000+-acre BRCF property overlooking Merrymeeting Lake, with SELT as landowner and MMRG holding the conservation easement. For more information on the Partnership organizations, see seltnh.org, mmrg.info, and mmlake.org.

Paint Wolfeboro scheduled for Aug. 14

WOLFEBORO — Art lovers are encouraged to visit Wolfeboro on Wednesday, Aug. 14, for the Governor Wentworth Arts Council's 10th annual Paint Wolfeboro event. Area artists will gather at locations in downtown Wolfeboro for a day of open-air painting. Visitors can watch works of art being created and can purchase pieces either during the day or at an afternoon sale in Cate Park. Look for the artists around town in their yellow T-shirts.

Paint Wolfeboro runs from 10 a.m. to 2:30 p.m., with the sale scheduled from 2:30 to 4 p.m. at the Wolfeboro Community Bandstand in Cate Park. Julia Velie a singer and guitarist from Moultonborough will be on hand to provide musical entertainment. Her voice is smooth and laid back; perfect for summer days on the lake. Her repertoire is full of songs you will fondly remember, each performed uniquely embracing her ability to translate and deliver songs with emotion using the gift of her beautiful voice. She has performed in the Lakes Region for more than 10 years and can be found on Fridays frequently at Hart's in Meredith, Hobbs in Ossipee and Steele Hill Resorts. She was at Kalled's Gallery this past Saturday.

Children can join in the outdoor painting fun by trying their hand at watercolor painting in Cate Park from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. For a small donation, each child can create a painting to take home along with a watercolor kit for future fun. Children must be at least four years old and accompanied by an adult.

Artists can still sign up to be part of the fun. For more information and a registration form, visit wolfeboroarts.org, or call Madelyn Albee (569-1701). Artists pay $15 to participate ($20 day of event) and they set the price for their paintings and keep 60 percent of the proceeds from the sale of their work. Any unsold paintings remain the property of the artist.

Money raised from the Paint Wolfeboro event funds educational activities sponsored by the Governor Wentworth Arts Council, including grants to libraries in five local communities.

Rain date for the event is Thursday, Aug. 15.

SKIING

tention of providing the kids at the campground the opportunity to learn to ski.

In 2002, Bell paid more than twice as much as his home cost for a MasterCraft water ski boat that is in use with the program now.

A schoolteacher in Ohio, he'd load up his ancient Ford Bronco as soon as classes let out, and haul the boat on a rickety trailer to ABC-CC. For years, he introduced water skiing to the children of the campground, establishing a tradition that is still going strong.

But in 2006, as he was preparing to leave Ohio for another summer with the kids, he suffered a fatal heart attack.

"The kids were in shock," his sister-in-law Sue Bell said. "They always stood outside waiting for him to pull up in that old Bronco."

His brother's family came to the rescue. Bell left his boat to his four nieces, who promptly donated it to the campground so the program could continue. Ron and Sue Bell, from Cincinnati, moved into Happy Days for the summers to help continue the program.

And it has expanded. "The program has grown to a maximum of 22," Sue said. "So far in July we've averaged 15 a day."

Ron said picking up the reins was a "natural transition. It was one of my brother's passions to teach and be a part of kids' lives."

"Ron and Sue took over from Russ and have organized this for all these years," said Joy Wallace, an active proponent of the program. "It is so great for the kids in the campground."

Children who don't yet know how to ski receive training. Rick Finethy, a former semi-professional skier and qualified driver and instructor, is on board for that.

Ron explained a skier's progression. "They start with trainer skis, configured so as to reduce the probability of falling or doing a face plant. Then they progress to using two skis, with the idea that they'll drop one ski and slalom. Then they start with slalom and wakeboarding." "You should see a four or five year old out there," Wallace enthused. "It's amazing how they learn."

"It's neat to see how kids' skills evolve," Ron said. "There's a huge amount of parental support for a brand new skier or someone trying a new level. You hear the hoorays and cheering. There's a huge community that supports this."

It takes drivers, on-shore coordinators, a lifeguard on the dock, and one on the boat to keep the program going; some positions are paid and others are volunteers. "There is a lot of expense to this program," Wallace pointed out, citing, "Gas, boat maintenance, and staff."

The program is free for the families, although many donate toward it.

"People who don't have kids who ski donate," Sue said.

She indicated a company provided the platform, and someone else donated the benches.

Ron said a campground family donated the use of a boathouse for the season and off-season. Mechanically inclined people at ABC-CC often work on the boat. Parents cleared the pathway to the water. The town of Alton, especially the police department, works closely with organizers to ensure the program works smoothly.

Summer theater

Lizzy Fogg and Alex Gonzalez invite you to join them at the performances of Beauty and the Beast this Saturday, July 27, at 7 p.m. and Sunday, July 28, at 2 p.m. at Kingswood Arts Center. Tickets may be purchased in advance at Black's. For more information visit www.wolfeboro-arts.org. Kingswood Children's Summer Theater's Beauty and the Beast in front of the 1914 Lucknow mansion at Castle in the Clouds, a historic estate located in Moultonborough.

"They have it down to a science," Sue said.

The kids come down early to sign up. "One mother per week volunteers to take the names of all the kids."

The shoreline coordinators are important to the efficiency of the operation, as well as to the safety.

"There's a lot going on with traffic and kids running around," Ron said. "We have it staged so as soon as one kid comes in, the next one is all ready to go. We want to get all of the kids out and back before the lake gets busy with other crafts."

Betsy said she was impressed by the people who sit there all morning. "It's a big commitment from a lot of people."

Her son said he has asked his father for his own wakeboard.

"It's something he wants to get better at," Betsy said.

"I would thank the people who make the program happen," the boy said. "I'd be disappointed if we didn't have it."

Ron said, "The vast majority of the kids who ski come from families without boats. Here's this gorgeous setting and they would not have the opportunity to learn, so this program provides a unique experience."

He called his brother an "extremely generous and giving person. His life was always about someone else, particularly kids. He always helped them when he could."

Ron recounted the story of a boy named Dave who did not want to ski. "Russ talked him into it, and he became a competitive slalom skier."

He also became a teacher like his water skiing coach; he is now a helicopter instructor in the service.

"The father of a current student skied with Russ," Sue said. "He told me he learned a work ethic from him because Russ worked hard, waxing the boat and carrying down the gas."

Walk by the lake on a summer's day and watch kids struggle to their feet to the cheers from the shore. And then watch those kids fly.

Turns out, Russ Bell left a legacy of more than fun and love of the outdoors with his water ski program; he left a community that will thrive for generations.

are different ways of supporting it," Sue said. "This program is collectively owned and operated," Ron said. "A group of about six people rally around it and are engaged in the fundraising and coordination of it."

The Labor Day Weekend Corn Hole Tourney, divided into adult and children tournaments, is the big fundraiser.

"All of the gifts have to do with corn," Wallace said, "such as corn muffins and popcorn. It's 'corny,' but we have so much fun with it." The program, which engages so many families at ABC-CC, has become an important part of summer life there.

Betsy, a mother who has had three children take advantage of the program and two coming up, agreed. "It's amazing, because not much gets a teenager out of bed at six in the morning," she said. "We love the different age groups coming together. The older ones encourage the younger ones because they all remember starting the beginning skills and being nervous about getting into the water. They are all at different levels and all encourage each other."

She, too, spoke of the hoorays emanating from the shoreline.

"There are all of these people sitting on the shore cheering for you. Every little accomplishment gets encouraged and cheered."

She said some skiers are able to get around the lake twice, while some "just get up a few times."

Her five-year-old had "a blast" just trying it and "being out on the dock with the big kids."

This is her eight-year-old son's third season on skis and he recently worked his way up to wakeboarding.

"The best part of the program is when you're out on the water," he said. He also enjoys the social part. "While you wait in line, you talk to people. When you swim out to the dock, the lifeguard helps you into your equipment."

Describing the challenge of wakeboarding, the youngster said, "You get up sideways, then you turn your board. You can face plant. Put all of your pressure on your heels," he advised, reciting a well-learned lesson.

He said he tries to pay attention to the other skiers' techniques, "but they take off in five seconds. You can barely see what happens."

That's efficiency for you. The boat pulls in, and before anyone knows it, the skiers have switched, and the boat pulls out.

ALTON'S boat show will take place on Aug. 10.

ALTON — On Saturday, Aug. 10, from 9 a.m. to noon, New Hampshire Boat Museum (NHBM) will host its annual Alton Bay Boat Show.

Now in its 43rd year, the event highlights the Lakes Region's passion for classic wooden boats.

According to NHBM Executive Director Martha Cummings, individuals with wooden or fiberglass boats up to 1975 are encouraged to enter.

"All vintage and classic boat owners are welcome," she said. "There is no pre-registration, Spectators are also encouraged to attend and vote for their favorite boat. Votes will help decide first, second, and third place for the People's Choice Awards.

"This is a great opportunity to stroll down the docks and view many wonderful restored and preserved boats," added Cummings.

At the show, NHBM will host a tent at which attendees can learn more about the museum and purchase items brought from NHBM's store.

The 43rd annual Alton Bay Boat Show takes place at the Alton Town Docks in Alton Bay. General admission is free.

Founded in 1992 by antique and classic boating enthusiasts, NHBM is committed to inspire people of all ages with an understanding of, and appreciation for, the boating heritage of New Hampshire's fresh waterways.

MARK ON THE MARKETS

Five questions for your advisor

BY MARK PATTERSON
Contributing Writer

If you're looking for a new advisor or just meeting with your current advisor, I have what I believe are five relevant questions that need to be asked and answered honestly.

1) Does your advisor and their firm act in a fiduciary capacity, in other words, do they work for you, the client? If yes, have them put it in writing.

2) Does your advisor really know the purpose and needs of the money you have invested with them and their firm? Is your portfolio custom designed for you and your family, or a "risk matched" model portfolio for the masses?

3) Does your firm engage in revenue-sharing with fund companies, and if so, were you informed by the advisor or was it buried in their disclosure documents?

4) Is your account held with a third-party custodian that gives you a transparent view of your accounts and your accounts performance?

5) Is your advisor well-versed in asset management, financial planning or are they being paid a fee to manage the relationship with you?

These five questions represent a good place to begin if you are interviewing a potential new advisory firm or if you are meeting with your current firm.

Most advisers and brokers will claim that they work for you in a fiduciary capacity, however that is not often the case. It's not that your advisor is lying to you, they probably just don't realize that working for you in a fiduciary capacity means "all the time," not just when they choose. That's why I say, get it in writing. An investment advisory firm is obligated to be a fiduciary, but a broker with a license that allows them to charge a fee, may not. If your advisor and their firm are in fact working for you in a fiduciary capacity, they will have no problem furnishing that in writing.

I've stressed very recently that your money must be invested not only with proper risk tolerance, but with the proper purpose. Many advisers are good at accumulating money through various funds stocks or bonds. It is key to your financial well-being to understand that when you are relying on your assets for income you must manage them not for accumulation but for distribution. Many of the investment vehicles that are there for accumulation are not suitable for distribution those assets as income. That's why I say to those who have left 401(k)s or 403B plans in place after they leave a job and heading for retirement, redirect that money to an IRA where you have multiple choices for investing that money for the proper purpose. I have yet to see a 401(k) or 403B that is suited for distribution of assets as income.

Revenue-sharing is one of my pet peeves that I believe is a very disingenuous means of collecting more money for the company coffers at the client's expense, it is commonplace for many broker-dealer and advisory firm connected to a broker-dealer.

Very few advisory firms hold custody of client funds. TD Ameritrade institutional, Fidelity, Charles Schwab and Pershing are top custodians for client funds that most advisers use to hold their client's money.

My question number five is a bit self-serving, but I believe that most people should work directly with an asset management firm as opposed to an advisor who charges a fee to manage the relationship, but then passes on your money to other money managers or funds who charge you a fee in addition to your advisory (relationship) fee.

Former Portsmouth Mayor Steve Marchand (standing) was the featured speaker at the July 15 meeting of the Tri-Town Democrats of Barnstead, Gilmanston and Alton. One focus of his talk was the need to come up with solutions to the crisis in school funding, and to attain compliance with the state constitutional mandate to provide an adequate education for our young people. He also spoke of the need to protect women's reproductive rights and enshrine them in state law, especially crucial when these rights are under attack nationwide. # Another week, another turkey, and bells going nuts in the newsroom

By JOHN HARRIGAN
COLUMNIST

Most of the television talking heads and their audience caught up in this past week's hoopla about the first lunar landing weren't even born when it all took place.

July 20, 1969 was a Wednesday, and I was learning my career ropes at the daily Nashua Telegraph when Apollo 11 blasted off from Cape Canaveral.

Newsrooms were still getting their national and global news back then via teletype machines, which were fed stories over dedicated telephone lines and hammered them out just like typewriters, on rolls of paper. The machines rang bells when an important story was coming in, the number of rings denoting the senders' perceived importance of the story.

I think the Apollo launch was a three-beller for all three of the Telegraph's wire services--the Associated Press, United Press International, and the New York Times. To give you an idea of the ranking, a one-bell story tended to be a ho-hummer, something like "Voters Elect Slum-Lord as Governor of New York."

To put this in better perspective, Richard Nixon resigned on Aug. 9, 1974. By then, I was at the New Hampshire Sunday News, and was in the newsroom when the story came in. I'm fairly sure it was a four-beller. Newsroom veterans liked to joke that five bells were reserved for either the Second Coming or Armageddon.

I think the Apollo launch was a three-beller, which probably meant something like "Hey--Nothing Went Wrong." Editors, a hardened lot, probably yawned. This, of course, was long before I became an editor and in theory had time for yawning. The truth is that running a newsroom was a tough job that left no time for yawning.

But that Sunday, July 20, half a century ago, was something else again. There's no telling how many bells were ringing in the Telegraph's newsroom, because I was home on Allds Street in Nashua, like the rest of the nation watching Walter Cronkite, spellbound as the Eagle touched down on the moon. Well, sort of watching--NASA and the networks used models and mockups depicting what was happening, because the only film of the event itself was in a camera on the exterior of the lander, and could not be developed until back on Earth.

Nonetheless, we were transfixed--the kids, not so much. But now, 50 years later, the history of it all comes home again.

Neil Armstrong's words when he first set foot on the moon proved unfortunate, in that he was misquoted in newspapers and other media all over the world, a mistake still uncorrected in many media in many countries, including ours. What he said was "That's one small step for a man, one giant leap for mankind," but the "a" was almost inaudible. Armstrong himself made great efforts to get the quote corrected.

I enjoy responses from readers, and savor the stubborn independence they often convey.

A man who signed his note "A loyal reader from Campton" didn't think much of the TV-driven near-hysteria about the heat wave. "This is (after all) mid-July," he said, observing that most of us in their 70s or so have seen plenty of heat waves. He said he was going down to the river to cool off.

The human epidermis is among the best on the planet for coping with temperature extremes, but you'd never know it from all the crisis-mongering on TV. But in these neurotic times, crisis sells.

For some reason, I get a news freebie in my email, and the High Country News is well worth reading. This week's issue included a story on global warming, attended by a photo showing alpine tents pitched below a disappearing glacier out West.

Some people, particularly those in various scientific pursuits, believe we may already have reached the tipping-point in global warming.

Lots of people had trouble coping with the heat, and I don't mean to belittle their discomfort. We are not all alike, thanks be.

During the height of the heat, I was probably the only guy thinking about fish. In northern New Hampshire and certain remote ponds in the high country of the around Winnepesaukee, we were already near

White Mountains and This photo to me almost rivals the famous recent shot of hikers lined up trying to make the last pitch to the summit of Everest. Has anyone noticed a message here, like too many people, and air pollution out of control? (Courtesy High Country News)

ABA seeking Old Home Day parade sponsors

ALTON — The Alton Business Association is excited to present this year's Alton Old Home Day Parade on Saturday, Aug. 10, at 2 p.m. The parade participant list is growing by the day and they are super excited to announce one of the highlighted participants, the NH Police Association Pipes and Drum Band, spectators won't want to miss out on this. For creative minds, they are having a float contest with cash prizes. No time to build a float? Then gather some friends or family to walk it or cruise the parade in your prized car (a great opportunity for some free advertising for your business). The parade will start in the center of town at 2 p.m., the parade line-up will begin at 1 p.m. on School Street by Alton Central School, travel down Main Street and it will end in Alton Bay (approximately 1.8 miles). Spectators feel free to find a spot anywhere along this route.

The ABA is looking for sponsors to help with the costs of the parade. It's a great way to thank the community for supporting your business and to get your brand out there. Sponsor logos will also be listed on a sponsor banner, announced along the parade route, and as well as in press releases and marketing materials. The ABA sends a thank you to a growing sponsor list to date, Lakeside Smiles Pediatric Dentistry (Gold Level), Catchpenny (Gold Level), Hannaford (Bronze Level) and Inspiration for Organization (Bronze Level). Sponsors may submit any donations by Friday, Aug. 2. For registration and sponsorship information, please contact Christy Painchaud at altonbusinessassociation1@gmail.com.

On Aug. 7, a grant from the Children's Literacy Foundation will bring to town a storyteller and the opportunity to choose two free books for every child in the audience. # Our Town: The symphony of life at Village Players Theater July 26 – Aug. 4

"JULIA, do you know one of the things I was scared of when I married you? I was afraid we wouldn't have material for conversation more'n'd last us a few weeks," says Dr. Gibbs (Russ Ellis) to his wife (Laura Cooper) in The Village Players' production of Our Town in Wolfeboro July 26 – Aug. 4.

WOLFEBORO — When the lights come up this weekend at Village Players Theater, audience members will check their playbills. "Am I in an orchestra hall? Are those musicians filing onto stage, seating themselves on stools, switching on lights of music stands, casually adjusting portfolios, arranging reading glasses?" they'll wonder.

And then they'll receive their answer, "This play is called 'Our Town.' It was written by Thornton Wilder; directed by Scott Lounsbury..." Veteran actor Mandy Ferriman is the voice of authority, the conductor of this performance of Thornton Wilder's Pulitzer Prize-winning play.

Always intended by Thornton Wilder to be sparse in production, Lounsbury takes this "Our Town" to new, elegant heights. The actors are instruments. The words and sound effects sing, bringing new resonance to Wilder's assertion that his play represents the beauty found in the commonplace: the neighbor's voice, the call of crickets, the mother warning you'll catch your death of cold.

Lounsbury captures the undercurrent of melody around everyone, and puts voice to it in original compositions that pair with traditional hymns marking events common to us all.

Without the crutch of costumes, make-up, sets or props, actors eagerly embrace Wilder's words and breathe life into their characters through voice and face alone. "Transformations have been remarkable," says Assistant Director Rosemary Lounsbury. "Vivienne Dauphinais as Emily Webb is just outstanding." The 14-year-old from Rochester was last seen on the Village Players stage as Amaryllis in The Music Man. Throughout the show, she distinctively spans ages from 12 to 26, equally at home as a wide-eyed pre-teen, a smug teenager, and wife and mother madly in love with her family.

A special Q & A on the creative process of this production of "Our Town" will take place with director and composer Scott Lounsbury and members of the cast and crew after the Friday, Aug. 2, performance.

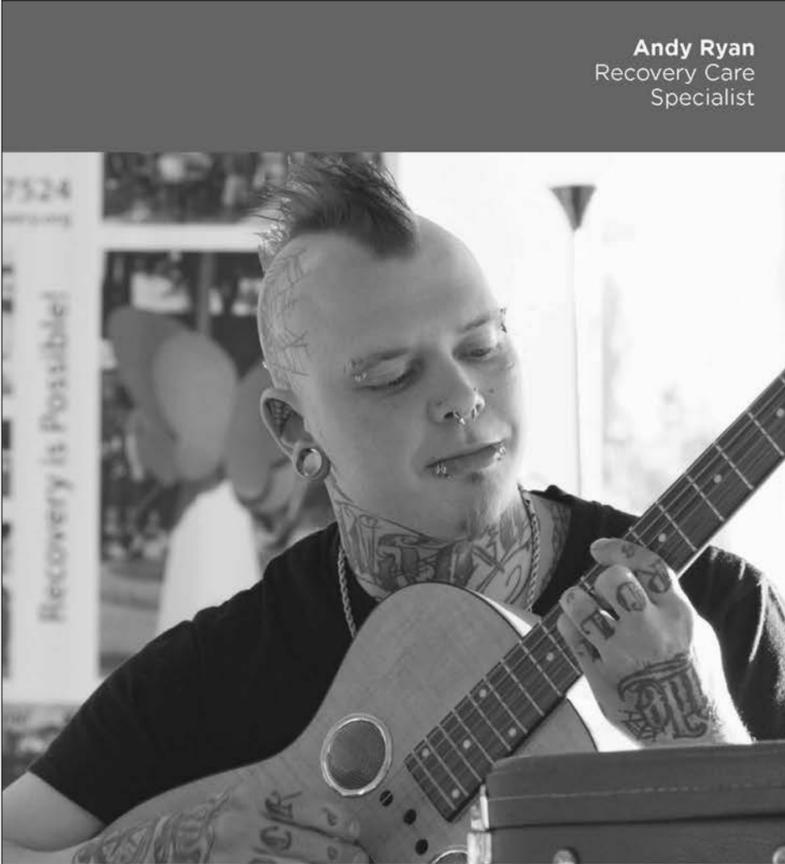

Theater lovers of all ages are invited to experience this fresh new production of Our Town at the air-conditioned Village Players Theater in Wolfeboro at 51 Glendon St. in Wolfeboro on Fridays and Saturdays, July 26 – Aug. 3 at 7:30 p.m., and Sunday, Aug. 4, at 2 p.m. Tickets for all performances WOLFEBORO — The Wolfeboro Swim Team took part in the first meet of the summer season on July 12 and came in with some solid results.

For the 8U girls in the 25 Free, Sloane Willscher finished in fourth place in 31.89 seconds. She also placed third in the 25 Back in 38.77 and won the 25 Fly in 39.21 seconds.

For the 9-10 girls, Wolfeboro finished first in the 200 medley relay in 3:54.24 while in the 200 free relay Wolfeboro was second in 3:47.94. # Harvick picks up fourth NHMS win

KATHY SUTHERLAND

DAVID RAGAN'S crew works on a pit stop during Sunday's action in Loudon.

LOUDON — Kevin Harvick landed in victory lane for a repeat win in Sunday's Foxwoods Resort Casino 301 at New Hampshire Motor Speedway. This win marks Harvick's fourth career win at Loudon, tying the record currently held by Jeff Burton for the most wins at "The Magic Mile." The Monster Energy NASCAR Cup Series driver earned his first win of the 2019 season not only for himself, but for Stewart-Haas Racing. "We've run well enough a few times this year, we've just made mistakes," said Harvick. "To finally battle and get over that hump is a great day at Stewart-Haas Racing and everybody on the No. 4 car. I was really questionable about how that was going to go, and that thing just took right off."

In a race that featured several lead changes and plenty of close action, it was a last-lap battle between Harvick and Denny Hamlin, driver of the No. 11, all the way to the finish line that got the crowd to its feet. The top two fought through lapped traffic after Hamlin made a pass attempt in turns one and two. Harvick stood on the brakes and tried to keep it straight knowing Hamlin was going to roll the dice and take another shot at the win.

"The lapped traffic didn't budge, the No. 11 was right there and KEVIN HARVICK raced to the win in Sunday's Foxwoods Resort Casino 301 at NHMS.

I knew he was going to take a shot," said Harvick. "That's what you're supposed to do on the last lap – throw it all out on the table and take some chances. That's what we both did, and luckily today we came out on top."

With this win, Harvick cements a place in the playoffs and takes the pressure off of a race team that had performed well in points, but was still on the outside looking in.

Following Hamlin's second place finish, were Erik Jones, Ryan Blaney, Matt DiBenedetto, Martin Truex Jr., Ryan Newman, Kyle Busch, Joey Logano and pole sitter Brad Keselowski.

Hampstead native and longtime NASCAR Whelen Modified Tour driver Andy Seuss made his Monster Energy NASCAR Cup Series debut in Sunday's race in the No. 51 Jacob Companies Ford, finishing 28th.

Also making his Cup Series debut was Fort Kent, Maine native Austin Theriault, who drove the No. 52 Bangor Savings Bank Chevrolet and placed 35th.

SPORTING CHANCE

By JOSHUA SPAULDING

There's busy and then there's last week.

The high school season is traditionally my busiest season, at least in the work world. But last week may have taken the cake as the busiest week I've had in a long time, at least when combining work and non-work activities.

While it started easily enough without much to do but I had plenty of time to make up for it later in the week.

After rehearsal for Our Town on Tuesday night, I left the apartment around midnight to head south to Boston to catch a flight at Logan Airport. As I've mentioned in the past, I am a fan of Rob Has a Podcast and they had planned a live show in Minneapolis, Minn. Since it worked in my schedule, I headed out on Wednesday morning and arrived in time to take in a baseball game at Target Field, home of the Minnesota Twins. This added a third park this year to my list of Major League stadiums in which I've seen baseball games, joining Citizens Bank Park in Philadelphia and the T-Mobile Park in Seattle.

After the game, it was off to the Minneapolis Convention Center for the podcast recording, which lasted a few hours and then it was off to the after-party until midnight or so. Since I hadn't really slept since the previous night, I was happy to crash for a few hours in the hotel. The cheapest flight back east was later in the evening

There's busy and then there's busy

JOSHUA SPAULDING

WITH JUST a few hours to go in the Rafting For Wishes event, Beth Tobyne, one of our company ad reps, and I sought out shade wherever we could.

on Thursday, so I had the whole day in Minnesota and made the trek out to the Mall of America for a few hours. It safe to say that the place is insane, with a full-blown amusement park in the middle, surrounded by four levels of stores, restaurants and other experiences. It was also a short train ride from downtown Minneapolis and the airport, so it was convenient as well.

I left Minnesota on time, but a flight delay in Nashville put me back by more than an hour and I didn't land in Boston until after 2 a.m. and didn't get home until well after 4 a.m. Since I had been out of work for a few days, I knew I had plenty of stuff to catch up on, so I didn't go to bed, instead just headed to Wolfeboro to do the laundry. Then I drove to Loudon to pick up my credentials for the New Hampshire Motor Speedway NASCAR weekend.

From there, the week took a unique turn, to say the least. Our office signed up as a team for the Rafting For Wishes event that takes place in Meredith every year. Teams raise money for Make A Wish by spending 24 hours in a cluster of rafts off the shoreline of Hesky Park in downtown Meredith. I signed up for a couple of shifts, including the overnight shift, so I hit the park first at 6 p.m. for the kick-off and then came back at 8 p.m. to get on the raft for the night. Needless to say, sleeping in a tiny raft on the water was not conducive to getting much sleep. I did manage a few hours sleep but had to leave the raft at 6 a.m. to head to Wolfeboro to cover the Granite Kid Triathlon. After the race, I was back on the road to Meredith to sort out pictures and then got back on the raft again at 1 p.m. and stayed on (or in) the water for the next five hours to the close of the event.

After a pit stop at the Village Players for the monthly movie series, I was able to get home for a little sleep before waking up early to drive to Loudon for the NASCAR race. I did get a little more sleep in my car before heading into the air-conditioned media center to get some work done.

Of course, I then had to leave the race early to get back for the start of show week for Our Town, which opens this Friday night, with rehearsals every night of the week leading up to opening night.

It might be nice to take a break and get back to high school sports at this rate.

Finally, have a great day Justin Chaffee.

Bell earns another NHMS victory

LOUDON — He's raced on "The Magic Mile" with the NASCAR Xfinity Series twice, and he's landed in victory lane both times. Christopher Bell, driver of the No. 20 Rheem-Watts Toyota, led all but 14 laps in the ROXOR 200 at New Hampshire Motor Speedway on Saturday, marking his fifth 2019 win with the NASCAR Xfinity Series. Bell credits his team with the success.

"A race car driver is only as fast as the race car he sits in, so I'm very fortunate to be able to drive for this group of guys," said 24-year-old Bell about his Joe Gibbs Racing team. "I got to ride from Thunder Road here to Loudon with one of my crew guys, and we were just talking about how thankful I am to be racing for them. It's a dream come true to be racing with this group of people because they make me look good."

Brandon Jones, driver of the No. 19 First Foundation Toyota, won stage one, but Bell took the lead in lap 48 and never looked back, winning both the second and third stages of the race.

The trip to victory lane marks Bell's third win out of four career starts at Loudon — once with the NASCAR Gander Outdoors Truck Series in 2017 and twice with the NASCAR Xfinity Series in 2018 and 2019. All three wins came after he started the race in the second position.

Not only did Bell thank his team, but he addressed the fans who braved the steamy New England temperatures to cheer him on.

"Thank you, guys, for coming out," said Bell to the fans in the grandstands. "I know it was hot, it was hot inside the car, but thank you, guys. You guys are the reason we race."
