

Public Safety Fair gives offers a look at vital work done by police, firefighters, and state agencies

BY DONNA RHODES

NEW HAMPTON — Education and fun headlined the New Hampton Public Safety Fair last Saturday, with many agencies and organizations taking part in an day that showed citizens not only all that firefighters and police do to protect the public, but the role of other vital agencies such as New Hampshire Fish and Game, the Department of Safety’s Fire Marshal’s Office, Lakes Region Mutual Fire Aid Association and the Civil Air Patrol.

Inside the New Hampton Life Safety complex, several people tested their reflexes and responses by using the police department’s “Drunk Goggles” to walk a straight line.

“Boy, that’s not as easy as you may think,” commented one participant.

Many also visited the fire department’s booth where they could learn the basics of CPR through practice dummies provided by the New Hampton Fire Fighters Association.

“We’re showing people how to do two-minute CPR today,” said Firefighter Kendall Hughes, president of NHFFA. “Two minutes, two hands save lives.”

The fire department also welcomed their friend Sparky the Fire Dog who was happy to pose for photos with all the boys and girls, while NHFFA also passed out Junior Volunteer Firefighter stickers to all the boys and girls.

Outside the safety complex, a trailer from Lakes Region Mutual Fire Aid Association demonstrated their vital importance in emergency dispatch communications and the Department of Safety’s Residential Sprinkler trailer educated the public about the life-saving measures of smoke detectors through a realistic simulation.

Fish and Game Officer Josiah Towne invited everyone to learn more about wildlife and outdoor safety as well. His display trailer from Fish and Game was well stocked with examples of all types of wildlife that call New Hampshire home. As part of the display there were large turtle shells, pine martin and bobcat furs, and even deer and moose antlers.

“This is all about conservation and the wise use of resources,” he told everyone who gathered at the trailer. “Our job is to make sure there’s always wildlife in our future.”

Towne also discussed the important role of N.H.

BRISTOL — The New Hampshire Legislature has voted to honor the state’s first female senator, one of Bristol’s “strong women” in the words of former Senator Edward “Ned” Gordon.

Senate Bill 142, sponsored by 15 senators from throughout the state, directs the Joint Legislative Historical Committee “to give priority to hanging a portrait in the State House of E. Maude Ferguson ...”

Edna Maude Ferguson (or Edgar Maude Ferguson, according to some records) was the daughter of a Massachusetts physician, Edgar O. Fowler, and his wife, Addie (Bucklin) Fowler. Her maternal grandfather, Otis Kilton Bucklin, was a Bristol businessman, owner of Brown’s Hotel, a carriage factory, and five farms with 2,300 apple trees. Dr. Fowler died when E. Maude was 1, and her mother moved from Danvers MA to Bristol, presumably to be with her family.

In enlisting the support of town officials to back up his testimony when he returned to speak on the bill before the New Hampshire House, Gordon pointed out that Ferguson first ran for state representative in 1926, six years after the passage of the 19th Amendment, giving women the right to vote.

“Bristol has always been known for its strong women,” Gordon told the selectmen, noting that the late Pauline Merrill

Bristol selectmen agree to appoint parking committee

BY THOMAS P. CALDWELL

BRISTOL — Selectmen on June 1 agreed to establish a committee to look into solutions for downtown parking, acknowledging that no proposal will make everyone happy.

Town Administrator Nik Coates suggested a timeline for reporting back to the Bristol Board of Selectmen, as well as the potential makeup of the committee. In addition to himself and one of the selectmen, Coates suggested including the police chief, highway superintendent, a member of the Bristol Economic Development Committee, and a downtown business owner. The committee would make a preliminary report in August, with a final recommendation due in September.

The committee would review existing town ordinances, the snow removal process, violations and fines, enforcement, and the existing parking with an eye toward making it more efficient. Coates said the committee also should consider placing time limits on parking and the acquisition of property to expand what is available for parking, in-

Off-road vandals damage Newfound conservation landmark

ALEXANDRIA — During Mother's Day weekend, four-wheel drive vehicles illegally entered the Goose Pond / Sugarloaf Ridge Conservation Area via Hebron Road. They destroyed a metal gate installed by the Pemi Valley Snowmobile Club, badly rutted nearly one-half mile of forest roads, and vandalized a wetland.

The rutted roads are now extremely vulnerable to severe and sudden erosion. The wetlands contained sensitive habitat. Rutting and erosion are expected to degrade Goose Pond as soil washes down the roads into streams and wetlands.

CADC summit tackles decriminalization of marijuana

BY DONNA RHODES
drhodes@salmonpress.news

PLYMOUTH—While the opioid epidemic in New Hampshire was still on everyone’s minds during the annual CADC summit last week, this year, the legalization and decriminalization of marijuana in nearby states was the focal point of discussion.

Keynote speaker for 2017 was Kevin Sabat, PhD, the executive director of the SAM Project (Smart Approaches to Marijuana: Preventing Another Big Tobacco).

“I’m a fan of all your doing here in New Hampshire. You have amazing resources,” Sabat began.

He then cautioned the audience of physicians, social workers, educators, lawmakers and law enforcement officials that the dangers of opioids cannot be “divorced” from the additional problems of alcohol, tobacco and marijuana.

Sabat brought everyone up to date on what statistics are showing in Colorado where marijuana is now legal and said it is not the scenario many hoped it would be. Some factors such as the whole tourist atmosphere of downtown Denver have decreased but the black market sales of marijuana has not.

“Why pay a 30-percent tax on a drug you can go out and buy it on the street now with little consequence?” he said.

As advocates for marijuana lobby the federal and state governments about the positive aspects of the substance, Sabat pointed out that “marijuana’s natural, but so are sharks.”

With a power point presentation on the neurological effects of marijuana on young children and teens he cautioned New Hampshire to think twice about the pressures of neighboring states to legalize or decriminalize the drug here as well.

Money is the driving force behind the push for the sale and legalization of marijuana, Sabat said, adding, “They are the tobacco lobbyists of today,” looking for profits and taxable income for the government.

For those who counter that tobacco and alcohol are legal, he pointed out that those substances were never illegal in this country. That makes it more difficult to remove them from the mainstream population today. Introducing marijuana to that open market would only create more problems in the future, something he believes people need to prevent now.

“In the 1920’s, scientists discovered the link between tobacco and lung cancer but it was already embedded in the population. Most think that discovery happened in the 1960’s but it just took that long to get the word out,” said Sabat.

Prescription-based legal marijuana dispensaries, one of which is located in Plymouth, already offer prescription marijuana and there are dangers that lie in the not only the raw plant option, which is smoked, but in edibles such as “Gummy Bears” and other foods, liquids, patches and more.

“People have actually manipulated the plants now and it’s not organic at all. This marijuana has higher levels of THC and other components in it,” he cautioned.

While Sabat agreed that there may be many beneficial factors to those components, they have yet to be fully researched and approved by the Federal Drug Administration.

“If there’s a beneficial proponent in the plant-great. Go through the FDA and do it the right way,” he said.

The good news Sabat brought to the summit was that research has shown that children who do not touch drugs or alcohol until after the age of 21 are less likely to have addiction problems in their future. For that he commended groups like CADC, New Hampshire Law Enforcement and all who take part in the prevention of substance misuse in young people today.

Dr. Steven Kassels, M.D. rounded out the presentations with his discussion of “Addictions on Trial,” the title of a book he has written addressing the crisis from both a medical and legal standpoint. Besides his work in the medical field, Kassels has been an expert witness in many court cases and said substance misuse is an “equal opportunity disease,” affecting the poorest to the richest in all communities. His book is based on his own medical and legal experiences in hopes that he can “put a face” on addiction and what it’s like to have a loved one addicted to a drug from both sides of the spectrum. He also encouraged people to look beyond the “Not In My Back Yard” syndrome and reach out to help others who face such problems.

“Someone may choose to start to use a drug, but no one chooses to become an addict,” Kassels said.

Among other speakers were Congresswoman Ann McLane Kuster, U.S. Sen. Maggie Hassan and there was a video message from U.S. Senator Jeanne Shaheen who could not attend in person. Each expressed their encouragement for those on the front lines of the War on Drugs and vowed their support both in Washington and at home in New Hampshire.

Gov. Chris Sununu also attended the summit where he sadly noted that just under 500 people are lost to drug overdoses in New Hampshire each year. The governor encouraged law enforcement to continue their mission to get drug dealers off the streets of New Hampshire as he continues to do his part in Concord as well.

“These people aren’t dealing drugs, they’re dealing death,” Sununu said.

On the brighter side, he said there are signs that the state is making great progress with the epidemic.

“New Hampshire has gone from a state dealing with this issue to a state leading in this issue,” he said.

At the conclusion of the summit, special recognitions were presented to those who continue to work to keep vulnerable populations safe from the dangers of substance misuse.

CADC’s Executive Director Deb Naro and her staff were pleased to present the CADC Youth in Action Scholarship to local students Mikala Ash of Campton and Mollie Brown of Wentworth, while Plymouth resident Troy Warner, a junior at Plymouth Regional High School, received the Youth Leadership Award.

This year’s Community Partner Award winner was Speare Memorial Hospital for their continued community outreach and support, while Dr. Clarissa Uttley of Plymouth State University received the Restoring Futures Award for her volunteerism within the CADC organization.

The Carol Estes Community Leader Award for 2017 went to Teri Gabbett for her endeavors in CADC and finally Susan Messinger was awarded the John True Award for Excellence as a result of her work both locally and nationally to address the medical issues that can go hand in hand with addiction.

This year’s summit was dedicated to Lynn Sanborn and her art students at PRHS whose recent “Convergence” event featured art based on substance prevention. Proceeds from sales of their work were then donated to CADC and the Plymouth area’s Circle Program for girls.

Plymouth Area Democrats welcome NH Sen. Dan Feltes on June 21

PLYMOUTH — On Wednesday, June 21, New Hampshire Sen. Dan Feltes will be the keynote speaker at the Plymouth Area Democrats (PAD) meeting at the Plymouth Regional Senior Center. Feltes serves as a State Senator for New Hampshire Senate District 15, representing the communities of Concord, Henniker, Hopkinton, and Warner. A minority member of the Senate Finance Committee, Feltes recently co-authored a Concord Monitor Forum piece entitled, “Why we can’t afford the Senate Republican budget” with fellow State Senator Lou D’Allesandro. Feltes is guided by the fundamental belief that “to move New Hampshire forward, we cannot afford to leave anyone behind.”

Before serving in the State Senate, Feltes worked for the better part of a decade as a public interest attorney for New Hampshire Legal Assistance, representing low-to-middle income families and individuals, senior citizens, victims of domestic violence, and veterans. In addition to advocating in court, he was a community organizer and policy advocate. For four years he led the Housing Justice Project, overseeing the staff, grants, and legal work on housing access issues, including fighting housing discrimination and stopping foreclosures by big banks. In 2013, Feltes received the NH Bar Foundation’s Robert E. Kirby award which is presented to “New Hampshire attorneys 35 or younger who exhibit exceptional skill, civility and professionalism.” Feltes has a law degree from the University of Iowa and a Master’s degree in Public Policy from Georgetown University, focusing on economics and energy regulation.

In his first term in the State Senate, Feltes received numerous awards for his bipartisan work on critical issues facing Granite Staters. He was named an Early Learning Champion in both 2015 and 2016 by Early Learning NH for his bipartisan work on early childhood education, including full-day kindergarten. Feltes received Legislator of the Year awards in 2015 from the NH Homebuilders, and in 2016 from Housing Action NH, from Ski New Hampshire, and from New Futures, with the latter awarded for his bipartisan work to combat the heroin and opioid crisis. Also in 2016, Feltes received the first Kennedy-Clinton award from the NH Democratic Party.

Feltes and his wife Erin live in Concord, and both grew up in working class families. Their upbringing was the foundation of Feltes’ commitment to ensuring opportunity for everyone, not just the elite or well-connected few.

All are welcome to attend the PAD meeting, which will start at 5:30 p.m. with a potluck dinner. Senator Feltes will speak at 6:45 p.m., following a brief business meeting. For more information, call Joyce Weston at 536-2856.

Distracted driving is dangerous

BY DEB NARO
Contributor

Every day in the United States, over eight people are killed and 1,161 injured in crashes that are reported to involve a distracted driver. Distracted driving is any activity that diverts attention from driving, including talking or texting on your phone, eating and drinking, talking to people in your vehicle, fiddling with the stereo, entertainment or navigation system—anything that takes your attention away from the task of safe driving.

There are three main types of distraction: 1) Visual: taking your eyes off the road; 2) Manual: taking your hands off the wheel; and 3) Cognitive: taking your mind off driving.

While any of these distractions can endanger the driver and others, texting while driving is especially dangerous because it combines all three types of distraction. Teens are dying and being injured every day because too many drivers are focusing on using a handheld phone instead of focusing on the road. Physically dialing a phone while driving increases the risk of a crash as much as 6 times. Texting is even riskier, increasing the chance of a crash by 23 times.

There are steps you can take to help keep your teen safe:

Kids learn from their parents, so set a good example; put down your phone while driving; use it only when you have safely pulled off to the side of the road.

Talk to your teen about the risks and responsibilities of driving, and the dangers of dividing their attention between a cell phone and the road. Set up rules about not texting or talking on the phone while driving.

Have your teen sign a pledge to agree to a family contract about wearing seat belts, not speeding, not driving after drinking, and not using a cell phone while behind the wheel. Agree on consequences for violating the pledge.

Find out more about distracted driving at www.distraction.gov and www.ConsumerReports.org/distracted. The more you know, the more you and they understand the seriousness of this issue.

Help educate and promote safe driving in your community. Spread the word through social media, talk to friends and family, and let others know how deadly distracted driving can be. The U.S. Department of Transportation is working hard to spread awareness of this serious problem; join in fighting for the lives of our young people.

In May, Plymouth Regional High School hosted a speaker for their annual Prom Safety event. The messages and images were graphic, powerful, and memorable. Teenagers are dying and being injured every day because too many drivers are focusing on using a handheld phone instead of on the road. I believe the presentation was very effective and will promote behavior change by helping everyone, regardless of age, to think twice before texting and driving. We thank the administration of PRHS for making this public safety issue an educational priority. For more information on keeping kids safe from harm, visit the CADY Web site at cady-inc.org.

PET of the Week Whitt

This handsome longhaired tabby came to NHHS after his owner passed away. It wasn't long before we discovered he had a significant issue with his right eye – which galvanized our medical team to determine the best course of action was to remove it.

Whitt has adjusted well to his somewhat pirate like way of looking at the world, he doesn't have an eye patch, but would surely look just as handsome if he did. This one-eyed cat, who could certainly pass himself off as a Maine Coon look-alike, is calm, easygoing and so very sweet. Aged about 12 years old, he is in all other respects a wonderful healthy boy, now just waits that comfortable retirement home with plenty of windows for bird watching and laps for snuggling!

He is truly the kindest soul, and warms up to new people right away with lots of head scratches and some loving attention.

Please come and visit Whitt today! We promise you will fall in love with this handsome character.

Letters to the Editor

The time is right for me to represent District 9

To the Editor:

Well, folks, it's time. Vincent Paul Migliore for Representative for Alexandria, Ashland, Bridgewater, Bristol and Grafton – District 9.

Having committed 10 years in service on Newfound School Board, two as Chairman, one as Vice-Chair, I've learned much through experience, with 14 years of running my own business meeting a payroll and servicing customers, I believe I (finally) have adequate experience to be bold enough to ask to represent you in Concord.

For four weeks, look to this source and I'll provide experienced views on NPass, Wind, NH Kindergarten, the addiction crisis and economic development commentary through this paper. Or, we can speak in person. I'd be happy to attend "coffees" and share views. Perhaps more importantly, listen to yours. This is for State REPRESENTATIVE [sic]. I'm making my full commitment to serve.

Those who know me, understand I only commit to things, not just participate. I make 140 percent effort, so I'm happy with 90 percent of goal. Not unreasonable, but takes a full time effort to achieve. Run a successful business? That's required. With that recently behind me, I'm now your full time representative in Concord. I make that commitment to you. To do so, I must win the Republican Primary on Tuesday, July 18 in Alexandria, Ashland, Bristol, Bridgewater and Grafton. Please consider your options, and then accept my request for your vote.

You must be registered in time as Undeclared or Republican to cast your vote for me on July 18. Check with your Town Clerk, and then decide on a candidate who will be allowed the privilege to represent you only by winning the General Election, this fall.

Thanks for consideration. Reach me at 744-5800.

Respectfully,

*Vincent Paul Migliore

Sanity finally prevails in the Legislature

To the Editor:

This is the 17th of my reports to the voters of Hill and Franklin on what is happening in Concord. This week, we passed two bills in the House that were long overdue. Sometimes it makes you wonder why there was opposition in the past since they seem so obvious and necessary. Of course, they would not be necessary if a little common sense had been applied over the years.

The fetal homicide bill, SB66, is one I've talked about previously. We gave personhood to the child in the womb to allow a person to be charged with a murder if they attacked the mother and the child was killed. Obvious isn't it? There is a specific exemption for the mother that kills the pre-born baby through an abortion or other means, but the pro-death crowd was out in force over that specific issue. The big issue was actually giving the baby in the womb a human status. 38 states already have this law and 29 recognize the baby from conception onward. Even the most permissive states of California and Massachusetts recognize the personhood of the pre-born. We didn't meet this standard. New Hampshire set the bar at 20 weeks. I think the life of a pre-born begins at conception but am willing to compromise to get a bill passed into law.

The other bill that we passed, SB3, seemed like a no-brainer. It addressed voting and requires all residents to meet an equal standard to ensure that every duly qualified voter who comes to the polls has the opportunity to vote. Somewhere in the past our nickers got into a knot over 'domicile' and missed the mark. A person should have to provide proof that they are who they are and that they live where they claim to live. If the proof doesn't exist, the ballot should be put in an envelope and held until they return with the evidence. I get push back from Town Clerks, students, and lawyers on this but it seems simple to me and this was not part of SB3. I don't understand why students aren't required to vote absentee from their home of record. My wife and I did for this 20+ years when I was in the military. I received numerous emails and calls against the bill requiring these stronger standards from Durham and Keene that have a lot of college students. Interestingly, I heard about a bill a few years ago that said all students who are on the local voter rolls should be paying in-state tuition. The colleges went ballistic over this, but are opposed to tightening the voter laws in New Hampshire. This is just crazy!

Last week, I used a term "whinging," and the newspaper changed it to "whining" referring to some of my opposition. I lived in Australia for three years. "Whinging" is an Australian combination of whine and cringe that is used to define a pitifully complaining person. It is a good description.

The Legislature will wrap up its work by the end of June and start again in October. We have a few bills we will be studying but our work will be much lighter. This means I may defer my weekly reports until October, but we'll see. Please contact me if you have any thoughts at dave@sanbornhall.net or you may call me at 320-9524 with your comments or if you just want to talk.

Cheers!

This bird, from far away, was never to make it home

By JOHN HARRIGAN
COLUMNIST

You never know where a homing pigeon is going to show up. Whimsical winds, for instance, can blow racing pigeons far off their intended course, and hundreds of miles from home.

The animal rights activists evidently have not yet caught up with the humble sport of pigeon racing, which its adherents say is more passion than sport. Still, for the pigeons, which can fly up to a mile a minute, it can be a risk. “I lose four, maybe five birds a year,” one racer said. “Mostly, it’s hawks.”

The raising and racing of homing pigeons is a centuries-old tradition, brought here from Europe early in this country’s history. It has been going on for millennia—pigeons being the first domesticated bird.

The pigeon that Bob

(Left) Bob Vashaw holds the homing pigeon he and wife Lisa harbored until it flew up against their house in the middle of the night and dropped dead.

Canadian border, on Sunday, May 28. “Two birds never made it home,” Roy said, adding that he has yet to hear anything on the other pigeon.

While Bob did things around the yard the pigeon stayed on the fence, and sometime after his wife Lisa got home from her job at Fiddlehead’s the bird moved from fence to ground, between the roots of a tree.

At around 11:30 that night, Lisa heard a thump against an outside wall. In the morning Bob found the pigeon dead under a lilac tree, having apparently flown into the side of the house.

The bird had two bands on its legs, which made it relatively easy to seek out its owner via the American Pigeon Racing Union’s web site. One band carried tracking codes, and the other contained a computer chip. This, Roy explained, trips a scanner in the coop when a bird returns home, enabling him to log in the date, time and identity of the pigeon, and even check on overdue birds via cell phone when he’s on the road.

“You know how it is these days,” he said. “Everything’s by computer, even pigeons.”

Vashaw discovered on May 31 when he pulled into his yard in Colebrook was definitely a survivor, although it seemed a bit confused. “It just sat there on the fence when I walked by it,” Bob said.

The bird was also a long way from its home in Round Pond, Maine, along the coast near Damariscotta. Its owner, Roy Hudson, released it along with 30 or so other birds in a race that began in Houlton, up on the

Strategies for Living

BY LARRY SCOTT

Have you ever asked yourself, “What if?” Two words ... but the conflict they sometimes generate can be very disconcerting.

What if my faith is bogus? What if there is no God and therefore no objective moral standard by which I can guide my life? What if Jesus was a fraud, or at best, a distraught rabbi with a wild imagination?

What if the writers of our New Testament were sincere, but sincerely deluded?

Atheist philosopher Thomas Nagel had his own “what if” – what if there really is a God? “It isn’t just that I don’t believe in God and, naturally, hope that I’m right in my belief. It’s that I hope there is no God! (from his book “The Last Word,” quoted by Timothy Keller in “Preaching,” p. 82). Not me! I want there to be a God and I can’t imagine what my life would be like if He were not the primary moving force in my life.

Now, please stay with me. I am neither bragging nor complaining, but I do want to make a point.

Because of my faith, think of all that I have missed. I trust you don’t know what I have missed, but if you do, I suspect you can verify that life without God is no cake-walk. Exploiting the freedom to live as we please without an objective moral standard, “doing what come naturally” as the saying goes, often demands an awful price. Eventually we must “pay the piper.”

I must be honest and admit that if it were not for my relationship with God and my decision many years ago to live “by the Book” I would be in a heap of trouble. I need God! I need His forgiveness for a clear conscience; I need His strength to face the crises of life; I need His moral standard to keep me from doing something stupid and counter-productive; I need the assurance of an eternity in His presence after death to give me stability during tough times. Yes! I need God! My entire outlook on life, my planning and the goals for which I strive have all been impacted by my perspective on God.

So ... back to the question: what if my faith is bogus? The Apostle Paul, who had to deal with that question for himself, put his conclusion this way: “If only for this life we have hope in Christ, we are to be pitied more than all men. But Christ has indeed been raised from the dead.”

It is, in the final analysis, the resurrection of Jesus Christ that gives me supreme confidence that I am on the right track. The resurrection, which Jesus had predicted on several occasions, verified His message. When Jesus was being abandoned by so many who found the principles He taught to be too demanding, he asked his disciples, “You do not want to leave too, do you?” and Peter was quick to respond, “Lord, to whom shall we go? You have the words of eternal life.”

The resurrection of Jesus Christ changes everything ... and we will address that next week. You want to talk about it? Hit me up at rlarryscott@gmail.com.

The Memorial Day event sponsored by the Groton Historical Society was well attended. Carrie Brown had a very interesting program with many fascinating slides on the women who worked in manufacturing during the First World War. The Historical Society will have an Open House on June 24 from 1– 3 p.m. at the Historical Society building near the intersection of North Groton Road and Halls Brook Road. There will be a display in honor of one of our locals, Pam Yinger. Hope to see you all there.

The Town Fishing Derby supplied a few supper tables on Saturday evening with some beautiful trout. Even though it was cloudy and sprinkled a bit here and there is seemed that all who came and participated had a great time.

If you’re interested in helping with Old Home Days in Groton, please submit your name to the Select Board Office: selectmen@grotonnh.org or 744-9910 and Christina Goodwin will contact you. If you’d like to put up a display/craft or other booth or have an entry in the parade you could also contact Christina Goodwin as there will be paperwork to fill out for this.

Here’s a notice from the Hebron Fire Department:

When minutes count

The towns of Hebron and Groton are offering a 911 reflective, two sided sign through the Hebron Fire Dept. Due to the high visibility factor noted in Hebron and Groton the Bridgewater Fire Dept. is now offering the same service through their Fire Dept. Both Fire Chiefs agree: “If we can’t find you we can’t help you!” Often minutes do count.

The Hebron Fire Department researched to find the most visible color available. They found a metal reflective red background with reflective four inches white numbers topped the list from the farthest distance both day and night. The high visibility and ease in finding locations with these signs has improved response time to locations with the signs. Ease in finding locations is the main reason the Bridgewater Fire Dept. decided to extend the signs into their town.

The first step to offering good Emergency Services is to find you without delay. The red and white signs are very helpful in accomplishing that goal. The service is elective and costs $15 per sign. To encourage resident participation all three town offer free installation. Bridgewater signs can be ordered through the Bridgewater Fire Department.

It is hoped all residents will take part, improving emergency response times for fire, police and mutual aid coming from surrounding towns because they are not familiar with our roads. The signs also facilitate deliveries by the Postal Service, UPS, and Fed Ex.

Order forms can be found on the Hebron and Groton Town Web Sites, at either Town Office, at both Town Clerk Offices as well as at the Hebron Fire and Police Departments.

Completed forms should be mailed to:

Town of Hebron - HFD 911 Signs
PO Box 188,
Hebron, NH 03241

Hand delivered to the Hebron Town Office between 8:30 a.m. and Noon any weekday or the Groton Town Clerks office Monday, Wednesday, Friday 9 a.m.-4 p.m. or Tuesday 4-6 p.m. Forms are available at these offices.

Checks should be made payable to: H.F.D. Improvement Fund.

Your sign(s) will be installed within two weeks after your paid order is received.

The location of your sign will be your choice but the Fire and Police Department hope it will be in conjunction with their wishes. The reflective sign(s) should be placed in a highly visible location for both day and night viewing from both directions. They should be adjacent to the road, your driveway or on your mail box if it is in front of your residence.

Meetings Coming Up:

Select Board Meetings will be held every first and third Tuesday, so the next couple meetings are June 6 and June 20, all at 7 p.m. at the Town House.

From Time to Time

NH Master Chorale concert encompasses all of life

PLYMOUTH — The New Hampshire Master Chorale's spring concerts, on June 17 in Concord and June 18 in Plymouth, embrace life's gamut.

The program, titled From Time to Time, ranges from the innocent hope embodied in a newborn baby to the funk and lustiness of youth, and from the dawning sense of life's limitations in middle age to the poignancy of failing health and memory in the twilight years.

The centerpiece is a new commissioned work provocatively entitled "Smoking, Drinking, Messing Around," featuring the poetry of Liz Ahl set to music by Jonathan Santore, the Master Chorale's composer-in-residence. It's Santore's 19th commission from the Master Chorale over as many years, and his third collaboration with Ahl.

Like Master Chorale music director Dan Perkins, Santore and Ahl are on the faculty of Plymouth State University.

Perkins says the program's concept springs from a personal place – a reminiscence of his 26 years on the Plymouth State faculty.

"For me, this is kind of an examination of a quarter-century of making music in New Hampshire," Perkins says. "It's nostalgic to some extent. And funny. Imagining the incredible range of experiences I've had here. It's a look-back at what we've been able to do – in the knowledge that someday it's going to end. We can't continue to do this forever. And that's OK."

He hastens to add that the end appears nowhere near.

This is the Master Chorale's 14th season. The 31-voice chamber chorus holds a unique place in New Hampshire's musical life.

Perkins characterizes it as "a group of trained and experienced musicians, many of whom are music educators, some of whom are professional musicians, who work together to create concerts that are eclectic and diverse. We get to do anything we want, from Sondheim to Bach."

Santore says he writes music for the Master Chorale with its distinctive sound and capabilities in mind.

"It's a smaller choir, working at a very high level of musicianship," Santore says., "Dan has selected voices that blend extremely well. It's a very focused sound, a very cohesive music unit. That really informs the relationship."

Perkins and Santore say the process of creating this newest commissioned work was different from usual. Normally Perkins comes up with a precise idea of what he wants, Santore says, but this time was more open-ended.

Both say they were searching for "something edgy," or as Santore puts it, "something a little more roistering" than his last piece for the group, a piece commemorating the Civil War.

It all started with the title, "Smoking, Drinking, Messing Around."

"The title came first," Santore says. "I thought it would be entertaining to write a piece about smoking, drinking and messing around."

Once Santore and Perkins agreed on the title, the composer went to his friend and frequent collaborator Liz Ahl, who sent him a packet of poems and gave him the freedom to pick and choose.

"I love Liz's stuff at a level I almost can't put into words, which is odd because I write music that conveys her words," Santore says. "I hear her voice in everything she writes. Some of it's funky, some of it's tender and some of it's astonishingly personal."

The first of the five movements, for example, is both funky and personal. It's called "When We Smoked."

"That poem is autobiographical, for sure," Ahl laughs. She's a former smoker who kicked the addiction 14 years ago. The first line – 'We were happier when we smoked' -- came to her readymade from an offhand comment of a friend who'd also quit smoking.

"As soon as the friend said it, I thought 'I have to use this in a poem,'" Ahl says. "It's simultaneously the most ridiculous thing and it felt so true. Of course, we weren't happier because we smoked. But we were happier in a way that everyone was once happier. And you make up all sorts of reasons why you were happier."

Another, very different, piece in the program is called Smoking Can Kill. Written by the Finnish composer Jaakko Mantiyarvi, it sets to music the warning on cigarette packages, in the fa-la-la style of a Renaissance madrigal.

Mantiyarvi also contributes "The Lusty Smith," a rollicking tale of a young blacksmith and a buxom young damsel.

In the same boisterous frame is a drinking song, "The Inn," based on Lithuanian folksongs set by Algimantas Brazinskas. American-flavored rowdiness, with an evocation of wide-open spaces, comes from "The Settling Years," three "pioneer texts" set by Libby Larson.

In striking contrast are jazzy, note-bending settings of the African-American poet Langston Hughes in two pieces by Elizabeth Alexander and William Averitt.

Perkins notes that Alexander's piece, Folks, "I'm Tellin' You," underscores the program's "live-life-right-now" theme: "Birthin' is hard and dyin' is mean," the lyrics go, "So get yourself a little lovin' in between."

In yet another completely different mood are three pieces on the beginning and ending of life. "Jenny Rebecca" by Carol Hall (arranged by Clair T. McElfresh) is a tender lullaby for a four-day-old girl. "The Earthly Rose" is a setting by Latvian composer Eriks Esenvalds of an Emma Jones poem about a traveler who returns home to her failing parents. And When Memory Fades, with music by Jayne Southwick Cool and lyrics by Mary Louise Bringle, is about the twilight of life.

The Master Chorale will perform From Time to Time at the Eagle Square Atrium in Concord on Friday, June 17 at 8 p.m., with appetizers and cash bar from 7 p.m.; and at the ice arena lobby of the Plymouth State University Welcome Center on Sunday, June 18, at 4 p.m., with intermission appetizers and cash bar.

Tickets are available at nhmasterchorale.org and at the door for $30, or $25 for seniors and $15 apiece for groups of 10 or more. Admission is free for undergraduates and students from kindergarten through high school.

Cajun Bluesman Tab Benoit coming to Plymouth

PLYMOUTH — The Flying Monkey Performance Center welcomes back Tab Benoit on Thursday, June 8 at 7:30 p.m. Known best for his gritty blues, the songwriter and guitarist is currently on tour playing his "swamp pop" and blues jams across the country. Tickets for this show start at $34.

Tab Benoit is a Cajun man that definitely has the blues.

Early in his career, the music industry encouraged Benoit to shift from blues to rock music to reach a wider audience. He stuck to his Cajun roots despite their advice. Benoit's bold electric guitar parts are complemented by his vocals, both smooth and gritty, creating a Delta blues style that ranges from reflective and sincere to dangerous and exciting.

Despite his busy tour schedule and frequent recording, Benoit devotes time to activism. In 2003, he founded the nonprofit organization Voice of the Wetlands (VOW) to spread awareness of the receding coastal wetlands in Louisiana. As leader of the nonprofit, Benoit organized the VOW All-Stars, a group of eight other New Orleans musicians who all collaborate to write songs like "Louisiana Sunshine" and "Bayou Breeze," expressing concern about environmental issues.

As both an activist and a musician, Benoit's passionate personality is evident in his conservation efforts and wailing guitar solos. He translates that passion into blues, creating powerful music perfect for live shows.

Tickets to see Tab Benoit are $34, and $39 for premier seating. For more information on upcoming shows or to purchase tickets, call the box office at 536-2551 or go online at www.flying-monkeyNH.com.

Fish and Game in keeping people safe in the outdoors and reminded boys and girls to never venture out into the woods or ponds on their own.

A few specially trained K9 dogs were another highlight in the day.

Stacey Dubois, a District Chief for the New Hampshire State Fire Marshal's Office, led off with a demonstration of the skills of her specially trained arson dog Molly.

cluding the possibility of establishing memoranda of understanding with property owners to allow parking on private land.

With the revitalization of Central Square, there has been an expansion in the number of businesses, as well as new tenant apartments. During the winter, especially, the limited parking has created problems for the residents and businesses, as well as for the town crews handling snow removal.

Selectmen present were unanimous in supporting the establishment of the committee. Selectman Don Milbrand did not attend the meeting.

Selectmen on a unanimous vote also approved a reorganization of the land use department, combining the assistant assessor and land use manager's job into a single position and increasing the pay because it would be a management job, while decreasing the wages for the part-time

As an Accelerant Detection K9, Dubois explained that Molly is always ready to go to work. Labradors are the ideal canines for such duties since they are food driven with a great sense of smell and are happy to get a reward whenever they do what is expected. Unlike most dogs, Molly eats small meals several times throughout a day so her stomach is never too full when she's called in to work.

To demonstrate Molly's skills, Dubois set out several cans, only one of which contained a fire accelerant. The dog sniffed her way along the layout and sat down as soon as she smelled the gas accelerant. For a reward Du-health officer and land use officer's positions. The recommendation also included codifying the work the assistant assessor has been doing.

With Selectman Leslie Dion abstaining because she also serves as executive director of the Taply-Thompson Community Center, the board approve a memorandum of understanding between the town and the TTCC to offer swimming lessons at Cummings Beach. The community center has been unable to offer swimming lessons for the past decade because of restrictions at Wellington State Park, but by holding the lessons at the town beach, lessons could resume.

Dion said the lessons would make it safer for children at the beaches. The center plans to hire a lifeguard and water safety instructor for the lessons, which would include preschool, Level 1, and Level 2 lessons, four mornings a week with Friday as a makeup day.

Selectmen discussed the use of placards that could be issued to parents whose children are participating in the program to show they had a right to be at the beach if they did not have resident beach stickers.

Coates postponed discussion on transfer station guidelines, which the board was to take up, saying the town clerk/tax collector and highway superintendent were still reviewing options and were not ready to make a recommendation.

At their previous meeting, selectmen had discussed inequalities that had arisen from a new ordinance that charges businesses for the disposal of trash. Certain businesses contribute less solid waste than residential households, yet the current fee structure has them paying significantly more. Coates said they would have a recommendation by the next meeting.

The June 15 meeting will take place at the Old Town Hall on Summer Street, beginning with a joint board work session at 4 p.m., with the public session starting at 7 p.m.

However, a mistake in the field cost the Timber Wolves in a big way and the Bears were able to escape with a 2-1 win to advance in the Division III tournament.

"We were so close," said Prospect coach Bubba Noyes, who's team rallied in the seventh for their lone run and had the go-ahead run at the plate. "But you can't wait until the last inning to hit the ball out of the infield."

"These guys love to grind it out," said Newfound coach John Larsen. "They pulled it out, that team (Prospect) beat us 21-0 in our opener last year."

Doan got the first two outs of the top of the first before Sam Borelli beat out an infield hit for the Timber Wolves. Borelli stole second but was stranded there when Doan got another strikeout to end the inning.

Piwnicki got a little defensive help in the bottom of the inning when Borelli made a leaping grab of a high throw. He also had a strikeout in the frame.

Piwnicki led off the second inning with a base hit but Devon Kraemer-Roberts started a 5-4-3 double play and a grounder closed out the inning.

Kraemer-Roberts led off the bottom of the second inning with a base hit, but Prospect catcher Drew Nickerson gunned him down trying to steal second to help get out of the inning.

Ryker Burke had a base hit with two outs in the top of the third inning but Doan induced a pop fly to Matt Micke-wicz at first base to end the inning.

Newfound was able to get on the board in the bottom of the third inning. Logan Rouille led off with a base hit but he was forced at second on Nick Lynch's attempted sacrifice bunt, as Piwnicki gunned to second after fielding the ball. Piwnicki then got a strikeout but Jarrod Fairbank followed with an infield hit and stole second. Nate Desrochers hit a ground ball that appeared destined to end the inning, but the throw sailed high at first base and both Lynch and Fairbank were able to score and Newfoundland went up 2-0.

Prospect attempted to answer in the top of the fourth. Borelli led off with an infield hit and took second on a passed ball. Hunter Sanborn worked a walk but Doan got a fly ball to left and a strikeout for the first two outs. A double steal put both runners in scoring position but Doan got a strikeout to end the inning.

Doan worked a walk with two outs in the bottom of the fourth and Rouille was hit by a pitch. They both stole to move up but Piwnicki got a strikeout to end the inning.

Ryan Dube reached on an error to start the top of the fifth inning but was forced at second on a grounder to third by Luke Mostoller. Burke worked a walk to put two runners on. A fly ball to right field resulted in the second out and Mostoller tagged up in an attempt to get to third. However, Tuan Nguyen threw to Rouille, who fired to Kraemer-Roberts at third to cut down the lead runner to end the inning.

Piwnicki struck out two in the bottom of the fifth and got some good help from Sanborn who made a nice sliding

Ntourntourekas qualifies for New England Championships

BY JOSHUA SPAULDING
Sports Editor

MERRIMACK — Four individuals and one relay team earned bids to move on to the elite New England Track and Field Championships with their performances at Saturday’s Meet of Champions.

The top finisher of the day was Kingswood’s Jake Dearborn, who threw his way to second place in the discus with a toss of 135 feet, two inches. This earned him a bid to New England’s Leo Ntourntourekas of Newfound finished 18th with a toss of 105 feet, nine inches.

Ntourntourekas, however, also earned his own bid to New England by finishing fourth in the shot put with a toss of 47 feet, nine inches, which broke the school record he set last week. Dearborn finished 14th at 40 feet, 6.5 inches.

Coach Mike LaPlume had nothing but praise for Ntourntourekas, who set records in both the shot put and discus at the Division III State Meet.

“Leo is by far the most dedicated athlete I’ve ever coached,” LaPlume said. “He has shown incredible growth over the past year. He has improved his shot put throw by over five feet, and he just started throwing disc last fall. He never threw the implement in competition, and he has turned himself into the best disc thrower in D3.”

“Like Mike has stated, Leo has dedicated his entire senior year to track and field,” said coach Charlie Therriault. “He started to teach himself discus in the fall. He deserved this type of success.”

He broke the school records in the span of about an hour and a half.

“As far as I can tell, this is the first time anybody has done that,” LaPlume said, noting it is the first time Newfound has won championships in both events. The previous shot put record was set by Luke Bergeron in 1999 and the discus record was set by Wally Laws in 1995. Ntourntourekas broke the discus record on his first throw and then broke it again on his second throw. The first throw became important when it was used as the tiebreaker when both throwers reaching 131 feet, 10 inches. He set the shot put record on his sixth and final throw, moving from third to first.

Kennett’s Noah Lautenschlager ran to fifth overall in the 200 meters with a time of 23.22 seconds to earn his bid to New England. He was also ninth in the 100 meters in 11.61 seconds.

The Kingswood 4X800-meter relay team also earned a bid to the New England championships, as the team of Owen Gwizdala, Brodie Deshaies, Brent Coope and Wyatt Pooler ran to a time of 8:22.63 to finish sixth overall after winning the Division II title a week earlier. The Prospect Mountain team of Alex Amann, Jeremy Woodbury, Troy Meyer and Tommy Howlett was 12th in 8:40.23 and the Kennett team of Jonathan Caputo, Kirk Badger, Keith Badger and Nick Whitley was 13th in 8:41.

The Prospect team of Howlett, Meyer, Woodbury and Hudson Ingoldsby finished 11th in the 4X400-meter relay in 3:32.47.

The Kennett team of Sam Cawley, Noah Dubois, Chris Caputo and Noah Lautenschlager placed ninth in the 4X100-meter relay in 45.51 seconds.

Ingoldsby also competed in three individual events for Prospect Mountain.

His best finish was in the 300-meter hurdles, where he just missed out on New England, finishing seventh in 41.17 seconds. He also just missed out in the high jump, finishing seventh at five feet, 10 inches. In the 110-meter hurdles, he placed 18th in 16.63 seconds.

Chris Desmaris of Kennett finished 12th in the 1,600 meters in 4:45.12.

The other New England qualifier was Kennett’s Selena Gauthier, who placed seventh in the 100-meter preliminaries in 13.22 seconds and placed sixth in the finals in 13.23 seconds.

She placed 15th in the 200 meters in 29.03 seconds.

Kingswood had two hurdlers competing, with Eileen McKenna finishing 15th in the 100-meter hurdles in 17.8 seconds and Hannah Chatigny in 17th in 17.94 seconds. In the 300-meter hurdles, Chatigny was 13th in 49.81 and McKenna was 14th in 50.66.

The Kennett 4X800-meter team of India Drummond, Zoe McKinney, Kaitlyn Fay and Chloe VanDyne finished 11th in 10:24.4.

VanDyne added a ninth place finish in the high jump at four feet, 10 inches.

In the triple jump, Prospect freshman Grace Hardie was 10th at 31 feet, 11 inches while Kingswood freshman Caitlin Carpenter was 13th at 31 feet, 8.75 inches.

Naomi Murzin of Prospect Mountain placed eighth in the shot put at 33 feet, one inch, followed by Angel Jandoc of Plymouth in ninth at the same distance and Joie Milbourn of Kingswood in 10th at 31 feet, 11 inches. Murzin placed 14th in the discus with a toss of 86 feet, four inches and Newfound’s Becky Norton was 15th at 86 feet, one inch.

The New England Championships will take place at Norwell High School in Norwell, Mass. at 10 a.m.

Playoff season means lots of choices and some driving too

The playoffs often provide a lot of tough decisions as to where to go and what games to cover. This spring was no different.

Added to the wonderful scheduling mess was the fact that rain on the first day of scheduled tournament play forced a number of postponements.

The Division II and III softball tournaments were scheduled to get under way last Wednesday and of course, all five of my softball teams were in the playoffs. I decided to head to North Conway to see the Kennett girls play Merrimack Valley, a game the Eagles lost to end their season. Kingswood traveled to Milford for their game, dropping a 4-0 decision.

The Division II boys’ lacrosse tournament also started on Wednesday and Kingswood traveled to Windham looking for a repeat of last year’s upset of the Jaguars, but that did not happen, as Kingswood fell 15-5.

The other three softball games, which saw Plymouth hosting St. Thomas, Newfound at Franklin and Prospect Mountain at Fall Mountain, were all postponed due to the threat of rain and they were moved to Thursday.

Of course, Thursday already was the start of the baseball playoffs and I had four baseball teams in the tournaments. Kingswood was at John Stark and Plymouth was at St. Thomas, with both teams coming up just short in their upset bids. I was lucky enough that my other two teams, Newfound and Prospect Mountain, were playing each other, so the decision as to which game to go to was pretty easy on my end. Newfound won that game, while on the softball diamonds, Prospect and Plymouth won and Newfound lost, meaning the Newfound baseball and Prospect and Plymouth softball teams were all scheduled to move on in the tournament to action on Saturday.

Newfound was up against top-ranked Campbell, but since I’d seen them already in the week, I narrowed my choice down to either Prospect or Plymouth softball. Fortunately, the teams were playing just a half hour away from each other and the Prospect game was moved up to a 1 p.m. start. So I made the nice long ride to New Ipswich to catch the Timber Wolves in what was an epic playoff battle that went nine innings before the Timber Wolves fell. Then I drove a half an hour to see Plymouth at Milford in a homer-fest, on what has to be the smallest field any varsity team plays on anywhere. In my mind, it probably shouldn’t be used as a varsity field. After eight homers combined, Plymouth came up short, ending their season.

Saturday was also the track Meet of Champions, where four individuals (Selena Gauthier, Noah Lautenschlager, Leo Ntourntourekas and Jake Dearborn) and one relay team (Kingswood 4X800 boys) qualified for New England’s

The only team still left in the tournament at the start of the week was the Prospect unified volleyball team, which opened the tournament after deadline Tuesday at Dover.

And then, maybe there will be a bit of a break. Maybe.

Finally, have a good day Rick and Amy Burley.

catch in center. Prospect threatened again in the top of the sixth. Borelli had a leadoff base hit and took second on a groundout by Sanborn. Piwnicki reached on an error but yet another double play, started by Kraemer-Roberts at third and finished with a nice scoop by Mickewicz at first, got the Bears out of trouble.

Rickey DeLuca reached on a dropped third strike and Kraemer-Roberts beat out an infield hit to put two runners on. After a strikeout, a pickoff error put a runner at third. The Bears attempted a double steal but Piwnicki threw to Nickerson to cut down the runner at the plate to help quell the rally.

Richard Stevens led off with a base hit in the top of the seventh inning and Dube followed with a base hit, moving Stevens to third. However, Nguyen threw to Desrochers, who fired to Rouille at second to cut down Dube. Mostoller lifted a long fly ball to left, with Lynch making a great catch just in front of the fence. Stevens tagged up and scored for Prospect’s first run. Burke followed with a base hit but a grounder to second ended the game and Newfound moved on to the quarterfinals.

Noyes noted that both pitchers threw strikes throughout the day.

“Caleb threw strikes,” Noyes said. “And (Doan) threw awesome, he keeps you off balance a lot.”

With just two seniors,

Noyes is excited to see what the future holds for the Timber Wolves.

“Obviously, with just Hunter and Sam gone, we have a good nucleus coming back next year,” Noyes said. “We had a good year.”

Larsen also praised both pitchers for their strong work.

“He’s (Piwnicki) consistent around the plate and has a good breaking ball,” Larsen said. “And Mike’s the go-to kid. This was a big game for Mike and the team.

“We should’ve hit more,” Larsen added. “They’ll probably come to practice tomorrow and want to hit, hit, hit.”

He also noted his team was excited to see what his team would put up against top-ranked Campbell in the quarterfinals.

The Bears eventually fell 10-5 to Campbell in the quarterfinals on Saturday in Litchfield.

Extra inning battle sees Bears fall to Franklin

BY JOSHUA SPAULDING
Sports Editor

FRANKLIN — The Newfound softball team took the trip to Franklin for the opening round of the Division III tournament on Thursday, June 1.

The Bears had a threat early, as Amanda Johnston had one of her four hits on the day but was stranded at second in the first inning. Franklin was then able to take advantage of a pair of Newfound errors in the bottom of the inning to go up 1-0 out of the gate.

The Bears stranded two more runners in the fourth inning with one out and the hosts scored another in the bottom of the fourth to take a 2-0 lead after four innings.

Newfound was able to get on the board in the top of the fifth inning. With two outs, Paige Dostie singled to right and Kylee MacDonald followed with a single. Hayleigh Pabst then drove both runners home with a double, but she was gunned down at third on a close play and the game remained 2-2 heading to the seventh inning.

Kasey Basford led off the seventh with a triple and one out later, Dostie put down a perfect bunt, plating the run and giving Newfound a 3-2 lead.

However, Franklin battled back and tied the game in the bottom of the inning, as they got a two-out hit to right as the Bear defender collided in an attempt to make the catch and the ball jarred loose.

In the top of the eighth inning, Newfound took the lead again. Johnston led off with a triple and then got caught in a run-down between the plate and third base. However, a throw from the catcher bounced off Johnston's helmet and she scored for a 4-3 lead. Ashlee Dukette followed with a base hit and Mackenzie Ryan also had a base hit, but they were both stranded.

A triple and a single with one out tied the game at four in the bottom of the eighth inning. After inducing another groundout, the Bears surrendered a hit that fell just over the center fielder's head to give them the walk-off 5-4 win.

Johnston went the distance in the pitcher's circle in her final game for Newfound, striking out three and giving up three earned runs.

The Bears finished the regular season at 11-5 and earned the ninth seed in Division III.

One long ride

Locals prepare for cross-country bicycle race

BY JOSHUA SPAULDING
Sports Editor

PLYMOUTH — John Jurczynski and Ann Rasmussen have some pedaling ahead of them.

The two local residents are set to embark on a journey across America on a tandem bicycle, starting in Oceanside, Calif. on June 13 and finishing in Annapolis, Md.

well at events and this is kind of the culmination of three years of riding together."

"And at 60 (Jurczynski) and 53 (Rasmussen) if we didn't give it a shot now, we'd probably never do it," he added.

When he first raised funds during a ride across the country, Jurczynski supported diabetes research and this time they wanted to find another good charity to work toward and that led them to First Descents. Cancer had affected both of their families so they knew that cancer would be the cause.

Ron Reynolds is the team "MacGyver" according to Jaczynski and will be the team's mechanic.

The duo were also lucky enough to get another RAAM rider on board for the team. Brett Walker completed the solo RAAM in 2007 and competed again in 2011 and also was part of a four-person team for RAAM in 2009.

The two cyclists are competing in the Race Across America (RAAM) 2017, a non-stop race across the country as a fundraiser for First Descents, a non-profit organization providing outdoor experiences for young adult cancer survivors.

"And First Descents really fits us well because it provides an adventure program for young adults who've battled cancer," Jurczynski said. The group did a program at the camp Jurczynski works at and he came away impressed with their work. The duo worked with Jen Morris in helping to fundraise for the race.

"Ten years ago, the entire crew wanted to do it again," Jurczynski said, noting he was happy to have two of those team members back this year.

For Jurczynski, this will not be the first time he's cycled across the country. He made the journey solo in 1980 and twice in 1982, which also happened to be the first year of RAAM.

In addition to the fundraising, the tandem group also has an entire support team coming along for the trip.

The crew also includes driver and navigator Brad Cilley, cook and hydration specialist Bridget Powers, Kyle Hodges, videographer Cindy Jones, mechanic David Lafferty, webmaster Emily Searles Lafferty, health and wellness provider Barbara McCahan, fundraising guru Morris, raffle queen Carissa O'Gara, transporters Peter and Sue Francesco and Catherine Judkins Douglass and Mike Bombara.

He saw the broadcast of the event and immediately became interested, but as happens, things got in the way.

"You're required to have support vans, at least two vehicles, so I can be resting," Jurczynski said. "They generally stay behind us and at night they have to be clearly behind us to help prevent accidents."

Jurczynski noted that their support team will include an RV and two minivans. One is the follow vehicle and the other is the carry vehicle and the backup.

"Life got in the way," Jurczynski said. "But 25 years later, I did Race Across America."

Chris Hodges, who works in Waterville Valley, will be the team's crew chief and this will be his second RAAM experience after crewing in 2011.

"There will be three or four people in the follow vehicle, probably eight to 12 hour shifts," Jurczynski said. "But it depends on how the crew is, that will evolve."

Jurczynski, who works at Rockywold-Deephaven Camps, did RAAM solo in 2007, his fourth trip across the country on his bicycle. Despite battling injuries along the way, he finished tops in his age group.

Retired elementary school teacher Jane Kellogg is the assistant crew chief and also worked on Jurczynski's RAAM ride in 2007.

All three vehicles have left New Hampshire and are on their way out, with the Franciscos driving one of the vehicles out as they did in 2007. Walker is also driving his RV. The rest of the group, six people, fly out on Saturday, June 10, for the June 13 start.

"But I wanted to go back at some point and do better than I did," Jurczynski said.

Also back 10 years after helping in the 2007 race is Jim Gagne, who will be the medical man for the team.

However, another injury put that dream on the shelf for a while and in the meantime, he began riding a tandem bicycle and found Rasmussen, who works at Plymouth Regional High School.

Financial Gifts – and Tips – for New Graduates

It's Graduation Season again. If your child is graduating from high school or college, you have reason to celebrate. But what should you give to your newly minted diploma holder? You might want to consider offering a combination of financial gifts and tips, which, taken together, could set your graduate on a path toward a successful, independent life.

What sort of gifts and tips should you consider? Here are a few ideas:

the best choices.

- Encourage your graduate to open an IRA. Your child can open an IRA as long as he or she has some earned income. You might want to suggest that your child consider a Roth IRA, which, at the child's age and income level, may be a good choice. With a Roth IRA, children can access their contributions at any time, tax- and penalty-free. They can't touch the earnings without incurring both taxes and penalties, however, until they reach 59½. But you will want to encourage them to keep the money in their IRA intact, giving it the chance to grow.

- Provide some financial education. Unfortunately, most young people don't really receive any kind of formal financial education. Of course, you can try to provide some of this knowledge to your own children, but, as you know, advice from Mom and Dad sometimes gets ignored. However, you might get better results if you arrange for your recent graduate to meet with a financial professional. As mentioned above, owning stocks, and following their progress, can teach your children a great deal about investing, but a financial professional can paint the "big picture" and explain how all aspects of money management – such as borrowing, budgeting, saving and investing – fit together to help individuals stay in control of their finances and make progress toward their important financial goals, such as buying a house and retiring in comfort. Recent graduates, whether leaving high school or college, are at "turning points" in their lives and can benefit greatly from understanding the importance of developing good, lifelong financial habits.

Most of us can think of several money-related mistakes we've made over the course of many years. And your children will make some errors, too. But by providing them with some appropriate financial gifts and valuable advice upon their graduation, they may well be better prepared to keep those mistakes to a minimum – while maximizing their ability to make good decisions.

Tandam

Out of all the different categories, Jurczynski said that solo tandem is the hardest as they are the 15th tandem team to try a solo run in 36 years, with the last one coming in 2002.

In order to be official finishers, the duo has to finish in 12 days 21 hours.

“If we do that, we’ll get the trans-continental record for mixed tandem in the 50-59 age group” Jurczynski said, noting the age group is determined the average age of the two riders.

“That’s a big if,” he said. “Forty-two percent of solo riders don’t finish. Our odds are in the 30-35 percent range of finishing.

“But we’re not looking at it that way,” Jurczynski added.

He noted that if things are going really well, the overall mixed tandem record is 10 days, 22 hours and 40 minutes and they could shoot for that.

The ride covers 12 states and has 175,000 feet of elevation gain. The highest point is in Colorado at Wolf Creek Pass, which is 10,550 feet above sea level.

If riders deviate from the set course, they are disqualified and if they make a wrong turn, they have to go back to where the wrong turn was made and pick it up from there.

The race officially starts on June 13 and anyone looking to follow

Captain Douglas DiCenzo Golf Classic is June 23

CAMPTON — The 11th annual Captain Douglas DiCenzo Golf Classic will tee off at 1 p.m. on June 23 at the Owl’s Nest Golf Club in Campton. Registration is now open at dougscampfund.org or by contacting Cathy Crane at ccrane653@gmail.com. The cost to enter is $600 for a foursome or $150 for a single player and includes greens fees, golf cart, lunch and barbecue awards dinner. Sponsorship of tournament greens, tees and golf carts is also available for New Hampshire businesses and supporters.

The annual Golf Classic is a key fundraiser for Doug’s Camp Fund, created in memory of Captain Douglas DiCenzo. Captain DiCenzo was a West Point graduate and Plymouth native killed in action while serving his country during the war with Iraq. Since its establishment in 2006, Doug’s Camp Fund has provided financial assistance to more than 600 children to attend a wide variety of camps including boy and girl scout camps, young writer’s camp, music camp, sports camps and many more. According to fund administrator Cathy Crane, “Our goal is to meet the needs of as many of New Hampshire’s young people as possible.”

The Captain Douglas DiCenzo Classic is a four-person scramble golf tournament. The schedule starts with a 12 p.m. check-in and lunch followed by a 1 p.m. shotgun start. Barbecue dinner and awards wrap up the day at 6 p.m.

For additional information and background on the Captain Douglas DiCenzo Camp Fund, please visit dougscampfund.org or contact Crane at ccrane653@gmail.com or 530-2113.
