STEMspiration event offers local students a glimpse at careers in science & tech

TILTON – Eighth and ninth grade students in the Winnisquam Regional School District were invited to take part in a "STEMspiration" event last week, featuring women who have made their way successfully in the world of Science, Technology, Engineering and Math, and more than 30 students took advantage of the opportunity to learn more about careers they may be interested in pursuing one day.

Women who met with the students on Wednesday came from a variety of fields. Among them were Lee Ames of Silver Tech, who introduced them to careers in Web Design.

"Web sites don't just appear you know," she told one group.

As she spoke of different job opportunities with a company such as hers, she had them note skills and knowledge needed for positions such as IT Administration, Coding, Project Managers, and even sales.

"There's a lot that goes on in my industry with a lot of skills involved," said Ames.

Nearby Erin Badger of a company called Tevora spoke about the interesting field of Cyber Security while Brandi Emerson of TIBCO not only explained what her software design company offers for careers but shared some personal thoughts as well.

"There are many opportunities in the field of technology," she told each group. "Explore and find out what makes your heart happy then go out and make it a career."

Among the benefits of a job within a technology firm, she said, is the ability to work remotely from home. They typically come with regular hours and have many needs for people in finance and other skill sets that most wouldn't think of when searching for a job.

"As a mom, this works really well for me because I can stay at home if I need to, yet still get my work done," said Emerson.

Christy Collins of Konica Minolta brought a hands-on development from her company for the students to explore. While Konica Minolta is known for printers and similar types of innovation, the company has now expanded into more technology. That expansion includes "The Double," a computer-operated robot that is changing the way people work and live.

One use is that The Double can place hospitalized children back in the classroom as the slim device rolls through a classroom, changing angles and allowing the One Light's "Annie" features actors and musicians ages five through 65 and a live seven-piece orchestra.

"These productions always take an army," says Executive Director David Sheehy, who plays radio personality Bert Healy in the production, "and fortunately, our community base continues to grow. Our show is well-cast and features a variety of talent in every regard."

Sheehy went on to explain that the production is unique in that it features two different casts of orphans, including the title character.

"And they're both super good," Sheehy adds.

Spaulding Youth Center celebrates annual Authors Tea

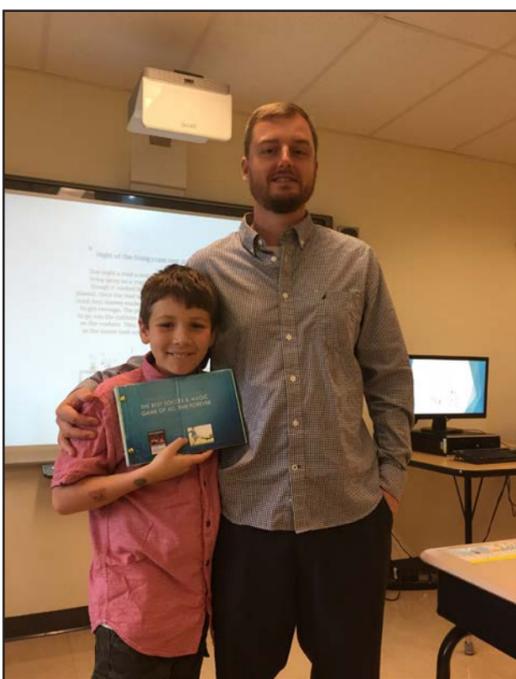

NORTHFIELD — Spaulding Youth Center is pleased to announce the success of its annual Authors Tea, which celebrated the literary accomplishments of its students. Families and staff toured the classrooms and listened to students present their personal creations. Among the offerings were captivating fairy tales and creative comic book stories.

Students in one classroom wrote about their favorite off-campus trips, which served as a testament to the wide variety of educational, adventurous and fun activities Spaulding regularly schedules for students. Another classroom wrote and illustrated fun comic books – an assignment that encouraged broad use of imagination and artistic creativity. Students printed, illustrated and bound their books, which included works of fiction, non-fiction and poetry. The majority of students worked to bring their stories to a published level by having their book typed and proof-read and then creating a colorful cover and special sections, including About the Author.

“The annual Authors Tea provides our students with a unique literary opportunity that inspires creativity,” said Susan C. Ryan, President & CEO of Spaulding Youth Center. “The students take the original assignment and truly develop the most imaginative ways to freely express themselves. Not only do students earn a sense of independence and self-confidence from the project, but these accomplishments are shared with family, friends and peers during the event so that they can join the celebration.”

Annual campus events such as the Authors Tea are conducted to provide instructive and therapeutic outcomes for Spaulding students. This event in particular pro-

Shop local this season

Because the owners of local Main Street businesses are your neighbors.

Because it strengthens communities.

Because it creates goodwill and friendliness.

Because life is about connections, not transactions.

Because your gift will never be inexplicably “In transit” or “out for delivery” for days on end.

Because winter-scented air and snow crunching under boots can't be matched by the muted clicking sound when you hit the “Add to Cart” button.

Because we are meant to be in community with each other.

Because cinnamon-scented pinecones only happen once a year – perhaps thankfully.

Because online shopping doesn't come with a smile, a joke, or an offer to help you carry your purchases out to the car.

Because how else will you get your 10,000 steps in?

Because holiday seasons are fleeting, and moments create memories.

Because if something's not quite right, you can take it right back.

Because there might be free candy canes at the cash register.

Because it gives us an opportunity to demonstrate for our children how to ask questions, to use good manners and to be gracious.

Because holiday decorations spark smiles and excitement.

Because no “doorbuster” is worth having to roll out of bed with a belly full of leftovers at 3 a.m.

Because it beats standing in the freezing cold with a crowd around you all contemplating how best to take you out of the equation when that mall door opens.

Because in a strong local business community, everyone wins.

For all these reasons and more, we encourage our readers to spend their holiday shopping dollars locally on this biggest weekend of the year for the retail industry. At this time of reflection on what we are grateful for, we give our thanks to the local businesses that support us in our mission to bring you the news throughout the year, and we hope that all of you out there continue to support them in turn.

Best wishes from our staff to you and yours for a Happy Thanksgiving.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Let's keep integrity in our elections

To the Editor:

The integrity of our elections rests with the Secretary of State. For the first time in New Hampshire history, the pervasive influence of money is threatening the integrity of the Secretary of State's election. Special interests with clever names like “NH Forward” and “Free and Fair NH” are polluting the election process.

The Democrat party wants Bill Gardner – a Democrat – out of office. Why? Two reasons. First, because he dared to participate in the President's voter fraud commission, refusing to kowtow to Democrats who opposed it. And second, because he has scrupulously followed our ever-changing election laws and has done so without any partisan bias.

Enter Democrat avenger Colin van Ostern, who has raised over a quarter of a million dollars to buy the office of Secretary of State. Partisan money – out-of-state money, and lots of it – is being used to campaign for the office responsible for the integrity of our elections. Control the office, and you control the process. Putting an unabashed partisan wannabe into the Secretary of State's office will enable Democrats to do just that. It will turn a scrupulously non-partisan position into a political contest.

Let's talk specifics.

Van Ostern claims the Secretary of State's office needs modernization, yet he refuses to use the on-line campaign finance system to file receipt and expenditure reports. He files paper copies instead, making it much harder to “follow the money” in his campaign. Rather than embracing modernization and transparency by using the state's electronic reporting system, he deliberately made it harder to learn who's really behind this shameful episode.

Van Ostern raised more money in his campaign for Secretary of State than any General Election candidate for state office except the Governor and one state senate candidate. He's been anything but transparent with his filings. Required reports have been deliberately submitted on paper to keep the contents out of the searchable database. He changed formats on paper filings to make researching his donors almost impossible. In every required filing during his failed 2016 campaign for Governor he listed contributors in alphabetical order by first name, making it much harder to “follow the money.” His filing history is anything but transparent.

Van Ostern's entire campaign is about retribution against Gardner and loyalty to a party that wants to control the office overseeing our elections.

Gardner is a Democrat, and I'm a Republican. But I've supported him for Secretary of State, since I was a freshman State Representative in 2001, without reservation because his loyalty is not to any party or special interest, but to the integrity of elections and the people of New Hampshire. Thousands of legislators have supported him for decades – without the influence of Van Ostern's money and party politics – precisely because he has served our state with distinction and earned the unconditional trust and respect of every legislator we've sent to Concord.

Let's not pollute the office of our Secretary of State with out-of-state special interest money or partisan retribution. We deserve better. Tell your legislators you expect them to vote for unimpeachable integrity and scrupulous honesty. Tell them to keep partisanship and special interest money out of it. Tell them you want Bill Gardner as your Secretary of State.

STRATEGIES FOR LIVING

Thankful beyond words

BY LARRY SCOTT

“Thanks be to God!” wrote the Apostle Paul. “He gives us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ.”

There is so much for which I am thankful at this time of the year. Living in America, knowing Christ on a personal level, being financially stable, a family for which I have every right to be proud ... these are blessings I never take for granted.

And, I note with the Apostle Paul, I owe it all to God. Yes, I believe in God. The God the Bible portrays as a father figure, watching over his own with love and justice, is real. I have chosen to respect his design for my life ... and he has been good to me!

I was given the advantage of being reared in a Christian home. Thousands of babies were conceived at the same time I was, and yet I – the real, eternal me – was placed in the womb of an American woman who loved God and raised me accordingly. My father was a man of honor, a gentleman of great character who set an example and showed me the way to honesty and integrity. This accident of birth gave me a healthy start in life I could have discovered in no other way. Why me? I cannot justify the fact ... I am just thankful!

This is not to say that life has always been a walk in the park. Like so many others, I, too, have been to hell and back. But, with the Psalmist, I have discovered that “when I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, behold, you are with me.” And I am not alone. Most Christians will tell you that in their deepest, darkest moments, God has been there ... and he has not been silent.

We are thankful, and rightly so. For some of us, it is the result of being forgiven for an irresponsible past ... or undisciplined lust ... or an addiction to alcohol and drugs ... or a temper that is out of control. Yes, we have been there, and we have a lot of changing yet to do. But we have been forgiven, and that is beyond belief. We do not boast; we are just grateful.

Twenty years ago, I was recovering from bankruptcy, living on the road driving a long-haul truck, and without a clue as to how my future was going to evolve. Who could have predicted that within ten years I would be the beneficiary of a loving and stable marriage, own my own home, and, at 79 years of age, have great health! I have, indeed, been blessed beyond what I deserve.

My entire family will be together this holiday. A college tennis coach, a marketing manager, a preacher, an insurance manager, a real estate appraiser, a business executive, and four healthy great-grandchildren -- will make this a Thanksgiving to remember.

And it all comes

Reasons to be thankful

BY DONNA RHODES

drhodes@salmonpress.news

Occasionally, I have the opportunity to step outside my roll as a staff writer/reporter to share observations with our readers, and I am so happy to do so this year as Thanksgiving approaches.

The best part of my job is the interaction I have with people from many towns and many walks of life, and over the past year, I have taken note of all they have been thankful for. The list is virtually endless, but I thought I would share some of them now, along with additional notes of gratitude readers sent in to me in the past week.

Volunteerism is a topic that comes up time and again when people give thanks in towns from Warren to Waterville, Belmont to Danbury and all points in between. Without volunteers each town said events like Old Home Day, Danbury's Grange Day, the concert series in towns like Belmont, Bristol, Hebron and Plymouth, sporting events in all towns along with countless more family activities would never take place. Volunteers also help beautify their communities, which encourage people to stop and visit. Drop by Main Street in Ashland or Campton to see what volunteers do to welcome their residents and visitors alike. They take care of the environment and promote healthy living while supporting non-profit groups through events like the N.H. Marathon, Run Your Buns Off, the Newfound Country Store's upcoming Turkey Trot, the Belmont Road Race and countless more community races.

Volunteers also organize major events, such as Plymouth's upcoming Hometown Holiday Celebration next weekend, and the Holiday parade and fireworks scheduled for Tilton. They organize patriotic tributes on Memorial Day and Veterans Day and offer fun activities for the youngsters in each town all year long.

Most of all, volunteers also help their neighbors. They check on them in bad weather, raise money for worthy causes, and help feed local children who might otherwise not have meals and healthy snacks when not in school.

Over the holidays, many towns have groups of caring people who will be delivering food baskets to needy families and the elderly. Local fire departments, such as Tilton-Northfield Fire & EMS, will be contributing winter clothing through a Warm Coats program to the Tilton-Northfield-Sanbornton Santa Fund. Many families, I'm sure, will be thankful for the donations from them and other fire departments that take part in this annual initiative.

We are all very thankful for your services.

When disaster strikes many brave men and women step up to keep people safe and there were many words of gratitude for the Bristol Fire Department and the other 21 towns who helped battle a four-alarm fire in Bristol earlier this year. As residents stood stunned outside their homes they still managed to express how grateful for they were for the men and women who came to their rescue. The community, and by that I again mean multiple towns from throughout the area, then stepped in to provide the victims with clothing, food, furniture, school supplies, housewares and everything else they might need to get their lives back on track.

One woman was thankful for a Thornton off-duty police officer who rescued her family caught up in river currents. Other rescue workers helped lost hikers, performed canine rescues, assisted those involved in accidents and more; all selfless deeds that brought gratitude for the Emergency Responders. Thanks to them all for their brave deeds but most especially for the military men and women who were honored this past Veterans Day for their heroic services and sacrifices as well.

Finally, there were the personal memos I received this week. Each contained heartfelt thanks for their families and special times they spent together this year; for the physicians or surgeons who gave them a new lease on life; the neighbor who reached out to assist in a time of need; and even a loving pet who brings them companionship.

One woman, who organizes a cultural high school exchange program each year, offered, "I am grateful for generous families who have opened their homes and hearts to students from around the world. Student exchange builds cross-cultural understanding."

Town officials also stepped in to share their thanks. One selectman said, "I'm thankful for community; the core group of townspeople who help make our town a great place to live and work."

Yet another town official said, "I'm thankful for a beautiful family, very involved and compassionate community, and most of all my health to continue to do what I love to do most...give back where I can."

Finally, a group of students at a local school shared their simple yet heartfelt gratitude in a way that only children can. They each gave thanks for moms, dads, grandparents, siblings, cousins and pets, all the things that mean the world to the very young. One child didn't forget an important item, though — God.

On this special holiday, I feel I should share all I'm grateful for as well. I first give thanks to my son and daughter-in-law and their amazing "Little Men" who made me Nana, and to my beautiful daughter and her fiancé. I am very thankful that we will be welcoming Kevin into our family next September. I'm also thankful for my siblings, my new great niece Ada Bell who was born on Nov. 10th, my parents and especially for my grandmother who will turn 101-years-old in December! We are so blessed!

Last but not least, I am grateful to the Salmon Press family for including me in their ranks and most importantly for all the amazing people and places I have come to know and love through this job. The fact that you willingly open up your homes, talents, services and experiences to me makes my job a very special one. My thanks to you are immeasurable.

Happy Thanksgiving one and all!

MARK ON THE MARKETS

Unintended consequences

BY MARK PATTERSON

In 1934, the Roosevelt administration put forth the "New Deal," which included the entitlement we know as Social Security. Originally, Social Security was not accessible until the age of 65. Now SS can be started at the age of 62 or even younger if disabled. When we started SS, there were 42 people paying into the system for every one person taking from the system, making it very solvent.

A generation of people born in the 1920's and '30's, some of whom fought in World War II and were later referred to as the Henry Ford generation but named the Greatest Generation by Tom Brokaw. Those soldiers who returned from WWII created the "Baby Boom" generation that is defined from 1946 through 1964. During that 18 year span, there were 78 million people born in this country. After this generation we have had Generation X and Gen Y blending in with the Millennials, all of whom have not had nearly as many children as that Baby Boomer generation.

The Baby Boomers are now retiring at the rate of 10,000 per day, driving the ratio from 42 contributors to one recipient of SS entitlements and Medicare/Medicaid to only three contributors to one recipient. Within the next ten years, the ratio will be 1 to 1.

Let's estimate an individual's annual SS and Medicare entitlements at age 66, which is full retirement age currently. Maybe $24,000 in SS and $15,000 in Medicare, not to mention any additional Veterans benefits. My high powered calculator tells me that in 10 years, every working person will have to support roughly $40,000 worth of entitlements annually that we Baby Boomers are collecting.

Our national debt is over $20 trillion, and will accelerate exponentially in order to just service the existing debt. With interest rates climbing, more pressure is applied on that debt repayment. The most recent downturns in the equity markets have been triggered by a spike in rates. You see, the equity(stock) traders love cheap money. In my opinion, the next recession will be brought on by the Federal Reserve raising interest rates to aggressively. We are already seeing a slowing in the housing market because of interest rates and the "wealth effect" wearing off with the stock market pull-back.

David Walker, who was comptroller of the US until 2008, has stated that we must double tax rates just to stay solvent. Cutting spending would obviously help, but Washington cannot seem to accomplish this. Just after WWII, our highest tax rate was 94 percent; in the 1970's, we had a top tax rate of 70 percent. In 2012, our highest rate went from 35 to 39.5 percent; last year, the tax reform act went into place, creating even lower rates and bigger standard deductions. So, we are close to historic lows for our tax rates, yet we still defer taxes until a later date. Tax diversification is extremely important, and if you are not taking advantage of some methods for paying taxes now at these low rates for tax free money in the future, I believe you will regret this.

down to this. "Thanks be to God who gives us the victory — through Jesus Christ our Lord." Our God is no man's debtor; he always gives more than he takes away. I cannot imagine what my life — and that of my family — would be like were it not for the influence Jesus Christ has had in each of our lives. We have been honored and blessed — and I am thankful.

Florence Dorothy Andrus, 86

Florence Dorothy (Readyhough) Andrus passed away peacefully on Nov. 15, 2018, while holding her daughter's hand. She was 86 years old. You probably knew her as Flo, but more likely as "Nana."

She was born Nov. 4, 1932 in Brooklyn, N.Y. to Rose Mary and Edward George Readyhough, one of 10 children. Her early work in New Hampshire was at the Laconia State School, caring for disabled children. She also worked for many years at Rumford Press in Concord. She was a very proud, hard worker. Her true life's work was being of service to others. After her husband Norman's passing she saw a need, and drove patients to White River Junction, Vt. for treatments. She baked countless bundt cakes and cookies, and donated her crocheted afghans for fundraisers of every kind. If her children or grandchildren mentioned that a teacher or friend had been especially kind to them, then they got an afghan, too. Those beautiful afghans made with her own two hands live on as part of her legacy. She was a life member of VFW Auxiliary Post 1698, and her passion was helping veterans. She cheered them at deployment sendoffs, welcomed them at homecomings, honored them by marching proudly in her blue Auxiliary uniform in parades and attending ceremonies, and filled countless care packages with her baked goods. She was extremely proud of her own grandson's military service. Her joys were a rousing Winnisquam basketball game, bingo, a winning scratch ticket, a warm summer breeze, and her family. Florence was predeceased by her husband Norman Lord Andrus, beloved parents, brothers and sisters.

She is survived by her beloved sister, Margaret Eustice; her sister-in-law and best friend, Mary Readyhough; her nieces and nephews. She leaves her children, Martha Andrus and husband Charley Arena, Marianne Chalut and husband Fred, and Joseph R. St. Jacques, Jr., and wife Donna; grandchildren David Andrus and wife Corinne, SSgt. Benjamin Lord Andrus, her Arena grandchildren, Melissa St. Jacques Kenney and husband Mark; Christopher Pelletier, Michelle Hanley and husband Jason; great grandchildren Madi-Lynn Hanley, Marky Kenney and Max Thomas Andrus. She also leaves her very dear friends Tammy Belmain Fleury and Lynnemarie Vanderheiden.

Her family wishes to thank the staff at Merrimack County Nursing Home and CRVNA and Hospice, who loved her and cared for her like their own Nana. There is a quote by Mother Teresa, "Not all of us can do great things. But we can do small things with great love." If you would like to honor her memory, do a small thing with great love.

Visiting hours were held on Tuesday, Nov. 20, 2018 from 5-7 p.m. at Thibault-Neun Funeral Home, 143 Franklin St., Franklin. For directions and an online guestbook, please visit www.neunfuneralhomes.com.

Scott Alan Sleeper, 52

GILFORD — Scott Alan Sleeper, 52, died on Tuesday, Nov. 6, 2018 from the rapid progression of Early Onset Alzheimer's Disease.

Scott was born on May 20, 1966 in Tilton.

Scott was a tremendous athlete in his high school years. He excelled in all sports, but was most remembered for being a soccer all-star and being invited to play in the Lions Cup for his outstanding performance on the Winnisquam High School soccer team.

Scott worked for Coca-Cola for 25 years. He proudly wore his Coke uniform, and loved being a route driver delivering Coca-Cola products throughout the lakes region and beyond. He drove a tractor trailer with the ease and grace of driving a pick-up truck and was adored by customers and colleagues.

Scott was devoted to his family and enjoyed creating joyful memories in everyday life, on special occasions and the special memories of family vacations...especially Disney World. He loved being outdoors hunting, skiing, camping, kayaking, fishing, hiking, and being at the ocean. Many of these special memories were shared with close family and friends. Laughter at home and by the camp fire was always abundant. Our memories are etched with Scott's full enjoyment of good friends, good beer and good humor.

Scott especially loved hunting and tracking with his brother Jimmy. Being in the woods was second nature to him. He could always find his way as if the compass rose was etched in his heart.

Scott was married to Denise Sleeper. They shared 29 beautiful years together after meeting on vacation in Aruba. They lived in Gilford with their two sons, Kyle Joseph Sleeper, 23, and Connor John Sleeper, 20.

From early on, Scott and Denise shared the philosophy that the future is not guaranteed so they fully embraced life by working hard, playing hard and not taking any moments for granted. It allowed them to live life with no regrets. Laughter and not sweating the small stuff became the hallmarks of their life together. This began the legacy of a life well lived with faith and family.

Scott was very proud of his mom, Peggy VanBennekum, for teaching him the importance of working hard and persevering through difficult times. His greatest desire for her was to be happy and enjoy life after working so hard all of her life. He always wanted her to know that he loved her and that life was good.

Scott will always be remembered for his love of family, love of the outdoors, his quick wit and contagious smile. He bravely endured Alzheimer's disease and has donated his brain for the on-going research of brain disorders to Mass General. In life and in death, Scott is making a difference by being the incredible person he was born to be. He would not want people to be sad, but he would want everyone to live life to the fullest, without regret and with lots of laughter because after all...life is good.

Scott is survived by his mother, Peggy VanBennekum, and her husband, Bill; his wife, Denise Sleeper; two sons, Kyle and Conner Sleeper; two brothers, Jimmy Pescinski and his wife, Christine and Mark Pescinski and his significant other, Kathy; and many nieces and nephews.

Northfield man pleads guilty to falsely obtaining Social Security benefits

CONCORD – Robert Gallagher Sr., 50, of Northfield, pleaded guilty in federal court to making false statements to obtain Social Security disability insurance benefits,

United States Attorney Scott W. Murray announced last week. According to court documents and statements made in court, Gallagher has managed and worked as a mechanic at since 2008. In May of 2012, Gallagher applied for disability insurance benefits and falsely claimed that he had been unable to work since Jan. 1, 2011. To receive disability insurance benefits, an individual must have a medical disability that prevents the claimant from performing “substantial gainful activity”—that is, work activity that is the type ordinarily done for pay or profit. Social Security advised Gallagher that he was required to report whether he was working, regardless of his income, and that if he provided Social Security with “false information on purpose, [his] benefits will be stopped.” However, although Gallagher was managing and working when he applied for benefits, he concealed his work activity from Social Security. As a result, Gallagher began receiving Social Security disability insurance benefits in October of 2013.

programs provide important support for qualified individuals,” said U.S. Attorney Murray. “Those who use fraudulent means to obtain benefits are committing a serious federal crime. We work closely with federal agencies to ensure that federal benefits only go to those who truly deserve them.”

“Mr. Gallagher’s false statements allowed him to collect funds from the Social Security Administration’s Disability Trust fund that he was not entitled to,” said Scott Antolik, the Special Agent-in-Charge of the Social Security Administration’s Office of the Inspector General Boston Field Division. “I hope these charges will be a warning to those who might lie to the Social Security Administration to fraudulently obtain disability benefits to the detriment of those who are truly deserving. I thank our partners with the New Hampshire State Police for their assistance with this investigation.”

In December 2016, during an in-person work activity review, Gallagher again told Social Security that he had not been working. In 2017, during an audit of Department of Motor Vehicle inspections by the New Hampshire State Police, Gallagher told the inspector that he worked approximately 47 hours per week as both a mechanic and state vehicle inspector. Gallagher subsequently admitted to an investigator from the Office of the Inspector General, that he had worked since 2008 and that he lied to Social Security when he claimed that he was not working. As a result of his concealment, Gallagher received Social Security disability insurance benefits that he was not entitled to receive from October 2013 through March 2017.

Gallagher is scheduled to be sentenced on Feb. 21.

Board members honored by Camp Resilience

Sharon Hilson of West Alton was recently recognized for her many contributions to the Board of Camp Resilience and the Veterans it serves. The event was the group’s annual meeting held at the Gunstock Inn. Hilson received an embroidered canvas tote bag from Camp Resilience founder and President, Kurt Webber of Gilford. Appropriately, Hilson and Webber posed for the presentation in front of the applause meter sign used recently by Camp Resilience at the Vets Got talent Show at Pittman’s Freight Room. In his remarks of thanks to Hilson, Webber pointed out that her service on the Board has really been awesome! Also honored at the event was Fireside Inn & Suites General Manager Frank Tuscano of Gilford, a long-time Board member. Tuscano and Hilson have spent hundreds of hours supporting the veterans attending Camp Resilience programs over the past four years. For more information about Camp Resilience and how you can help veterans, please visit www.prlri.us. Volunteers are always welcome.

Lecture on Ief Farms, Nov. 26 at Taylor Community

LACONIA — Where are the greens? In our neighborhood. In fact, they are served right in the Taylor Community Bistro. Come learn more about these local, hydroponically grown greens in a lecture at Taylor Community’s Woodside Building, Monday, Nov. 26 at 2 p.m. This event is free and open to the public.

When the people at Ief Farms thought about the journey most greens have to take to reach the Northeast — along with the lack of freshness, excess fuel consumption, and added shipping costs — they knew it was time to give the NE something fresh. An alternative to West Coast-grown greens, Ief Farms offers a smarter choice that not only allows people to buy local, it gives a cleaner, more delicious and environmentally sound option, right in our neighborhood.

operator to see all that is taking place in the room as they control it from their own computer. Businesses are also using it for employees who aren't onsite but need to take part in meetings and a sturdier outdoor version can assist in search and rescue missions and more.

"The Double essentially allows you to be in two places at once. It can be controlled from anywhere. Even if you are in China you can be here in New Hampshire at the same time through your computer," said Collins.

Introducing the students to careers in the physical sciences was meteorologist Hayley LaPoint, known for her televised weather forecasting on WMUR.

"While I am on TV a lot, I really think of myself as a scientist first. We're just the ones who come in contact with the public," said LaPoint.

She explained that she and other television meteorologists are just a few of literally thousands of scientists working around the world to examine the weather and relay its potential impact to the public. And to shoot down a myth, she said that like the others in her more public side of the field, they do not just go to Weather.com then read their forecast on air.

"That couldn't be further from the truth," LaPoint said. "I study the weather patterns and then come up with my own accurate forecast each day."

She told an all girls' group in one session of the round-robin style event that being a scientist has its challenges though for women breaking into a male-dominated world. LaPoint told them to keep working hard toward their goals.

"People also made fun of me in school because I was that weather nerd... but I used that as fuel to get me to my dream job," said LaPoint.

She also said that math was not her strong point in college but she worked hard to pass those necessary classes, meeting with professors every day for extra help so she could graduate and become a meteorologist.

Winnisquam Regional School District's Technical Integrator Maria Pearson organized this year's "STEMspiration-Inspiring girls to explore STEM careers" but both male and female students were included. The only difference was that all the inspiration came from women who have succeeded in the fields of science, technology, engineering and math.

methamphetamine, then sought evidence of more suspected drug activity inside the home.

"Officers also served a search warrant at the address and spent the better part of the morning collecting evidence removed from the home under the provision of the search warrant," said Capt. Richard Mann of the Belmont Police Department.

Kimball was eventually released on bail and will report to Belknap County Superior Court at an unspecified date to answer to the charge of felony drug sales.

Mann said this arrest was only part of the ongoing battle against drug addiction, and his department takes that matter quite seriously.

"The Belmont Police Department is committed to taking an aggressive stance against the issue of illegal drug sales in and around our community," he said. "We are very active in sharing information with our law enforcement partners to ensure maximum effort is put forth to address this problem."

Anyone with information about illegal drug sales in Belmont is encouraged to contact police at 267-8350. Residents in all towns can also utilize the New Hampshire toll free hotline, 1-800-NAB-DOPE (622-3673), to provide information on any drug activities throughout the state.

choose to live in New Hampshire, determine their satisfaction with residing in the state, how they would rank the quality of life here and determine if they plan on staying.

"The survey was a bit weighted by the response from people in the southern part of the state, but all regions were represented," Stewart said.

Through the survey, the group found that 52-percent of those individuals were born in New Hampshire while five-percent came here for higher education and 14-percent for a job. As far as their lifestyle, 41-percent own their homes and 21-percent live with family still, while others rent their homes or apartments.

"The majority of them living with family members said that was because they couldn't afford to pay rent; many because of student debt. We're the number one state in student debt," said Stewart.

Sadly, when asked how many friends or family members live nearby or are easily accessible, 21-percent of respondents said they are also friendless and 25-percent felt living in New Hampshire left them isolated from their family.

"That's concerning and disturbing when it comes to work force retention if they feel they're not engaged with their community in any way," he said. "With the Loneliness Factor, people are more likely to leave for other opportunities."

Other reasons young professionals tend to move to other states are due to the lack of affordable housing, lack of job or career opportunities, little access to cultural opportunities and entertainment, and the lack of public transportation.

When it comes to job availability however, Stewart said they have found there are many opportunities that people simply aren't aware of and a lack of people to fill many of those jobs.

"New Hampshire is the second oldest state in the country, even higher than Florida. We need more young people. Right now, there are over 20,000 open jobs, but we have more jobs than job seekers," he said.

There was good news though. The reasons listed by others who said they would stay in-state were the quality of the environment, parks and recreation areas, as well as the proximity to a variety of outdoor activities. Respondents also said they enjoyed the sense of community in their town or neighborhood, the affordable tax rate (excluding property taxes), and the fact that they perceive the state as a safe place to live.

At the end of the survey, it was revealed that 23-percent were completely satisfied with living in the Granite State and 36-percent were very satisfied. Overall, 19-percent of those surveyed said they will definitely not be moving, 29-percent probably won't move out of state, but 22-percent probably will move elsewhere and 14-percent said they will definitely be heading to another state.

One other observation that Stewart made is that this Millennial group of young adults like to live and work in close proximity to outdoor activities and experiences.

"They're 'off the chart' when it comes to the environment. Anything outdoorsy this group loves," he said.

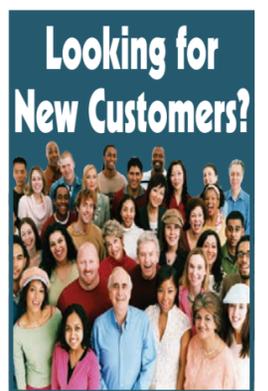

Mark Hayes of Highland Mountain Bike Park, located in Northfield, took heart in this information. He said his recreation area has seen up to 30,000 people visiting there each year for world class mountain biking. With a potential to grow even more, and with the natural resources it provides for hiking, snowshoeing and other recreational uses, he said it's a good time to be in Northfield and the surrounding towns.

Northfield Town Administrator Glenn Smith is also a member of the NEDC and agreed with Hayes.

"It is hard to overemphasize what Mark has done for this community. We're no longer on the edge of recreation in the Lakes Region, we're in the middle of it," he said.

Information provided by Stay Work Play New Hampshire will now be taken into consideration as the NEDC looks at future considerations to drive up the economic factors of the town.

Time to Think About Year-End Investment Moves

We've still got a couple of months left in 2018, but it's not too soon to start thinking about some year-end investment moves that might benefit you. Here are a few possibilities (although not all will apply to your situation): Add to your IRA. For the 2018 tax year, you can put up to $5,500 into your traditional or Roth IRA (assuming you are eligible), or $6,500 if you're 50 or older. If you haven't reached this limit, consider adding some money. You have until April 15, 2019, to contribute to your IRA for 2018, but why wait until the last minute? Increase your 401(k) contributions. You already may be investing in your 401(k) or similar employer-sponsored retirement plan, but you might be able to bump up your contributions for the rest of the year, if it's allowed. Of course, you should always put in enough to earn your employer's matching contribution, if one is offered. Take your RMDs. If you are 70½ or older, you must start taking withdrawals – called required minimum distributions, or RMDs – from your traditional IRA and your 401(k) or similar retirement plan. Generally, you must take these RMDs by December 31 every year. But if you turned 70½ in 2018, you can wait until April 1, 2019, until you take your first RMD. However, you will then have to take a second RMD (the one for age 71) by December 31, 2019. Taking two RMDs in one year could give you an unexpectedly large taxable income for the year, possibly bumping you into a higher tax bracket and affecting the amount of your Social Security benefits subject to taxes. So, if you are considering delaying your first RMD, consult with your tax advisor. Make changes in response to life events. In 2018, did you experience a major life event, such as a marriage, divorce or addition of a child? Or did you change jobs or retire? Any of these events could lead you to adjust your investment plans, so now may be the time to do so, possibly with the help of a financial professional. Review your investment mix. At least once a year, it's a good idea to review your investment mix to ensure it's still suitable for your goals and risk tolerance.

Sometimes, even without your taking any action, your portfolio might change in ways you hadn't expected. For example, suppose you wanted your portfolio to contain 60% stocks and 40% bonds and other investments. After a period of rising prices, though, the value of your stocks may have increased so much that they now occupy 65% of your portfolio – which means you may be taking on more risk than you had originally intended. Consequently, you may need to rebalance your portfolio to get back to your original 60% to 40% ratios. (Keep in mind that these figures are just for illustration; everyone's ideal portfolio mix will depend on their individual situations.) These aren't the only year-end moves you may want to consider, but they can help you close out 2018 on a positive note. Plus, they can serve as a reminder that you need to be vigilant as you keep working toward your financial goals.

"I've enjoyed working with One Light Theatre again!" she says.

Of course, putting on a production is a lot of work. Besides the music is all of the building, singing, and choreography.

"Learning the choreography has been a real pleasure," says actress Hillary Ayers. "I love seeing the orphan numbers coming together."

The choreography has been beautifully created and taught by Andover native Kyle Tremblay, whose daughters and husband are all on stage for the production.

The Tremblay family is not the only one that has made this a family-bonding experience. Shelly and Willow Harrington of Tilton play the infamous Miss Hannigan and orphan Tessie, respectively.

"I'm having a blast stepping out of my comfort zone and unpacking all the layers

She kindly added (in character, of course), "Oh, my goodness, One Light is the best!"

"Annie" features another beautiful set designed by Executive Director Jason Roy, who recently completed work designing parts of the Broadway set for "Rear Window," to open in January for a limited run.

The production is in Hamilton Hall at Tilton School on Friday, Nov. 30 at 7 p.m.; Saturday, Dec. 1 at 2 and 7 p.m.; and Sunday, Dec. 2 at 2 p.m. The production is general admission, and tickets are $16-$20 and can be purchased at onelighttheatre.org or by calling 848-7979. There is a group rate of $10 per ticket for groups of 10 or more people. Tickets are also available at the door.

Livernois, Archibald earn Coach of Year honors once again

BY BOB MARTIN

Bob@salmonpress.news

TILTON — The Winnisquam volleyball team had a dream season this past fall with an undefeated record and a second consecutive Division 3 state title. It takes great coaching to put together a season like this, and for that reason coach Mike Livernois and JV coach Kevin Archibald both won their third-straight coach of the year honors.

BOB MARTIN

Livernois was the recipient of the varsity coach of the year accolade while Archibald was the JV coach of the year, but Livernois pointed out that the partnership between the two of them is intentional. SEE COACHES, PAGE B3

Trio of Bears earn field hockey All-State nods

BY BOB MARTIN

Bob@salmonpress.news

TILTON — The Winnisquam field hockey team was impressive down the stretch and made a nice push into the playoffs as the seventh seed. Three young players who led the Bears all season were recognized with All-State nods, including sophomores Madison House and Eveline Auger making first team, and freshman Alexis Poole making second team.

Madison House

House was the center midfielder for Bears this season and was impressive from the beginning. She had 12 goals on the season and was a primary source of offense, as well as moving the ball up field for scoring opportunities.

“Wonderful athlete,” said coach Erin Cayer, who just finished her first season as the coach of the field hockey team. “A strong leader, motivator and always positive.”

House said she is proud of being named to the first team for All-State and is a sign that her hard work is paying off. She reflected on this past season and felt that the best game for the Bears as a whole was against Bishop Brady on Oct. 5 when Winnisquam squeaked by with a 2-1 win.

She recalled a point in the second half when Winnisquam received a corner and put the ball in the goal with just minutes remaining.

“This was a big deal for us because we were lacking the confidence we needed for the stronger teams,” said House.

Individually, she said her best game came against Newport in the opening round of the state tournament. House said during the game she was being pushed around and ended with a muscle injury, but in the first half she scored the lone goal for the Bears, which came off a drive from the top of the circle that she had been working on.

House admitted that with a very young team and a new coach, the beginning of the season had its tough moments. However this change ended up being for the good, she said.

“Our new coach brought new ideas and attitudes to our team,” said House.

House’s goal for next year is to continue to grow as a team and make it to the final four and to push herself as a player to make plays outside of her comfort zone.

Eveline Auger

Auger played defense for the Bears this season and had a goal to go along with a team high 15 assists. Cayer commented on Auger’s athleticism and said her sportsmanship also stands out.

“Positive attitude and team player,” Cayer said. “She is critical to the defensive end of WRHS field hockey.”

Auger said the All-State nomination was a major honor and said she couldn’t have reached this level without the help of coach Cayer and coach Maggie Lupo at Winnisquam, her club field hockey coach Kris McNamara and her family who have supported her along the way.

“Being named All State is one step closer to my goal of playing field hockey at the collegiate level,” said Auger. “I hope to open some eyes in the recruiting world, and continue to make myself known to potential schools I may be interested in. Being named All-State is a fantastic form of recognition that I am beyond happy to have received.”

Auger also felt one of the most memorable games was the battle against Bishop Brady on Oct. 5. She said individually she was proud of the way she played, as she had many defensive tackles and outlets, as well as aials- a skill she was working to perfect all season.

“Words cannot explain how proud I was of my team after this game,” said Auger. “Everyone played with heart, determination, and we were all hungry for the win.”

Auger’s goal for next season is to work on her vision in the game and gaining confidence in her play.

She also wants to help bring the Bears to the final four in the state tournament.

“In order to do this I believe we need to work extremely hard on individual skills and the execution of certain plays on the field,” said Auger.

Alexis Poole

Poole may be a freshman but she is playing beyond her years, with the second team All-State nod. Cayer described her as an “incredible midfielder” who is able to transfer positions to the forward line for added support in the offense.

“A young athlete but represented WRHS well on the field this year,” said Cayer.

Poole said she was surprised to have been nominated as a freshman and acknowledged the type of talent that she plays around. Poole has been playing field hockey since fourth grade and said it not only her favorite sport to play, but also something she does year round.

“For me this sport never really stops,” said Poole. “All this practice has really helped benefit me. Field hockey is a major part in my life. Playing this sport helps keep me in shape as well as it give a place to go and escape from the outside world.”

Poole said playing midfield is something she has learned to love, but has become very good at due to her athleticism. In the spring Poole will run track and she said this makes her a better runner and has helped with her endurance. She said there are parts of her game she still needs to improve, notably not dwelling on her mistakes. However, playing year round has helped her learn that mistakes happen to everyone and she needs to just keep going and not give up.

Poole said being recognized for her strong play this season has been a huge confidence boost, as the girls on her team have been supportive and built each other up to become better players. She said her teammates have always offered advice and suggestions on how to grow as a player, and she is thankful for helping her succeed.

“I can’t wait until next school season to come back and show Division 3 ‘Winnisquam field hockey is not a team to be messed with,’ as coach Cayer would say,” Poole said.

Wolves honored with Spirit of NH Award

LACONIA — The New England Wolves Hockey Program, based out of Laconia, was honored on Tuesday Nov. 13, with the Volunteer Program Champion Award by the Spirit of New Hampshire Awards. The award event was held at the Capital Center for the Arts in downtown Concord.

The Wolves, coming off the 2017-18 EHL/EHLP “Humanitarian of the Year Award” were chosen by the Spirit of New Hampshire Award committee, “In acknowledgement of your exemplary contributions to volunteerism and to the betterment of life in New Hampshire.” In person to receive the awards were co-owners Tim Kunes and Andrew Trimble.

“We are very appreciative to receive such an honor, and thank the committee for recognizing us,” said Trimble. “Giving back and paying forward is part of our programs culture here in Laconia. Receiving such an award, and standing with people who are serving in dangerous rescue zones, or with patients in hospice is truly humbling.”

In 2017-18 the Wolves dedicated more than 1,000 man hours to projects in the Lakes Region, including PumpkinFest, United Way Day of Caring, the Pond Hockey Classic, The Max Toy Drive (benefiting Boston Children’s Hospital) and much more. Additionally, they held benefit games for the NH Humane Society, Maria Mayne and the third annual JBT Benefit Game, which to date has raised almost $50,000 for the Cure Starts Now foundation.

On Sept. 24, the city of Laconia issued a proclamation naming the day “New England Wolves Day.”

For more information on the Wolves program, visit www.ne-wolveshockey.com or to present them with an idea on a community based project, e-mail Andrew Trimble at scoringconcepts@gmail.com.

Three Raider coaches earn D3 honors

BY BOB MARTIN

Bob@Salmonpress.news

BELMONT — The Belmont soccer teams were among the best in Division 3 and much of this was due to some great word on the sidelines. Belmont boys' soccer coach Mike Foley and JV coach Bill Brace, and girls' soccer coach Mark Dawalga were awarded coach of the year honors for the second consecutive year.

For Foley, this is his fifth overall coach of the year award and he said it is always humbling and surprising.

"I was truly surprised and I thought there were other coaches in the division who had better years, but this is a big honor," said Foley. "To see the fellow coaches feel highly of the program and the work that we've done is a great thing. It was unexpected."

The boys' soccer team went undefeated in the regular season and just missed making it to the finals. Belmont went to the semifinals and lost to eventual state champion Campbell in penalty kicks after a being scoreless in regulation.

It was a battle all season with Belmont and Campbell. Earlier in the regular season Belmont and Campbell tied 1-1. Foley said the team started off very slow and were like "deer caught in headlights," but from a coaching standpoint he felt this might have been his best game. Late in the game he changed things up to give the team a little extra offensive attack to tie the game with three minutes left.

"As a coach, you can truly impact a game and this was one of those in-game decisions," said Foley.

The best game played all year, he said, was against Prospect Mountain in the second to last game of the season where the Red Raiders came away with a convincing 5-0 win. He said the team went in knowing they needed to bring their "A game" and they fired on all cylinders.

"The way we played that day is what a coach would like to mimic on a daily basis," said Foley. "It was a fun game to watch."

In high school sports, it helps to have a good JV coach and this is the case with Brace in Belmont. With Belmont very senior heavy this year, the players being groomed at the JV level will be the ones starting and making plays at the varsity level for years to come. Foley said having Brace in the program has been vital to the team's success over the past five years.

"The beauty of having him in our program is that I coached both of his sons and Bill was always around," said Foley. "He really understands what we are trying to do on a day in and day out basis. He is great with the young kids here."

Brace said it is an honor to be recognized by his peers in back-to-back years for his coaching. He said these type of accolades show that the program in Belmont is consistent and that players are willing to work hard to improve as a group.

"I continue to work with coach Foley to bring the varsity philosophy to the JV level," said Brace.

Brace said the best game of the season for his squad was against St. Thomas in the final game. Belmont played the game with only one substitute and everyone on the team stepped up and played well in a 3-2 victory.

"It really showed how much we had improved as individuals and more important as a team," said Brace.

Brace said his goals for next year are to continue to work on fundamentals and to teach incoming freshman and returning players what it takes to be compete at the varsity level.

For the girls' soccer team, Dawalga also won his second straight coach of the year award. He echoed the comments of Foley and Brace, saying it is an honor and also a surprise. Dawalga added that this type of coaching is what Belmont soccer is all about.

"These awards are team awards and I strongly believe that," Dawalga said. "It represents the quality of kids we've been very important to have in our program the last couple years. The credit really goes to them. We have a lot of great coaches in D-3 so, for me, I'm very honored."

The Red Raiders were the number one seed in the state tournament and had a 13-3-1 record overall. The team lost to Raymond in the quarterfinals.

Throughout the season, Belmont had to deal with adversity with key players like Katie Delisle going down with injuries, and how to switch up the lineup accordingly. This is not always easy to do as a coach and for the players involved, but he was proud of how his players responded.

A game that stands out to Dawalga is a game against Campbell, which followed a tough loss against Inter-Lakes. It was a 1-0 overtime win with a team that was shorthanded due to sicknesses and injuries.

"I think that was a turning point for the group," said Dawalga. "It was a big turnaround."

BOB MARTIN

Kevin Archibald was named the JV Coach of the Year for the third straight year.

gral to the success of the volleyball program.

This is the fourth award for Livernois, with his other coming in 1998. He said it is always a real honor when you are recognized by peers.

"They truly know how hard it is to do what we do," said Livernois. "Especially when you are coaching because we are all competing for the same thing. It is a wonderful honor to be recognized. I appreciate that people have recognized the job we've done the past few years."

Winnisquam has been among the top teams in Division 3 for many years, and over the past two seasons the team has only lost one game. He said this not only speaks to the quality of the coaching staff, which also includes Jonathan Ledoux, but also the time and dedication that the athletes constantly put in.

"We have had some really great players for the last nine years," Livernois said. "We are 149-23 over nine seasons with four titles and two runners up. I think that speaks volumes to the level of players we have had, but it also speaks to the community. We have great parents who go out of their way to support the program and that takes a lot of burden off the coaching staff."

Livernois said the parents are the ones who get their children to practices, bring them to camps to improve their skills, run the snack shacks, sponsor team feeds and more. He said the success of the Winnisquam volleyball program is a complete, team effort.

"It is a lot of effort to organize these things," said Livernois. "The parents buy in, the players buy in, the athletic director and training staff do a great job and the coaches buy in. I think it takes all those pieces to work."

Livernois said another major key is the strong JV program, and he felt that nobody is more deserving than Archibald for this award for the third straight season.

"Kevin goes to every one of my practices," Livernois said, adding that Livernois and Ledoux have been fixtures on the team for nearly a decade. "Typically, we practice Tuesdays and Thursdays and he always has the early practices. So, he does that and stays and does my practice with me. It is a good system and part of why we are successful."
