Sanbornton Celebrates its 250th with a bang

SANBORNTON - On July 10th (rain date July 11th) celebrating our town's 250th, Sanbornton's Old Home Day celebration will end with a bang! Beginning at 6 p.m. at the Town Park (180 Shaw Hill Road) there will be food truck fare (Mak'n Ends Meat), entertainment to include BJ Hickman the Magician, a DJ for music, and a vertical climbing wall, with the grand finale fireworks at dusk. Continuing the Old Home Day tradition, t-shirts and raffles will be sold with the exciting draw of the Quilt winner. This is a BYOC/B (Chair/Corn Hole or Blanket) event. We hope to see you there!

Hassan visits Bank of NH Pavilion as shows come back

Hassan talks with Bank of NH Pavilion leaders onstage.

BY ERIN PLUMMER

GILFORD - Bands are booking again, crews are back to work, and excited fans are back in the seats at Bank of New Hampshire Pavilion after a difficult down year due to the pandemic. US Sen. Maggie Hassan recently took a tour of the pavilion and talked about different ways she is working to help businesses like theirs.

Sen. Hassan paid a visit to Bank of NH Pavilion on Thursday, getting a guided tour from Bank of NH Pavilion general manager R.J. Harding, "Queen of All Things Awesome" Bridget Harding, and other representatives. After the tour, Hassan and pavilion leadership took seats at a roundtable onstage and talked about the challenges the venue has faced in the past year and options for getting some federal help.

R.J. Harding said when the pandemic started, they initially thought it would be a three to six week down period to "flatten the curve."

"As a few months unfolded we realized that that was we were in for a much longer haul,"

Harding said. "Basically our entire industry just stopped for the entirety of 2020."

He said while statistics showed 95 percent of the industry was canceled, it meant 95 percent of their revenue was canceled.

Harding said the venue had been run independently for a long time, though in 2018 they created a partnership with the worldwide entertainment company Live Nation. Because of their partnership with Live Nation, they were ineligible for many forms of federal funding, including Paycheck Protection Program (PPP) funding, because the company had too many employees to qualify.

Hassan said Bank of NH Pavilion and many other businesses can get some help from the Employee Retention Tax Credit (ERTC), a program that provides payroll tax relief and upfront payments to businesses.

Hassan headed up a bipartisan effort to expand the program to more businesses, including entertainment venues like Bank NH Pavilion. Hassan said expanding this program could provide needed funds for businesses who had additional expenses outside of what as covered by the PPP. It also covered businesses that might have been excluded from programs like the PPP.

"I kept thinking there are all these businesses that started during the pandemic and were not going to help them?" Hassan said.

Harding said this assistance would be greatly appreciated.

He said they were able to "hunker down for a year," but were able to bring back their entire workforce on Jan 1. Harding did say there were worries the 2021 season would have to be canceled as well.

Bank of NH Pavilion organized a number of limited capacity shows going with state guidelines and managed to get some acts to schedule. While state guidelines have relaxed and venues can be at full capacity, Harding said the first 12 shows of the season were scheduled at reduced capacity. Shows will be at full capacity starting with The Black Crowes on July 24.

Like many other businesses, Bank of NH Pavilion has had difficulties getting new staff. Harding said a lot of people might be blaming the pandemic, but he recalled this being an issue in 2019 that the pandemic exacerbated.

When the pavilion reopened a lot of staff members came back.

"For the most part as shows started coming back I started reaching out to people and they were just as excited as I was," said Backstage

The Loon Preservation Committee urges boaters to keep an eye out for loons with chicks "It's a full-time job for MOULTONBOR-OUGH — As the Fourth of July holiday weekend approaches, the Loon Preservation Committee is reminding boaters to drive cautiously and give loons their space.

July 8, 2021

"While an adult loon can dive to avoid being hit by a rapidly approaching boat, loon chicks are more buoyant and are less able to escape," said LPC Senior Biologist and Executive Director, Harry Vogel. "During this busy holiday weekend and throughout the rest of the summer, we're asking boaters to keep an eye out for loons and give them plenty of space -150 feet or more.'

While motorized boats are the ones most likely to injure or kill loons, human powered vessels such as kayaks, canoes, and stand-up should paddleboards also keep their distance from loons on the water, especially those that have chicks.

BELMONT POLICE LOG

BELMONT – The Belmont Police Department reported the following arrests during the week of June 21-28

Janelle D. Moulton, 33 of Belmont, was arrested on June 21 and charged with two counts of Subsequent Possession of a Controlled Drug.

Joshua M. White, 33 of Belmont, was arrested on a warrant on June 23.

Nicholas Paul Gauvreau, 37 of Belmont, was arrested on June 24 and charged with Disorderly Conduct.

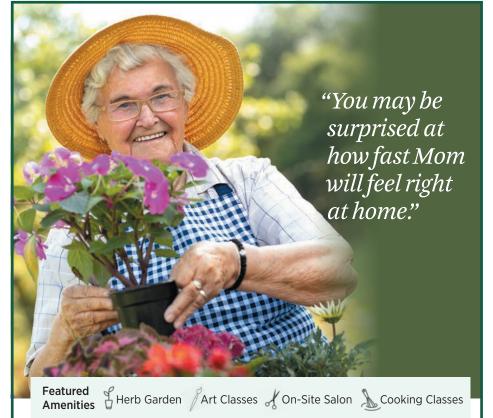

Travis W. Parsons, 34 of Gilmanton, was arrested on June 24 and charged with Driving After Revocation/Suspension and on bench warrants.

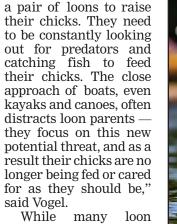

Lydia Michelle Perkins, 21 of Concord, was arrested on June 24 and charged with DUI, Operating Without a Valid License, and Driving After Revocation/ Suspension.

Tara L. Daoust, 39 of Laconia, was arrested on June 26 and charged with Carrying or Selling Weapons, three counts of Possession of a Controlled Drug, and arrested on two warrants.

Haleigh I. Picard, 23 of Pembroke, was arrested on two warrants on June 26.

nests are hatching now, many others will not hatch for a few more weeks. The Loon Preservation Committee says that it is just as important to give nesting loons their space.

"When boats — both and humotorized man-powered approach nesting loons too closely, the loons perceive that as a threat. They'll often get off of their nests and into the water, which leaves their eggs exposed to threats like predators or the elements," said LPC Volunteer and Outreach Biologist, Caroline Hughes.

If boaters accidentally flush a loon from the nest, they are urged to leave the area immediately so that the loon can resume incubating its eggs area, most of the time that loon will get right back up on the nest. The issue comes when the boat sticks around when that happens, the loons may abandon their nest entirely," Hughes said.

Meanwhile, to prevent loon deaths from lead poisoning, the Loon Preservation Commit-tee and New Hampshire Fish and Game have again teamed up with eight local tackle shops to offer a lead tackle buyback program to help anglers dispose of lead sinkers and jigs that are now banned by state law.

From now through the end of the year, or until all of this season's certificates are claimed, anglers can exchange one ounce or more of banned tackle (jigs and sinkers) for a $10 gift certificate redeemable at participating shops in Bristol, Effingham, Errol, Holderness, Meredith, New London, Newbury, and Raymond. Full details of the buyback and participating shops can be found online at www.loonsafe.org. Collection receptacles for old lead tackle can

Gary Groleau Receives Norman Marsh Award at Belknap EDC 2021 Annual Meeting

LACONIA – Belknap EDC was thrilled to host its Annual Meeting in person last Thursday, June 24 at the Colonial Theatre in Laconia.

The mood was upbeat as Belknap EDC and its guests celebrated a year of accomplishments in the location of one of Belknap EDC's biggest projects, the Colonial Theatre Project, which has been years in the making and achieved completion this year. All attendees were treated to a cocktail hour on the beautiful Colonial Theatre stage followed by a casual and positive annual meeting program hosted by Belknap EDC Chairman of the Board, Chris Walkley and Belknap EDC Executive Director, Justin Slattery.

The event was sponsored by gold sponsor: Meredith Village

Facts about Independence Day

One of our favorite holidays to write about is Independence Day. We all know the stories of our forefathers, John Adams, Sam Adams, George Washington, Paul Revere, James Madison, Benjamin Franklin, and Alexander Hamilton to name a few. However, the history is endless. We thought we would shine a light on aspects surrounding Independence Day that aren't commonly known.

The famous painting that depicts the signing of the Declaration of Independence isn't exactly an accurate portrayal. All of the delegates were never together at the same time in Philadelphia. The final signing took place roughly a month later on Aug. 2. The Declaration was formally dated and adopted by Congress on July 4, however Congress voted for independence on July 2.

Celebrating their new independence, soldiers along with civilians tore down a statue of King George III and melted it into bullets. In Georgia, people burnt the King in effigy and even held a faux funeral service. In Philadelphia, the King's coat of arms was burned in a bonfire. Massachusetts was the first state to recognize July 4 as a holiday in 1781.

In 1777, fireworks could be seen in the sky and the ringing of bells rang through the night in Philadelphia. Ships were decorated and lined the coast and streamers could be seen flying in celebration everywhere. The oldest annual parade takes place in Bristol, Rhode Island; 2020 will be the town's 235th consecutive celebration after its start in 1785.

In New England, dining on salmon became tradition. The story behind the popular cuisine, is due to the influx of salmon that summer. Along with the salmon, people had peas and turtle soup.

One common fact is that Thomas Jefferson and John Adams both died on July 4, 1826. James Monroe also died on the fourth of July in 1831. President Calvin Coolidge was born July 4, 1872.

Left out of mainstream history was the story of Crispus Attucks, the first to die in the patriot cause. Attucks was a black/Native American patriot who was shot, and the first to fall during the 1770 Boston Massacre. Attucks was a runaway slave who was a rope maker and sailor. History says he was shot by two musket balls to the chest. In 1778, it became legal in Rhode Island for free and enslaved blacks to serve

STRATEGIES FOR LIVING

BY LARRY SCOTT

[From "The Making of a Model," the book I have been writing for the last four years, now submitted for publication and slated to be available within the next three months].

As my father stepped from his second-floor office in our home one morning in 1949, he could scarcely believe what he was seeing on the floor 12 feet below. Lying face down, bleeding from the left ear, and unconscious, he saw what was left of me following a fall that came perilously close to ending my life.

The stairway that led to the ground floor of our home was sided by a winding, smooth banister that no self-respecting 10-year-old could ignore. The trick was to slide down the banister and reach the first floor in record time. This time I missed! How I survived I do not know but, surprisingly, my injuries were minimal. Despite a broken collarbone and reduced hearing in my left ear, I recovered completely within just a few months.

And now, the rest of the story.

My parents were missionaries, and, at the time of this incident, we were living in Cusco, Peru. A week or so later, my father received a letter from a lady in the United States he had, to the best of his knowledge, never met. "Could it be," she wrote, "that you had a particularly bad day on Wednesday? As I was working around my home, I felt a special burden to pray for you. I stopped what I was doing, prayed for you and your family until the burden lifted, and I write to let you know of my experience and ask how you and your family are doing."

My Story

My father wrote back, thanking her for her faithfulness, and never heard from her again. But that was the very day our family was in desperate need of divine intervention.

Some will say that my experience was just a fortunate coincidence. It is amazing, however, how often such coincidences follow a request made to our Heavenly Father. God answers prayer. Our Father is a Master Strategist, and He has an uncanny way of controlling events whereby all the pieces fall into place at just the right time!

Skeptics may call it circumstantial; we call it God.

the cause, with freedom as part of their payment.

Educated by her owners, Phillis Wheatley was a well-known poet during those times. Wheatley was kidnapped in West Africa and brought to America. At the age of 20, in 1773, she became the first African American and third female to publish a book of poetry. She eventually became free. She also advocated for independence, writing in support for George Washington's Revolutionary War in her poem, "To His Excellency, General Washington." Washington, impressed by her talent invited her to a meeting.

In 1958, when Alaska and Hawaii were on deck to become states, a history teacher assigned his class to design a flag depicting the two new states. Robert Heft, 16, received a B- on the project. Unhappy with the mark, Heft sent the flag to Dwight D. Eisenhower. After the flag was chosen, Heft had his grade changed to an A.

Another fun fact is that Thomas Jefferson wrote the Declaration on what was referred to as a laptop. A writing desk that could fit over a person's lap.

In 1778, Washington ordered a double ration of rum for soldiers to celebrate with.

In 1776, there were roughly 2.5 million people living in America. The current population is now 325.7 million.

Wearing an American flag, whether it be on a teeshirt, headband, towel or shorts, is in violation of the Flag Code. The code says that you are in violation if you sell, display any "article of merchandise, upon which shall have been printed, painted, attached, or otherwise placed a representation of [the flag... in order to] advertise, call attention to, decorate, mark, or distinguish the article or substance on which so placed." The code, however, is not enforceable.

Gallery to offer fairy house class for families in July

SANDWICH - The Center Sandwich Fine Craft Gallery will be offering a new class on Tuesday, July 27 in the design and creation of Fairy Houses. The class is specifically geared for families so that children (ages 9+) can work with parents or grandparents to make whimsical fairy houses. Each participant, child and adult, will be able to create their own mini fairy house using garden stones, glass baubles, cement and even personal treasures brought from home. Although the class is a great activity for families, adults are also welcome to attend the class on their own. The class will be led by Patsy Frasier who has been a mixed media crafter since childhood. The core of her creativity is to "focus on fun" and this class will be an opportunity for students to do just that.

The Gallery is also holding three additional classes in July starting with a Needle-felting session with Diane Johnson. In this class, students will be creating a small world pin-cushion using a four inch clay pot or a teacup. This class will be held on Thursday, July 8. On Wednesday, July 14, Cindy Stanton will be teaching Introduction to Mosaics. This will include an introduction to the design and methods for making mosaics. Participants will be able to produce a 4"x4" mosaic of their own design. On Thursday, July 22, Stone Carver and Artist Ellen Sidor will be teaching a class on Stone Chip Carving for students to learn how to shape soft stone chips into worry stones, fidgets or tiny gifts.

Details on the all of the classes and registration are available on the gallery website (centersandwich.nhcrafts.org). Additional classes are also being offered in August and September. The Center Sandwich Fine Craft Gallery is located at 32 Main Street in the historic village of Center Sandwich. The Gallery will be open through mid-October from 10-5 on Monday through Saturday and 12-5 on Sunday.

> Pardoe Foundation gives 15 new grants as it winds down

LACONIA - The Samuel P. Pardoe Foundation has awarded $600,000 in multi-year grants as it prepares to wind down its grantmaking program in the Lakes Region. A total of 15 valedictory grantees were selected to receive an annual grant from the Foundation for each of the next four years in recognition of their vital roles in the community.

"The valedictograntees share the ry Pardoe Foundation's long-standing commitment to meeting the needs of Lakes Region residents and protecting the region's environment" said Charles H.

Pardoe, President of the Foundation.

The Foundation expects to announce additional wind-down activities, including support for certain capital projects and partial funding for programming at Prescott Farm Environmental Education Center, in 2022. A Master Plan for Prescott Farm was recently approved by the City of Laconia.

During the next four to five years, the Foundation board will plan for the eventual sunset of the Pardoe Foundation. The Foundation's grant application portal is now closed. Over the past 25 years, the Foundation has donated $11 million in grants for education, human services, and land and resource management to Lakes Region organizations.

The Samuel P. Pardoe Foundation was established in 1989 under the will of Samuel Prescott Pardoe. The Foundation moved its operations in 1997 from Washington, D.C. to Laconia, New Hampshire, where it focused on supporting a variety of local charities, including Prescott Farm Environmental Education Center on White Oaks Road in Laconia. Valedictory grants have been awarded to: Audubon Society of New Hampshire, Belknap County Conservation District, Granite United Way, Lake Winnipesaukee Association, Lakes Region Community Services, Lakes Region Conservation Trust, Lakes Region Mental Health Center, Lakes Region Planning Commission, New Beginnings, New Hampshire Center for Nonprofits, New Hampshire Catholic Charities, New Hampshire Preservation Alliance, Society for the Protection of New Hampshire Forests, the

Don't let investments go on vacation

Now that we've gained at least some space from the COVID-19 pandemic, summer travel is heating up. But while you might be eager to hit the road, you won't want your investments to take a vacation - you need them to work hard for you consistently. But how can you make this happen?

Here are some ideas:

• Know your destination."If you don't know where you want to go, then it doesn't matter which path you take." This bit of wisdom, paraphrased from the classic children's book, Alice's Adventures in Wonderland, may be appropriate for, say, hikers exploring a new landscape. But as an investor, it matters a great deal which path you take. If you only dabble in investing, occasionally putting some money into one investment or another, it will be difficult to build a portfolio that's consistently working in your best interest. It's important to create a long-term investment strategy based on where you want to go in life - that is, how long you plan to work, what sort of retirement lifestyle you envision, and so on.

• Match goals with investments. Some investments are designed to achieve certain goals. To illustrate: When you contribute to an IRA and a 401(k) or similar employer-sponsored plan, you're investing for one specific, long-term goal: a comfortable retirement. While you can tap into these accounts for other purposes - though doing so might incur immediate tax-es and penalties – they are designed to provide you with income during your retirement years. Similarly, you may have other investments for other purposes, such as a 529 education savings plan. Here's the key point: Goals-based investing, by its nature, can help ensure your portfolio is always working on your behalf, in the way you intended. This article was written by Edward Jones for use by your local Edward Jones Financial Advisor. Edward Jones, Member SIPC

· Invest for growth. Ideally, hard work produces results, and one of the main results you want from your investments is growth - that is, you want your investments to appreciate in value so they can eventually help you meet your goals. But if you are overconcentrated in vehicles such as certificates of deposit (CDs) and government securities, you may end up lowering your growth potential. That's not to say that CDs and Treasury bills are in some sense "lazy." They can provide you with income and help you reduce the impact of market volatility on your portfolio. But to achieve most of your goals, you'll need a reasonable number of growth-oriented investments working for you, with the exact percentage based on your needs and life stages

• Check your progress. How else can you ensure your investments aren't just taking it easy? By checking up on them. If you follow a buy-and-hold strategy, your portfolio shouldn't require many changes if it already reflects your goals, risk tolerance and time horizon. Too much buying and selling could jeopardize your ability to follow a consistent, long-term strategy. However, "buy and hold" doesn't mean "buy and forget." By reviewing your portfolio at least once a year, you can determine if your investments are performing as they should. If they're not working for you as you'd like, you may need to make some changes.

If you're traveling this summer, relax and enjoy yourself - but keep those investments working hard.

Before investing in bonds, you should understand the risks involved, including credit risk and market risk. Bond investments are also subject to interest rate risk such that when interest rates rise, the prices of bonds can decrease, and the investor can lose principal value if the investment is sold prior to maturity.

Sasha is a wonderful girl who loves to play! She is perfect if you are looking for lots of personality in a medium sized package! Sasha loves to play with her toys, and already has excellent house training habits. Sasha is working on her leash skills, impulse control skills, and sharing her things. She is looking for a quiet home, where she can continue building her skills with positive reinforcement, and get lots of play time and walks! Sasha would do well in a home with adult humans, no cats, and no dogs- she wants to be your one and only four legged friend!

My face says it all! I am a man of mystery and adorableness, and yes that is word. The world is a big, loud place my friend and I am not sure I am a fan of those words. Small and quiet win me any day. I think that my future home understands that. Perfect cats like myself need to have the most perfect home. I want a hideaway that consists of a warm bed and the time that I need to come out of my shell. I want attention, I just don't know how to ask for it. Alan Rattee Graduates from Hamilton College

CLINTON, NY - Alan Rattee of Northfield received a Bachelor of Arts degree from Hamilton College on Saturday, May 22, in a Commencement ceremony concluding the college's 209th year.

An economics major at Hamilton, Rattee now joins an alumni body of more than 24,000, many of whom have made important contributions to business, the professions, government, and the arts.

Ty Seidule, a military historian and the College's inaugural Chamberlain Fellow, was awarded an honorary degree and delivered the Commencement address. He advised the graduates never to stop learning and striving to achieve the College's motto, Know Thyself.

"Know your own history. Know your community's history. Keep questioning. Because that is really the only way to know thyself," he said.

Originally founded in 1793 as the Hamilton-Oneida Academy, Hamilton College offers an open curriculum that gives students the freedom to shape their own liberal arts education within a research- and writing-intensive framework. Hamilton enrolls 1,850 students from 49 states and 49 countries. Additional information about the college can be found at www.hamilton.edu.

Stage Manager and Labor Coordinator Ben Belanger. "They were very eager to get back."

Several employees, however, didn't return. Harding said in many cases the main concern wasn't safety but the availability of childcare and issues with school scheduled.

"They've had to find other jobs, people who work in hospitality and restaurants have had to do other things and they realize it's pretty great being home at night," Bridget Harding said. "You can't really blame them for that."

Belanger said that a few staff members didn't come back because they had found alternate careers or were going back to school. He said a number of them went to school and studied fields related to concert tech, including theater and other technical fields. As things started opening up, he said many of them were just getting their degrees.

Despite the challenges, Harding said they have top keep booking shows and so many artists are itching to get back onstage. While the venue's staff was out of work for a while, the touring crews have also been out of work and want to get back.

Belanger said it was emotional to be back.

"We're just really here to get back to it and very excited to do our absolute best," Belanger said. "Every show is the biggest show now whether its Dave Matthews or Kidz Bop we're just excited to be here.

Hassan said now people are energetic and excited to be out.

"Out here especially you can see it in their faces," Belanger said. "They're very, very excited to see live music again. "Looking at our schedule again we have a lot of really good live shows.

It's gonna be amazing."

Emma Womack, Vice President of Venue Partnerships Sponsorships, said they can feel the enthusiasm from the guests.

"It's not even the smiles, it's the feeling everyone has: the walking around and they're just so happy to be with their families or friends enjoying live music," Womack said. Hassan said this shows the power of live performances, something she said can't be properly replicated virtually.

"From the perspective of things to take for granted in life, I think people take arts for granted," Hassan said, "and you realize what it means to be with other people sharing an experience that kind of draws out the humanity in everybody which is what I always think of when I think of music and other performing arts in particular and just having missed that for over a year."

Harding said later getting Hassan's help meant a lot.

"It signifies we're there; it feels like we're almost, almost getting together to celebrate the return of the entire industry," Harding said. "Feels fantastic and her help in that was crucial here on the local part in New Hampshire and with the corporate off in Beverly Hills. That tax credit they were referencing, who knows what would have happened without the help of those things. It was a long win-

Foxwoods Resort Casino 301 marks NHMS's 50th NASCAR Cup Series race

LOUDON — The July 18 Foxwoods Resort Casino 301 at New Hampshire Motor Speedway (NHMS) will mark the 50th time the track will host the NASCAR Cup Series (NCS) for an event at the 1.058-mile oval.

A total of 24 different drivers have won Cup Series events at NHMS over the first 49 events at the track dating back to July 1993. Let's take a look at 10 of the most memorable moments through the years:

July 11, 1993

In the early 1990s, the NASCAR Cup Series was beginning to take hold as the most popular form of motorsports in the country, but missing from the series schedule was a visit to New England. In walked legendarv New England track owner Bob Bahre, who had transformed the former Bryar Motorsports Park in Loudon to one of the country's newest major speedways. The 1.058mile oval, then known as New Hampshire International Speedway, hosted its first Cup Series event on July 11, 1993, and one of NASCAR's biggest names was standing in victory lane at the end of the day as Rusty Wallace celebrated victory in the inaugural Slick 50 300.

July 9, 1995

By 1995, NASCAR's meteoric rise was in fast forward mode, and it was a young driver from sprint car ranks who was capturing the attention of everyone across motorsports. The legend of Jeff Gordon was taking shape that year, and New England fans got a firsthand glimpse of it in victory lane as Gordon won the Slick 50 300. It was the seventh Cup Series victory in Gordon's Hall of Fame career, which saw him win 93 events overall. He would go on to win seven races in 1995 and capture the first of four Cup Series championships. Gordon would shine in Loudon over his career, and to this day, hold tracks records for Cup Series starts (42), top-five finishes (16), top-10 finishes (24), laps led (1,373) and laps completed (12,267).

July 14, 1996

With 12 wins from 1990-1994. Ernie Irvan was a star on the rise in the Cup Series, and in August 1994, he was in a fierce battle with Dale Earnhardt Sr. for the Cup Series championship. But his career – and life - were nearly cut short in a gruesome crash at Michigan International Speedway. Irvan suffered a traumatic brain injury in the crash, and doctors did not expect him to survive. He returned to racing full-time in 1996, and on July 14 of that year, his comeback was completed when he held off his Robert Yates Racing teammate Dale Jar-

Sept. 19, 1999

Joe Nemechek was considered a journeyman racer, but hardly a threat to win in the Cup Series when he arrived in Loudon in September 1999. Before that weekend, Nemechek had made 179 starts in the Cup Series with only three top-five finishes. But everything changed on Sept. 19, 1999 when Nemechek led 72 of 300 laps to get his first career Cup Series victory in the Dura Lube/Kmart 300 at Loudon. Nemechek became the first of five drivers since 1993 to record their first Cup Series win at New Hampshire Motor Speedway.

Sept. 17, 2000

New Hampshire Motor Speedway has plenty of special meaning for Jeff Burton. The first Cup Series event at Loudon in 1993 was also his first event with the series. Burton found plenty of success at the track over his career, but was never more dominating than on Sept. 17, 2000, in the Dura Lube 300. Burton took the lead from the pole winner Bobby Labonte on the first lap and went on to lead all 300 laps for his record-setting fourth Cup Series victory at New Hampshire Motor Speedway. It marked only the third time in NASCAR's modern era that a driver led every lap in an event. Cale Yarborough had accomplished the feat in 1973 and 1978. No driver has done it since Burton at Loudon in 2000. Burton's four Cup Series victories at Loudon has only been matched by Kevin Harvick.

The event was pushed back to become the final event of the Cup Series schedule that season and was run the day after Thanksgiving. Teams and drivers were welcomed to the track by freezing temperatures on the morning of the race, but ultimately were treated to a beautiful fall day at the facility that saw Robby Gordon lead 17 laps to earn his first career Cup Series victory, becoming the second driver to accomplish that feat at Loudon. Jeff Gordon had a 15th place finish that day to clinch his fourth Cup Series championship.

Sept. 15, 2002

By the 2000 season, Jeff Gordon and Tony Stewart had paved the way for midwestern-based sprint car drivers to find a home in the Cup Series, and it was Ryan Newman who used that similar path to find his way to NASCAR. Newman arrived in the Cup Series with high expectations but went winless through his first 34 starts. His breakthrough came on Sept. 15, 2002, when he scored his first Cup Series win in the rain-shortened New Hampshire 300. Newman, who remains active in the series, has gone on to 17 more Cup Series wins.

Sept. 16, 2007

Clint Bowyer was becoming quickly а fan-favorite in the Cup Series when he arrived at New Hampshire Motor Speedway for the Sylvania 300 in September 2007, but the then Richard Childress Racing driver was still searching for consistent success in his second full-time season with the series. Coming into the Sylvania 300 that year, Bowyer had just seven top-five finishes in Cup races over his first 63 starts. At New Hampshire Motor Speedway on Sept. 16, 2007, he showed he knew how to dominate an event, leading 222 of 300 laps that day to record his first Cup Series win, becoming the fourth driver in series history to accomplish that feat at Loudon.

June 28, 2009

The racing world had high expectations for Middletown, Conn. native Joey Logano, who replaced Tony Stewart in the Joe Gibbs Racing No. 20 car for the 2009 season, but Logano was struggling through his rookie year by the time he arrived at Loudon for the June 28, 2009, Lenox Industrial Tools 301. Ultimately, Logano would find a way to win in one of the strangest fashions ever seen in a Cup Series event at New Hampshire Motor Speedway. Logano ran far from the leaders for most of the race, and his own wreck brought out a caution on lap 191 of the event. The crash put him off pit sequence with the rest of the field and with most of the top-running cars pitting, Logano cycled through to grab the race lead on lap 264. Rain began falling not long after, and the caution flew on lap 268 with Logano out front. After running to lap 273 under caution, the race was stopped, making Logano the fifth driver in Cup Series history to get his first series win at New Hampshire Motor Speedway. Logano has since gone on to 27 more series wins - including the 2015 Daytona 500 - and was the 2018 Cup Series champion for Team Penske.

edging out front down the backstretch. Hamlin went to Harvick's outside in turn three. and the pair made contact again through the final turn with Harvick winning the drag race to the checkered flag for victory at the Foxwoods Resort Casino 301. After the race, Harvick said, "We were leaving on a tow truck or winning today." It was Harvick's fourth Cup Series victory at Loudon, matching him with Jeff Burton for the track record.

Race weekend action gets underway on Doubleheader Saturday, July 17, with practice and qualifying sessions scheduled for the NA-SCAR Whelen Modified Tour (NWMT). The green flag drops for the Whelen 100 NWMT race at 12:45 p.m. followed by the Ambetter Get Vaccinated 200 NASCAR Xfinity Series race at 3 p.m. The NASCAR Cup Series (NCS) Foxwoods Resort Casino 301 will run at 3 p.m. Sunday, July 18, marking the 50th NCS race at "The Magic Mile."

Savings Bank awards $15,600 in scholarships to 18 High School Graduates

FRANKLIN - Franklin Savings Bank recently awarded $15,600 in scholarships to 18 seniors from seven area high schools located in the bank's primary marketplace to include Franklin High School, Gilford High School, Goffstown High School, Merrimack High School, Merrimack Valley High School, Merrimack High School, Merrimack Valley High School, Newfound Regional High School, and Winnisquam Regional High School. Presented to graduates during awards night, the scholarships were awarded through the FSB Scholarship Fund.

Ron Magoon, President & CEO, commented, "We are proud to support the aspirations of graduating seniors with goals to pursue higher education in their chosen disciplines. As a community bank, this is just one of many ways we support the communities we proudly serve. We are honored to be able to assist high school graduates and their families who may be faced with the challenge of paying for higher education."

Since 1994, the FSB Scholarship Fund has provided support to students in their pursuit of higher education. To date, the bank has awarded 665 scholarships totaling $363,379 to high school graduates. The Scholarship Fund represents the bank's commitment to helping families afford higher educational opportunities for their children who wish to attend college on a full-time basis. Visit FSBNH.BANK for more information on the bank's Scholarship Fund. November 23, 2001 The Sept. 11 terrorist attacks in 2001 forced NASCAR to postpone the New Hampshire 300, which had been scheduled to take place on Sept. 16 of that year.

In one of the most dramatic finishes to a Cup Series event at Loudon, Kevin Harvick and Denny Hamlin put on a full-contact duel over the final lap. Harvick led at the white flag with Hamlin bumping him up the track in turn one. The pair went side-by-side through turn two with Harvick Mus 12 and under.

Senior Companion Program of New Hampshire to resume community support

REGION - Community Action Program Belknap-Merrimack Counties Inc. (CAPBMCI), the sponsor of the Senior Companion Program of New Hampshire, is excited to announce that Senior Companion Program volunteers have resumed community-based services. The mission of the Senior Companion Program and CAPBMCI is to provide the opportunity for meaningful relationships for senior companions and their visitees. Through the Senior Companion Program, talented, active individuals, age 55 and older serve as volunteers providing companionship to homebound adults.

The primary purpose of the Senior Companion Program is to help isolated seniors develop relationships which encourage independence and help improve the quality of their lives. This free, federally funded program is designed for older adults ages 55 and older who may be isolated due to physical or emotional ailments.

"You came into our lives at the perfect moment. Not only did you bring sunshine and friendship into Grandma's life, but you also shed it into my life. You have given such love and kindness to all of us. We have missed you terribly the past few months, and cannot wait to see you again!"

The senior companion program is looking for caring, healthy and enthusiastic people to look in on some of the isolated elderly in our neighborhoods. If you are age 55, have a limited income, and can volunteer 10 hours weekly you might want to consider becoming that committed individual who will visit with two to five people in the community each week. In addition to the wonderful feeling you will get from helping others, the program also provides a non-taxable stipend. The non-taxable stipend means money that cannot be weighed against subsidized housing, food stamps or other government subsidies. Other benefits of being a senior companion volunteer include: mileage, training, personal days, secondary insurance coverage, and recognition.

Cathy, program participant for over two years, happily exclaimed, "Without Pat (Senior Companion), I would have nobody. She is a good friend and I look forward to her visits each week." Additionally, Senior Companions give family caregivers peace of mind, and a much-needed break. "He is a Godsend," says Lorraine receiving respite for her husband. "Richard (Senior Companion) helps me in so many ways." Lorraine's husband has had a Senior Companion for over two years. She reports that visits allow her time to get things done, making family visits more enjoyable and less stressful.

Becoming a Senior Companion is easy. Just call the offices of the Senior Companion program at 603-225-3295.

Fun By The Numbers

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Looking for Senior Companions to make a difference

REGION - The primary purpose of the Senior Companion Program is to help isolated seniors develop relationships which encourage independence and help improve the quality of their lives. This free, federally funded program is designed for older adults ages 55 and older who may be isolated due to physical or emotional ailments. If you are a homebound senior in such a situation, please call for support.

The senior companion program is looking for caring, healthy and enthusiastic people to look in on some of the isolated elderly in our neighborhoods. If you are age 55, have a limited income, and can volunteer 10 hours weekly you might want to consider becoming that committed individual who will visit with two to five people in the community each week. In addition to the wonderful feeling you will get from helping others, the program also provides a non-taxable stipend. The non-taxable stipend means money that cannot be weighed against subsidized housing, food stamps or other government subsidies. Other benefits of being a senior companion volunteer include: mileage reimbursement to and from the visitees home, training, paid snow/ heat days and personal days, secondary insurance coverage, and recognition.

Just taking the time to visit with someone, who has found themselves alone because their kids have moved away, a spouse has passed on, or their friends have chosen to live in a warmer climate can make all the difference in the world. You can chose to make that difference. Became a senior companion; it is easy. Just call the offices of the Senior Companion program; a part of Community Action Program of Belknap-Merrimack Counties at 603-225-3295. We cover the entire state of New Hampshire.
