Battle of the Bears goes to Winnisquam

Winnisquam baseball wins Coaches Cup under the lights in Laconia

BY JOSHUA SPAULDING Sports Editor

LACONIA between Newfound and Winnisquam baseball teams on Wednesday, May 12, had a special feel to it.

The Winnisquam baseball team celebrates winning the Coaches Cup last Wednesday against Newfound.

The game was being contested for the Coaches Cup, which is named in honor of Newfound's Ron Bucklin and Winnisquam's Scott Cote, and took place at Robbie Mills Field in Laconia, mostly under the lights.

Winnisquam coach Fred Caruso hoped to have ace Phil Nichols on the mound, but a pitch count issue in a previous game kept the senior thing on the Robbie Mills bump, but the blue and white Bears got a stellar performance from Mark Labonville and Kadin Burns on the way to the 5-1 win over the green and white Bears.

"We told our guys it's much better to play close games like this to get ready for the tourhurler from doing his nament," Caruso said. "We get a lot more out of games like this."

"It was a little bit of mental stuff and we couldn't hit the ball that well," Newfound coach Tim Moreau said. "But overall, I'm still pleased with the outcome, battling with a great team like Winnisquam for two games."

The game started with Labonville setting Newfound down in or-

Interviews underway for Tilton Police Chief

TILTON — After narrowing down the field of candidates from 25 to four, Municipal Resources Inc. completed its task of recommending the most highly qualified law enforcement officers to the Tilton Selectmen for consideration.

The Board, wanting community involvement in the process, appointed an experienced group of individuals to serve as the Interview Team for the Police Department's next Police Chief. That team included a Tilton Police Officer, a local Police Chief, a community member experienced in mental health, a long-standing and highly respected community member, and one Selectman. The Interview Team has narrowed the field to three finalists who will be interviewed over the next three weeks (one candidate a week) beginning with the first candidate on May 20.

Each candidate will have an opportunity to tour the new Police Department, meet with Police Department personnel and interested community members, and end with a non-public interview with the Tilton Selectmen. The community interviews will take place from 6 to 7 p.m. for the next three Thursdays (May 20, 27, & June 3) and are expected to take place at the Police Department at 45 Sanborn Rd. (Please call or check the Web site to confirm the location if you wish to attend.)

Selectman Ruggles, who serves on the Interview Team, said "We thought it was extremely important that stakeholders in our community have the opportunity to meet the candidates. We want this process to be open and transparent; our next Chief will lead us into 21st Century Policing, and embrace not only our community but also the tenets of the NH Commission on Law Enforcement Accountability, Community and Transparency"

To learn more about how you might participate in the process, please visit the Tilton Web site at tiltonnh.org or call Town Administrator Jeanie Forrester at 286-4521, ext. 101.

The pitfalls of 'senioritis'

We've all heard the term 'senioritis' — perhaps even experienced a case of it ourselves — but is this diagnosis real? After some lengthy research, we say absolutely.

Senioritis is defined as, "A supposed affliction of students in their final year of high school or college, characterized by a decline in motivation or performance." The end is near, with graduation just around the corner, and many seniors can taste freedom, but aren't quite sure what to do with it. Even with some students heading off to college, the fear of the unknown combined with a complete change in the cadence in life is enough to make several seniors come down with a serious case of senioritis. The senioritis is a way to break away from the stress and rigors of 13 years of schooling.

Some signs of the affliction include a lack of motivation, a decline in grades, or feeling as though nothing they do in the final months leading up to graduation really matters much. Most students' entire senior years of high school are spent trying to plan for the future, this can be daunting and stressful for these kids, who are still really, just kids. Some symptoms parents should look for include extreme laziness, apathy, spending all of their free time with friends away from home.

Unfortunately, the rapid decline in motivation does not go unseen by universities. After being accepted, many schools will look at a student's last semester, and a substantial decrease in grades raises a red flag. This has admissions offices questioning a prospective student's level of commitment and the question of maturity is also put on the table. If the situation is bad enough, a college or university can rescind an acceptance. Each year, thousands of students receive such letters. Sometimes a student will enter their freshman year of college already on academic probation. If a student was issued merit aid from an institution, they risk losing those funds.

There are things that can be done to help offset senioritis. One thing a student can do is to set tiny goals such as getting a B or higher on the next quiz or test, or to finish an assignment ahead of time. Working on better ways to study for tests is also crucial. Too much pressure can cause students to shut down so taking some time to relax and have fun with family and friends is a great idea.

Another idea is for parents and teachers to reassure students that life after high school is an exciting time and that not every graduate needs a definitive plan right away. Explain different opportunities for a gap year, including the pros and cons of taking one.

If your child becomes too self-destructive handing out consequences is key. Finding their currency and removing it may change their perspective and keep them on track. Remembering to reward good behavior is a must. If your child is behaving in such a way that they become emotionally removed, disobedient and disrespectful taking a gap year might be the best option as college is expensive and tuition should never go to waste. Sometimes when students see their friends off at school while they are left behind can be motivation to get back into the swing of things.

STRATEGIES FOR LIVING

The best you can be

BY LARRY SCOTT

There is a basic truth, a fundamental principle, that lies behind my writing and everything I do: God wants you and me to be the best we can be! No matter who we are, what we have done, or what we believe, God loves us so much He is committed to this one, great objective: that you and I might become the best we can be!

It is here we discover the reason God invites us into a personal relationship with His Son, Jesus Christ. A new standard of values, a new sense of right and wrong, and a new source of strength have made this the turning point in the life of every believer.

discover the reason behind the limitations God made us, that we are prone to push our freedoms to extremes. He made us with powerful drives, character traits necessary to our survival, and invites us into a partnership of intelligent cooperation that we might not self-destruct.

As I reflect on my checkered career, and those decisions that changed the course of my life—some made in a matter of minutes—I have often wondered how different my jour-

There have been times I excelled and made my family proud; then there have been those times that prompt me to blush in shame. But I can't undo the past, and if I could, I'm not sure I would change a thing. The low points, and the high points, have all contributed to who and what I am today. But God has been there through it all, carefully monitoring my progress, helping me learn from the experience, making me into the man I could have become in no other way.

The Apostle Paul once wrote, "God demonstratbecause of the way He recriminate. The past ed His own love for us in this: while we were still sinners, Christ died for us." With no strings attached, without any assurance you and I would even care, God gave His very best that you and I might become our very best! The kicker here. however, is that it all begins when, and only when, we welcome Jesus Christ as the Lord of our lives. There is no other way.

Snow's nothing too unusual; we got a good charge in April

By John Harrigan

COLUMNIST

It barely bears mentioning, I suppose, that it snowed one day last week---I think it was Wednesday. More precisely, it sleeted. As I watched the crystalized droplets bounce off the windshield, I thought, oh well, it's only May 12th. Spring, which is more a state of mind anyway, has scarcely begun.

It was a short run for sugaring. The buds have seemed ready to burst since before the Mud Season we barely had. The season of settling snow, before the leaves come out, is one of the few times you can really see the lay of the land. Now that too is gone, save for the northernmost tip of the state.

Old foresters have always enjoyed pointing out the remains of root systems of trees that were felled by the fabled Hurricane of '38. Because the trees fell backwards, contrary to the prevailing winds, their root systems all lined up in the same direction. Because their remains left humps, even today a practiced eye can point them out.

Just where they were when they saw wildlife always seems to stick in people's minds. They can't remember their kids' birthdays, but they can tell where they were when they saw a bobcat.

I was talking about this kind of selective memory with a friend in Alaska when I remembered a bear I once saw in Landaff.

I was headed up a back road when I caught just a glimpse, out of the corner of my left eye, of a sitting bear. Now, you don't often see a bear sitting down, unless it's fishing in the middle of a stream in Alaska.

So I backed up, and there it was, a bear sitting down, and a pretty big bear too. It looked over at me, and then resumed what it was doing, which I concluded was eating ants. "It was probably into the larvae by then," observed my friend in Alaska. "The good stuff."

Even still, as everyone says, I had to wonder about the energy derived versus the energy expended. It must go into what people in business call overhead.

Cameron is an old name that lives on in the greater Errol and Magalloway territory, north of Berlin, and I had great fun a couple of weeks ago looking over photographs taken during President Dwight D. Eisenhower's visit to the region in 1955.

Ike fished at various places on that trip, among them Little Boy Falls, a place that is still there. Now, doesn't that sound ludicrous? Yet there are many places that aren't, and even where such places are left, there are many differences since the turn of the last century (the Nineteen-Aughts) when men poled boats upstream to help visitors of every stripe get there.

"My Neighbor's Barn" is what I'd probably call this scene if I could paint it, which a longtime artist friend actually did. This was how it looked on April 21.

Several of the photos showed Don Cameron, Ike's official guide, standing by with net at the ready as the President got a strike, or what we called a hit when I was tending boats and such at Clarksville Pond.

I studied the photographs carefully. There was something about the way Don Cameron stood. I'd know that stance anywhere, I think. And then, of course, there was the felt hat.

Guides work hard for their money, to put it mildly, and in places in the Far North where the law said we had to have a guide, we never begrudged his pay. In fact, whenever we could, we made the guide's life easier.

In days past, one of the rituals of a day on the water in Labrador was a shore lunch. This is definitely the opposite of eating a bologna sandwich in the boat.

In anticipation of a shore lunch, each of us

"The President Has a Fish on" is what someone would probably call this photo, which the President did, back in 1955 at Little Boy Falls. That's guide Don Cameron tending to business. (Courtesy Margaret Chase Smith Library) carried a potato in one pocket, an onion in another. During the morning's fishing, we kept a lake trout and a pike and a landlocked salmon alive on a stringer.

At lunchtime two or three boats headed for shore (naturally), where one of us started a fire, others scrounged wood and scouted the shore for flat rocks to wash up for plates. Meanwhile, the guide knocked the fish on the backs of their heads and cut them into palm-sized filets. Ice-cold Molson's had long since appeared on the scene.

Into a huge frypan went onions and potatoes, out came the bread and butter, and at the thing else was ready, in went the filets of fish. After three minutes or so per side, out came the fish, all to be consumed with alder forks from flat-rock plates.

Which is why, as any reader will have figured by now, a shore lunch will always beat a bologna sandwich in a boat, hands down.

What to expect from a financial review

The COVID-19 pandemic may have unsettled many aspects of your life - including your financial situation. Even if your employment and earnings were not directly affected, you might have concerns about whether you've been making the right investment moves in such a stressful environment. The pandemic is, hopefully, just a once-in-a-lifetime occurrence, but different events can rattle financial markets. And changes in your own life also can affect your plans. To prepare yourself for whatever tomorrow may hold, you may want to get some professional help - but what, really, can you expect from a financial advisor?

A financial advisor will look holistically at your life - your family composition, your career, your hopes and dreams, your instincts about saving and spending money, your risk tolerance and other factors. So, during your initial meeting, and at subsequent reviews afterward, here are some of the key areas you'll discuss: Feelings about your financial situation

Before investing in bonds, you should understand the risks involved, including credit risk and market risk. Bond investments are also subject to interest rate risk such that when interest rates rise, the prices of bonds can decrease, and the investor can lose principal value if the investment is sold prior to maturity.

- Numbers are important to financial advisors, but what's most meaningful to them is understanding what's important to their clients. Are you confident about your overall financial outlook? Are you worried about your cash flow? Are you distressed over volatility in the financial markets? Do you have concerns about your career? By getting at the answers to these and similar questions, a financial advisor can gain a clear sense of who you are and what matters to you. You can then follow an established process to build your personalized strategies and take the specific actions needed to achieve your goals. • Progress toward your goals - It takes patience and discipline to achieve longterm goals, such as helping send your kids to college or enjoying the retirement lifestyle you've envisioned for yourself. As you save and invest for these goals over the years, you'll want to... measure your progress regularly. If you seem to

Bears improve as week goes on

RC GREENWOOD

Emma Griffin stretches to take a throw in action at Newfound last week. Griffin had a homer in the team's second game of the week.

BY JOSHUA SPAULDING Sports Editor

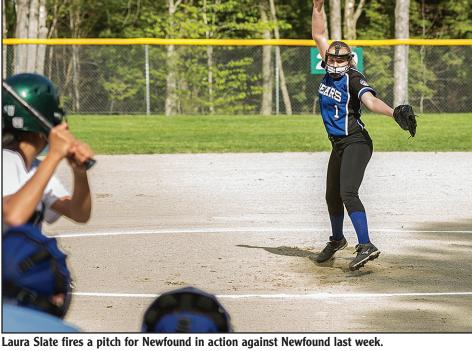

TILTON — The Winnisquam softball team had a tough start to the week, but finished up with a solid effort, though both games resulted in losses to Newfound.

The week began on Wednesday, May 12, with a 21-2 loss to the Bears in Bristol. Lea Dalton led the way for the Winnisquam offense, finishing with two hits, including a triple and she also scored a run while Emma Griffin also had a hit for Winnisquam.

Waldron burls sbutout as Belmont rolls over Franklin

BY JOSHUA SPAULDING Sports Editor

BELMONT — The Belmont baseball team had no problem taking care of business against Franklin last week.

The Raiders opened the week with a 17-0 win over the Golden Tornadoes on Monday, May 10.

Liam Waldron was on his game, as he threw the complete game five-inning shutout, allowing just one hit, a single in the fourth, while striking out 10 and not issuing a single walk.

"Liam pitched a heck of a game," said coach Matt LeBlanc. "He located all day and was able to keep them completely off balance.

"Ten strikeouts and one hit away from a perfect game is something he should be proud of," the Raider coach added.

The Belmont offense pounded out 14 hits on the day, led by three each from Waldron and Mike Dandurand. Nate Sottak and Oliver Mahoney each had two hits for the Raiders.

"I was happy for Mike Dandurand, as he had a great day at the plate," LeBlanc said.

Additionally, LeBlanc noted that Miles Miller capitalized on his opportunity, picking up his first varsity hit, first varsity RBI and first varsity putout."

Belmont's big inning was the third, where they scored eight runs. Mahoney. Hutch Haskins. Jason Roberts, Waldron, Jonny Phillips and Tylor Carroll all had RBIs in the big inning. Belmont also scored three in the first and six more in the fourth.

"A good team effort all around," the Raider coach noted.

On Wednesday, May 12, Belmont got the 11-2 win. The Raiders scored three times in the first, added one in the second, three in the third, one in the fourth and three in the sixth.

Mahoney went the distance on the mound for the Raiders, allowing six hits and two runs while striking out eight and allowing just one walk.

Comfort Keepers What is respite care?

BY MARTHA SWATS

Owner/Administrator Comfort Keepers

Respite care is defined as the transfer of primary caregiving responsibilities to another person, typically a professional caregiver, relative or friend, in order for primary caregivers to receive temporary relief from caregiving responsibilities. Respite care takes many forms – some family caregivers choose to have someone take on caregiver duties for a few hours a week or a few hours a day. Or, some schedule respite care for longer periods of time to accommodate an extended break or vacation.

What You Need to Know When Caring for a Senior Loved One

In its Caregiving in the U.S. report, AARP estimates that 39.8 million family members provided unpaid care to an adult in 2014 and 2015. And, the Centers for Disease Control reports that over half (53%) of caregivers indicated that a decline in their health compromises their ability to provide care.

Caring for a senior loved one is both rewarding and challenging. Family caregivers need to remember that it's important to take necessary breaks and practice self-care so they can ensure that they continue to find joy in their role.

This can be particularly important for those caring for a senior that has a severe illness. A study led by the Stanford Center on Longevity and Stanford University Psychology Department, which was conducted with assistance from Comfort Keepers and Clear Care, found that for older family caregivers:

Caring for a loved one with a mild illness generally leaves them in the same emotional state as their peers - with emotional well-being generally greater than that of younger adults.

When responsible for a loved one with a severe illness, reported emotional well-being tended to be lower than those of their peers.

The cause of a decrease in emotional well-being is attributed to caregiver's inability to pursue their social goals and friendships.

The purpose of this study was to help identify the unique challenges and stressors that family caregivers face. As a partner in this research the family members and decision-makers of approximately 2,000 Comfort Keepers clients.

These results suggest that older people have higher emotional well-being than younger people but not when they have a relative with a severe illness. Not all older people with ailing relatives have low well-being; rather, it depends on the severity of the relative's ailment.

Caring for a senior loved one can be fulfilling and can strengthen bonds within a family. But it's important to recognize that being a family caregiver can come with feelings of loss, stress and physical strain. Caregivers risk their own health when wellbeing they don't account for fice today.

Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

der in the top of the first inning and Winnisquam got a run in the bottom of the inning. Burns had a one-out base hit and stole second. One out later, Chaz Hibbert delivered a base hit down the first base line, plating the first run of the game before Newfound pitcher Caleb Davis got a strike-out to end the inning.

Adrian Ehmann led off the top of the second with a base hit and moved to third on a Davis double one out later. Marcus Korenkiewicz tracked down a fly ball to center and Labonville got a strikeout to get Winnisquam out of the inning.

Davis then set the side down in order in the bottom of the inning, including a couple of strikeouts. Labonville responded by striking out a couple in the top of the third inning as he set the side down in order. Davis put Winnisquam down in order in the bottom of the inning, including a strikeout.

Ehmann worked a walk in the top of the fourth and took second on a balk, but Labonville got a pop up to short to end the inning.

Nichols led off the bottom of the fourth with an infield hit and moved up on a passed ball and a stolen base. Davis then snared a line drive back to the mound and attempted to double off Nichols, but the throw missed the mark and Nichols scampered home for the 2-0 lead.

Newfound threatened in the top of the fifth, as Mike Macklin led off reaching on an error, but was forced at second on a David Joyce grounder to third. Hayden Dolloff and Matt Karkheck both worked walks to load the bases but Noah Pearson made a nice grab on a foul pop to first.

Caruso made the pitching change, bringing Burns to the hill and he struck out the first batter he faced to end the inning.

Kyler Bourdeau led off the bottom of the inning with a walk, Korenkiewicz also walked and Burton Swanson beat out a bunt hit to lead the bases. Burns then doubled home a pair of runs for the 4-0 lead before Davis struck out the next two batters to end the inning.

Luke Gordon led off the top of the sixth inning with a base hit, but Hibbert gunned him down stealing second. Ehmann worked a walk and moved up to third on a passed ball and a wild pitch, but Burns settled down and struck out two to end the inning.

Pearson had a one-out base hit in the bottom of the inning and stole second, brining Nolan Haskins in to run. He came around to score on a base hit by Korenkiewicz for the 5-0 lead. Connor Downes took over on the hill for Newfound and got out of the inning when Macklin gunned down the runner stealing second to end the inning.

With one out in the top of the seventh, Jacob Moore lined a triple and came home to score on a sacrifice fly by Karkheck for Newfound's first run. Josh Blouin was hit by a pitch to keep the inning alive, but Burns got a strikeout to end the inning.

"I can't say enough about our two pitches," said Caruso, praising them for remaining calm in a big situation after mostly throwing live batting practice through the early season. "Two games a week isn't really enough to get everybody innings."

The veteran coach pointed out that they didn't know they were pitching until they arrived at the park, which he said probably allowed them to not think about it and just throw.

"And the kid who threw against us (Davis) was great," Caruso said. "We were aggressive on the bases and created some stuff."

Moreau noted it was nice to play at Robbie Mills, as the team had played at Northeast Delta Dental Stadium in Manchester two years ago and was supposed to play at the Baseball Hall of Fame in Cooperstown, N.Y. last year.

"This year, we were able to get it in, just like the whole season," the first-year head coach stated.

He praised the game Davis had on the mound.

"He pitched a hell of a game," Moreau said. "He had great command with all of his pitches."

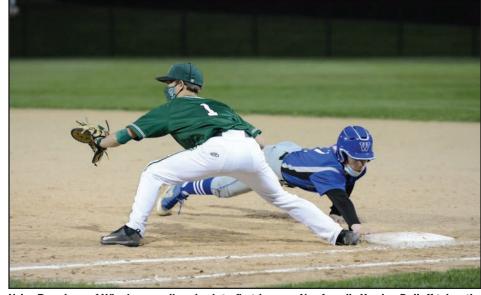

Earlier in the week, Winnisquam got the 8-4 win in extra innings. Newfound had the bases loaded in the bottom of the seventh but could not score and Winnisquam scored four times in the eighth to get the win.

Ehmann and Hanser each had homers in the first inning to pace the Newfound offense, while Garret Mango had three hits to lead the way for the Winnisquam offense.

Winnisquam is slated to close the regular season against Plymouth, on the road on Monday, May 24, and at home on Wednesday, May 26.

Newfound is slated to end the season against Berlin, on the road on Monday, May 24, and at home on Wednesday, May 26.

5 outdoor projects that add value

Exterior renovations can enhance the appearance of a property and make it more enjoyable for homeowners. Certain renovations have the potential to add value to a home, while others may do the opposite. Learning which one have the largest return on investment can help homeowners select features that will have the most positive impact.

Curb appeal goes a long way toward attracting potential buyers. According to the National Association of Realtors, first impressions of a property have a strong influence on buyers. Landscaping and external features can do much to influence such impressions...

- Lawn care program: Investing in a lawn care program that consists of fertilizer and weed control application and can be transferred over to a subsequent home owner is an attractive feature. NAR says such a care program can recover $1,000 in value of the $330 average cost, or a 303 percent ROI.
- Low-maintenance lifestyle: When choosing materials for projects, those that offer low-maintenance benefits can be preferential. These include low-maintenance patio materials, composite decking, vinyl fencing, and inorganic mulched beds.

- Fire pit: A fire pit can be used for much of the year. In the spring and summer, the firepit is a great place to congregate to roast marshmallows or sip wine and gaze into the fire. In the fall, the fire pit can make for a cozy retreat. A fire pit that has a gas burner is low-maintenance, and the National Association of Landscape Professionals says that most can recoup about $4,000 of their $6,000 average price tag.
- · Softscaping: Hardscaping refers to structures like outdoor kitchens or decks. Softscaping involves the living elements of the landscape. Hiring a landscape designer to install trees, shrubs, natural edging, and rock elements can do wonders toward improving the look and value of a home.
- · Pool or water feature: In certain markets, particularly hot climates, a pool or another water feature is a musthave. However, in other areas where outdoor time is limited, a pool or water feature can actually lower the value of a home. Speaking with a real estate professional can give homeowners an idea of how a pool will fare in a given neighborhood.

Outdoor improvements can improve the marketability of a home. as well as enhance its appearance and function.

These days, home trends are about more than good design and aesthetics — they're about creating spaces that reflect our values and are more comfortable and enjoyable to live in. From net-zero and net-positive construction to tiny minimalist homes, trends are all about your family's life-

Whether you're shopping for a new home, renovating your own or creating a new build from scratch, here are some of the biggest trends you need to know for inspiration.

Sustainable design: This one has been popular for a long time, but green design has evolved to be about much more than energy-efficient appliances and LED light bulbs. Now, it's all about making sure everything in your home reduces your carbon footprint and minimizes any impact on the environment.

To try the trend yourself, think big and get creative - install solar panels on your roof, choose building materials that don't require deforestation and upcycle old furniture for decorative elements instead of buying new.

Disaster resiliency: This is another long-Climate change affects us in so many negative ways, and one of the top concerns is the increase in natural disasters. From wildfires that last for months to major floods that affect entire cities, we now need to prepare for the worst when building our

You can start small with voice assistant and smart light bulbs and work your way up to a total smart home system that includes home security, temperature controls and all your electronic devices.

and close automatically to create the perfect am-

Customization: You don't have to settle for what mass manufacturers decide to build, or what works for everyone else. Creating a home that's as unique as you are is the latest trend, with custom-built storage and personalized architectural features to make your space stand

You can even go as far as building a custom home that's suited to your family. Older home demolitions and purchasing land-only properties is becoming more common, allowing you to work with an architect to create exactly what you want with a new build.

Mulching mistakes to avoid

Landscape features vary significantly from house to house. Some homeowners may prefer water features on their properties, while others focus on flowers that would be the envy of a botanical garden. Regardless of those preferences, lawn and garden enthusiasts preferences, lawn and garden enthusiasts who want to make their properties as idyllic as possible may eventually look to mulch to help them accomplish that goal.

Mulch helps soil retain moisture, which promotes strong, healthy flowers, plants, trees, and shrubs. And because soil beneath mulch retains more moisture than soil that's not protected by mulch, homeowners have to spend as much time watering mulched landscapes. That saves time and conserves water, which can be a big benefit in areas prone to drought and/or especially hot summers. Mulch also helps to suppress weed growth, which can ensure all that hard work needed to create an eye-catching garden won't be compromised by the presence of unsightly, thirsty weeds.

Mulching seems like a simple task, and it can be. But that does not mean homeowners cannot make mistakes when mulching. The following are some common mulching mistakes to avoid as lawn and garden season hits full swing.

- Not enough mulch: Mulch is ineffective when spread too thin. The Virginia Cooperative Extension at Virginia Tech and Virginia State University recommends applying mulch no less than two inches in depth. Anything less than that will prove ineffective at preventing weed growth and helping the soil retain moisture, and that means you will need to water more often.
- Poorly located mulch: Mulch should not be placed too close to plant stems or tree trunks. When it is, tissue is so wet that it makes for a perfect environment for disease and insect infestation.
- Failing to mulch to the drip line: The drip line of a tree refers to the outermost circumference of the tree's canopy from which water drips onto the ground. The VCE recommends mulching to the drip line of a plant or tree, which ensures the plant or tree will get the most out of the mulch. Mulching to the drip line also minimizes competition from the grass, leading to stronger plants and trees.
- Failing to weed before mulching: Weeds should be removed prior to mulching. If they're not, the mulch can provide the same growing environment for weeds that you're trying to create for your plants and trees.

Mulching benefits a landscape in myriad ways, especially when homeowners avoid some common mulching mistakes.
