Northern Pass opponents applaud Supreme Court ruling

BY TARA GILES
tara@salmonpress.news

REGION — To the extreme relief of several residents across the state, the battle against the Northern Pass hydropower project has come to an end.

The state Supreme Court voted unanimously on July 19 to uphold a previous decision by the Public Utilities Commission's Site Evaluation Committee to deny a construction permit for the proposed 192-mile-long network of transmission lines, which many have argued would have permanently scarred the scenic beauty of the North Country.

In a statement, President and CEO of the Appalachian Mountain Club, John Judge said, "After nearly nine long years, we are thrilled to finally see this misconceived, poorly designed, outdated overhead transmission line proposal finally laid to rest," he added, "As the nation's oldest conservation and recreation organization, we have opposed this project from the get-go because of its unwarranted and unnecessary impact on

New Hampshire's iconic natural resources and character."

Vice President of Communications and Outreach for the Society for the Protection of NH Forests, Jack Savage added his thoughts: "The Forest Society applauds the unanimous decision of the Supreme Court affirming the unanimous decision of the Site Evaluation Committee to deny Eversource a siting permit for its Northern Pass project. This brings to an end nine years of collective effort

Motions by state lead to delay in Woodburn trial

BY TARA GILES
tara@salmonpress.news

LANCASTER — The trial of former State Sen. Jeff Woodburn, originally slated to begin July 31, has been delayed, to the disappointment of Woodburn himself, who commented "I really want to tell my story, and I think the public has a right to know."

Woodburn faces numerous misdemeanor or domestic violence charges, in response to which he has pled not guilty, claiming that he acted in self defense.

The state brought forth a motion to have Woodburn's attorney, Donna Brown, removed from the case claiming that either she or Woodburn had leaked a photo on social media of the alleged victim jumping on Woodburn's car. The photo was protected, then included in a motion that was public for several days before being sealed. Each side will have ten days to respond.

The state also filed a motion to prevent claims during cross examination that the alleged victim stole Woodburn's journal. Further, the state is seeking to bar cross-examination in regards to wiretapping charges, where Woodburn was allegedly recorded without his knowledge.

The state has since enacted a gag order on the case. Woodburn said that he and his attorney, Delay, PAGE A13

Longtime Colonel Town directors moving on LANCASTER — Denise and Eddie Wood, the husband and wife team who directed Colonel Town for the past 18 years, are headed north.

"The decision was a really tough one, but like Eddie said, it's a young person's game," said Denise.

The couple was having a conversation one night where Eddie expressed concern about being able to keep up physically with the demands of running a recreation department as big as Col. Town. To that, Denise asked her husband, "Are you really serious?" I said to him, and he responded with a "Yep."

The duo met in Maine while each of the trucking companies they worked for merged.

"He, along with several others, relocated to Maine; for him, it was supposed to be a temporary thing, but he ended up staying," said Wood with a smile.

The couple then moved to Barnet, Vt., where Denise was teaching and Eddie was working for the St. Johnsbury Recreation Department.

"We saw the ad in the paper and it was a dream job for Eddie. They asked for a husband and wife team so we applied," explained Denise.

She added, "It was odd that someone on the spending committee knew who I was because I had taught in Groveton with her for a few years."

Denise vividly recalls the day the pair were interviewed for the job, reminiscing that "I re-she said.

Interesting to note is that the couple's youngest daughter Kaitlyn has the state record for the most three pointers scored in a playoff game.

The couple don't have to imagine having the smell of Thanksgiving dinner wafting through the air while playing hoops with family in an old fashioned gym complete with a score board.

"We would set up the clock and everyone would scrimmage while the food cooked or we would bowl downstairs. There are a lot of great memories in this house," said Denise.

TWIN MOUNTAIN — In 2015, Sherry and Ron Wareing moved to the White Mountains and bought the Twin Mountain Cottages on Route 3. It wasn't long before they realized there was a demand for quality pet care. Together, the couple opened White Mountain Pet Care (WMPC) earlier this year.

Not only does WMPC offer daycare and long term boarding for both cats and dogs, but there is also a full-time groomer on staff. Grooming facility rentals are also available for those who wish to do it themselves.

She was pre-deceased by her husband Edward Brundle.

Melanie is survived by three sons Andrew, Darrell, and Steven Brundle and their families.

A graveside service will be held on Saturday, July 27, 11 a.m., at the Maple Street Cemetery, Bethlehem. To offer your condolences to the family please visit www.RossFuneral.com.

Louis Alcid Lafeuille, 81

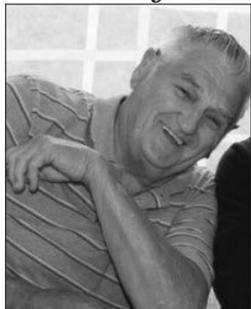

NORTH STRATFORD — Louis Alcid Lafeuille, 81, of Theberge Road, North Stratford, died peacefully at his home on Wednesday, July 17, 2019, after a brief illness.

Louis was born on Feb. 24, 1938, in Berlin, the son of the late Joseph L and Lucia (Veilleux) Lafeuille and has been a resident of North Stratford most of his life.

Over the years, Louis worked for the local paper mills, retiring from Wausau Papers and as a Bell-Hop at the Balsams Grand Resort.

Louis was the past president of the Fish and Game Club and the Vice President of the Stratford Old Home Days in North Stratford.

He was an avid outdoorsman, enjoying hunting, fishing (especially in Merrideth), and spending time with his family and friends at camp. He was a proud father, grandfather, and great-grandfather and had a special friendship with his grandson Caleb Moffett.

Louis is survived by his companion of 15 years, Sandra Theberge of North Stratford; two children, Raymond Lafeuille and wife Julia of Shelbyville, Kentucky; and LouAnne Pelkey and husband Jim of Gorham; Sandra's children, whom he thought of as his own, Ricky Theberge and Michael Theberge, both of Stratford; Lori Theberge of Sutton, Vt.; and Mandi Theberge of Lyndonville, Vt.; 17 grandchildren and eleven great-grandchildren; and one sister, Lucille Mann of Berlin.

Calling hours were held on Friday, July 19 from 6-8 p.m. and Saturday, July 20 from 10 a.m.-noon at the Armstrong-Charron Funeral Home in Groveton. Funeral service was held at noon at the funeral home with Fr. Daniel Deveau, pastor of the St. Marguerite d'Youville Parish officiating. Burial followed in the St. Francis Cemetery on Brown Road in Groveton.

In lieu of flowers, memorial donations may be made in Louis' name to the Stratford Old Home Days; C/O Peggy Deyette; 53 US Route 3, North Stratford, NH 03590.

To send the family your condolences via the online register book, please visit www.armstrongcharronfuneralhome.com.

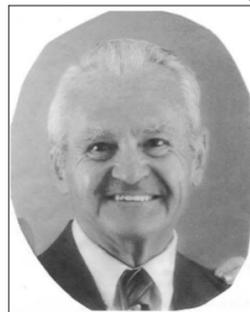

DALTON — Robert A. Grimard (Bob), 92, of Forest Lake Road, passed away on July 2 with his daughters at his side. Evelyn, his wife of almost 70 years, passed away two years ago.

Robert was born on Sept. 12, 1926 in Gorham. He was raised in Lancaster, and had been a long time resident of Dalton. He was one of six children born to Joseph and Vitaline (Robidoux) Grimard.

He was predeceased by all of his siblings, Roger, Theresa, Rita, Norman and Raymond.

Robert was most fortunate to return to his home at Forest Lake at the end of April after spending a lengthy time in the hospital battling bouts of pneumonia. He had two months of eating what he wanted, supervising the planting of a garden, riding on his pontoon boat, walking around the grounds checking out his flowers and progress of his garden, visiting with relatives and friends, sitting on his porch watching activities on the lake, playing cards, and last but not least, loving where he was! His family was also fortunate to have this special time caring for him and sharing memories of past years.

At a young age, Robert dropped out of school and began working at the mill in Gorham, NH, fabricating his age to begin a long career of working. The expression "jack of all trades" but "master of none" could be applied to Robert with the exception that he was "master of many trades." He loved to work and experienced many job opportunities during his lifetime.

Bob Grimard

all involving being outdoors! He built two homes and remodeled his «camp» at the lake. He was very proud of the fact that he used lumber and timbers from the old house on Dalton Mountain to build his first home. Visitors always heard the story of those beautiful beams that are exposed in the living room.

Robert became very successful with his ownership of Grimard's Used Cars and Parts. He also enjoyed operating trucks and heavy equipment. After he retired from the car business, he started Grimard's Flea Market and truly enjoyed this venture. Many people that had known him over the years would stop to visit along with new patrons from far and near. He later named his property Lazy Acres!

Robert and Evelyn had a home built in Cape Coral, Florida in the 1980's. They wintered there for over 30 years, and enjoyed the best of two worlds returning to Dalton in May to spend summers at Forest Lake.

Robert served as a selectman for the town of Dalton, was past member of the Elks Club, and served as Commander for the Whitefield American Legion. He was a Communicant of St. Matthews Church in Whitefield where he was married in 1947.

Robert leaves his daughters, Joanne Hennessey and Jean Bergin, and son-in-law Robert Bergin; grandchildren and spouses Derek Hennessey, Beth Hennessey Reynolds and husband Rob, Jameson Bergin and wife Ruth, Jon Bergin and wife Kate; and eight great-grandchildren

(Andrew, Livia, Madelyn, Lucy, Zachary, Jack, Annika, and Matthew). He leaves nieces and nephews and a brother-in-law, Conrad Daigle, and sister-in-law Barbara Grimard. His niece and nephew, Pauline Belanger Chapman and Raymond Belanger and wife Faith, were especially close to "Uncle Bob," and visited him during his illness and supported the family through this time of sadness. Pauline was a frequent visitor to the family card games that her uncle enjoyed! A dear family friend, Donna Hartford, visited and supported the family. He truly loved these family members and friends and they were a very important part of his life.

The staff at Weeks Medical Center and North Country Home Health and Hospice became an integral part of the family, caring for him and supporting his family. Robert often commented on how lucky he was to be receiving the wonderful care that he received from all of these people.

His passing has saddened the hearts of his family and friends but has left them with years of wonderful memories. His legacy will live on and they will all strive to begin each day with the smile that he became well known for!

A Mass of Christian burial will be celebrated at St. Matthews Church in Whitefield on Friday, Aug. 2 at 1 p.m. Rev. Matthew Schultz, pastor of the Gate of Heaven Parish, will officiate. Burial with military honors will follow in St. Matthews Cemetery, Whitefield.

In lieu of flowers donations may be made in his memory to a charity of one's choice.

Arrangements are under the direction of Bailey Funeral Home in Lancaster. Please go to www.baileyfh.net for more information or to send an online condolence.

JEFFERSON

Wilma Corrigan | 586-4488

Last week, we were able to tell about the July 4th parade and fishing derby, and now we would like to thank the ones responsible for the great fireworks display received on the evening of the 'Fourth.' Not only was a great array of many different fireworks set off at the Waumbek Golf Course, but there was quite a show from either the Jefferson Inn of Bob Snell Homestead just below the Waumbek. If standing in the right spot one could also see the ones set off at the Grand View Resort in Whitefield, and definitely could hear them, made for one great display making for a super ending to July 4, for the Jef-erson Historical Society, Ben Sears and Brad Conner along with Cynthia Mork will present their benefit concert at the Jefferson Town at 7:30 p.m. of "You Oughta" Be in Pictures, done with all songs written by women, quite a special arrangement. Do come and enjoy! Another fund raiser will be held on Saturday, August 17th when the Post Card Show will be held at the Jefferson Town Hall at 9:00 a.m. To 3:00 p.m.

Jefferson has lost another 'Old Time Resident' with the passing of Marietta Ingerson on July 3. She and husband Elliot ran his folks farm on Stag Hollow Road in Jefferson before taking over the caretaker position at the Hubert Carter Estate in the Highlands part of Jefferson. They held the position where the famous Carter Barn on the Valley Road was destroyed by an arson's hands. When it came raspberry picking time it was a common act to see her pack up a lunch, some gear, and her five children on a sunny day and head for her favorite patch to pick gallons of berries in a day to store them for winter. She was very active in school and town affairs such as helping to get our new 1959 school ready for opening up for operation, and helping put on the Hunters Supper to raise funds for it. We would like to express our deepest sympathy to Lucille Cameron as her mother Beatrice died on July 16 at the age of 101 years young. 'Our deep sympathy to all the family.'

Longtime Weathervane Music Director to helm "The Drowsy Chaperone"

WHITEFIELD — The Weathervane Theatre, a professional, award-winning, equity theatre in Whitefield is thrilled to present "The Drowsy Chaperone." When a die hard theatre fan plays his favorite cast album, the characters come to life in this hilarious musical comedy. This valentine to musical theatre opens Tuesday, July 23 and plays in alternating repertory through Aug. 26. "The Drowsy Chaperone" is the solo directorial debut of long-time Weathervane Resident Music Director Colin Keating.

Colin Keating

and this charming, Tony Award-winning musical is long on laughter," said Producing Artistic Director Ethan Paulini.

When it came to selecting a director for this beloved piece, Paulini had only one candidate in mind: "I knew an ensemble comedy needed someone to bring the company together. Colin is a longtime Weathervane artist. He really understands our process and is a fantastic leader. His combined experience and natural talent and ability made him a perfect match."

Like all titles presented in this season, "The Drowsy Chaperone" has never been before presented on the Weathervane stage:

"I think 'The Drowsy Chaperone' is one of the funniest musicals of all time. It is a love letter to the art form of musical theatre! In a season full of new titles, I wanted to make sure to give audiences plenty of variety. Laughter is an important part of creating a balanced season

2019 marks Keating's 11th season as Resident Music Director. His work at Weathervane has garnered him two New Hampshire Theatre Awards for Best Professional Musical Director for "Sweeney Todd" (2009) and "Memphis" (2014). Last season he co-directed "Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat." This is the first production Keating will solo direct and music direct at Weathervane.

"I'm honored to have been asked by Ethan Paulini to sit at the helm of this production from both a musical and direction standpoint," said Keating. "It's fun to see so much prep work to get ready to take on this challenge come to life. The cast and creative team assembled have made this a fulfilling experience. Specifically, my partnership with long time Weathervane alum, Taryn Herman as the show's choreographer has been a joy. Exhausting, yes. Fulfilling no doubt!"

In addition to directing The Drowsy Chaperone and music directing all seven Mainstage productions this season, Colin can also be seen on-stage as Jimmy Powers in "Lady Day at Emerson's Bar and Grill."

Tickets for "The Drowsy Chaperone" are available by calling 837-9010 or visiting www.weathervanetheatre.org. The Box Office is open Monday-Saturday at 389 Lancaster Rd. Whitefield. Performance Dates: July 23, July 24, July 26 and Aug. 8, 10, 16 and 26. Tickets range from $29 - $39.

The Weathervane Theatre was founded in 1965 by Gibbs Murray and the late Tom Haas and is under the leadership of Producing Artistic Director Ethan Paulini. For over half a century, it has presented high quality professional productions of plays and musicals. One of the few remaining alternating rep companies in the United States, the Weathervane is recognized as a historical institution nationwide, boasting among its alumni Elizabeth Stanley, Tally Sessions, four-time Tony nominee Judy Kuhn and recent Tony Award Winner Ari'el Stachel.

WHITEFIELD — Join us Saturday, Aug. 24 at 1 p.m. at the Whitefield Public Library for the premier of John Kane's lecture series "The Pilgrims of Woodstock," based on his new book of the same name, coming out in August.

Author, and popular culture historian John Kane will take you inside the Woodstock Festival in his book, "Pilgrims of Woodstock." In this work (and another to be published by UP Mississippi, late 2019), Dr. Kane has assembled unique and rare materials, exemplified by first-person attendee and production staff interviews. Highlighted by a never-before-seen collection of photographs, these voices breathe new life into the event, just in time for the 50th anniversary.

In the summer of 1969, 400,000 people from across the country came together and redefined the music scene forever. Though the legacy and lore of Woodstock lives on in the memory of its attendees, a new generation can experience the real and unedited festival through Richard Bellak's never-before-seen photographs and John Kane's incredible new interviews.

"Pilgrims of Woodstock" offers a vivid and intimate portrait of the overlooked stars of the festival: the everyday people who made Woodstock unforgettable. The photographs and interviews capture attendees' profound personal moments across hundreds of acres of farmland, as they meditated, played music, cooked food at night, and congregated around campfires. For three days, they helped and relied on each other in peace and harmony. For most, it was a life-changing event. Now, as the 50th anniversary of the famed festival approaches, relive their experiences firsthand in "Pilgrims of Woodstock." By 1969, Richard F.

Bellak's work was in several major publications. In August of that year, the aspiring photojournalist traveled from his home in Brooklyn, N.Y. to the rolling Catskill Mountains on an adventure of a lifetime. Although in his mid-thirties, Bellak could sense the special moments being had by the gathering flower children. For two days he aimed his lens at the Woodstock audience. The result is a beautifully atmospheric collection of never before seen images capturing the essence of what it was like to attend this life-changing event.

John Kane holds a DA in Leadership Studies and is faculty in the design and media department at the New Hampshire Institute of Art. He is the author of "Pilgrims of Woodstock: Never-Before-Seen Photos" (University Press of Indiana) and "The Last Seat in the House: The Story of Hanley Sound" (University Press of Mississippi). Dr. Kane grew up in Somerville, Massachusetts, and now resides on the sea-coast of New Hampshire.

The 90 minute lecture and book discussion will include the Bellak photo slide show with accompanying narrative from the book, Rare 8mm and 16mm videos of Woodstock, and Q&A with author. Light refreshments and good company will be provided. For more information, see our Facebook page, contact the library at whitefieldpubliclibrary@gmail.com, or call 837-2030 during business hours.

Fear of missing out

Vacation photos...birthday party pics...cute selfies at a concert...the evidence is everywhere, on Facebook and other social connection platforms, and certainly in the pages of your community newspaper: lots of people are doing a ton of fun things. And some of those fun things are better than the fun things you're doing. OUCH.

While social media certainly has provided an excellent way to connect people, it is safe to say it has also been one of the unique causes of a specific type of anxiety: that everyone else is doing something great and you aren't. To put it succinctly, it's the fear of missing out. And summer is a prime breeding ground for this worry, because there is something going on somewhere, all the time.

There are the fairs and festivals, which seem to occur every weekend of every month in summer and well into fall. There's the Oyster Festival; the Sailfest; the Jazz Festival; the Craft Expo. There are festivals to celebrate blueberries, garlic, smoked meats, Irish heritage and butterflies. It's safe to say there's truly something for everyone.

There are countless "Bring a Friend" days at the local farmers market; the zoo; mini golf courses; aquariums. (These events can be twice as stressful, as it will lead to a person thinking that they are not only missing out, but are also lacking friends. Not true! Be the person who does the inviting and make someone else's day.)

One cannot overlook the special stress-inducing "Once a Year" events that speak for themselves in terms of missing out: who really wants to admit they didn't watch the Fourth of July fireworks? Or the summer solstice moon viewing? How about the first sweet corn harvest? (The stress level is multiplied by the number of children in a household who will also obsess over missing out on any yearly event.)

As we reach the mid-point of summer and all it has to offer, the fear of missing out increases with each Facebook post of That Other Family's vacation, or their perfect picnic, or their berry-picking excursion. Every edition of your community newspaper features pics of people enjoying local events. The good news is that there are tons of local events that will appeal to people of all ages, life stages and areas of interest. And the better news is that all it takes to prevent the fear of missing out is to get out the door and enjoy them!

Zoning could have unintended consequences for Dalton

To the Editor:

As you know, we have a huge decision to make for Dalton and its future. That decision is whether or not we vote in zoning, even if it is called Emergency Temporary Zoning.

Emergency Temporary Zoning or permanent zoning will not stop a landfill from coming into Dalton. It will only impact the residents and the current industry we have now, which is small.

If zoning, temporary or otherwise, comes into Dalton and drives out what we have now for business tax income, who will be left to take that burden? You, the taxpayer, that's who! As Dalton is a community of mainly elderly and lower income, how will you be able to do this?

We all want to save Forest Lake, and no one seems to care for a landfill in their back yard, but, zoning is not going to do that. I would suggest contacting your state representatives, forming a committee to study the effects of zoning, etc.

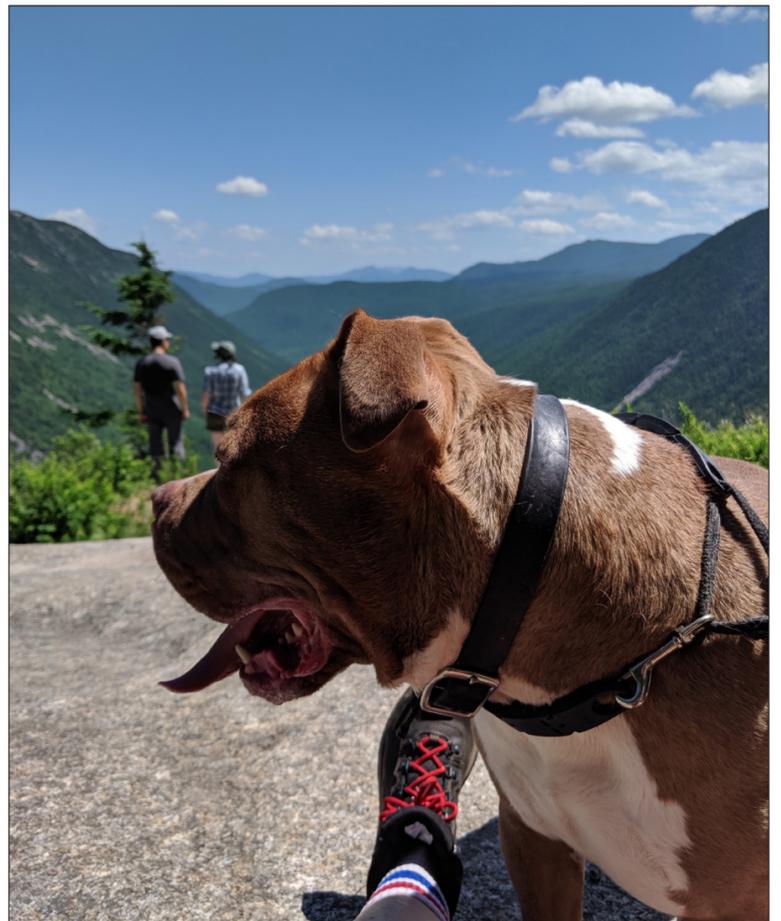

Dalton, you may have been led to save Forest Lake, but you really are being led to vote for zoning.

Please, I caution you to take your time and really think about the consequences that zoning will place on you! We still have time to make a decision.

One more thing. Emergency Temporary Zoning can be voted out in a year and a half. The Landfill has not made an application to the State yet, and it will be five to six years before anything is decided. So why rush into zoning? And like taxes, zoning never goes away once implemented.

Respectfully,

A virtual tour

To the Editor:

Our papers and Internet are filled with invective against the 25 year old landfill in Bethlehem and the proposed landfill in Dalton. "A massive landfill nearby that would pollute the air and groundwater and especially our beloved Forest Lake." I have invited all of the letter writers to take a tour with a knowledgeable environmental engineer in the back seat.

I just got my first taker, a very knowledgeable business person and his wife partner ... you can come with us. "US citizens are the world's top waste producers, one of worst at recycling"(current Waste Magazine lead article). So let's start with a typical citizen in Bethlehem. Noel is a 72 year old owner of 45 Hedgerose Ln, Bethlehem. She still works as a Housekeeper at Mt. Washington, she has a son and a 90 year old codger who requires constant attention ... she is busy. She cares deeply about the environment, but before Casella she was burdened with a single trashcan, a weekly trip to the dump and she just didn't have time for recycling. Now, she has two waste baskets, one recyclable, one non-recyclable, a nightly 25 pace trip to two neat rollable carts and a weekly 25 pace roll to the end of her driveway. Her carbon footprint and that of her town has been improved from a less than 5 percent recycler to close to 50 percent ... and it's all free and simple. If the bear or wind knocks over the carts, her "garbage man" (Mike Sulham) picks up the trash. Protection of the Environment starts with you.

Now let's discuss Free Curbside Pick-Up. There are 1,400 residences in Bethlehem that create MW (Municipal Waste). If every one of them had to load waste in the car and travel 15 miles round trip to a transfer station weekly, that would be 1,400 x 50=70,000 trips, over one million miles.

That can't be good for the environment, the town's roads, your car or your safety. At the 50-plus-cents USA mileage allowance that's $500,000 per year town total. If the town pays for it, that's 1,400 x $350/year=$490,000 per year. Let's say environmental effect = priceless, Cost $450,000.

Free Transfer Station ...open four days a week, swap shop for bigger items, friendly help for 90 year olds, put your waste in recyclable container or non-recyclable and then the trip to the landfill is very efficient by fork lift ... or to the recycling facility which is scheduled for Dalton, but not yet in Bethlehem. Average Cost for 6 transfer stations neighboring us ...$250,000/year.

Free Sand and Charitable contributions - Town calculated $35,000 each ...say $50,000/year.

Back to our trip ... we turn right on Trudeau, guy on right hates landfill-two nos, garage owner-two yeses, Police sergeant two yeses, guy washing car two yeses, sand pit planning board-two yeses, potter-two yeses (landfill arranged metal access plate), renter-two yeses, new planning board-two yeses, landfill employee-three yeses, minister-two nos, log cabin-two yeses ... on road closest to landfill, 12 houses, 25 residents vote yes, two houses four residents vote no. On my own street, eight houses, 14 yeses, only lone no ... who is counting these votes?

We turn left into Transfer Station, talk with greeter, then sneak by weigh scale onto path for 90 trucks/day. No odor yet, outside grass + plastic and we reach the top of Mt. Casella. Great view: 80,000 acres of White Mountain National Forest and the whole Presidential Range. The 90 trucks have only traveled 5.5 miles off Interstate 93 to get here, they dump their load on the staging area, it is quickly covered and except for the sludge trucks, a pleasant experience. At that point, we are caught by the greeter. She asks "Why are you here?" Happily my guest asks

"Where are the birds?" She answers "We have scanning devices - that's how I caught you - when an animal presence is detected, we release counter-measures."

I take my guests back to their car. They have only one more question ... why would anyone object to such an efficient operation? There is no air pollution, there is no water pollution and it is all for free ... plus, they lower Bethlehem's tax rate. Want a tour? Call Cliff, 869-2582.

The double meaning of "live free"

To the Editor:

"Live free" has two meanings, in New Hampshire or anywhere else: it means having the freedom to pursue happiness, but also the freedom from needless threats to your safety, security, peace and quiet, and bank account. I hope my fellow voters in Dalton will correctly see the opportunity to create a Zoning Board as a way for us to live more freely.

The choice seems simple to me: without any kind of zoning, the outcomes are a sure thing—any person or corporation can do what they want without consulting anyone else affected. All that zoning does is to change each result from sure to "maybe." A zoning board could still look the other way on many, most, or all proposed developments, but it just might delay, block, or (most importantly) modify some of the worst ideas that come down the pike.

I went to a barbecue that Casella Waste Systems sponsored earlier this month, and spoke at length with their chief local engineer. When I expressed surprise that Dalton was one of the 19 towns in New Hampshire without zoning (I've since read that 98 percent of the population of New Hampshire lives in towns or cities with zoning), he said "why do you think we're here?"

He told me that Casella also prefers to acquire pristine sites for their new landfills, explaining that if they site a landfill in an area that already has industrial activity, they can't be sure whether any new-found contamination of the water or air there is due to their own activity. This makes sense from a legal-liability perspective, but runs counter to the goal of keeping pristine areas as they are.

I was particularly interested in the map on display of the Casella landfill site, which states that the groundwater under the site is "inferred to flow towards Alder Brook" and away from Forest Lake. When I asked the engineer when and how they would go from "inferring" the flow direction to actually measuring it, he replied that they would only be determining the depth of the groundwater at various locations, and "assuming" that it flows from areas where it is shallower to areas where it is deeper. Unfortunately, groundwater doesn't always obey that kind of hopeful assumption.

I am relatively new to the area, having bought a shuttered cabin on Forest Lake two years ago. But I have been enjoying the White Mountains since the 1970s, have worked on Mt. Washington, and am hiking the last of the 48 NH 4,000-footers next month. I don't know for sure if siting a large landfill, largely serving trash generated out of our area, is a bad idea in close proximity to the treasure that is Forest Lake. But I know I'd like Dalton to have a process whereby residents can discuss whether, when, and how to site this landfill. Without zoning, we have no voice and no recourse. That's no way to "live free."

Billie Holiday lives again on the Weathervane stage

By Kate Goldsborough and Gail Gilmore

“Lady Day at Emerson’s Bar and Grill” is a reenactment of one of Billie Holiday’s last performances before her death in 1959. Entirely inhabiting the character, from the backward tilt of her head to Holiday’s signature rasp to the way she drinks, Shinnerie Jackson sweeps the audience away in her portrayal of Billie Holiday.

For ninety minutes the character of Lady Day beguiles us with gifted storytelling, interspersing anecdotes with Holiday’s best-known songs including “What a Little Moonlight Can Do,” “God Bless the Child,” “Strange Fruit,” and “T’aint Nobody’s Business if I Do.” As the evening progresses Lady Day begins guz-zling booze the way only an alcoholic can and later leaves the stage altogether for “a little moonlight.” The audience witnesses Holiday’s slow unraveling, culminating in a moment of brilliant staging that had the opening night audience leap to their feet for a standing ovation.

Jackson says, “I researched Billie for months. I worked on the lines and music and with my singing coach to cover Billie without hurting my voice. There’s a lot of Billie in me: the way she tells stories, the way she’s amused by the bad things that happen to her. We share that.”

Gibbs Murray’s set is gorgeous; deep wine-colored, angled panels, a small bar with rich wood complimented by reflective bottles—entirely evocative of the place and era. Scout Hough’s sophisticated amber lighting enhances the late night ambiance, and Isaiah Parnell’s sound design brings intimacy to the soft and rich vocals.

Rien Schlecht’s costume design captures the characters, atmosphere, and decade perfectly.

“I did a lot of research on Billie Holiday,” Schlecht says. “She always had great fashion sense. In an era of jazz persona, Billie was ‘the lady’ in her signature white with the gardenia behind her ear. I had fun focusing on the details of a long night at a seedy Philly bar, details we don’t have time for in the season’s bigger shows.”

Under Robert Hupp’s deft direction, the performance builds in power to the breathtaking conclusion.

“My job was to help Shinnerie bring Billie Holiday to life and help the play with its overall arc. The music was Colin’s turf,” Hupp says, referring to Music Director Colin Keating, who also plays Holiday’s pianist Jimmy Powers.

On stage with Keating is Billie’s band: percussionist Chris Cerreto, bassist AC Muench, and guitarist Dave Saikin. As characters in the play, they’re band mates worried about their vocalist.

fans, as well as those not yet familiar with her music, this is a truly magical production.

“Shinnerie Jackson’s performance was one of the finest tuned I have ever seen,” said Weathervane cofounder, Gibbs Murray. “She reaches heights we don’t often see.” Keating adds, “We applied for the rights to this show a year ago with Shinnerie in mind. I knew this was going to be something special. It’s an icon playing an icon.”

Remaining dates for Lady Day are, July 30, Aug. 5 and 15 at 8 p.m. Tickets are available at the Weathervane box office, 389 Lancaster Rd., Whitefield, by phone at 837-9322, or online at weathervanetheatre.org.

A Century in Coös

A look back at this week in local history

COMPILED BY TARA GILES

1919
South Groveton locals - Clifford Barrows has purchased an auto and is having it repaired.

1929
One man lost his life and three were injured when the old mountain climbing engine ‘Old Pepper-sass,’ whose return to her original environment was being celebrated Saturday afternoon at Mount Washington, broke away and at terrific speed tore down the mountain, ripped up the tracks, finally jumping off and crashing into the rocks, the boiler bursting and totally demolishing the ancient relic. The driver, his helper, and two others jumped for their lives, one of them too late to come out alive.

1939
Lunenburg locals - The life manager of the Metropolitan Life presented O. R. Smith with a 10-year service medal last week. Mr. Smith was also made a member of the 100,000 club, having qualified by selling $50,000 worth of insurance in six months.

1949
The home of George J. Trottier of Lunenburg, Vt. was struck by a bolt of lightning. The bolt struck the chimney, showering bricks in all directions, some of them falling on a bed vacated shortly before by the son of the house. In Lancaster, damage occurred at the home of Mrs. C. N. Taylor on Winter St. when a bolt entered the living room. Walls and curtains were blackened and the radio put out of commission.

The Elms Hotel of Lancaster is now under the management of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Clarke, who have plans for reconditioning and redecorating the building.

1969
The landing of two Americans on the moon was a tremendous accomplishment worthy of celebration, but the unexpected declaration of a holiday for federal employees on Monday and the disruption of mail and other federal and state services without sufficient notice may have caused difficulty for many.

1979
LANCASTER - The Duponts buried their family’s patriarch Monday morning and they did it in a style Gerard Dupont would have loved, by horse-drawn procession. Mr. Dupont died July 19 at the age of 66. A small plain wagon hitched to a pair of Appaloosa pulling ponies, Dolly and Princess, drew up under the porte cochere at Bailey’s Funeral Home. The flower covered casket of Mr. Dupont was lifted aboard the wagon, and with grandson Emile Dupont Jr. at the reins and other Duponts walking alongside, a pair of horses pulled for Gerard Dupont one last time.

The gift to the town of Whitefield 156 years ago by Nathaniel King and Joseph Colby has been recognized. Last week, a simple plaque mounted on a stone in view of the bandstand immortalizes their donation of the Common in 1833 as ‘a playing ground for the boys,’ but the girls can play there too.

D A L T O N - The U.S. Postal Service has given the stamp of denial to a request from local and state officials to build a post office in town.

At a ceremonial transfer of the Nevers property in Jefferson to the national nonprofit Archeology Conservancy, Dave Govatski of Jefferson, a member of the Conservation Commission, suggested a new sign be placed at the town borders, ‘Welcome to Jefferson—Settled 11,000 Years Ago: Incorporated 1796.’

2009
DALTON - More than three-dozen people spoke to a packed room voicing their opposition, and in some cases support, for a proposed drag racing track in Dalton. The public got the opportunity to voice their concerns at a hearing held by the state Department of Environmental Services (DES) at the Dalton Town Hall on July 16. The public input session was held in response to a vocal outcry by neighbors and a request from the Board of Selectmen after the property owner, Doug “Chick” Ingerson, filed a minimum impact wetlands permits application with the state agency.

Kirman Arthur Pineo, 79

FRANCONIA — Kirman Arthur Pineo, 79, of Franconia, died July 13, 2019 at Littleton Hospital following a short but severe illness.

Kirm was born June 21, 1940 in Wolfeboro, the son of Avert and Hildred (Bradley) Pineo. He attended school in Bethlehem, and enlisted in the U.S. Army, where he attained the rank of corporal, Combat Engineer NCO, high scores in marksmanship and certification in explosives.

Following his discharge, Kirm continued his service in the NH National Guard, and went to work in Franconia Notch State Park for the Cannon Mountain Ski Area, in his words, "until something better came along." He retired from Cannon Mountain in 1999 after working there for 35 years on mechanical and construction projects. He worked on construction of the new Aerial Tramway which opened in 1981. He was known as an expert snow groomer and spent many nights smoothing the trails for local skiers. After his retirement, he was asked to return to Cannon to work on one last construction project, the new Tuckerbook ski area, before continuing his "retirement" as a machinist and equipment operator. He was known for creating wonderful and useful items like wood splitters and Old Man of the Mountain andirons.

He married Edda (Hepworth) on Jan. 1, 1993 and they made their home in Franconia. His many friends and family members remember him riding his blue and white classic Harley-Davidson Motorcycle, "Pinto," with Edda, and driving his black Ford dual-wheel truck to his "office" at a local restaurant.

Kirm was a machinist, a welder, a trucker, a mechanic, and a heavy equipment operator, known for his finesse with heavy machinery and for being able to solve difficult mechanical problems and manufacture just about anything in his home workshop. He had a keen sense of humor and a propensity to help people out of a jam.

Kirm was a first generation American of Canadian and British ancestry on his mother's side. Over the years, Kirm traveled to the United Kingdom and Norway to visit family and friends.

He was predeceased by his parents, as well as his brothers Ralph Pineo of Franconia and Raymond Pineo of Lisbon.

He is survived by his loving wife of 25 years, Edda; his four sisters, Lois and husband Damus Champagne of Littleton, June and husband George Paige of Lisbon, Joan Towle of Hudson, and Gail and husband Richard Rogers of Concho, Az.; his sister-in-law, Bonnie Pineo of Lisbon; and many nieces and nephews.

A graveside service was held at 1 p.m. on Thursday, July 18 at the Elmwood Cemetery, Route 116 in Franconia, for friends and family followed by a celebration of life at his home on Sawmill Lane. There are no calling hours.

In lieu of flowers, please make a donation in his name to a charity of your choice.

Marie L. Holden, 87

WEST STEWARTSTOWN — Marie L. Holden, 87, of West Stewartstown, and formerly of Colebrook, passed away on Sunday, July 14, 2019, at the Coos County Nursing Hospital in West Stewartstown.

She was born on Nov. 10, 1937, in Newmarket, a daughter to the late Rene and Eva (Lambert) Bailargeon.

Marie worked for many years at Manchester Manufacturing in Colebrook, the Colebrook Country Club, and at The Balsams Grand Resort Hotel, where she found family in her co-workers. She was loved by everyone she worked with, and when working in the hotel with Marie you would hear an ocean of "hellos" as she passed by. Marie had an amazing life and was able to travel with her family as far as Africa when she was a young mother.

She was a selfless person who dedicated her life to caring for others. She was always there for her family and was best known for her contagious smile. She loved to dance in her younger years and could be found on the dance floor winning polka contests with friends and family. She was an avid bird watcher and would sit for hours on the porch with her husband looking at the different birds that would come to visit her home.

Marie was best known for being the world's best Grammy to her many grandchildren. She loved to spend time with them in the garden, picking berries in the yard, or going for walks around town. Many summers she would take her grandchildren because there was no place they would have rather been. She was very proud of her many grandchildren and great grandchildren and she always enjoyed showing everyone any new pictures. She never missed a holiday function or BBQ with her family and she loved to enjoy family outings close to home.

Marie leaves behind her children, Ann Kelly (and husband Richard), Mr. & Mrs. Robert Joyce, Sharon Dobson (husband Jeff), and Linda Reynolds (husband Calvin); her grandchildren, Christopher Hughes, Michelle Dobson, Scott Dobson, Chastity Reynolds Greene, and Christine Reynolds Wheeler; her great-grandchildren, Trevor and Katelyn, William and Skye, Nicole and Justin, Colin and Isabella Marie, Jake, Molly and Lila.

She was predeceased by her husband, Richard Holden, in 2007, and a daughter, Susan Joyce.

There are no public calling hours. A graveside interment service will be held on Mon., Aug. 5, 2019, at 11 a.m. in the Colebrook Village Cemetery.

Condolences may be offered to the family online by going to www.jenkinsnewman.com.

Funeral arrangements are under the direction of Jenkins & Newman Funeral Home in Colebrook.

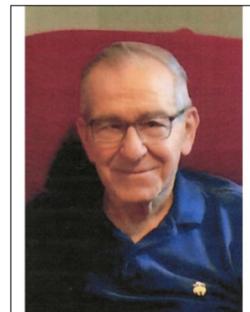

Robert D. Calamari, 86

DURHAM — Robert D. Calamari, 86, of Durham, who practiced law in New Hampshire for more than 50 years, died on May 21, 2019, surrounded by his loving family.

Born in New York City on July 15, 1932, he was the son of Andrew and Mary Calamari.

He earned a Bachelor's degree in economics from Fordham College and a doctor of jurisprudence degree from Fordham University School of Law, where he met his wife, Rita, with whom he practiced law for many years in Lancaster. After their retirement, they resided in Durham.

During the Korean

Robert Calamari

War, he served in the U.S. Army Signal Corps.

Throughout his years of practice, he served as county attorney of Coos County and as federal magistrate for the Northern District of New Hampshire, as well as on many boards and commissions at the state and local levels.

He was predeceased by his parents; a brother, Andrew Calamari, Jr.; and a sister, Margaret.

Family members include his wife of 59 years, Rita; a son, Robert Calamari, Jr.; and his wife Brenda; and a granddaughter, Marissa of Lynnfield, Mass.

He will be remembered for his loving heart and generous spirit. To know him was to love him.

In lieu of flowers, memorial donations may be made to Cardinal Hayes High School "Cardinal & Gold Fund," 650 Grand Concourse, Bronx, N.Y. 10451.

Beatrice V. Hopps, 101

GROVETON — Beatrice V. Hopps, 101, formerly of Hillside Ave., died Tuesday afternoon, July 16, 2019, at Weeks Medical Center, Lancaster surrounded by family.

Family and friends recently celebrated Bea turning 101. What accomplishment!

Mrs. Hopps was born in North Conway on July 3, 1918, the daughter of John and Florence (Burgess) Hill. She was raised in Wolfeboro, resided for a short time in Stratford, and was a longtime resident of Groveton for over 60 years. In January of 1938, she married Elias Hopps, Sr. They were married for 56 years until his passing in 1993.

In the more recent years Beatrice has been a resident of The Morrison in Whitefield.

Beatrice was a homemaker busy raising her eight children. She was an excellent cook and will especially be remembered for her home made doughnuts. She enjoy long walks and going for car rides.

Surviving family members include her children, Shirley Forbush of Dover, Lucille Cameron of Jefferson, Joyce Reynolds of Groveton, Elsie Dresser of Deltona, Fla., Elias Hopps, Jr. of Lancaster, Harold Dean Hopps of Groveton, and Meredith Hopps of Berlin; 16 grandchildren; many great and great-great grandchildren.

She was also predeceased by a daughter Eleanor Glidden, and two brothers Calvin and Richard Hill.

Visiting hours were held Monday, July 22, from 4 to 8 p.m. at the Bailey Funeral Home in Lancaster. A graveside service followed Tuesday morning at 10 a.m. in the Northumberland Cemetery, Groveton. Rev. Patricia V. Williams, pastor of the United Methodist Church, Groveton, officiated.

Please go to www.baileyfh.net for more information or to send an online condolence.

Northern Coös Dems hear from Klobuchar campaign

COLEBROOK — The Northern Coös County Democratic Committee has not yet endorsed one of the many candidates for the 2020 presidential nomination, but at scheduled monthly meetings and frequent informal gatherings, talks are ongoing.

Members attended Joe Biden's gathering in Berlin and they have met with Elizabeth Warren's field representatives as well as state officials.

At the monthly meeting July 17 at the Colebrook Library, Leah Garrett, field worker with Amy Klobuchar's campaign, discussed with local members her candidate's interest in the community. Leah plans to spend lots of time in the north and hopes to hear from local residents. Her email is Leah@amyklobuchar.com.

Committee members discussed plans for a presence at the Moose Festivals and Lancaster Fair. They also had a lot to say about healthcare, an ongoing concern in the North Country. Committee Chairman Dick Harris stated:

Poverty in northwestern Coos County and throughout our nation is impacting our healthcare system, which in turn is affecting all of us directly. We need to join together in a bipartisan effort to resolve this crisis. Healthcare issues should not overshadow or bankrupt families.

Another week, another turkey, and bells going nuts in the newsroom

By JOHN HARRIGAN
COLUMNIST

Most of the television talking heads and their audience caught up in this past week's hoopla about the first lunar landing weren't even born when it all took place.

July 20, 1969 was a Wednesday, and I was learning my career ropes at the daily Nashua Telegraph when Apollo 11 blasted off from Cape Canaveral.

Newsrooms were still getting their national and global news back then via teletype machines, which were fed stories over dedicated telephone lines and hammered them out just like typewriters, on rolls of paper. The machines rang bells when an important story was coming in, the number of rings denoting the senders' perceived importance of the story.

I think the Apollo launch was a three-beller for all three of the Telegraph's wire services--the Associated Press, United Press International, and the New York Times. To give you an idea of the ranking, a one-bell story tended to be a ho-hummer, something like "Voters Elect Slum-Lord as Governor of New York."

To put this in better perspective, Richard Nixon resigned on Aug. 9, 1974. By then, I was at the New Hampshire Sunday News, and was in the newsroom when the story came in. I'm fairly sure it was a four-beller. Newsroom veterans liked to joke that five bells were reserved for either the Second Coming or Armageddon.

I think the Apollo launch was a three-beller, which probably meant something like "Hey--Nothing Went Wrong." Editors, a hardened lot, probably yawned. This, of course, was long before I became an editor and in theory had time for yawning. The truth is that running a newsroom was a tough job that left no time for yawning.

But that Sunday, July 20, half a century ago, was something else again. There's no telling how many bells were ringing in the Telegraph's newsroom, because I was home on Allds Street in Nashua, like the rest of the nation watching Walter Cronkite, spellbound as the Eagle touched down on the moon. Well, sort of watching--NASA and the networks used models and mockups depicting what was happening, because the only film of the event itself was in a camera on the exterior of the lander, and could not be developed until back on Earth.

Nonetheless, we were transfixed--the kids, not so much. But now, 50 years later, the history of it all comes home again.

Neil Armstrong's words when he first set foot on the moon proved unfortunate, in that he was misquoted in newspapers and other media all over the world, a mistake still uncorrected in many media in many countries, including ours. What he said was "That's one small step for a man, one giant leap for mankind," but the "a" was almost inaudible. Armstrong himself made great efforts to get the quote corrected.

I enjoy responses from readers, and savor the stubborn independence they often convey.

A man who signed his note "A loyal reader from Campton" didn't think much of the TV-driven near-hysteria about the heat wave. "This is (after all) mid-July," he said, observing that most of us in their 70s or so have seen plenty of heat waves. He said he was going down to the river to cool off.

The human epidermis is among the best on the planet for coping with temperature extremes, but you'd never know it from all the crisis-mongering on TV. But in these neurotic times, crisis sells.

For some reason, I get a news freebie in my email, and the High Country News is well worth reading. This week's issue included a story on global warming, attended by a photo showing alpine tents pitched below a disappearing glacier out West.

Some people, particularly those in various scientific pursuits, believe we may already have reached the tipping-point in global warming.

Lots of people had trouble coping with the heat, and I don't mean to belittle their discomfort. We are not all alike, thanks be.

During the height of the heat, I was probably the only guy thinking about fish. In northern New Hampshire and certain remote ponds in the high country of the White Mountains and around Winnepesaukee, we were already near

SUMMIT BY MORRISON AND THE MORRISON ASSISTED LIVING AND SKILLED NURSING CARE

When it's time to move: Tips to help you navigate the process

BY SHANNON LYNCH
EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

As seniors age, housing needs inevitably change. For many older people, living in the family home where they've raised a family may no longer be feasible because of health, mobility or financial concerns. Other seniors may desire a simpler lifestyle, with more time to pursue activities they enjoy without the worry of home maintenance and yard work.

Each individual's situation is different, but for most seniors there will come a time when downsizing and moving to a smaller place — an apartment, an independent or assisted living community, or perhaps clear across the country to live near the kids and grandkids — makes sense.

Making decisions about what to do with your furniture and other possessions can be stressful, both emotionally and physically, but moving is manageable taken in small doses over a period of time and with a little planning and organization on your part. We've gathered a few tips to help you make the move as painlessly as possible.

- Start Early: It's unrealistic to think that you can pare down the contents of your home in just a couple of weekends. Give yourself the gift of time so that you can make wise decisions about the items you want to keep and take with you, give away to your children, grandchildren and friends, donate to a thrift store or charity, or sell.

- Start Small: Pick one drawer, one closet or one collection of items. Go through those things and decide if they will go in the "keep" or "let go" box. When you've finished, move on to the next. Enlist the help of any children or grandchildren who are willing to assist you. This can be a great bonding time, as you share stories of your life, how you acquired some of the belongings in your home and why they hold a special meaning for you.

- Be Realistic: Downsizing from a large home to a small apartment means that you won't be able to take all your belongings with you. Knowing the size of the rooms and storage space in your new home will help you understand what furniture, clothing and keepsakes will fit.

- Family Heirlooms: You love Aunt Dot's wedding china, your grandma's button collection, and are very sentimental about the 40-year-old couch — with just a few stains, but still perfectly good — that you and your husband purchased just after you married. But let's face it, your family may not feel the same way. Ask family members if they have special pieces they'd like gifted to them, but don't be offended if they don't want any of your belongings. Each generation has its own ideas of what a home should look and feel like. If it's going to be hard to part with these items, take a photo and write a description of each piece so that you can look at it later and enjoy the memory of it.

- Create Lists: Make a list of all the things you have to do. Along with deciding what items to keep, give away, donate or sell, moving to a new home includes filling out change of address forms at the post office, transferring magazine and newspaper subscriptions, arranging to have the utilities shut off at your old home, contacting home and car insurers, and multiple other tasks. Lists help you stay organized!

- Pack A "First Day" Box: Follow this great advice from the American Senior Communities organization and you'll be prepared when you reach your new home with all of the items you'll need that first day and night: toiletries, prescriptions, cleaning and kitchen supplies, toilet paper, and basic tools like a hammer and screwdriver. You might also add your nightgown or pajamas and a change of clothes for the next day. Having all of these items in one place will help your move go smoothly as you settle into your new home.

Katie Matzell plays Rockin' the Park Friday

LANCASTER — This Friday brings Katie Matzell and her band to the Rockin' the Park stage at 7 p.m. Katie Matzell is an up-and-coming soul and jazz influenced singer/songwriter from Portland, Maine. Maine Today has described Matzell as "fierce and dazzling," and her "sweet, full, and gorgeous" vocals have been compared with everyone from Aretha Franklin to Norah Jones. Her band features a funky, atmospheric blend of guitar and electric piano backed by a rock-solid rhythm section. She released a self-titled EP in 2018 and is currently working on her first full length album.

Food will be available for sale starting at 5:30 p.m. from Rockin' the Park favorite Farm to Fire. Farm to Fire, from Monroe, serves wood fired Neapolitan flatbread pizzas creatively topped with fresh, local ingredients.

Rockin' the Park takes place each Friday from July 12 through Aug. 2 in Centennial Park in Lancaster as a celebration of local music, local food, and community. Rain location will be at the Lancaster Town Hall.

Rockin' the Park is put on by Taproot Farm & Environmental Education Center, a Lancaster non-profit organization focused on healthy food, healthy environment, and healthy community. Taproot's other initiatives include The Root Seller Marketplace, North Country Gleaners, The Lancaster Community Garden, and a diverse slate of education programs, including a nature-based summer camp currently running at White Mountains Regional High School.

The Rockin' the Park series is sponsored by Dental Herb Company, Garland Mill Timberframes, Passumpsic Savings Bank, and the Polish Princess, and is supported by Arts Alliance of Northern New Hampshire.

More information on Taproot can be found at www.taprootnh.org, and on Facebook and Instagram.

Does the church of Christ have a creed or creed book?

Isiah 1:18 "Come and let us reason together"

No. A creed is defined as being a "Brief authoritative formula of religious belief (Webster's Dictionary), i.e. the Nicen Creed.

Religious creeds are, generally speaking, man's attempt to have authority in religious matters of observance, worship and organization. We hold that "All Scripture is inspired by God, and is profitable for teaching, for reproof, for correction, for training in righteousness; so that the man of God may be complete, equipped for every good work." (2 Timothy 3:16,17).

We hold that anything which puts the opinions and wisdom of man above that of God and overrules God as wrong and dangerous. therefore, the churches of Christ believe that the Bible, the sacred writings, are the inspired word of God.

They are complete and nothing else is needed in the form of manual, guidebook or creed to guide us to salvation nor should any manual or guidebook demand our allegiance and loyalty over that of the Bible.

We invite you to join us every Sunday for Bible study at 10:00 am and for worship at 11:00 am. We are located at 490 Main Street in Lancaster, NH next to the fair grounds.

Weeks State Park announces next program

LANCASTER — Weeks State Park Program will present a special program, "Northern Forest Canoe Trail: the 'Wrong Way,'" Aug. 1 at 7 p.m., presented by Peter Macfarlane.

Five years after paddling the Northern Forest Canoe Trail from New York State to Maine, Addison Vermont resident Peter Macfarlane set out for another through-paddle of the Northern Forest Canoe Trail, a distance of 750 miles. He chose to attempt to become the first person recorded to through-paddle the trail from east to west, from Fort Kent, Maine to Old Forge, New York, a route with far more upstream than downstream, including whitewater. He used a self-designed-and-built, cedar-strip canoe. He paddled solo and was self-powered for the entire journey.

This presentation takes the audience through some of the planning and on a vicarious roller-coaster ride of overcoming challenges, loss, joyful paddling, exhaustion, despair, and some sublime moments, all illustrated with photos and snippets of video.

This program will be in the Great Room of the Summit Lodge of Weeks State park and will begin at 7 p.m. Come early and bring a picnic supper, or climb the Fire Tower for one of the best views north of the notches. Weeks State park is located on the east side of Route 3, approximately two miles south of Lancaster. Carpooling is strongly suggested if possible for the events.

Shuttling service will be provided for all summer programs from the parking lot to the Lodge from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m.

The summer programs are sponsored by the Weeks State Park Association, NH Division of Parks, and UNH Cooperative Extension. "Thank You" to our local business supporters who help make the summer program series possible.

Branford Marsalis to take part in White Mountains Music Festival

REGION — Three-time Grammy Award winner and National Endowment for the Arts Jazz Master, Branford Marsalis will join the North Country Chamber Players for the “Age of Gershwin” on July 27 at the Medallion Opera House, in Gorham, and on July 28 at the Inn at Maplewood, in Bethlehem, as part of the 2019 White Mountains Music Festival.

The versatile Mr. Marsalis is the leader of the Branford Marsalis Quartet, long recognized as the standard to which other ensembles of its kind must be measured, has performed with symphony orchestras around the world, including the New York Philharmonic, the Chicago Symphony and the Boston Pops, toured with Sting, collaborated with the Grateful Dead, served as Musical Director of The Tonight Show Starring Jay Leno and hosted National Public Radio’s widely syndicated Jazz Set.

He will join the North Country Chamber Players for a program of dynamic selections from Gershwin’s “Porgy and Bess,” Jacques Ibert’s jazz-influenced “Concertino,” Duke Ellington’s “A Train” and other works made popular on the stages of Paris and New York during the 1930’s. Now in their 41st year, the Chamber Players have been described by the New Hampshire State Council on the Arts “one of the outstanding cultural resources in the state of New Hampshire,” and a critic from the Boston Musical Intelligencer lauded them as, “a sophisticated group of experienced, passionate, focused, and obviously talented musicians. They performed with verve and precision. Their confident and uplifting performance precipitated an enthusiastic and prolonged standing ovation. Certainly a treat when they venture forth from their idyllic rural home to share some of their high-caliber music-making with us city slickers!”

The 2019 White Mountains Music Festival will also include concerts at the Sugar Hill Meeting House and Whitefield’s Mountain View Grand Resort for five additional weeks of performances beginning on July 13.

Always seeking to provide a wide range of programming and ideas to engage, inspire and inform the communities they serve, during the past four decades, the Chamber Players have introduced other internationally renowned figures including tango master, Pablo Ziegler, Portuguese Fado guitarist, Pedro Joia, conductor, author and educator, Leon Botstein, and architect and visionary, Paolo Soleri, to northern New Hampshire audiences, for the first time, in collaborative performances and special presentations. Tickets for all White Mountains Festival programs may be purchased and further information about the Chamber Players’ activities can be found by visiting www.northcountrychamberplayers.org or by calling 444-0309.

Eversource contribution supports Taproot ecological programs in Lancaster

LANCASTER — As part of our commitment to environmental stewardship and serving the neighborhoods where we work and live, our community relations specialist, Catalina Calentano, recently presented a contribution to Taproot Farm & Environmental Education Center in Lancaster. The contribution will be used to help this important non-profit grow its unique educational programs to promote ecological literacy, strengthen the community’s connection to nature and to help ensure that families have access to fresh, locally grown produce.

“We share Taproot’s value that healthy food, a healthy environment and a healthy community are intimately linked,” said Calentano. “By providing families with plots to grow their own food, Taproot is strengthening their connection to the environment and nurturing their well-being. Additionally, Taproot’s educational programs are instilling in the next generation an appreciation for environmental and community stewardship.”

Taproot’s Lancaster Community Garden provides green space to those who do not have access to grow their own backyard garden, and additionally offers educational opportunities and assistance pertaining to gardening. Plots are rented out to individuals, families and organizations — and plots that are not rented out are used to grow vegetables for the local food pantry.

In addition to the Community Garden, Taproot’s initiatives include The Root Seller

Marketplace — a food hub and natural food store established to support a thriving local food system — North Country Gleaners, and a diverse slate of education programs, including a nature-based summer camp currently running at White Mountains Regional High School.

“We have experienced extraordinary growth over the last three years, and we’re grateful to Eversource and all our community partners for their investment in our programs,” said Founder and Executive Director Melissa Grella. “With their support, we are creating social and environmental change for a common good by connecting children and adults physically and emotionally to the land, to their food, and to each other.”

ATV crash with injury in Clarksville

CLARKSVILLE — At approximately 10:50 a.m. on Saturday, July 20, Ryan Mahoney, 18, of Quincy, Mass. was operating an ATV on Deadwater Loop Road in Clarksville. Mahoney was traveling behind a side by side when he failed to navigate a sharp right turn. Mahoney traveled straight into the woods and approximately 20 feet down a steep embankment where he struck a tree.

Mahoney's riding companions quickly went to his aid and a 911 call was made. Pittsburg Fire Department, 45th Parallel EMS and Conservation Officer's responded. Mahoney sustained non-life threatening injuries from the crash and was transported to Upper Connecticut Valley Hospital, in Colebrook, for treatment.

This crash is still under investigation; however, it appears that following to close was a primary factor in the crash with the significant road dust present on the trails. Conservation Officers would like to use this incident to remind OHRV operators traveling in groups to give significant space between vehicles to maximize visibility.

Dalton Historical Society plans Town Square Fair, Field Day

DALTON — The Dalton Historical Society met on Saturday, July 13 with nine members present and one visitor. Several items related to Stratford, New Hampshire's history have been donated to the Cochos Historical Society.

Research has been done on the Rosebrook House, which we learned was a tavern on the County Road near Cushman Brook in the mid-1800's. The Rosebrooks were known for owning or operating several early hotels in the White Mountains area.

A couple from Georgia, seeking their Elliott ancestors, will meet in August with the Historical Society President for a tour of the cemeteries and locating their family homesteads.

The Society received several "Daltonians," published by Dalton High School students from the 1930's. Discussion took place regarding a possible monument honoring the listing of the Town Hall on the State Historic Register.

The Friends of the Dalton Town Hall are getting ready for Saturday, Aug. 10 for the Dalton Town Square Fair and Field Day. Besides a Flea Market, Silent Auction and Chicken Barbecue, this year will find some new events. With help from some additional community members, there are plans for a horseshoe and cornhole tournaments, and a "Touch-A-Truck" for the youngsters. Because the tournaments will extend the day for some, there will be hamburgers and hotdogs available later in the afternoon. There may also be raffle items.

The Friends are seeking items for the Silent Auction. They welcome furniture, home décor, art, antiques, building materials, gift certificates, and more. No clothing or electronics, please. Contact John Bean at 616-3735, or Terri Parks at 837-9120 if you wish to donate items.

To reserve a space for the Flea Market, contact Terri Parks at 837-9120. The cost is $10 per space. Potential vendors should provide their own tables and canopies.

The day's events will benefit not only the Friends of the Dalton Town Hall, who work to support the historic building, but other local organizations, as well.

Savage family holds 42nd consecutive reunion

BY GERTRUDE SAVAGE

LANCASTER — On Saturday, July 13, a beautiful summer day, approximately 55 descendants of Roswell E. Savage and Anna G. (Marshall) Savage met at the Colonel Town Community Camp, big grill area. "Out East" in Lancaster.

Tie dyeing with instructor Jen Ingerson was the fun activity for the morning, followed by a pot luck luncheon, then a business meeting began. All present were introduced, and a moment of silence was observed for those who are no longer here. The Treasurer's report was given by Beatrice Fontaine. Gifts were presented by Janet Savage to the following:

Youngest — Amelia

Ingerson, 14 months (daughter of Nick and Sara Ingerson)

Oldest — Faye Young, 90 years old (daughter of Harry and Stella Savage)

Newlyweds — None present

Longest married — 50 years, Linda and Andy Wallenstein (Linda is the daughter of Elmer and Helen Savage)

Farthest Away — Devon Young (daughter of Roland (Pooge) and Faye Young, Winthrop, Mass.)

Storytelling — By Chet Savage, Jr., "Parrot Bidding Against Ron Labombard and Gertrude Savage at an Auction"

Get Well cards signed for Jeff Savage and Lisa Riendeau. We missed their familiar faces.

New! A family scrapbook started in January — check it out!

An auction was held with Glenn Elder and Chet Savage, Jr. acting as auctioneers, assisted by Janet Savage, Joyce McGee, and Ethan Fontaine.

Next, music performed by Andy Wallenstein playing and singing songs he wrote.

The guests spoke of the good fortune to have a lovely place like the Colonel Town Community Camp to meet.

Thus ended another great reunion.

Jerry Jam celebrates 24 years

BY ANGEL LARCOM
angel@salmonpress.news

BATH — Every summer thousands of people trek from as far away as California for a three-day music festival in Bath called Jerry Jam. What started in 1996 as a small gathering of roughly 20 friends has evolved into a full-fledged jam band festival with a warm family spirit.

As Jerry Jam approaches its quarter-century anniversary, its founder ponders the future of the iconic festival.

“It’s a roller coaster here,” said Dan Webb. “There are moments that are freaking awesome then those that can be challenging.”

Webb says he worries each time his radio goes off, commenting “We are on the radar now, and people are coming from all over the country.”

Webb started this gathering of what he calls the “Jamily” one year after Jerry Garcia passed away in 1995. “We were still mourning pretty hard. There was no Grateful Dead,” he said. “We were still in shock and looking for that feeling that we found at the Dead shows.”

Each year, the gathering grew. By the third year, Webb hired his first band. After five years, he had to find a larger space. The festival moved from location to location, until finally settling in Bath at the Klay Knoll Farm a few years ago.

“Back in the day, we didn’t start planning the event until two or three weeks before it would happen,” he explained. “Now we work on Jerry Jam almost nine months out of the year.”

Today, Jerry Jam attracts more than 4,000 people and features 45 different bands on three stages in three days. Despite such staggering numbers and all the logistics that come with a festival of this size, it is essential to both Webb and his team that Jerry Jam maintains its grassroots, organic feeling.

Both of Webb’s children grew up at Jerry Jam, and the festival remains a family-friendly event today. Attendees range from one-month-old babies to grandparents in their eighties. It’s a common sight to see children playing on the festival grounds.

Many people say it feels like a family reunion. Weddings and marriage proposals have happened at Jerry Jam, and this year was no exception. Eric Kukler proposed to his girlfriend, Colleen McElwain, by suspending a banner over the stage.

When asked why he chose to pop the question at Jerry Jam, Kukler said, “We met at the Jam three years ago, and I’ve fallen in love with her. Jerry Jam has always meant so much to both of us. I wanted to integrate that into our lives.”

While the festival has deep meaning for several attendees, Webb says he is pondering the future of Jerry Jam. It is both his hope and that of his daughter, Nina, that the torch will be passed to her eventually.

“Every year could be my last,” said Webb. “It’s a huge undertaking. I have a great team, great volunteers, and great attendees. These people love Jerry Jam more than I do.”

His daughter, Nina, said, “Part of what makes Jerry Jam so great is the closeness you get with something this size.”

“You could lose that if it gets larger. No matter what, the feeling will still be here. It’s sewn into the festival,” she continued. “I would like to see more people here. The more people that know about this lifestyle, the better.”

When asked how large, she laughed and said, “Woodstock 2.0.”

For now, the father and daughter team are going with the flow. Webb said he is committed to leading the 25th Jerry Jam in 2020, but he is undecided what will happen in 2021.

Ruling

on the part of thousands of New Hampshire citizens to prevent the degradation our State’s exceptional landscapes. The Court strongly affirmed the SEC’s decision, finding that the SEC fully complied with the law and with SEC rules to administer the law. It would not appear that there is any realistic path forward for Northern Pass at this juncture.”

President of the Forest Society, Jane Difley said, “We took on Northern Pass because we saw the proposed overhead line as a direct threat to conserved lands in the state, including three of our Forest Reservations and dozens of conservation easements. We felt privileged to stand with the thousands of individuals, dozens of communities and partner organizations who expressed appreciation for what we believe makes New Hampshire special.” Lastly she said, “We want to thank all of those who invested a significant portion of their lives over the past nine years in hopes of this outcome.”

Forest Society attorney Amy Manzelli said that the ruling was a legal victory for everyone in New Hampshire and beyond that treasures New Hampshire’s superior landscape and outdoor recreation.

Eversource released a statement reading “We are deeply disappointed that the New Hampshire Supreme Court reached this decision, but we are grateful for their consideration and deliberation in this case. Northern Pass was the most advanced project to bring abundant low-cost, clean energy into the region, and this outcome is an unfortunate setback to our efforts to advance an affordable clean energy future for our customers.” They added that they will closely review the decision and evaluate all potential options for moving forward. “It’s clear that the need for new energy sources in New England is greater than ever, and we remain focused on innovative solutions that will lower costs for our customers, improve reliability and advance clean energy.”

Eversource says they will focus on shared interests with stakeholders, adding “As we engage with local communities, residents, businesses and other stakeholders across the state, we will do so with a focus on our shared interests – a cleaner, more affordable energy future that supports economic development while also protecting the natural, cultural and historic resources that make our state special.”

Lancaster resident and fierce Northern Pass opponent, Liz Wyman said, “The Northern Pass is a nightmare that has haunted us for the past decade. Now I can finally sleep at night knowing that our New Hampshire landscape and communities have been saved from this disastrous project.”

‘Sarotonin Flow’ (R) from ‘Bring the Hoopla’ in Connecticut, entertains the crowd at the main stage of Jerry Jam in Bath, as bands perform behind her.

borders the gym, so upstairs late at night every once in a while you can hear someone walking around. My younger brother spent some time with us at one point and his bed was up in the library where Col. Town's old furniture and books are."

Denise described the moment that has her now questioning the existence of ghosts.

"I saw my brother the next morning and asked him if he could please not be so loud because he woke me up in the middle of the night," she recalled. "Which is when he looked at me and said he hadn't been there and had just arrived that morning."

Besides the old books, the Woods have not found anything left behind by the Towns or the Bugbees.

Fast forward to the present time, where Denise said she was offered two teaching positions within four days. The big decision was whether or not to move north or south. It took more than a coin toss, but the couple have decided to move north where Denise will teach in Canaan, Vt.

"The reception up there was so welcoming, I couldn't turn it down," said Denise.

Eddie is semi retired, but will look for something part time where he will work with kids and people and perhaps find a coaching position.

Over the past few days, the family has been sent several well wishes and words of thanks.

"I can't tell you how good that makes us feel to be so appreciated by this amazing community," Denise said.

however, feel strongly that the motions should be available to the public.

"We think these motions need to be public," he told the Democrat. "We think it's very unfair to someone who is very public and in a public situation to not have the residents be able to see these motions if they choose. We are trying to rectify this situation."

A new jury will now be chosen, and no new trial date has been set.

"It is such an important factor for this area to be pet-friendly," said Sherry Wareing.

WMPC offers high-tech services that are more commonly seen in urban areas. Cameras are installed throughout the facility, and pet owners can log in to view their pets with a phone app to see how their pets are faring in their absence. The facility is staffed twenty-four hours a day, seven days a week and WMPC maintains round the clock access to emergency pet care should the need arise.

Wareing and her staff are all pet first aid certified. Both she and her daughter trained with the International Boarding and Pet Services Association (IBPSA).

In a former life, Wareing was a hospice nurse. "It was one of the most rewarding things I've ever done," she said. "And now I take that quality of care to our animals."

Safety is a primary focus for Wareing, who says she and her staff do frequent drills, so they are prepared for any situation. In addition to security cameras, WMPC also features wifi-enabled smoke, fire and carbon detectors and a ring camera doorbell system.

WMPC offers ample indoor and outdoor play areas for the dogs and cat condos for the felines. Staff members are always with the animals when they go outside. To learn more about White Mountain Pet Care, visit www.whitemountainpetcare.com or call 846-9672.

Life Downstairs: The Legacy of British Servant Culture on American Pop Culture

A Grand Hotels of the White Mountains Presentation

Tuesday, July 30, 5:30-7 p.m.
Museum of the White Mountains

The level of service to be had during the heyday of New Hampshire's grand hotels was inspired by British servant culture, and the master/servant relationship continues to provide an intriguing backdrop—from Oscar-nominated films The Remains of the Day and Gosford Park, to PBS classics Upstairs, Downstairs and Downton Abbey. Even mainstream television has mined this rich material in shows as wide-ranging as The Fresh Prince of Bel Air to reality TV's Supernanny.

The Balsams Grand Resort Hotel employees, photograph circa 1913-17, Museum of the White Mountains collection

Ann McClellan, PhD, will explore the history behind the rise and fall of British servants and why Americans are so fascinated by their stories on page and screen. McClellan has taught British literature at PSU for 14 years and was recently named associate provost. She is the author of Sherlock's World: Fan Fiction and the Reimagining of BBC's Sherlock and How British Women Writers Transformed the Campus Novel, among other works.

Admission to this presentation and museum exhibit is free and open to the public.

Junior Bass Master Alex Gross heading to Tennessee

BY TARA GILES

tara@salmonpress.news

LANCASTER — Those who know 13-year-old Alex Gross of Jefferson describe him as the most passionate young angler they have ever known. Gross began dropping lines with his father at the age of three, for him fishing has become a way of life. His passion propelled him to qualify for the Bass Nation Junior National Championships, which will be held in Tennessee beginning Aug. 1. Gross placed second in the state and will represent New Hampshire and the North Country with enthusiasm, "I'm going down there to win it," he said with confidence.

Gross explained that he began fishing for trout, then progressed into bass fishing in local ponds, "When you catch trout it's more like fly fishing and going into creeks. With bass, you go out on newer boats in bigger lakes and rivers." He offered some information that would surprise many, "Bass are really aggressive. They eat trout, ducks and snakes." He went on with even more excitement when he said, "One time I found a rat inside a bass."

He says to become a good fisherman, you need to be out on the water every day. "I try to

Parks and Recreation sponsoring field hockey clinic

LITTLETON — Kangaroo Clinic is coming back to Littleton for 2019.

In 2019, Littleton Parks and Recreation is adding Kangaroo Clinic into its programming. Kangaroo Clinic is a field hockey camp coached and staffed by professional players from Australia, with years of experience. The clinic works on the fundamentals of the game for the entire team as well as individual skills needed to succeed at any level of play.

This year they are expanding the age groups of the camp to include fifth and sixth graders all the way through college level, with the goal of upping the number of players at the middle and high school levels in future years. The high school and middle school field hockey coaching staff have been a huge help in building support and enthusiasm for the sport, and volunteered their time to run a free field hockey clinic this past spring which brought in more than 20 players. Littleton Parks and Recreation is excited to see what the future of field hockey will bring to Littleton moving forward with what they and the parks department are putting into the sport.

“By creating our summer sports camp schedule to include field hockey, tennis, soccer, running camp and more, we are bringing more opportunities to young athletes to explore new sports and to be involved and active in their community,” said Parks and Recreation Director Chris Wilkins. “If you are interested in learning more about the parks department programming or signing up for Kangaroo Clinic or other camps, or for volunteering in the department, please reach out to the parks department. We are always happy to give more information about our programs and opportunities in the community.”

Emerling wins photo finish in Whelen All-Star Shootout

LOUDON — It was a three-wide photo finish in Friday's sixth annual NASCAR Whelen Modified Tour All Star Shootout at New Hampshire Motor Speedway, but it was Patrick Emerling who made it to the finish line first, beating Bobby Santos III by only 0.022 seconds, barely the width of a racing tire.

“We were feeling out the car the whole race, and I knew what I was going to do in the last lap,” said 26-year-old Emerling. “We were able to get ourselves at the right spot at the right time and just executed the right move at the end. It could have spun both ways. It was a real close one there.”

Emerling boldly entered the final turns of the race with an aggressive dive to the bottom of turn three. He held speed and let the car drift up the track out of turn four, giving him just enough momentum to keep two other drivers at bay. Emerling says he figured out that running in the second groove coming out of the backstretch allowed him to make up quite a bit of ground, helping him reach victory lane. The win not only marks Emerling's first victory at Loudon, but his first win this season. It was a bold move in an otherwise classic modified race featuring clean racing and lots of lead changes.

“I think a lot of guys were a little bit conservative,” said Orchard Park, N.Y. native Emerling. “We don't want to wreck our cars for the race tomorrow.”

The All Star Shootout featured a 35-lap run in a 30-minute timeframe, with a mandatory pit stop at lap 20. The top-five leaders were inverted before the second half restart. The race ended with Santos, Justin Bon-signore, Jon McKennedy and Ron Silk rounding out the top five.

Flat Track hosts first race under the lights

LOUDON — It was the first ever race under the lights at New Hampshire Motor Speedway's newest racing surface, The Flat Track, and race fans and NASCAR drivers packed the area to enjoy the first Friday Night Dirt Duels presented by New England Racing Fuel. The night was headlined by the U.S. Legend Cars International and the USAC Dirt Midget Association racing on the 0.25-mile dirt track as an added family-friendly event to the Foxwoods Resort Casino 301 weekend.

Monster Energy NASCAR Cup Series drivers Corey LaJoie and Daniel Hemric raced in the 35-lap U.S. Legend Cars International feature event while fellow Cup Series driver Ryan Blaney served as Grand Marshal, but it was Chris Transeau who took home the win, which came with $2,000, which is the largest leg-ends purse in the Northeast this season.

Ryan Newman, Bubba Wallace and Michael McDowell, who are all in town for the Foxwoods Resort Casino 301 on Sunday on the 1.058-mile speedway, joined their fellow Cup Series drivers to enjoy the night of short track racing.

The 30-lap USAC Dirt Midget Association race marked their first appearance at New Hampshire Motor Speedway, and it was Seth Carlsson who took the win.

The Flat Track, located directly behind the North East Motor Sports Museum, is the first track to be built in New England in the last 25 years. Crews turned roughly 186,095 square feet of ground and 3,000 tons of clay to build the 0.25-mile track. Construction began last fall, and a ribbon-cutting ceremony took place on June 6. Motorcycles were the first to race on the new surface on June 15 when American Flat Track, “America's Original Extreme Sport,” took over the venue during Laconia Motorcycle Week.

For ticket information for all 2019 events at New Hampshire Motor Speedway, including the Sept. 20-21 Full Throttle Fall Weekend, visit the speedway web site at NHMS.com or call Fan Relations at 783-4931.

get out every day of the week. You really need to put time in on each lake.” Gross says fishing is both a bit of luck and a bit of skill. “The talent really comes in the retrieval of your bait and making it move a certain way to make the fish bite.”

Besides his father, Gross has another angler he looks up to in Tyler Ramsdell, originally from Whitefield. In 2007, Ramsdell made it to the national championship as well. Ramsdell said making it that far is not easy to do, “Once you make it, nationals is tough because you're fishing lakes you aren't used to fishing. There will be teams who are closer to Tennessee drive up and fish those lakes, which will give them an advantage.” Ramsdell said that Gross will be given a map of the lake, “Knowing Alex, he already downloaded the map of the lake online,” he joked. To that, Alex gave a nod in the affirmative. The map will show anglers where rocks are located, shaded areas among other useful tools. Of Ramsdell's help, Gross said, “Tyler has helped me a lot over the past year by getting me sponsors such as Savage Gear, a bait and rod company and he taught me how to set the hook better.” Ramsdell took his passion for fishing to Florida where he now lives and serves as Director of Recreation at Streamsong Resort.

Gross will fish against two person teams from each of the 50 states and four from Canada. Each boat will have a five-fish limit. An aeration system will keep the fish alive. If a team comes up with a dead fish, there will be a penalty.

“Tournaments are very exciting but can also be boring. Last year I didn't have a tournament fishing boat, I had a tin boat. So now I get to go out on expensive boats.” Gross said. He added, “It is very competitive, for example if someone pulls up on my spot, I chirp at them. I don't own the water but I try to get them off my water so they can't see what size fish I'm catching.”

Ramsdell said that Gross has as good a shot as any to win the entire thing, “Without a doubt he has a shot. It is a lake he's never fished before so his practice days are really important. My advice is to be patient and to drag your worm properly.”

Gross will have roughly 45 different rods on his boat. The prize for the winner is $10,000 and a boat. His goal when he grows up is to go pro.

The tournament will be televised on NESN and updates will be posted on Gross's social media for those who wish to follow his progress.

“I'd like to thank LL Cote Archery/Outfitters from Errol as well as Savage Gear for their support,” said Gross.

The young angler is being sponsored by roughly 25 local businesses who believe his passion is something extraordinarily worthwhile to watch.

Wide open field in Mt. Washington Bicycle Hillclimb

PINKHAM NOTCH — The 47th annual Mt. Washington Auto Road Bicycle Hillclimb will crown two new champions next month. Last year's men's and women's first-place finishers will not be returning, nor will any winners from previous years, ensuring two first-time overall winners on Aug. 17 at the summit of Mt. Washington.

On the women's side, the favorite is three-time runner up Stefanie Sydlik, who is primed for her first win on the Rockpile. Last year, Sydlik admits that she tried a new technique that she dubbed "Frankenstein Bike." She stripped away sprockets and brakes to try to make her bike lighter. Her plan didn't work out the way she hoped and as she put it, "I was uncomfortable the entire ride." This year she plans to ride the same style bike that she did in 2017. With three second place finishes and a third, Sydlik admits that her competitive spirit forces her back to New Hampshire every August. As she said this week, "I don't like finishing second."

Sydlik has been training hard in the hills around her home in Pittsburgh, which has the steepest residential street in the United States -- Canton Avenue with a grade of 37 percent. Sydlik trains on it. It's also one of the hills in the famed Dirty Dozen Road Race held in Pittsburgh every November, a race that Sydlik has won three times.

When she hiked Mt. Washington in 2012, Sydlik promised herself on the summit that she would one day ride her bike to the top. Having ridden to the top four times now, Sydlik is hoping that her fifth ascent will result in a championship.

In the men's race, last year's runner up Drake Deuel, 2016 runner up Eric Follen, and last year's sixth place finisher, David Talbott, are each returning with enough experience to win this time. All three have proven able to make the grueling ascent in under an hour. Deuel is coming off a win in the Purgatory Road Race in Sutton, Mass., in June, where he bested Follen by over 11 minutes. However, Follen's 2016 time of 54:40 is the fastest Mt. Washington time of these three contenders.

It would not be a Mt. Washington Auto Road Bicycle Hillclimb without a dark horse. Jeremy Rae, a former all-American track star at Notre Dame who three years ago turned to cycling, will be making his Mt. Washington debut this year. While Rae was setting school records at Notre Dame, including a 3:57 mile, he had his sights set on the Rio Olympics in 2016, but nagging Achilles tendon problems prevented him from achieving that dream. Cycling provided an outlet. He entered his first competitive bicycle race, the Whiteface Mountain Hillclimb, in June of 2017 and placed second. Like other runners-turned-cyclists in past years, notably including four-time winner Marti Shea, Rae may be able to pedal as strongly to the summit as any of the contenders who have more experience on the seat of a bicycle.

Considered by professional cyclists to be the toughest hillclimb in the United States, with an average grade of 12 percent and famously unpredictable weather, the Mt. Washington Auto Road Bicycle Hillclimb will take place this year on Saturday, Aug. 17. Registration will remain open until the field reaches its capacity of 635 riders. All registered entrants can also enter the Mt. Washington Century with an automatic 50 percent discount on the entry fee. Billed as the most challenging 100-mile ride (it's actually 109 miles) in New England, the Century, a circuit of the Presidential Range on July 27, starts and finishes at the Tin Mountain Conservation Center in Albany.

The Mt. Washington Auto Road Bicycle Hillclimb and the Mt. Washington Century are the main annual fundraising events for the Tin Mountain Conservation Center, which provides environmental and recreational education for children, schools and families in communities in the White Mountains and the Mt. Washington Valley. Of the $350 entry fee for the Hillclimb, $150 helps to cover the cost of staging the race. The balance is a tax-deductible charitable contribution to Tin Mountain's programs. This year, riders have the option of registering for $150 and then raising the remaining $200 in donations. The entry fee for the Mt. Washington Century is $140 for individuals, $175 for a family.

All interested riders can sign up at <https://www.bikereg.com/mwarbh>.

Bell earns another NHMS victory

LOUDON — He's raced on "The Magic Mile" with the NASCAR Xfinity Series twice, and he's landed in victory lane both times. Christopher Bell, driver of the No. 20 Rheem-Watts Toyota, led all but 14 laps in the ROXOR 200 at New Hampshire Motor Speedway on Saturday, marking his fifth 2019 win with the NASCAR Xfinity Series. Bell credits his team with the success.

"A race car driver is only as fast as the race car he sits in, so I'm very fortunate to be able to drive for this group of guys," said 24-year-old Bell about his Joe Gibbs Racing team. "I got to ride from Thunder Road here to Loudon with one of my crew guys, and we were just talking about how thankful I am to be racing for them. It's a dream come true to be racing with this group of people because they make me look good."

Brandon Jones, driver of the No. 19 First Foundation Toyota, won stage one, but Bell took the lead in lap 48 and never looked back, winning both the second and third stages of the race.

The trip to victory lane marks Bell's third win out of four career starts at Loudon — once with the NASCAR Gander Outdoors Truck Series in 2017 and twice with the NASCAR Xfinity Series in 2018 and 2019. All three wins came after he started the race in the second position.

Not only did Bell thank his team, but he addressed the fans who braved the steamy New England temperatures to cheer him on.

"Thank you, guys, for coming out," said Bell to the fans in the grandstands. "I know it was hot, it was hot inside the car, but thank you, guys. You guys are the reason we race."

For ticket information for all 2019 events at New Hampshire Motor Speedway, including the Sept. 20-21 Full Throttle Fall Weekend, visit the speedway web site at NHMS.com or call Fan Relations at 783-4931.

Cabre dominates K&N Pro East race at NHMS

LOUDON — Chase Cabre, driver of the No. 4 Max Seigel Inc/Einach Toyota, dominated the NASCAR K&N Pro Series East United Site Services 70 at New Hampshire Motor Speedway on Saturday night for his second win of the season.

"We've had a lot of speed all season," said Cabre. "I definitely believe we are on a championship run as we head deeper into this season."

The win marked back-to-back wins for Cabre, who also won in Memphis last month.

Cabre admitted it can be difficult to pass on "The Magic Mile," so he was focused on executing in qualifying, which he did, starting today's race on the pole. He led early and almost gave it away during a restart, but managed to get it back and ran strong for the rest of the race.

"It was a pleasure to drive that race car, and I got a lot of confidence today," said Cabre.

The NASCAR K&N

Pro Series East returns to "The Magic Mile" as part of the Full Throttle Fall Weekend, Sept. 20-21 for the Apple Barrel 125. The penultimate race of the K&N Pro Series East will help set the stage for the series championship race in Dover.

For ticket information for all 2019 events at New Hampshire Motor Speedway, including the Sept. 20-21 Full Throttle Fall Weekend, visit the speedway web site at NHMS.com or call Fan Relations at 783-4931.

PSU women's tennis earns ITA All-Academic honor

PLYMOUTH — The Plymouth State University women's tennis team and six individual student-athletes were among those recognized by the Intercollegiate Tennis Association (ITA) on Thursday as the organization announced its 2019 All-Academic Teams and Scholar-Athletes.

Plymouth State, led by 15-year veteran head coach Barbara Rawlsky-Willett, claimed ITA All-Academic Team honors for a fifth-straight year. The award is open to any ITA program across all five divisions of collegiate tennis (NCAA Division I, II and III, NAIA and JUCO) that has a cumulative team grade point average of a 3.20 or better on a 4.00 scale. All varsity letter winners are factored into the cumulative team GPA for the current academic year (Fall 2018 and Spring 2019).

Additionally, six individual team members were named ITA Scholar-Athletes; seniors Irene Kigugu (Concord) and Megan Wheeler (Manchester), sophomore Emily Hill (New Hartford, Conn.) and freshmen Brie Hada (Alton), Julie Miller (Woburn, Mass.) and Lexi Smith (Rindge). ITA Scholar-Athletes must be a varsity letter winner, have a GPA of at least 3.50 on a 4.00 scale for the current academic year and have been enrolled at their present school for at least two semesters. Hill and Wheeler are two-time honorees, while Kigugu earns the distinction for a third time.

"I am so very proud of this team and the players that achieved scholar-athlete status," said Rawlsky-Willett. "This team shows what the NCAA Division III program is all about — success in the classroom as well as on the tennis court."

Plymouth State was the lone Little East Conference (LEC) program to be named an All-Academic Team, while six student-athletes from the University of Massachusetts Dartmouth also earned Scholar-Athlete status.

Last fall the Panthers finished with a 12-3 record, securing the second-most wins in a season all-time, while marking the first time in program history that the team finished with double-digit wins in consecutive years. PSU went 8-1 in LEC play to earn the No. 2 seed for the LEC Tournament, then advanced to the championship match with a 5-4, come-from-behind win in the semifinals. PSU fell to Rhode Island College in the championship match, 5-1, though the Panthers were leading in each of the three unfinished matches when play was stopped.

Weeks Memorial Library

BY BARBARA R. ROBERTS

In honor of National Ice Cream Day, which took place last Sunday, the library is making a special offer to library patrons. The first 10 people who come in to borrow books, present a valid library card, and mention that they saw the offer in this column will receive a gift card for a free cone at Cones and More. Library staff has been strongly encouraging borrowers to carry their library cards and will supply replacements if the original is among the missing. Anyone without a card will have to wait while staff physically checks the card number in the library's files. No exceptions!

Among the newest thrillers this week is Maine author Paul Doiron's latest game warden Mike Bowditch novel. "Almost Midnight" follows Mike as he investigates a brutal attack on a prison guard, searches for the individual who has shot a wolf-hybrid, and tries to protect both his family and the family of his informer. As a registered Maine Guide, Doiron shares the beauty of the Maine landscape in his writing.

Ace Atkins, author of seven novels which continue Robert B. Parker's Spenser series, has added the tenth volume to his own Quinn Colson novels. "The Shameless," set in the Big Woods of Mississippi, brings a couple of New York reporters to town to research the strange death of a teenager twenty years ago. Sheriff Quinn gets involved and is soon dealing with drug trafficking, the Syndicate, and the threat of more deaths.

Jo Nesbo's latest Nordic crime novel, "Knife," pits Harry Hole, a rogue police officer who works in the cold case office of the Oslo Police, against the same mastermind killer who has haunted him throughout his career. Lars Kepler, whom reviewers claim is as good a writer as Nesbo, writes Swedish crime novels, and his "The Nightmare" is a real thriller. Also among the new suspense novels is Eric Van Lustbader's "The Sum of all Shad-ows" with a heaven and earth battle, a lost Testament, and King Solomon's gold.

In the new mysteries are three novels featuring dogs, David Rosenfelt's "Bark of Night," Laurien Berenson's "Bite Club" with Melanie Travis and her pedigree dog show pals and Spencer Quinn's "Heart of Barkness" with narrator Chet the dog and his human companion P. I. Bernie Little. New Amish mysteries include "Toxic Toffee" by Amanda Flower (an Amish Candy Shop mystery) and "Secret of the Chime" by Josie Damico (an Amish Inn mystery). Juliet Blackwell continues her witchcraft mysteries set in San Francisco with "Bewitched and Betrothed," and Ruth Logan Herne returns to Martha's Vineyard with Swept Away featuring a daring theft, a missing young girl, and a major hurricane. Marietta, Ohio is the site for Roseanna White's "All the Inn's a Stage," as the owners of the Wayfarers Inn find more clues about the inn's history and the underground railroad. For cat lovers who also love mysteries Miranda James has added "The Pawful Truth" to her "cat in the stacks" series, and librarian and bookmobile driver Minnie Hamilton and her cat, Eddie, continue to find dead bodies in their cruise around Chilson, Mich. in "Booking the Crook" by Laurie Cass.

Pursuant to an Order of Sale entered by the United States District Court for the District of New Hampshire in United States v. Jeffrey Burbank d/b/a Preventative Maintenance, Christine Burbank, and Town of Clarksville, Case No. 1:12-cv-00328 the United States will offer to sell at public auction the property located at: 0 Back Farm Road, Clarksville, NH 03592. Date and Time of Auction August 29, 2019, 12:00 PM. Location of Auction: 0 Back Farm Road, Clarksville, NH 03592. Preview of the Property: From 11:00 AM to 11:45 on sale day. Minimum Bid: $45,000.00 Terms and Conditions of Sale At the time of the sale, the successful bidder shall deposit with Internal Revenue Service, Property Appraisal and Liquidation Specialist, by money order, certified check, or cashier's check payable to the Clerk of the United States District Court for the District of New Hampshire, a deposit in an amount of Nine Thousand dollars ($9,000.00). Before being permitted to bid at the sale, potential bidders shall display to the Property Appraisal and Liquidation Specialist proof that they are able to comply with this deposit requirement. No bids will be accepted from anyone who has not presented that proof. The government reserves the right to reject any and all bids and to withdraw the property from sale. The sale of the property shall be subject to confirmation by the United States District Court for the District of New Hampshire. The successful bidder shall pay the balance of the purchase price for the offered property within Sixty (60) days following the date of the sale. The successful bidder shall deliver a money order, certified check, or cashier's check, payable to the Clerk of United States District Court for the District of New Hampshire, to the Property Appraisal and Liquidation Specialist. If the bidder fails to fulfill this requirement, the deposit shall be forfeited and shall be applied to the expenses of sale, with any amount remaining to be applied to the federal tax liabilities of Jeffrey Burbank d/b/a Preventative Maintenance, and the Property shall be again offered for sale under the terms and conditions of the Order of Sale or, in the alternative and at the discretion of Property Appraisal and Liquidation Specialist, be sold to the second highest bidder, again subject to approval of the Court. On approval of the sale, all interests in, liens against, or claims to the properties that are held or asserted by all parties to this suit, including the plaintiff United State of America and defendants Jeffrey Burbank d/b/a Preventative Maintenance, Christine Burbank, and Town of Clarksville, as well as any nominees, successors in interest or transferees of those parties shall be discharged and extinguished. The sale shall be subject to building lines if established, all laws, ordinances, and governmental regulation (including building and zoning ordinances), affecting the premises, and easements and restrictions of record, if any. The United States District Court entered a judgment that Jeffrey Burbank, and Christine Burbank, owned the property at the time the federal tax lien arose. The judgment is now final. The United States will sell the right, title and interest of Jeffrey Burbank d/b/a Preventative Maintenance, Christine Burbank, in the subject property, and neither Jeffrey and Christine Burbank nor their nominees have a right to redeem said property after the judicial sale. The property is offered for sale "as is" and "where is" and without recourse against the United States. The United States makes no guarantee of condition of the property, or its fitness for any purpose. The United States will not consider any claim for allowance or adjustment or for the rescission of the sale based on failure of the property to comply with any expressed or implied representation. Important Information This is not an advertisement of a sale of seized property.

This is an information notice only regarding a sale being conducted by the Internal Revenue Service as a result of the foreclosure of an Internal Revenue Service Federal Tax Lien by the Department of Justice.

PETS

Things to look for in a boarding facility

Pet ownership involves making careful decisions with the well-being of pets in mind. When pet owners need to go out of town, bringing the pet along can be a smart move. But in other instances, it may be preferable to leave pets behind. In such instances, it becomes essential to find a place that can accommodate the animal in a safe and humane fashion.

Pet owners who do not have the luxury of asking family or friends to watch their animals can enlist the services of a boarding kennel. Touring some facilities and asking the right questions can help people find the best options.

Care.com, the company that provides companionship and care for seniors, children and pets, advises first speaking with your veterinarian about the best kennel nearby. Some vet offices also have boarding facilities on premises. This can be a great option, as the vet and staff will already be familiar with your animal and be able to provide medical care if an emergency arises. Also, vet boarders are great for pets with special needs or those that are on medication.

Pet parents can ask for recommendations from friends or neighbors as well. Before visiting a kennel, recognize that signs of a poorly run facility include dirty pens, housing areas in disrepair, smelly premises, and dogs or cats that seem anxious.

When going with a third-party boarder, look for one that is licensed, insured and bonded. Different areas require various regulations regarding boarding certifications, so do your homework. If the pet should be injured or injures another dog or person during its stay, or damages property while at a bonded and insured boarding facility, the pet owner will be covered for costs.

Look at various facilities and what they offer before making a final decision. Many boarding facilities now offer luxury spaces, complete with couches and televisions. The staff may pamper the pet, and packages also may include grooming or pet playdates. Visiting the facility in advance also affords owners the chance to see if it looks and smells clean and has proper ventilation. Pet owners also will want to ensure that all pets that are boarding there are required to be current on vaccinations and healthy.

The pet adoption company Petfinder suggests gradually introducing a pet to boarding. Try a short overnight or weekend trip before booking a week-long excursion. When dropping off dogs or cats for boarding, avoid long and emotional good-byes, which may upset the pet. With practice, the parting period will be easier for all involved.

TOWN OF NORTHUMBERLAND INVITATION TO BID TRANSFER STATION PROJECT

The Town of Northumberland is accepting sealed bids to construct the following:
--Construction to extend roof over the uncovered concrete bins section that is approximately 30'x20'.

-Construction and installation of doors to close in the front of the concrete bins that is approximately 30'x12'.

How you can benefit from having a pet

Pets have been kept for centuries. Statistics from various sources indicate North Americans own millions of dogs, cats, birds, small mammals, and reptiles.

Pets' affable nature and loving looks are enough for many people to welcome them into their homes, but the benefits of having a pet extends beyond their appearances and temperaments.

- Pets can help prevent loneliness. Loneliness affects people of all ages, but it is particularly problematic among seniors. Older adults who may be isolated can benefit from having a pet around. According to a study published in Aging & Mental Health, older adults who owned pets were 36 percent less likely to say they were lonely compared to those who didn't have an animal companion.
- Pets can save lives. Pets can be trained to perform various tasks around the house and in the community. Rescue animals assist in finding people after natural disasters. Medical alert pets can help people with debilitating illnesses and assist physically impaired people with everyday tasks.

- Pets help lower allergy risks. Keeping pets around can reduce a child's likelihood of developing allergies by as much as 33 percent, according to a study by pediatrician James E. Gern that was published in the Journal of Allergy and Clinical Immunology. People exposed early on to animals tend to develop stronger immune systems overall.
- Pets provide socialization opportunities. A pet can be the common denominator to strike up new friendships and connect with others. Whether walking around the neighborhood or being part of a pet obedience class or interest group, pets can help their owners expand their social circles.
- Pets can help combat stress. Talking to or stroking a pet can make stress easier to handle. A study from researchers at the State University of New York at Buffalo found that, when conducting a stressful task, people experienced less stress when their pets were with them. Various other studies and data from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention have found having a pet around can lower blood pressure, ease anxiety and may even help to lessen aches and pains. Pets provide unconditional love, which can be beneficial to someone facing depression or post-traumatic stress disorder.

- Pets help teach responsibility. Taking care of a pet can help children and adults become more responsible. According to the American Pet Product Association's 2011-2012 National Pet Owners Survey, 58 percent of pet owners say their pets help teach their kids to be responsible through routine care, exercise and feeding of the animal.

Pets are more than mere companions. In fact, pets can offer numerous health and well-being benefits to people of all ages.
