Local dads and daughters learn the latest hairstyles for upcoming TTCC dance

BY DONNA RHODES

BRISTOL – Just in time for the upcoming Father-Daughter Dance next Friday at Tapply-Thompson Community Center, Minot-Sleeper Library hosted a special dad-daughter time last week, featuring Julie Goss of Styles by Julie, who dropped in to teach the dads some fun hairstyles they could do for their little girls.

Five-year-old Trinity's dad, Jon, said she is the youngest of three girls, and pony-tails are his specialty when he's getting them ready for school. Goss kicked that up a notch though when she taught the dads how to turn a plain old ponytail into a cluster of mini-braids.

Next, they used a special hair loop to turn ponytails "inside out" for a stylish look, learned to weave sections of hair together for a bit of elegance, and even created a fashionable top knot with loops of hair that all the girls loved.

"This is how I want my hair for the dance,"

Trinity declared as she looked at the photos her dad snapped of his handiwork.

Ava's step-dad Alec said he brought her to the hairstyle workshop because he thought it would be a great opportunity for them to share some special time together. Ava teased him with lots of squeals and pleas for him to stop hurting her as he brushed her hair out between each styling lesson, but checking out how one style came out she proclaimed, "I look like Jasmine!" (A

Simply said

Some residents in Alexandria worked to spread the word this year about the importance of taking part in the annual town meeting, where candidates for town and district offices, along with decisions on important warrant articles are decided. Final results on how voters in not only Alexandria, but towns from Danbury to Warren and Waterville Valley to New Hampton will be found in next week's edition of this paper.

New ordinance in Alexandria prohibits scattering of snow on town roads

BY DONNA RHODES
Drhodes@salmonpress.news

ALEXANDRIA – Winter is not quite over yet, and over the course of this snowy year, problems with private plow trucks moving snow across the road were brought to the attention of selectmen in Alexandria who, after a few weeks of consideration and public input, adopted a new ordinance pertaining to that matter.

As of Feb. 5, they deemed that "no person shall, by himself or agents, throw, push or put any snow or ice into or across any and all Town roads, including Class V and Class VI, or deposit snow within traveled portions of Town roads. Across any and all Town roads means pushing snow from one side of the road to the other where snow would be deposited within the right-of-way of any road."

George Tuthill,

Chair of the Board of Selectmen, said it was a common sense solution to what is a true safety matter.

"Some plows often leave trails of snow across a road," he said. "When that snow freezes across the road and a town plow truck hits it as it's plowing late at night, it's quite a jolt to them and that's a real problem. It's a problem for residents and their vehicles, too."

NH Storyteller brings tall tales to Corner House on March 14

SANDWICH — Arthur Surette, a captivating and powerful storyteller (and darned good songwriter) will be appearing at the Corner House Inn's Story Telling Dinner Program on Thursday, March 14.

Surette is a born storyteller, though he says he had to give it up in his younger days since ten year old storytellers are often mistaken for liars. After wandering in the wilderness for 40 years, he came to New Hampshire in 1989, felt an immediate spiritual connection to the place and never left. A keen observer of nature, both human and otherwise, his original stories and songs encompass everything from politics to four-legged chickens, and are a celebration of the human spirit, warts and all.

Surette has performed at the gathering of the Hundred Thousand Poets for Social Change, the Met Coffee House, Tin Mountain, Effingham Historical Society, Eff-

Celtic song at Old Webster Courthouse March 29

Hear Ye! Hear Ye! On the Friday evening of the 29th day of March, there will be a lively performance of Celtic favorites with hometown talents Rick Lindberg and Trish Lindberg, joined by local fiddle standout Jordan Tirrell-Wysocki in the esteemed 245-year old former county courthouse (now home to our beloved Plymouth Historical Society and Memory House behind town hall). The evening celebrates news of our state's investment of $69,500 in LCHIP grant funds to help restore and preserve the old courthouse and the regional donors who have stepped up to match the grant. The performance begins at seven o'clock in the evening with homemade refreshments courtesy of the Old Webster Courthouse committee. Come for the music, stay for the talent, enjoy our community! But remember ...the old courthouse is small, the tickets are few, so stop by Chase Street Market or Rand's Hardware on the common for your tickets today. A minimum donation of $60 toward this year's courthouse restoration is invited. Hope to see you there...Sláinte!

CADY Corner

Kick Butts Day is March 20

BY DEB NARO
Contributor

National Kick Butts Day is a day organized by the Campaign for Tobacco-Free Kids. This day of activism began in 1996 and empowers youth to stand out and speak up against Big Tobacco. This year, Kick Butts Day is March 20. On Kick Butts Day, teachers, youth leaders and health advocates organize events to: raise awareness of the problem of tobacco use in their state or community; and encourage youth to reject the tobacco industry's deceptive marketing and stay tobacco-free. The CADY Youth Advisory and Advocacy Council (YAAC) youth leaders have been busy with several awareness-raising prevention activities in local schools on e-cigarettes and vaping.

Nicotine in any tobacco product readily absorbs into the bloodstream when a person uses it. Upon entering the blood, nicotine immediately stimulates the adrenal glands to release the hormone epinephrine. Epinephrine stimulates the central nervous system and increases blood pressure, breathing, and heart rate. As with drugs such as cocaine and heroin, nicotine increases levels of the chemical messenger dopamine, which affects parts of the brain that control reward and pleasure.

Although nicotine is addictive, most of the severe health effects of tobacco use comes from other chemicals. Tobacco smoking can lead to lung cancer, chronic bronchitis, and emphysema. It increases the risk of heart disease, which can lead to stroke or heart attack. Smoking has also been linked to other cancers, leukemia, cataracts, and pneumonia. All these risks apply to use of any smoked product, including hookah tobacco. Smokeless tobacco increases the risk of cancer, especially mouth cancers.

Electronic cigarettes, also known as e-cigarettes or JUUL, are battery-operated devices that deliver nicotine with flavorings and other chemicals to the lungs in a vapor instead of smoke. Although they are marketed as a safer alternative to traditional cigarettes, the vapor released from e-cigarettes includes not only nicotine but flavoring such as diacetyl, a chemical linked to a serious lung disease, volatile organic compounds, cancer-causing chemicals or heavy metals such as nickel, tin, and lead according to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. According to the Monitoring the Future survey, data shows that from 2017-2018 adolescent vaping has seen the largest ever recorded increase over any adolescent substance use over the past 43 years. Even people who had not set out to smoke traditional burning cigarettes are now making the switch after using electronic cigarettes.

For many who use tobacco, long-term brain changes brought on by continued nicotine exposure result in addiction. When a person tries to quit, he or she may have withdrawal symptoms, including irritability, problems paying attention, trouble sleeping, increased appetite, and powerful cravings for tobacco. Both behavioral treatments and medications can help people quit smoking, but the combination of medication with counseling is more effective than either alone. Current FDA-approved products include chewing gum, transdermal patch, nasal sprays, inhalers, and lozenges.

The U.S. Department of Health and Human Services has established a national toll-free quit line, 1-800-QUIT-NOW, for anyone seeking information and help in quitting smoking. If you or someone you know struggles with addiction or substance use, please call 2-1-1 or the Doorway at LRG-Healthcare (934-8905) for help.

PET of the Week Alice

This ultra sweet 2 year old mix came to us in January from the south and she would really love to find her people here in the lakes region and explore the beauty of the area with you. Being young, she's still quite the puppy, active, playful and ridiculously loving. She does seem to have some vision issues, although it's nothing too serious. She is pretty good with other dogs, although for some she might be a bit too much, in the energy department. She's learning how and when to chill and that most humans don't like it when she jumps up for attention. Ideally this beautiful girl would love an active family with teenage kids another dog in the house and even a dog savvy cat. She's the type of girl who will give you a smile on even the cloudiest of days. Food is definitely a great motivator in educating her on the polite ways of the pup. so Go ask Alice, I think she'll know how to bring you eternal joy, laughter and love.

MARK ON THE MARKETS

Happy anniversary, bull market!

BY MARK PATTERSON

If you have ever put money into a mutual fund and discovered that the proclamation of return did not line up with your real return of dollars, then there could be several reasons. The net return could be affected by the fees and commission charged by the fund that can vary between funds, fund companies and share class. But another issue is the manner in which the return is calculated or advertised. This concept not only relates to mutual funds but to overall performance of the markets as they relate to your dollars. Without even calculating any fees or commission you pay, let's just say you invest $100,000 in a low cost S+P 500 index fund. The first year in the index losses 40 percent, much like 2008. You now have $60,000 in your account. But then the market snaps back the following year and advances 40 percent. Well if I lose 40 percent, then gain 40 percent, I should be even, right! Well, why do I only have $84,000 in my account? Because a 40 percent gain on $60,000 is only $24,000. So the next year the index is up 10 percent, sending the three year average to a positive number but my account only has $92,400 in it. Following a 40 percent loss, you would need a 67 percent return to just get you back to even, OUCH! The math works the same way in reverse meaning that

Letters to the Editor

An open letter to the staff at the transfer station in Bristol

To the Editor:

I am a resident of Bristol, have been a taxpayer for over 50 years and a summer resident for over 45 years. I have recently become a permanent resident here.

I recently went to the transfer station, as I have done for many years. In the summer, I generally go once a week, taking our trash and, at times, trash from other neighbors. In the fall and winter time, I have been going once every two to three weeks. As I am now a permanent resident, I take my truck down to the sand pile and take sand and shovel it into the empty barrels, one of mine and one of my neighbors, a lady who lives alone. I don't bring a special container as I spread them when I return.

When I was there this week shoveling the sand, you hollered down to me that I had enough sand. I hollered back that I wasn't filling the barrels. I generally take five to 10 shovels full. You let me know that I had enough, without bothering to see how much I had. I stopped and left. If you had come down, I would have been happy to let you see how much I had and would have dumped some back if you felt that I had exceeded my limit.

In my many years here, I have used very little in terms of town services. Neither my neighbor nor I have sent any children to the school system, which I am happy to support. I have done business with many local merchants, and am happy to continue to do so. As you can imagine, my tax bill is higher than my previous residence in Massachusetts, and more than I am allowed to deduct under the federal guidelines. When next I come to the transfer station and if I go down and get sand, feel free to accompany me and let me know when I have reached my limit.

Sincerely,

John M. Connolly, Jr.

SB306 is a crucial tool in addressing NH's housing shortage

To the Editor:

SB306 is critical to addressing the current housing shortage that is driving housing costs out of reach for young and old alike.

SB306 establishes an alternative appeal process to the lengthy and costly Superior Court litigation that is currently the only option for an appeal. Towns, taxpayers and builders alike across the state spend hundreds of thousands of dollars each year on legal fees fighting cases that often go on for years, killing much-needed housing construction.

Local boards lose none of their rights or authority under SB306. What the bill does do is greatly expedite the appeals process to assist with the acute workforce housing shortage. The current process is forcing young families to leave New Hampshire, and new employers to locate in other states because of our exorbitant housing costs. These costs are caused by lack of new homes. SB306 will save towns, taxpayers and builders (and consequently, homebuyers) time and money by providing an alternative process to resolve disputes within 180 days of a local board decision. And – this is important – if any of the parties, including abutters, don't like the Housing Appeal Board decision, they retain the right to take the matter to court, as is the case under current law. No one is losing any existing rights under this legislation.

SB306 is a much-needed alternative process to avoid costly, lengthy court proceedings. Everybody wins with a streamlined process of handling appeals – and no one loses any of the rights guaranteed under current law.

Please contact your legislators and tell them to support SB306.

State Senator, District 2

The silence is crushing, so just go get a machine

My house is quite a quiet place, especially when I'm not catching something on radio or television, and the snow muffles everything else. It is so quiet that some guests, unnerved by such silence, have brought wave machines.

In a way, it reminds me of the printing presses I've run, particularly the last one, a 30-foot Miehle-Goss-Dexter Web press. It made so much noise that we wore Micky Mouse ear protectors. Yet it had a rhythm, and when everything was running right, and we were humming along at 10,000 copies an hour, we listened for the slightest deviation.

Once in a great while, some wise guy perceiving all this would drop a wrench onto the concrete floor. Our hearts leapt into our throats. He thought it was funny and was quickly shown the door.

NORTH COUNTRY NOTEBOOK

By JOHN HARRIGAN

I'm a people-watcher and have watched how people handle silence, as in the doctor's waiting room or in line at the ATM. People who seem disinclined or unable to read for enjoyment will tap their fingers on the waiting room table or bounce one leg over the other. Men in line will jiggle their pocket change. This drives some people (me) even crazier than they already are.

Part of this is because our society has become so infatuated with (and saturated by) radio and TV. And television and radio producers have been trained to fear and loathe a silence gap—any silence gap. Some producers fill these gaps with music, and others with drivel. “What’s that?” you say. “Drivel?” This is a line from a movie whose title I’ve temporarily misplaced. Readers tend to be quick to help on these things.

Mid-winter's snow pack has a way of muffling noise, some on the outside that never gets inside.

But should a silence gap occur, it’ll instantly be filled by the city’s or suburb’s own background noise. When I first began visiting Manhattan, I could not understand why I was getting so tired, so soon. It wasn’t the walking, it was the background noise—the sheer impossibility of finding or making silence.

In a silent house, any rap on the door sounds like a gunshot. This happened to me just the other day, when a “Rat-tat-tat-TAT!” brought me straight out of my chair.

I looked hither and yon for vehicle or visitor. Fierce winds sometimes hurl snow shovels around on the front porch, but with a sigh the wind pled innocent. And then, as I was hovering around the front door, it came again: “Rat-tat-tat-TAT.” It was coming from the front soffit.

It was a woodpecker, of course, which I thought from just a glimpse as it flew off was a downy woodpecker, but of course it could have been a hairy woodpecker, because I only saw it for a snippet.

“What a hammer-head,” I yelled after the bird, a term Rudy Shatney so often used during my years at Clarksville Pond, then as now a term of endearment.

My oh my, look around at all the happy faces! Spring is getting closer, and the clocks have sprung forward to longer days! Supposed to have some mighty fine weather this week as well. I'm looking forward to it and perhaps will venture out for a longer walk. Going round and round the driveway was good during the ice conditions, but I'm looking forward to venturing out a little further.

Since the Talk of the Town article needs to be to the paper by Tuesday at noon, I'm writing this on a Monday at 4:45 p.m. I will not be able to include news of the Elections or Town Meeting in this article, but please come out to the Town Meeting, then the news you get next week will reflect what you've already experienced; how's that? We hope many people come and show their support for the Town and have a say in how things are run in this "neck-of-the-woods". Did you ever wonder where that idiom came from? Well to quote <https://idioms.thefreedictionary.com/neck+of+the+woods>: "This expression originated in the United States. 'Neck' comes from 'naiack' which means 'point' or 'corner' in an Algonquian Native American language." So since this is a point, or corner of the world, I guess we can use it. It's quite a nice corner of the world too; even if it has been snowing for the last 6 months.

Hill Village Bible Church

Nursing Home Ministry

Over a decade ago, Hill Village Bible Church was given the opportunity to minister to the elderly in Franklin on a regular basis by bringing church to the residents of Peabody Home. Just recently we have added Mountain Ridge Nursing Home to this ministry. The folks residing in these homes for health reasons cannot attend a church, so the service we do provides them an opportunity to worship. Our Bible-based messages encourage salvation decisions for eternity in a heaven God created for all who will come to Him through Jesus Christ. There is an amazing music ministry involving many of our youth. The hymns are often remembered by the folks from their past. We desire to bring the love of Jesus to these dear people. "Pure religion and undefiled before God and the Father is this, to visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction and to keep himself unspotted from the world." — James 1:27

About us

At Hill Village Bible Church, we desire to "grow in grace, and in the knowledge of our Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ" as He alone can meet each need. Join us for the preaching of God's Word, singing of heart-warming hymns, and joyful fellowship with believers. HVBC is a faithful church. We believe the Bible is God's Word, which is practical for today. So, at HVBC we seek to be faithful to the message of the Bible as we bring the life changing Gospel to our community. We would enjoy the opportunity to minister to you and your family. Please call 934-3500 and speak to Senior Pastor Daniel Boyce, Associate Pastor An-

Diabetes Management

BY MARTHA SWATS

Owner/Administrator Comfort Keepers

The American Diabetes Association has stated that 25 percent of seniors have some form of diabetes, and that number is expected to increase as the population of adults 60 and over grows.

As you know, diabetes is a condition that prevents someone's body from properly processing sugars, leading to elevated blood sugar levels and negative health effects as a result. While diabetes has its own signs and symptoms, it can also make other conditions worse – conditions like heart and kidney disease.

Diabetes can be effectively managed by seniors, but it's often important for older adults to seek help from their care team, including their family, physician, nutritionist and caregiver. Here are some strategies for people dealing with diabetes:

Education – There is a lot for someone to learn when they receive a diabetes diagnosis. Depending on the physician's recommendation, changes may need to be made to a senior's diet, exercise, medication and treatment plan. There are also new symptoms, risk factors and medical needs that a person may have. It's important for older adults to learn everything they can about their diabetes and how to treat it.

Diet – Diet plays a huge part in diabetes management. A nutritious diet that is low in sugar is important for reducing symptoms and complications from the disease. Sugar from fruit should typically be avoided too, along with saturated fats. Diabetes educators can help seniors plan meals that will successfully help them maintain their health.

Exercise and activity – Seeking advice from a health care professional is the best first step for seniors that want to create an activity or exercise plan. While the American Diabetes Association recommends 30 minutes of exercise per day, five days per week, that level of activity isn't always possible for some. However, shorter periods of activity, done throughout the day, can be just as helpful when managing diabetes. Seniors should always speak to their physician before starting any exercise program.

Prescribed medication is critical – Missing a dose of medication can have negative effects on diabetes sufferers. Seniors that have a hard time keeping track can set up a system of reminders, whether that's a pill box, an alarm, a checklist, or a caregiver or helper that can prompt them to take medications. In addition to prescribed medications, vaccines can also be a useful tool in diabetes management – for example, complications that are caused by the flu can be more severe for those with diabetes.

Check glucose and other levels – Most seniors with diabetes will need to keep an eye on their glucose levels. A physician will typically let someone know how often they should be checking, and what to watch out for. Blood pressure and cholesterol levels can also indicate a problem – those should also be checked on a regular basis by a health-care professional.

Drop by for a good drink with good company at The Dam Brewhouse

drhodes@salmonpress.news

CAMPTON – “The Dam Brewhouse” in Campton opened its doors on Dec. 20, and the IPAs, stouts, lagers, ales and other finely crafted beers offered there have already made a splash with both local and seasonal residents.

“We’re trying to build a place where people can come together,” said co-owner John Anderson. “We have a lot of regular customers already, and it’s great when they stop by and talk about whatever’s going on in the area.”

Anderson teaches at Plymouth State University and has a photo studio across the street from the brewery, but said he wanted to do more. Since he had been brewing beer for 20 years, he asked his partner, Sarah Dreshaj, if she would like to start a business, something they could do together. Dreshaj was eager to jump on board and they set out to do their homework on running a business of their own.

Anderson said the Enterprise Center at PSU was a big help in their endeavor. The couple enrolled in the center’s APEX accelerator program, which provided them with a series of business classes designed to assist local entrepreneurs.

“We had a plan in place, but that program helped us add the finishing points on where we needed to go with our business. It was really very helpful,” Anderson said.

DONNA RHODES

John Anderson and Sarah Dreshaj recently opened “The Dam Brewhouse” in Campton, where people are invited to drop by to sample their many varieties of IPAs, stouts, lagers and even some gluten-reduced beer.

Not only did they take classes on how to run a business, the couple also built the brewery themselves. With the idea to operate out of a small building already on the 1.8 acres of land Anderson bought 20 years ago, this time they sought advice from Eversource. The company came out and performed an energy audit on the building, advising them on what type of insulation and technology would save them money in the long run. In addition to that, the company presented them with a rebate check when they followed all the advice they were given.

“They did a great job in helping us do things right,” Anderson said.

Brew equipment was brought in, taps were installed, and a comfortable bar for tasting was built. All that was left was to start the brewing process then invite the public in.

Dreshaj said they decided to put a twist on some of their brews by making them “gluten-reduced” so more people could enjoy them. She explained there is an extra step involved to remove nearly all of the gluten from their products, but it was worth it to them. Best of all they found it doesn’t affect the flavor.

There are eight taps that Anderson said he strives to keep filled with a frequently changing variety of their brews. To keep those taps flowing though, the couple said they spend a combined 110 hours each week brewing, bottling, cleaning and ordering their supplies.

“That just shows we love what we’re doing,” said Dreshaj.

When the doors swing open now at The Dam Brewhouse, named for the nearby Campton Dam, there is always a fresh list of what’s on tap that week. A few of their many selections are Electric Pale Ale, Mud Puddle (a dry Irish Stout), their own twist on an IPA called Summertime Tan, and Black Out, a “confused beer” where dark and stormy meets pale and hoppy, their list reads. There is also a medium body American Stout called Peanut Butter Cup, which has real peanut powder and cacao, Vlad’s Glad (an Imperial Stout), an En-

Easterseals NH Camp Sno-Mo: Unifying Kids of All Abilities at Summer Camp

Easterseals Camp Sno-Mo, located in Gilmanton Iron Works, NH, has served campers, ages 11-21, with special needs at a residential camp since the early 1970s. Over the course of a fun-filled summer, our campers are joined by 500-600 Boy Scouts on the space we share at Hidden Valley Campground. The co-location of these two programs provides the opportunity for an atmosphere of acceptance, diversity, and education for all.

Children of all abilities love and thrive during a summer camp experience. Summer camp allows for time away from home, meeting new people, creating lasting friendships, sleeping under the stars, and the endless opportunities to try something new! For some children this can be a challenge. Children with special needs are not always able to attend camp because their unique needs make it difficult. However, at Easterseals Camp Sno-Mo, campers with special needs are able to have a truly amazing experience is a safe, adaptive, and caring environment.

Additionally, our campers participate in activities offered by the Boy Scouts. These activities are those you will find at many traditional summer camp programs throughout the country and include aquatics (swimming and boating), riflery, archery, hiking, ecology, first aid, high and low ropes courses with a zip line, camp crafts, and more.

Sno-Mo Campers participate alongside Scout campers to complete requirements to earn their badges. They form friendships and memories while working together. This partnership allows our campers to enjoy a traditional camping experience where the possibilities are endless.

Our caring staff receive extensive training on therapeutic crisis intervention, medical/water safety and first aid/CPR ensuring our campers enjoy a safe and meaningful camp experience. Sno-Mo staff hail from many countries and bring their culture and experiences with them. By providing a safe environment, we enable our campers to challenge themselves to learn and grow, develop confidence, and discover how much they can achieve.

A perfect example of this is embodied in Alex's story. Alex is a long-time Sno-Mo camper who uses a wheelchair and walks with a crutch. He is also living proof that you are only limited by the limits you place on yourself.

Once summer Alex has a conversation with his one-on-one camp staff Jessica. Alex had indicated that he wanted to hike Mt. Shannon while at camp. Given his mobility limitations, we knew this would require some creative thinking but brainstormed the possibilities because Alex was adamant about doing the hike with his crutches! Mt. Shannon is 1,400 feet above sea level and, at certain points, can be a little tricky to navigate especially near the summit.

who they are instead of limiting what they can do. Why put a limit on it? As we have seen on many occasions, if a Sno-Mo camper feels they want to try an activity that has been out of their reach, we will find a way to make it happen! We believe the only disability is a bad attitude!

sion, we determined that if we could come up with a plan that would allow Alex to safely do this then we would make this dream come true. Within a matter of hours, we devised a well-thought-out and concise plan for Alex to tackle the climb.

Not only did Alex climb up and down Mt. Shannon unaided, he has repeated the feat each summer thereafter with staff nearby for support. When we recognized Alex's accomplishment at the dining hall during our next meal, his fellow Camp Sno-Mo and Boy Scout campers, gave Alex a very well deserved standing ovation. It was one of those moments in time where you remember where you were when it happened. It was simply inspirational.

Since our beginning, Camp Sno-Mo has been a special place where our campers have achieved countless accomplishments and milestones. The level of character, dedication, and potential we see in our campers is unmeasurable. Gone are the days where people would say "are you sure he or she should be doing that?" Instead we would rather the individuality of our campers define classic Disney character).

Jake and his daughter also took advantage of a free night out to have some fun together. Jake said it was his first try at any hairstyle beyond braids and Grace's thick wavy hair proved to be a challenge for him at times. Goss showed him a simple way to twist thick hair like hers however to give a pretty and unique look to an ordinary ponytail. Grace patiently waited as he twisted small strands then handed over tiny hair ties and bobby pins to hold them all in place.

Library Director Brittany Overton said they felt the night would be a great way to give dads and their daughters something different to do and she was pleased Goss was available to share her professional skills with them. Each girl also went home with a goody bag from Styles by Julie that included a new hairbrush, a styling loop, hair ties, bobby pins and even a pretty flower decoration to add the finishing touch to any style of hair.

Snow

While many private plow trucks often clean up an area where they are forced to cross a road with no other options, pushing snow from driveways into the road and leaving it has become prevalent enough for Highway Director Jeff Cantara to have brought his concerns to selectmen this year.

Besides the frozen road hazard for town and local vehicles, Tuthill pointed out that scraping snow across a road can create a second hazard, too.

"The highway department goes out and treats the roads when it snows, but plowing across the road like that can also push all that salt and sand off the road. That can be another real safety problem for everyone," said Tuthill. "This is really a safety issue, and nothing more."

Offenders of the new ordinance, one already adopted in several local towns, will first receive a written warning. Subsequent violations will be met with a fine of $25 and Tuthill said the board is hoping that that will be enough to bring awareness and education for both homeowners and/or their agents who are plowing driveways and parking lots in the town.

Hospitality

a period comedy set in the 1830s, tells the story of a young man (Keaton) raised in New York City but unknowingly at the center of a long-running backwoods family feud.

Highlights of the picture include Keaton's extended journey on a vintage train of the era, as well as a dramatic river rescue scene that climaxes the film.

The film stars Keaton's then-wife, Natalie Talmadge, as his on-screen love interest; their first child, newborn James Talmadge Keaton, makes a cameo appearance, playing Buster as an infant. Keaton's father also plays a role in the film.

The Grange's screening of 'Our Hospitality' aims to show early movies as they were meant to be seen—in high quality prints, on a large screen, with live music, and with an audience.

"All those elements are important parts of the silent film experience," said Rapsis, who will improvise a musical score for "Our Hospitality."

"Recreate those conditions, and the classics of early Hollywood leap back to life. They featured great stories with compelling characters and universal appeal, so it's no surprise that they hold up and we still respond to them," he added.

Rapsis performs on a digital synthesizer that reproduces the texture of the full orchestra and creates a traditional "movie score" sound.

Keaton, along with Charlie Chaplin and Harold Lloyd, stands today as one of the silent screen's three great clowns. Some critics regard him as the best of all; Roger Ebert wrote in 2002 that "in an extraordinary period from 1920 to 1929, (Keaton) worked without interruption on a series of films that make him, arguably, the greatest actor-director in the history of the movies."

While making films, Keaton didn't think he was an artist, but merely an entertainer trying to use the then-new art of motion pictures to tell stories and create laughter.

As an entertainer, Keaton was uniquely suited to the demands of silent comedy. Born in 1895, he made his stage debut as a toddler, joining his family's knockabout vaudeville act and learning to take falls and do acrobatic stunts at an early age. He spent his entire childhood and adolescence on stage, attending school for exactly one day.

An entirely intuitive performer, Keaton entered films in 1917 and was quickly fascinated with them. After apprenticing with popular comedian Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle, Keaton went on to set up his own studio in 1920, making short comedies that established him as a one of the era's leading talents.

A remarkable pantomime artist, Keaton naturally used his whole body to communicate emotions from sadness to surprise. And in an era with no special effects, Keaton's acrobatic talents meant he performed all his own stunts.

In 1923, Keaton made the leap into full-length films with "Our Hospitality," which proved popular enough for him to continue making features for the rest of the silent era.

Although not all of Keaton's films were box office successes, critics later expressed astonishment at the sudden leap Keaton made from short comedies to the complex story and technical demands required for full-length features.

"Our Hospitality" will be shown on Saturday, March 23 at 7 p.m. at the historic Blazing Star Grange Hall, 15 North Rd. in Danbury. The show is open to the public, with a suggested $5 donation.

if you started with a 40% gain followed by a 40 percent loss, you still have $84,000.

This is why the lost decade was really 13 years. From the year 2000 until 2013, if you left money in the equity markets including most stock mutual funds you would have had a brief period of time to get out about break-even in 2007, but then we went into another market collapse that bottomed in March of 2009.

Since March of 2009, ten years ago, the equity markets have not seen a significant correction, while over-due statistically, this bull market could continue. While December of 2018 saw a mild correction, it was minor compared to the 40 to 50% corrections of the past and likely the future.

If you have 20 plus years until retirement then I would not be overly concerned, not to say it should not be managed. But if you are getting close to retirement, within 10 years, then I would mitigate the risk in my portfolio and invest in some index crediting methods that capture partial gain but allow for 0 loss with a portion of your money that you will need for retirement income. A laddered bond portfolio with varying maturities and credit quality are other means of mitigating market risk and creating sustainable income. When approaching retirement, you must emphasize income over growth to meet future obligations. If you stay in “accumulation” mode and the stock market retracts, you will deplete your money when it is most critical to protect your capital! Stocks are for capital appreciation, bonds are for income. No, I don't mean bond funds, I do mean that you should have a portion of your portfolio in a bond portfolio crafted for you and your needs, if you need income!

Talk with your fiduciary advisor or call my office if you want information about these crediting methods that could change the way you manage your retirement income and potentially your tax burden.

at Mill Falls to exhibit and sell its members' work located near the Cascade Spa.

A new exhibition opening March 12 and titled “Nature's Repose,” features the work of NHAA artists Judy Schubert and Lorwen ‘Connie’ Nagle.

A peacefulness, at the heart of nature, is celebrated in this collection of original oil paintings by the two artists. The paintings depict scenes from the four seasons – all evoking serenity and quiet repose of nature's beauty. The viewer will experience a soothing feeling while viewing them.

Schubert is a fine art oil painter with a former career in real estate and sales. Portraiture is her first love.

Commissioned work has allowed Schubert to create many family treasures.

Stepping into nature, she gravitates towards the play of light, particularly on water.

Her paintings have shown in several juried shows including the Gallery at 100 Market and Art of Great Bay. She enjoyed co-ownership at Studio 51 Ceres, a gallery in Portsmouth until the building was sold last year. She is an associate of Oil Painters of America, a member of the Portrait Society of America, NHAA and Kittery Art Association. Visit Schubert at www.judyschubert.com.

Nagle is a clinical psychologist as well as a full time artist. She paints in plein air and in her studio at Art on the Hill in Kittery, Maine.

Nagle is a member of NHAA and the NH Plein Air Society as well as an Associate member of Rockport Art Association & Museum and the Guild of Boston Artists. She is represented at Charles Gallery in Gloucester, Mass.

glish Brown Ale named British Brunette, and Brewhouse Hefeweizen, which is a traditional German wheat beer.

One of their most popular brews though is an American light lager they call April Rain. Anderson said he worked for more than a year to create that beer and those who enjoy drinking Coors Lite or anything similar keep coming back for more. Dreshaj said April Rain is less than 100 calories (only two Weight Watcher points, she added with a smile), is gluten-reduced and tastes delicious, too.

Anderson said that since he makes so many different types of beer, people often ask which is his favorite and his reply is always the same. “Whatever one I have in my hand!”

At the Dam Brewhouse, the couple offers their customers a four-ounce single glass sample or one single pint, as well as flights of up to eight samples of anything on tap each week. There are also a variety of crowlers, 32-ounce cans, or 64-ounce growlers, a glass refillable container, that customers can take home to enjoy once they decide which stout, ale, IPA or lager they like best.

“It's great because you can try before you buy,” said Dreshaj.

Located at 1323 N.H. Route 175, just beyond the Campton Cupboard, The Dam Brewhouse is open on Fridays and Saturdays from 3-10 p.m., from 2-6 p.m. on Sundays, or “by chance” the rest of the week, whenever the open sign is out.

Who Can You Trust to Reduce Stress of Estate Planning?

When it's time to do your estate planning – and it's actually never too soon to begin – you may find the process, at first, to be somewhat bewildering. You'll have many questions: What sort of arrangements should I make? Who should get what? And when? How can you address these and other issues? You'll need to get some help. In drawing up your estate plan, you will need to work with an attorney. And for guidance on the investments that can help fund your estate planning arrangements, such as a living trust, you can draw on the help of a financial advisor. You also may want to connect with a trust company, which can help facilitate your estate plans and coordinate the activities of your legal and financial professionals.

Of course, you might think that only the very wealthy need a trust company. But that's not really the case – people of many income levels have long used these companies. As long as you have a reasonable amount of financial assets, you likely can benefit from the various services provided by a trust organization. And these services can range from administration of a variety of trusts (such as living trusts and charitable trusts) to asset-management services (bill-paying, check-writing, etc.) to safekeeping services (such as providing secure vaults for jewelry and collectibles). In short, using a trust company can make things a lot easier when it's time to plan and execute your estate. A trust company can help you in the following ways:

Avoiding family squabbles – It's unfortunate, but true:

Dividing the assets of an estate can cause ill will and turmoil among family members. But a trust company can act as a neutral third party, thus minimizing any feelings of unfairness.

Providing greater control – When you establish an arrangement such as a living trust, administered by the trust company, you can give yourself great control over how you want your assets distributed. For example, you can specify that a certain child receive portions of your estate spaced out over several years – a move that may appeal to you if you think this child might not be ready to handle large sums all at once.

Saving time and effort – As mentioned above, when you work with a trust company, you can let it do all the “legwork” of coordinating your plans with your financial professional, tax advisor and attorney. And these professionals are used to dealing with trust companies.

Gaining Protection – Trust companies assume fiduciary responsibility for your financial well-being – which means that your best interests will always be considered in each service and transaction performed. You can choose from among a variety of trust companies, large and small. Before choosing one, you may want to check out the services and fees of a few different firms. In any case, as you move toward that time of your life when estate planning becomes more essential, talk to your attorney, tax advisor and financial professional about whether using the services of a trust company might be right for you.

The winter season draws to a close

And just like that, the winter sports season has come to a close.

The winter sports season is a long one. It started before Thanksgiving for the athletes and the week after Thanksgiving for the local sports reporters covering the games. It is the longest of the three high school sports seasons and at times, it seems like it can last forever. However, it's also the slowest of the seasons in my world, as many of the sports have just one match or meet a week.

But it is time for the

SPORTING CHANCE

By JOSHUA SPAULDING

season to be over.

On the local scene, there was some great stories throughout the season. The Kennett alpine boys and Nordic girls both picked up Division II championships while the Eagle alpine girls and Nordic boys each finished as the runners-up in Division II. The Kennett hoop girls finished as the Division II runners-up after a successful season while the Newfound hoop girls made it to the Final Four before falling in the Division III semifinals. The Newfound spirit team advanced to the state championship after a strong showing in the Division III meet and the Plymouth gymnastics team had a successful debut season and finished in seventh place in its first state championship. The Newfound unified hoop team advanced to the tournament in just its second year in existence.

There were also some great individual performances. Kennett's Dylan West won the Division II slalom title while teammate Connor Glavin won the Meet of Champions slalom title and both athletes, along with teammate Eva Drummond and Ashton Coleman, advanced to the Eastern High School Championships. Newfound's Ashlee Dukette recorded her 1,500th-career point in the Division II semifinals, not long after picking up her 1,000th-career rebound late in the regular season. Kennett senior Izzy Wroblewski joined her father in the school's 1,000-point club with a win over Con-Val late in the regular season. Plymouth's Joe Cleary and Charlie Comeau both won Division III wrestling titles and along with teammates JC Gaumer, Joe Peters and Trevor Randlett all advanced to the Meet of Champions. Kingswood hockey senior Sam Danais reached the 100-point mark for his career and earned Division II Second Team All-State. Teammate Nick Potenza earned Division II Honorable Mention All-State while Kennett hockey players Trevor Olivier and Trevor LaRusso each earned Division III Honorable Mention All-State. Kennett's Chris Caputo won the Division II indoor track long jump title while fellow Eagles Aidan Hagerty, Hannah Thelemarck and Helen Badger each picked up individual Nordic titles. Kingswood's Allison Bean won the Division II Skimeiester Award while Kennett's Jordanna Belle-Isle finished in second place and Kingswood's Sami Hotchkiss was third. Kingswood's Robbie Hotchkiss was third in the boys' Skimeiester for Division II. Kennett's Zach Grzesik jumped to the state (and national) high school ski jumping championship.

While some teams had more success than others, it's safe to say there was plenty of success on the local scene this winter, which made covering the winter season all that much more fun.

Finally, have a great day Lloyd and Lynn Jones.
