Belmont's Memorial Day ceremonies pay special tribute to the fallen of WWI

BY DONNA RHODES
dhrhodes@salmonpress.news

BELMONT — This year marks the 100th anniversary of the end of World I, and members of the Charles Kilborn American Legion Post 58 took time to pay a special tribute to those brave soldiers who sacrificed their lives in the “War to End All Wars.”

The day began with a parade from Belmont Middle School to the WWI monument on Church Street where a crowd gathered to take part in the annual ceremonies.

Post Commander Richard Stanley led the event, saying it was a day to remember the fallen who paid the ultimate sacrifice for our freedom, the ones who never came home. He noted 35 brave men from Belmont who were lost in that war and later in the ceremony former Post Commander Steve Bracey and Lt. Col. Richard Nowak read their names with a solemn bell toll after each recognition.

Nowak, a member of Post 58, was also the guest speaker for the day, bringing a bit of harsh reality to the event. Beginning with a letter from a WWI soldier on his last wishes should he not return home, Nowak delved into the history of the first World War, where besides soldiers, 144 of them from New Hampshire, more than seven million civilians throughout Europe also lost their lives. His eye-opening speech didn't end there though. Nowak then presented a lengthy list of all conflicts, battles and wars that have occurred since the early 1900's where a staggering number of brave American men and women gave of their lives in the name of freedom.

“It seems like the ‘War to End All Wars’ really did not end them all,” Nowak solemnly said.

Other contributors to the day were Boy Scout Troop 65, whose representatives laid a wreath at the WWI monument, and members of Girl Scout Troop 21532, who tossed flowers in the Tioga River in honor of those lost at sea.

Legion members Steve Bracey and Nowak raised the flag above Belmont's WWI monument, followed by a gun salute from the Belmont Police Department Honor Guard. Providing opening and closing prayers for the ceremonies were Post 58 Chaplain Maurice Tandy and Pastor Andy Barnes of Belmont Baptist Church.

Winnisquam FFA members pay tribute to longtime advisor

TILTON — For 21 years, Winnisquam Regional High School's Agricultural Program has held an awards night each spring to recognize members of the FFA for their outstanding work and leadership. This year, however, the tables were turned as they instead saluted teacher Janet Rosequist, known affectionately as “Rosie,” for her dedication to not just the program, but her hundreds of students as well.

Rosequist is retiring this year after 26 years as a teacher and FFA advisor at the Ag Center, nurturing students in the fields of agriculture, horticulture and all things natural. Through

At last Thursday's 21st annual FFA Awards Night, WRHS teacher Janet Rosequist waves to the crowd after being handed a tiara and named “Queen of the Ag Center” upon her upcoming retirement next month.

Sanbornton Town Clerk bows out with fond memories of her time in town

SANBORNTON — Friday, May 25, marked the last day in office for Sanbornton Town Clerk/Tax Collector Marla Davis, and she bowed out from the job grateful for all she the people she has come to know and worked with throughout the years, while eager for the new adventures that lie ahead for her and husband Craig.

“I've enjoyed my life in Sanbornton. It's been quite an adventure,” Davis said. “I learned an awful lot; some of it I'd like to forget, but some of it I will take with me SEE DAVIS, PAGE A11

the FFA national program, she helped students gain confidence, embrace the ethics of the organization and grow to become better leaders and adults. As a result of her commitment to her students, not only current members of the FFA but many of her past students as well came out last Friday evening to remind her of what she has meant to them over the years.

One of six former students took to the stage to pay tribute to her, saying she wouldn't be there last Thursday night if it wasn't for “Rosie.” Amy Fogarty said Rosequist was the mentor and guardian 22 years ago who encouraged them all to “seize the moment” and give the best they had in all their endeavors. In doing so, she still reminded them there was a time for work and a time for play. Fogarty said that is something she keeps in mind to this day.

Another alumni said each day, as he puts on his suit coat to head for work, he is reminded of his FFA blazer and all that wearing it during his high schools years came to mean. A member of the Class of 2005 said he hopes to this day that all he learned from

STRATEGIES FOR LIVING

The empty tomb

BY LARRY SCOTT

The empty tomb of Jesus, the crucified one, was there for all to see. Several women, drawn by love, returned to the tomb two days later, unable still to accept the unacceptable. There was no doubt as to where the tomb was, for they had followed the burial party on the evening of the crucifixion. They had no clue as to how they would get into the tomb to anoint His body. The problem, however resolved itself. When they arrived at the tomb just after sunrise Sunday, the tomb was empty.

The resurrection of Jesus Christ is the cornerstone of the Christian church. Our faith stands on this one, essential truth: Jesus Christ arose from the dead. The tomb was empty! So critical is this truth to the Christian faith, it demands an explanation.

Theories abound as to what really happened, but I would like to focus on this one issue. The disciples, we are told, stole the body. No way! Every one of the disciples – except for the Apostle John – died defending this truth. A man may give his life advocating a lie he believes to be true. No man, however, will die in defense of a “truth” he knows to be a lie. Even the most convinced skeptic must admit that the disciples believed in the literal, bodily resurrection of their Lord.

The tomb was empty, and someone had moved the large, heavy stone covering the entrance. What happened? That is the question!

“We are left, therefore, with the suggestion that Joseph came with a working party, choosing, perhaps the dark hours to avoid the curious attentions of the crowd, and with the express object of removing the body to a more suitable resting place. ... It explains why the women found the tomb open. It also explains why we cannot locate the body. ... If it is true that Joseph acted in a sense on behalf of the Jewish authorities in fulfilling the law by burying the body before sunset, what possible reason could there be for concealing this perfectly natural and legal proceeding? ... Annas and Caiaphas and the other leaders behind the prosecution must have been aware of it. If so, why their silence? (Frank Morrison, Who Moved the Stone? p. 79-80).

When the women arrived at the tomb, they found a “young man dressed in a white robe sitting on the right side, and they were alarmed. ‘Don’t be alarmed,’ he said. ‘You are looking for Jesus the Nazarene, who was crucified. He has risen! He is not here!’” (Mark 16:5-6).

Is it not curious that none of the parties involved – the soldiers, the women, the young man – were ever interrogated by the authorities. Why was that? The reason is simple: they knew the truth!

There is no explanation for the resurrection that is more believable than that given us in the Gospels. Skeptics reject the resurrection, not because it defies logic, but because one must also accept the God of the supernatural. This truth, in turn, would demand internal changes they are not prepared to make.

My purpose in this column is to challenge the skeptics and defend the truth. The tomb was empty. The simplest explanation, the one most consistent with reality, is that Jesus did, indeed, arise from the dead. Truth has triumphed again!

PET OF THE WEEK

BELLA

Bella: she certainly is a sturdy girl, who loves to hug her humans, and while not overly enamored with the immediate presence of other dogs, has coped rather well with the hub-bub of shelter life at New Hampshire Humane Society.

Well muscled but lithe, rugged but sweet, with a pensive “I’m not sure what my next chapter in life will be” look on her lovely face, she waits for that perfect match.

Bella enjoys the outdoors. She likes to play and surely would be a wonderful companion of active, energetic folks.

Her former life was a solitary one, kept not the best of circumstances, hence we prefer to place in an adults only, dog free home. Bella is ready to forgive and forget the ways of humans, in favour of those that know how to love and care for a dog whose heart is loyal and true.

Come see her in person, you will be smitten, we are sure!

With cowslips in full bloom, my head, at least, hits the trail

By JOHN HARRIGAN
COLUMNIST

To me, the Memorial Day weekend has always been a particularly poignant time of year. Many of us can remember getting scrubbed up and dressed in our finest to pay homage to veterans and lost loved ones in the Memorial Day parade.

But that particular weekend is also a seasonal marker for an entire subculture: people who go to camp. In some parts of the state—places where wild and sparsely populated wild land is still within reach—“camp” can mean anything from a lavishly appointed vacation getaway to something little better than a horse hovel.

In some regions, mine in particular, it’s time to open up camp for the season. And no sane camp-opening crew travels without a chainsaw in the truck, for taking care of blown-down trees that can often bar the way.

Push or pull it aside with the truck, you

JOHN HARRIGAN

“Camp” means many things to many people. In this case, it means a 16 by 20 log cabin, almost shut off from the world, there being only a long footpath in.

think? Well, if you’re very lucky. And nobody wants a carefully planned expedition into camp to be thwarted by a blowdown. Thus included in the freight is a sharpened and checked-out chainsaw, ready to go.

In our case, as it is with many others, it’s not a matter of whether we’re ready for the road, but whether the road is ready for us.

In many cases, the road networks are primarily for logging, and the camp owner on a seldom-used skidder trail works with the landowner or the logging company to keep the road passable. Sometimes this means going fifty-fifty on a culvert. You never know. One hand washes the other.

In our case, the state owns and manages the roads, which on the face of things would seem to invite trouble. but late-season hunters, snowmobile club members, hikers and many others who use and love the back country have worked out a good relationship with road and timber managers to let them know what’s going on.

This helps crews get a heads-up on problem spots—places where a plugged or buckled culvert has caused a wash-out, or where beavers have flooded the road, or major blowdowns have left a serious mess.

There is a Concord phone number that camp-owners can call to get the most recent update on the roads before heading off to open up camp, and (surprise!) it works. In some instances, in fact in many instances, Concord gets it right, and this is one of them.

Camp owners are indeed a breed apart. If you are out on a truck tour and just cruising by, and observe a gathering of one sort or another on the porch, they’ll often wave you in. There is a built-in camaraderie that’s hard to put your finger on, the kind of thing you don’t want to investigate too closely lest it disappear.

Yet owning a back-country camp may be losing some of its mystique and appeal. In past years, any spot in the Connecticut Lakes Headwaters Tract that came up for a new lease was snapped right up. This year, several went unclaimed.

In fact, some camp owners who don’t have family members or friends coming up through the ranks are finding it tough sledding to secure the camp’s future.

Sometimes, family members just don’t care about camp or have the time and resources to keep it up. This is a sad turn of events, given the happy times that have been had at any good camp. It’s the kind of life you think will never end.

Because we leave nothing whatsoever edible in camp, we are not likely to find that we’ve had unwelcome visitors. Oh, the mice will have SEE NOTEBOOK, PAGE A10 tion, 10:30 a.m.

Please join us for the dedication of the Kelly Finemore Memorial Garden and Bench. Our beloved Kelly held the position of Children's Librarian at Hall Memorial Library for more than 10 years. This wonderful woman was the perfect fit for the position as she truly loved the children. Nothing pleased her more than to spend time reading to kids. Perhaps you were lucky enough to have joined her at one of her story times and added your voice to the chorus of kids reciting a variety of poems while "Kelly's Critters," a collection of knitted animals made by Kelly, enhanced the activity. Kelly also affected many adults who passed through the doors of Hall Memorial Library over the years. With her quiet wisdom and non-judgement of others, she remains dear to all of those fortunate enough to have known her.

After a small dedication ceremony and speech there will be a tea and an unveiling of Kelly's Critters Case in the juvenile section of the library. Please come and share your favorite Kelly story during this time. Call 286-8971 if you have any questions.

Spaulding Youth Center honored with grant from NH Electric Co-op Foundation

NORTHFIELD — Spaulding Youth Center is thrilled to announce it has been honored with a grant of $5,000 by the New Hampshire Electric Co-op (NHEC) Foundation in support of its Experiential Challenge Outdoors (EChO) program. EChO enables children to participate in outdoor adventures and education, regardless of their neurological, emotional, behavioral, learning or developmental challenges or family circumstances.

Through EChO, the Spaulding Youth Center classroom is New Hampshire's mountains, forests, lakes, ponds, rivers, streams, marshes and the organization's expansive nearly 500-acre campus. Annually, 150 Spaulding students participate in EChO for a full day every three weeks and have the opportunity to enjoy special events, including Adventure Days and Winter Carnival. One of the most significant challenges and opportunities of EChO is being able to adapt the curriculum, activities and equipment to meet each child's specific learning styles and physical, behavioral, and emotional needs. This generous support from the NHEC Foundation will allow Spaulding Youth Center to purchase and adapt equipment as required by the students in the EChO program.

"We are grateful to the NHEC Foundation for the opportunity to enhance our EChO program, which gives students the chance to experience learning by participating in outdoor adventures, such as kayaking, hiking and snow-shoeing," said Susan C. Ryan, CEO & President of Spaulding Youth Center. "Some of our children have never had an opportunity to participate in these types of activities, which are the epitome of quintessential New Hampshire childhood memories. We are honored to offer these types of adventure play and growth activities for every student, regardless of ability level, within our intensive therapeutic campus."

The mission of the New Hampshire Electric Co-op Foundation is to improve the quality of life for its members and the communities it serves. As a nonprofit, tax-exempt 501(c)(3), the NHEC Foundation provides grants to charitable organizations throughout NHEC's service territory.

Worcester Polytechnic Institute announces Spring 2018 Dean's List

WORCESTER, Mass. — The following local residents were among 1,474 students from Worcester Polytechnic Institute (WPI) named to the university's Dean's List for academic excellence for the spring 2018 semester.

Kodey Converse of Belmont is a member of the class of 2018 majoring in computer science.

Connor Lemay of Tilton is a member of the class of 2020 majoring in mechanical engineering.

The criteria for the WPI Dean's List differs from most other universities as WPI does not compute a grade point average (GPA). Instead, WPI defines the Dean's List by the amount of work completed at the A level in courses and projects.

"WPI's academic programs are rigorous and require a level of independence beyond what is required in traditional courses. WPI students go beyond the classroom to work on open-ended problems in and for communities around the world. The problems are important and the impact is real," said dean of undergraduate studies Arthur C. Heinricher. "Some of this nation's best and brightest students come to WPI to study engineering and science and business and the humanities. Those named to the Dean's List have excelled in all of their work, and we are exceptionally proud of these outstanding students."

About Worcester Polytechnic Institute

Founded in 1865 in Worcester, Mass., WPI is one of the nation's first engineering and technology universities. Its 14 academic departments offer more than 50 undergraduate and graduate degree programs in science, engineering, technology, business, the social sciences, and the humanities and arts, leading to bachelor's, master's and doctoral degrees. WPI's talented faculty work with students on interdisciplinary research that seeks solutions to important and socially relevant problems in fields as diverse as the life sciences and bioengineering, energy, information security, materials processing, and robotics. Students also have the opportunity to make a difference to communities and organizations around the world through the university's innovative Global Projects Program. There are more than 40 WPI project centers throughout the Americas, Africa, Asia-Pacific, and Europe.

Enlist for laughs with Dean Martin & Jerry Lewis on LRPA this weekend

LACONIA—Join Lakes Region Public Access Television at 10:30 p.m. this Friday and Saturday night (June 1 & 2) for our “LRPA After Dark” presentation of 1951’s musical comedy “At War With the Army,” starring the classic comedy team of Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis.

Sergeant Victor Puccinelli and Private First Class Alvin Korwin serve in the U.S. Army during WWII. Before enlisting, they were best friends and partners in a nightclub song-and-dance act. Since enlisting and serving on the same base, they tend to get on each other’s nerves. Puccinelli (Martin), a suave ladies’ man, is good at his boring, paper-pushing desk job, but dreams of being transferred to active duty overseas. His CO has no intentions of letting him leave, intending instead to commission him as the company’s Warrant Officer. Korwin (Lewis) is a lovable goofball who works in the mess hall but can’t do anything right. Everything he touches turns to disaster. He’s on K.P. duty as a result of his incompetence. Korwin begs for a weekend pass visit his wife, but can’t seem to catch a break. Things are further complicated by Puccinelli’s love life, which is in a constant whirlwind, plus the fact that Korwin wants his old partner to record a song they have co-written and rehearse for a USO show, much to Puccinelli’s chagrin. Will Puccinelli get to see active duty? Will Korwin get to see his wife back home? Most importantly, will the guys get together and put on the show?

Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis made 16 movies together over the span of their careers. “At War With the Army” was their third movie, but their first starring vehicle. Their roles in this film, as in all of their movies, followed typecasting: Martin as the handsome Romeo, Lewis as the luckless jokester. “At War With the Army” has everything that you’d expect from a Martin and Lewis movie: loads of wonderful slapstick moments, as well as songs, shtick, crazy mix-ups and zany antics, and even a spoof of Bing Crosby and Barry Fitzgerald in “Going My Way.” This was vintage Martin and Lewis, before egos and jealousy got in the way. If it sounds like fun, then grab your popcorn and meet us after dark for this wacky sendup of Army bureaucracy.

You can’t find television like this it anywhere but LRPA TV, MetroCast Channel 25. Not a subscriber? Then log onto Live Stream through our website (www.lrpa.org) where you can catch all the fun.

“Childbirth Boot Camp” training for emergency medical professionals a success

LACONIA — Held earlier this month at Lakes Region General Hospital, 78 emergency medical professionals gathered for a special training of procedures and protocols for expectant mothers who need to be transported from one facility to another due to complications or an unexpected home birth.

Coordinated by John Prickett, RN, EMS & Emergency Preparedness Coordinator for LRGHealthcare, the morning included childbirth simulations using the New Hampshire Bureau of EMS’s simulation vehicle, an OB manikin that talks and actually delivers a baby, and a premature infant manikin to practice on courtesy of Dartmouth Hitchcock Medical Center (DHMC).

A special thank you to Victoria Flanagan, RN and Dr. Ringer from DHMC, the New Hampshire Bureau of EMS, Craig Clough, Concord Hospital EMS Coordinator, Littleton Hospital for assistance in the scenarios and the following EMS units who attended: Laconia Fire, Franklin Fire, Gilford Fire, Sanbornnton Fire, Moultonborough Fire, Stewarts Ambulance, New Hampton Fire, Bristol Fire, LRGH EMS Ambulance Service, Belmont Fire, Tilton/Northfield Fire, Center Harbor Fire, Best Care Ambulance, and the LRGHealthcare Emergency Services Department.

“The turnout was much greater than expected,” said Dr. Josh Morrison of LRGHealthcare Emergency Department, “and all of the objectives of the day were met with success. Thank you to all who took part in this important training.”

They are impossible to keep out. Some people have surrounded every window and door with hardware cloth (small-gauge wire netting), and failed. The thing about a mouse, in common with most rodents, is that if it can get its almost flat head in, the rest of the

It would be nice if the trail into camp was like that—if your head was there, you could be too.

Rosequist can now be instilled in his five-year-old son, and Amanda Ford Murphy from the Class of 2008 expressed the feelings they all shared for "Rosie."

"She was awesome. She was love. She made the Ag Center feel like home. If it wasn't for Rosie, I don't think I'd know half the things I know now," Murphy said.

Each speech was filled with emotion, a few coming close to tears as they reminisced about their days in FFA under her guidance.

Current students had words of praise for Rosequist, too.

Senior Christian Flury of Northfield, later named the Winnisquam FFA Member of the Year, said, "Leaving, but having her leave at the same time, is different. She gave me a lot of good advice over the years and I'm sad incoming students won't have the chance to have those same experiences with her."

Brian Scacheri of Sanbornton said she was "one of my favorite teachers, by far." He felt the program was losing a "huge chunk of what it is" and will never be the same without her. In fact, he said that she and FFA co-advisor and Ag teacher Michael Petrun were the ones who advised home to take a leap of faith and apply for his top choice in colleges. He will be headed there in the fall.

FFA President Victoria Coletti echoed their feelings of love and support from Rosequist, saying "Rosie" pushed her out of her comfort zone and showed her she could be a leader, something for which she will always be grateful.

"I don't even want to think about FFA and the Ag Center without her," said junior Trinity Patrick-Bond.

The night was topped off with a nostalgic slide show, looking back on the past 26 years, featuring Rosequist at state and national FFA conferences, competitions, and even in the classrooms where "occasionally" popping bubble wrap as she talked was part of the easy-going manner of her teaching style. Her students were always by her side in each shot.

"I'm really going to miss her and all the fun we've had," said sophomore Stephania Surovic of Sanbornton.

Pat Clark, chair of the

DONNA RHODES

Janet Rosequist, retiring FFA advisor and teacher for Winnisquam Regional High School's Ag Center program, was joined by her current students as they watched a video of her last 26 years with the school.

Advisory Committee for the Ag Center, could not be in attendance last week, but passed on his well wishes and a bit more through Petrun. In a letter to Rosequist, Clark called her the anchor behind the Ag Center Program and lauded her skills and business savvy in raising funds through annual wreath, centerpiece and poinsettia sales over the holidays. He praised her for building confidence within her students and helping them to go on to become strong adults.

In recognition of all of that he had instructed Petrun to give her a tiara, declaring her Queen of the Ag Center, along with sunflower seeds that he instructed her to plant outside her new home in upstate New York. Planting them close together, he said, she will see the close-knit community of students she has raised on the face of each blossom.

When "Rosie" finally took the stage, she was overwhelmed by the love shared with her that night.

"This is touching. It's also interesting because I feel like I got the better end of this deal," she said in a brief, yet heartfelt statement. "I had so much fun and I'm going to miss having students to care about. Thank you all."

Davis began her commitment to the Town of Sanbornton after moving to the community in 2005 from Boyerstown, Pa. She said she and her husband didn't know anyone in the community and decided the best way to familiarize themselves with the town and give back to their new home was to get involved. They jumped right in.

Over the past 13 years, Davis has been a candidate for the Winnisquam Regional School Board, the secretary for the Budget Committee and was eventually elected as a member of the Budget Committee.

"That's what really got me involved in politics and town government," she said.

Through that commitment, she came to know former Town Clerk/Tax Collector Jane Goss, who encouraged her to apply for an opening as her deputy.

"We were never political before this but felt we had the time now to do something and when Jane asked me to apply for the job as her deputy, I did," said Davis.

When Goss retired in 2014, Davis went on to face two successful elections as Town Clerk/Tax Collector, but regretfully had to cut her second term short.

"I wasn't planning on doing this, but I think I knew all along that I only wanted to serve two years as town clerk anyway," Davis said.

Over the past 13 years, her husband Craig also made his own footprints in the town. After retiring from his job as a Philadelphia police detective, he had moved on to retail, and his job as a District Manager for Home Depot was what landed the couple in New Hampshire to begin with; he retired from that job five years ago.

In the meantime, Craig Davis has also become involved with town government. He served several years as a member of Sanbornton's Zoning Board, and was recently selected as chair of the Budget Committee.

Marla Davis said recent health issues made her begin to re-think her second term in office as town clerk and an offer by her son and his wife sealed the deal to make a change for what they hope is the better.

"My son and his family live in Delaware, and they're moving into a house where we can live, too," she explained.

"They want to help me get better, and we'll be able to spend more time with our grandchildren. It was hard to say no."

Once the deal was sealed with her son's family, the couple put their Sanbornton house on the market and from there, "the stars must have been all aligned," Davis said. Their house was sold in just two days. "That told me this was the right decision. Everything suddenly fell into place."

She assures the residents that she is not leaving lightly. Davis said she will take with her the memories of all the residents she has come to know and love in the town and hopes they remember her well, too.

"I loved serving Sanbornton and I love the town," she said. "I may not have always been the most popular person, but I always put the best interest of the town first."

She added that she is leaving Sanbornton but has great confidence in her former deputy, now Town Clerk/Tax Collector, Courtney Plamondon.

Davis's parting words were, "I'm leaving the town in good hands with Courtney and hope people will have patience with her as she goes through the learning curve. It's not an easy job but I know she'll be good for you all."

TRIBUTE

School Band, under the direction of director Lauren Fountain, not only participated in the parade and ensuing ceremonies with their musical tributes, but band members Cody York and Brian Miles also played "Taps" and "Taps with Echo" after the gun salute.

The ceremony concluded with the new tradition of a community sing-a-long of "God Bless America," where everyone joined hands for the final patriotic tribute. This year, the singing was led by Grace Shaw.

Edward Jones: Financial Focus

What Should You Look for in an Annual Financial Review?

Given the complexities of the investment world, you might consider working with a financial professional to help you move toward your goals, such as a comfortable retirement. You'll want to establish good communication with whomever you choose, and you should meet in person at least once a year to discuss your situation. At these annual reviews, you'll want to cover a variety of topics, including these:

Your portfolio's progress – Obviously, you will want to discuss how well your investments are doing. Of course, you can follow their performance from month to month, or even day to day, by reviewing your investment statements and online information, but at your annual meeting, your financial professional can sum up the past year's results, highlight areas that have done well or lagged, and show you how closely your portfolio is tracking the results you need to achieve your long-term goals.

Your investment mix – Your mix of investments – stocks, bonds, government securities and so on – helps determine your success as an investor. But in looking at the various investments in your portfolio, you'll want to go beyond individual gains and losses to see if your overall mix is still appropriate for your needs. For example, is the ratio of stocks to bonds still suitable for your risk tolerance? Over time, and sometimes without you taking any action, this ratio can shift, as often happens when stocks appreciate so much that they now take up a larger percentage of your portfolio than you intended – with a correspondingly higher risk level. If these unexpected movements occur, your financial professional may recommend you rebalance your portfolio to align it more closely with your goals and risk tolerance.

Changes in your family situation – A lot can happen in a single year. You could have gotten married, divorced or remarried, added a child to your family or moved to a new, more expensive house – the list can go on and on. And some, if not all, of these moves could certainly involve your financial and investment pictures, so it's important to discuss them with your financial professional.

Changes in your goals – Since your last annual review, you may have decided to change some of your long-term goals. Perhaps you no longer want to retire early, or you've ruled out that vacation home. In any case, these choices may well affect your investment strategies, so it's wise to discuss them.

Changes in the investment environment – Generally speaking, it's a good idea to establish a long-term investment strategy based on your individual goals, risk tolerance and time horizon, and stick with this basic strategy regardless of the movements of the financial markets or changes in the economy. Still, this doesn't mean you should never adjust your portfolio in response to external forces. For instance, if interest rates were to rise steadily over a year's time, you might want to consider some changes to your fixed-income investments, such as bonds, whose value will be affected by rising rates. In any case, it's another thing to talk about during your annual review.

These aren't the only elements you may want to bring up in your yearly review with your financial professional – but they can prove to be quite helpful as you chart your course toward the future.

Huge yard sale at Patrick's Saturday

GILFORD — On June 2 from 9 a.m. – noon, multiple Pub Mania teams are holding a huge yard sale in the parking lot of Patrick's Pub and Eatery in Gilford. This annual event raises funds for the Lakes Region Children's Auction, a nonprofit that contributes to a wide variety of local charities. Rain date is Sunday, June 3.

Pub Mania teams hold events year round, and their efforts culminate with the 24-hour Patrick's Pub Mania challenge in mid-December, which runs concurrently with the Lakes Region Children's Auction. In 2017, Pub Mania raised $303,630, and over the past eight years, Pub Mania has raised a cumulative total of over $1,616,630 for the kids and families in the great-Lakes Region area. This year's sale has seven teams participating, so shoppers can expect an extensive range of gently used items. In addition to the furniture, household goods, and knick-knacks that all teams will offer, Team Body Covers, captained by Sarah Gray, promises 20 years worth of "artsy, funky, retro" ephemera, and Judi Taggart of Tagg-

Team also will have food. "We're gearing up for this huge yard sale offering treasures for everyone!" said Taggart. "Plus, Tagg Team will sell a 6 pack of fresh bagels donated by Winnepesaukee Bay Gulls for only six dollars. One hundred percent of all proceeds will benefit the Children's Auction." Allan Beetle, Patrick's Pub co-owner, says, "It should be a really interesting and fun yard sale, but we're most excited that the teams are doinating all their profits to benefit children in need here in the greater Lakes Region."

Bears end regular season on four-game win streak

BY BOB MARTIN

Bob@salmonpress.news

TILTON — The Winnisquam Regional High School softball team finished the regular season on a four-game winning streak, which followed a four-game losing streak prior to that. The team finished the season in strong fashion just in time for the state tournament.

“The team is continuing to swing the bats, but the defense has been much more consistent and solid,” coach Kevin Dame said. “Aubrey (St. Onge) has been doing a great job of pounding the strike zone, and getting better every day at hitting spots and mixing in a change. Our record is now 8-8 and will mean either the 11 or 12 seed. Hopefully we can keep this momentum into the playoffs.”

On Tuesday, the Bears traveled to Bishop Brady and came away with an 11-4 win. Emily Decormier was the offensive star with a three for five showing, which included a triple to go along with a pair of runs. Cailey Clogston was two for five with two RBIs. Carly Catty was also two for five with two RBIs and two runs. Hannah Max went two for three and also had a triple. She also had two RBIs and two runs.

St. Onge was the winning pitcher and also had a pair of hits on the day.

“We played as well as we have all season against a quality team,” said Dame. “We had 13 hits on the day and played very good defense.”

On Wednesday, the Bears hosted Somersworth and had a 15-1 mercy rule shortened win. Catty had an incredible four for four showing with a homer, a double and five RBIs. Ashley Deshaies also went four for four.

Other offensive highlights included Max, who was two for three with a double and three RBIs. Decormier had another great day, going tree for four with a double and a triple. Chloe Colarusso was two for three on the day.

St. Onge was the winning pitcher and was also a force at the plate, going two for two with a pair of walks.

“We kept our bats going and played solid defense again,” Dame said.

Winnisquam has a chance at making the final playoff spot if Belmont beat Prospect Mountain in a game that took place after early deadline.

On May 23, the Bears hosted Somersworth and suffered a tough 7-0 loss in a game where Winnisquam only mustered up one hit, which came with two outs in the bottom of the seventh inning. Senior Noah Smith broke up Colby Grant's no-hit bid, but Somersworth cruised to the win.

Freshman Philip Nichols had a strong game on the mound, coach Fred Caruso said. He allowed three first inning runs but just one more into the seventh.

Winnisquam had a great 2-0 win at Franklin on May 24 in what was a thrilling matchup between the two rivals. The Bears scored twice in the top of the seventh to put the first runs of the game on the board. The team knew this was a must win scenario, and Caruso was happy to see the team respond.

Jack Beaulieu had one of his best games of the season. He was four for four with two doubles and the eventual game winning RBI single, scoring Nick Snyder, who singled.

Michael Allard then scored later in the inning on an overthrow after a double steal that had him taking off for third base.

Beaulieu was fantastic on the mound, as well. He had a complete game one-hitter with 10 strikeouts. The one hit came from Harrison Clark, who pitched for Franklin. Caruso said it was a great pitching matchup, with Clark throwing well for the Golden Tornadoes in a complete game as well.

"They threw their number one guy, Harrison Clark, and he was very good," said Caruso. "We had some chances but we couldn't string anything together until the seventh."

Caruso was proud of the team in the way they came away with a gutsy win with the season on the line. He said there will be players at the Belmont vs. Prospect Mountain game watching with hopes of making the state tournament.

If Winnisquam makes the state tournament, the Bears will be on the road on May 31 for the first round of the playoffs.

Morgan Hall continued her strong pitching last week and coach Bill Clary expects her to be a key to the playoff run.

Belmont turns three triple plays in win over Brady

BY BOB MARTIN

Bob@Salmonpress.news

BELMONT — The Belmont softball team has an 11-4 record and is sitting in seventh place as the season winds down.

Last week the Red Raiders took on Bishop Brady at home and came away with a close 3-2 win that came with Belmont scoring the winning run in the seventh inning after loading the bases. Morgan Hall had an outstanding game against a strong Bishop Brady squad, which is currently two spots down in the rankings from Belmont. It is a tight race in Division 3, as the seventh through 12th spots in the standings are only separated by up to three wins.

Hall scattered eight hits, had two strikeouts and no walks in the win. Amazingly the team turned three triple plays to help her along defensively.

Julianna Estremera was the offensive leader, going two for four. Becca Fleming was two for three and was also key in turning double plays with tags at second base. Kelley Allen went two for two.

Coach Bill Clary had praise for the Red Raider squad, saying the team seems to be ready for a playoff run. He said there has been some tinkering in the lineup, which includes Lavallee moving to first base from second base. Jordan Sargent is also the full-time catcher after Lavallee had a knee injury.

"Happy with the way our pitching is coming along," Clary said. "Going to rely heavily on Morgan Hall in the playoffs, but I think we have prepared her for this the way we used her in the regular season. We have a few minor injuries, which I hope clear up before next week. With only two seniors we are still young but we work hard. The leadership from Jordan Sargent has been outstanding. We finally have Jordyn Lavallee back healthy, playing well and hitting the ball."

Belmont had one game left in the season, which took place at Prospect Mountain on May 25 after early deadline. The state tournament begins on Wednesday, May 30 at 4 p.m.

Raiders move to 13-3 with two more wins

BY BOB MARTIN
Bob@Salmonpress.news

BELMONT — The Belmont baseball team got a nice win over Division 2 rival Laconia on the road, as well as a convincing win over Franklin at home to bring the team's record to 13-3 and third in Division 3.

On May 22, the Red Raiders traveled to Laconia and came away with a wild 12-11 win. The Red Raiders were up 6-0 in the fourth inning with Griffin Embree on the mound. He pitched four innings, allowing one hit, two walks and struck out six.

Belmont increased its lead to 10-0 in the top of the fifth, but then Laconia made things interesting. Laconia scored 11 runs from the fifth through seventh inning, including four runs in the seventh in a late game rally.

However, despite the surge of Laconia, the Red Raiders hung on and came away with the solid win.

"Give the guys a ton of credit," said coach Matt Leblanc. "It's nice to deal with some adversity prior to the playoffs. That way you know you can deal with it in a meaningful game. They never let their emotions get the best of them. It is tough losing a 10 run lead but they kept their heads, never let the moment get too big and let the game come to them. Ultimately we finished it out and got the W against a D-2 team and earned an extra point."

Colby Brown was three for four in the leadoff spot with a walk and a stolen bases. He had three runs scored on the day. Cam Magerer went two for five with an RBI. Nate Sottak went three for three with three runs and a pair of RBIs.

Belmont had a little bit of an easier time with Franklin, beating the Golden Tornadoes 13-3.

Magerer had a two for two day with four RBIs and a couple of steals. Embree also went two for two and had two RBIs.

Brown had a one for one day with two walks, four runs and an RBI. He also continued his incredible season on the base paths with three steals. That makes him 20 for 20 on the season.

Senior Matt Pluskis had a great day on the mound and has become a viable option on the hill after mostly playing second base throughout his time at Belmont. Over five innings he allowed three earned runs on two hits, six walks and struck out six batters.

"Pluskis stepped up big as we had to use all of our regular pitchers against Laconia," said

Leblanc. "He did exactly what we needed and put the team first."

The Red Raiders had one game remaining in the regular season, which took place after early deadline at Prospect Mountain. The playoffs begin on May 31.

Franklin under the lights on the road and had a 2-0 win. Catty hit a homer in the first on her way to a two for two day that also included a triple and a walk.

The Bears had five hits on the day, with others coming from Colarusso who was two for three, Deshaies and Natalie Deshaies.

St. Onge got her third win in three days. She allowed four hits, one walk and had an intentional walk. Dame commended the solid play of his defense in this game.

"Chloe Colarusso made a couple of very nice defensive plays at first base," said Dame. "Cailey Clogston and Emily Decormier tracked down every fly ball and line drive hit their way, playing very solid defense."

The Division 3 state tournament seeding has yet to come out, but the Bears will be on the road on May 30 for round one.

Seniors Emily Decormier and Cailey Clogston were honored after the game against Somersworth last week.
