Candidates for Tilton town offices introduce themselves to the community

BY DONNA RHODES drhodes@salmonpress.news

TILTON — Voters in Tilton had a chance to hear from candidates for vacant positions in town government last Thursday evening as they prepare to head to the polls on March 14.

Moderated by Town Administrator Joyce Fulweiler, the evening began with four people seeking two seats open on the Board of Selectmen this year.

Ashley Saint John was first up in introductions, informing those present that she is a lifelong resident of Tilton, now mom to a young daughter named Savanna and a home owner herself.

Saint John, a registered nurse and a member of the Tilton-Northfield Rotary Club, said "I have an investment in this town and care deeply. I want to help the town reach its fullest potential, and I'm here because I am passionate about Tilton."

Eric Pyra has served terms on the Tilton Planning Board and Budget Committee, giving him experience in town government that he feels will be beneficial as a selectman. Pyra runs Tilton Sports Center, a business where he is involved with local youth, including his own two children, and feels that understanding the needs of children could also be of value.

"If I'm fortunate enough to be elected as a selectman, it will allow me to be even more involved with the town," he said.

Wayne Brock is also a lifelong resident of Tilton who has been involved on both the town and school district budget committees and has served on the board of the Youth Assistance Program. An Army veteran, he then worked for more than 25 years in New Hampshire's Department of Corrections. He is now retired and said he brings no agenda to his candidacy.

SANBORNTON Fifty-five-year-old

LaBranche Nancy was arrested for driving while intoxicated along Lower Bay Road in Sanbornton last Friday evening after the car she was operating rolled over onto Lake Winnisquam.

Police Chief Stephen Hankard said Labranche was driving along Lower Bay Road in heavy fog conditions on Feb. 24 when she lost control of the vehicle, which then traveled down an embankment and landed on the lake.

Police Officer Andrew Phillips and the Sanbornton Fire Department responded to the scene at 7:24 p.m., where they found that the vehicle, a Ford Edge, was not only on the lake, but that its front end had broken through the ice.

LaBranche was reported to have had a male passenger in the vehicle at the time of the incident but he had vacated the scene before rescue personnel and police arrived.

During an onsite investigation by police LaBranche refused to perform a standardized field sobriety test but through their findings, she was arrested and charged with Driving While Intoxicated.

Before her arrest, medical personnel from the Sanbornton

A vehicle traveling in heavy fog along Lower Bay Road in Sanbornton wound up on the ice on Lake Winnisquam last Friday evening, and the driver was later charged with DWI as a result of the incident.

Fire Department evaluated LaBranche and determined she had no apparent injuries as a result of the crash.

The fire department then worked with crews from Rusty's Towing in Tilton to remove the vehicle from the lake.

Also assisting in the incident were members of the Belmont Police Department.

LaBranche was later released on $1,500 personal recognizance bail and Hankard reported that she is scheduled to face that charge in an appearance at the 6th District Court in Franklin on March 13.

BELMONT — An investigation into the report of an "overdue/ missing" juvenile from Gilford during the early hours of Feb. 27 led police to a residence in Belmont, which resulted in not only the juvenile's safe return home, but also the apprehension of several other minors for an under-aged drinking party that was in progress at the time.

TILTON — More than 70 students at Winnisquam Regional Middle School had the opportunity to learn a life-saving skill last week, when instructor Katie Kinney of the American Red Cross and Michelle Marco of Catholic Medical Center not only presented a class on CPR, but delivered five Anytime Kits to the school so other students, staff and community members can familiarize themselves with the procedure.

The Makris Family has had a long and notable association with good eating in Concord. It began in the early 1900s when Ed's father established the Priscilla Restaurant, which was located on North Main Street near the Capitol. The family involvement was continued when, after completing a tour of duty in the service, Ed came home and opened the Liberty Restaurant with the help of his father and the rest of the family.

The Liberty was located near Rumford Press (now the Concord Center) and was well known for the famous Blue Plate Specials that were particularly popular with the workers there. In the early '50s, Ed and his two brothers decided to expand, so they bought Keniston's Drive-In.

They soon made it one of the outstanding seafood drive-ins in New England and continued in the tradition of fine food preparation until retiring in the late '60s. Through Ed's guidance, the next generation of the family continued that same tradition by creating another fine eating establishment-The Talk of The Town, originally at 19 North Main Street. That location was closed on New Year's Eve 1987 due to remodeling of the downtown building. In May of 1988, Eagle Court was opened to express fine dining in the Concord area and in August 1992 was sold, and the Inland Lobster Pool was purchased by the Makris Family, continuing in the same tradition of Keniston's, which was the Makris Hallmark. In 1994, Makris Lobster Pool added quality meats to the seafood and lobster menu, thus becoming Makris Lobster & Steak House

PERSPECTIVES ON LIVING

BY LARRY SCOTT

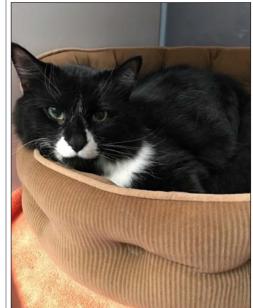

As I reflect on the influence of today's culture on the society of tomorrow, I discover this truism: in thirty years, today's infants will shape this nation's character and moral convictions as they mature and set the tone for their generation. The actions and influences of today's parents will vanish quickly and survive only indirectly by the standards they have developed in the lives of their children.

There is, it seems to many of us, a common denominator between the great social conflicts of our time. The demand for unrestrained freedom, a disdain for law and order, sexual abuse, the transgender phenomenon, the challenge to traditional marriage and the right to life all have one thing in common: the family is under fire. Indeed, the child's very life is under threat from the moment of conception. The influence of the family, molding concepts of right and wrong, moral convictions and a drive for excellence, demonstrate that, as parents, we need to get our priorities right.

To maintain that the family is under attack is in no way over-dramatizing the crisis we face. The overtones are so monumental that many of us are convinced what we have here is not a social but a spiritual issue. When our children are no longer able to pray in school, when the Bible can no longer be displayed in public, when God is no longer acknowledged as our Creator, when our children are being openly taught that the family need not consist of both a mother and a father, when contraceptives and abortion are available to our children from the onset of puberty ... it is little wonder that many of us are deeply concerned. This is not an over-reaction. What we have here is both a social as well as a spiritual battle, and our children and the world their children will inherit hang in the balance. What are we to do?

First, may I suggest that every child deserves the benefit of a stable home life. Responsibility and integrity are not so much taught as they are caught, and that from parents who have become "living models" their children can emulate. Some parents want to be their children's "best friend," but our children don't need a "pal," they need a parent! The home, you see, is the forum for growth. It is within the home that our children learn the meaning of love, self-discipline, patience, honesty, and responsibility. Growing up has never been easy and character is often developed only under stress and the pressures of life. That, however, is what it takes to become a responsible adult and the home, more than any other factor in our children's life, will determine who and what they ultimately become. And, one final word. As parents, we must monitor those influences to which our children are being subjected. Powerful forces are at work. From their peers, from the classroom, from television and the internet, they are being exposed to societal norms, a view of morality, and a standard of ethics that are totally unacceptable. Parents, it is time for responsible and aggressive action. Our children need you; it's time to stand and be counted!

Originally an apartment cat, much loved, his first owner was unable to care for him. He arrived at NHHS in 2012. We adopted him a short while later, now three years later, he has return to us again since he wasn't part of the relocation plans of his second owner.

Both homes loved him, cared for him, and ultimately did the right thing by bringing him to NHHS. OUR deep and abiding hope is he is not PETER

Could his third home be the final one, committed to him for the rest of his life. Peter is sweet as can be, loves to tuck himself in under his blankets, enjoys cuddling once he knows you, and this time, please this time, a permanent home. He's declawed, so an indoor home is absolutely a pre-requisite for his next adoption.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Please consider me for selectman

To the Editor: I respectfully ask Belmont voters for consideration March 14 when choosing Town leadership for a three year Selectman term. Over 30 years, it's been a privilege to serve the community in several roles, as a business owner, local volunteer, and former Selectman. As the Town nears a 150th year milestone, it is time to plan and prioritize. Decisions ahead include management, facilities, infrastructure and community development - all in a landscape of rapidly increasing costs of services.

Belmont's future is not a decision limited to a three member Select Board, employees, or any single district or neighborhood. It is a continuing work in progress that needs the participation and opinions of all-aged residents. We must be inclusive, and better communicators, to develop and implement strategi-dance of food, as probably did the musk ox. If the wolverine is still part of the mix today, just a few hundred miles north of us, why not back then?

Not that I would relish having a back-country camp back then, as I do now. I've done a fair share of traveling in the Far North, where people with backcountry camps particularly detest wolverines.

Of course, this all has to do with food, and the wolverine is notorious for its ability to sniff out the faintest traces of food from miles away. It is first or maybe second in this category, the other candidate being, of serve their French names, I think. The voyageurs and the coureurs des bois ("runners of the woods") called the wolverine "glutton," which means the same in English and French. And their name for the bear was "cochon de bois"--pig of the woods.

Norton Kelly, with whom I first traveled to Labrador back in 1976, had plenty of stories about wolverines. Norton ran the darkroom at the second newspaper I worked for, the New Hampshire Sunday News, which had its own section in the huge old Union Leader newsroom on Amherst Street in Manchester.

Norton was a tall, lanky, funny guy, and relished recounting tales of the Far North.

"A wolverine is so damned mean and nasty, and hates everything so much," he said, "that it will go along swinging its head from side to side, gnashing its teeth and biting the ground in front of it."

I loved Norton's description, and of course have studied up on the animal long since, but it turns out that Norton was not exactly in a class by himself:

Danger lurks by the roadside in "The Hitch-Hiker" Classic thriller is this weekend's After Dark feature on LRPA

LACONIA—Join Lakes Region Public Access Television at 10:30 p.m. this Friday and Saturday night (March 3 & 4)) for our "LRPA After Dark" presentation of 1953's gritty crime thriller "The Hitch-Hiker," starring Edmond O'Brien, Frank Lovejoy, and William Talman.

"The Hitch-Hiker" was inspired by the events of real-life serial killer Billy Cook, a psychopath who murdered six people on a 22-day killing spree in the early 1950s. The film was directed by Ida Lupino, a well-known actress who went on to a successful career as a director at a yarn about two men on time in Hollywood when female directors were very scarce. In fact, Lupino was the only female member of the Director's Guild from the late 1940s through the early 1950s and is still considered one of Hollywood's most prolific female directors. "The Hitch-Hiker" earned Lupino and her cast strong reviews and was a box-office success. It went on to be one of 25 films selected in 1998 for preservation by the National Film Registry.

In his review of "The Hitch-Hiker," noted critic Leonard Maltin said: "Well-made suspense a hunting trip whose car is commandeered by a murderous fugitive. Good performances, especially by a venal Talman in the title role."

"Appearing more like a small bear, the wolverine is in fact more of a weasel on steroids. This stocky little beast is the stuff of legends. Along with a voracious appetite it has a reputation for unmatched ferocity and apparently fears nothing. Pound for pound few other animals can match the wolverine for strength or attitude." --- Planet Deadly, "Wolverine Facts"

"The more we learn about wolverines, the more we find to admire.

These elusive denizens of frozen mountaintops were celebrated by Native Americans as powerful, all-terrain, all-season masters of the icy North. Also called "mountain devil" and "carcajou" (French for "evil spirit"), wolverines, according to some, make the Tasmanian devil look like a sissy."---Wild Earth Guardians: "Wolverine (Gulo gulo)"

In all my travels across Labrador and northern Quebec and Ontario and into the Yukon and Alaska, I have never happened to see a wolverine, but I have some wolverine fur on a hat made for me by an Inupiat woman.

At our modest shanty in the middle of nowhere, in the Connecticut Lakes Headwaters Tract, my camp partner and I have always been extra careful about leaving any traces of food around. This is something I learned many years and many camps ago.

So, when we're getting ready to leave, we wipe the counter and stovetop to remove all traces of grease and spills, and carry any food scraps far from camp for dispersal in the woods, and when we pack up and break camp and hit the trail for the log landing and the truck, far below, there is nothing to eat or smell (we hope) left behind.

All this has so far fooled the local bears into thinking that our camp isn't worth investigating, but I always wonder if it would work with Carcajou.

WRMS & Watts Valve compete for top honors in video competition

Students and engineers compete in the annual What's So Cool About Manufacturing video contest

BY ROB SEAWARD AND AARON BAKER

Winnisquam Regional Middle School TILTON — For the past two years, the New Hampshire Department of Resources and Eco-Development nomic has been holding an annual contest for middle school students called What's So Cool About Manufacturing in an effort to promote manufacturing to the students of New Hampshire.

WRMS students, under the direction of WRMS staff member Aaron Baker, stepped up to the challenge, joining forces with Mike Mulavev from Watts Water Technologies in Franklin to develop a three minute video highlighting all of the amazing technologies, machines, and people (careers) involved in turning a pile of raw metal into the valves we

> As part of this joint initiative, Mike Mulavey from Watts visited WRMS and met with students in a special enrichment class. Together, they set up a plan for accomplishing this task in only nine short weeks. As part of this daunting process, Aaron Baker guided students through the use of photography, videog interview skills, script writing, lighting, and all of the technology required to edit and pull it all together.

One of the most exciting aspects of the video project was when students visited the Watts plant and received firsthand knowledge and experience in many aspects of the valve manufacturing process. From reception, to design, to the manufacturing floor, students and staff were provided with an in depth look into the process and people behind the magic. Watts' employees and management were informative, supportive and accommodating in every way, even providing students with an amazing lunch spread to keep them energized as they worked. By the end of the day, students had over three hours of raw footage that would need to be reduced to a powerful

On Feb. 10, after weeks of editing, including some tough decisions about what to drop and what to include, the video was completed and submitted to the state. Seventh graders Kaitlyn Carey and Ian chase shared, "It was a lot of fun learning about manufacturing and all the steps it takes to make something... We had a fun time taking videos with people [we] know and talking to people who work there... It takes responsibility, hard work, and teamwork."

Eighth grader, Jay Smith said, "This was a fun project to do. We got to see how a Watts valve was made."

Sixth graders, Brandon Ortmeier and William Trowsdale reflected, "The best part about this project was watching the lava [molten brass] pouring into the mold... Watts is an amazing facility and is making great things."

Franklin Savings Bank recognizes three employees with Vision Award

FRANKLIN — Franklin Savings Bank honored three employees with a Vision Award, a distinction bestowed each year to individuals who make a difference with their customers and co-workers by living the bank's vision. she is also concerned for their well-being. She recently helped an elderly customer who had to give up their driver's license. When she learned the customer had to walk a few miles in the rain to visit the Boscawen office to do some banking, her compassion kicked in. She offered the customer a cup of coffee and had them relax for a short time in the lobby, then drove the individual home on her own time. This is just one of many fine examples of how FSB employees go 'above and beyond' each day to earn our customers' business.

Women Must Act to Overcome Financial Challenges

International Women's Day, observed on March 8, celebrates the social, cultural and political achievements of women. Yet, women continue to face many challenges. For one thing, women still encounter gender-specific obstacles to their important financial goals, such as a comfortable retirement. If you're a woman, what can you do to get past these barriers?

First of all, you need to recognize them. Here are a few to consider:

• Longer life spans – A 65-year-old woman is expected to live, on average, another 20.5 years, compared to 17.9 years for a 65-year-old man, according to the National Center for Health Statistics. That's another 21/2 years of life - and 21/2 years more of expenses.

- Lower incomes Women working full time in the United States typically are paid 80% of what men earn, according to Census Bureau data.
- More time away from the workforce - Men work an average of 38 years, compared to just 29 for women, according to the Pew Research Center and the Social Security Administration. The gap is largely due to women taking time off to care for young children and elderly parents. Women who work substantially fewer years than men will miss out on hundreds of thousands of dollars in earnings and many years of contributions to 401(k)s or other retirement plans.

These statistics certainly are sobering - but they don't mean you are powerless to improve your financial security. In fact, you can do quite a lot, including the following:

Boost your retirement plan contributions - Put in as much as you can afford to your 401(k) or other employer-sponsored plan, and increase your contributions whenever you get a raise. And even if you have a 401(k), you may still be eligible to contribute to an IRA.

Invest for growth - Some studies have shown that women may invest less aggressively than men. If you invest mostly in conservative vehicles, you may run the risk of falling short of your financial goals. To achieve these goals, you'll need a reasonable amount of growth potential in your portfolio.

• Extend your working life -If you like your job, you may want to consider sticking with it a couple of years past when you initially thought you'd retire. You'll be able to add to your retirement accounts, and the extra years of work may help you increase your Social Security benefits. These payments are based on an average of your highest 35 years of earnings, so if you have a zero in some of these years, it will pull the average down. Consequently, your extra years of work may help erase those zeros. But even if you have a long, unbroken work record, your extended career can help you in regard to Social Security, because the extra money may mean you can afford to delay collecting benefits - and the longer you wait past 62, the bigger your checks will be - at least until you turn 70, when they "max out."

You'll help yourself by becoming familiar with the special issues women face in meeting their long-term goals. As you know, women have met challenges successfully for a long time. After all, Ginger Rogers did everything Fred Astaire did - except backwards, and in heels.

Belknap Landscape recognized for support of enlisted employees

New Hampshire Employer Support of the Guard and Reserve volunteers presented their 'Statement of Support' to Belknap Landscape of Gilford at the Lakes Region Chamber of Commerce "Meet and Greet" held last Wednesday evening at Fratello's in Lakeport. This event was sponsored by Graham & Graham Certified Public Accountants as one of a series the Lakes Region Chamber organizes to provide an opportunity for local businesses to mix and network. Bruce Thompson, Regional Chair for ESGR, said "These Chamber of Commerce events provide a perfect opportunity to recognize employers who support our military men and women in the Guard and Reserve." Belknap Landscape is just the latest of many Lakes Region businesses which are proud to display the ESGR Statement of Support in their offices and who are willing to provide secure jobs, encouragement and support to their employees in military service to our nation. They also work with ESGR to provide job opportunities for veterans returning from tours of active duty or retiring from military careers. Belknap Landscape's Hayden McLaughlin said "We really strive to give back to the community and supporting ESGR is just a natural fit with that objective." Pictured, left to right, are Ruth and Hayden McLaughlin, owners of Belknap Landscape; Bruce Thompson, Regional Chair of ESGR; Woody Fogg, ESGR volunteer.

arrive can be anywhere from five to seven minutes, Kinney explained. That is why it is so important to call 9-1-1 and start CPR right away should anyone come across a person who has collapsed and is unresponsive.

Ideally, students learned that they should get someone else to call 9-1-1 as they assess the situation. They then need to look around and make sure the scene is safe before doing anything else. Once their safety is established, Kinney told them to then check the victim by asking if they are okay and perhaps tapping their chest to see if the person responds. If not, CPR should then begin right the "straight arm" method of CPR, which delivers 100-120 compressions per minute to get blood circulating once again. As groups then came forward to practice on special mannequins, she played the 1970's hit song "Staying Alive," which ironically helps keep the proper rhythm going.

"It's a song you can sing in your head as you keep up the CPR until the ambulance and first responders arrive," said Kinney.

Eighth grade student Rachel said she found CPR to be somewhat difficult because "it takes your whole body's energy and strength" to perform it properly, but she and her friends were all glad they learned what the residence, and that

Brock said he was not in favor of the idea but would trust voters in Tilton to make the right decision, and his opponents agreed. Objections they brought forth were that two people could determine policies, an innocent meeting of just two selectmen at a local diner could constitute a quorum and therefore allow for legal decisions to be made, and a three-member board would also put an undue burden on members who also have to participate on other boards and commissions.

Besides the Selectmen, there are several other openings this year, but the election for Town Clerk/Tax Collector is being closely watched as the first contested race for the position in many years.

Winnisquam posted a 58-48 victory over the Wildcats at Fall Mountain on Feb. 3. "It's another chance for our seniors to play at home," Dame said.

It will be another chance for those seniors to get a win on their home court after rival Franklin spoiled that on Tuesday. The Golden Tornadoes took a twopoint lead into the final quarter and held on to pull out the victory, avenging a 62-53 loss to Winnisquam earlier in the year. The difference may have come at the freethrow line where the Bears struggled in going four for 13.

TILTON -Tilton School is excited to announce the recent appointment of Vinny Giambrocco as head varsity football coach for the 2017-2018 school vear.

Giambrocco joined Tilton School in August 2015 as assistant head football coach and defensive coordinator. He also teaches English and is the current dean of school life. As head coach he will replace Ken Hollingsworth, who retired in fall 2016 after coaching Tilton School football for 37 years, 35 of those years as head coach. Hollingsworth will continue on at Tilton in his other roles as head varsity baseball coach, student advisor, and special assistant for external relations.

Recognizing the enormous contribution of coach Hollingsworth to the Tilton program, Giambrocco is respectfully excited about stepping into this new role.

"It is incredibly humbling to follow a legend," he said. "Coach Hollingsworth was a pleasure to work alongside over the past two seasons and I will forever hold with me the personal lessons of selflessness and patience we shared.

"I could not be more excited to be part of the Tilton football legacy," Giambrocco added. "Tilton has been a successful, well respected program for decades and I am honored to have been chosen to take the helm."

Looking ahead, Giambrocco said he is eager to see what the Rams can do.

"Our team is full of high character young men and they are prepared to show that our recent success was not a flash in the pan, but that it can be a sustainable outcome in the future," he said. "I see the Tilton program continuing forward, using the momentum of the last two seasons."

The Tilton Rams went from "worst to first" in the two seasons Giambrocco has been with the team, doubling the number of football players at the school and ending with a two-year record of 12-5. The team finished the 2016 season with an Evergreen League Championship and a bowl appearance.

"Coach Giambrocco is going to carry the tradition of Coach H very well," said Pilcher. "His goal is to not only win as many games as we can, but to also get us into the best colleges possible, playing the game we love."

Giambrocco's years as a player on either side of the ball have also helped make him a great coach. "His mind defensively is crazy," Pilcher said of Giambrocco as a defensive coordinator. "And his years of playing line and tight end have helped him teach us his tricks."

Giambrocco is a 2009 graduate of Stonehill College in Easton, Mass., where he contributed on offense, defense and in special teams for the Stonehill Skyhawks. After graduation from Stonehill in 2009, Giambrocco went back to Eaglebrook to teach and coach for four years. From there he spent a year at Cheshire Academy in Cheshire, Conn., where he was the head coach of the junior varsity football team, assistant coach for the varsity team, and head coach of the track and field team.

TILTON — The Tilton boys' varsity hockey team was on the road for its final regular season game of the year, looking to avenge an early season tie against Vermont Academy. Tilton played a good game, but their special teams played a great game, especially the penalty kill, which was four-for-four with two short handed goals in the 5-3 win. Tilton never trailed in the game and they finished the regular season on a high note, winning four straight games to enter the playoff season. With the Pyeongchang 2018 Winter Olympics only one year away, the interest for the sport of curling is at an all-time high and here is your chance to be involved in the coolest sport on ice.

The beauty of curling is that it can be enjoyed by an array of people. There is no running; there is no jumping; there is technique and strategy. Given that the game is played on ice wearing sneakers, balance is paramount. Luckily, this skill can be improved on by simply playing the sport. The most physical aspect of curling comes from furiously sweeping in front of the stone as it glides down the opposite end.

Tilton was on the road for the Lakes Region semifinal against first seeded KUA on Friday. The Rams were a bit tentative in the first period and the hosts dominated play, and scored a goal in the final minutes of the first period to take a 1-0 lead. Tilton roared back in the second period scoring two goals to take a 2-1 lead. KUA was able to score before the end of the second to tie the game. The final period was a roller coaster of emotions. KUA scored quickly into the third period to retake their lead, but the Rams answered with two unanswered goals to reclaim the lead. KUA then matched the Rams and scored two goals to take the lead. With the clock ticking down the Rams pulled the goalie after just two minutes for the 6-5 victory.

Scott Newton had two goals and an assist, Murray had a goal and two assists, Andrew Nadeau had a goal and an assist and Benoit stopped 46 of 51 shots that he saw. (2G, 1A)

The Rams were on the road to play Holderness for the second time in the season. With a fast start, Tilton built an early, comfortable lead. With no lapses in their effort, concentration or execution, Tilton kept Holderness at arm's length on their way to a 79-45 win. Scoring for Tilton were Marcus Zegarowski (23 points), Terrell Brown (14 points), Eric Beckett (14 points), Rob Birstonas (12 points), Ryan Layman (eight points), Drew Butler (six points) and Roby Mudogo (four points).

A talented, disciplined and skilled squad from Proctor came to Tilton to close the regular season on Saturday. For the first 18 minutes, Proctor was the slightly better team as they went to the locker room up 45-42. There was little that separated the Lakes Region and NEPSAC AA foes right until the final horn but the Rams prevailed 88-80. The Laconia-Winnisquam hockey team dropped a 10-1 decision at Kennett last week.

Wolf Pack fall to strong Eagle squad Laconia-Winnisquam plays close game with Hollis-Brookline

BY JOSHUA SPAULDING Sports Editor

CONWAY — The Laconia-Winnisquam hockey team ran into a buzz saw on Monday, Feb. 20, as the Wolf Pack traveled to Conwav's Ham Arena to take on Kennett.

The Eagles used a three-goal outburst in the first two minutes of the second period to turn a 2-0 lead into a 5-0 lead and rolled to the 10-1 win over the Wolf Pack.

The best early chance from L-W came from Josh Shevlin, but the bid was turned away by Kennett's keeper. Kennett got the first goal of the game with 9:34 to go in the first period, beating L-W keeper Derek Derynioski on a rebound for a 1-0 lead.

Shevlin had another bid moments later that went wide and Jaysen Shevlin also had a shot stopped by the Kennett keeper during a power play chance. The Eagles were able to put home a shorthanded tally with 4:38 to go in the first for the 2-0 lead. Josh Shevlin had a couple of bids go wide of the net after the second goal.

Derynioski was able to turn away more Kennett chances and the game went to the first intermission with Kennett up 2-0.

Kennett scored three times in the first two minutes of the second period to open the game up and then added another before the first five minutes were up. The Eagles added a seventh goal with 8:42 to go in the second period.

Josh Shevlin continued to be the offensive force, as he forced the Eagle keeper to make another save. Noah good defensive play on the Eagles.

Laconia-Winnisquam got on the board with 1:39 to go, as they got a power play chance and Devin Miles was able to put the puck past the Eagle keeper on assists from Nick Luther and Javsen Shevlin to make it 7-1.

The Eagles were able to get the final goal of the period with just one second remaining and took the 8-1 lead to the third period.

Kennett had early pressure that Dery-

Wirth also turned in a nioski was able to turn on goals from Miles on away but the Eagles were able to score two goals in the first 5:37 of the period to make it 10-1. Jaysen Shevlin and Connor Johnson had good chances for the Wolf Pack in the final minutes of the game, but they were unable to put another puck in the net and dropped the 10-1 decision to the Eagles.

The Wolf Pack finished its home season at Merrill Fay Arena on Wednesday against Hollis-Brookline. Laconia-Winnisquam took a two goal lead in the first a rebound in front with helpers from Hanna Max and Connor Johnson and Josh Shevlin's wrister from the left circle with the assist from Johnson. Hollis-Brookline scored the next three in a row to take the lead at the end of one. In the second period the Pack was hampered by some avoidable penalties and fell further behind before Miles potted his second tally of the game with an assist from Josh Shevlin. Later in the period Noah Wirth scored on a wrist shot from the slot on the power play off from a feed from Miles. Later in the game, the Pack tried to come back as Josh Shevlin scored again short-handed as he stole the puck at his own defensive line and created space on the break for hard wrist shot high to the far side.

"We were playing a good game early but couldn't hold it together in the second period," said coach Kent Finemore. "Devin Miles has really stepped up his game the last few games, he's been our best forward at times playing with great energy and with three goals and some helpers during that stretch it's showing up on the scoresheet. "Another very solid effort for Josh as well, he really is a solid overall player, among the best defensemen in Division III and shares the lead in scoring for us," Finemore continued. "Noah Smith put in another hard effort as well, doing whatever is asked of him with no complaints. The playmaking and touch passing was better in this game, hoping we can build on it."

As many in the Wolfeboro area might know, in addition to my duties as the sports editor for the newspaper that you are reading, I also do a morning sports report for the radio station in Wolfeboro, WASR. I started doing this a few years ago as a way to promote the local high school sports. It's pretty simple to do, as I write and record the report in the evening, once I've been to a game or a race and then send it to the station and they run it the next day. Because of all the help three years ago, I was a bit apprehensive to ask for help this time around, since I completely understand that I billed it as a once in a lifetime experience when it happened back in 2014. However, I decided it couldn't hurt to set up another account at TD Bank and anyone interested in helping out can do so by stopping at a local TD Bank and donating to the Joshua Spaulding 2018 Olympic Fund.

Again, I understand if people are hesitant to fund my second trip to the Olympics, but no matter what happens, I will be making the trip, one way or another. I 17 points to pace the Winnisquam attack, while Logan Morrison netted 12 points and Thomas Marchese finished with eight.

On Friday, it appeared the Bears were putting it together in a difficult place to play Berlin. Winnisquam _ nearly played its best basketball of the season in building a 20-point lead through three quarters against the Mountaineers, who came in with a 13-4 record.

It got away from the Bears though in the final frame, and the Mountaineers claimed a 50-49 win when a player banked in a three-pointer with less than 10 seconds remaining. Winnisquam could not answer, falling short.

"We defended the ball pretty well for the entire game," Dame said. "We started to turn the ball over for layups we couldn't defend. Offensively, we started to rush our shots."

The Bears featured a balanced attack with Isaiah Singleton leading the charge with 13 points.

Mann followed with 10 points, while Marchese and Blaise Ross had nine apiece. Morrison finished with eight.

And now the Bears turn their focus to the second season, looking to put it all together a strong run, likely starting at home against Fall Mountain.

"We just have to play hard and execute for four quarters," Dame said.

The winner will travel to No. 1 Kearsarge in the second round of the tournament today, Thursday evening.
