BY DONNA RHODES
drhodes@salmonpress.news

TILTON – Tilton’s 150th Anniversary celebration combined with the spirit of Halloween last Saturday through an enjoyable night of Trick or Treat activities for families and ending with a spooky and spirited “invasion” by nearly 150 “zombies” of all ages, shapes and sizes, sponsored by the anniversary committee.

At 4 p.m. on Oct. 26, two blocks of Main Street were shut down for the annual downtown business Trick or Treat event. Stores along Main St. outdid themselves this year with decorations and costumes as they greeted and handed out treats to children who were equally decked out for the holiday as they gave their Halloween-

Pastor Ron felt God calling him to go on the road as an evangelist and share what God has been doing through his healing ministry for the past 28-plus years. He has witnessed many healings, miracles and deliverances. Ron has seen blind eyes opened and deaf ears restored to hearing, as well as the lame leaping and praising God! His TILTON – In celebration of the 150th anniversary of the Town of Tilton, selectmen were pleased to unveil a new state historic road marker at Riverfront Park last week that pays tribute to Charles Tilton and the many contributions he made to the town in the 1800’s.

SANBORNTON – For two weeks in October, 196 students, as well as the staff and faculty of Sanbornton Central School, gathered nonperishable food items as part of their traditional Harvest Hustle donation to the First Fruits Food Pantry on Upper Bay Road in Sanbornton and last Friday they delivered their bounty to representatives of the pantry.

made other remarks on the legacy of Charles Tilton as well. He noted that as a young man, Mr. Tilton left the area to become a supply merchant for gold miners in California. Through his investments, he became quite wealthy however, so when he eventually returned to his hometown, then known as Sanbornton Bridge, he used that wealth to benefit the community.

“He shaped the culture of Tilton through his many gifts of statuary, monuments, buildings and parks that made this community so special,” Scanlon said. “In thanks and honor of these gifts, the citizens voted to rename Sanbornton Bridge to Tilton.”

One hundred and fifty years ago on June 30, 1869, then Governor Oslow Stearns approved the requested separation from Sanbornton and the Town of Tilton was officially incorporated.

The 2019 request for a N.H. State Highway Historical Marker was formulated through Tilton’s 150th Anniversary Committee. Judy Tilton presented the idea to her fellow committee members as something she felt would be a fitting way to celebrate the town’s anniversary.

Crime Junkies Book Group - “Under the Banner of Heaven” by Jon Krakauer- “At the core of this book is an appalling double murder committed by two Mormon fundamentalist brothers, Ron and Dan Lafferty, who insist they received a revelation from God commanding them to kill their blameless victims. Beginning with a meticulously researched account of this “divinely inspired” crime, Krakauer constructs a multilayered, bone-chilling narrative of messianic delusion, savage violence, polygamy, and unyielding faith. Along the way, he uncovers a shadowy offshoot of America’s fastest-growing religion, and raises provocative questions about the nature of religious belief. Krakauer takes readers inside isolated communities in the American West, Canada, and Mexico, where some forty-thousand Mormon fundamentalists believe the mainstream Mormon Church went unforgivably astray when it renounced polygamy. Weaving the story of the Lafferty brothers and their fanatical brethren with a clear-eyed look at Mormonism’s violent past, Krakauer examines the underbelly of the most successful homegrown faith in the United States, and finds a distinctly American brand of religious extremism. The result is vintage Krakauer, an utterly compelling work of nonfiction that illuminates an otherwise confounding realm of human behavior.” (Amazon)

The Bookers - “Little Fires Everywhere” by Celeste Ng - “From the bestselling author of Everything I Never Told You, a riveting novel that traces the intertwined fates of the picture-perfect Richardson family and the enigmatic mother and daughter who upend their lives. In Shaker Heights, a placid, progressive suburb of Cleveland, everything is planned – and no one embodies this spirit more than Elena Richardson. Enter Mia Warren – an enigmatic artist and single mother – who arrives in this idyllic bubble with her teenage daughter Pearl, and rents a house from the Richardsons. When old family friends of the Richardsons attempt to adopt a Chinese-American baby, a custody battle erupts that dramatically divides the town– and puts Mia and Elena on opposing sides. Little Fires Everywhere explores the weight of secrets, the nature of art and identity, and the ferocious pull of motherhood – and the danger of believing that following the rules can avert disaster.”

Elm Grove Realty took home a prize for their creative “Alice in Wonderland” decorations during this year’s downtown Trick or Treat festivities in Tilton on Saturday.

The McCain family’s Candyland Trunk or Treat presentation brought a lot of smiles to young boys and girls in Tilton last Saturday afternoon.

een costumes a “test drive.” Adding to the affair were nearly 20 other Trunk or Treaters. They included residents, businesses and civic groups who brought decorated vehicles to Main Street to become part of the festivities, along with a special hot chocolate and treats tent from the Tilton-Northfield Rotary, sponsor of Trunk or Treat once again this year.

A parade of all the young revelers kicked off the activities as a panel of judges scrutinized each costume that marched along Main St. then handed out pumpkin markers to those they liked the best. Those markers could then be exchanged for gift cards and other prizes from the town.

Businesses were not left out of competition either. Judges also strolled Main Street to determine which business or Trunk-or-Treat entry had the best display, but admitted it was a tough decision since so many had joined in this year’s festivities. In the end, the Winni-Belmont Community Girl Scouts took home the Grand Prize for their “Bus or Treat” decorations while across the street from their parking spot the Elm Grove Realtors’ Alice in Wonderland costumery, decorations and prize wheel for kids to spin, took second place. The FFA organization from Winnisquam Regional School District placed third, Michael Gagne Real Estate came in fourth and the Candyland Trunk or Treat presentation from the McCain family of Tilton took home a prize for their creativity and sweet treats, too.

As sunset approached however, the lively Halloween songs broadcast throughout the daylight hours turned a bit creepy as Tilton Police Chief Bob Cormier, who served as DJ for the night, announced that Zombies were spotted approaching Main Street. To the chilling sounds of howling wolves, screams, moans and creaky doors, more than 100 Zombies then dragged themselves through the town as they headed for Island Park. There they held a party that included dancing to the Michael Jackson classic “Thriller” and refreshments. The top five zombies, as determined by the Tilton 150th Anniversary committee, were awarded with a Tilton anniversary cooler bag along with a zombie makeup kit for next year’s Zombie Walk in Tilton. Just for participating, each registered zombie was also entered in a raffle that included a $100 gift card to Walmart along with many other great prizes.

While there were many sponsors for the town’s first ever Zombie

Walk, major contributors for the event were Franklin Savings Bank and an organization known as OINK. Both were provided VIP seats on the porch of Bryant Hardware where they not only had a great view of the Zombie invasion, but also received a few tokens of gratitude from the 150th Anniversary Committee. Among those were an “official” Zombie Hunting License, a Tilton 150th Anniversary cooler bag and travel mug, a fun booklet on how to survive a Zombie Apocalypse and special Halloween cookies.

As the celebration concluded at Island Park, organizers took time out to express their pleasure in the outcome of the night.

“We want to thank all our sponsors, volunteers and the ‘Undead’ who made this such a success,” said Town Administrator Jeanie Forrester, adding that the town hoped to see everyone again next year.

STRATEGIES FOR LIVING

Peru: The land of my dreams

BY LARRY SCOTT

As the landing gear locked into place and the wing flaps began to extend, the LATAM Airlines’ Boeing 787 on which I was a passenger began its descent for landing at the Jorge Chavez Airport in Lima, Peru. It was Monday, Oct. 14, and thanks to some benevolent friends, I was returning home to the land of my dreams.

The son of missionary parents, it had been sixty-three years since I had lived in Peru and to me, it felt like I was returning home. I was in town for the 100th anniversary of the coming of the Assemblies of God to Peru, initiated in 1919 by a small group of humble, dedicated missionaries. Their impossible dream has become a smashing success.

As I emerged from the airport, I found a different Lima from the one I remembered. Since it never rains in Lima, accumulated dust turns to mud in the winter mist. It seems to cover everything. And narrow, crowded streets, unregulated traffic, and a pot-holed roadway that one must drive around, if not over, threatens the survival of even the fittest. With buses and taxis and private autos pushing and shoving their way through, they create mayhem that must be experienced to be believed.

But no one is complaining, and that includes the remarkable cast of missionaries currently serving in Peru. I was profoundly impressed. The dedication of these men and women, working from such centers as Cusco in the Andean highlands and in Yurimaguas in the Amazon basin, is beyond belief. It augers well for the future of the Gospel in Peru.

The work of the early pioneer missionaries has been amazingly successful but at the cost of great personal sacrifice. While I lived in Peru, we lost Frank Isensee to a trucking accident in the Andean highlands. My father was nearly killed in a similar accident a year later. The Feltons lost a young daughter to typhoid fever. Another family had to return home, the wife in the throes of a nervous breakdown. My parents on one occasion came close to being stoned. Some may glamorize missionary life but serving God overseas is no walk in the park.

But the church prevailed. I was moved by the several thousand gathered at the Municipal Stadium Oct. 18 and 19 to praise God for the transformation He has brought to their lives. The power of the Gospel, and the effectiveness of the men and women who gave their very best on behalf of the people of Peru, was in full display. They accomplished their mission!

The Bible School complex at which we lived in 1947 has moved into downtown Lima and become a nationally recognized University. The little church my father founded in Cusco is now a congregation of some 600 with four services on a Sunday morning. Two churches, founded by the Walter Erickson’s, sent over 350 people to the celebration.

Indeed, dramatic changes have taken place in Peru. Far from the motley group attending our church in Cusco in 1950, the presence of several thousands gathered together in worship in 2019 was an amazing sight. It was a reminder again that the message of the cross is still changing lives. Whether here at home, or in places new to the Gospel message, when Truth has its day in the hearts of men and women, wonderful things happen.

The Tilton Historical Society hosted a walking tour of the Park Street Cemetery graves on Saturday, Oct. 26. It was led by Kim Sowles, who has been studying old gravestones since she was a teenager. Kim has a BA in Art History from Carleton University, Ottawa, Canada and focuses on the iconography of old graves. Her tour featured the interpretation of details carved into stones in the 1800's, such as roses, lilies, ferns, ivy and willows. Other symbols included hands which pointed up to the heavens, telling the viewer that soul made it to their final destination. Canopy beds, pillows and other carvings, communicated that the person was finally at peace and eternal rest. The stone was made completely of zinc, a metal that was popular due to it's affordable cost and ability to be painted to look like it was a more expensive material, like marble. Obelisks dotted the landscape and were visible everywhere. The day was sunny and perfect for the large crowd that gathered and Kim will be conducting more tours next year. The walks are free to the public. The Tilton Historical Society has a Facebook page to join or you could send your email address to TiltonHistoricalSociety@aol.com to be on the mailing list for announcements. They meet in the Charles Tilton Mansion on School Street, Tilton, every second Wednesday of the month and urge anyone who loves history to attend

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

A workshop report to the citizens of Franklin

To the Editor:

The mission of Franklin states that “We will work as a team....” Our city has many elements that provide the services that help us to function. In order to work as a team, we need to know what the different departments do to make our city function The City Manager has scheduled Workshops for each department as a way to inform our residents of the workings of the city. Each department will present an overview of scope and sequence, accomplishments, needs and challenges. These Workshops provide the opportunity for residents of Franklin to learn more about each department, and to ask questions.

On Oct. 15, the Workshop focus was the Police Department.

- Some of the highlights:
- Did you know?
- Every day our police officers prepare for any possible scenario that they may face, including a battle. They do not know what that situation will be. They must be prepared both physically and mentally. They have to be prepared for any scenario including an active shooter situation.
  - There are 800 thousand police officers in the USA. Most police departments are the size of Franklin’s.
  - Even though the officer’s duty day is 8-10 hours, our police are on call 24 hours a day 7 days a week should an emergency arise. They live their lives in a fish bowl. They are constantly under scrutiny.
  - In NH there is a single training program that all candidates (state and local) must complete. The NH law enforcement training is premiere in the USA.
  - When a police officer is involved in a fatal shooting the Attorney General charges the officer with homicide until it is proven it was justifiable or the officer is charged with murder. Regardless the publicity can have an impact on the officer’s family members who may experience false accusations against the officer.
  - The Franklin Police Department dogs save lives, promote good will and are part of the budget.
  - Walmart pays entry level more than our police officers earn per hour.
  - Horrific traffic/domestic scenes make post-traumatic stress common to law enforcement officers which account for the high number of suicides.
  - Franklin PD dispatches for five towns with a communication center that ages out in 2021. It will require and expenditure of $1,000,000 to replace it.
  - Law enforcement is working to extinction. Because Franklin PD is under staffed, Franklin pays more over-time than many other communities. But fatigue puts all in danger. Addiction destroys lives.
  - Franklin PD alone processes 20,000 calls for service yearly. Anything from a barking dog to a murder. In 2018, there were 1,010 offence crimes (serious crimes) 640 arrests in Franklin alone.
- A Franklin Police Officer processes more calls than a Manchester Police Officer.

- Some National statistics:
- Every 53-54 hours a law enforcement officer on duty dies.
  - Every 53 hours law enforcement officer commits suicide.
  - Over 50,000 assaults on law enforcement.
  - 10 percent leave the job due to injuries.
  - First responders (police, fire and EMS) suffer higher rates of Post-Traumatic Stress.
- Included in this status report are areas that will need to be addressed to continue to receive the excellent police support in Franklin.
- Equipment Infrastructure
- Franklin is the central dispatcher for 5 other communities. Those communities pay for the service. However, the communications center will definitely be inoperable by 2021, saving any unforeseen crash of the system. There are no more parts available and hence the parts are scavenged from the “grave yard”. The cost to replace the Communications Center equipment is approximately $1 million over the next year.

- Staffing:
- The current staffing is short 3 positions. That equals one shift. While there are prospects to fill these positions there may be delays while these potential officers meet training and certification requirements.
  - The School Resource Officer is on call for the school as the assigned officer is filling in for the operational shortage.

To operate at full capacity, the department needs a minimum over and above current staffing:

- Additional 3 patrol officers
- Another Lieutenant
- Another Sargent
- Another Detective
- Another dispatcher
- An Animal Control Officer

The next Workshop will address the current status and future needs of the Municipal Services Department. The MSD oversees the compliance with local, state and federal laws when it comes to our water, roads, buildings, grounds, transfer station and equipment.

This Workshop: deemed “TRASH TALK” will be at the Betsy Rowell Community Center, 6 PM on November 19.

We need your input, so plan to come, be informed and be an active team member to make Franklin great again.

If at any time you would like to contact me, I can be reached at karen@sanbornhall.net or at (603) 934-7111.

There is no “right” of trespass, but there is a delicate tradition

By JOHN HARRIGAN
COLUMNIST

Under our laws and in our culture, hunting is not a right, but a privilege—as opposed to First Nations cultures in the Far North, where hunting is without doubt a right.

There is such a difference in the two scenarios, and we haven’t even touched on the most delicate part of all here in New Hampshire and so much in the rest of New England, which is access to the land.

I have a remote, hike-in camp, and a partner in the venture. We have been together for so long that conversation is often unnecessary, especially with chores at hand. Going in and opening up camp is like that. So is breaking camp, a sad thing scarcely mentioned.

We do talk, however, and some of our best conversations come when we’re poking around in the truck. This happened the other day, when we concluded that the presumed privilege of trespass was about as hard for a neophyte to understand as the notion of hunting itself.

In northern New Hampshire, posting against trespass is unusual to the point of public comment, and the tradition of open land is jealously guarded.

In a delicate balancing act that goes all the way back to the first European landings, New England’s approach to land ownership has included a caveat that others are welcome on your land unless you specifically say no.

This is the ballyhooed “privilege of trespass” we inevitably get down to talking and writing about. And it is about as flimsy as a piece of burnt paper floating on the wind.

To new owners of land unaware of tradition and law, the notion of presumed privilege of trespass is anathema. It goes completely against the grain of the oft-cited “My piece of God’s Country.” It is as un-American as blackbird pie.

I used to think (and sometimes, I’m humbled to admit, write) that our attitude about other people crossing or recreating on or somehow using our land—picking berries, for instance, or fishing, or gathering wild apples or honey—came from the Mayflower Compact.

I’d heard, and even read, that while the people on the Mayflower were riding at anchor off Cape Cod, contemplating a landing, they decided that in the New World things would not be like the Old. In their former homes, the common people had to keep to the common path. The paths themselves, across land owned by nobles and gentry, constituted a jealously guarded right of passage that enabled everyday people to get from point A to point B.

If the nobility happened by, the common folk—that would be you and me, I’d surmise—were supposed to step aside, doff their caps, and tug their forelocks as a sign of fealty. Imagine! What a scene!

Well, not in the New World, nosiree bub. No stepping aside and tugging of forelocks here, no way José.

Then, a few years ago, I got around to seeking out the Mayflower Compact and actually reading it. There was no mention of the entire access to land topic. Not even a noble or ignoble murmur.

But then there were the Indians, which we are supposed to call First Nations people these days, although I still prefer the larger tribal names, which feedback says they do too. So here, where the sun comes up, it’s what the first people were always called and called themselves, which was (and is) Abenaki, or variations of same—wobanaki, wobonocki, and so on, all iterations meaning, one way or another, people of the Dawn Land.

As we all should understand by now, it having been drummed into us for generations, the original people here had no understanding of private ownership of land. Such a thing was unfathomable. The land was like the air and the wind and the water, and the wild creatures on and within—and not even owned in common, because indeed no one person or people in general could even be conceived, envisioned, considered, as “owning” it. It was part of all things bestowed by the Great Creator. You were just passing through, and, incidentally, by way of reminder, you owed some respect on the way by.

Indians, traveling afar to trade—and they sure did, to the Mississippi Valley and beyond—used other tribes’ and nations’ lands on their way to and fro. Back home, they hunted and fished and gathered nuts, roots and berries wherever their wanderings and preferences took them. They were, with great confidence, on common ground.

To the settlers, their tight little villages were often places to escape, to the land of the wild and free. Even as settlers and speculators bought up and surveyed vast tracts of land, others crossed and used the land to fight Indians, and to hunt, trap, explore, and scout new sites for water power, tillable land, and new settlements. In the brains of the day, any notion of “trespass” was little more than the size of a pea.

Eventually, when the common laws were written to govern the warp and woof of life in the New World, the architects stuck to their English-Scotch-Irish common laws of old, but flipped things upside down when it came to the topic of trespass. In most of the colonies, land not settled was considered open for all.

Things have certainly changed. In upstate New York, vast tracts of woodlands are managed by hunting and fishing clubs and open only to members. In major parts of southern New England, trespass is by permission only. In New Hampshire, a landowner must post land where trespassers are not wanted or must have permission. And much of southern New Hampshire is just that—posted.

The saving grace is that New Hampshire has a great deal of public land, open to all non-motorized use. But it’s also a fact that the posting of land is a reality—one that’s creeping steadily north.

I’m not recovered enough from foot and hip problems to hunt into camp, as I once did with Brad Brooks and Donald Dickson, both now passed on, but I can hunt a favorite strip of mixed woods, interspersed with apple trees, just across the road from my house. I’m won’t be after deer, but partridges, a.k.a. grouse. They’re a lot easier to drag.

My route takes me across ancestral lands but also the lands of others, neighbors that are more like family than neighbors. Along my route, which I will sneak-hunt with all the quiet I can muster, I’ll collect a wild apple or two, in case I get a bird or two, for the dressing.

I’m most likely to encounter my neighbors in, of all places, not woods or field but the grocery store, and when I do, I’ll mouth the word always understated, “Thanks.”

BY MARK PATTERSON

Couple of weeks back, I was speaking about little-known fees inside mutual funds. This cash left inside of mutual funds is not for tactical purposes but for mutual fund outflows. This cash creates “cash drag” that adds to the overall expense of mutual funds. As an advisor who manages money and would never use an expensive broker sold fund, I do often have cash in my client’s accounts. The key difference is that, this is not cash left aside for outflows, but it is or can be used for tactical and profit to my client, purposes.

I was recently at a conference for money managers where one of the presenters spoke of his advisory that primarily sells option premium. Selling option premium is something that I do inside my client’s accounts where appropriate, and this is a tactic within a strategy that gains revenue for the account, because I’m selling premium and collecting money. The other reason that I do it is to build positions of stocks or ETF’s using this option strategy to improve the price for my client. But getting back to the advisor whose objective is to sell options premium. He stated that through much of the year he is in cash, typically in times of low volatility the premium available when selling an option contract is low, so this advisor waits for volatility to rise to maximize the premium that is collected on behalf of his clients. So, you could see that the cash in the client accounts is not just sitting there unproductive, but if used sporadically and tactically, returns can be very good, double digits in his case (YTD). Another tactical use for the cash in your account may be simply waiting for certain situations within the markets to become available.

MARK ON THE MARKETS

Cash is a position

As I’ve stated in the past, a well-constructed portfolio according to modern portfolio theory will have low- correlated asset classes which typically do not all do well or poorly at the same time. Over time you will enhance the yield and mitigate the risk with this method. Studies have also shown that the average investor will buy near the top and sell near the bottom. Having cash in the account allows us to scale into asset classes that are undervalued and scale out or rebalance those asset classes where we are over invested.

A well-constructed portfolio is likely to not see the gains that a portfolio of stocks would have in a bull market for stocks, but it will also not have the losses of a bear market it stocks. The objective is to move ahead and be able to quantify the gains and losses using statistical analysis and a standard deviation from the mean, a.k.a. average.

Your portfolio should reflect goals, objectives and risk tolerance that pertains to you. It is my opinion you cannot just buy a family of mutual funds and achieve a well-diversified portfolio of investments that return maximum performance/ mitigate risk and have low fees. Active management is just that, active!

Horseback riding and horsemanship serve as a unique and effective form of therapy for Spaulding children and youth facing behavioral, emotional and physical challenges. Children create an emotional bond with the horses and participating in this activity encourages them to build social skills and confidence in a positive atmosphere.

“Spaulding is thrilled to receive this grant and community award from Franklin Savings Bank,” said Susan C. Ryan. “The funds directly support our participation in the Healing with Horses program, which gives our students the chance to participate in a fun activity while creating positive therapeutic outcomes. #### Sustainable Investing Can Pay Off – in Several Ways

Today, more and more people want their investment dollars to do some good in the world. Should you, too, consider sustainable investing? And if you do, must you accept weaker returns from your investments?

To answer these questions, you may want to have some background on sustainable investing. Sustainable investing is generally understood to include any investment process that uses environmental, social, and governance (ESG) criteria to evaluate investment merit or to assess the societal or environmental impact of investments. Below are four ways to differentiate sustainable investing funds.

ESG Aware – ESG criteria is one of many factors considered when selecting the individual stocks and bonds that make up a fund’s portfolio. In these strategies, investments that are poor performers on ESG criteria may still make it into the portfolio if other criteria, such as profitability or growth prospects, outweigh the risks associated with the poor ESG scores.

ESG Integration – These funds fully integrate ESG criteria into the investment selection process, favoring companies that are addressing the sustainability challenges facing their businesses and industries and/or avoiding companies that are not. There are many ways ESG integration can be implemented, from investing only in ESG best-in-class companies to companies that are making the greatest improvements in their ESG profiles.

Impact Investing – As the name suggests, impact funds are those that seek to deliver societal or environmental impact as a primary objective alongside financial return. So, for example, an impact fund may focus on investing in companies making measurable progress in key areas of impact, such as those outlined by the UN’s Sustainable Development Goals, which include clean water or reduced inequality.

Thematic Investing – Strategies in this category invest in companies involved in green industries, such as water, renewable energy and environmental services. These funds are more niche because of the thematic focus and typically have narrowly defined investment guidelines, which can reduce diversification and may not fit neatly into a traditional asset allocation framework.

Given the above categories, you can probably find many investment options that align with your own values and interests. But what about the performance? Should you be prepared to accept lower returns in exchange for exercising your preference?

Studies have shown that sustainable investments can perform just as well as their peers in the general investment arena. Of course, each investment is different, and when you invest, you can expect that prices will fluctuate, and you could lose some of the value of your investment. But this is true of all investments, regardless of whether they are considered sustainable.

Furthermore, you don’t have to operate in the dark about how well sustainable investments are doing, as several indexes track the performance of securities considered by the index provider to be sustainable. A financial professional can help you evaluate these types of investments to determine which ones might be suitable for your needs.

“I just think Tilton is a wonderful town and we should show off some of our rich history to others at every opportunity we can,” she said. “This is one way to do that.”

Town Administrator Jeanie Forrester contacted the state about placing a marker in downtown Tilton then worked with Selectman Katherine Dawson and Town Clerk/Tax Collector Cindy Reinartz on the wording that now appears on the sign.

“The two of them have a wealth of knowledge and resources on the history of the town so, working with the state, we came up with how we wanted the sign to read,” said Forrester.

On hand for the unveiling last week was Tilton native Michael A. Bruno who has a long-standing interest in the history of the Granite State. As a young man he spotted some of the historical markers in his travels and found them to be both interesting and informative. He then began cruising the state on his motorcycle to find as many of them as he could. Bruno left to serve in the military, but 30 years later his interest in the road markers was still with him. He found a web site that gave general directions to each of the state’s historical markers and set out once again to find them.

“The directions weren’t always the best so I took notes when I visited each one then decided to write a book that gives a description, directions, and even the GPS coordinates for all of them,” said Bruno.

Published in May of 2018, his book, “Cruising New Hampshire History,” categorizes the markers by region and can be found in local libraries and bookstores as well as online at Amazon.com. More than just a set of directions, the book is a comprehensive guide that also contains additional information on each historic location.

Bruno likened his search for the markers to geo-caching adventures or scavenger hunts. The journey to find them, he noted, can be as interesting as the history found on each marker. Best of all, it’s an ongoing adventure that can be enjoyed by children and adults of all ages at any time of the year.

The N.H. Highway Historical Markers program was established in 1955 and the first four markers were erected in 1958. Bruno pointed out that Tilton’s newest marker (there is another in the Lochmere District) now brings the total to 262 historic highway markers dotting the state. They range from the Seacoast and southern border west to the Vermont and north to Canada. The region with the most markers, he said, is the Seacoast area where there are currently 39 historic roadside markers, many of them acknowledging historic events that date back as far as the 1600s. While each marker contains brief highlights about events, people or places, their mission is to not only educate but also inspire people to want to know more.

“For instance, we hope that what you read on this marker here now in Tilton is enough to make you interested in learning more about Charles E. Tilton’s story,” Bruno said.

Editor’s note: Coincidentally, Salmon Press became interested in these historic markers this summer and has visited the 14 of them located in the Winnisquam Echo, Newfound Landing and Plymouth Record Enterprise coverage areas. Throughout the winter months, we will be featuring them one at a time in the hope that they will inspire others to seek these markers out and simultaneously enjoy the history and beauty of central New Hampshire as much as we did.

life has been a testimony of the on-going miraculous and powerful works of God. He believes that his sharing what he has seen and experienced with God for almost thirty years will spark new fire within our churches and especially the youth.

Ron talked about one of the most profound healing experiences that changed his life forever.

“It occurred in Mongolia where we were having a tent revival meeting, when they brought in a nine year old boy named Octenbeyer, who was born blind,” he recalled. “I was shocked that God would give me such an opportunity to pray for this boy. I prayed, ‘Father, in the name of Jesus, glorify Yourself and open his eyes.’ The interpreter asked him if he could see and she fell to her knees crying, as she said, ‘He can see!’ I tested him one eye at a time by having him point to my hand as I waived it in front of him. He pointed correctly each time and then laughed and ran out of the tent by himself. I fell to my knees crying for the wonderful miracle I had just witnessed. God continued that night to heal five more blind people and several deaf people during the next six hours of prayer. God’s love is the key to all the healings and miracles – I have never been the same after witnessing those events.”

Praise Assembly of God invites the public to join Ron and his wife at the services at the church. He will be speaking at the Sunday morning service on Nov. 3 at 10 a.m., and also that evening at 6:30 p.m. He will be ministering on Monday, Nov. 4 at 6:30 p.m., Tuesday, Nov. 5 at 6:30 p.m. and on Wednesday, Nov. 6 at 6:30 p.m. Invite friends and family to come and experience the mighty presence of God and His healing power.

Jade loves the house she’s just moved into with her family. She doesn’t even mind being the new girl at the high school: It’s a fresh start, and there’s that one guy with the dreamy blue eyes. . . .But then things begin happening. Strange, otherworldly things. Soon, Jade must face an impossible fact: that her perfect house . . . is haunted. Haunted by a ghost who’s seeking not just vengeance, but the truth. The ghost of a girl who ruled Jade’s school -- until her untimely death last year. It’s up to Jade to put the pieces together before her own life is at stake. As Jade investigates the mystery, she discovers that her new friends in town have more than a few deep, dark secrets. But is one of them a murderer?” (Amazon)

Community Action Program receives $10,000 from Franklin Savings Bank

FRANKLIN — The Community Action Program of Belknap-Merrimack Counties, Inc., was recently presented with a $10,000 donation from Franklin Savings Bank to support renovations to newly acquired space for its Laconia Adult Community Center. Located at 532 Main St. in downtown Laconia, the space will be outfitted with a commercial kitchen and large community room. The total cost for the project is estimated at $365,000 and will include renovations to the building as well as new furniture and kitchen equipment.

“We are pleased to support the Community Action Program of Belknap and Merrimack counties with this important project to support their acquisition of a new facility, which will enable them to more adequately serve families and individuals who utilize and rely on their services,” commented Ron Magoon, President & CEO. “For over 50 years, they have assisted low-income families and the elderly to help them become financially and socially independent in their communities. We applaud them for their efforts and wish them all the best with their fundraising campaign.”

where Robert Presby and Dave McKay of First Fruits were waiting. One by one, the children dropped canned, boxed and bagged goods into the donation boxes and were thanked by the men for making a difference in the lives and wellbeing of their friends and neighbors.

Harvest Hustle has been a part of the SCS community for several years now and Principal Kathy Pope is glad it has made a difference to not just recipients of food from the pantry, but in the children who help donate each year.

Presby and McKay transported all the food provided by the school back to the pantry and carefully weighed it all. Presby was pleased to report that this year the school contributed 686 lbs. of nonperishable foods and $48 in cash, which will be used to purchase other items the pantry needs to serve their clientele.

Presby said this was the second donation they received from Winnisquam School District this month. Earlier, the high school football team hosted the “Tackling Hunger” food drive at a recent football game and presented the pantry with cash and another 361 lbs. of food in their one-day event.

“The pantry’s looking pretty good right now but we could always use more donations,” said Presby.

Currently he said they assist about 50 people who are food insecure but with the holidays and winter coming that number could soon rise. If anyone would like to help support the pantry they may do so by mailing a check in any amount to First Fruits Food Pantry, 322 Upper Bay Rd., Sanbornton, N.H. 03269. Those with questions or who would like to arrange for a food drop-off, please call the Mountain View Church office at 524-5996 and leave a message.

First Fruits Pantry is open to Sanbornton residents from 4-6 p.m. on the first Wednesday of each month, then again on the third Wed. of the month when residents of other local communities are welcomed as well.

Laconia Public Library team takes top honors at LRSF Spelling Bee

LACONIA — After a marathon battle lasting more than three hours, the Laconia Public Library spelling team took first place honors in the 2019 Lakes Region Scholarship Foundation Annual Spelling Bee held Thursday evening, Oct. 26 at the Laconia High School Auditorium. The team, consisting of Randy Brough, Caleb Kneuer and Natalie Moser, took the title when they were able to correctly spell the word “prospicience” in a sudden death finale in the 10th round. Second place honors went to Ruth Gill, Bob Hunt and Jean Clarke, “The Followers of the Word,” from the Congregational Church of Laconia, who were in a dead heat with the Laconia Public Library team in the final two rounds of the competition.

This is the third time the Laconia Public Library has won first place in the Community Spelling Bee. The team also took first place in 2014 and 2016. The Laconia Library has fielded a team in the LRSF Spelling Bee since its inception in 2000 and, each year, the team has been sponsored by Bob Merwin, State Farm Insurance. Mr. Merwin is a former trustee of the Scholarship Foundation and one of the organizers of the first bee in 2000.

LRSF Board President, Donna Hennessey said that “This year, 24 teams vied for the coveted ‘Bee Trophy’ including teams from local businesses and professional groups, civic organizations, administrators and staff teams from Laconia and Gilford schools and student teams from Laconia, Gilford and Belmont High School as well as Holy Trinity School in Laconia. There was even a family team, ‘The Beetles,’ consisting of two middle school students and a high school freshman, all members of the Mousseau family.”

Hennessey added that

“Pat Kelly, from 107.7, the Pulse kept the evening flowing as the emcee with Rick Crockford, LHS Humanities Chair serving as the pronouncer for the evening. Pamela Hayes and Kathy Gilman served as judges, listening to the spellers as they spelled the words and determining if the words were spelled correctly.”

In addition to the prizes awarded for the best spellers, there is a costume contest held each year with separate categories for students and adults. Each of the teams were invited to the stage individually the first round so that they could pose for the costume contest. There was quite a variety of costumes with a number of the teams featuring insects in their team names. There were the Buzy Bees and the Bee Keepers, the Beetles and the Book Worms. There were Cross Word spellers, Snakes, citizens of Oz, angels, Wonder Women and even some blind mice.

Paulette Loughlin, LRSF Executive Director, commented that “All of the team members help to make the evening fun and we are so pleased each year to see the effort that goes into choosing team names and into the costume choices. We had an interesting addition this year. The Westcott Law Wonder Women, who were new to the Bee this year, not only came in costume, but brought their own special cheering section with them...complete with costumes!”

The winners of the costume contest in the adult category was the Bounty Hunters team from Gilford High School led by their principal, Anthony Sperazzo with two staff members-Jessica Bishop and Louise Jagusch. Second and third place went to the Laconia City Hall team: the Civil Servants of Oz and the LHS staff team, the Buzy Bees. For the young people, first place went to: the Holy Trinity Team “Rock, Paper, Scissors” consisting of Samantha Armstrong, Emily Hansen and Ashley Holland with second and third place going to the Mousseau family Beetles and the Naturally Heavenly Spellers from the LHS National Honor Society.

The Community Spelling Bee is the major fundraiser for the scholarship foundation’s “Friends of the Foundation” operating fund. This year, the spelling bee raised over $14,000 through the generosity of local donors who have purchased ads in our programs, sponsored teams and donated prizes for our door prize awards between each round. The Foundation reported that this year they had over $1,700 in donated prizes to be awarded throughout the evening. Karen Switzer, Assistant Director of the foundation said “these funds help us to cover our operating costs. The Foundation, which started in 1956 with just a handful of donors and scholarship awards totaling just over $2,600 to 17 students has grown significantly. This past year, we were able to award over $400,000 to close to 300 students. With this growth, our operational costs have also grown. We are now a clearinghouse for over 250 scholarship awards of varying amounts and the management of the awards, applications, donor contacts, etc. is a demanding year-round job-but a labor of love for our very small staff. We are grateful to all of the donors, teams and other members of the community, and our b

Crime Junkies Book Group - “Under the Banner of Heaven” by Jon Krakauer- “At the core of this book is an appalling double murder committed by two Mormon fundamentalist brothers, Ron and Dan Lafferty, who insist they received a revelation from God commanding them to kill their blameless victims. Beginning with a meticulously researched account of this “divinely inspired” crime, Krakauer constructs a multilayered, bone-chilling narrative of messianic delusion, savage violence, polygamy, and unyielding faith. Along the way, he uncovers a shadowy offshoot of America’s fastest-growing religion, and raises provocative questions about the nature of religious belief. Krakauer takes readers inside isolated communities in the American West, Canada, and Mexico, where some forty-thousand Mormon fundamentalists believe the mainstream Mormon Church went unforgivably astray when it renounced polygamy. Weaving the story of the Lafferty brothers and their fanatical brethren with a clear-eyed look at Mormonism’s violent past, Krakauer examines the underbelly of the most successful homegrown faith in the United States, and finds a distinctly American brand of religious extremism. The result is vintage Krakauer, an utterly compelling work of nonfiction that illuminates an otherwise confounding realm of human behavior.” (Amazon)

Monday the 18th at 6 p.m.
The Bookers - “Little Fires Everywhere” by Celeste Ng - “From the bestselling author of Everything I Never Told You, a riveting novel that traces the intertwined fates of the picture-perfect Richardson family and the enigmatic mother and daughter who upend their lives. In Shaker Heights, a placid, progressive suburb of Cleveland, everything is planned – and no one embodies this spirit more than Elena Richardson. Enter Mia Warren – an enigmatic artist and single mother – who arrives in this idyllic bubble with her teenage daughter Pearl, and rents a house from the Richardsons. When old family friends of the Richardsons attempt to adopt a Chinese-American baby, a custody battle erupts that dramatically divides the town– and puts Mia and Elena on opposing sides. Little Fires Everywhere explores the weight of secrets, the nature of art and identity, and the ferocious pull of motherhood – and the danger of believing that following the rules can avert disaster.”

where Robert Presby and Dave McKay of First Fruits were waiting. One by one, the children dropped canned, boxed and bagged goods into the donation boxes and were thanked by the men for making a difference in the lives and wellbeing of their friends and neighbors.

Harvest Hustle has been a part of the SCS community for several years now and Principal Kathy Pope is glad it has made a difference to not just recipients of food from the pantry,

but in the children who help donate each year.

Presby and McKay transported all the food provided by the school back to the pantry and carefully weighed it all. Presby was pleased to report that this year the school contributed 686 lbs. of nonperishable foods and $48 in cash, which will be used to purchase other items the pantry needs to serve their clientele.

Presby said this was the second donation they received from Winnisquam School District this month. Earlier, the high school football team hosted the “Tackling Hunger” food drive at a recent football game and presented the pantry with cash and another 361 lbs. of food in their one-day event.

“The pantry’s looking pretty good right now but we could always use more donations,” said Presby.

Currently he said they assist about 50 people who are food insecure but with the holidays and winter coming that number could soon rise. If anyone would like to help support the pantry they may do so by mailing a check in any amount to First Fruits Food Pantry, 322 Upper Bay Rd., Sanbornton, N.H. 03269. Those with questions or who would like to arrange for a food drop-off, please call the Mountain View Church office at 524-5996 and leave a message.

First Fruits Pantry is open to Sanbornton residents from 4-6 p.m. on the first Wednesday of each month, then again on the third Wed. of the month when residents of other local communities are welcomed as well.

FRANKLIN - The Winnisquam football team got things done once again with a 48-6 win over the Franklin Golden Tornadoes to finish the regular season undefeated for the second straight year. Next step: defending the state title in the upcoming Division 4

state tournament.

In a rivalry game where anything can happen, it was all Bears from start to finish. Winnisquam had a 41-0 lead at halftime. It was a great day running the ball for the Bears. Andre Cormier had a pair of touchdowns and Brady

Palmer and Nolan Perrino scored as well.

"All three of them ran the ball real good," said coach Derek Hunt. "The linemen opened some good holes."

Quarterback Phil Nichols also had a rushing touchdown.

Nichols also had two touchdown passes, with one to Cooper French and another to Gunnar Horman. Horman also scored on a kick return.

Defensively, Mike Mitchell, Duncan Goselin, Kyler Boudreau,

Quintin McDaniels and Palmer all played well and were commended by Hunt. He was happy with the way the team played overall in the big win heading into the post-season.

“Very good game all around,” said Hunt. “We came out fast and played solid football in all phases.”

On Saturday, Nov. 9, the Bears will host the semifinal playoff game against a team to be determined. Kickoff is at 1 p.m.

the season strong*

BY BOB MARTIN

TILTON – It wasn't always easy this season for the Winnisquam Bears soccer team, but last week the team finished the regular season with a pair of shut-out wins.

On Oct. 22, the Newfound Bears came to town for the “Bears Cup” and Winnisquam won 8-0. The Bears Cup is in honor of long-time Winnisquam coach and faculty member Amy Dutton, who died of cancer in 2015.

Winnisquam was all over the field with a 26-2 shot ratio, and goalkeepers Jacob Holt and Aiden Donahue combined for the shutout. Ayden Cushing led the scoring with four goals while Aiden Phelps had two goals. Zach Braun and Noel Licata rounded out the scoring. Newfound goalie McGowan Willey was solid in net despite the score, posting 18 saves.

On Oct. 25, the Bears hosted Franklin and won 5-0. Senior Ilijana Markelic scored in the first half to put the Bears on the board. It was tight throughout the first half, but Winnisquam continued to put shots on goal. Franklin goalie Drew Croteau saved 18 shots.

Winnisquam managed to get the ball past Croteau four times in the second half with goals by senior Eric Young, junior Zac Braun and sophomore Patrick Goodwin. Jacob Holt, Aiden Donahue and Kyle Cloutier combined in goal for the shutout win.

Volleyball Raiders win one in final week

BY BOB MARTIN
Bob@Salmonpress.news

BELMONT – The Belmont volleyball team wrapped up its regular season last week with a win over Nute, but a pair of losses to Winnisquam and Epping.

Belmont faced Winnisquam on Oct. 21 and took the first set in an exciting game that had the Red Raiders sneaking by with a 31-29 victory. Belmont came out on fire and built a 23-13 lead in game one. The Winnisquam Bears tied the game 23-23 with strong serving by Nicole Reusch with three aces, as well as seven kills by Emma Richardson. The teams traded off point but Belmont finished things off for the win.

Winnisquam won the next three games and won by scores of 25-15, 25-12 and 25-14.

“The first game was, for Belmont, the highlight of our season,” said coach Polly Camire. “The Lady Raiders played nearly flawlessly and with a not-yet-seen intensity and took the first match in a grueling and mentally demanding game that ended with a 31-29 victory. The Bears came back firing, however, in games 2-4 and BHS just couldn’t keep up with their attack.”

Juniors Kat Davies and Alyzabeth O’Connell led the team with six kills, followed by senior Haley McGlynn with four kills. Davies also had three blocks in key moments that helped keep the Red Raiders in the game. Senior libero Haley Treameer was 13/13 serving and did very well passing, in what Coach Camire said was her best game of the season. Senior setter Becca Camire had 19 assists. Senior Bryhannah Pinard and juniors Isabella McDonald and Mikaylah Stewart also played well for Belmont.

On Oct. 23, Belmont beat Nute in three sets by scores of 25-13, 25-16 and 25-15. McGlynn had seven kills with juniors O’Connell and Davies posting seven kills and six kills respectively. Treameer was 13/13 from the service line, while Camire was 13/14 and Pinard was 19/22. Camire ended with 33 assists.

“Coming into this game we had a similar record to Nute, beating some of the same teams, so we were looking for a good match-up,” said coach Camire. “It was a great win for us, as our floor play clearly dominated the court. Also being our senior night, we had tremendous leadership from all four seniors on the court. This team has improved so much since the beginning of the season, and this game demonstrated that we are better than our record indicates.”

On Oct. 25, the Red Raiders hit the road to face Epping and lost three sets to an impressive Blue Devil squad. Scores were 25-13, 25-13 and 25-5.

“While our defense was very good in this game, we just couldn’t put the ball to their floor,” said coach Camire. “BHS garnered just six kills for the night. BHS also served an impressive 97 percent as a team, but it wasn’t enough. Epping played an outstanding game and their hitters were unstoppable. They will be tough to beat in the playoffs.”

Belmont earned the 14th seed in the Division III tournament and kicked off postseason play after deadline Wednesday against the aforementioned Epping.

by Nicole Reusch with three aces, as well as seven kills by Emma Richardson. The teams traded off point but Belmont finished things off for the win.

Winnisquam woke up in the next three games and won by scores of 25-15, 25-12 and 25-14.

“In games two, three and four Winnisquam picked up their level of play and was able to build early leads and maintain them,” said Winnisquam coach Mike Livernois. “Emma Richardson played her best match of the season, leading the team in both digs and kills. Nicole Reusch had her best serving and defensive performance of the season. The entire team really worked hard to overcome the loss of the 1st game.”

Richardson was all over the floor with 16 kills and 19 digs to lead the offense and defense. Gabby Isabelle had 13 kills and 17 digs in the win. Setter Chloe Colarusso was very good with 35 assists and 11 digs.

Chloe Colarusso sets the ball for the Bears against Moultonborough.

Hanna Honeman gets ready to serve for the Bears.

Olivia Dill had 16 digs. Emily O’Neil put together an great all-around performance with nine kills, 11 digs and five aces. Leigha Brown had 11 digs; Reusch had five digs and four aces; and Hanna Honeman had five digs, three blocks and two aces.

In the final game of the regular season for Winnisquam, the Moultonborough Academy Panthers came to town and the Bears took a 3-0 win by scores of 25-12, 25-18 and 25-23.

The first set started close with an 8-8 tie but Winnisquam took over with a seven-point run led by Richardson’s serving, which included two aces. The second set saw Winnisquam build a 17-11 lead but Moultonborough battled to make it 17-16. Colarusso had a strong serving run to help the Bears cruise to the 25-18 win. The third set had the Panthers jumping out to a 7-1 lead and then a 17-10 lead and appeared to be controlling the game. The Bears battled back and managed to pull away with a close 25-23 win.

It was a huge night for Isabelle, who had 11 kills and 10 digs. During the second set she recorded her 500th dig, which made her only the second player every at Winnisquam to post 500 kills and 500 digs in her career.

Other key contributors were Honeman with seven kills, three blocks and two digs; Colarusso with 23 assists and seven digs; and Richardson with five kills and five digs.

“Nice win on senior night,” Livernois said. “Glad to see Gabby get her 500th career dig before the tournament.”

The Bears earned the second seed in the tournament and a first-round bye. They will host either Campbell or Sunapee on Friday, Nov. 1

Here's How It Works:
Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Raider soccer squads both earn fourth seeds

BY BOB MARTIN
Bob@Salmonpress.news

BELMONT – The Belmont boys' soccer team finished off the regular season last week with two overtime games that resulted in a win and a loss for the Red Raiders.

On Oct. 22, Belmont took on Prospect Mountain and came away with 3-2 win in overtime. Nate Sottak got the Red Raiders on the board first with a goal on a penalty kick at the 14th minute. However, Prospect Mountain would knock in a penalty kick of its own at the 36th minute to tie it up 1-1.

Prospect Mountain took the lead at the 52nd minute but the Red Raiders answered at the 68th minute on a goal by Lucas Mathieu. Sottak was credited with an assist. The Red Raiders had a chance to break the 2-2 tie toward the end of regulation but Prospect Mountain's goalkeeper made a huge save to keep it knotted up going into the extra frame. In overtime, Lars Major knocked one home from 35 yards out with an assist by Sottak.

On Oct. 25, Belmont lost a heartbreaker to St. Thomas Aquinas by a score of 1-0 in what was the team's fourth overtime game in five games.

"St. Thomas would find the back of the net with about three minutes left," said coach Mike Foley. "Very tough field conditions as Belmont tried to find ways to score. We missed a PK because our player slipped as he took it."

The Red Raider started the state tournament at home on Wednesday with the game coming after deadline.

The girls' soccer team finished off the regular season strong with a 7-0 victory over Belmont on Oct. 25. This was the fourth straight win for the Red Raiders and the ninth win in 10 games.

Brooklyn Erlick had her first varsity goal in the win. Posting a hat trick was Sierra Bourque, while Rebecca Fleming had two goals and Molly Sottak scored one goal.

"Nice team win on senior day," said coach Mark Dawalga. "Our two seniors led the way on defense today- captain Sana Syed

CANAAN – The Bears headed to Mascoma Valley High School for the first round of the Division 3 field hockey tournament and the 12th-ranked Winnisquam squad had a tough time with a talented Mascoma squad and lost 6-2.

Scoring for the Bears was Kaitlyn Carey, who was assisted on the play by Emma Griffin. Senior Hannah Max scored as well, with an assist credited to Meghan Cote.

Mascoma Valley went on to compete against Hopkinton in the semifinals with results coming after deadline. This was the first season at helm for coach Samantha Maand captain Katie Gagnon. I am really proud of this team. They really have work hard all year and stuck together and to see it payoff in games is great."

Playoff brackets were released at press deadline, with the Belmont boys earning the fourth seed and a first-round matchup with Derryfield (after deadline Tuesday) and the girls also earning the fourth seed and a first-round matchup with St. Thomas (after
