

Gravel pit discussion continued again

BY MARK FOYNES
Contributing Writer

NEW DURHAM — The lack of a fifth ZBA member resulted in a truncated public hearing on May 8 regarding plans for a private developer to blast ledge, excavate gravel, and truck aggregate from a site in the north corner of town where it converges with Wolfeboro and Middleton.

A crowd of about 50 people from multiple towns gathered at the New Durham School gym expecting to hear follow-up details relating to a proposed quarry that has abutters concerned about impacts to safety, road maintenance, property values, and overall quality of life.

While large by ZBA standards, the turnout was perhaps half the size of the crowd that gathered at the committee's session on April 11.

An initial hearing was held last December by the town planning board.

Since the area is considered to be zoned residential, agricultural, and recreational, that board deemed that the commercial/industrial nature of the plan would require a variance to be eligible for continued consideration. This requires deliberation by the zoning board of adjustment, which can grant waivers to zoning ordinances on a case-by-case basis.

Last month, the ZBA heard testimony from Tom Varney, the applicant's representative, as well as from abutters and officials from surrounding towns.

Apart from the applicant, all of last month's speakers voiced opposition to the project.

Last week's session was a continuation of the April hearing, where the ZBA expressed an interest in having more time to examine data the applicant provided relative to traffic and property value impacts.

Back at the December planning board meeting, before the matter was delegated to the ZBA, that body deemed the proposal to be a matter of "regional impact," per RSA 36, meaning that it could affect properties in multiple municipalities.

In April, recognizing that several communities across regions might be impacted, the ZBA asked that Strafford Regional Planning and its Lakes Region counterpart be consulted.

While opponents stood at the ready to speak out again opposing the project, they did not have an opportunity to do so.

In line with town procedure, Varney opted to defer further discussion to a time when his client can have a full slate of ZBA members. Accordingly, the ZBA voted unanimously to continue the hearing to a later date.

Some attendees expressed frustration about the delay. Remarks such

Cyanobacteria committee holds inaugural meeting

New cross-town group convenes to address Merrymeeting waterway

BY MARK FOYNES
Contributing Writer

NEW DURHAM — Water quality in the Merrymeeting watershed is at risk, and a new task force has been assembled to examine and control current and potential threats to a waterway that connects Lake Winnepesaukee and Merrymeeting Lake.

The Cyanobacteria Mitigation Steering Committee held its inaugural meeting on May 11 in the New Durham Community Room. As warm weather approaches, the new committee consists of officials from Alton, New Durham and the State of New Hampshire.

For two years in a row, Downings Pond has been under a state advisory due to heightened levels of cyanobacteria. The matter has been a topic of discussion at public input sessions at recent BOS meetings. Last July, a Downings Pond resident said of the water, "It's gross." Another noted that she experienced a "burning" sensation on her arm when it came into contact with the water.

The town has decided to act, partnering with regional stakeholders, state officials, and agents with the EPA.

So where's the problem?

Downings Pond is a wide area of the Merrymeeting River, which meanders from Alton to New Durham along a path that broadens occasionally along a length paralleling Route 11 and Letter S Road. Downings Pond itself is located near the intersection of Main Street and Merrymeeting Road.

It is part of a system that begins at Alton Bay, with Merrymeeting Lake as its southern terminus. The watershed encompasses some three dozen square miles.

Since the river, including Downings Pond, connects Merrymeeting Lake, Winnepesaukee, and the Bay, a water quality issue anywhere in the watershed could have broader consequences.

"This could well go beyond New Durham, so it's time to be proactive," said resident Fred Quimby, a driving force behind a new committee dedicated to eradicating cyanobacteria from the waterway. Committee members include representatives from both New Durham and Alton, reflecting the regional nature of the issue.

Quimby said the committee agrees that the whole watershed represents a larger system, and that pathogens in one section could impact other interconnected waterbodies.

According to the web site of NHDES, which has issued Downings Pond alerts in 2015 and 2016, "Cyanobacteria blooms are aesthetically displeasing in sight, odor and taste, as well as potentially toxic to domestic animals, livestock, waterfowl and humans."

The DES statement continues, "Cyanobacteria are a potential public health danger because they may produce toxins, collectively referred to as 'Cyanotoxins' that can be released into the water when cells die or are consumed by organisms in the food chain." It concludes, "Acute effects, such as skin and mucous membrane irritations, can occur after short term exposure with water containing these toxins. Chronic effects, such as liver, kidney, and central nervous system damage, can occur over a long period of time from water ingestion containing toxins."

"This is something we want to get a handle on, manage, and prevent," said Quimby, who's chairing the new committee. Quimby is also chair of a town committee in charge of mitigating milfoil and other aquatic invasives.

The matter came to the fore in 2015 and was heightened last summer. Since then, various efforts have been put forth to investigate potential bacterial sources such as adjacent septs and the Fish and Game hatchery upstream.

Committee members include:

Ray Howard, Alton House representative and F&G Committee member;

Reuben Wentworth, Alton selectman

Bill Mannion, Alton Milfoil Committee;

Gene Young, Alton Conservation Committee;

Mark Sullivan, New Durham Conservation Committee and previous President of the Merrymeeting Lake Association;

The new building has been high on the board's agenda since hiring Police Chief Paul Poirier in August of last year. The board and Chief Poirier brought preliminary thoughts to the Barnstead Capital Improvement Plan Subcommittee of the planning board during last year's CIP process, and the proposal was included as part of the CIP recommendations.

Board members and the chief have done considerable research since then, visiting over a dozen new police and fire stations in towns of similar size. This has helped them focus in on the precise needs for a new station, and understand the construction issues involved.

Before the 2017 Town

Meeting, the board hired local architect Karen Schacht to work with them to prepare a scaled artistic version of the proposed building. Those who attended Town Meeting approved $100,000 to prepare detailed design and construction diagrams.

The RFP will be posted to the "construction summary" web site, which most construction companies look to as a source of potential work projects.

The board is also considering contracting with private drivers with snow plows for winter road plowing. The Highway Department is currently short a couple of staff and the board is exploring the option of contracting rather than filling the

The boy is back in town

Jeri Blair returns to his Alton barbershop

BY CATHY ALLYN
Contributing Writer

ALTON — Have you noticed early morning traffic has picked up in Alton? And all of those extra drivers seem to be long-haired men? Well, that's because Jeri's back from wintering in Florida, and they are on their way to the barbershop. It's been a long four months for them, waiting for his return.

Jeri Blair, working from 6 a.m. to noon in his traditional barbershop, has been a fixture in Alton for 43 years. "With some customers, I'm on the fourth generation," he says.

Men enter and leave in a steady stream. Some won't let anyone else cut a hair on their heads; others drop in every day just to say hello.

Jeri explains why. "Customers love the atmosphere of the shop. It's more about that than the haircuts. We joke around."

He claims to always be in a good mood. "I'd rather be in a good one than a bad one. People worry about things they have no control over."

Alton can thank Jeri's father for landing him in the profession that has served the town so well. Growing up in Laconia and then Belmont, Jeri was unsure of what to do with himself after high school, so he worked construction. It had its drawbacks.

"In February, I asked

my dad what should I do that wouldn't take a lot of school, because I didn't like school. He suggested being a barber."

Jeri graduated from barber college in Manchester "53 years ago and that's what I've been ever since."

Although the job's first allure was that he could be warm in the winter and cool in the summer, unlike construction work, he found he loved being a barber.

"I get to talk to a lot of people," he says. "I love to listen and a lot of people just like to talk."

He also has a natural gift for storytelling, as his customers can verify, which is another reason to stop by his shop.

The first 10 years of his career played out in Laconia. "Very busy," he describes that time. "Twelve hour days. That's one of the reasons I left. I didn't want that. I wanted my life to slow down a little bit."

Knowing that he'd always wanted a small-town shop where he could "talk to everyone," Jeri found his way to Alton, where he often bartered with customers.

It was an excellent fit. Jeri liked to hunt, and so did a lot of the residents. He liked sports, and his customers did, too. And everyone liked to talk.

"He's a funny guy," says Bob Witham. "He told me I was the first person he met in Alton. One thing about him, though, is when he talks he can't cut hair, so sometimes it takes you an hour to get a haircut."

Witham shared Jeri's love of sports. "He had a stack of 21 signs, all with a different reason for closing the shop. I'd leave work at the Post Office and tell him about a baseball game somewhere. He'd choose a sign, put it up in the window, and off we'd go."

notably in coaching.

His 28 years at Belmont High School and two at Prospect Mountain High School centered mostly on girls' basketball, but included championship teams in cross country and track, too. In fact, Belmont High School renamed its annual cross country event to the Jeri Blair Invitational to honor him.

Landry coached girls' basketball with him for 14 years. "He asked me to sit with him and who better to sit with than Jeri?" he asks. "He was the main man, planning practices and strategies; he had me on the bench to spiff it up with good looks."

Jeri calls Landry a "character," and it appears to be birds of a feather flocking together.

Landry says Jeri was known throughout the state. "He's in the Hall of Fame in Belmont and was named Coach of the Year in Division 3," he says, "but the greatest honor is the respect of fellow coaches."

This is a somewhat different side of Jeri than is often seen inside his shop.

"He's intense," Landry says. "If he's standing still, I start thinking maybe he's sick. He took care of the girls he coached in basketball and in life, telling them they have to work hard. He cared for his teams. He'd get up at four in the morning to go over tapes of other teams to plan strategies. When a man gets up at four, he's dedicated. The game of basketball has not been the same since Jeri's been gone."

Witham backs up stories of Jeri's intensity. "He had the habit of running out on the floor to challenge the referees."

He also remembers Jeri's success with breeding and handling beagles. "He had a national champion, Bruiser, and traveled all over New England."

Witham credits his success at selling puppies by astute placement. "Jeri would put a cage on the sidewalk in Alton Bay where people would see them and fall in love with them. He'd wind up selling them."

Jeri, predictably, downplays his successes. He's more interested in his customers.

"He has hundreds of pictures on his walls," Witham says. "Pictures of games and people hunting and fishing. They're all clients. Ask him about any of them. He'll put down his scissors and tell you the story behind the picture. His is probably one of the last genuine barber shops you'll find."

In true Jeri fashion, he doesn't do all of his work in his shop. He'll come to your house if you can't get out, and he travels to nursing homes. "Those people are just as important as those who come into the shop, because they've been with me a long time," he explains.

About five years ago, he and his wife began staying in Florida for four months each winter. "It's nice to get away," Jeri says. "I go bowling and I bicycle."

Of course, Jeri being Jeri, it's not all time off. "I have a little business going on down there."

He says the fun part of coming back to Alton, though, is to "get to see everyone again."

His customers are truly his friends and he thrives doing what he likes to do. In his spare time, he hunts and does yard work. "It keeps me busy," he says, "but then, it doesn't take as much to keep me busy now."

His past accomplishments will always make up a large part of his life, though. Through them all, he never wavered from his basic philosophy of being in a good mood.

He attributes that to his mother. "She was likeable and easy-going;

Everett Clark joins Alton School Board

ALTON — The Alton School Board welcomes Everett Clark as its newest member, filling a vacancy left by the resignation of Steve Miller. Clark and his family moved to Alton in 2007, his three children have all attended Alton Central and have or will attend Prospect Mountain High School. He coaches soccer and is actively involved with the Parks and Recreation Department, exploring the feasibility of a recreation center. During his interview with the board on Monday, May 15, he expressed his strong desire to be a consensus builder and sees himself as an effective communicator and team player. He shared that he will work with board members to build strategic partnerships, objectively seek answers to questions and challenges as they arise, and will support all efforts that will advance Alton Central School and the district.

Masons serving breakfast on Sunday morning

ALTON — On Sunday, May 21, the Masons of Winnipisaukee Lodge in Alton will be hosting their monthly breakfast buffet, open to the public, at the Lodge on Route 28, a quarter mile south of the Alton Circle. With fresh fruit, biscuits and gravy, scrambled eggs, omelets, bacon and sausage, home fries, beans, pancakes, French toast, coffee and juice being served, it is a perfect time for family and friends to sit down and enjoy an all you can eat breakfast buffet. So join in for breakfast between 7:30 and 11 a.m. They hope to see you there, always on the third Sunday of the month. For more information, go to www.winnipisaukeemasons.com or contact Jim Matarozzo at 875-7127.

Garden club to hear from bug expert on Tuesday

ALTON — The Alton Garden Club is having their second meeting of the year on Tuesday, May 23, at the Gilman Library at 1:30 p.m. The program will be "Bugs (Our Friends and Enemies)." The speaker will be Alan Eaton, Ph. D. from The University of New Hampshire, Extension Professor/Specialist, Entomologist with the Department of Biological Sciences. Eaton joined UNH Cooperative Extension in 1978. His job has changed over the years, initiating work with organic farmers. He began teaching a course called Integrated Pest Management in 1986. This is a timely program since Dr. Eaton will be passing on his knowledge of ticks and fruit insects, mosquitoes and Eastern Equine encephalitis, identify and provide information about ticks and programs of the biological control of pests. His specialty program is helping growers save money and reduce their dependence on chemical pesticides.

The Alton Garden Club invites everyone who's interested to come to the meetings. Club members look forward to welcoming you and invite you to join if you so desire. The club's objective shall be to stimulate interest in home gardening and horticulture; to encourage the protection of native trees, plants and wildlife; and to aid in community planting.

The club's fundraiser for the year will be a "plants and yard sale" held on the town wide yard sale, Saturday, June 3, from 9 a.m. to 12 p.m. They will be located at the Community Center on Route 11 in Alton Bay. The members donate perennial plants from their own gardens for your purchase. Please stop by, say hello and help support the club's work around Alton.

Democrats meet on June 5 in Alton

ALTON — The next meeting of the Tri-Town Democrats of Barnstead, Gilmanton, and Alton, is on June 5 at 6:30 p.m. in Alton at the Alton Community Senior Center at 7 Pearson Road. The group will be joined by two special guests from the New Hampshire Democratic Party, Erin Turmelle, Political Director, and Erin Cotton, Operations Director. Attendees will discuss strategic action plans, participation in exciting New Hampshire grassroots movements, future trainings for local activists, legislator accountability, outreach and community organizing.

The meeting is open to any and all residents of Barnstead, Alton and Gilmanton who consider themselves liberal, progressive, or like-minded independents. Refreshments to share are welcome but not necessary. For more information, please contact Heather Carter at starryheather@hotmail.com or visit the "Barnstead, Alton, and Gilmanton Democrats" Facebook page.

Corrections

Last week's front page story on the Prospect Mountain High School Board meeting contained a number of inaccuracies that we feel it is necessary to correct and feel that it is necessary to do so in this space, rather than in a traditional correction.

Mistakes can be made in the writing of articles but that does not mean we should not be held accountable for what appears in our newspaper. If there's a mistake in something that's written, we need to be notified.

It was noted in the article that Chair Diane Beijer announced committee assignments when in fact, Beijer was not at the meeting in question and the committee assignments were announced by Vice Chair Peter Leavitt.

It was also noted that the board went in to two non-public sessions, the first to discuss a response on the Teachers' Association invitation to go back to negotiations and the second to meet with the new attorney. In fact, there was only one non-public session and it was at the beginning of the meeting. The board moved it to early in the meeting to meet with the new attorney so he wouldn't have to sit through the entire meeting to wait for non-public.

The story's second paragraph stated that the primary disagreement between the two parties was the share of health-care costs that teachers would pay. This was also not discussed at the meeting and this information was received from members of the teachers' association.

Additionally, the paragraphs about a lawsuit involving the school board insinuated that the lawsuit was discussed at the meeting, when it was not discussed at length. It was mentioned that the New Hampshire Supreme Court had accepted the board's request to hear an appeal on the issue.

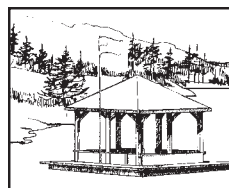

In the superintendent's report later in the story, it stated that an issue with Alton resident Jeffrey Clay had been resolved in favor of the school. This was not the case.

In that case, Clay had demanded that Superintendent Robert Cullison conduct an investigation into board member Steve Miller, who Clay believed had made an ethics violation in writing a letter to the Baysider. Cullison told Clay that he believed that a superintendent could not investigate a board member, but to be sure, he checked with the state school board association. Cullison's opinion was confirmed by the association. However, Miller has since resigned from the board, so Cullison reported that the issue was now a non-issue, but it was not resolved in favor of the district as stated in the story.

We have no way of verifying everything that happens at meetings, but we rely on people to report what happened and sometimes it is not 100 percent accurate. There are mistakes and they will get made.

As we stated earlier, we need people to tell us when there's a mistake so we can make the proper correction. It's disappointing when we have to make corrections, but everyone makes mistakes and as is proper, we believe mistakes should be corrected.

We apologize for any problems our mistakes might cost and we promise to do our best to limit them as we continue to move forward.

Letters to the Editor

Higher electric rates

To the Editor:

You may think there is nothing you can do but there is. Eversource (aka PSNH) is going to raise the rates they charge for the energy supply portion of your electric bill. They are already much higher than the competitive suppliers and they are going up. So what does one do?

Go to <http://www.puc.nh.gov/Consumer/Choosing%20an%20Energy%20Supplier.html>.

This is the New Hampshire Public Utilities Commission web site (I am a former commissioner). It will provide a list of competitive electric suppliers that have registered with them. Not having looked at all the suppliers, I do not know all their rates but I can assure you there will be many that will provide your energy portion of your bill for less than Eversource.

How much? $20 to $45 (and maybe more) a month depending on how much electricity you use. Summer is coming, if you have central air conditioning or even window units, a pool or a hot tub, your electric usage is going to go up in June, July and August.

Many people ask me these questions:

What about my bill? One bill from Eversource just like you would have if you bought your energy supply from them.

What about if I have an electric outage? The very well qualified line workers (again I say this as a former PUC Commissioner, these folks are top shelf) of Eversource do not know who you are buying your electric supply from. Even if they did, they have to provide the same service to all customers

If you still have concerns and questions, contact me on this or any other issues at harringt@metro-cast.net.

State Rep. Mike Harrington Strafford

P.S. New Durham folks, if you are a co-op customer, check your rates closely as they may be lower than competitive suppliers.

Thanks for your service

To the Editor:

These words of are heard every day as Americans express their appreciation for the service and sacrifices made by veterans as they protect our freedoms and way of life from America's overseas enemies. Veterans, for their part, appreciate hearing "thanks for your service." This simple, heartfelt phrase can also be expressed in a more tangible way by helping fund local, grassroots veterans support programs. These programs, frequently established by older veterans for younger vets, help ease the transition when vets return from multiple overseas deployments suffering the lingering emotional and physical effects of PTSD, Traumatic Brain Injury, addictive behaviors, loss of limbs and other visible and invisible wounds.

Camp Resilience is one local non-profit group offering that post-deployment/post-service support. We are comprised of all volunteers; we have no paid staff and rely on donations to fund our programs for vets. Our motto is "helping those who served bounce back in mind, body and spirit." We need your financial help to continue to present our monthly in-residence sessions at no cost to the veterans who apply to attend. Here are some ways you can make a difference.

1. Join us on May 27 at 7 p.m. at the Inter-Lakes High School auditorium in Meredith for a benefit concert featuring tribute artist Jay Gates. All ticket sales will go directly to Camp Resilience and are available from the sponsoring organization with whom we are partnering, the We Care Committee of Laconia's Temple B'nai Israel. The Temple Committee chooses two local non-profits to help each year and chose Camp Resilience as one of their beneficiaries for 2017. This concert is being funded by generous donations from the Meredith Village Savings Bank and Golden View Healthcare of Meredith. Backed by a live band, Jay Gates will transform himself through make-up, wardrobe and vocal talent into two musical icons, Rod Stewart and Barry Manilow, as he performs their top hits. Tickets are available at www.tbinh.org. Your ticket price includes delicious refreshments served during intermission of this toe-tapping performance.

2. Purchase an ad in the Camp Resilience Honors Booklet, which will be handed out to all concert attendees as well as placed on the Camp Resilience web site, www.prli.us. Businesses may purchase ads at numerous levels. You can promote your business while supporting a very worthy charity, Camp Resilience. Contact Don at 293-0276 or Mordonsan@aol.com for ad specs and details. Time is of the essence due to printing schedules so call or e-mail now.

Remember a veteran from your family or friends with a two-three line remembrance in the same Honors Booklet. Entries are a minimal price per name and should consist of the veteran's name, branch of service and any details about his or her military specialty. If your veteran is deceased, please indicate your remembrance is "In memory of..." and if your veteran is living, "In Honor of..." There is no limit on how many veterans you can honor this Memorial Day Weekend. Be sure to include any concluding supportive or loving message of your own about your vet's service. ## Locke Lake board meeting is tonight

BARNSTEAD — The next Locke Lake Colony Association Public Board of Directors meeting will be held on Thursday, May 18, at 6:30 p.m. at the lodge.

School board politics

BY KEVIN GENEST
Barnstead

I want to thank everyone who turned out and voted for me on March 14. I lost by only 10 votes. I was hoping to help out at the school and keep the cost of running the school at a manageable level. I would be new and as such have ideas on how to control costs and fresh ideas to make the school better.

School board members who are on the board year after year just go through the motions and don't bring fresh ideas to the table on improving anything. These school board members get so it's like a social club and don't want to leave nor allow anyone with opposing views to get on the school board.

These school board members will even stoop to fraud in an election to prevent anyone but whom they pick to win an election. They will conspire with people they know to run for office because their views match the members of the school board. They will ask people to get their spouses to run as a write-in and then endorse those candidates and ask everyone to vote for them using their extreme influence over the voters.

I put an article in the paper about myself in the Baysider and Suncook Sun. I have been serious about being on the school board for over six years even though I know it's difficult with the reputations of board members who go for reelection every three years. I worked as a janitor for five and a half years at the elementary school and used to clean Julie Couch's room. I even had asked Julie Couch what it was like being on the school board as her husband, Keith Couch, was a school board member for a long time. As I recall, Julie told me it was a lot of work, but as I cleaned the school at night I couldn't be on the school board when I was scheduled to clean the school.

However, when I left the school in 2011, this opened a window of opportunity for me to put my name in and run for school board. I have been unable to win with the same school board members constantly running every year, until 2017. This year, there were two openings and only myself and Michele Brown put our names on the ballot. So, I figured I had a good chance of winning and as such had an obligation and duty to serve three years of my time to the school and the people of Barnstead and to be present at all meetings to vote.

I would never disappoint the people of Barnstead by not serving the full three-year term, or missing board meetings, or by being a fraud by promptly resigning immediately after winning a seat on the school board. Nor would I commit fraud by having the deceptive motive of winning an election, and quitting so the school board could pick who they really want, someone with the same views or perhaps same political party affiliations as the board members.

I also wouldn't go on the Facebook page of the Barnstead NH Community Group as a school board member, especially if I myself was not running for reelection and tell voters who I myself was voting for nor ask the voters to vote for these same candidates, which is election fraud.

I definitely would not put an application in for that vacant seat on the school board like Lyla Adkins did. Lyla had stepped down after her three-year term was up, but suddenly, she decided to put in for the vacant seat left by Michele Brown.

And of course, the outcome was as I expected, because Lyla Adkins won the board's vote the day she submitted her application for that position. David Allen never had a chance to be picked, nor myself, nor do I suppose Mr. Allen had any idea what was going on.

KINGSWOOD REGIONAL MIDDLE SCHOOL STUDENTS (l-r) Rydel Berry, Jace Weaver, Olivia Martin and Ruth Allard presented the solution they came up with for the most efficient distribution of technology resources within their school to the school board on Monday evening, May 8, in "The Plex," a library conference/classroom.

Kingswood Middle School students demonstrate computer problem solving

BY ELISSA PAQUETTE
Contributing Writer

WOLFEBORO — The Governor Wentworth Regional School Board was treated at its May meeting to a presentation by several middle school students who participated in the district's iSchool initiative. Kingswood Regional Middle School Principal Aaron Bronson drew attention to the work they have done in addressing the question of how the school's Chrome books could best be utilized throughout the school.

The students received training in September on how to break a problem apart. And Bronson presented them with a school wide problem to solve, in the interest of giving them a chance to apply what they had learned and providing a means to give them a voice.

Eighth grader Ruth Allard began the presentation with a quote,

"Every accomplishment starts with the decision to try." She said the project, which began with a survey of the student body in January, and culminated with a new distribution system that put a Chrome book in the hands of every student, was a good opportunity "to get out of our comfort zone."

The students first observed that some classrooms would have extra Chrome books sitting idle on carts checked out to individual classrooms while other rooms were without. Through conversations with students and faculty and questionnaires they were able to put a new plan in place that made technology available to all each day.

They then surveyed their peers to find out how they most often used the technology and whether they felt it was useful. The results were presented in detailed pie charts via PowerPoint software.

Bronson noted that the students' training in iSchool and their engagement in creating a more efficient and useful distribution of technology is just one example of the staff's intent to personalize learning and provide ways to extend their learning.

School board member Ernie Brown commented that he appreciated the education in problem solving and communication skills, and member Stacy Trites said she liked the emphasis on accountability.

School board student representative Brodie Deshaies said that he was amazed at how education has changed just in the few years since he was in elementary and middle school. "Kingswood High School offers so many choices . . . it is a great symbol of what public education should look like," he enthused.

Tick presentation, prom prep on tap at Oscar Foss

BARNSTEAD — Join in at the Oscar Foss Memorial Library on Friday, May 19, at 6:30 p.m. for a presentation about ticks with entomologist Dr. Alan Eaton from UNH Cooperative Extension. Ticks can transmit several human diseases, and New Hampshire is home to many species of ticks. Learn what ticks look like, how they live, the diseases they spread, how to manage tick problems, and how to protect yourself from tick-borne diseases.

Prom makeover event

Come to the library on Saturday, May 20, and get a free makeover before the Prospect Mountain High School prom. Mary Kay representative Angela MacKinnon will be on hand to do makeup, and stylists will be available to do hair as well. Bring along your prom dress to have your picture taken while getting ready. Registration is required and appointment times will be assigned between 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. You can register online at oscarfoss.org or call the library at 269-3900.

Hair stylists are still needed for this event. If you are interested in volunteering for this event, please contact the library at ofml@metrocast.net or call 269-3900.

Please call the library at 269-3900 or visit oscarfoss.org for more information about any of the library's programs or events. There is always something happening at the Oscar Foss Memorial Library. Library hours are Tuesdays and Wednesdays from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., Thursdays and Fridays from 12 to 8 p.m. and Saturdays from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. The library is closed on Sunday and Monday.

Baker-Gagne Funeral Home hosting estate planning seminars

WOLFEBORO — Information vital to seniors and their families will be presented by a panel of experts on Wednesday, May 24, at 6 p.m. at Baker-Gagne Funeral Home, 2395 White Mountain Highway, West Ossipee and Thursday, May 25, at 2 p.m. at Baker-Gagne Funeral Home, 85 Mill St., Wolfeboro.

Attorney Kurt DeVlyder, will speak about key issues, including estate planning, asset protection and accessing Medicaid benefits. Rick Gagne, Funeral Director, will speak about the options available when pre-planning a funeral. Anyone interested in learning about these essential concerns is invited to attend this free seminar.

Gagne explains that those who are nearing or are in early retirement want to solidify their retirement plans and include funeral arrangements as part of their overall strategy. He says, "It is so important for families to have this information early and to understand their options so as to have the time to make decisions that are in accord with their values. We are pleased to offer these educational seminars to members of our community."

This seminar is an opportunity to explore options in a comfortable setting, and get more information about these important considerations. Attendees will be able to relax with neighbors, enjoy a cup of coffee and ask questions. Everyone who attends will receive a free planning guide.

Since space is limited, please call (569-1339) to register for this free event.

GIGUERE AUTO WELCOMES PAT BRODERICK TO THE TEAM!!

Not responsible for typographical errors.

Paul Michalski has a lot on his plate as the new school district IT Director

BY ELISSA PAQUETTE

Contributing Writer

WOLFEBORO — The Governor Wentworth Regional School District's Information Technology (IT) network serves nearly 2,400 students and 530 staff members within a 65 mile radius, including the Kingswood Regional High School and Middle School, the Lakes Region Technology Center, the Kingswood Arts Center, and six elementary schools.

Recently the school board elevated Paul Michalski to the post of Director of Information Technology, a job that he's taking on with enthusiasm. He knows what he needs to accomplish and, with the help of a Technology Integrator to be hired in the weeks ahead and another technician, he's looking forward to working on established goals.

They've just finished bringing the SAU 49's Central Office network into the firewall at the Kingswood Complex, a move that he says brings more security. Next, he aims to bring the separate networks of Carpenter and Crescent Lake Elementary Schools into the fold as well. Interconnecting them with fiber optics will save money on licensing, says Michalski, and move the system toward a municipal area network (MAN).

The task involves painstaking documentation of each step, from initial diagrams to set up and problem solving. "Sometimes that's the hardest thing," says Michalski. "It takes discipline, but you need to take the time." Recording those steps is the key to efficient communication and problem solving. It's like an online file cabinet, he says.

After the elementary schools located in Wolfboro are integrated into the Kingswood system, the IT department will turn its attention to improving the technology infrastructure of the Ossipee, Effingham,

ELISSA PAQUETTE

PAUL MICHALSKI, new Director of Information Technology for the Governor Wentworth Regional School District.

Tuftonboro and New Durham schools. That means widening the bandwidth so internet traffic can flow faster. Ossipee, as the most highly populated of the four, is at the top of the list.

Michalski intends to rebuild the entire backbone — switches and cabling, to improve the WiFi. "I can't wait. It's very exciting. It needs to be done, and we're going to see that it's done.

It has to be frustrating if the website is spinning," he declares.

All of the projects involve research into the power capabilities needed and then looking for the components. They use Hewlett Packard switches and want to keep as much of the platform the same in the interest of economy.

The job shift likely means an eventual transition from his office at the middle school into the larger office at the high school. We are seated at a round table in the roomy office where we can view Jacob Eveleth working at a computer. Eveleth, who among other technical work, teaches courses in computer hardware and software and networking (a very popular course) at the LRTC, will be assisting with the network integration process this summer.

The open door encourages drop ins, among them friendly teachers who are accustomed to seeing Michalski over at the middle school. He says he likes it over there, where as we speak, 400 students are using their individual Chrome books for Smarter Balance testing.

There are a number of software programs in play throughout the district — Power School and Jump Rope for grading, for example — and there's an array of computers in the library, where teachers bring classes periodically. The foreign language department at the high school has computers for language learning, and devices can travel via cart to classrooms. "The staff is capable and comfortable [with technology]" says Michalski, ki, and he enjoys troubleshooting one-on-one with faculty and staff.

Chrome books, integrated with Google, are mostly used. They're inexpensive and easy to manage. If a student doesn't have access to one at home, Michalski says he's a Yankee: nothing is thrown away. He can take three disabled books, if need be, and create a workable version for a student to use.

You have to be a jack-of-all-trades to do the job, he says. "You need to know a little about everything." He's a continual student himself, working through certifications in the Cisco system and is now on an MCSA: Windows Server 2012 Boot Camp path. He began his technological education while working as an elementary school custodian. It took four years to complete what others do in two years, since he was working a full time night shift.

"I complain about it while I'm doing it, but three months without it, I want to go back. It keeps your mind working," he says with a smile.

Michalski has a lot on his plate in his new position as IT Director — just as he likes it.

Documentaries screened at Oscar Foss on Sunday

BARNSTEAD — Immigration detention is a billion-dollar industry in the U.S. A Congressionally-mandated quota requires the U.S. to keep 34,040 detention beds occupied, 62 percent of which are in private prisons. The country's detention budget for FY 2016 was $2.3 billion. "Immigrants for Sale" is a short documentary by Brave New Films that illustrates the impact that private detention centers have on America.

"Immigrants for Sale" will be shown alongside "Pursuing the Dream: A DACA-mandatory," a short documentary produced by Solidarity Strategies. In this film, DACA (Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals) recipients discuss the effects that the program has on their lives and their fears for the future.

The films will be shown on Sunday, May 21, at 1 p.m. at the Oscar Foss Memorial Library at 111 South Barnstead Road in Barnstead with a short discussion to follow.

Classes and passes available at New Durham Public Library

NEW DURHAM — The New Durham Public Library has a warm weather line-up to keep all members of the family busy.

“People have been calling about passes,” Library Director Cathy Allyn said. “It’s time to think about signing out free and discounted tickets to local attractions.”

Those would include Strawberry Banke, the Wright Museum, the Children’s Museum of New Hampshire, the NH Farm Museum, Castle in the Clouds and the NH Boat Museum.

“We’re grateful to a generous patron and the Friends of the Library for providing this kind of entertainment for our patrons,” Allyn said.

Each attraction has different opening dates and number of people covered for admission, so be sure to contact the library for specifics.

As the library gears up for July’s Summer Reading Program, Building a Better World, classes and events will still be held.

The last Adult Paint Night of the season is slated for tomorrow at 6 p.m. “We’ll be bringing this back in the fall,” Allyn said, “alternating with Parent/Child Paint Nights.”

The ongoing Next Chapter Book Club for families reading early chapter books will feature a book and accompanying craft each month. Books are available at the library. After reading it together, parents and children can come into the library on their own schedule to make an art project. This month the book is “The Miniature World of Marvin and James” by Elise Broach.

Students in kindergarten through grade two can enjoy two days of Mosaic Madness on Fridays, June 2 and 9 at 3:30 p.m. Spots are limited and registration is necessary.

For anyone who is approaching or has reached retirement age, looking to change careers, or just needs to gain insight into what the next step in life is, the AARP presentation of Life Reimagined on Thursday, June 8, at 6 p.m. can help.

At this free Life Reimagined Check-Up, you start where you are in life and, through a series of fun, simple exercises, see where the possibilities lead you. The presentation helps people rediscover what truly matters and focus on what they really want to do. AARP asks that you register by visiting <https://aarp.cvent.com/NewDurham-LR>, or by calling the library.

If you know your way around a hammer, or even if you don’t, check out Building a Bat House on Saturday, June 10, at 10 a.m. Led by local builder Iain MacKenzie, the free class is open to adults and families. Registration is necessary.

For participants in 1,000 Books Before Kindergarten, the culminating event is coming up on Thursday, June 22, at 11 a.m. Those who have read the full complement of books are to be guests of honor at a ceremony/party that includes certificates, crowns, food, and activities designed just for their age group.

Call the library at 859-2201 to register or for more information.

Winni Derby returns this weekend

REGION — The Winni Derby, the Lakes Region’s spring salmon and lake trout tournament, will be returning to Lake Winnepesaukee for the 34th time the weekend of May 19-21.

The Daniel Webster Council of the Boy Scouts of America has partnered with the Laconia Rotary Club to promote and produce this year’s tournament and is expecting a strong turn-out of anglers from across the Northeast. “We’ve been receiving calls and e-mails all spring from folks from all over New England and New York that are excited that the Winni Derby is back” said Jay Stoecker, Director of Development and CFO of the Daniel Webster Council. “We’re really encouraged by the volume of registrations over the last few weeks” he added.

In recent years, the Winni Derby has brought between 600 and 800 fishermen to Lake Winnepesaukee for three days of fishing, providing an early season boost for local hotels, restaurants, marinas, and retailers around the lake. Laconia Mayor Ed Engler says that the Derby is an economic driver for the region. “The city of Laconia is very pleased that the Winni Derby is returning this year. Local businesses get a big boost from all the visitors the tournament attracts to the region and it’s a great opportunity for the city to showcase what we have to offer. We expect that many fishermen that come through the Weirs for the first time or attend the Winni Derby EXPO at the Merrill Fay Arena will discover many of the things we love about our city and come back again soon” says Engler.

Alan “A.J.” Nute, owner of A.J.’s Bait and Tackle in Meredith, says there is a lot of excitement among fisherman and Lake’s Region business owners about the Winni Derby’s return. “The Derby’s going to be a busy weekend for all of us on the lake. We’re thrilled that it’s back,” said Nute.

The 34th annual Winni Derby will introduce new elements to the tournament, including a women’s division and a Friday evening social and expo at the Merrill Fay Arena in Laconia on May 19. Admission to the expo is included in the price of a derby ticket and will feature food, live music and exhibitors as well as door prizes and announcement of Friday’s daily awards. Will Fay, Manager of the Merrill Fay Arena in Laconia, is looking forward to hosting the Winni Derby Expo and awards ceremonies. “The Winni Derby is great for the community,” he says, adding “It’s fantastic that the Scouts stepped up to help bring it back. This is a great example of two non-profits working together for everyone’s benefit.”

Registered anglers are eligible to win exciting prizes, including a 16-foot Tracker fishing boat, a Polaris 4x4 ATV and Lowrance fishfinders. Tickets to participate in the derby are available at select retailers around the state or online. Sales locations and online registration can be found at www.winniderby.com.

BY MARK PATTERSON
Contributing Writer

A week or so ago I had the privilege, for the second time, to visit the floor of the New York Stock Exchange during the trading day. The first time I was there was around 1998 when I traveled with a class of investment management students from the Gabelli School of Business at Roger Williams University, when I was an adjunct professor. I was able to get my whole class on the floor of the exchange because of an institutional firm in midtown Manhattan where I worked. One of the partners in the firm owned seat on the exchange and was able to offer an unforgettable experience to my class.

Mark on the Markets NYSE visit

Many people often confuse the intensity and noise of the commodity trading pits at the CBOT or the New York Mercantile exchange, with the NYSE. While much of that has gone electronic, there is still short periods of time when the “pits” are very active. Having been a commodity trading advisor in the past, I was fortunate to be able to visit and direct trades at those markets as well. Dan Ackroyd, stated in the movie “Trading Places,” that the commodity pits, specifically the New York Mercantile was the “last bastion of capitalism.” What it is, is a high intensity auction for commodity contracts.

The New York Stock Exchange is much more sedate, partly because it is open from 9:30 a.m. Eastern Time until 4 p.m. There is a specialist firm that maintains a fair and orderly market for the companies that they represent.

The news agency, CNBC, now broadcasts from the floor of the exchange right in front of the balcony where they ring the closing bell. Nineteen years ago, when I was there last, they had a small studio on the surrounding walkway adjacent to the balcony where the market is open and closed.

My hope is that the exchanges survive the world of technology and electronic trading. Not only for nostalgic reasons, but to still maintain a central location that is responsible for the oversight of the companies that are traded on their exchange.

Most business transacted at the NYSE is institutional, meaning that the ETFs and mutual funds are the primary customers. You or I buying a hundred shares of Apple or GE is done through the broker, in my client’s case, TD Ameritrade institutional, and then electronically funneled through an intermediary where the stock is them purchased or sold.

March 2011, I was on the floor of the Chicago Board of trade. My main interest was the S&P 500 pit and the bond pit. Most trading in those pits are done by the big banks. Goldman Sachs, J.P. Morgan and a handful of what are called “locals” who are smaller companies many times trading for their own accounts.

I am fortunate to have been able to visit and work with the various exchanges. This is where the sausage is made. In other words, your investments originate from these exchanges, and it is my attempt to use these exchanges as an investment advisor to create my clients’ portfolios with custom-built, specifically designed, cost efficient portfolios to fit my client’s needs and objectives.

Scouts accepting yard sale donation items

ALTON — On June 3, the town of Alton will be hosting a town-wide yard sale. Every year, Scouts and adult leaders from Boy Scouts of America Troop 53 participate in this event to help raise money for troop activities.

Troop 53 is looking for donations for the yard sale. Proceeds will go towards funding scouting activities such as summer camp and youth leadership training. If you have anything that you would like to donate to the troop for this fundraising activity, please contact Jamey Balint at jbalint\_troop53@yahoo.com. They will make arrangements to pick up your donations if necessary or you may drop them off at the Alton Senior Center parking lot, located on Pearson Road, at 8 a.m. on June 3.

They cannot accept upholstered furniture items and electronics will be accepted after examination.

Pittsfield church plans patriotic concert

PITTSFIELD — “Let There Be Peace,” the First Congregational Church’s annual patriotic concert, is set for Friday, June 2, 7 p.m. at the church, 24 Main St., Pittsfield. It will feature the Chancel Choir, JuBellation Handbell Choir and other musicians. Light refreshments will be served.

Be sure to mark your calendar for this exciting event for all ages. Bring a friend. Parking and wheelchair accessibility available at the Chestnut Street entrance. More information at 435-7471.

FBLA students raising funds for trip to national convention

ALTON — The Prospect Mountain High School, Future Business Leaders of America (FBLA) Chapter is California dreaming. BettyJane Weir, Abigail Thomas (vice president) and Tiffany White (president) all placed in events during the FBLA NH State Leadership Competition this March, qualifying them for the national competition in Anaheim, Calif. Weir placed third in the state for Design Publication, Thomas and White both competed in the Job Interview competition with Thomas placing fourth and White placing second, and together they competed as a team in the Community Service Project placing first overall. The trip will take place June 27 to July 4. The cost of this competition is more than $2,000 per student. The chapter has been working hard to fundraise, and is on their way, however, they still need assistance and are reaching out to the community for help. Any donations would be greatly appreciated in helping these Future Business Leaders of America attain their goals.

Salmon Press columnist achieves national recognition

WOLFEBORO — Randy Hilman, Salmon Press real estate columnist, has been awarded the prestigious Accredited Buyer's Representation designation by the Real Estate Buyer's Agent Council of the National Association of Realtors (NAR).

Hilman joins more than 30,000 real estate professionals in North America who have earned the ABR® designation after completing advanced coursework in buyer representation and submitting documentation verifying professional experience.

"I am grateful to NAR and its Buyer Agent Council for giving me this and other opportunities to advance my education in the service of real estate consumers," Hilman said. "Acquiring the ABR® designation is an honor that I intend to display proudly in the years ahead.

Hilman's column, The Winnepesaukee Talkie, appears in Salmon Press newspapers published in the Lakes Region of New Hampshire.

REBAC, founded in 1988, is the world's largest association of real estate professionals serving real estate buyers. There are more than 40,000 active members of the organization worldwide. NAR is the world's largest professional association, representing more than 1,000,000 members involved in all aspects of the real estate industry.

PMHS art show May 25 and 26 at Gilman Museum

ALTON — The third annual Prospect Mountain High School Art Show will be held in Alton at the Harold S. Gilman Museum on Thursday and Friday, May 25, and May 26, from 4 to 7 p.m. The museum is located at the corner of Main Street and Route 140. The public is invited to come by and see some outstanding student artwork from a variety of visual art classes including many state and national Scholastic Arts Award winning pieces. The show will also be highlighting two senior Advanced Placement students and their impressive body of artwork. Please come and support the PMHS art students while enjoying some great artwork.

Museums on the NH Heritage Trail working together to promote importance of history

WOLFEBORO – With the increased importance placed on STEM education, history has in some cases been removed almost entirely from the classroom, which has provided a unique opportunity for museums on the NH Heritage Trail.

"There are 17 of us throughout New Hampshire, and it is our responsibility to educate and inspire people about American history and culture —especially the younger generations," said Michael Culver, NH Heritage Trail president and executive director of the Wright Museum of WWII in Wolfeboro.

"Understanding our history helps us shape our future."

said they wanted to leverage the respective resources of each member museum, but he acknowledged he did not anticipate its increasingly important role.

"It's an opportunity for all of us to work together and develop programming that addresses the educational needs that exist with our students today," he said.

At the American Independence Museum in Exeter, Executive Director Emma Bray said they are ready to formally launch their Traveling Trunk program. Funded by the NH Charitable Foundation, the program brings the museum experience into the classroom and enables them to reach students during its closed season from December to April.

"We have developed a curriculum in partnership with teachers—and each trunk comes with over 70 items that help tell the story of New Hampshire during the Revolution," she said. "It's an incredible program and one we believe can enhance the educational experience for hundreds of kids annually."

According to Dubrulle, there is current research that demonstrates a correlation between learning history and several educational outcomes that can impact a child's long-term life outlook.

"The study of the humanities is directly tied to the development of creativity and encourages American kids—who will eventually become American workers—to innovate," she said. "Studying history also provides essential information for sound decision-making... By looking at the challenges of the past and doing some critical thinking about what worked and what didn't, kids hopefully apply those lessons to their own situation."

In looking at the educational landscape across the Granite State, Culver said he believes member museums on The Trail have an opportunity to expand their respective footprints.

"We do not just preserve collections," he said. "We are active and important members of the community and we have the capacity to educate today's younger citizens in ways that might surprise some people ... History is relevant—and the research is now bearing that out."

The 17 museums on The Trail include the Aviation Museum, Albacore Park, American Independence Museum, Canterbury Shaker Village

Castle in the Clouds, Lake Winnepesaukee Museum, Libby Museum, Millyard Museum, Museum of the White Mountains, New Hampshire Boat Museum, New Hampshire Historical Society, New Hampshire Farm Museum, Portsmouth Historical Society @ Discover Portsmouth, Remick Country Doctor Museum and Farm, The Belknap Mill, Woodman Museum, and Wright Museum of WWII.

New Hampshire Boat Museum opens for the season May 27

WOLFEBORO — The 2017 season at the New Hampshire Boat Museum will be filled with plenty of new and exciting exhibits and activities. Here are some of the highlights of the exhibits that will be on display through Oct. 9.

The museum has organized a number of exhibits that explore the world of boating and life on New Hampshire's lakes. The featured exhibit, "Big Dreams, Little Boats Mid-Century Model Toy Boats," looks back to a time when young boys collected and played with model toy boats and dreamed of growing up to own a full-size boat.

The exhibit features model boats from the collection of Fred Clausen. The boats range in date from the mid-1950s through the 1970s, the heyday of toy boat production. Popular brands such as Fleetline, ITO and Lionel Train produced miniature replicas of the popular boats and motors of the day whether it be runabouts, cabin cruisers or race boats.

This season's big event is the biennial Wolfeboro Vintage Race Boat Regatta held Sept. 15-16 on Wolfeboro Bay. To honor this event, the museum has organized an exhibit "Racing on the Bay: The Wolfeboro Vintage Race Boat Regatta." Featured will be four race boats dating from the 1920s-1950s as well as vintage race boat photographs.

The Boat Museum's newest donations of late 19th - early 20th century half hull models will be featured in a third exhibit. The working half hull models came from an unknown marina on Lake Winnepesaukee. The exhibit will look at how half hulls were instrumental in the design and building of large scale boats.

Last year saw many new boat donations to the museum. These will be featured on the main exhibit floor including a very rare 1929 Chris Craft Limousine Sedan, one of only five remaining in the country. Other donations on display will be a 1935 25' Chris Craft custom triple cockpit runabout, a 1939 Lyman, a 1939 galvanized steel Starcraft, and a 1951 Penn Yan CZT Swift race boat. The final donation on display will be the museum's first car - a 1922 Maxwell Touring Car, which was used by Jack Benny while he made personal appearances in Phoenix, Ariz.

One thing the New Hampshire Boat Museum is known for is the educational programs that get you outside, actively learning boat-related skills through hands-on activities. If you are interested in learning to sail the museum offers youth and adult sailing lessons in conjunction with the town of Wolfeboro. Or you can rent a share in the J-24 sailboat if you want to sail this summer but don't want the expense of owning your own sailboat. And if you'd like to race your sailboat, you can enter the Lake Wentworth Sailing Regatta in early August. The regatta is a joint program between the Boat Museum, the town of Wolfeboro, and the Lake Wentworth Association.

The Boat Museum has fun programs for kids of all ages, from five to 100. Do you want to build your own boat? You can do that in the boat building programs. The museum offers two sessions. The first is for adults and families in July and the other for youth over 12 in early August. Maybe you'd like to race radio-controlled model yachts? The Back Bay Skippers meet each Tuesday and Thursday afternoon on Back Bay. Stop by to try your hand at this fun and addictive sport.

And for your kids or grandkids, don't forget the museum's fun and active Lake Discovery Camp in late July. Kids will learn about boat safety, play plenty of fun boat and water-related games, become Watershed Warriors, and ride the Millie B. All these activities are part of the museum's mission to teach young people about boating, water safety and to help them become good stewards of the environment.

Do you want to have your own boat? Then come to the museum's annual vintage boat auction on July 15. The auction features a wide range of boats from beautifully restored vintage wooden boats to used fiberglass boats. Also up for bid will be canoes, sailboats, kayaks, row boats and motors, as well as, maritime and camp antiques for your home. This year, the auction will also include vintage cars. The museum is always seeking donations

Accessory dwelling units forum is June 20

WOLFEBORO — Homeowners, building and real estate professionals, and citizen planners alike are invited to attend an informative workshop on creating accessory dwelling units in accordance with updated municipal regulations.

The ADU workshop will be held on Tuesday, June 20, at the Pinckney Boat House on the Brewster Academy campus on South Main Street in Wolfeboro from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. Light refreshments will be provided. Admission is free, but the favor of a reply is requested by June 15 for planning purposes. Respond to events@elrhc.org or leave a message at 522-7150.

This workshop will feature presenters with practical, how-to advice, as well as a legislative update and overview from guest moderator Susan Slack, principal planner with the New Hampshire Office of Energy and Planning. Panelists include Janet Bye of Bye Insurance Group, Inc. in Wakefield, builder/remodeler Kurt Clason of K.A. Clason-Fine Woodworking Corp. in Ossipee, Matt Sullivan, Director of Planning and Development, town of Wolfeboro, Jennifer Libby of Keller Williams Realty in Wolfeboro, and others.

Many homeowners may be unaware of the new regulations, and this event is one way to inform the public. The fundamental requirement of the new law is that every municipality with a zoning ordinance shall allow accessory dwelling units – also called in-law apartments – as a matter of right, or by either conditional use permit or by special exception, in all zoning districts that permit single family dwellings. The legislation, effective June 1, may benefit aging or disabled homeowners and their caregivers, single parents, recent college graduates weighed down with debt, and others by providing housing options that may have been otherwise prohibited in some communities.

Copies of updated ordinances will be available at this forum. For more information on this event and the Eastern Lakes Region Housing Coalition, visit www.elrhc.org.

The 10th Biennial Wolfeboro Vintage Race Boat Regatta will be a spectacle you won't want to miss. It will take place Friday and Saturday, Sept. 15-16 at the Wolfeboro Town Docks. This unique Regatta features more than 60 vintage race boats from throughout the Northeast and Canada. The boats and drivers put on amazing performances around a one-mile oval track throughout the day. The Wolfeboro Regatta is not only a wonderful, family-friendly event; it's also free to attend.

To see the full schedule of events or to learn more about the New Hampshire Boat Museum, please visit the museum's web site at nhbm.org.

The New Hampshire Boat Museum is open to the public for the 2017 season from Saturday, May 27, and will remain open daily through Monday, Oct. 9, 10 a.m.-4 p.m. Monday through Saturday, and Sunday noon-4 p.m. The museum is a not-for-profit institution focusing on New Hampshire's boating and fresh water heritage. It is located at 399 Center St., two miles from downtown Wolfeboro in the former Allen "A" Resort dance hall/theater building. For further information contact the museum at 569-4554, e-mail museum@nhbm.org or visit nhbm.org or via Facebook.

WATER

Durham Selectman; Bob Craycraft, Director of the Lay Lakes Monitoring Program; Glenn Normandeau, director of N.H. Fish and Game Department based in Concord; Quimby, New Durham, Acting Secretary; Cydney Johnson, Alton Selectman; David Neils, director of the NHDES Jody Conner Limnology Center in Concord.

Also attending were Jason Smith, Mike Gelinas and Earl Bagley. On a volunteer basis, Gelinas has conducted water sample tests since last summer. The session began with a brief review of Merrymeeting River's present condition, presented by Quimby and Selectman David Swenson.

"The quality of sections is definitely degraded," Quimby said.

We could not attend the session in person, but below is a summary of what was discussed according to some draft minutes.

As a new group, it was imperative to establish a mission and goals.

According to the draft notes, "One goal for the committee was stated as: To render the Merrymeeting River free of all harmful cyanobacteria blooms. However, a broader goal may read: to enhance and maintain water quality standards on the Merrymeeting River in an effort to preserve its recreational value."

In selecting officers for the committee, the following people were named: Quimby -Chairman; Young-Vice Chair. Secretarial duties will be delegated by the town hosting forthcoming meetings. Again, this is a committee consisting of residents and officials from Alton and New Durham, as well as the state since the matter is one of a regional impact.

"We wanted to set some goals - both short-term and easily attainable, as well as some loftier things to reach for," said Quimby in a brief telephone discussion. He added, "This is bigger than just one town, to it's important to have representation from Alton and the state."

Short term goals discussed, according to the draft minutes, included a "[c]ontinued survey of water quality on the Merrymeeting River with expansion of the survey area into Alton." Gelinas has conducted significant testing and has reported his findings to the BOS.

Also involved is Craycraft, who oversees Lay Lake Monitoring Program volunteers. He said no one from Alton at present is contributing to the project and that candidates will be warmly welcomed. Craycraft noted that while canoe-based river sampling is practical at many sites, data gathering on Alton Bay will require a boat.

Quimby added that he plans to help recruit volunteers and encourages folks to contact him at fwq1@cornell.edu. He added that training will be provided and that interested residents should include the word 'cyanobacteria' in the e-mail subject line.

In the near term, the committee also hopes "to [d]evelop working groups to engage in the various activities required to achieve the committee's goals including advancement on matters relating to River Water Quality Testing, Hatchery Best Management Practices, Watershed Protection, Mitigation, Funding, and Public Education."

Regarding the last goal, Normandeau suggested that the Farmington Fish and Game Club at Club Pond might be a potential partner, noting that the organization has more than 400 members interested in fishing and preserving the waters.

Assessing the water quality impacts of the Powder Mill Hatchery was deemed essential. Initial action steps will include an examination of its current practices as they relate to the flow of phosphorus through the facility. The discharge of this element into the Merrymeeting River is considered to be a major contributor to the cyanobacteria blooms.

Continued river water quality testing in New Durham will build on a database created by Lay Lake volunteers last year; concurrently, new members from Alton will need to be trained to select sampling locations to create a system-wide profile of the watershed. Howard said Coffin Brook should be added as a sampling site since it's a key tributary.

This information, the committee believes, will be essential to assisting the EPA in determining phosphorus limits to inform a Watershed Management Plan. The data will also provide a baseline for evaluating future mitigation efforts. While local in focus, the matter of cyanobacteria on Downings and the greater Merrymeeting waterway will likely trigger federal involvement.

The group acknowledged, "We have been asked to collaborate with the EPA in testing water quality this summer. Going forward, the EPA will host a public input session in New Durham at the end of the summer."

The EPA will conduct its own testing of the river in the coming months and wants to coordinate activities with local officials. The federal agency will be hold a public input session in New Durham at the end of the summer when newly-collected data is reviewed, relative to a new discharge permit for the hatchery.

According to the draft minutes of the May 11 meeting, "Watershed protection would ultimately involve the development of a watershed protection plan including an evaluation of tributaries into the [river] to be sure there are no additional point or nonpoint sources of phosphorus loading."

This plan "would help identify all sources of pollution and aid in their mitigation. Non-point sources of phosphorus include runoff from agricultural, commercial, forestry, and residential operations." The committee agreed that "the approach for mitigating each of these non-point sources is different, but solutions have been found for each of them."

Quimby added he's been in contact with individuals who've dealt with each of these situations and has developed a library of information for the working groups. A list of these contacts was provided to each committee member.

Given the scope of the task at hand, the committee endeavored to devise a division of labor. Working groups will be charged with finding solutions to the problems identified. A key task will be evaluating what'll be necessary for the hatchery to meet new discharge limits going forward.

Since funding will likely be necessary to compensate outside experts, identifying and soliciting grant prospects was deemed a priority. While some private foundations provide funds, many of the most applicable funders are government-based.

The committee also agreed, "Public education is a critical component of this program and necessary to educate the residents of our two communities. Attracting volunteers and raising public awareness are two key goals. Future warrant articles might emerge from the committee, which also sees value in "educat[ing] town zoning and planning boards should the problems identified only be solved by changes in land use."

One member asked how solids are removed from hatchery waste water now. Smith, who is a Fish and Game official, explained that vacuuming techniques are employed to remove particulate matter.

New Durham selectman Rod Doherty asked what steps Fish and Game has taken to rectify past discharges of nutrients into the river. According to the draft minutes, "There was a healthy exchange of ideas expressed by both Glenn Normandeau and Jason Smith concerning this problem." The document also noted that the hatchery is not in violation of current EPA regulations, and that Fish and Game is committed to federal compliance regs and best practices.

The hatchery's new permit is expected to set limits on the discharge of

GRAVEL

as, "I might as well of stayed home," and "This was pointless" were heard in the school foyer as folks filed out.

Wolfeboro Selectman Linda Murray was among the people who turned out. Making clear that she was speaking with Salmon Press as an individual and not a public official representing her town, she said, "Whatever this ZBA decides will have a big impact."

Murray said Wolfeboro just repaved Middleton Road, which in New Durham and Middleton becomes Kings Highway. She expressed concern that increased dump truck traffic could adversely affect the road as heavy vehicles travel to access Route 28.

With no action on the matter, the gravel pit project will next be discussed on June 13. ZBA chairman Terry Jarvis said that the group will endeavor to obtain the school gym, but that the eventual location will be posted on the town web site.

Winni Walk of Wonder set for June 2 in Alton

ALTON — The eighth annual Winni Walk of Wonder, sponsored by the Alton Central School National Junior Honor Society will take place on Friday, June 2, at 9 a.m. Students will take to the road to help those less fortunate.

The walk is open to students in pre-kindergarten through eighth grade and there are prizes for students who raise the most money for charity. There are three different routes to accommodate the different grade levels. Permission slips are due by May 24 and they can not accommodate walkers who do not bring the permission slips by this date. Last year the Winni Walk of Wonder raised more than $8,800 but with slightly fewer students this year, they have set a goal of raising $7,000.

Each grade level has chosen a charity to donate funds to. Pre-kindergarten students will donate to Make-A-Wish, kindergarten will donate to David's House, both first and second grade will donate to End 68 Hours of Hunger, third grade will donate to Easter Seals Camp Sno Mo, fourth grade will donate to the Alton Food Pantry, fifth grade will donate to Lakes Region Humane Society, grade six will donate to Dana Farber Cancer Institute, grade seven will donate to American Cancer Society and grade eight will donate to the Blue Ribbon Project. Any local individuals or businesses looking to help support the walk are encouraged to contact Laurie Griggs at lgriggs@alton.k12.nh.us.

BARNSTEAD

positions. This reporter switched hats temporarily and presented the board with hopes to organize a "Barnstead Listens" project. The Carsey School of Public Policy at the University of New Hampshire sponsors a statewide New Hampshire Listens project and works with about 10 communities around the state that have local initiatives.

The nearby Pittsfield Listens project is sponsoring a session in late spring designed to elicit community input into long range planning for a new town forest recently donated to the town.

In Dover, the group has been around since 1999 and has held discussions and worked on reducing bullying in schools, and created a citizen-driven framework for school redistricting after the loss of one of four elementary schools.

In Barnstead, a small group of town, school, welfare and library employees has joined together with ministers and representatives of most of the town's churches to better coordinate services such as food distribution programs. The group will be partnering with Fab Cusson, Barnstead Health Officer, to try to address the exploding opioid epidemic in town. The Barnstead Listens project could provide a forum for citizen involvement in that effort.

During public input, Bruce Grey gave his regular update to the board regarding the progress of the archery program he is leading through the 4-H club. Twenty-nine students in the BAZ (Barnstead Adventure Zone) after school program have signed up to participate in the archery program. Four young people will represent New Hampshire at the national Archery competition in Nebraska this summer and three of them will be from Barnstead.

An article in a previous Baysider described a meeting the board of selectmen had with a firm that specializes in assisting smaller towns and cities collect ambulance service payments from insurance agencies and customers.

The company's presentation underscored the belief among town officials that the town was not collecting as high a share of billings as it could be.

Since then Karen Montgomery, Fire Chief Shawn Mulcahy and Fire Department Secretary Stacey Mulcahy have been working with Comstar, the town's current ambulance billing contractor, and poring over bills on which Comstar has been unable to collect. They have found that in many cases the town has given incomplete or inadequate information to Comstar, or that addresses or other information has changed since the billing was first submitted.

Montgomery told the board she and Stacey Mulcahy felt that if the latter worked more closely with Comstar before submitting bills, and when Comstar was having difficulties, they could generate an important increase in the amount the town collected. Selectman Rick Duane said he was really glad to have a second pair of eyes looking closely at the information so that the board was not totally dependent on the analysis of a competing contractor.

He said it appears the problem is not with Comstar and it would not be helped by switching contractors. "It looks like we may be able to fix this without having to pay the higher cost of a different contractor. One company had offered the town a cost of eight percent of collections; Comstar has brought its rate down to five percent.

Montgomery had also dug through piles of old files in the Town Hall vault to find the original court decisions that had directed the town to take responsibility for the maintenance of Locke Lake roads. In the early 1970s the Locke Lake Colony had asked the town to take over the responsibility. Usually the town can set standards for subdivision roads, and it refused the request because the roads had not been built to any standards.

However, the subdivision was built before Barnstead had a planning board, so there had been no formal subdivision process and no standards had been set for the subdivision process. For a combination of reasons, the courts sided with Locke Lake Colony and directed the town to take responsibility.

The town's attorney at the time told the board he thought it was a bad decision, but for reasons that were not immediately apparent the board did not appeal to the Supreme Court. The selectmen had been curious to clarify this question for some time. In 1972 a warrant article at Town Meeting was passed to accept the roads.

The Parks and Recreation Commission has scheduled a clean-up of the skating rink, basketball court and surrounding areas for Saturday, June 3, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. They are inviting one and all to give a helping hand and enjoy the camaraderie and light refreshments. They are planning a kickoff summer barbeque for later in June. Parks and Rec is also hiring summer attendants for the town beach on Upper Suncook Lake. Lifeguard skills are not required. Call town hall at 269-4071 if interested.

Selectman Ed Tasker reported that the Conservation Commission, which has been busy the last few years working with individuals who have come to the commission to offer to place land under easement or transfer ownership to the town, has recently been pro-actively looking at parcels of land that would be important assets for conservation. They have identified a couple of areas of town where conservation lands would be desirable, and are making plans to work with landowners.

able, and are making plans to work with landowners.

In less exciting news for taxpayers, tax bills are being printed as the Baysider goes to press, and residents can expect to see them in the mail by May 22. Payments will be due by July 5.

Cusson had reported at an earlier meeting that the Town Hall basement needed additional structural support. Some consideration had been given to having him do the work for the town. He has recommended to the board that an outside company be hired. He will prepare a detailed description of the work needed in order to get cost estimates and bids. It is unclear if the cost will be significant enough to require a formal bidding process with three competing bids.

The board continued its discussion from earlier meetings about department and town goals for the year. Montgomery reported that the road agent and police chief had submitted their goals, and the fire chief had promised his shortly. Discussion of the goals will be the primary focus of a department head meeting on May 27.

The meeting began with a non-public session on an undisclosed topic, and ended with a second non-public meeting to discuss a potential real estate transaction.

From seaside to the Upper Coös, “Spring has sprung” is a long leap

John Harrigan is off this week. This column originally ran on May 15, 2014.

This is a great time of the year, a time between seasons that doesn't necessarily have a name, just a phrase, "On the cusp of the seasons," meaning end of winter, almost spring. (Caveat: I know full well that people reading this in Haverhill and Plymouth and Wolfeborough will say "What's he talking about? We're there," to which I'd reply "Well, we're not.")

New Hampshire's well-known inequality of seasons is doing a role-reversal here. As winter approaches, the far North Country, Pittsburg, Stewartstown, Errol, Colebrook, get the first serious sticking snow. The gradual southward creep of this is known as the snowline. It creeps steadily down, through the notches and day by day down over the rest of northern New England.

But as spring approaches, the snowline begins its creep in reverse. That is why we see so many migratory birds at this time of year, hunting and foraging northward as the ground is bared.

NORTH COUNTRY NOTEBOOK

By JOHN HARRIGAN

Item: When Danny Beloin and I were dragging trees and cutting them up for the outdoor furnace woodshed, on April 30 and May 1, it snowed on both mornings. Item: As I was writing this, on Thursday, May 8, the leaves were not even close to being out around my farm at elevation 1,556, Colebrook. Item: Along Route 145, from Colebrook to Pittsburg, a discerning eye could spot lingering snowbanks in the woods. Item: in the high country of Pittsburg, anyone traveling the woods would still find two to three feet of snow.

To illustrate the creep of the snowline first south and then back, old-timers would say that in springtime a man starting at Strawberry Banke in Portsmouth, walking at a steady pace, could pick emerging wild strawberries all the way to the Canadian border in Pittsburg.

On a more local and personal basis, all this translates, for me, into this:

First come the hawks and eagles, soaring as they hunt their way to their ancestral haunts, bound for Newfoundland, Labrador and beyond.

Then comes the first flower, yellow coltsfoot, followed by cowslips (some people call these "marsh marigolds," for Pete's sake).

Next come the peepers, singing their little hearts out as they cling to shrubs and reeds.

And next (you guessed it) come the black flies, first the males, which don't bite, and three or four days later, the females, which certainly do (excuse department: The females need blood to produce their young). We don't have a black fly "season," in some years we have them right through to October, especially in the high country. This means, for me, carrying a can of Deep Woods Off in every vehicle, truck, car, Jeep, tractor, plus one for the pack basket.

But then too, on come the dandelion greens and fiddleheads, fun to gather right around home, just as the ancestors did, the first greens of spring, right there in a place of honor on the dining room table.

Pet of the Week: Roxanne

LACONIA — Optimistic and alert, accepting her life at the New Hampshire Humane Society, this is Roxanne, Staffordshire Terrier aged just two years old.

Roxanne has never actually enjoyed the comforts of home, she came from New Jersey, and traveled to New Hampshire. Roxanne had been living at a sister shelter in the Granite State and perhaps that well documented, ugly and true concept of the "Black Dog Syndrome" is at play, there was no interest from the adopting public. So, she came to Laconia in the hopes a new location might help her find a forever home.

Roxanne does have some requirements, she must be the only dog in your household, and would do best living with adults, since she has had zero experience with children. Staff would love to find a committed, permanent home for her with savvy dog owners who are energetic, great pack leaders, understand the exercise needs of this sturdy girl, but can give her a secure, safe environment to blossom. Perhaps watching that Netflix documentary, The Champions, would be a good homework assignment for those who are interested.

Relay for Life set for Rochester on June 24

ROCHESTER — The Relay For Life of Rochester would like to invite all area cancer survivors to attend the event's free Survivor Luncheon and Celebration on June 24. The event will begin at 11 a.m. and will be held at the track and field at Spaulding High School in Rochester.

Survivors will participate in opening ceremonies by kicking off the event during the Survivor Lap around the track followed by a free lunch including participation gift, guest speakers and prizes.

All cancer survivors, from recently diagnosed to decades post-recovery, are invited to attend. The Relay For Life of Rochester is a community-based fundraiser for the American Cancer Society. The more survivors who are able to attend the event, the more hope and inspiration event participants will experience in the fight against cancer.

For more information or to RSVP, survivors can contact Survivorship Chair Dave Lynch at dlynch428@aol.com or visiting www.relayforlife.org/rochesternh.

Timber Wolves rally to top 'Toppers

BY JOSHUA SPAULDING

Sports Editor

ALTON — Trailing for most of their game against Somersworth on May 11, the Prospect Mountain baseball boys rallied in the sixth inning to come away with a 4-3 win. The win was Prospect's second of the week in three games, with the third also involving a rally that came up just short.

"We had a good week of baseball," said Prospect coach Bubba Noyes. "We had some good pitching this week."

The Timber Wolves did score first against the 'Toppers, as they got two runs in the bottom of the first inning. Ryker Burke walked, Drew Nickerson followed with a base hit and a Sam Borelli sacrifice fly drove in the first run, while an error allowed the second run to score and Prospect led 2-0 after two.

The visitors were able to get to Nickerson for three runs in the top of the second inning and took the 3-2 lead and held tight for the next few innings.

Noah Sanville led off the bottom of the third inning with a walk and then moved up on a sacrifice bunt by Burke. Nickerson got his second hit of the game to put two runners on and then stole second, but both runners were left stranded and the 'Toppers held the lead.

Borelli made a great scoop at first base in the top of the fourth and Nickerson was able to get a strikeout to end the inning with one runner on base. Prospect went in order in the bottom of the fourth and Nickerson set the side down in order in the top of the fifth inning, thanks in part to a nice play from Luke Mostoller at shortstop, as he went into the hole to track a grounder and fired the ball across the diamond to Borelli for the third out.

Richard Stevens led off the bottom of the fifth with an infield hit and one out later, Burke had a base hit to put two runners on base again. However, a 5-3 double play closed out the inning and Somersworth held on to the 3-2 lead.

Prospect was finally able to break through in the bottom of the sixth inning. Hunter Sanborn had a base hit and Borelli reached on catcher's interference, as his bat hit the catcher's mitt on his swing. Both runners came around to score when Luke Mostoller delivered a base hit and the Timber Wolves had the 4-3 lead.

Nickerson then shut the door on the 'Toppers in the top of the seventh inning to secure the 4-3 win for the Timber Wolves. Stevens also made a great catch in left field to open the seventh inning.

"They're all important now," Noyes said, noting the team is sitting right around 10th place, with just 12 teams making the playoffs this season.

Noyes praised his team's pitching throughout the week, as Nickerson was strong against Somersworth, Caleb Piwnicki pitched well in a win over Mascenic on Monday and Zack McLaughlin pitched well in relief in a loss to Campbell.

In that game, Prospect trailed 7-0 and rallied all the way back before dropping an 8-7 decision. Prospect had the winning run on third base in the bottom of the seventh but could not get the run home.

"They showed a lot of character," Noyes said.

Prospect scored five runs in the fourth inning and one each in the fifth and sixth to tie the game before Campbell scored one in the eighth inning and held on for the win.

Sanborn had four hits to lead the offense while Ryan Dube drove in two runs.

Against Mascenic, Prospect scored a run in the first and another in the third. Piwnicki went the distance and allowed just five hits on the day as Prospect won 2-0.

Timber Wolves roll over ‘Toppers

BY JOSHUA SPAULDING
Sports Editor

ALTON — The offense for the Prospect Mountain softball team had been struggling heading into the game with Somersworth on May 11.

The Timber Wolves had scored just one run in each of the previous two games that week, falling to Mascenic by a 3-1 score and Campbell by a 6-1 score.

They matched that and then some in the first inning against the Toppers and took advantage of walks and errors to roll to a 20-0 win.

“A win is a win,” said Prospect coach Rick Burley. “We have to take it one game at a time and not worry about our record.”

Prospect pitcher Brianna Burley worked around two errors in the first inning, striking out the side and the Timber Wolves got three runs in the bottom of the frame.

Bekah Wheeler led off with a base hit and stole second and Leah Dunne worked a walk as well. Burley grounded to third, forcing Wheeler and one out later, Mackenzie Burke delivered a base hit to drive in two runs. After BettyJane Weir walked, Kasey Lacroix reached on an error to drive in another run for a 3-0 lead.

Burley gave up a pair of hits in the top of the second inning but also struck out two in the inning to keep the ‘Toppers off the board.

Megan Chase led off the bottom of the second inning with a walk and she scored on a double by Wheeler. Dunne moved Wheeler over with a groundout and after Burley walked and stole second, an Ali Brown sacrifice fly plated Prospect’s fifth run for the 5-0 lead.

The Prospect Mountain bats continued to move along in the third inning, as they scored seven runs in the frame, taking advantage of walks and also a key hit from Dunne.

In the fourth inning, the Timber Wolves continued the onslaught, plating eight runs. Burley and Brown both had doubles in the inning and Burke, Anna Brassaw and Burley all had singles as well as the Timber Wolves upped the lead to 20-0.

The visitors got a base hit to open the top of the fifth inning, but Burley came back and struck out the side, giving her 10 on the day and clinching the 20-0 win for the Timber Wolves.

“I told the girls, you can not show up and play to another team’s level,” Burley noted. “But the girls didn’t do that today.”

The Timber Wolf coach also pointed out that with his team’s tough schedule this year, the girls will likely be ready for the challenge of the playoffs, when that time comes around.

“We have one of the toughest schedules in Division III,” Burley said. “It’s going to help us come playoff time.

“We’ve seen some very good teams and we’ve showed that we can compete with anybody,” the Timber Wolf coach added.

The Timber Wolves will be back in action on Friday, May 19, at Somersworth at 4 p.m., then hosting Gilford on Monday, May 22, and Raymond on Wednesday, May 24, both at 4 p.m.

Prospect tennis boys and girls both get wins

BY JOSHUA SPAULDING
Sports Editor

ALTON — The Prospect Mountain boys’ tennis team came away with its first win of the season last week among a few games for the Timber Wolves.

The Timber Wolf boys and girls took on Profile on Monday, May 8, with the girls on the road in Bethlehem and the boys hosting at home.

The girls dropped an 8-1 decision to the Patriots.

The lone win came at number two singles, where Meagan Minaya won by an 8-5 score.

Gabriela d’Empaire-Poirier fell 8-0 in the top spot, Ava Blair lost by an 8-5 score at number three and Serena Avery fell 8-4 at number four. Sydney DeJager dropped an 8-4 decision at number five and Anna Francis fell by an 8-3 score at number six. In doubles play, Minaya and Blair played at number one and lost 8-4, while DeJager and Avery lost an 8-1 decision at number two and Francis and Emily Brosnahan dropped a 9-8 decision in the third spot.

At home, the boys also dropped an 8-1 decision to the Patriots.

Max Tuttle played at number one and fell by an 8-3 score, while Jack Kelley lost 8-0 at number two and Lucas Therrien fell 8-2 at number three.

Jake Blair lost 8-3 at number four, Colby Bisson fell 8-0 at number five and Josh Keslar dropped an 8-4 decision at number six.

In doubles play, Tuttle and Kelley lost 8-4 at number one and Therrien and Blair lost an 8-1 decision at number two.

Keslar and John Libenson won by forfeit at the number three spot.

The Timber Wolves visited Moultonborough on Wednesday, May 10, and picked up a 5-4 win, the first victory of the season.

“By stepping up their game, our doubles teams won all three sets, sealing the victory,” said coach Al Poirier.

Max Tuttle got an 8-0 win at number one, his first singles win of the season, while Jake Blair won by an 8-3 score at number three to give Prospect two singles wins.

The Panthers won the other four singles matches, however, to take a 4-2 lead to doubles. Kelley lost 8-1 at number two, Bisson fell 8-3 at number four, Keslar lost 8-2 at number five and Libenson lost 8-6 at number six.

In doubles, Tuttle and Blair got the 8-4 win at number one, while Kelley and Bisson won 8-2 at number two and Keslar and Libenson got an 8-4 win at number three.

The Timber Wolf girls dropped an 8-1 decision to the Panthers on their home courts.

Minaya lost 8-4 at number one, while Blair came through with an 8-1 win in the second singles spot. Avery fell 8-1 at number three, Francis lost 8-3 at number four, DeJager lost in a tiebreaker by a 9-8 score at number five and Brosnahan lost 8-2 at number six.

In doubles play, Mi-naya and Blair lost 8-2 at number one, Avery and DeJager lost 8-1 at number two and Francis and Brosnahan lost 8-4 at number three.

The Prospect girls traveled to Inter-Lakes on Thursday for a make-up match and swept the doubles match for a 5-4 win.

Brosnahan’s singles match went to a tiebreaker as did the doubles match for Avery and DeJager and both matches ended with wins for the Timber Wolves.

Howlett, Hardie get wins at Newfound

BY JOSHUA SPAULDING
Sports Editor

BRISTOL — Despite missing some seniors who were away on the annual senior trip, the Prospect Mountain track team put up some decent performances at the Bristol Lions Invitational at Newfound on Saturday.

The top performance for the Timber Wolf boys came in the 800 meters, where Prospect had three of the top four finishers. Freshman Tommy Howlett ran to the win in a time of 2:04, with Troy Meyer finishing in second place in 2:06 and Alex Amann finishing in fourth in 2:07. Joe Doherty finished 17th in 2:18.

In the 100 meters, Caleb Parelius finished in 18th place in 12.79 seconds, with Chris Normandin in 19th place in 12.84 and James Williams in 24th place in 13.45 seconds.

Normandin finished in ninth place in the 200 meters in 25.82 seconds, with Parelius in 14th place in 27.2 and Williams in 19th place in 28.35.

Patrick Hodgman ran to 10th in the 400 meters in 57.84, with Jeremy Woodbury right behind in 11th place in 57.85 and Ryan Nolin in 18th place in 1:01. Zack Chouinard ran to 16th place in the 1,600 meters in a time of 5:31.

In the 3,200 meters, Nate Cormier finished in seventh place with a time of 12:19.

Parelius took 17th place in the long jump at 14 feet, 10.5 inches and Williams was 23rd overall at 13 feet, 8.5 inches.

Garrett Smith threw his way to seventh in meters in 30.99, with Stonner finishing in 24th place in 34.71 seconds.

Lily Michaud finished in 20th place in the 800 meters in a time of 3:08 and Stonner was 16th in the long jump at nine feet, 11.5 inches.

The team of Brownell, Dalrymple, Clark and Hardie finished in fourth place in the 4X100-meter relay in a time of 56.55 seconds and the same team ran in the 4X400-meter relay and finished in sixth place in 5:11.

Prospect Mountain will be competing again in the Wilderness Championships, which take place on Saturday, May 20, at 9 a.m. in Gilford.

the shot put with a toss of 36 feet, 7.5 inches with Normandin in 36th place at 24 feet. Smith was 22nd in the discus at 83 feet, four inches and he added a ninth place in the javelin with a throw of 111 feet, six inches.

Prospect was also strong in a pair of relays. The team of Meyer, Howlett, Amann and Woodbury finished first in the 4X400-meter relay in a time of 3:44 and in the 4X100-meter relay, the team of Riley McCartney, Hodgman, Normandin and Woodbury was fourth in 48.15 seconds.

The lone win for the Timber Wolf girls came in the triple jump, where freshman Gracie Hardie took the win at 30 feet, 1.5 inches.

Naomi Ingham ran to fourth place overall in the 3,200 meters in a time of 13:47.

Gabby Clark cleared four feet, six inches in the high jump to take third place overall.

Hardie took 10th overall in the 100 meters in 14.04 seconds, with Taren Brownell in 21st in 14.91, Clark in 22nd in 15.09 and Tovah Stonner in 31st in 16.06.

BRYAN DELANEY got the win for Kingswood against Kennett last week.

WILL TREUEL comes up throwing after making a play at shortstop on Friday afternoon.

Contrada, Delaney deliver Knights win over Eagles

BY JOSHUA SPAULDING
Sports Editor

NORTH CONWAY — When the Kennett and Kingswood baseball teams met up early in the season, the Knights won a high-scoring affair in Wolfeboro.

A month or so later, the Knights traveled to North Conway and the two teams engaged in a pitching duel, with the Knights this time edging out a 2-1 win.

“The boys have to understand you have to work for it,” said Kingswood coach Chip Skelley. “They’re (Kennett) getting better, they threw strikes and made plays.”

“It was a great game,” said Kennett coach Josh McAllister. “That’s a good baseball team over there.”

“The thing that’s different is we’re throwing strikes and playing defense,” the Eagle coach added. “In those first few games we were nowhere near the strike zone and there were errors all over.”

Evan Lavoice and Will Treuel both reached in the top of the first inning for Kingswood but Kennett starter Jama Goff got a strikeout to get himself out of trouble. Kaleb Pepin had a base hit in the bottom of the inning for the Eagles but he was left on base as Kingswood starter Bryan Delaney worked around the hit.

Kingswood took the lead in the top of the second inning. With two outs, Bryton Clifford had a base hit and Jack Saunders reached on an error. Delaney then delivered a bloop hit behind first base that allowed Clifford to score the game’s first run.

Kennett came back and put two runners on in the bottom of the inning. Derek Dascoulias reached on an error to open the inning and moved up on a groundout by Aaron Lamar on which Treuel made a great play at shortstop. Devon Willette worked a walk but the runners were stranded.

Devon Ouellette made a nice grab of a line drive to short in the top of the third inning and both Sam Danais at third and Treuel at shortstop had nice plays for the Knights in the bottom of the inning. Goff set Kingswood down in order in the fourth inning on three grounders.

The Eagles were able to tie the game in the bottom of the fourth inning. Goff led off with a base hit and moved up on a sacrifice bunt by Dascoulias. Lamar beat out an infield hit and one out later, a Ouellette hit plated the tying run but Delaney got out of trouble by getting a grounder back to the mound.

Delaney had a one-out base hit in the top of the fifth and moved up on a groundout by Brian Lindsay but he was stranded at second base.

Pepin had a base hit for the Eagles with one out in the fifth inning and Ethan Robitaille also reached but they were unable to get the run home.

Treuel led off the top of the sixth inning with a walk and stole second. He took third on a groundout by Jay Warthen and Andy Contrada followed with a double to plate the go-ahead run. McAllister went to Nate Grames on the hill and he got a strikeout and a fly ball to left to end the inning. Delaney got a strikeout and made a nice play on a line drive in the bottom of the sixth inning and the Knights went down in order in the top of the seventh.

Treuel took over on the hill in the seventh inning and got all three batters he faced to close out the 2-1 win. It was his first pitching appearance of the season.

“The idea was to get him in for an inning or two,” Skelley said of his senior star. “But Bryan, he’s been very consistent.

“He gives up hits but his ball is down in the strike zone and we play well behind him,” Skelley added. “It was nice to see high school baseball like that.”

The veteran coach noted that there will be days where not everything comes together and it’s good to be able to get a win on those days.

“Jama and Nate, they threw strikes and if we throw strikes, we’ll be OK,” McAllister said.

He also praised the key hit from Ouellette that tied the game in the fourth inning.

“Devon’s been playing pretty well,” the Eagle coach said. “He’s hot right now.”

Kennett will be in action at Bow on Friday, May 19, at 4:15 p.m., returns home to host Merrimack Valley on Monday, May 22, at 4 p.m. and then visits Oyster River at 4 p.m. on Wednesday, May 24.

Kingswood will be hosting Hanover at 4:30 p.m. on Friday, May 19, and Bow on Monday, May 22, at 4 p.m. before visiting Con-Val on Wednesday, May 24, at 4 p.m.

Big fourth inning leads Eagles past Knights

BY JOSHUA SPAULDING
Sports Editor

NORTH CONWAY — After breaking out the bats earlier in the week against Plymouth, the Kennett softball team struggled a bit in the next two games, which included Friday’s tilt with Carroll County rival Kingswood.

However, the Eagles were able to push across two runs in the second and four in the third to pull out an 8-2 win over the Knights.

“I thought we moved the ball pretty well after an eight-inning game yesterday (1-0 loss to St. Thomas),” said Kennett coach Peter Ames. “Coming back today, you’re not really sure what you’ll get.

“We started off a little flat, but we got down some bunts, which was nice,” Ames added.

“We had a couple of bad innings and didn’t score enough runs,” said Kingswood coach Dick Arthur. “Two would have been enough if we played clean, but we kicked it around a little bit.

“Getting down 6-1, it’s pretty tough after that,” Arthur added.

Kingswood got on the board first in the top of the first inning, though they easily could’ve had more runs.

With one out, Shawna Knowles was hit by a pitch and Maddie Rabideau followed with a base hit. Arian-na Daoust took over on the bases and stole second base. Mallory McCullough grounded to short and the Eagles conceded the run, as Knowles crossed the plate. However, Daoust raced for third on the throw and beat Cassidy Chick’s throw across the diamond. However, Hannah Tessier kept the tag on Daoust at third and when she lifted her leg slightly off the base, she was called out to end the inning.

Izzy Wroblewski had a bunt base hit with one out in the bottom of the inning but Rabideau came back and got a strikeout and a fly ball to right to end the inning.

The Eagles got a one-out hit from Sam Johnson in the bottom of the inning and Kaitlyn Janos followed with a bloop hit. Olivia Stewart’s grounder to second moved both runners up and a wild pitch compounded by a throwing error allowed both runners to score for a 2-1 lead.

Kennett got four in the third inning, with Johnson delivering the big hit, a two-run double. Lauren Pomerleau kept the Eagles off the board in the bottom of the fourth inning, as she made a nice grab in right field to end the inning.

Casey Mills answered with her own nice play in right field in the top of the fifth inning after Abby Coulter reached on an error to open the frame. However, the Knights could not add any runs in the inning. Rabideau also helped out her own cause in the bottom of the fifth, making a nice play on a grounder back up the middle through the circle.

In the top of the sixth inning, the Knight pitcher ripped a shot over the fence in center field for a solo homer, cutting the lead to 6-2. Courtney Drew followed one out later with a base hit and Sami Hotchkiss took over on the bases. A Pomerleau base hit put another runner on base, but Janos got a strikeout to end the inning.

Kennett added a pair of runs in the bottom of the sixth inning.

Johnson led off with an infield hit and stole second. Janos followed with a base hit and a groundout by Sarah Tetreault plated one run. Tessier added another run with a base hit before Rabideau got a strikeout to end the inning.

Janos struck out two of three batters in the top of the seventh to clinch the 8-2 win.

“Kaitlyn pitched pretty well,” Ames noted. “But I think we got a little out of sorts and lost focus.

“Some of that is this was the fourth game this week,” the veteran coach continued. “And they’ve been some big games.”

He pointed out that the team came into the week 6-1 and easily could’ve left the week without wins since they were playing solid teams.

“But I think we’re doing OK this week,” he noted. “We’ve made good plays and the pitching’s been good.”

“We’ve had a string of four or five practices that have been really pretty good,” Arthur noted. “And in the last five games, really only two we’ve kicked it around.

“The team’s improved tremendously over the last two weeks,” the first-year mentor noted. “We’re heading in the right direction.

“We’re making a lot more plays in the field and putting the ball in play,” Arthur continued. “It’s good to see both sides of the ball improving as we head down the stretch.”

Kennett will be in action at Bow on Friday, May 19, at 4:15 p.m., will be hosting Merrimack Valley on Monday, May 22, and visiting Oyster River on Wednesday, May 24, both at 4 p.m.

The Knights will be hosting Trinity on Friday, May 19, at 4 p.m. and Bow on Monday, May 22, at 4 p.m. The team plays at Con-Val on Wednesday, May 24, at 4 p.m.

Taking my Survivor love out of the country for a day

People who read this column on a regular basis know of my love for Survivor. I’ve used this love as an excuse to travel around the country. I listen to former Survivor Rob Cesternino’s podcast, Rob Has A Podcast (RHAP) and his live events have become a must-attend for me.

Over the past few years, I’ve made six trips to New York City for live shows, plus a couple of trips to Los Angeles, one to Reno and one to Chicago.

Last week, the love of the game and my love of RHAP took me out of the country for the first time in a long time.

The last time I left the country was for the Olympics in 2014 but when Rob announced on a podcast that he was hosting an event in Toronto, I bought a ticket and started planning.

Like most of my RHAP trips, I had to keep it relatively short, since my work commitments wouldn’t allow me to miss too much time and missing more than a day of work really puts me behind when it comes to the things I need to do.

With my new workout and diet program, I thought this trip might be a bit more difficult and it was. In order to get the proper daily workout in, I got up at 2 a.m., did the workout and then cooked breakfast at 2:45 a.m. Because of the food requirements throughout the day, I loaded up on the breakfast because I knew I’d have few opportunities while flying to eat the right foods.

SPORTING CHANCE

I left the house just before 3:15 a.m. and made the trip south to Dover, where I caught the 4:30 a.m. bus to Logan Airport. My biggest concern was that passing through international security and/or customs might be difficult, but this was by far the easiest time I’ve ever had going through security. There was no line at the gates at Logan and when I got to Toronto, there was no line at customs either, which was fantastic.

I hadn’t been to Toronto since my sophomore year band trip in high school and I came away impressed with the city. I went up the CN Tower and got a great look at the city from above before spending a good chunk of the afternoon wandering around near the Lake Ontario waterfront. I managed to get some somewhat healthy food for lunch and again at dinner before heading to the show.

This RHAP show was a bit different, since it took place in a hotel ballroom, but we got to watch a great episode of Survivor and had a great discussion of the episode with Rob and cohost Stephen Fishbach, along with former Survivors Bret LaBelle and Shirin Oskooi and renowned Survivor journalist Josh Wigler, who is one of my all-time favorite people in the Survivor universe and one of the nicest people you could ask for, to boot.

JOSHUA SPAULDING

I had a really early flight out of Toronto on Thursday morning, so I headed back to the airport (there’s a great train running from the airport to the city) late on Wednesday night/Thursday morning and crashed for a bit on the airport floor.

If I thought the trip through security and customs was easy coming in to Canada, it was almost as easy going back. The US allowed us to clear customs in Toronto and the security and customs were basically empty at 3:45 a.m. so it went pretty quickly.

We landed after 8 a.m. and I caught the bus north to Dover and was back to work just after noon, in time for the Prospect Mountain baseball and softball games.

It was great to take my love of Survivor out of the country for a few hours and I look forward to the next trip.

Finally, have a great day Donna Rhodes.
