

Bristol FD collects donations for Children’s Auction

BRISTOL – Andrew Reale and Rob Glassett of the Bristol Fire Company were out bright and early last Saturday morning to collect donations for the upcoming Great Lakes Region Children’s Auction. Money raised through the auction each year helps fund non-profit organizations for children, which in turn provides not only Christmas gifts but year round basic needs such as food, clothing, hygiene supplies and shelter.

Members of the Fire Company were stationed beside the traffic light at Pleasant and Lake Street, where ALEXANDRIA – Police in Alexandria recently notified the media that on Nov. 19, they were called to a disturbing situation which culminated in the arrest of a man on drug related charges, along with the abuse of an elderly relative who suffers from dementia.

Sgt. David Suckling told reporters that a visiting nurse initially contacted police after discovering a white substance that was believed to be fentanyl inside one of her patient’s prescription bottles.

Alexandria Police then obtained a search warrant for the premises and in the course of that search found more.

“While we were ex-cuting the search warrant, we found a bottle of oxycodone that had been filled with acetaminophen (Tylenol),” Suckling told reporters.

The elderly gentleman’s 53-year-old son, Craig Braman of North Road in Alexandria, along with the uniden-

Ring in the season at Plymouth’s Hometown Holiday Celebration

BY DONNA RHODES
drhodes@salmonpress.news

PLYMOUTH – Just one week after all the Thanksgiving feasts are over, the Town of Plymouth will be the scene of the 2019 Hometown Holiday Celebration, which begins on Friday, Dec. 6 with a wide variety of entertainment and activities for people of all ages to enjoy.

The three-day event kicks off at 10:30 a.m. that day with the opening of the Festival of Trees. The festival takes place in the upper level of the Plymouth Senior Center and Plymouth State University’s Acapello Groups will add to the holiday atmosphere with a performance at 5 p.m. At 7 p.m. that night, the Windham Hills’ Winter Solstice acoustical concert will also be held at the Silver Center for the Arts on the university campus. Tickets for that event are $25-$40 and are available by calling 535-ARTS.

On Saturday, the Festival of Trees continues while several other activities take place throughout the day, including the Ninth Annual PES Jingle Bell 5K Run/Walk and pancake breakfast at Plymouth Elementary School. For registration and information please send an email to ssanborn@pemibaker.org.

Melanie Hitchcock, editor of Parenting NH. “Whether it is at child care center, the library or the playground, parents give each other advice on what and who is the best. The Family Favorites contest gives them the opportunity to share that information with a wider public.”

Family Favorite Award online voting took place from July 1 through Aug. 15. The complete results of the reader’s poll appeared in the November 2019 issue of Parenting NH.

The national award-winning ParentingNH is the first and only statewide publication for parents of children and teens and celebrated its 26th anniversary in 2019.

Pease Library hosting dialogue on “Land, Wealth and Policies of Marginalization”

PLYMOUTH — The Black Heritage Trail of New Hampshire (BHT-NH) and New Hampshire Humanities, will host a community dialogue entitled “Land, Wealth and Policies of Marginalization” on Sunday, Dec. 8 at 2 p.m. at Pease Public Library in Plymouth.

Facilitated by Meg Peterson, founding Director of the National Writing Project in New Hampshire, a panel will discuss why large racial and ethnic disparities still exist in the US, despite improvements in education, social mobility and other critical areas.

This year’s expanded Tea Talk series take place in Plymouth, Keene and Nashua, as part of BHTNH’s statewide expansion drive. These intentional and participatory dialogues serve as a catalyst for deeper excavating of New Hampshire’s Black history and the role this history plays in our communities today.

Panelists Suzanne Gaulocher, Meghan Howey, and Woullard Lett will explore how policies and environmental issues disenfranchised the very groups they should equalize. Intentional government policies that removed lands and resources from Native Americans and restricted access for African Americans created a significant wealth divide in the country that continues to this day.

Meg J. Petersen is a writer and teacher of writing at Plymouth State University. She has more than 25 years’ experience as a teacher educator. Twice awarded Fulbright Scholar Grants to work with teachers in the Dominican Republic on the teaching of writing, Ms. Petersen also consulted there on the formation of the Proyecto de Escritura Nacional.

Suzanne Gaulocher is Assistant Professor in Public Health and is the Associate Director the Center for Healthy Communities. Before joining PSU, she directed the Community Engaged Learning Program focused on Health at Stanford University. She holds a PhD from the University of Wisconsin at Madison where she was a part of the Center for Sustainability and the Global Environment focusing on the intersection of human and environmental health. She also holds a Master of Public Health from the University of Wisconsin School of Medicine and Public Health and a Master of Arts from Oregon State University in Applied Medical Anthropology and a Bachelor of Science also from OSU in Cultural Anthropology. Her research and teaching centers around the intersection between human health and the environment with focus on community engagement, social justice and health equity.

Woullard Lett is the Acting Regional Lead for the New England Region Unitarian Universalist Association (UAA). Prior to that, he was a nonprofit and community development consultant, a senior college administrator for Southern New Hampshire University (SNHU) and an adjunct faculty member at SNHU and Springfield College. During his career, Lett provided technical assistance to government agencies, national community development intermediaries, and local community organizations.

This program is an expansion of the BHT-NH signature Elinor Williams Hooker Tea Talk Series named in honor of Elinor Williams Hooker a longtime resident of Nashua, New Hampshire. This series is made possible by a grant from the New Hampshire Humanities and is sponsored by Keene State College, Pease Public Library, Nashua Public Library, Plymouth State University, Outreach for Black Unity and the Greater Nashua NAACP.

Peabody & Smith's Missy Sullivan earns Associate Broker License

PLYMOUTH — Peabody & Smith Realty is pleased to announce that longtime sales associate Missy Sullivan has earned her Associate Broker license.

"Missy has worked at our firm for over a decade and her clients and customers sing her praises on the surveys we send out after a closing. They comment on her exceptional market knowledge and more," said Andy Smith, Broker/Owner of Peabody & Smith Realty.

"We encourage continued education for all of our agents, and I know Missy will continue to provide top-notch service to our clients and customers."

Sullivan has worked with the Plymouth area firm for the last 11 years, but has been immersed in real estate her whole life. Sullivan's mother, Carla Blanchette, was a broker for many years in the area and owned her own firm. Sullivan earned her

Pease Library hosting climate change presentation

PLYMOUTH — Devastating fires in Australia, Montana, Alaska and California? Ever more frequent hurricanes in the US and the Caribbean? Record flooding in Venice and in the Midwest? Is global climate change still up for debate? Is it all about belief or hard science?

Dr. Sam Miller, Associate Professor of Meteorology at Plymouth State University and Director of Research at the Judd Gregg Meteorology Institute, will challenge our thinking on the subject and show us the numbers to support his view that we and our entire planet are in real trouble.

What can we do? Join Miller and other concerned community members at Pease Public Library on Dec. 4 at 7 p.m. to hear him present his ideas.

The story behind NH Children's Auction

BY JANICE BEETLE

Greater Lakes Region Children's Auction

Back in 1976, when Warren Bailey was starting his career as a morning DJ at WLNH, his mentor taught him something that has since changed the lives of thousands in the Lakes Region.

"He told me, 'The microphone is a powerful tool. Do something meaningful with it,'" Warren recalls.

It wasn't a message Warren knew how to act on back then. He was 24. He had yet to glimpse need firsthand. But six years later, when he saw poverty up close for the first time, that experience coupled with his mentor's mantra inspired Warren to begin the Greater Lakes Region Children's Auction that year, using the power of his microphone to raise money for children and families in need.

Broadcasting on WLNH from an unheated van parked on North Main Street, Warren raised $2,100, auctioning off two truckloads of items donated by people in the region. Little by little, area residents joined with Warren's passion to create an event that helps to sustain 62 area nonprofits, including CADY, that provide for children and families in need.

The Auction now involves thousands, many of whom give up a week's vacation for the privilege of taking part in dozens of ways. Auction items are so plentiful the event venue needs to be vast in size. A nonprofit board now governs the Children's Auction. The total raised continues to climb each year. In 2018, the Auction raised $580,584.

"It's overwhelming," says Warren, a gentle and tender man who gets weepy as he tells the Auction's stories, which have played out over nearly four decades. They are the stories of the people who have helped the effort grow, the people who have been served and now give back.

"It takes your breath away," he adds, "the volunteers are there every year."

As he does each year, Warren will make his traditional appearance at the Auction during the 38th annual event, to be held from Dec. 3 to Dec. 7 at the Belknap Mall. Returning gives Warren the pleasure of hearing stories from children who were helped long ago and now give back in gratitude—like the young girl who walked away from the auction site 25 years ago, accompanied by a crying mother; the mom was deemed unworthy of assistance due to an addiction and sent away by a volunteer—long since excused from service.

Warren chased the two out; he gave the mother $20, saying, "Promise me you will do something for your daughter with this."

Not long ago, that girl—now a grown woman who is a paralegal in Boston—drove to the Auction. She asked for Warren personally, thanked him for the help he offered her late mother; and handed him a check for $1,000.

"That's the kind of impact that the Auction has had," Warren said. "And that's just one powerful story."

In the beginning, Warren spread the word by asking everyone he met to listen to his story of the Auction and its magic for 10 minutes. In this way, he built steady and unexpected support and growth. Previously broadcast only on the radio, the event was first broadcast on television in 1998. Through the generous collaboration of local partners, the event has continued to grow in profit and technical sophistication.

"The generosity of the community blows my mind," Warren says. "People would so often come to the broadcast and hand me $10, knowing it's the last $10 they have, but also believing that someone else needs it more. There's no shortage of Christmas spirit at the Children's Auction."

CADY staff and volunteers will be participating in the Children's Auction on Dec. 3 from noon-1 p.m. Please consider calling in to make a pledge. At this time of giving thanks, everyone at CADY is grateful for the support of our community. Thank you!

NORTH COUNTRY NOTEBOOK

By JOHN HARRIGAN

A poor attitude toward storms, and a reason for an unlit cigar

When I finally sat down to write this, it was snowing hard, but not hard enough to make me feel threatened in any way. It would take a ton of snow to do that, after a lifetime in the snow.

One of the undying non-urban legends is that people of the Far North have a hundred different words for snow. This would make sense if you were running dog teams or having to make snow-houses, things not happening very much now in everyday life, except for tourism and documentaries.

Other non-urban legends are that you can't cut or burn white birch, because they're rare and/or "endangered" (wrong); that you cannot pass a snowplow (also wrong); and that it's okay to drive a motorized vehicle on someone else's land as long as it's not posted against same (wrong, you need explicit permission).

And then there's the one about the only thing that can hurt you in the woods being your own stupidity. That one's mostly true. But anyone can slip and fall, which is how most injuries happen, and I'd have a hard time always chalking that one up to stupidity, having done so more than once. Wait a minute here.

JOHN HARRIGAN

This was a storm a few years ago whose aftereffects didn't faze me much, and fazed Millie and the Cougar Crossing sign not at all.

People think "Well, okay, then, what about the bears, huh?" The bears we have are black bears, which unless they've been sullied by people's lax garbage and trash habits are usually interested in only one thing upon encountering people, which is running away. An exception to this is getting between Mom and her cubs, which most often happens when everybody (including the bears) wants to rake the raspberries in—but come on, aren't we supposed to know this by now?

Anyway, it was not snowing hard enough to make me anxious enough to call the Winter Storm Worry, Warning, and Watch Team that one of my TV news stations is always carrying on about. What happens, I always wonder, if you call?

Well, the Winter Storm Team springs into action, I'd guess. I have this vision of helicopters hovering, and ropes going down, and Ninja Turtle-like rescue warriors shinnying down the ropes, going "Hut-hut-hut" as they rappel to the ground.

But back to reality, even though it's not as much fun. No Ninja Turtles are coming. The Winter Storm Watch Team is a sham, a nemesis of reality, an aider and abettor to angst, an enabler of shrinks, an example of the symbiotic relationship between hyperactive noisemakers (the TV producers) and neurotic weather-obsessed viewers (you and me).

It's like the low pressure system spirals they show on the big maps, moving across you and your immediate surroundings. It's almost a self-perpetuating system. The storms come in, as always. The TV talking heads hype the living daylights out of even the smallest, merest mention of a low-pressure system. Crisis-conditioned viewers eat it up, boosting the ratings. Advertisers want to be part of all this, of course, with their ads for shovels and galoshes (who knows what galoshes are any more?). TV producers, recognizing a growth factor when they see one, produce more

Letters to the Editor

Fire and police departments will be after more space

To the Editor:

At the Bristol "Special Town Meeting" to consider the purchase of the new Town Office building, I suggested that we continue to study what the "needs" of the Town actually were, that suggestion was soundly rejected by the voters.

What we will see now is that the Fire and Police Departments are still in the search of new and updated facilities. The Fire Department will justify those facilities on the grounds of increased calls and the need for larger garage stalls to accommodate the increased size of new ambulances. The increase in calls, both Fire and Police, comes not from an increase in population in Bristol but rather an increase in calls from the "service area."

The construction of a new Safety Service building based on an increase in calls servicing towns other than Bristol would be unsustainable and extremely unfair to the taxpayers of Bristol. If the communities reaping the benefits of an expanded new facility were willing to contribute to the capital costs of that facility I would feel differently.

We, the taxpayers of Bristol, are currently providing "regional" services to our neighboring communities without the benefit of regional financial support.

Thanksgiving is such a nostalgic holiday for me, and yet I take such great comfort in celebrating with family just about anywhere. Just being with family, even if we all can't be in the same place at the same time is so satisfying. Knowing we are all so thankful to have each other and take solace that we are expressing our thanks for all that we have and all that we are just makes me warm inside and the food is usually pretty darn great besides...

The Bristol United Church of Christ Women's Fellowship will hold its annual Christmas Fair on Saturday, Dec. 7 from 9 a.m.-noon in Fellowship Hall. There will be decorated 16 inch double-sided balsam wreaths at $18 each, delicious home baked goods, lovingly made crafts and gently used Christmas items for sale.

The TTCC will again be hosting the Annual 5K Jingle Mingle on Saturday, Dec. 7. This event raises funds for TTCC programs and scholarships and is a fun, family-oriented run/walk. It is always held the first Saturday in December and the last local opportunity to do a 5K in 2019. All abilities of runners and families are encouraged to participate. Upon return to the TTCC, hot soups, hot chocolate and snacks for all participants as well as prize raffle will be available. Feel free to come dressed up for the holidays and get your jingle on!

Youth basketball (from ages 3 to high school) registration is open. TTCC is looking for players, coaches and sponsors. The 'One Stop Christmas as Shop for Kids', an event providing an opportunity for children to do their Christmas shopping for family and friends all in one stop, will be held at the TTCC on Tuesday, Nov. 26, and Friday, Nov. 29 from 4 - 7 p.m. Younger children will be assigned a helper that will be sure they get something for everyone on their list and keep them within their budget. Many different items for family, teachers and friends costing from 25 cents to $6. All shoppers will leave with all presents wrapped and tagged!

The Annual Tree

Lighting in Central Square will take place on Friday, Nov. 29 starting at 5 p.m. with Christmas caroling. Santa will arrive at 6 p.m. to light the tree and then lead the children to the TTCC where he will visit with them. There will be free popcorn, hot cider and roasted chestnuts, and the Lions Club will be there with hot chocolate.

The Fourth Annual Festival of Trees will be held in the Historic Town Hall on Nov. 29 & 30.

Friday, Nov. 29, It will be held from 4 - 8 p.m. and on Saturday, Nov. 30, from 10 a.m. until 8 p.m. Over 50 trees will be entered this year! The Festival is sponsored by Friends of Newfound Drama.

The Day Away Program which is held each Thursday at the Simard Hall in the Our Lady of Grace Chapel from 9am to 3pm each week, provides a respite for caregivers of loved ones with early dementia and Alzheimer's. On December 5th, they are having their annual Christmas Open House from 2 - 4 p.m. with entertainment by "just because" to be held at Simard Hall, 2 West Shore Rd. in Bristol.

Poetry Night will be held at the Minot-Sleeper Library on Thursday, Dec. 5 at 6:30 p.m.

The Newfound Regional High School Winter Concert will be held on Dec. 12 at 7 p.m.

Happy Thanksgiving everyone! I hope you all enjoy the holiday.

South Danbury Church

Sunday worship at the South Danbury Church will be at 11 a.m. on Dec. 1. This will be the first Sunday of the Advent season, and as part of the service we will be lighting the first candle of the Advent Wreath, representing Hope and anticipation of Christmas. There will be refreshments and conversation afterward. All are welcome!

Thank you to everyone who helped make their South Danbury Church Holiday Happy Hour such a wonderful experience for all -and a delightful beginning for the holiday season! They hope you can return on Sunday evening, Dec. 22 at 7 p.m., to enjoy their "Christmas at South Danbury" celebration. Save the date!

Reminder: the next Danbury Winter Farmers market is Saturday, Dec. 7 from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the grange hall.

On Thursday, Dec. 5 at 7 p.m., the Blazing Star Grange will meet at the hall to continue planning for their new year. At their last meeting, the grange voted to donate to the DCC Secret Santa program, sponsor a ServSafe class at the hall in the spring and set up a date for the silent movie.

We want to thank the ladies who made the Annual Senior Thanksgiving meal a reality last week. I have not heard how many were in attendance, but heard some comments about how good the food was and how nice it was to get together. Thank you, Alison and friends, for getting this all together for us.

There were five Thanksgiving food baskets donated this year. The Lions club donated two, the Baker River Snowmobile Club donated one and two baskets were donated by Plymouth State University. These were distributed to families in Groton who were in need this Holiday. If you know of someone who would benefit from a donation at Christmas time, please let someone in the Town Office know about this. Thank you to those who donated these nice food boxes.

Select Board meeting on Nov. 19

At 7:01 p.m., a public hearing was held to inform the Town on how it was decided we should use the monies from the Municipal Aid check of $10,279.17. The Select Board chose several items that needed to be done in the Town. Primex, our insurance carrier has required an alarm system be installed in the Town Garage which will cost $3,359, the Radios used by the Emergency Management Director and the Highway Department will be moved upstairs to the Select Board Office for easier access,

Robert E. Harris

LA MOINE, Maine — It is with sad hearts that the family and friends of Robert E. Harris announce the loss of a wonderful husband, father, brother, uncle and friend.

He was born in Nashua in 1953 to Russell and Patricia Harris. He graduated with the class of 1971 from Plymouth High School. He then went on to study at Plymouth State College, and graduated from the University of Maine in Orono with a degree in accounting in 1975.

Bob was a partner in his family's furniture business in New Hampshire for many years. He enjoyed the outdoors, including hunting, camping, fishing, hiking and downhill skiing. He loved riding his Harley on the back roads of New Hampshire with this wife, son and friends. Bob had a great love of animals, especially his many dogs.

Bob retired in 2011. He enjoyed homes in Lamoine, Maine and Sebring, Fla.

He leaves behind his wife, Mary Beth, his son, Patrick and several siblings, nieces and nephews.

Services will be private. Memorial gifts can be made online to www.spcahancock-county.org or to www.nhhumane.org.

Janet Towse, 65

ALEXANDRIA — Janet Towse, Stoneham native, has passed way at the age of 65. She was born in 1953, the second daughter of Marian MacDonald Towse and the late Daniel C. Towse.

A graduate of the Stoneham High School class of 1971, Janet was active in Girl Scouts. She attended Simmons College majoring in French and received her master's degree from Plymouth State University in Environmental Biology.

Janet rode her bicycle cross country, spent time living in France, taught English as a second language to recent immigrants, and travelled the world teaching software classes in both French and English. Janet's second career was in the environmental sciences working at both Plymouth State University and Dartmouth College.

In 1986, Janet moved to Alexandria and loved her little house with the lovely view. Janet was a passionate conservationist and contributed to her community serving on the Alexandria Conservation Commission, Planning Board, and the Lakes Region

Planning Commission. She collected water samples from remote mountain sites for the Hubbard Brook Experimental Forest, was active in the Appalachian Mountain Club, and enjoyed participating in Audubon annual migratory bird counts.

Janet was a Master Gardener and expert pie baker. She loved spending time with her sisters Amy and Linda, hiking with her father, and traveling to Framboise, Nova Scotia with her mother.

Backpacking, snowshoeing, birding, or cross-country skiing, Janet was always happiest when wandering in the woods.

Janet was pre-deceased by her father, Dan Towse, and sisters Christine Towse and Linda Towse.

She leaves her mother, Marian Towse of Stoneham, and sister Amy Sternberg and her husband Robert Sternberg of West Tisbury, Mass.; aunts Shirley Messier MacDonald of Windsor, Conn., Valerie Otteson MacDonald of Mukilteo, Wash. and Karyl Ronka Towse of Wasco, Calif., along with many cousins.

Funeral services were held on Monday, Nov. 25 at 1 p.m. First Congregational Church, Stoneham, Mass., followed by burial at Lindenwood Cemetery. Calling Hours were from 2-5 p.m. on Sunday November 24th Anderson Bryant Funeral Home, Stoneham, Mass.

Teaching Series: "I Love My Church!"

Toddler Zone (for infants – five years old) is led by Kara Hamill and Kid Zone (for K-6th grade) is led by Debbie Madden. Both programs are available during the entire worship service. Our greeters will be glad to direct you to and introduce you to our leaders.

Small groups: We also offer adult small groups that meet in various locations on Sunday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday evenings. Please contact our pastor, Ernie Madden, for more information about our small groups program.

New Women's Ministry: A women's group will be starting this fall the 1st and 3rd Thursday of each month beginning October 2019.

It is our desire to help you understand God's incredible grace, mercy and love. We believe you will love Ashland Community Church. We are a friendly, welcoming, loving, and caring church.

You don't have to dress up. You don't have to be any particular age. And please don't feel the need to pretend about anything. Ashland Community church is a place where God meets seeking people who are far from perfect. That means everyone is welcome, no matter where you are on your spiritual journey. We believe you'll find what you are looking for here. You'll learn how to relate to God. You'll experience a Christian community. And here's the big thing – you will change. Join us each week as we seek God together. Just come as you are! (No perfect people allowed!)

If you have any questions, please don't hesitate to contact our pastor, Ernie Madden, at 968-9464 or accernie@hotmail.com.

We look forward to seeing you soon!

and the remainder will be used to cover road damage from the storms that was not covered in last year's budget as there are still areas that need some repair. There will be another check like this one sent to the towns on Oct. 1 of next year.

Amendments were made to the Yield Tax for Map 3, Lot 6-3 and Map 3, Lot 6-2 due to a spreadsheet error. Two building permits were signed, one for a 15x24 shed and another for a shed on Map 5, Lot 107. There was an abatement application signed due to a reduction is assessed value for Map 5, Lot 93.

Questions were raised by several citizens who were concerned about the rise in taxes from $14 to $16.83. The majority of the tax increase was due to the Local School Rate from $5.36 last year to $8 this year. The breakdown is Town Rate $2.07 (12 percent) Based on Budget and Warrants from 2019 Town Meeting, Local School Rate $8 (48 percent), State School Rate $3.62 (21 percent), and County Rate $3.14 (19 percent). In order for the community to have any say in the Newfound Area School budget we must attend the budget hearings that are held each year. Information may be found on their Web site: http://www.sau4.org/.

Concerns were also raised about the house at 1214 North Groton Rd. belonging to Darlene Macpherson. There seems to be nothing done to clean up this property. The Town's hands are tied at this moment while the case goes through the court system. It is our hope that this will be remedied soon, but there is a lengthy legal process that we must go through in order to resolve the issue. In the meantime, it remains to be an eyesore.

Free Blood Pressure Clinic will be held every Monday from 9:30 a.m. to noon beginning Nov. 6 at the Fire Station (Public Safety Building), 37 Groton Rd. in Hebron. The only reason they might not be open is if there is an emergency call at the same time and the ambulance is out on the road.

Scheduled Meeting
Select Board Work Sessions –Tuesdays, Dec. 3 and Dec. 17 – 5 p.m. at the Town House.

Select Board Meetings - Tuesdays, Dec. 3 and Dec. 17 – 7 p.m. at the Town House

Conservation Commission Meeting – Thursday, Dec. 12 at 7 p.m. at the Town House

Planning Board Meeting – Wednesday, Dec. 18 at 7 p.m. at the Town House

Holiday Closures:
The Transfer Station will be closed on Wednesday, Dec. 25 and Wednesday, Jan. 1.

The Select Board Office will be closed Nov. 27 through Nov. 29 and Dec. 23 through Jan. 1.

Both Offices will be closed Dec. 13 from noon to 2 p.m. for our annual Christmas Luncheon.

The Town Clerk's Office will be closing early at 5:30 p.m. on Tuesday, Nov. 26, and will be closed Nov. 28, 29, Dec. 25 and Jan. 1. We will be open on Nov. 27.

New at Investing? Follow These Suggestions

- Learn the basics. The investment world can seem confusing, but the more you know about the basic components, the more confident you'll be when you begin to invest. For starters, you'll want to be familiar with the essential types of investments: stocks, bonds, mutual funds, government securities and so on. And it's also important to know that some investments are designed to provide growth – an increase in the investment's value – while others provide income in the form of dividends or interest payments, and still others may offer growth and income.

- Set your goals. You need to know why you're investing – and that means you must clearly define your goals. Do you want to retire early? When you do retire, what kind of lifestyle would you like to have? Are you planning on helping your children (or grandchildren) pay for college? Once you've established your goals, you can create the appropriate investment strategy for achieving them, taking into account your time horizon and risk tolerance.
- Invest regularly. At first, you may only be able to afford to put in small amounts to your investment accounts, but even so, try to contribute regularly. You'll get into the habit of investing and, later on, when you earn more money, you can ramp up your contributions. If you have a 401(k) or similar plan at work, the money can come out of your paycheck before you even see it.

- Thinking long term. As you begin investing, it's important to have the right attitude. Specifically, don't look for the "hot" investments that will make you a "billionaire" in a matter of weeks. Investing just doesn't work that way – instead, it's a decades-long process of carefully choosing, managing and adjusting a diversified portfolio that's suitable for your individual needs. And by maintaining a long-term focus, you'll be less susceptible to making ill-advised moves in response to short-term market events.
- Don't get scared off by downturns. If you invest for many years, it's inevitable that you will experience sharp drops in the financial markets. But these declines are actually a normal part of investing. If you overreact to them by selling investments just because their price has dropped, you'll not only be breaking a cardinal rule of investing – to buy low and sell high – but you'll also be disrupting the type of cohesive, continuous investment strategy that's necessary to help you achieve your goals.

- Get some help. You may find it easier to navigate the investment landscape if you get some help from a professional advisor – someone who understands your goals and family situation and who can make appropriate investment recommendations. A financial advisor can also suggest changes to your portfolio in response to changes in your life (new job, child graduating college, etc.) and in your goals, such as a new date for retirement.

When you invest, there aren't many guarantees. But by following these suggestions, you will know, at the very least, that you're taking the steps that can lead to success.

weather coverage. And on and on, 'round and 'round we go.

It didn't used to be this way. In the not so very distant past, people had a more practical and pragmatic attitude toward winter. "Gonna snow," you'd say, looking up at the sky. "Yup," someone would say, and that would be it.

I cannot remember a single school day ever being called off on account of snow. Such a thing was unheard of. My siblings and I walked a pretty decent distance to the schoolhouse. Other kids, out in the countryside, had a far longer hike to catch the bus. The buses had big, deep-treaded snow tires. Sometimes, they clanked along with chains.

I remember going to school one day when it was forty below in the dead calm, no ballyhooed wind-chill-factor in those days, and the only way I saved the end of my nose, the tip that somehow always stuck through my cupped mittens, was by ducking into Bert Bryant's sporting goods and hardware store, about halfway there.

Mr. Bryant, as usual, had a good wood fire huffing away in his huge parlor stove amidships in the store, and was smoking his pipe, a dog at his feet. "No better place for a boy than in a brook," was one of his favorite sayings, which he hardly ever failed to say in the presence of my mother, and which I especially liked.

We seem to have suffered some kind of disconnect with the elements that drive everything. What we were at peace with, or at least didn't struggle much against, we now see as a big problem, Armageddon, the end of the world.

Old Freeman Marshall, who used to live down near the end of the street, always seemed to have an unlit cigar in his mouth, its chewing end well chewed. He was great for borrowing tools from, such as hammers and saws, for building camps, and so we faithfully brought them back. "Mr. Marshall, how come you don't light your cigar?" I asked him once, and he said "Don't want to light it, it'd burn up."

As my brother Peter and I were digging into a snowbank to make a fort with an escape tunnel out the back, Erwin Bennett emerged from his house and said "Careful about pushing that snow around too much boys, you'll wear it out."

The irony of that one never left me, and so I savored it and kept it, unwittingly adding it to the early lifetime experience that built up to what acquaintances today accuse me of harboring, which is, to more or less quote them, “a cavalier attitude toward snowstorms,” although hardly anyone ever uses “cavalier” any more. “Blasé,” either.

Holiday styles at Dressers Unlimited

The annual holiday styles fashion show was a festive evening last Friday night. Local models hit the runway wearing Dressers winter apparel collection. Beautiful comfortable sweaters, fun whimsical sweater dresses, gorgeous capes and artistic shawls and party dresses for holiday galas. David Lockwood was on the piano and delicious hors d'oeuvres were served from Chase Street Market. The evening was a fund raiser for Keep the Heat On. Attendees participated in the raffle and dozens of prizes/ gifts were awarded. Dressers also donated a portion of all sales through the weekend to KTHO. The gala was a beautiful and fun kickoff to the holiday season. Dressers is decorated to the hilt and is full of not only beautiful items to wear and decorate yourself but also unique and colorful ornaments, home decor and gifts.

Tough end for Bobcats

THREE-TIME DEFENDING CHAMPS FALL IN DIVISION II CHAMPIONSHIP GAME

BY JOSHUA SPAULDING
Sports Editor

DURHAM — All good things come to an end.

The Plymouth football team's run as the Division II champions was definitely a good thing. However, in the blustery wind and drenching rain at Wildcat Stadium at the University of New Hampshire, that good thing came to an end, as a talented Hollis-Brookline team rushed for more than 350 yards and defeated the three-time defending champs by a 24-13 score on Sunday.

"Hats off to Hollis-Brookline, they beat us up front," said Bobcat coach Chris Sanborn. "We didn't come up and tackle well and they were good in the trenches.

"We just didn't have it today defensively," the Bobcat coach continued. "We made some mistakes and that hurt us."

However, the Bobcat coach noted that the fourth trip in a row to Durham should not be looked at as a failure.

"Would you rather be here and lose or sitting at home," Sanborn asked his team in the driving rain after the game. "I would definitely rather be here.

"You made it as far as you could," he continued. "We are proud of you, it was a hell of a run."

The fifth-ranked Cavaliers came in with a highly-touted offense led by quarterback Sander Wimmer and his twin brother Quinten Wimmer.

However, it was Plymouth that came out of the gate strong, led by their own quarterback, Cody Bannon. Bannon made the first three carries for the Bobcats, getting two first downs. After a Joe Cleary run for five yards, Bannon got another first down and got Plymouth to the seven-yard line. From there, Joe D'Ambruoso plowed his way into the end zone with Cavalier tacklers hanging on to his feet. Pete Wingsted's extra point gave the Bobcats a 7-0 lead.

The Cavalier offense came out strong as well and moved the ball 74 yards down the field over the course of six minutes, getting the ball inside the 15-yard line. A bad snap set them back in a third and 18 situation and on fourth and 15, their run came up just a yard short and the Bobcats took over.

Plymouth was unable to seize the momentum, as Bannon picked up a first down but the Bobcats could not get another and they punted the ball away as the quarter drew to a close.

The Cavaliers managed only three plays on the first drive of the second quarter, as a fumble

Digging deep in the junk drawer for early deadlines

The early holiday deadlines mean that I have to (or I should) write this column before the Sunday football championship game at UNH, which likely would've been the topic of this column if, a.) the game was on Saturday or, b.) there weren't early deadlines.

But, since I needed something done prior to the start of that game (which promised to be a good one), it's time to clean out the junk drawer in my mind.

I like the idea of playing the championship games for football at UNH and I like that they have three games in a row on the championship day. However, I kind of feel bad for Division IV, which played its championship game a week earlier at Laconia High School. It's a special chance for kids to play on the turf of Wildcat Stadium and Division IV schools deserve that right too.

Of course, there was a chance that none of the games were going to happen on Sunday at UNH. The UNH men's soccer team earned a spot in the NCAA tournament and if the Wildcats had been given a bye, they would've been hosting a second-round game on Sunday, forcing the NHIAA to come up with either an alternate day, an alternate location, alternate times or all three. UNH did not get the bye, so the games remained on as planned.

SPORTING CHANCE

Speaking of UNH, 2020 marks the 100th anniversary of the UNH Marching Band and as a celebration, the band is making a trip to Ireland in March. The band's current director, who was a freshman in the band in my senior season, extended an invitation to alumni to make the trip and in a moment of weakness, I said yes. Taking a trip to Ireland in the same year as a trip to Tokyo for the Olympics was probably not my best financial decision, but it's too late now. There's also the usual Florida baseball trip that this year could include covering two of my teams if I can swing it. Looks like 2020 is the year of the travel.

Speaking of Tokyo and next summer's Olympic Games, I am grateful for the support that I continue to get from the local community in this endeavor. I put down the deposit on the accommodations a few months ago and there's still money in the account to pay the other half of that payment plus likely cover the flight. The community has been so incredible in supporting my Olympic endeavors. I don't know if Tokyo will be my last trip, but if it's not, It's because of the help that everyone has given to get me there.

Thanksgiving to me means a trip to upstate New York to visit the aunts and uncles and cousins on my mother's side of the family. It's a tradition that has been in place since I was a little kid (with one exception if I remember correctly). I am looking forward to visiting with everyone and taking a few days away from the grind.

A special holiday thank you to our pagination department for allowing me to send a few papers later than the early deadlines would anticipate. With the Turkey Trot in Wolfeboro Saturday and the football championship on Sunday, it was important to get everything in before the holiday and they allowed me to do that.

Finally, have a great day, Patti O'Donnell.

on third down was recovered by Cole Johnston, giving the Bobcats the ball at the 49-yard line.

Plymouth ran six plays but the Bobcats were only able to pick up 15 yards, most on the legs of Bannon, who had three runs. Cleary got the ball on fourth and seven but the Cavalier defense was stout and the Cavaliers got the ball back with 7:35 to go in the first half.

H-B was then able to move the ball down the field on a 15-play drive that covered 64 yards, eating up more than six minutes of the clock and they got in from nine yards out with 1:20 to go. The Cavaliers then converted the two-point conversion and it was an 8-7 lead for Hollis-Brookline, a lead they would never surrender.

Bannon did a nice job in the final minute, as he got the Bobcats across midfield with three runs but the halftime horn sounded and the teams retreated to the dry locker rooms with Hollis-Brookline up 8-7.

The Cavaliers got the ball to start the third quarter and the first pass of the game came on the second play of the half, though it picked up just two yards. The drive for the Cavaliers was huge, as they used 11 plays to move down the field, covering 68 yards and eating almost four minutes off the clock. A seven-yard touchdown run capped off the drive and the two-point conversion made it 16-7 with 8:06 to go in the third quarter.

The Bobcats answered nicely with their own long drive. Bannon picked up a first down with his second carry of the drive and then Cleary and Robert Oliver combined for another first down. Oliver converted a third and one and Plymouth moved the ball down the field to the 20-yard line. However, the Bobcats were stopped there and their 12-play, 45-yard drive ended on a fourth and five when Bannon was stopped short. Plymouth's drive ate 7:42 off the clock and H-B took over with 17 seconds to go in the third quarter.

Those 17 seconds involved a huge play, as the Cavaliers broke free for a 62-yard run to close the third and got the ball to the 18-yard line.

Four plays into the fourth quarter, the Cavaliers got an eight-yard touchdown run and converted the two-point conversion with 10:51 to go in the game to make it 24-7.

The defending champion Bobcats did not go quietly.

Bannon picked up a first down on third and eight and then hit Cale Swanson for a 24-yard gain for another first down. After three D'Ambruoso runs, Bannon converted a fourth and two with 6:36 to go. A penalty helped the Bobcats get inside the 10-yard line and from there, Bannon found Swanson with 4:32 to go. The Cavaliers stopped the two-point conversion and the score was 24-13.

Johnston gave the Bobcats and their dedicated fans some hope as he recovered the onside kick. Bannon hit Swanson to get the ball inside the 20-yard line but one play later, the Cavaliers were able to pick off a Bannon pass and the Cavaliers ran out the clock on their first football championship.

"Everyone counted us out before the season and during the season," Sanborn noted. "But these seniors had four years in a row in the state championship."

He praised his seniors, noting that the Bobcats played 12 playoff games over the course of the last four years, which is an impressive feat for any team. But on this day, the Cavaliers were the better team.

"In the first half, we didn't execute like we should've," the Bobcat coach continued. "We thought we could shut them down, but we couldn't."

"They outthusted us today, they wanted it more," Sanborn noted.

Bannon had quite a day under center, rushing 22 times for 148 yards, but the rest of the Bobcat backs combined for less than 60 yards. Swanson had all three of Plymouth's receptions for 54 yards. On defense, Sean Griffiths led the way with 12 tackles while Ian Tryder had 11 tackles. Cleary and JC Gaumer each had eight tackles.

Marc-Andre Thermitus ran 20 times for 167 yards to lead the Cavaliers while Quinten Wimmer had 18 carries for 144 yards.

Plymouth finished the regular season at 7-2 after starting 2-2. They defeated Pelham and Alvirne in the first two rounds of the playoffs to advance to the finals for the fourth consecutive year.
