Run Your Buns Off road race draws record numbers

BY DONNA RHODES

BRISTOL — The morning of Sept. 3 dawned sunny and crisp, perfect weather to go for a healthy run, and that's exactly how a record number of people kicked off Labor Day weekend in Bristol and Bridgewater as they took part in the seventh annual Run Your Buns Off 4.2 mile charitable run/walk.

The course each year starts off at Basic Ingredient's Bakery and Gift Shop on Route 3A in Bristol, heads north to Whittemore Point Road North in Bridgewater then turns down along Newfound Lake. Whittemore Point Road loops everyone back out to Route 3A, where they make the final right hand turn for the start/finish line.

The 4.2 mile distance was selected for a fun reason. That's just how far one needs to travel to burn off the 420 calories found in one of Basic Ingredient's award-winning sticky buns, which everyone gets to enjoy after they cross the finish line.

Each year the overseeing board of the Newfound Area Charitable Fund, which runs the event, selects two local nonprofit groups to receive the race proceeds.

This year board member Audrey Goudie said they received several worthy applications but in the end selected Newfound Lake Region Association and Slim Baker Outdoor Education Center as the 2016 benefactors of Run Your Buns Off.

"Those two organizations really fit our mission of impacting the Newfound area in a positive manner. They're both outdoor oriented and that's something we loved as well," Goudie said.

Money they receive from NACF are planned to help with trails at Slim Baker and for the establishment of a water trail for kayakers, which NLRA is developing in conjunction with the Newfound Audubon Center at Paradise Point.

Besides entry fees, there were raffles to help raise as much money as possible. Among the many prizes awarded to lucky ticket holders were overnight stays at local inns, 100 gallons of heating oil, and gift cards for dozens of area businesses and services.

Goudie was excited to see a record 352 people register for this year's run/walk. Included were local and seasonal residents, and some who visit the area for the day just to participate in the event. One person was missing though this year—perennial winner David Chourney of Bristol.

Cardigan Mountain Soapworks: A sudsy business

BY DONNA SPRAGUE

Contributing Writer

WILMOT — Wilmot Farmers Market found a faithful vendor in Lilly of Cardigan Mountain Soapworks, who sells soaps, herbs, and herbal products at the market every Saturday from the last Saturday in June through September.

Lilly has been making soap for over 30 years, first starting when she was pregnant with her daughter and wanted her new baby to have the most natural products available. Her daughter has used her soap since her first bath. Her family has grown up to have children of their own, with three young granddaughters, who have only used her soap since their first baths. Along with her family, the business has grown. There are new products, custom soaps for weddings and showers, and now a retail store in Alexandria. Her most popular products are "Bugs Away," a natural spray made with all essential oils to discourage the bugs, along with "Ticks Away" and other botanical natural products.

With over 80 kinds of soap, her most popular soaps are Oatmeal Almond Honey, Lemongrass-Sage, Lavender Oatmeal with shea butter, and Morning-Wake-Me-Up, made with energizing essential oils. Her newest product is a gift box with tiny bars of soap that have encouraging quotations on the label.

"So many people I know are going through difficult times. I wanted something to give them that could offer a little encouragement, along with aromatherapy," says Lilly.

Stop by the Wilmot Farmers market on Saturday mornings to view and sample the many products of Cardigan Mountain Soapworks and perhaps find some words of encouragement. The market is held on the town green, 9 Kearsarge Valley Rd. in Wilmot, every Saturday from 9 a.m. noon through Sept. 24. Check out Lilly's Web site, www.cardigan-mountain.com.

Groton Historical Society welcomes a visit from Mary Todd Lincoln Sept. 11

GROTON — If you had to go to work the morning of Aug. 11 and therefore missed the arrival of Mary Todd Lincoln to Plymouth, you'll be happy to learn that she'll be returning to this area on Sept. 11. The Groton Historical Society has invited her to tell about both her joyous life with Abe and her tragic life after his assassination.

Sally Mumney, well known "living historian," skillfully becomes Mrs. Lincoln before our eyes. Mary Todd Lincoln was First Lady during the Civil War. Booth's presence at Ford's Theater not only changed the course of our nation, but destroyed Mary's life as well.

Thanks to a grant from New Hampshire Humanities, Mrs. Lincoln (Sally Mumney) will meet you at Groton's Town House, 754 North Groton Rd., at 2 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 11. She will share information, much of which never made it to the pages of our high school history books. The program is free and refreshments will be served.

NH Humanities does a fine job of finding people who have researched lesser known topics, then financially helping to bring these discovered talented people into New Hampshire towns to share what they have learned. For more about the many speakers and topics available, go to www.nhhumanities.org. Questions about the Groton program can be answered by Sherry Nelson, 744-9744.

Locals top the field at Circle Triathlon

drhodes@salmonpress.com

ASHLAND — With 124 triathletes chasing them, it was two local young men who came out on top of the Circle Triathlon on Sept. 4 after an outstanding performance in the grueling swim/bike/run competition that started out with a swim in Squam Lake and finished with biking then running the surrounding ridges.

It was 28-year-old Sam Lovett of Holderness who completed the challenge in the Number One position this year, with an overall time of 1:02:48. As he ran for the finish line after the three segments of the event, he had some stiff competition from 26-year-old Andrew Chalmers who grew up just a half mile from the start/finish line. Chalmers, who now resides in the Boston area, turned in a time of 1:02:50, just seconds behind his former schoolmate.

The Circle Triathlon is an important fundraiser each year for Circle Program, a nonprofit organization that supports disadvantaged girls in central New Hampshire through special year round programs, mentoring and summer camp. The event attracts more than 1,000 people to Riveredge Marina in Ashland each September either as participants, volunteers or spectators who come out to cheer the athletes on.

The triathlon is actually split into three levels of difficulty.

Kicking off the day is a true triathlon, the Mt. Chocorua race, where competitors swim a one-quarter mile course in Squam Lake, bike 12 miles across the hilly terrain around the lake and finish with a 2.7-mile foot race.

Winners of this year's Circle Triathlon were two local men who met up to shake hands at the finish of the challenging competition. In first place was Sam Lovett of Holderness (left) who beat former Holderness resident Andrew Chalmers (right) by just a two-second margin.

Simultaneously, the Mt. Chocorua Relay Triathlon also gets underway. Its only difference is that pairs or groups of three participate, each member taking part in either the swim, bike or run phase as their teammates compete in the other phases.

Quietly taking part in the relay this year was a true athletic champion, 2013 World Champion and 2014 Olympic ski jumper Sarah Hendrickson.

North Country Notebook

By JOHN HARRIGAN
COLUMNIST

I generally avoid indulging in rants, because they tend to scare off people and don't accomplish much. Also, the people with the net and white coats might show up to drag me away. My most recent rant, in which I vented after a transcontinental flight but probably didn't accomplish much, was in a different column I write for InDepthNH.org, in which I ranted away about the basic inhumanity of a coach-class airplane seat.

I also try to limit my dependence on radio or TV for news, because there's plenty to rant about, like the link-arms-and-sway "Wow, that's wonderful!" National Public Radio story last week on how the U.S., after the near-total collapse of its furniture industry, has been able to hang onto a few thousand jobs in the upholstery business. Somehow I fail to see the "Wow!" part of this story. It's like a little thin strip of frosting. Where's the cake? And so where's the story about the La-La Land Free Trade Agreement that cost us our furniture industry?

Well, the occasional rants must be a perk of seniority

JOHN HARRIGAN
Beecher Falls Factory, tight up against the Canadian border, where I labored and learned much for a year and a half on the Machine Floor.

We began losing our furniture making industry back in the '70s, when the Bulgarians or Romanians or someone over there in the Balkans began copying our designs, and then, Soviet Bloc countries having an abundance of cheap labor at the time, began turning out furniture at about half the cost of what we could make it for. At least the was the story going around at the Ethan Allen plant in Beecher Falls,

Vermont (just across the Connecticut River from Stewartstown), where I was laboring away on piecework making the slots in bedposts and inserting the little lead slugs that are the reason for all those hammer-marks on your bedrails.

This current virtual death blow to America's furniture industry came about because (a) China has abundant extremely cheap labor and lax government oversight on environmental issues, and having cut down almost all its own forests gets cheap wood from somewhere else, and (b) that "somewhere else" is Southeast Asian nations that are happily hacking away at what's left of the earth's rain forests.

But nobody wants to say that. It's saying bad things about Third World nations. Oops, can't call them that. "Emerging nations."

And then, on CNN, I saw a story that left me just baffled. CNN "discovered," by actually interviewing actual farmers, meaning the people who try to find the labor to get the crops in, that workers are actually imported from Latin America because (here comes the shocker) Americans will not do the work.

Pick me up from a faint. Who did not know this? You'd have to have spent the last 50 years living under a rock.

But it's the avoided story because by reporting it you're implying, not so very subtly, that "other" people, meaning olive- or brown-skinned people, are needed to do this kind of work because "we" (whoever that is) won't, because we're somehow better than that---we won't stoop that low.

Underage drinking

Think underage drinking doesn't affect a teen's brain? Think again.

IT'S A FACT. New research shows alcohol affects a teenager's developing brain differently than an adult's. Memory, learning and impulse control can be impaired seriously. The risk of addiction goes up dramatically. So talk to your kids about the dangers of alcohol and set clear rules about no alcohol use.

Letters to the Editor

Steve Rand is now your Democratic House candidate for District 8

To the Editor:

In June, I was excited to place my name in nomination on the Democratic primary ballot for Representative to the New Hampshire House. I had hoped to be able to use my experience as a Doctor and my new Bernie-inspired awareness of the need for political involvement to serve my fellow citizens and help make state government more responsive to their needs.

A recent unanticipated family decision finds me now moving to Ashland, and no longer eligible for election in District 8. I am very sorry to disappoint my many supporters. With ballots having already been printed, my name will be listed on the Democratic Primary ballot, but a vote for me will not count.

I am thrilled to announce that Steve Rand, of Rand's Hardware fame, has decided to run for the position as a write-in candidate. Please, please write in Steve Rand on Tuesday, Sept. 13. I know that Steve will serve the community as he always has, with honesty, with respect for all, with passion for our towns, and with a wealth of experience. To boot, he has the same Bernie-driven passion for government honesty, transparency, effectiveness and compassion that I share. You may know Steve as a hardware guy, as the Chair of our 250th celebration, as a Rotarian, or as an advocate for a buried Northern Pass. I can assure you that he will throw all his energy into doing the best possible job as your representative, be highly accessible, and bring a Plymouth-native's perspective to Concord.

Don't forget to vote Democratic on Sept. 13, and to write in Steve Rand for New Hampshire State Representative.

Yours Sincerely,

Dr. Mary Gennaro
Ashland

Connolly is my choice for governor

To the Editor:

Mark Connolly is my choice for Governor. I urge my fellow citizens to join me in voting for Mark in the New Hampshire primary election on Tuesday, Sept. 13.

Mark is a native New Hampshire son who has had a lengthy career in public service, beginning when he won the election to represent Bedford in the New Hampshire House while a student at Dartmouth College. After a successful career in the business world that included a ten year stint at Concord's Chubb Insurance, Mark went on to become the Assistant Secretary of State, Deputy Secretary of State and Director of the Bureau of Securities. While the Bureau of Securities Director, Mark was an aggressive advocate for the people of New Hampshire, and made sure that corporations such as Exeter based Tyco-Corporation and others were held accountable for violations of the securities laws.

I have been most impressed, however, by Mark's vision for New Hampshire's future. He wants to ensure that New Hampshire students receive a first class affordable education, that we build an innovation economy, and that we have an educated workforce to expand businesses and opportunities in New Hampshire.

Mark Connolly understands that we must have a long-term view of our state's economy, and has promised to develop a 10-year strategic economic plan for New Hampshire. He is fully committed to fighting the state's opioid crisis, and to address this crisis by taking a comprehensive approach to drug treatment.

These are just a few reasons why I am so proud to be endorsing Mark Connolly for Governor, and why I will be voting for him on Sept. 13. I hope you will join me.

Sincerely,

Hon. Deb Reynolds

Exhibit of local painter's work uncovers the beauty in dead flowers

ASHLAND — They say that art is not what you see, but what you can make others see and for Michelle Dunn, this is no exception. A self-taught painter from Groton, Dunn's style has recently taken an autobiographical turn: discovering the beauty of painting dead sunflowers.

"Painting dead flowers to me is very symbolic," explains Dunn.

"They represent myself, my brothers, my cousins or anyone who has ever felt as if they haven't had a voice or didn't matter."

As Dunn's work has evolved over the years, her creative voice has become louder and she has recently found success in taking her art on the road and exhibiting it in a series of gallery shows in the White Mountains.

Silent film classic "The Freshman" on Thursday, Sept. 22 at Flying Monkey in Plymouth

Celebrate football season with Harold Lloyd's comic masterpiece about college life, with live music

PLYMOUTH—What happens when a first-year student's dreams of college collide with the realities of campus life?

The result is Harold Lloyd in "The Freshman" (1925), one of the most popular comedies of the silent film era. Filled with classic scenes and a great story, "The Freshman" endures as one of Lloyd's most crowd-pleasing movies.

See for yourself with a screening of "The Freshman" (1925) on Thursday, Sept. 22 at 6:30 p.m. at the Flying Monkey Moviehouse and Performance Center, 39 South Main St., Plymouth.

The program will be shown with live music by Jeff Rapsis, a New Hampshire-based silent film accompanist. General admission is $10 per person.

The program is the latest in the Flying Monkey's popular silent film series, which offers audiences a chance to experience silent film as it was intended: on the big screen, with live music, and in a theater with an audience.

"Put the whole experience back together, and you can see why people first fell in love with the movies," Rapsis said.

"The Freshman," the most successful film of Lloyd's career, was an enormous box office smash. Its release sparked a craze for college films that lasted well beyond the 1920s, and even a popular hit song, the collegiate fox trot "Freshie."

The story follows Lloyd, small town newbie, to Tate College, where he hopes to achieve fame as Big Man on Campus. Instead, his quest to win popularity becomes a humiliating college-wide joke, with Harold getting tricked by upperclassmen into hosting the school's annual "Fall Frolic" at his own expense.

Realizing he's an outcast, Lloyd decides he can make his mark on the college football team, where he holds the lowly position of waterboy and serves as tackling dummy. On the day of the Big Game, can the bespectacled "freshie" somehow save the day and bring gridiron glory to dear old Tate?

For football fans, the film's climactic game sequence was shot on the field at the actual Rose Bowl in 1924. The crowd scenes were shot at halftime at California Memorial Stadium during the November 1924 "Big Game" between UC Berkeley and Stanford University. Other exterior scenes were filmed near the USC campus in Los Angeles.

Beyond its comic appeal, "The Freshman"

Harold Lloyd and Jobyna Ralson co-star in "The Freshman" (1925), a genre-defining comedy about college life in the 1920s. Regarded as Lloyd's masterpiece, "The Freshman" will be shown on Thursday, Sept. 22 at 6:30 p.m. at the Flying Monkey Moviehouse and Performance Center, 39 South Main St., Plymouth, N.H. General admission $10 per person. For more information, visit www.flyingmonkeynh.com or call 536-2551.

today has acquired an additional layer of interest in its depiction of college life in the 1920s—a time of raccoon coats, ukeleles, and many other long-gone fads and fashions.

"It was long before television, the Internet, cellphones, or Facebook," said Rapsis. "To us today, it looks like college on another planet, which I think adds to the appeal of a film like 'The Freshman.' But at its core, 'The Freshman' is still a great story about people, and that's why it remains such an entertaining experience today, especially when shown as Lloyd intended it."

In 1990, "The Freshman" was selected for preservation in the U.S. National Film Registry by the Library of Congress as being "culturally, historically, or aesthetically significant," named in only the second year of voting and one of the first 50 films to receive such an honor.

Lloyd, along with Charlie Chaplin and Buster Keaton, is recognized as one of the silent screen's three great clowns. Lloyd's character, a young go-getter ready to struggle to win the day, proved hugely popular.

lar in the 1920s. While Chaplin and Keaton were always critical favorites, Lloyd's films reigned as the top-grossing comedies throughout the period.

However, Lloyd's public image faded after his retirement in the 1930s, when he turned his energies to charitable causes such as the Shriners. He retained control over his films, refusing to release them for television and only rarely allowing them to be screened at revivals, fearing modern audiences wouldn't know how to respond to his work or to silent films in general. He died in 1971.

In recent years, Lloyd's family has taken steps to restore Harold's reputation and public image. They've released his work on DVD, and arranged for more frequent screenings of his films in the environment for which they were made: in theaters with live music and a large audience.

Despite the passage of time, audiences continue to respond just as strongly as when the films were new, with features such as "The Freshman" embraced as timeless achievements from the golden era of silent film comedy.

Blues icon Elvin Bishop to perform in Plymouth

PLYMOUTH — The legendary blues guitarist/songwriter/vocalist Elvin Bishop will perform at The Flying Monkey in Plymouth on Friday, Sept. 16 at 7:30 p.m. Bishop first hit the national spotlight with the Paul Butterfield Blues Band, then with Southern Rock stylings in the '70s, and back to the blues. The Delta Generators will open the show. Tickets for this concert start at $39.

Bishop has been performing his rollicking brand of electrified front porch blues for over 50 years. That is a lifetime in the music industry, and found him moving from blues to southern rock and back to the blues and subsequent Grammy nods.

Rolling Stone magazine sums it up best when they describe Elvin Bishop's live show, "A good time romp... raucous blues with high-energy soloing, mixtures of careening slide and razor-edged bursts, all delivered with unflagging enthusiasm and wit."

His guitar playing seems to improve with every performance, and his songwriting is filled with clever revelations and homespun wisdom. He is as slyly good-humored and instantly crowd-pleasing as he was when he was scoring Southern rock-styled hits during the 1970s. For five decades, he has never stopped touring or releasing instantly recognizable music featuring his groundbreaking playing, easygoing vocals, witty lyrics and good-time humor.

Bishop received a

Broadway's Carolyn Kirsch makes Playhouse playwriting debut

MEREDITH — The life and loves of some of the 20th century's iconic artists are explored in "The Waltz," a play written by Broadway veteran Carolyn Kirsch. "The Waltz" will have its world premiere at the Winnipesaukee Playhouse from Sept. 7-10.

This original work explores sculptor Camille Claudel's tempestuous relationship with Auguste Rodin, her ongoing struggles to be recognized in 20th Century Parisian art circles, and the question of her descent into madness. A gifted artist, Claudel left a magnificent artistic legacy which is beautifully immortalized in this new work by award-winning actress Kirsch.

The play features three different actresses, each playing Claudel at a different stage of her life. Kelley Davies portrays the youngest Camille, newly arrived in Paris and eager to learn from her tutor, Rodin. Sebastian Ryder (most recently seen as Fraulein Schneider in "Cabaret") plays "middle" Camille. Kirsch herself will be playing the oldest version of Camille. They are joined by Debra Walsh, who played Rodin's partner, Rose, and Mark Cote, who plays composer Claude Debussy. A talented musician,

Multicultural Festival presents a global symphony

LACONIA — Have you noticed a splash of salsa in the air lately? An Irish lilt in the breeze? Or a bit of the blues in the sky? It could be the preparations of the talented individuals & groups who will be performing during the 15th edition of the Laconia Multicultural Festival on Saturday Sept. 10 from 10 am to 4 pm in Rotary Park and downtown Laconia.

This signature event, the original Laconia festival, celebrates America's cultural diversity and the rich ethnic heritage right here in the Lakes Region. Admission is free to all ages at this family-friendly event.

"In every possible way, festival visitors will be transported to the cultures represented," explained Becky Guyer, Multicultural Festival Committee Executive Director. "thru the tastes & smells of the native cuisine available at the vendor booths, by the sight of the arts & crafts displayed, and the people in ethnic garb and also by the varied music styles of the many artists who will be performing all day on our three stages—the Main Stage at Rotary Park, the City Hall Stage & the Children's Corner at Healthlink parking lot. We have about 70 vendors this year & over 35 different cultures represented."

"Some of the performers are from nearby, others farther away," continued Muff Kruse, committee member & Entertainment Chair, "but they bring with them traditions spanning the globe. The group Tyler Road, for instance, has been performing its signature 'folkgrass' sound—a unique blend of folk, blues, bluegrass & traditional—for over twelve years in the Merrimack Valley.

"Then there's the O'Brien Clan," Muff Kruse added, "a family Irish band from right here in the Lakes Region. They perform instrumental Irish jigs & reels, plus folk songs in the Celtic tradition featuring rich vocals and vivid harmonies."

"Meantime the Edwin Pabon Orchestra will spice things up," said committee member Matt Soza. "Led by percussionist/singer Edwin Pabon, this 12-member band from Boston excels in salsa, merengue, bolero and mamba from Puerto Rico."

"Continuing the Latin theme," added committee member Debbie Frawley-Drake, "is El Arto Flamenco. Roberto Rios on classical guitar and performer Isabel Rios present the music & magical dance style of Andalucia. They provide a great introduction to this unique tradition for both children & adults."

"Making their Festival debut is Artsfest," said Matt Soza, "which brings artists together for collaboration, creation and community. Under the leadership of artistic director & local performer Erin Lovett-Sherman, this French-Canadian performance troupe gives classes on dance, theater, aerial & circus arts across the Lakes Region. Artsfest will march in the event kickoff Parade of Flags and then perform first on the Rotary Park Main Stage."

"We'd like to emphasize that there are still many opportunities for volunteers to help on the day of the Festival," added committee member David Stamps. "In particular, individuals will be needed to carry flags & march in the opening Parade. Many will have the chance to carry flags representing their own ethnic heritage.

For more information on volunteering, go online to www.laconiamulticulturalfestival.org, or Email beckyg@laconiamulticultural-festival.org or inquire early on the day of the Festival. You can also follow us on Facebook."

"From Europe to Canada, Africa to the Caribbean, our performers and vendors make up an orchestra of cultures," concluded Becky Guyer. "And on Sept. 10, the air downtown will hum with their global symphony!"

she appeared in both the First National and Broadway companies of "How to Succeed in Business without Really Trying," "Sweet Charity," and she toured with the first National Company of "Chicago," in which she played Velma Kelly. She was one of the first teachers of Fosse Technique in the country to be sanctioned by The Verdon-Fosse Estate. For Mr. Bennett, she appeared in the Broadway productions of "A Chorus Line" (The Original Company) as well as "CoCo" (with Katharine Hepburn), "Company," and "Promises, Promises."

"The Waltz" is the sixth production of the Increased sales, shrinking supply push up home prices

BY RANDY HILMAN

August regional home sales rose nearly 20% year-over-year on volume of $110 million with sales year-to-date up 13 percent on volume of $620 million, an increase of nearly 13 percent from the previous year, figures show.

August transactions in Belknap, Carroll and Grafton counties picked up from July, ending the month 6 percent higher with 366 closed sales, according to sales data supplied by the New England Real Estate Network Multiple Listing Service.

Home prices in August gained, too, with the median price rising 10 percent year-over-year to $220,000. The median home in the three-county region stood at $208,000 for the year, up 4 percent from the same period last year, NEREN figures show.

New August listings again trended downward, dropping nearly 18 percent from July and 11 percent year over year. For the year, new listings are off 11 percent, from 4,719 units a year ago to 4,198 units this year, NEREN figures show.

Increased sales combined with fewer homes coming to market are a formula for rising prices, good news for homeowners preparing to sell, experts say.

Housing supply at the end of August in the three-county region declined 9% from July to 8.9 months with the market absorbing an average of 273 units per month over the previous 12 months. In July average monthly absorption was 271 single-family housing units according to NEREN figures.

"Even as prices rise in many communities homes are selling faster now than they have in the past several years, the New Hampshire REALTORS® said in its most recent housing report.

"This creates a situation where buyers need to move fast in order to secure homes and they many have to pay more for them".

Statewide, the mid-summer median price of a home rose 1.2 percent, year-over-year, while new listings fell 17 percent in the same period, according to the NHR report, which noted that low housing supply is now acting as a kind of brake on an "outright boon" in sales activity,

"despite near record

low mortgage rates and an unemployment rate under 5 percent."

Area builders remain optimistic that a sustained housing recovery will soon ignite demand for new housing. The dilemma for homebuilders is that construction prices have continued to rise since 2008, while housing prices in most areas are still below the 2007 mark.

Grafton County posted the greatest number of sales in July with 128 closed transactions, up 52 percent from a year ago, according to NEREN.

Grafton home sales for the year were up nearly 12 percent to 731 closed transactions on dollar volume of $194.4 million, up nearly 11% from 2015.

New listings in August declined 18 percent to 147 units compared to the same period last year. The median price of a Grafton County home, meanwhile, rose 17 percent year-over-year to $199,450 and stood at $195,000 for the year, an annual increase of 3 percent, NEREN figures show.

Carroll County saw 120 closed transactions in August, a year-over-year increase of 10 percent on dollar volume of $45.3 million, up 50 percent over a year ago. Sales through the first eight months of the year were also up a healthy 13 percent on dollar volume of $217.8 million, up 25 percent from the same period in 2015.

The August median home price in Carroll County was up 16 percent from a year ago to $247,250. The median home price for the year was up 7.5 percent to $215,000, according to NEREN.

Belknap County saw its August-to-August sales numbers rise a comparatively modest 4.5 percent to 118 closed transactions on volume of $32.4 million, down 19% from a year ago, according to NEREN.

To date, however, Belknap home sales remained up a healthy 15% to 709 closed transactions on dollar volume of $208.3 million, up 4 percent.

The August median home price in Belknap County was up nearly 5 percent from the same month last year to $225,500, but down to $213,700 for the year, a year-over-year decline of less than 1 percent, NEREN figures show.

Make the Most of Gifts to Grandchildren

Did you know that National Grandparents Day is less than a week away? While this "Day" is not as widely known as Mother's Day or Father's Day, it is nonetheless important, as it recognizes the key role that grandparents play. If you are a grandparent yourself, you might expect some cards or phone calls or emails from your own grandchildren – but you will probably experience even greater enjoyment in the gifts you can give them. If you're thinking of making a financial gift, consider your options carefully.

To begin with, don't forget about your own needs. As much as you love your grandchildren, you can't afford to provide significant financial gifts to them at the expense of your own retirement savings or the resources you might need for health care or long-term care. So, review your budget to determine what you can afford to give. This amount may change year by year, depending on your circumstances, so you may want to review your potential gifts annually.

However, assuming you can afford to give regularly to your grandchildren, how should you go about it? Here are a few possibilities:

• Establish a 529 plan. A college degree is a very good investment in your grandchildren's future – but higher education comes with high costs. If you want to help your grandkids go to college, you could establish a 529 plan. Earnings in a 529 plan can grow federal tax-free and will not be taxed when the money is taken out to pay for college. Plus, you may receive state tax incentives if you invest in your home state's 529 plan. (However, if withdrawals are not used for higher education expenses, the earnings portion is fully taxable and will incur a 10% penalty.)

Keep in mind, though, that a 529 plan could affect your grandchild's financial aid. While a 529 plan owned by a grandparents generally won't be reported as an asset under the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA), withdrawals used for school will be treated as student income on the next year's FAFSA, and so could lower your grandchild's financial aid package. So you could wait for your grandchild's final year of college, when he or she won't be applying for future financial aid, before you allow withdrawals from the 529 plan. (You may want to discuss a 529 plan's potential financial aid impact with a financial aid professional.)

• How much can I afford to contribute? As much as you'd like to contribute to a custodial account. You can give money to your grandchildren through a custodial account, known as UGMA or UTMA. These are irrevocable gifts that minors gain control of at the age of majority. Be aware, then, that once they get the money, they can do with it as they choose, and their choices may be far different from what you had intended.

• How much can I afford to contribute? As much as you'd like to pay college bills directly. You can simply write a check to the college to help pay for your grandchild's expenses.

By making any of these gifts, you can help your grandchildren move forward through life — and their journey can provide you with the gifts of pride and joy.

PSU names Tracy L. Claybaugh Interim Vice President for Finance and Administration

P L Y M O U T H — Plymouth State University has appointed Tracy L. Claybaugh as its interim vice president for finance and administration. Claybaugh, who started at PSU in late July, was most recently the financial officer at Penn State University's Behrend Campus in Erie, Pennsylvania.

President Don Birx, who worked with Claybaugh during his tenure as president of Penn State's Behrend Campus, said, "Tracy is widely respected at Penn State and was called upon numerous times to work across the system of campuses in tasks that gave her a great deal of insight and responsibility that extended beyond her responsibilities at Behrend. I am confident that she brings the ability to create systems and organization during PSU's restructuring."

Claybaugh has more than two decades of executive leadership experience in non-profit accounting, budgeting, contract administration, project management, compensation, risk management, campus facilities, university real estate accounting, and research administration. Her expertise was forged while working in the private sector at Brand Scaffold, where she was responsible for the accounting of a multitude of cost intensive construction projects in a variety of manufacturing and energy industries. Most notably, she was responsible for project management and accounting for multi-million-dollar oil refinery projects.

After a number of years in private-sector accounting, Claybaugh began her higher education financial career at Wilmington College in the late 1990s. While at Wilmington, she developed and implemented a campus-wide asset tracking system, improved financial aid audit processes, and refined the school's accounting operations. After her tenure at Wilmington College she accepted a position as director of finance and registrar with the Center for Advanced Manufacturing and Technology, a technical college. At a time of institutional transition, she oversaw the integration of new financial accounting software and developed the supporting finance policies and compliance guidelines.

In 2004, Claybaugh was named Financial Officer at Penn State University, the Behrend Campus, where she was responsible for the college's $52 million budget, finance and administration, compensation program and various special projects associated with new construction, buildings, and general operations.

Claybaugh earned her bachelor's degree in accounting from Waynesburg College in her home state of Pennsylvania. Working closely with industry leaders and leaders in academia throughout her career, she has a successful track record of facilitating major institutional change initiatives.

"I am so honored and excited to join an institution as beloved as PSU," said Claybaugh. "I was captivated by how much PSU has to offer the students and the community. I am also particularly enthusiastic about working with a dedicated group of higher education professionals who are so devoted to the University's mission and the students. When I learned about the integrated cluster model, I knew I had the opportunity to be a part of something special that will truly change and shape the future of higher education."

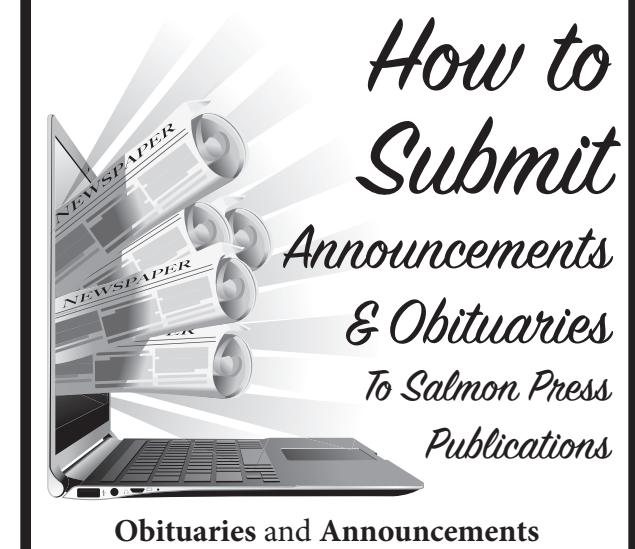

Claybaugh, her husband and two young children, ages seven and nine, enjoy time outdoors together and have a busy life taking care of a menagerie of rescued pets.

Plymouth FD hosts brother in arms on a mission to raise funds for wounded veterans

dhodes@salmonpress.com

PLYMOUTH — The Plymouth Fire Department played host to a very special overnight guest on Sunday, when 68-year-old Sandown firefighter Jerry Lachance wheeled up on his bicycle for stop number two on his 30-day mission to peddle his bicycle from the Canadian border to the Florida Keys. The purpose of his journey, he said, is to raise money through Ride 2 Recovery, which will benefit wounded American veterans.

"I especially want to help veterans who lost a limb in service," Lachance said.

Last Friday afternoon he and his bicycle were driven north from Sandown to Pittsburgh where he spent the night at a friend's camp. The next morning he crossed the Canadian border then crossed back into the United States to get his amazing journey underway.

Night One was spent at a fire department in Lancaster before pedaling on to Plymouth on Sunday.

"Boy, there are some damn big hills between here and Canada," Lachance said with a grin as he stretched his legs in Plymouth late Sunday afternoon. "One hill in Lancaster this morning was enough to kill

DONNA RHODES

Sandown firefighter and Vietnam veteran Jerry Lachance was welcomed for an overnight stay at the Plymouth Fire Department by Capt. Jeremy Bonan and Firefighter Sean Casey last Sunday afternoon. Lachance is biking his way down the East Coast, staying at fire departments along the way, to raise money for wounded veterans through Ride 2 Recovery.

a team of horses."

Lachance himself is a decorated Army veteran of the Viet Nam War, winning a Bronze Star among other medals and awards. He said the purpose of his ride is to raise $10,000 through Ride 2 Recovery but before he even spent one day on the road, he had already surpassed that amount.

"This is great. I can't believe how much I raised already and I'm told other checks are waiting for me between here and Florida," said Lachance.

Besides money raised online prior to the trip, and those upcoming checks he is aware of, Lachance is receiving many other unexpected donations along the road. One in particular came before he even reached the starting point of his ride.

While on their way to Pittsburgh, he said and his friends stopped for dinner at The Common Man in Plymouth. When his friends told the waitress about Lachance's mission, the manager soon came to their table to meet him.

"He told me the meal would be comp-ed if we would donate the price of it to Ride 2 Recovery," Lachance said. "It's great people like that that I've already met and I'm just starting out. It's wonderful."

At other rest stops thus far people have noticed the Ride 2 Recovery cycling clothes and flag on the back of his bike then paid for his meals or handed him donations for the cause. The outpouring of support, he said, has been gratifying.

The support goes beyond monetary donations though.

Lachance said that, as a member of the Sandown Fire Department for the last 22 years, his route strategist began making calls to fire departments to see if they could house him along his way. They all said yes.

Not only that, safety and state officials have also stepped up to advise him of better routes or lend whatever support they could as he travels through their area.

Once Lachance reaches New York City he will be picked up by a team who will transport him and his bike to Route 9 along the New Jersey shore where he will then head south to the Cape May Ferry.

"They told us that truckers along the Jersey turnpike will run over anything in their way along there so they'll drive me to a safer route outside that area," he said.

Operators of the Cape May Ferry are giving him a free ride across the Delaware Bay and the Baltimore Tunnel is also offering free transport through their busy roadway.

After several overnight stays at fire stations along the East Coast and a few stops to meet up with family members and friends for some rest and encouragement, Lachance hopes to arrive at Sloppy Joe's in Key West after 30 long days on the road. A party has been promised upon his arrival, along with a five-day stay at a friend's Marriott Time Share condominium where he can recuperate.

"I don't know how I'm coming home though," he laughed. "I've done these long trips before but I never worry about getting back. I'll figure it all out when I get there."

Greeting him at the Plymouth Fire Department over the weekend was Capt. Jeremy Bonan, who was on duty that day, and Call Firefighter Sean Casey who stopped in just to greet the veteran and Sandown firefighter.

"God bless you," Casey said as he shook hands with Lachance and welcomed him to town.

Lachance will be averaging about 80 miles a day on his journey. His bike is equipped with clothing and bicycle parts he may need in the next month, but his heart and soul are equipped with the strength and determination to complete his mission to assist fellow veterans.

To learn more about Lachance and his Ride 2 Recovery journey, follow his route or donate to his cause, please visit r2r.convio.net/goto/Lachance for details.

DONNA RHODES

Youngsters Liela and Thomas Reynolds, whose family has a summer home in Bridgewater, waited patiently near by the finish line on Saturday to run the last 20 yards of the Run Your Buns off race with their dad Joe who had gone the distance.

"I couldn't make it today so there's a lot of (challenges) going on as to who's going to finish first this year," said Goudie.

In the end, it was Anthony Pifari of Littleton, age 22, who took home the bragging rights with a time of 25:08. In second for the men was 17-year-old Garrison Hiltz of Ashland at 25:50 and 14-year-old Andrew Peyton of Merrimack crossed the line third, just six seconds behind Hiltz.

For the ladies it was 15-year-old Jessica Kaplafka of Nashua in the lead, finishing an impressive 10th over-sides competing this year, she spent the hours leading up to the Mt. Morgan race helping wherever she was needed.

"My mom is on the board and she always does this so that got me started. I was out here at 6 a.m. this morning but that's okay because it's worth it. It's a lot of fun for a really good cause," Kaelyn said.

Besides the girls, their mentors and camp councilors also played an important role in the day, whether it was competing with the girls or acting as safety advisors along the route.

Kearns said that there were many community businesses who helped make the day a huge success, such as major sponsors Speare Memorial Hospital, O'Neill Orthopaedics and The Common Man Restaurant, which also fed all the athletes.

Most importantly though, she said she was very grateful to an original Circle Program mentor and board member Martha Macomber, and Barry Gaw, owner of Riveredge Marina and Sippican Partners Construction.

"Without them, none of this would have ever been possible," said Kearns.

It turned out that all anyone has to do to get from home to trail system is get a note of permission from the selectmen. Translation: It was a matter of miscommunication. Ergo, there was really no need for the meeting. I got up and said so, and everyone went home.

Finally, in Colebrook, I was part of a crowd that packed a meeting room (actually, the court room, where not a few of us in the room, including me, had been dragged in for justice over so many years) to talk about a request to open more rural roads to ATVs.

turn out each Labor Day weekend for their dinner.

Money from the event continues to raise funds for the firefighters, despite the fact that it is now a municipally owned department.

At the 2016 March Town Meeting, voters in Alexandria agreed to place the fire department under the auspices of the town selectmen. What that means, explained Chevalier,

"We couldn't have done this without Jeff's generosity this year," said Lt. Jeff Cantara.

Preparations began on Friday evening when Chief Mark Chevalier lit the first round of coals, then returned with some of the crew at 5:30 a.m., the next morning when the roasting pit was hot and ready to go.

Firefighters them spent the day on Saturday keeping a close eye on the pit, husking corn and preparing for the expected 120 guests that recently able to purchase two sets of Jaws of Life for use in automobile accidents and other emergency equipment for their vehicles.

"We hadn't had that type of equipment before so that's really a great addition. We won't have to rely on other towns to bring that to an accident," said Chevalier.

To satisfy their future equipment needs, AVFA will continue to hold their popular fundraisers, such as the pig roast and their winter ice fishing derby on Newfound Lake. The derby is one of only a few sanctioned ice-fishing derbies in the state and generates much of their expense needs throughout the year.

Donations for equipment and supplies are gratefully accepted at any time though.

Checks may be made out to AVFA and mailed to them at 158 Washburn Rd., Alexandria, N.H. 03222.

Squam Lakes Association's Annual Ridge Race just days away

HOLDERNESS — In only a few short days, participants of the Squam Lakes Association's fourth annual Squam Ridge Race will be tying their laces and getting in a last minute stretch before attempting the 12.2-mile ridge race which traverses a majority of the Squam Range, crossing three summits with amazing views of Squam Lake and the surrounding watershed.

Registration is $75 before the day of the race on Sunday, Sept. 11, and $85 the day of. This race has a total of 3,000 feet of elevation gain and is mostly single track on trails.

Anyone is welcome to run or just hike the 12.2-mile route as a participant of the event.

Those looking for a less strenuous but still beautiful course, meanwhile, can sign up for the 4 mile race which climbs to the top of Mount Livermore and back to the start / finish area.

All proceeds from the race will go directly to conserving over 50 miles of SLA maintained trails around the Squam watershed.

Maintenance along all SLA trails from the race include maintaining water bars to prevent erosion problems, trail reconstruction, clearing brush and downed trees, signage and upkeep in the parking areas.

All participants will be entered into the prize drawings to be held at the end of the event, and have access to food and beverages donated by local restaurants and businesses at the start finish area. Medals will go to the top finishers in their division and prizes to the top finishers overall. Register for the Ridge Race online at www.squamlakes.org.

The Squam Lakes Association is also looking for last minute volunteers to help fire up the grills, work aid stations along the ridge, be time keepers, and photograph the action at the finish line and more.

There are a number of different ways volunteers can support this event, both on the trail and at the finish line. Visit www.squamlakes.org or call the SLA's Volunteer Coordinator, Brian Gagnon, at 968-7336, ext. 16 for more information about volunteering for this event.

TILTON — Newfound goaltender Montana Bassett picked up a shutout in the second game of the season on Friday, Sept. 2, against Winnisquam in Tilton.

And she did so without even touching the ball.

The Newfound field hockey team controlled the pace and flow of the game for pretty much the entire 60 minutes as the green and white Bears beat the Bears of the blue and white variety by a 3-0 score.

"The girls played much better today than at Mascoma (in season opener)," veteran coach Karri Peterson said. "A lot of it was they played for 60 minutes with the offense getting back."

Lakers hand Bears loss in volleyball opener

BY JOSHUA SPAULDING

Sports Editor

BRISTOL — It was not the start that Newfound volleyball coach Amy Fairbank was looking for, or expected.

Inter-Lakes came into Bristol and took care of business 25-14, 25-18, 25-15 to hand the Bears a 3-0 loss on Friday, Sept. 2, in the season opener.

"I honestly can't tell you why it went so wrong," the Bear coach said. "Our preseason had three jamborees where we really played competitive ball."

"Our efforts tonight were not reflective of that," she added.

She noted that the five returning players bring a lot of experience to the court but they were unable to find a rhythm in the opening match.

"When that happens, you pull back, quit communicating and second guess each other," Fairbank said.

With the holiday weekend ahead of them, the Newfound coach is hopeful that the team will come back recharged and ready to go.

"I'm confident after a long weekend of thought and reflection that they'll take this as a motivation to step up their game," Fairbank said.

The Bears were scheduled to be back in action after deadline on Wednesday vs. Stevens. On Friday, Sept. 9, the Bears host Hillsboro-Deering and on Monday, Sept. 12, the team hosts Prospect Mountain, both at 6:15 p.m.

Bobcats bounce back from opening loss

BY JOSHUA SPAULDING

Sports Editor

PLYMOUTH — After a tough performance in the first game of the season, a contest that included an own goal in a 3-1 loss, the Plymouth soccer boys bounced back nicely on Tuesday, Aug. 30, picking up a 3-1 win on the road at Kearsarge.

"It was good to equalize what we did in Pembroke the week before," said coach Ken Wheeler.

"We didn't know much about Karsarge going in."

The Cougars moved back up to Division II after a few years in Division III and the two teams worked on trying to feel each other out through the first few minutes.

"Both teams played kind of sloppy for the first 10 minutes, but we all settled in," Wheeler said.

The first goal of the game came in the 13th minute on a corner kick, as senior captain Matt Rossner delivered the corner kick in front of the net and junior Jake Little was able to head the ball in for a 1-0 lead for the Bobcats.

Not even two minutes later, the Bobcats were able to double the lead as sophomore Devlin Costa dribbled through the defenders and then put the ball past the keeper for a 2-0 lead. That lead held to halftime.

Before Wheeler could even talk to his team at the break, he noted that the boys knew what needed to be done.

"Before I even talked to them, they decided that the two goals weren't enough and they were going to play like it was 0-0," Wheeler said. "The important thing was to get the next goal."

"But that didn't happen," Wheeler said.

Karsarge scored just more than halfway through the second half on a great shot that beat keeper Dylan Donahue to cut the lead to 2-1.

The Cougars continued to pressure, looking for the tying goal.

"They had us on our heels for 10 minutes or so," Wheeler said.

However, in the 75th minute of the game, the Bobcats got a little insurance, as Danny Carey delivered a shot from a tough angle on the right side to make it 3-1 and the Bobcats held on for the win.

Donahue finished with four saves on the night and Wheeler also praised the work of Charlie Carpenter at sweeper and Lucas Johnstone in the midfield.

"We've got a lot of work to do for sure, we've got a tough schedule coming up ahead," Wheeler said.

The team is at Goffstown today, Sept. 8, facing a team that scored 17 goals in the first three games of the season.

"They're a force," Wheeler said. "And then the next week, that's a tough week, it will be good for us, it will give us a look at what we need to get to be able to compete in the playoffs."

That week includes games with John Stark, Windham and Lebanon.

The game with Goffstown today is set for a 4 p.m. start, as is the game at John Stark on Monday, Sept. 12. The home game with Windham on Wednesday, Sept. 14, is set for 4:30 p.m.

Joshua Spaulding can be reached at 569-3126 or sportsgsn@salmonpress.com.

Bear soccer

In the lone contest of the week last week, James Shokal and the Newfound soccer boys fell to Gilford by a 4-1 score. The Bears are at home today, Sept. 9, at 4 p.m. against Stevens and will be hosting Berlin at 4 p.m. on Wednesday, Sept. 14.

Dragons softball tryouts are Sept. 25

REGION — Dragons ASA Softball open tryouts for U10 and U14 teams will be Sunday, Sept. 25, at Woodland Heights Elementary School, 225 Winter St. in Laconia. A rain date will be posted on Facebook if needed by noon on Sept. 25.

Tryouts for 14U pitchers and catchers will be from 1:30 to 2 p.m. Tryouts for all 14U players are 2 to 3 p.m., from 3 to 4 p.m. for all 10U and from 4 to 4:30 p.m. for 10U pitchers and catchers. Tryouts are free.

ASA gives players that love softball the opportunity to play longer in the summer and at a higher caliber of play on a travel team. ASA also only allows certified coaches and patched umpires. This truly is the next level of play.

The Dragons organization believes at U10 and U12 girls shouldn't have to choose between playing Babe Ruth or ASA. They want them on the field as much as possible to foster competitive future high school teams. Therefore these teams will have tournaments after the closing of the Babe Ruth season. They will have practices, however they will be working closely with Babe Ruth coaches so schedules don't conflict with practices.

If you have any questions, please reach out to valleyasasoftball@gmail.com or call / text Kelli Sargent at 581-6798.

And just like that, the fall sports season is here

SPORTING CHANCE

By JOSHUA SPAULDING

my favorite races of the season and it always helps that I have a few teams there every year. And once again, the weather proved perfect for racing.

The first full week of the season saw a trip to Belmont to cover the Prospect Mountain soccer boys while last Tuesday was a soccer doubleheader between Kennett and Kingswood, with the boys and girls both playing on the turf of Alumni Field in Wolfeboro. Wednesday was an actual day off, not something that happens much on non-holidays in the fall season. Thursday I traveled north to the North Conway Country Club covered and it's been a fairly busy start to the season, as is to be expected. On the first day of the season, I saw the Kennett soccer girls, followed the next day by the Newfound soccer boys and the Kingswood soccer boys, for half of their game. The first Saturday of the season I saw Kennett, Kingswood and Plymouth cross country at the Paul Letarte Invitational at Great Glen Trails in Pinkham Notch. This is traditionally one of

to see the Kennett and Kingswood golf teams and on Friday, I saw the Newfound field hockey team in Tilton before heading back to Wolfeboro to see the Kingswood and Plymouth football teams in the first Friday night game of the new season.

The start of this week had the Kingswood and Kennett field hockey teams on the schedule, as well as another trip to see Kennett and Kingswood golf, this time in Wolfeboro. Wednesday was scheduled for Newfound field hockey and volleyball and today (Thursday) will be the Prospect soccer boys vs. Gilford in a battle of top teams. The hope is to see the Prospect soccer girls on Friday and more football, with Kingswood hosting Laconia. On Saturday, the Kennett and Plymouth football teams will do battle in Plymouth.

So, if all goes as planned, I'll have seen a number of my teams in the first few weeks of the season. Still left to see would be the Kingswood, Kennett, Prospect and Plymouth volleyball teams, the Plymouth and Prospect golf teams, the Newfound and Prospect cross country teams, the Newfound football team and the Plymouth soccer and field hockey teams, with hopes of Peterson noted that the Bears are playing this season with a system that only has three defensive players, meaning it's imperative that the midfielders get back and play defense, which they did on Friday.

"We don't have the numbers to rotate them in and out," Peterson said. "So they have to find it to play those 60 minutes."

Newfound got out to a quick start, getting a corner out of the gate and Mackenzie Ryan's shot was blocked. Caroline Marchand then sent a ball toward the net that just missed connecting with sister Julianne Marchand at the post.

Amanda Johnston had a shot denied by the Winnisquam keeper and Julianne Marchand sent a nice cross that was stopped by the defense. Ryan turned in a solid defensive play and that turned into a break the other way, as Kylee MacDonald just missed connecting with Caroline Marchand.

with just less than seven minutes gone in the game. Julianne Marchand sent a cross to MacDonald, who put a shot toward the net that was blocked. However, Johnston got the rebound and put it home for the 1-0 lead for Newfound.

Winnisquam came back with a bid in the zone, but their shot went wide, while Julianne Marchand had a couple of nice passes in the offensive zone, with MacDonald sending a shot wide. Johnston made a nice steal along the sideline while Hayleigh LeTourneau turned in strong defense as well.

The Bears doubled the lead with 14:17 to go in the first half, as Savanna Bony sent the ball to MacDonald, who fired it into the net for the 2-0 lead.

Winnisquam came back into their offensive zone but Bony turned in strong defense to clear the ball out of the zone. Ryan also turned in strong defense and Julianne Marchand sent the ball up the field and out of harm's way.

The hosts had a couple of corners but could not get a shot on net, as Ryan came up with more good defense. Johnston and Caroline Marchand combined on a bid but could not convert. Newfound got a couple of corners but could not connect.

However, with just more than a minute to go in the first half, MacDonald sent the ball in front of the net and Caroline Marchand put a nice touch on the ball, tapping it past the keeper for a 3-0 lead for Newfound and that lead stood up to the half.

MacDonald had an early bid for Newfound and the visitors had a couple of corners as well but could not get the ball in on net. Julianne Marchand and MacDonald also combined on a bid that went wide. LeTourneau came up with a nice steal at midfield and sent the ball in to Julianne Marchand but the ball again went wide. MacDonald continued to pressure with a couple of good bids but could not connect.

Newfound got a penalty corner chance but Bony's shot went wide of the net. Madison Hanley also had a shot go wide of the net. The Bears had another corner but could not convert and Bony had another shot denied.

The hosts were able to get a corner chance but good defense from Hannah Eastman helped keep the ball away. Bony sent the ball off a post and after another Newfound corner, LeTourneau also sent the ball off the post. MacDonald battled in front for the rebound but the ball didn't make it into the net and the 3-0 score remained.

Winnisquam was able to get a corner in the final minute but couldn't convert and Newfound took the 3-0 win to move to 2-0 on the season.

"In the first half I was happy with what I saw," Peterson said. "In the second half, I was happy but we couldn't get it over the line, they were so close."

The veteran coach praised the work of the Marchand sisters up front as well as the hard work of MacDonald in front of the net.

The Bears opened the season with a 4-1 win at Mascoma on Tuesday, Aug. 30.

The Bears scored 90 seconds into the game with MacDonald scoring her team's first goal of the season on an assist from Julianne Marchand. MacDonald connected again on a pass from Johnston midway through the half for a 2-0 lead.

The Bears scored on two corners in the second half, with Kaylan Santa Maria scoring both goals for the Bears. Bony assisted on the first goal with the second coming off a rebound. Mascoma scored their lone goal with 1:10 to go.

Bassett finished with eight saves on the day and Peterson praised the work of LeTourneau and Ryan on the defensive side of things.

The team will be back in action on Friday, Sept. 9, hosting Gilford at 4 p.m. and on Wednesday, Sept. 14, the girls head to Berlin for a 4 p.m. contest.

Strong core returning for Bobcat net girls

BY JOSHUA SPAULDING

Sports Editor

PLYMOUTH — In her third year at the helm, coach Mary Boyle is excited about the look of the Plymouth volleyball team.

The Bobcats will return five seniors and three juniors, giving them plenty of experience on which to build on.

Plymouth finished at 9-7 last year and earned the 10th seed in the playoffs, upsetting John Stark in the first round before battling Somersworth tough in the second round of the tournament.

"Our team is built on experience," Boyle stated, pointing to the eight returning players as a key cog in moving the team forward.

Kadirah Abdul-Jabbar returns for her senior year as the team's setter. She's been the team's setter for the last three years and Boyle is excited to have the experience back in the setter role.

She will have a number of hitters to feed the ball to, as Janessa Terry, Emily Samson and Angel Jandoc are all expected to get time as hitters. All three are seniors. Terry and Abdul-Jabbar will be serving as the team's co-captains for the season.

The other senior returning to the lineup for the Bobcats is Taylor Eaton, who will be one of two defensive specialists, joining with junior returner Khalilah Abdul-Jabbar.

"The defense will be led by Taylor Eaton and Khalilah Abdul-Jabbar, but don't be surprised to see them both help us offensively, too," Boyle said.

Fellow junior Brianna Custance will return as a powerful middle blocker for the Bobcats, while Christina Furgal returns after seeing time in the playoffs last year and will be helping to run the offense.

Junior Emma Cooper moves from the JV up to the varsity squad this year and will see time at right side hitter and she is joined by a host of sophomores who are also making the leap to varsity. Ciara O'Brien and Taylor Paquette are both right side hitters and O'Brien can also work as a setter. Hailey Rousseau will be a middle blocker for the Bobcats and classmate Katherine Van Iderstine will be an outside hitter.

"(They) will bring a strong competitive edge to the team," Boyle said of the newcomers.

Additionally, Boyle will have a pair of freshmen on the squad this year, as both Alycia Poitras and Anja Swanson will be helping out as outside hitters.

The Bobcats will be featuring a pair of games each with traditional rivals Kennett and Kingswood and will also feature two games each with Manchester West, John Stark, Gilford, Laconia, Fall Mountain and Hanover.

The Bobcats began the season after deadline on Wednesday against Manchester West. The team's first home game of the season will take place on Friday, Sept. 9, as John Stark comes to town for a 6 p.m. start. On Wednesday, Sept. 14, the Bobcats will be at Gilford for a 6 p.m. start.
