

Fish and Game gives Downing's Landing update

BY AIMEE TERRAVECHIA
Contributing Writer

ALTON — As construction at Downing's Landing wraps up for the season, the New Hampshire Fish and Game (NHFG) has shared updates about the timeline and scope of the project, quelling residents' concerns about winter access and raising additional questions about the 2020 summer season. Garret Graaskamp serves as the project coordinator with NHFG, and he recently shared updates to the project via e-mail.

The NHFG set their sights on Downing's Landing due to its location on Lake Winnepesaukee. "Downing's Landing is the only free, state controlled public access ramp on Lake Winnepesaukee," Graaskamp stated. "It receives high volume use during the summer and required refurbishment to improve the level of service to meet this need." It is this refurbishment that has left many Alton residents asking questions about the construction. Recent delays have pushed out the timeline of the project out until 2021.

The original timeline included a planned closure running through Columbus Day, however the discovery of buried debris has delayed construction at the site.

Despite the delays, NHFG is confident that the planned improvements will benefit residents. "We believe the upgraded boat access facility will enhance the water-recreation opportunities associated with the town to everyone's benefit and enjoyment," Graaskamp said.

The new timeline still allows for winter access. Many residents have raised concerns about using the location for ice fishing, and other seasonal recreational activities. The site has served as a point of entry for the town's Winter Carnival in the past as well.

"The ice fishing access from this property will be similar to past years," Graaskamp said.

He did note, however, that access will be restricted to the stretch of sandy terrain adjacent to the ramp. "We will not be able to remove the loose stone covering the ramp," he said. Graaskamp also urged residents planning to use the area for winter access to the lake to use caution. "Any person using this property does so at their own risk and are responsible for ensuring their own safety. The NH Fish and Game Department makes no warranty or claim that the site is safe and suitable for any activity or purpose by the public," Graaskamp noted. "These caveats are true of any NHFG access location or property."

noted that the overall scope of the project remains relatively unchanged, they are still considering what changes will be made to parking at Downing's Landing. "To afford safe and efficient passage around the small 0.8-acre property, about 16 trailer-vehicle tandems and about three cartop spaces are being considered for the site," Graaskamp said. "The final parking layout and count has not been established." Graaskamp also noted that an ADA-compliant space would be available in the finished parking lot.

The current projected timeline includes resum-

Help construct new trail at Jones Field

ALTON — The Loop Trail is envisioned as a scenic, dog-friendly walking trail around the perimeter of Jones Field. When complete, it will skirt Jones Field, traverse along the old B

& M Railroad path overlooking the marsh of the Merrymeeting River, which has astounding flora and fauna and loop (as suggested by its name) back to its point of origin.

Jones Field is located off Letter S Road across of the Alton Public Works Department and is home to fields where Alton kids play t-ball, softball and baseball. Jones Field can also be accessed as a pedestrian via Riverlake Street, which begins near J.P. China in Alton Bay. Ample parking is available in each location.

The pedestrian way is part of the Quannippi Trail, which is presently being developed from the Alton Bay Community Center to Liberty Tree Park near the Route 140 Fire Station.

The Loop Trail will be a relatively flat, of moderate ability and a perfect diversion for parents accompanying their children to practice or games at Jones Field. It is also envisioned as an easily-accessible stroll for citizens and visitors of all ages.

Volunteers are sought to clear out the new trail on Saturday, Oct. 26, and Saturday, Nov. 2, at 9 a.m. Volunteers should meet at the north end of Jones Field and should bring work gloves, brush cutters, a chainsaw (if you're capable of using one) and a small Bobcat or similar (if you have one) to help with rough portions of

Haunted trails in New Durham on Halloween

NEW DURHAM — Halloween Haunted Trails will take place at the New Durham Meetinghouse on Thursday, Oct. 31, from 6 to 7:30 p.m. Donations are greatly appreciated and visitors are invited to walk through the woods at their own risk, though children under 14 must be supervised.

Seven town mixer coming Nov. 7

NEW DURHAM — Moose Mountains Regional Greenways (MMRG) will hold its seventh annual ‘Seven Town Mixer’ on Thursday, Nov. 7, from 5:30 to 8:30 p.m. at New Durham Elementary School, 7 Old Bay Road, New Durham. Guest presenters Barbara Richter, Executive Director of NH Association of Conservation Commissions, and Charlie Bridges, Chair of the Birch Ridge Community Forest Citizens Committee, will discuss town forests, community forests and their benefits. The program will also feature networking and information-sharing by municipal officials from MMRG’s seven service towns: Brookfield, Farmington, Middleton, Milton, New Durham, Wakefield and Wolfeboro. The public is welcome.

At first glance, the terms ‘town forest’ and ‘community forest’ may sound superficially interchangeable, but in New Hampshire, they are quite distinct. Bridges summarizes the difference, “Community forests result from a dedicated federal funding program (the Community Forest Program of the US Forest Service), whereas town forests are defined in NH state law and designated by a town’s governing body.”

Bridges will speak about the Community Forest Program that made possible the recent creation and conservation of the 2,000-acre Birch Ridge Community Forest in New Durham, owned by Southeast Land Trust of New Hampshire (SELT), with a conservation easement held by MMRG.

Richter will discuss the benefits of setting aside town-owned lands as town forests based on information from the Town Forest Inventory project completed with UNH and the Northern Forest Center. Richter remarks, “I’ll also cover some examples of forest management projects that conservation commissions have been involved in.”

Members of town select boards, planning boards, conservation commissions and other municipal officials are all invited to attend this unique educational event that brings town officials together. The evening will begin with networking and complimentary refreshments. This event is free and open to the public but pre-registration is required. For more information, call MMRG Education Coordinator Kari Lygren at 978-7125 or e-mail mmrgnh@gmail.com.

MMRG, a non-profit land trust, works to conserve and connect important water resources, farm and forest lands, wildlife habitats and recreational land and offers regular educational opportunities to inform all ages about the benefits of the region’s natural resources. More information and a calendar of upcoming events are available at www.mmrg.info.

Inside the building, join in the fun with a cupcake walk, pumpkin ring toss, and photo booth. Ever tried eating a doughnut on a string? Here’s your chance.

Of course the candy will be plentiful for trick-or-treating. You can also enjoy popcorn, hot cocoa, and cider, courtesy of Meredith Village Savings Bank.

Wander down to the Old Stone Pound, if you dare.

Prove your courage by walking the haunted trail. Bring a flashlight, but it’s up to you whether to use it or not. You won’t be scared, will you?

Ample parking is available on the Meetinghouse grounds. The event is free, but donations are appreciated. Children under 14 must be supervised.

Hassan visits Lakes Region Technology Center

LAKES REGION Technology Center Principal Bruce Farr, KRHS senior Nate Overall, teacher Scott Meserve, US Sen. Maggie Hassan and KRHS senior Jackson Walsh discussed the value of the precision manufacturing in career development.

BY ELISSA PAQUETTE
Contributing Writer

WOLFEBORO — The Lakes Region Technology Center (LRTC), located in the Kingswood Complex in Wolfeboro, received a visit from US Sen. Maggie Hassan on Oct. 1. Hassan, who worked to pass bipartisan legislation that updated the Carl D. Perkins Career and Technical Education Improvement Act, came to spread the word on funding for states to implement high-quality career and technical education programs.

In turn, Work Based Learning teacher Jennifer French and LRTC staff, offered students in the marketing, culinary arts, computer networking and precision machining classes the opportunity to share their educational experiences with Hassan.

Marketing students Caroline and Savannah Thomas talked with Hassan in the school depot store, where they have acquired experience running the cash register and maintaining the store.

“Has the hands on experience helped you?” asked Hassan.

Caroline quickly responded, “I’ve learned more in this class than any other.”

The two both said they have jobs outside of school in which they are able to apply what they are learning and have their sights set on continuing their education in business.

Hassan said that is the goal, to align the technical education curriculum for a successful transition from high school to college and on to a chosen career, and as she left for the Skylight Dining Room where she would soon talk to culinary arts student Lillian Bouwen, she asked them to send her any ideas they wished to share.

Bouwens and Hassan spoke as the Wolfeboro Community Television camera rolled and a coterie of educators, including GWRSD Superintendent Kathy Egbert, LRTC Principal Bruce Farr, Hassan’s Deputy Communications Director and a security member, French and this reporter, looked on. Such an experience could be unnerving to a high school senior, but Bouwens made talking about her educational pathway look easy.

Down the hallway and on into the computer networking classroom, students Tyler Mahler, Thomas McGee, Aaron Stanard and Isaac Garry were gathered to share their enthusiasm for problem solving alongside Information Technology (IT) Director Jacob Eveleth, an engagement made readily available by the IT department’s proximity within Kingswood High School.

Garry, a member of the robotics team, said the robotics program has been gratifying and fits in with his desire to major in engineering at UNH.

She spoke of its importance and the need for people with technology experience to explore the field. The computer networking class has allowed them to get a jumpstart, students said, and they are looking forward to expanding their expertise.

The precision manufacturing classroom, run by teacher Scott Meserve, was next. Seniors Nate Overall and Jackson Walsh said learning G Code programming wasn’t easy, but they “fell in love with it.” They spoke against a backdrop of the district’s substantial investment in machinery.

The LRTC has the highest enrollment in its history, said Farr. Three hundred-twenty students from Alton, Barnstead, Moultonborough, Farmington and the seven towns of the Governor Wentworth Regional School District (Brookfield, New Durham, Middleton, Ossipee, Tuftonboro and Wolfeboro) are able to choose from 14 programs.

In addition to the programs Hassan visited, are agricultural science, auto collision repair, auto science technology, construction trades, careers in education, graphic design, health sciences, hospitality and tourism, multimedia, and theatre stagecraft.

The root cause of illness, toxicity in the body, and the emotional component to healing your pet will also be covered.

She started the Jesse Lewis Choose Love Movement to foster the understanding that with the right tools, people can educate and encourage individuals to choose loving thoughts over angry thoughts.

Scarlett Lewis will be at Prospect Mountain High School’s auditorium on Nov. 6 with pizza and drinks provided by End 68 Hours of Hunger of Barnstead at 6 p.m. and the presentation starting at 6:30 p.m.

Something sweet

All ages pitched in to prepare, serve and clear the first Senior Lunch of the season in New Durham on Saturday. Town employees sponsor the monthly events at the New Durham Fire Station Community Room for residents 60 years old and over. Future dates are Nov. 23, Jan. 18, Feb. 15, and March 21. Call Town Clerk Stephanie MacKenzie at 859-2091, extension 1, for more information.

Showing support

A newspaper is only as successful as the communities in which it is based and we feel grateful to be part of the Alton, Barnstead and New Durham communities. The communities have supported us in numerous ways over the course of the last decade-plus and we are appreciative of everyone who has contributed to the success of the paper.

There are many ways people contribute to the paper's success. Some people write a column on a weekly or monthly basis (Mark Patterson, John Harrigan, Vivian Dion), some people send press releases representing various groups throughout the local communities, which we are able to publish each week. Others are contributing writers for the paper, covering meetings and other events throughout the local communities.

But possibly the most important contributors to the newspapers are the advertisers, the businesses in the local community that continue to purchase advertising space in the paper each week.

Advertising is the key to any newspaper, as it is the revenue from advertising that allows the paper to be printed. Obviously, because the paper is free, we don't make money from subscriptions, but even for papers that aren't free of charge like ours is, advertising is the key mode of income. There are many local businesses that have been with us for a long time and we couldn't be more grateful for their support over the years.

For those unfamiliar with exactly what goes into a newspaper each week, the ads are paid space, where businesses can get their message out. These ads are traditionally found at the bottom of each page of the newspaper (besides this one). Businesses pay for ad space based on the size of the ad and our layout people place the ads on pages and then the editorial items (press releases, photos and stories) are placed in the space above the ads. The ads come first and then we fill the rest of the space with the content sent in by readers or writers.

As the print journalism field continues to make adjustments to the changing economic times and the prevalence of online news, there are many advertisers who have continued to trust in us and we thank them for their loyalty and support.

And we'd like to ask that the readers of our newspaper take a look at the paper each week and check out the ads. And if you have business to do, we'd be appreciative if you chose to do business with someone who advertises with us. If advertisers know that people see their ads, they will continue to place those ads. There is a wide variety of businesses advertising services in the paper each week, plus a number of different ads running in the classified section (after the sports section). Your support for us by supporting our advertisers is always appreciated.

The community must work together to be successful and newspapers, advertisers and customers are all part of that togetherness.

MMRG bonfire event set for Oct. 25

MILTON — As part of its 'MOOSE-ies for Families' series, Moose Mountains Regional Greenways (MMRG) will offer a family bonfire evening of nature-related children's games and other fun activities next to a roaring bonfire on Friday, Oct. 25. Two years ago, a bonfire evening was the kick-off event for 'MOOSE-ies for Families' and it has become a favorite tradition in that program. The series of six family activities per year was developed for children and their families to have fun together outdoors while learning about the natural world.

Each of the past two years has featured two separate bonfires: one roaring blaze, exciting for families to watch, and a second quieter campfire where children could roast marshmallows. Activities have included participatory music-making and games based on wildlife or nature themes. This year's family bonfire evening will once again offer games and other types of fun led MMRG staff and volunteers. In addition, there will be unstructured time, emphasizes MMRG Educational Outreach Coordinator Kari Lygren. "Kids are so imaginative; we'll see what they come up with as well." She adds, "Last year, families were having so much fun, they didn't want to leave."

The bonfire evening will take place from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. at a private venue in Milton. Children of all ages are welcome with their families but pre-registration is required. The event is free for MMRG member households; non-members will need to join (see below) to be eligible for the full 'MOOSE-ies for Families' program of events. For more information, directions, and to pre-register, call Lygren at 978-7125 or email mmrgnh@gmail.com.

'MOOSE-ies for Families' stands for Members Only Outdoor and Social Events for Families. Families can join MMRG at www.mmrg.info/become-a-member/ or call 473-2020 to inquire about available scholarships. The next 'MOOSE-ies for Families' event is a walk to gather greens and make seasonal decorations on Saturday, Dec. 1. MMRG would like to thank MRP Manufacturing, LLC in Pittsfield for sponsoring the 2019 'MOOSE-ies for Families' series and the Dorr Foundation, which supported the program with a grant.

MMRG, a non-profit land trust, works to conserve and connect important water resources, farm and forest lands, wildlife habitats, and recreational land in Brookfield, Farmington, Middleton, Milton, New Durham, Wakefield and Wolfeboro. MMRG also offers many educational opportunities to inform all ages about the benefits of our region's natural resources. For more information and a calendar of upcoming events, visit www.mmrg.info.

Bat program at Gilman Library today

ALTON — Please join in at the Gilman Library for an afternoon with Jerry Schneider’s bat program. This event is scheduled for Oct. 24 at 3:30 p.m., on the lower level, in the Agnes Thompson Meeting Room.

Schneider, the creator of the award-winning Butterfly Game, presented the butterfly program at the Gilman Library three years ago. He has offered nature programs in schools and libraries for the past 12 years, throughout the Northeast, the Midwest and the Atlantic Seaboard. The Butterfly Game received a National Parenting Publications Award in 2004.

Schneider has brought the wonderful world of bats to audiences since 2003, using the wonderful slide photographs by Merlin D. Tuttle, former president of Bat Conservation International. This program features the echolocation calls of bats.

What is echolocation? How loud is it? Why can’t people hear bats when they are echo-locating? The bat program introduces audiences to local and tropical bats, the Vampire Bat, and many more of the only flying mammals. Via slides and taped bat calls, audiences move beyond old stereotypes, to understand the vital roles of bats in the environment.

Attendees will see slide photos of the Big Brown Bat, the Silver-Haired Bat, and the Desert Red Bat. Eyes will light up at such phenomenal creatures as Townsend’s Big-Eared Bat and the Pallid Bat. A t-shirt craft will follow the slide show. Children may purchase a heavy white tee shirt for $4 or bring their own.

Families enjoy time under the moon

MILTON — What can you do outside in the dark? A lot, it turns out, as discovered by a dozen parents and children who joined Moose Mountains Regional Greenways (MMRG) for a Family New Moon Walk on a warm September evening at Branch Hill Farm in Milton Mills. The outing was part of MMRG’s ‘MOOSE-ies for Families’ program of six nature-related activities per year, designed for families to have fun outdoors together and to encourage a new generation of conservationists.

As twilight fell, families walked along a woods road through the Branch Hill Farm forest. One child picked up a pine cone, which became an opportunity to identify and learn about pine trees. When the forest transitioned from softwoods to deciduous, trip co-leader Tom Gardner pointed out the differences between leafy trees and trees with needles. Other senses came into sharper focus as twilight deepened. When co-leader Kari Lygren pointed out the soft moss under their feet, one little girl opted for the full sensory experience and lay down in it. Further along, where the path opened up to a field, everyone spontaneously grew quiet and listened.

The destination was a secluded meadow enclosed by woods, perfect for stargazing while lying on blankets or for frolicking around on the grass. Kids had a great time chasing and capturing crickets while adults enjoyed seeing the stars gradually appear in the darkening sky and learning to identify various constellations. Everyone was interested in trying the red flashlights (red cellophane taped over the light bulb end), which made it easier for eyes to adapt to the dark.

Earlier, Gardner had discussed how our eyesight is based on rods and cones and why red and white light has different effects. He gave examples of animals with different types of sight: nocturnal animals, such as owls, bats and raccoons, that come out and hunt only at night; crepuscular animals such as deer, active at dawn and dusk; and the many diurnal animals that humans are familiar with because we’re all out and about during daylight hours. By the time families made the walk back from the field to their cars, night had fallen and children noticed they could see better when the lights stayed off or only red lights were used.

Reflecting on the evening, Lygren reported, “We threw out most of the structured activities we had planned, because kids were having so much fun playing in the field and being outside in the dark. That’s the point after all, for us to enjoy and value what nature has to offer us!”

‘MOOSE-ies for Families’ stands for Members Only Outdoor and Social Events for Families, a membership benefit for MMRG member families. Upcoming MOOSE-ies events include a bonfire evening of stories, music and games on Friday, Oct. 25, and a Saturday morning walk to gather greens and make natural decorations on Dec. 1. Families can join MMRG at www.mmrinfo/become-a-member/ or call 473-2020 to inquire about available scholarships. MMRG would like to thank MRP Manufacturing, LLC in Pittsfield for sponsoring the 2019 ‘MOOSE-ies for Families’ series, and the Dorr Foundation, which supported the program with a grant.

MMRG, a non-profit land trust, works to conserve and connect important water resources, farm and forest lands, wildlife habitats, and recreational land in Brookfield, Farmington, Middleton, Milton,

New Durham, Wakefield and Wolfeboro. MMRG also offers educational opportunities to inform all ages about the benefits of our region’s natural resources; see www.mmrinfo. Branch Hill Farm/Carl Siemon Family Charitable Trust works to protect open space and working forests and to educate the public about sound forestry, conservation and agricultural practices; see www.branchhillfarm.org.

Central NH VNA and Hospice hosts annual meeting

REGION — Addressing an overflow crowd on Wednesday evening, Emily Clement entertained and inspired attendees with her stories peppered with life lessons and wisdom. “Activate your superpowers and you will move in a powerful direction.”

PET OF THE WEEK

Toby has been waiting since July 30th for a new home...that’s a pretty long while. He is a handsome, 4-year-old, 75 pound Bull/Terrier mix who is looking for an active home without other dogs and with children over 10 years of age. He is anxious around men and paper towels likely because he suffered abuse before he was rescued. He has no experience with cats. He loves to run and play fetch. He is current on vaccinations, neutered and microchipped and beyond excited to move into a home of his own soon.

Duggan enrolls at St. Lawrence

CANTON, N.Y. — St. Lawrence University welcomed Brianna P. Duggan of Alton as a member of the Class of 2023. Duggan attended Prospect Mountain High School.

St. Lawrence University welcomed 620 students, including 56 international students, to the Class of 2023 as well as returning and transfer students. Fifty-five percent of St. Lawrence students come from outside of New York state, and 77 percent graduated in the top-25 percent of their high school class.

Each first-year student at St. Lawrence participates in the university's nationally-recognized First-Year Program, one of the oldest living-learning programs in the country. The FYP helps students make successful transitions from high school to college. Students live together as cohorts and are taught by faculty teams, developing the writing, speaking and research skills needed for college. Students continue to develop these skills in a spring First-Year Seminar.

Fall semester classes began on Aug. 28.

Last exhibit of the year opens at Wright Museum

WOLFEBORO — In September, The Last Good War: The Faces and Voices of World War II opened at Wright Museum, its last exhibit of the 2019 season.

"It's a remarkable exhibit with very powerful visuals," explained museum Executive Director Mike Culver. "If you have not visited us this year, this exhibit alone is worth the trip."

The exhibit features photographs of World War II veterans by Thomas Sanders, who traveled the nation to record in pictures and words experiences from those who fought the "last good war."

The exhibit has already made an impression on residents from Taylor Community, which is co-sponsoring the exhibit with The Weirs Times. As part of the sponsorship, nearly two-dozen residents recently visited the museum for a special tour of the exhibit with Culver.

"It was wonderful to have them here with many Taylor residents from 'the greatest generation' themselves," said Culver. "This exhibit is important because it shows and tells stories from the greatest generation. We need these stories before we lose direct contact with them and that seminal period of American history."

Previous exhibits at Wright Museum this year included Esquire Magazine: The World War II Years and Righting a Wrong: Japanese Americans and World War II, developed by the National Museum of American History and adapted for travel by the Smithsonian Institute

Traveling Exhibition Service.

"It's been a wonderful year of exhibits at The Wright," added Culver. "I hope we can encourage anyone who has not seen the current exhibit to visit and experience 'the greatest generation' via both image and word."

The Last Good War: The Faces and Voices of World War II runs through the end of the museum's season on Oct. 31.

The region's leading resource for educators and learners of all ages on World War II, Wright Museum features more than 14,000 items in its collection that are representative of both the homefront and battlefield.

MARK ON THE MARKETS

It's just math

BY MARK PATTERSON
Contributing Writer
Why does risk matter? The risk that I am referring to is investment risk made up primarily of market risk when dealing with equities or stocks and interest rate risk as well as credit risk when dealing with bonds or fixed income.

Concepts that I've expressed in previous articles are dealing with quantifying risk and reporting returns. Let me talk about two portfolios made up with a variety of asset classes. We can assign each portfolio with a standard deviation, (difference from the middle), which measures the volatility and a range of upside and downside of potential returns. Portfolio one has a wide standard deviation (more risk and potential return) and portfolio two has a lesser standard deviation.

Portfolio number one started with $100,000 and had a wonderful first year return of 60 percent.

The second-year portfolio one sustained a 40 percent loss. The average return for this portfolio over two years is 10 percent. Not a bad return.

Portfolio number two started with the same $100,000, a 30 percent first year return but a 10 percent second year loss. Again, a 10 percent average return.

age return over the two-year span, again, not a bad return.

But let's look at the compounded annual growth, which is measuring dollars not average returns.

Portfolio one, $100,000 invested after one year is equal to $160,000, 40 percent loss of $60,000 brings our dollars down to $96,000.

Portfolio two, $100,000 with a 30 percent return equals $130,000, followed by a 10 percent loss or $13000 brings us down to $117,000.

I prefer portfolio number two, how about you?

So, you can see that bringing down the risk or standard deviation in a portfolio will lead to superior returns of real dollars.

traded funds or individual stocks and bonds, you can assume they are probably working for your best interest.

Risk management is only part of the story. The purpose of your money is more important than risk assessment in my opinion. It's very easy to answer questions to create a risk profile which is typically matched up to a corresponding prefabricated portfolio. But if you answer questions that match you up a growth portfolio and income is needed soon; your portfolio will not be designed what its purpose really is.

It is common for my client that is near or in retirement to reminisce about the returns of their investment portfolio 25 years ago, as a retail broker I was not really concerned about losses at that time either. I didn't really understand the concept of compounded annual growth versus average returns.

Staying away from big losses in your investment portfolio not only maintains your monetary capital but preserves emotional capital.

Birds, bobcats, and courage and a seasonal note or two

By JOHN HARRIGAN
COLUMNIST

I’ve always admired two creatures of the wild for their pluck - the mother partridge (ruffed grouse) and the bobcat. I know, I know, “partridge” and “ruffed grouse” are not technically or scientifically interchangeable.

Still, to settlers from England, Ireland and Scotland, it was always “partridge,” and the vernacular stuck. I can remember riding in to the logging camps at the junction of the East Branch and Deadwater Stream with Blondie Meserve, with a box of shotgun shells on the front seat, in easy reach. “Cartridges for partridges,” he said with a big grin, even though both terms were, to the pernickety, incorrect.

A hen with a clutch of chicks traveling all around with her, learning how and what to peck at, will rush an intruder (you, startled half to death) all puffed up, wings outstretched, hissing beak extended like a timber rattler. You back off, looking around for the Medevac copter.

And then there’s the bobcat, which at an average adult male weight of 22 pounds or so is far smaller than you are, but doesn’t seem to know it. I’ve had to come face to face with captive bobcats a couple of times, and they spent the entire time hissing, growling and spitting, and trying to think up ways to kill me.

On the subject of bobcats, I try to stick to in-state topics here but could not help noting a neat bobcat story from west of the Mississippi.

A father and son were fishing a remote pond in Montana earlier this month when a juvenile bobcat swam toward their boat, obviously struggling and in trouble, and the men sensed that it was about to go down.

They maneuvered their boat over to the cat and scooped it up with a big fishing net. They tried to dry it off and warm it up on the way to the landing, but it spent the entire time snarling, hissing and growling until they released it on shore.

Phone scam department:

I also avoid social issues in this space, but this topic hardly fits that description. It is a predator-prey situation.

New Hampshire has a higher percentage of elderly people than the national average, and the elderly are more prone to falling prey to fast-talking con-artists. Police all over the state often ask the media to spread the word about the most recent gimmick.

Twice now I’ve received phone calls from someone purporting to be my grandson, in jail (in Mexico) and in need of money for bail and flying home, fast. The thing is, I have only one grandson, he’s French-Irish, and he doesn’t sound like he’s from West Texas.

Other scams include fundraising calls from police or fire department “support” organizations

JOHN HARRIGAN

THE DOG on the porch is Millie, in Scan Mode. The boulder is a glacial erratic, moved with hydraulics after 15,000 years up in Ancestors’ Field. The picnic table is one of two, soon to be stored for the season. The shadow is more Millie.

(legitimate fundraisers are likely to be someone you know) and fly-by-night roofers and paving companies (ditto).

And then there are the “your rights under Medicare” outfits. These sound like government-associated companies on the TV ads, but are not. They offer benefits that are already available, at extra cost. They are nothing but barkers for high-priced “benefits package” companies, shilling for extra services you’ll have to pay for.

Seniors simply need to be warned about these calls. Children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren, do your elders a kindness with a few words to the wise.

Seasonal notes:

We’ve had five or six good, hard frosts now. This is supposed to happen. It’s the middle of October. Any day now: First snow, which won’t stick because the ground’s not frozen. Yet. It was a whale of a foliage season. The colors held on and so did the leaves, despite rain and high winds.

The fine smell of wood smoke is ever more in the air.

Water in dogs’ dishes is frozen at dawn. So are the dogs, which say, like Cold War spies in the thrillers, “Time to come in from the cold.”

To the dogs

The Alton, Barnstead, New Durham Centennial Rotary has gone to the ‘dogs.’ Well, not completely. But it did raise money thru Rotary’s ‘Paint a Puppy’ art contest, enough to donate $500 each to the Alton and New Durham Police K-9 Corps, and $500 to the Barnstead Police for erecting a flagpole at its newly built police station. At the Rotary’s weekly breakfast meeting, receiving their checks are; (l to r) Rotary Treasurer Scott Littlefield as presenter, Alton Police Officer Christian Johnson, Barnstead Chief of Police Paul Poirier and New Durham Chief of Police Shawn Bernier standing beside the President of the Alton Rotary, Duane Hammond. The Alton Rotary is a non-profit service organization serving the communities of Alton, Barnstead and New Durham. It raises money to save and improves lives in these towns, and doesn’t expect nor accepts any form of a quid pro quo from its contributions.

Breast cancer signs and symptoms

Breast cancer is a formidable foe. According to the World Health Organization, an estimated 627,000 women lost their lives to breast cancer in 2018. But women are not helpless in the fight against breast cancer, as the WHO notes early detection is critical and could potentially save thousands of lives each year.

A proactive approach is a key component of protecting oneself against breast cancer. While the National Breast Cancer Foundation, Inc.® notes that many breast cancer symptoms are invisible and not noticeable without a professional cancer screening, women can keep an eye out for certain signs of breast cancer they might be able to detect on their own. Monthly self-exams can help women more easily identify changes in their breasts. During such self-exams, women can look for the following signs and symptoms and are advised to report any abnormalities they discover to their physicians immediately.

- Changes in how the breast or nipple feels: The NBCF says nipple tenderness or a lump or thickening in or near the breast or underarm could indicate the presence of breast cancer. Some women may notice changes in the skin texture or an enlargement of the pores in the skin of their breast. In many instances, skin texture has been described as being similar to the texture of an orange peel. Lumps in the breast also may indicate breast cancer, though not all lumps are cancerous.

- Change in appearance of the breast or nipple: Unexplained changes in the size or shape of the breast; dimpling anywhere on the breast; unexplained swelling or shrinking of the breast, particularly when the shrinking or swelling is exclusive to one side only; and a nipple that is turned slightly inward or inverted are some signs and symptoms of breast cancer that can affect the appearance of the breast or nipple. It is common for women's breasts to be asymmetrical, but sudden asymmetry should be brought to the attention of a physician.
- Discharge from the nipple: The NBCF notes that any discharge from the nipple, but particularly a clear or bloody discharge, could be a sign of breast cancer. The NBCF also advises women that a milky discharge when they are not breastfeeding is not linked to breast cancer but should be discussed with a physician.

Learning to recognize the signs and symptoms of breast cancer can increase the likelihood of early di-

Debunking common myths associated with breast cancer

Cancer claims the lives of millions of people across the globe every year. But the fight against cancer is anything but hopeless, as the World Health Organization notes that between 30 and 50 percent of all cancer cases are preventable.

Learning about cancer is one of the best ways for people to protect themselves from this deadly disease. Researchers continue to learn more about cancer everyday and routinely discover that information once thought to be accurate was actually off-base.

Despite researchers' best efforts, some myths about cancer still prevail. Some of these myths are about cancer in general, while others refer to specific cancers, including breast cancer. Myths about breast cancer can be as harmful as accurate information is helpful, so learning the truth and debunking those myths can be an important part of women's preventive approach to breast cancer.

- Myth: Drinking milk increases your risk for breast cancer. The American Cancer Society notes that early studies raised concerns that drinking milk from cows treated with hormones could increase a person's risk for breast cancer. However, ensuing research failed to find a clear link between the two. In fact, a 2002 study published in the International Journal of Epidemiology found no significant association between dairy fluid intake and breast cancer risk.

- Myth: Lumps indicate breast cancer. The National Breast Cancer Foundation, Inc.® says that only a small percentage of breast lumps turn out to be cancer. However, abnormalities or changes in breast tissue should always be brought to the attention of a physician.
- Myth: Mammograms cause breast cancer to spread. This myth is rooted in the incorrect notion that breast compression while getting a mammogram causes the cancer to spread. However, the NBCF insists that cannot happen. In fact, the National Cancer Institute touts the benefits of mammograms while the ACS recommends women between the ages of 45 and 54 get mammograms every year. For additional breast cancer screening guidelines, visit the ACS at www.cancer.org.
- Myth: Women with a family history of breast cancer are likely to develop breast cancer, too. This myth is dangerous because, if taken at face value, it can give women with no family history of breast cancer a false sense of security. However, the NBCF notes that only about 10 percent of individuals diagnosed with breast cancer have a family history of the disease. The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention note that a woman's risk for breast cancer is higher if she has a first-degree relative, including a mother, sister, daughter, or even a male family member, who have had the disease. But breast cancer can affect anyone, regardless of their family history.

Information is a valuable asset in the fight against breast cancer. Learning to decipher between accurate and false information can be especially valuable.

Educating young women about breast cancer

At the age of 12 to 15, many young women are experiencing the body and life changes that accompany adolescence. It can be difficult to imagine that breasts that are just beginning to develop may contain cancer. But such is the reality for some girls.

The majority of women who receive a breast cancer diagnosis are over the age of 40. Experts at Monroe Carell Jr. Hospital at Vanderbilt University note that only 5 percent of breast cancer cases are found in women under the age of 40. However, the hospital recently treated a 14-year-old girl who found a lump and learned she had a rare form of breast cancer called a phyllodes tumor. In 2009, a 13-year-old from Little Rock, Ark. found a quarter-sized lump in her right breast, while a 19-year-old student at the College of New Jersey was diagnosed with cancerous cells and underwent a bilateral mastectomy.

Though such cases are rare, it behooves teenage and adolescent girls to familiarize themselves with the disease and be mindful of their breast health.

Some organizations have increased breast cancer messages for young girls, and it is not uncommon to find young women participating in runs and fundraisers for breast cancer research. Some organizations even conduct breast cancer workshops to educate young women about breast health. Dorothy Paterson of Texas, a former Girl Scout leader who was diagnosed with breast cancer herself, began conducting workshops for Girl Scouts in 2007. The idea isn't to scare girls into believing they have the disease, but rather to increase their awareness of changes in their bodies that may or may not be normal.

Some parents worry that educating children about breast cancer may cause them to worry unnecessarily, especially considering a young girl's risk of developing breast cancer is so minimal. Just as with older women, adolescents and teens should realize that eating healthy foods, exercising, avoiding alcohol and tobacco, and maintaining annual physical exams with a doctor are key ways to reduce the risk for cancer.

Knights pick up third win of the season

BY JOSHUA SPAULDING
Sports Editor

PENACOOK — The Kingswood football team, after a couple of tough losses, got back on track on Friday night, traveling to Penacook and edging Merrimack Valley by a 14-13 score.

The game was supposed to be played on Thursday night but due to the storm that rolled through the area, the game was postponed until Friday evening.

“We got it done, we bounced back in the second half,” said Knight coach Paul Landry. “The kids were great, they worked really hard.”

The hosts scored the game’s first points, scoring getting a field goal and a touchdown with the extra point but the Knights came back and got their own touchdown from Jackson McCullough. With kicker Brian Winn unavailable in the first part of the game, Landry lined running back Devan Wade up as a kicker and then had Wade run the ball in for the two-point conversion, making it 10-8 after the first half.

COURTESY PHOTOS
A DAY AFTER beating Merrimack Valley, the Kingswood football team performed some community service at The Nick on Saturday.

That two-point conversion would turn out to be pretty important.

The Pride then added their second field goal of the night in the third quarter and upped the lead to 13-8 but Kingswod didn’t back down. Early in the fourth quarter, McCullough scored his second touchdown of the game and though the Knights didn’t get the extra point, they still took the 14-13 lead and held on for the win.

The Pride had the ball with two minutes left in the game and looked to be driving toward a game-winning touchdown but Patrick Runnals came up with a huge interception, getting the Knights the ball back and they were able to run out the clock from there.

“It was a hell of a battle,” Landry said.

In addition to his two touchdowns, McCullough also had a big day defensively, coming up with four sacks.

“He had a hell of a game,” Landry said.

The Knights now turn their attention toward the penultimate week of the regular season and a matchup with Pembroke.

“We’re not done

yet,” Landry said. “We plan on giving Pembroke everything we can,” Landry said. “They’re a feisty team, they like to put it in the air.”

The Knights and Spartans will take to the Alumni Field turf on Friday, Oct. 25, at 7 p.m.

WOLFEBORO — The Kingswood cross country team played host to its lone home meet of the season on Thursday, Oct. 18.

Mother Nature proved to be a bit of a problem, however, as the day's storm caused two of the teams to cancel on the event, leaving just the Knights and the Kennett Eagles to compete on the afternoon.

The Kingswood boys captured the win on the afternoon and the Knight girls came up just one point short of Kennett.

The Knight boys were led by Joseph Wasson, who came home second overall with a time of 18:14.

Oleg Sheahan was in next for the Knights, finishing in third place in 18:49, edging out Casey Arsenault at the finish, as Arsenault finished in fourth place in 18:58.

Matthew Perkins finished in sixth place overall with a time of 19:11 and Tim Huckman rounded out the scoring for the Knights with a time of 19:14.

Lou Arinello finished in eighth place overall with a time of 19:18 and Robbie Bourdeau also cracking the top 10, finishing in 10th place in 19:58. Mark Stanard finished in a time of 20:21 for 11th place with Cannon Newbury in 14th place in 21:13 and Matthew Finneron in

JV soccer players helping give Kingswood ‘victory bell’

BY JOSHUA SPAULDING
Sports Editor

WOLFEBORO — Due to a typographical error in a name in last week's edition, we are running this story again with the correct name. We apologize for the error.

While the Kingswood field hockey team was busy playing Merrimack Valley on Alumni Field on Saturday, there was a group of JV soccer players working alongside their coach just outside the fence near the scoreboard.

The players and coach Jimmy Wares were working on installing the class gift from the Class of 2019.

The victory bell will hopefully be ready for the final week of the regular season for the soccer teams.

Wares, who was the class advisor for last year's graduating class, worked renovating homes before he became a teacher and soccer coach, so the work was nothing new to him.

He mentioned to his team that there was an opportunity for some community service hours and on the first week of work, seven members of the team showed up and they dug two feet down and mixed 2,000 ponds of concrete to construct the base.

This Saturday, five members of the team were on hand to put the cement blocks in place and then place approximately 250 bricks around the cement blocks. The kids worked together to mix the concrete and put the bricks in place with the concrete.

The 18-inch bell will sit on top of the cement blocks, held in place by a wooden arch that Wales is planning to build in his shop. The brick and cement block base will be topped with a 750-pound piece of granite that the athletic department paid for.

Wares said he thought he might have to get into bribery to get his team to help with the project, but the kids showed up without any incentive offered.

“I have a great team,” Wares said.

PSU hosting softball clinic Nov. 16

PLYMOUTH — Plymouth State University head softball coach Bruce Addison has announced the program will hold a fall clinic for high school-aged student-athletes in mid-November.

The event will take place on Saturday, Nov. 16, at 9 a.m. at the Bank of New Hampshire Field House at ALLWell North and is designed to provide an opportunity for skill development, training and competition.

Clinic participants have the option to register for individual sessions or the full clinic. Session one will include pitching and catching only. All pitchers will need to bring a catcher. Session two will include fielding, hitting, live scrimmage and a question and answer session with current Plymouth State softball student-athletes and coaches. Those interested in attending both sessions should register for the full clinic.

The cost for the clinic is $100 and includes a PSU softball tee shirt. Athletes are encouraged to bring all necessary equipment: bats, gloves, cleats, sneakers, batting gloves, softball pants, catcher's equipment (if necessary), batting helmet and water bottle.

Interested athletes can register online (<https://tinyurl.com/PSUSoftballClinicFall19>) and can contact Addison (beaddison@plymouth.edu) for additional information.

JOSHUA SPAULDING
IT WAS A FULL house at Caroline's Comedy Club in New York City for the Survivor Know It Alls.

Off to New York, this time with a little rain

A couple of times every year, I hop a train for New York City for a Rob Has a Podcast live event where we watch Survivor and a panel of former players take the stage and discuss the episode with podcast hosts Rob Cesternino and Stephen Fishbach. I've been making these trips for about five years now, traveling to New York, Philadelphia, Boston and Los Angeles for Survivor events and it's always a good time seeing friends I've made over the years at these events.

Each time I head to New York, I try to see something different. I've been up the Empire State Building, to the observation deck at 30 Rock, to the Sept. 11 Memorial and the Brooklyn Bridge, among other places. The events I go to are traditionally held near Times Square, so I've seen that many times now.

This time, I decided I want to see a little of Central Park. It was threatening rain for most of the morning and afternoon so after grabbing a bite to eat (Shake Shack is delicious), I made my way toward Central Park. I walked around a portion of the park for a while before heading back into the city streets. The rain started after I had visited the park, but once it did, I stopped and bought an umbrella to help keep everything dry.

I had plans to meet up with some fellow podcast fans for dinner and was able to enjoy a little food and company before heading to the comedy club near Times Square for the live event. Rob's podcasts are always enjoyable, whether or not we get a good episode of Survivor or not. This time around, we got a great episode, with a huge blindside and plenty of drama (plus the fun that Boston Rob and Sandra always bring to the screen).

There was about 300 people in the club watching the episode and there were a number of former players there as well. In addition to Rob and Stephen, fan favorite Bret Labelle was also there, along with winners Michele Fitzgerald, Sophie Clarke and Wendell Holland, two players from last season's cast in Victoria Baamonde and Julie Rosenberg plus RHAP family podcasters Brice Izyah and Jessica Lewis. With the exception of the two players from last season, all of the former players at this year's event had been to live shows in the past.

After the episode aired, the Survivors spent an hour or so discussing the episode and then we all headed a few blocks over for the after-party, which was held at a bar just off of Times Square. There I was able to catch up with a number of the friends I've made over the years at these live events, including two of my favorite podcasters, Mike Bloom and Josh Wigler, who were on location for the start of the current season of Survivor.

While in New York, I got the e-mail stating that the Division II golf championships had been postponed, so it changed by plans for Thursday. I still had to catch the 2:40 a.m. train out of Penn Station and got to Boston before 8 a.m. and then hopped the bus to Concord and eventually home and I was still able to get to the Kingswood cross country meet later that afternoon.

All in all, another great trip to New York and another fun Survivor event. The next one is coming up on December, but that will be a bit longer trip.

Finally, have a great day Sarah Christian.

WOLFEBORO — The reason for the teams gathering at the Pop Whalen Arena in Wolfeboro was one of tragedy, but for the second year in a row, eight mite hockey teams took to the ice of the arena in honor of Ben Baldwin.

Baldwin, who passed away in an automobile accident in 2018, was a young hockey player for Back Bay Hockey and after his death, a hockey tournament was organized to support the Ben Baldwin Scholarship, which offers financial help to kids who want to participate in youth sports.

Kingswood boys' hockey coach Mike Potenza, who has taken a lead role in organizing the Ben Baldwin Hockey Tournament, noted that the teams that were part of the tournament last year came back and they were joined by a team from Dover to fill out the eight-team schedule. Potenza said that he is hoping to possibly expand the tournament to 10 teams. And he noted that the sponsors that were on board this year returned and a lot more people signed up to support the tournament.

"The sponsorship money has far exceeded what we did last year," Potenza said. "We're going to be in good position to help a lot of kids. It's doing what it's supposed to do."

The sponsorships came from all over the New England area, which allowed the money that the teams paid to play to go directly into the scholarship fund. The screen printer who printed the tournament shirts gave the organizers a discount and every kid who played got a shirt.

"I've been so blown away by the amount of money that has come in and I believe it's because of the cause," Potenza said. "People really get the fact that it's for the kids and really step up because it's for the kids."

"Word of mouth is getting out about what we're doing and people want to be contacted, people want to be involved," the Knight coach said.

Amongst the volunteers helping to run the tournament were members of the Baldwin family, including Ben's parents, Rich and Kate and his sister, Jenny and members of the Kingswood boys' hockey team, which Potenza said is just part of what the team does to help the community. At one point, when one of the tournament teams arrived late due to a scheduling miscommunication, the Kingswood boys and Jenny Baldwin took to the ice to play against the Back Bay mites.

"It's about learning the game, not about the competitiveness," Potenza said, noting that there were cross-ice games and full-ice games and coaches were allowed to be on the ice to help teach the game.

"It's about celebrating Ben's love for sports," Potenza said.

In addition to the hockey, there was food for sale and there were a number of great raffle items thanks to local businesses and residents. Among the raffle items was a Bruins jersey signed by last year's Stanley Cup Final team, another Bruins jersey signed by Boston legend Ray Bourque and tickets to a Bruins game to watch from the alumni box with former Bruin and local resident Steve Leach.

Here’s How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

ANSWER:

Laconia Lacrosse Club hosts free clinic

LACONIA — The Laconia Lacrosse Club hosted a free clinic for both boys and girls on Saturday, Oct. 12, at the Laconia High School lower field.

“Lacrosse is a fast-paced sport that a lot of parents never played, so getting their kids into it is a less obvious choice,” says girls’ coach Rose Marie Marinace. “I started coaching because my daughter wanted to play, and I’ve rarely met a kid who doesn’t like it once they’ve been taught the basic skills. It’s exciting and it’s challenging. It makes you proud to be successful at it, but it’s definitely a game that requires a team spirit to be successful.”

For the last eight years, Marinace has been coaching for the Laconia Lacrosse Club, and her husband, Paul has been coaching for four years. “Paul has the temperament for the younger girls,” she says. “He’s competitive, but adds in piggy back rides and cookies. His 8U and 10U teams have been undefeated the past two years and the girls I inherited in the 12U have learned to play together as teammates who like each other—it makes a wonderful difference to coach them when they get along.”

Club president Mike Holmes was on hand to work with the boys who showed up. Holmes and his twin, Nick, played lacrosse as kids in Laconia and now they continue to coach together. “The boys’ game is very different from the girls’ game,” Mike Holmes said. “They share the same ball and the same name, but the other equipment, field and rules share nothing in common.”

The Laconia Lacrosse Club is open to anyone in all the surrounding towns without a team. While all players in New Hampshire Youth Lacrosse must be members in US Lacrosse, there are no additional fees to play with Laconia, and uniforms are provided.

Free clinics will continue on Sunday nights beginning in January and February before the start of the season in March. Google “Laconia Lacrosse Club” or e-mail laconialacrosseclub@gmail.com to get on the mailing list and for more information.
