Newcomer at First Congregational Church

—BY OLIVIA RICHMAN

WOODSTOCK — The First Congregational Church of Woodstock has a new Director of Family Ministries, Melissa Spindler. After spending 10 years in New York City, Spindler is beyond excited about the opportunity to run the Sunday School and family programs at “the most welcoming community” she’s ever been a part of.

I sat down and spoke with the inspirational and passionate teacher about her new position, and her plans for the church and community.

What do you do as a Director of Family Ministries?

It’s basically running the Sunday school programming for children during worship service. I want to help bridge what the parents are experiencing in church service to what the kids are doing in a way that carries out the message into their daily lives. I want them to reflect during the week about what they learned on Sunday. Making it more tangible for them.

What is your background? What were you doing before you took this role?

I’ve been doing religious education for eight to nine years now. I was the Director of Family Ministries at a church in NYC for four years. Then I decided to study it all a bit more. I got my Masters of Divinity. Then I decided I didn’t want to be a minister. It wasn’t the right fit for me. I’m an educator at heart. My parents are teachers. I married a teacher. I want to be teaching. I work full time as an educator.

How did you decide you wanted to be a teacher?

My first out of college job was the National Campaign to Prevent Teen Pregnancy. I thought I was going to medical school. But I became really fascinated with how we teach our young people about love. How both religion and sex education are trying to do that – helping young people think about how we use our bodies to express love, to make good decisions and make healthy relationships as we grow. I ended up in church world.

What was so important to you about teaching young people and teens about love and sex?

I’ve got five siblings. Growing up, we had really different life experiences. Love and relationships were never easy for any of us. My parents both loved teaching. They loved their jobs. Being in that world of schools, learning environments... It felt like home to me.

What I saw was that the role that religion had for young people – instead of helping them learn that they were these sacred, wonderful people who could have so much love in their life, it was teaching them that their bodies were shameful and that their yearning to love was sinful.

So the religious teachings were backfiring.

The more religious young people were, the more likely they were to get pregnant and get sexually transmitted diseases. The teens who took purity pledges – they are more likely to accidentally get pregnant. It seemed so silly to me. Why isn’t religion allowing young people to feel good about themselves and make good decisions with their life? Why aren’t we helping them learn how to have really healthy, loving relationships with people around them – romantic, family, friends... That’s what

Putnam selected as spotlight city

BY OLIVIA RICHMAN
NEWS STAFF WRITER

PUTNAM — Putnam is the first smaller city to be chosen as a host for Connecticut Main Street Center’s Spotlight on Main Street series. And downtown Putnam could not be prouder.

Putnam is currently a member of the CT Main Street Center, and Economic & Community Development Director Delpha Very believes they have played a very integral move in pushing Putnam forward through their programming and grants. Now, members from all across Connecticut will gather in the Silver Circle Gallery to take guided tours throughout the community. They will then convene at The Crossings Restaurant for a reception and further networking.

“It’s an honor,” said Very. “We are very proud of what our Main Street has done over the past ten years.”

By partnering with the Putnam Business Association and other organizations, Putnam has continued to flourish with events, art, and the continuing.

VFW annual auction on tap

BY OLIVIA RICHMAN
NEWS STAFF WRITER

THOMPSON — Join the VFW in Thompson for its 15th annual auction on Oct. 6. This fun night out is a great way to help support local veterans and many other community projects funded by the VFW.

At 5 p.m., join the VFW for home-made chili dogs. Then the auction begins at 6 p.m.

“It’s a very fun event,” said VFW Auxiliary President Virginia Livernoche. “We all have a good time. The auction – bidding back and forth – that competition. It’s a fun evening out.”

There is no charge to enter the event and everyone from every town is welcome.

According to Livernoche, last year’s auction raised over $2,000 toward local hospitalized veterans and their families, educational programs and scholarships, TEEG’s food pantry program, and other local organizations that help the homeless and less fortunate. Money raised by the VFW Auxiliary also has gone towards community recognition programs, highlighting students, youth volunteers and first responders, as well as a Halloween-themed dance for the handicapped.

The items up for auction are all from local merchants and businesses. This includes a lot of gift cards, local art, and themed gift baskets.

“We have a couple members who approach these local businesses to get donations from them,” said Livernoche. “We’re so appreciative. The community is so supportive. The response is always great.”

The VFW’s mission is to help local veterans, and this is just on way to get the community involved.

According to the US Department of Veterans Affairs, 45 percent of veterans suffer from mental illness, and half have substance abuse problems. PTSD and suicide are very common for veterans, which can come from lack of support, both financially and emotionally.

MEET THE CANDIDATES

Larry Groh Jr

Name:
Larry Groh Jr

Position sought:
State Representative
51st District

Town of:
Killingly, Putnam,
and Thompson

Background /
Qualifications: For

18 years, I served our community in local government – while also working as a Correctional Officer and small business owner. I graduated from QVCC with two degrees: Accounting, and another in Business Management. In 2003, I was elected to the Board of Selectmen, serving ten years – six as First Selectman. As First Selectman, I was Thompson’s representative to NECCOG, discussing issues affecting our region. Currently I serve as vice-chairman of the Board of Finance.

What makes you the best candidate for this position? I am the best candidate for the position of State Representative 51st District because I am the most qualified for the job. As First Selectman, I worked with residents and elected officials regardless of party, to pass five annual budgets at the first referendum, while maintaining the services we all rely on. Also, as First Selectman, I was Thompson’s representative to NECCOG, where we shared concerns and issues affecting our region and state.

What differentiates you from your opponent(s)? I feel that I differ from my opponent because of my background in government and the needed experience I bring to this position. I will be able to start in Hartford on Day One if elected. I have a record as an elected official that I am proud of. I was elected First Selectman in Thompson for three consecutive terms, which was first time in over 40 years. I am proud of that accomplishment.

What is your vision for the future? I believe education is the key to success in our communities and state. I feel that spending money on education will save taxpayers future money. I will focus on a balanced budget and hope to get on the appropriations and/or finance committee. Other issues we face include threatened healthcare, our aging population, Veterans services, challenges for business owners, keeping retirees, businesses, and others in Connecticut, protecting our law enforcement, funding our local communities, and more.

the same place – wanting young people to have wonderfully fulfilling, loving relationships with people in their lives and experience the world as a warm and joyful place.

You said you were working in NYC. What brought you back to this area?

I grew up in New London. I wanted to come back to Connecticut. Ten years in New York is enough for anyone I think. I was ready to settle down. My husband got a job in Springfield. I was working in Hartford and finishing a degree in Boston. This area seemed in the middle.

What do you like about the Quiet Corner?

I love being in nature. That’s huge. But I also love the easy access to Boston, New York, the beach... That’s important to me. I’m a city person, so I do need to get back to the food and the arts and such.

What do you like about this church?

This church is a really, really wonderful, joyful church. They’re looking with open eyes at the world as it is today in the 21st century, not trying to pretend that all of the struggles that are out there aren’t out there. Trying to find grounding in Jesus. To help them live boldly and strong, faithful lives. The best people they can be daily. Raising young people to be strong, kind and loving. Exactly what I want to do for young people.

Did you feel welcomed into their community?

This congregation is extremely welcoming. As someone from New York, I’m used to a really diverse world. That was really important to me – to find a congregation where I could be artsy and funky. I could be myself. I just felt completely supported to be exactly who I am from the day I walked in. Of all the churches I’ve worked in – at least a dozen – the most welcoming. It’s been a real blessing.

That is so awesome. What are you hoping to do as a Director of Family Ministries at the First Congregation?

We currently are exploring the stories of Moses for the next month or so. We’re trying to hear the stories that Jesus heard and see how it’s meaningful to us. I’m hoping after Christmas to start a Young Moms group that would meet on Fridays during the day, for people new to motherhood to get some support.

That sounds great.

I’m hoping to do some programming that is more community-focused. That allow families to have fun together. Whether it’s yoga for kids in the afternoon or movie and game nights once it gets really snowy and cold. Just want to get together with other people in a warm space and have a good meal together. We’re looking at service projects – opportunities for young people to do things to help those who are not as fortunate as them, especially here in the greater Woodstock area.

American Legion Golf Tournament Sets Records

PUTNAM—One hundred and 20 golfers competed in the Mayotte-Viens American Legion Post No. 13 Golf Tournament on Sept. 23 at Connecticut National Golf Club. The tournament raised a record $20,000.

The 2018 championship foursome, Kevin Marcoux, Chad Neal, Gary Brine and Jack Cochran, all members of the Killingly High School football coaching staff, posted a winning score of 11 under par 60 on the par 71 course.

The runner-up position went to the group of Tom Auclair, Paul Leduc, Marc Allard and Larry Ring. They bested third place finishers Roger Franklin, Neil Bernier, Duke Parziale and Rob Loomis. Both foursomes finished with identical scores of 61, one stroke off the winning pace. The finish was determined by matching scores over the final nine holes of play with the Auclair foursome shooting a 31 on the back nine.

The co-ed championship title was claimed by the foursome of Bob and Deb Darigan and Curtis and Mya Rodowicz. They shot a 67 in the scramble format event.

The closest to the pin winners were Greg Anderson on the 4th hole; Bill Neilson (7th); Marc Allard (9th); Jack Cochran (11th); and Heath Meagher (15th).

Emmanuel Lutheran Church plans fundraiser

BY OLIVIA RICHMAN
NEWS STAFF WRITER

THOMPSON—Thanksgiving is just around the corner, and while that is an exciting, warm time for many families, for others it can be lonely and stressful. The Emanuel Lutheran Church in North Grosvenordale is sponsoring a fundraiser for Thompson Ecumenical Empowerment Group (TEEG), to help the group feed needy families: The Thanksgiving Food Project.

On a monthly basis, TEEG feeds around 300 families through their food pantry (located at the Emmanuel Lutheran Church). And during Thanksgiving distribution, that number grows. The church's fundraiser will be aiding them in this holiday distribution, filling in the gaps and increasing what they can offer to the families when they visit the food pantry. Despite this being the church's first year running this program for TEEG, the organization has high hopes.

"The community has always stepped up whenever we need help," said TEEG Community Outreach Coordinator and Food Pantry Manager Jason Bleau. "If we need produce, soups, pasta, proteins we just need to turn to the community and ask for assistance and they always come through. There's no doubt in my mind that we can reach that 500 item goal. We've seen that community go to bat for TEEG in the past. I have no doubt in my mind."

"Holiday is a special time for everyone. TEEG's goal is to empower people and make them feel they're not alone. When we provide these food items to them it allows them to have a complete and full Thanksgiving meal in front of them. So they can enjoy the holiday and not feel left behind and alone."

TEEG is only able to continue this program with help from the community. And they never disappoint.

"Last year I can't even count how many cranberry sauces we have. But every year it's a guessing game how much we'll be getting in. This is my first year coordinating it, so having a collection in October instead of when everyone collects in November gives us a leg up. We'll know by end of October what we need and how to go off getting it," Bleau said.

The food pantry helps families throughout the year.

"Not having to buy groceries allows them to get gas for work, or pay their bills," said Bleau.

The pantry becomes an even bigger source of relief during the holidays. TEEG's other big support is from the Emanuel Lutheran Church.

"We are amazingly grateful for what they've been able to do. Every month they collect food we need for the pantry. This is just an extension of what this church has done for us. It's amazing to have local groups helping us out. During my short time here, I've never seen anything like this coming from another group. I'm excited to see how successful it's going to be," Bleau said.

If you are interested in getting involved, bring dry goods to radio station WINY in Putnam on Oct. 13 from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. This includes stuffing, gravy, canned vegetables and canned fruit, cranberry sauce, soups and cash donations. TEEG representatives will be collecting canned Thanksgiving foods from the community in the parking lot. If they are able to collect 500 items, Thrivent Financial will match that, donating $500 to the organization.

Creation church breaks ground on new addition

THOMPSON — Creation Church of Thompson recently announced it has broken ground on its new two-story FamilyLife Center, which will be adjacent to their present Administration Building, just behind the church. The 60-foot by 30-foot addition will feature a new youth center downstairs, a full fellowship hall for 150 people on the first floor, and three brand-new classrooms on the second floor.

Due to the rapid growth of the church these past few years, more space was needed for children's and youth programs. Thus, planning began and it was decided that building an addition onto the pre-existing Administration Building would be the most cost-effective way to gain the space that was needed. Although the Administration Building houses a conference room, a kitchen, an office and a library, its classrooms were becoming too small for the increased attendance in their Creation Kids programs. Upon completion of the addition, however, two of the smaller classrooms in the Administration Building will become one, big larger classroom of equivalent size to the three new ones.

Pastor Bernie Norman and his wife, Gale, served on staff with FamilyLife Ministries in Little Rock, Arkansas for five years. Their son, Timothy, serves as the worship leader at Creation Church, and their son-in-law, Joe Asermelly, serves as their youth pastor.

To date the church has received nearly $25,000 to begin the project, all through the donations of church members and others. Pastor Norman's former church in Westerly, R.I., Faith Bible Chapel, began the giving last year with a donation of $1,000. The seven-member leadership team at Creation took it upon themselves to literally "lay Stafford scored 3 goals before Jake Bickoff found the back of the net to make the score 3-2. Deegan Bryniarski, Connor Mydlarz, and Tucker Faber all played well for NECONN.

Vernon 1 NECONN Blue 0

On Sunday September 30th, NECONN Blue traveled to Vernon for a U-9 Boys match. After a scoreless 1st half, Vernon scored a goal in the 2nd and held on for the win. NECONN Blue had several chances but was unable to get into the scoring column. Owen Murdock continues to be a true team player as he willingly plays whatever position is asked of him. Aiden Mitchell had a great game for NECONN Blue.

Mach 1 Hypersonic 3 NECONN U10 Girls 1

NECONN U10 Girls had a disappointing loss against Mach 1 Hypersonic in Uxbridge MA on Sunday. Avery Grant of Woodstock opened the game with a hard shot at the top of box forcing Mach 1’s goalie to make a diving save. Mach 1 took advantage of several defensive miscues in the second half to score 3 goals. Overall, NECONN played well, maintaining possession of the ball for the majority of the game. Kaitlyn Teal scored on a chip shot for NECONN. Annabelle DaSilva of Pomfret and Kaylee Letourneau worked hard on both offense and defense.

Ladero is Westview employee of the month

DAYVILLE — Westview Health Care Center named Ashley Ladero as September's Employee of the Month. Currently living in Brooklyn, Ladero provides an important role for the Sports Medicine Department of the Dayville facility: Administrative Assistant. This physical rehabilitation program has grown exponentially since it first opened its doors in 2013, and Ladero is an integral part of making sure that the numerous patients who walk through those doors have a pleasant and professional experience planning their therapies and treatments.

With the recent addition of specialized massage therapists to the Sports Medicine wing, Ladero continues to excel at managing the needs of patients and clients along with the needs of trainers and therapists. Ladero and her husband Pablo Ladero are proud parents of three boys: Christian, Julian, and David. Some of her extended family members live nearby in Brooklyn, with other family members scattered throughout New England. She herself is originally from Rhode Island and makes frequent visits to family in the Ocean State.

The outgoing, extroverted, yet sensitive personality that she displays at work is derived from this, her strongly connected family. In addition to spending time with the family (including a healthy dose of mothering) Ladero likes to read and run. She runs not only for the great health benefits and personal goal achievement, but also in support of many wonderful philanthropic causes by participating in fundraising races.

In the last few years she has participated in "The Friends of Goodwin Forest Trail Race," "The Gobble Gobble Run" for The Center of Hope Foundation, and "Tackle The Trail" on behalf of the Quinebaug Valley Community College Scholarship Foundation. Her willingness to help others is matched by her passion for Westview Sports Medicine.

"Ashley is such a great addition to our amazing team of health care professionals," said David T. Panteleakos, Westview Administrator. "Her professionalism is matched by her wonderful compassion for people and the patients we serve."

Through her direct communications with the people receiving treatment from Westview Sports Medicine, Ladero knows to translate people's positive words as an indication of her colleagues' talents.

"I am honored to be recognized by this group of exemplary coworkers. It's a great group of people to work with. When things get challenging, it helps to have excellent teammates," Ladero said.

The doers

A man arrived early to pump our septic system. It isn't an attractive job, but an important one and he moved quickly and expertly. For a few frustrating minutes he and my husband struggled to find the top of the tank, but soon the entire process soon was under control and went well. The man moved on as he had 11 more jobs ahead of him in just one day.

Think of the tangible tasks that get done, the things that get fixed and the debt we owe to people who are competent in what they do.

We've lived in our "new" house for three years. It was built 30 years ago. The previous owners were perfectionists. Everything was kept in tip top order. For the first year I was so intimidated by their legacies that I felt anxious any time I chipped the paint. Recently two hinges on the cupboard doors I use most often began to malfunction. I tried shoving them into place. I tried ignoring the problem. Eventually I called the local company that did the cabinetry work in the kitchen. I believe I got the owner. He was very cordial and told me how to fix the problem myself. If I couldn't, he volunteered to come over and do it. Imagine!

I gave a talk recently about the history and the donors to my local library. The key people were all women, who through the centuries, supported their library through gifts, bequests, book donations and work. It all could have gotten a bit dull had not the Adult Services librarian created a slide show to enliven the presentation. He used historic photos, pictures from inside and outside the building, some stock shots and synched it all to my narrative. I had wasted hours trying to do it myself and failed. The people who have a good grasp of technology and share it are invaluable.

Our town held a farm-to-table dinner at a local restaurant. Six farms provided the food that was then prepared by the chefs. The farmers shared a bit about themselves and the rest of the evening was conversation and dining. The food was wonderful and inventive. The atmosphere was warm and friendly, a sense of genuine community prevailed. Everyone involved, including the couple who farm and organized it, were so capable. The farmers grew the food we ate from their own soil and effort. The chef created memorable dishes. Talk about competence.

I am on the board of our local hospital. I have been on many boards, but this one is remarkable. Our hospital is at a crossroads. Many are. Anyone who can figure out the direction of the American health care system has to be a genius. At every meeting I attend I think that I am around some smart people who come close. From the reports that cover aspects from infection rates (very low by the way) to data on numbers of procedures and patients to what the future may hold, dedicated people in every discipline are doing their best to get it right. I try to keep up. They work full tilt.

It's easy to focus on what isn't going well or how impossible it is to get things right. Despite our swiftly changing world, we are surrounded by people who know what they are doing and do it well. From the septic tank guy to the CEO of my hospital, to the craftsman, who stands behind 30-year-old cabinet hinges, to the techy librarian and the farmers and chefs, we are fortunate to live among competent, hardworking, bright people who turn up when we need them and make life right here, right now better all the way round.

Farmer supports Dauphinais

I would like to tell you how thankful I am for the refreshing job my state representative Anne Dauphnaïs has done for our state. As a Christian, husband, father of what is soon to be five children, farmer, and sole provider for my family, I feel my more traditional views are often kicked to the curb, but not by Anne. She is not afraid to stand for our shared values, even if its unpopular amongst her statehouse colleagues. She has supported our small farm and others at the statehouse. What a great job she does representing us, the silent majority, in the quiet corner. Anne does what she says and sticks to her promises. She will again get my support this November.

Woodstock reader disputes McGarry's view

I suggest that Mr. Frank McGarry's two-sentence letter to the editor in the September 28 Villager is unhelpful. Mr. McGarry argues that local correspondents who are unconvinced of our president's character and decision-making are guilty of "bloviating, anti-Trump rants and bizarre accusations" that are "detached from reality and "so amusing to your readers." I am sure that Mr. McGarry spent considerable time considering his points. But as Mr. Trump's popularity ratings have fallen to levels unheard of after just two years in office, it would seem that a supporter of Mr. Trump might find it mete, with mid-term elections in November and presidential election two years away, to rally support from those who remain unconvinced of the virtues of Mr. Trump and his administration.

Bloviating, and variants was written down first in 1845 but fell into disuse until the presidency of Warren Harding. (It is worth finding H.L. Mencken's comments on Harding's orations.) The word descended into neglect again until revived in the mouth of a once-prominent contemporary — but now expelled — broadcaster. One definition of the verb form reads, "to discourse at length in a pompous and boastful manner." As this is precisely how Mr. Trump's addresses are regularly described, it might behoove Mr. McGarry to explain why and precisely how Mr. Trump's speeches are not bloviation, but are examples instead of, say, elegance, or modesty, or humility.

Mr. McGarry might consider particular issues raised in a letter published in the same issue of The Villager as was his, written by Lee Wesler. The letter is longer than Mr. McGarry's. Eight paragraphs does not automatically result in bloviation; nor from two sentences could one conclude that a writer's work is modest or compendious. (I concede that the use of the term "absolute crapola" might be considered undiplomatic or contentious.) Mr. Wesler begins with a strong condemnation of two previous presidents, before arriving at a statistic about Mr. Trump's 5,000 mistruths drawn from a source that I imagine that Mr. McGarry distrusts, The Washington Post. Hence, let us move on to unquestioned fact provided by two sources neither of which is the mistrusted press: A) The National Park Service has confirmed that Mr. Trump had the photos of his inauguration altered to appear to exceed the numbers in attendance at Mr. Obama's inauguration, and B) the death toll after the Puerto Rico hurricane has been estimated — and nothing more is possible than an estimate under the circumstances — at about 3,000 people. Please see and study the work by the Milken Institute School of Health at George Washington University.

Let us forget for a moment about the recent "slew of books," about wild and distressing disorganization in the White House and other points that Mr. McGarry would so apparently dismiss as "detached from reality." Let us focus on known facts confirmed by serious studies and independent investigators. If Mr. McGarry can provide information to dissuade us that Mr. Trump did not, in fact, impose upon the Park Service to doctor photos and fabricate numbers, neither did he imagine that after a huge environmental catastrophe people would die conveniently only before and during his brief visit, then perhaps a discussion might ensue.

We will be grateful to hear again from Mr. McGarry. Perhaps there will be evidentiary reasons for his dismay. We have at least 4,998 questions for him.

Woodstock First Selectman responds to critics

You would almost think that cats and dogs are mating on the streets of Woodstock after reading the letter to the editor "Nonsensical Town Hall Hours in Woodstock" published in The Villager.

Unanimously the Board of Selectmen voted in favor of our Friday town hall hours. The option to keep the First Selectmen's office open was the only one that conformed to the passed referendum, the previously passed budget, and the Town's collective bargaining agreement. For the record, my office usually greets between three and five people each Friday.

Mr. Super and Ms. Wilson unfortunately base much of their commentary on the input of a disgruntled town employee of six months who has since moved out of state.

Yes, change is difficult. Woodstock's Selectmen had to make tough decisions to attain the Board of Finance goal of reduced spending; several employees have had to adjust to reduced hours and pay. I guess the real question is whether town employees work on behalf of Woodstock residents or whether residents exist to meet the demands of town employees. I'd like to believe the former.

We have so many exciting, good things happening in Woodstock. All three Selectmen are engaged in all facets of Board duties and have helped our relationships between the Board of Education, the Board of Finance, and Woodstock Academy become strong, healthy, and respectful. What's more, your Board of

Educator supports Groh

During my 40 years as an educator, I've spent much time working in student leadership development. It's clear to me that Larry Groh, Jr. has acquired and refined the life skills necessary to make a difference in all he undertakes. He has the experience, understanding, and working knowledge of issues that are keys to good government. As a successful six-year Thompson First Selectman, Larry learned how to communicate and compromise in his dealings with his department personnel and fellow citizens. His leadership helped Thompson successfully pass town budgets in especially tough times.

Points to consider approaching retirement

Think about the goals and dreams you wish to achieve in retirement. Do you have a detailed plan to get there? Are you on track to achieve those goals?

Weiss, Hale & Zahansky Strategic Wealth Advisors use a unique and strategic three-step process - Plan Well. Invest Well. Live Well™ - to create a personalized plan to help you achieve your goals. Whether you hope to travel or start your own business in retirement, our process helps you develop a plan to get there. This month, we will focus on the planning and investment strategies to help you live the retirement you've envisioned. This week, let's consider the years approaching your retirement.

How will you manage the transition? Will you travel, take up a new sport or hobby, or spend more time with friends and family? Should you consider relocating? Will you continue to work in some capacity? Will changes in your income sources affect your standard of living.

When you begin to ponder all the issues surrounding the transition, the process can seem downright daunting. However, thinking about a few key points now, while you still have years ahead, can help you focus your efforts and minimize the anxiety that often accompanies the shift.

Reassess your living expenses: A step you will probably take several times between now and retirement — and maybe several more times thereafter — is thinking about how your living expenses could or should change. For example, while commuting and other work-related costs may decrease, other budget items may rise. Health-care costs, in particular, may increase as you progress through retirement.

Try to estimate what your monthly expense budget will look like in the first few years after you stop working. And then continue to reassess this budget as your vision of retirement becomes reality.

According to a recent survey, 47% of retirees said their healthcare expenses were higher than expected in retirement, while 37% of retirees said their other expenses were higher than expected.1 Keeping a close eye on your spending in the years leading up to retirement can help you more accurately anticipate your budget during retirement.

Consider all your income sources: First, figure out how much you stand to receive from Social Security. The amount you receive will depend on your earnings history and other unique factors. You can elect to receive retirement benefits as early as age 62, however, doing so will result in a reduced benefit for life. If you wait until your full retirement age (66 or 67, depending on your birth date) or later (up to age 70), your benefit will be higher. The longer you wait, the larger it will be.2 Visit www.whzwealth.com/resources and see the related links tab to estimate your retirement benefit.

Next, review the accounts you've earmarked for retirement income, including any employer benefits. Start with your employer-sponsored plan, and then consider any IRAs and traditional investment accounts you may own. Try to estimate

Woolen mills once prospered in Killingly

It's October! Time to watch for beautiful foliage! Time for Walktober! I remember years ago when what was then called The Quinebaug-Shetucket Heritage Corridor started out with one weekend in October, called Walking Weekend. We had no idea how many people would welcome the idea and no feeling for how many might turn out to walk. We were flabbergasted when then State Archaeologist Nick Bellantoni led a Killingly walk and talked about Native Americans near what is now the Little League Ball Park near the Quinebaug River in Danielson. We had over 100 individuals on this one early walk. Over the years the National Heritage Corridor expanded to become The Last Green Valley and Walking Weekend became first Walking Weekends then Walktober. If you have not participated in the past, do consider talking a walk or participating in a special event. There's something for all ages and all abilities; some are handicap accessible. Some walks are even pet friendly. Some of the walks and events that Killingly will be offering are listed below. I'll mention a few more in a future column. Most event information has been extracted from the Walktober 2018 events calendar.

Saturday, October 13; 9-12. Westfield Congregational Church, UCC, 210 Main Street, Danielson will sponsor the tour #101 From Pulpit to Tomb: The Preachers of Westfield Church.

Explore the 300 year history of Westfield Church as Reverend Jonathan Chapman leads you through the church's remarkable story by taking you to historic sites including the site of the original (1715) church east of Route 21 in Killingly then to Aspinwall Cemetery and the grave of Killingly's first pastor Reverend John Fisk then to Westfield Cemetery to see grave sites belonging to other significant figures in the church's history. The tour includes walking and driving (car-pool options) and is open to the public. Meet at Westfield Congregational Church. For additional information contact www.westfielducc.org. The cemeteries themselves contain many interesting tombstones and the foliage could easily be at its peak.

hike trail is another mile. Learn about mill history, unique plantings from the former owner and view the stunning babbling Whetstone Brook from a different perspective. Directions: In Killingly's Dayville area from Rte 12 or Route 101 follow #119 LGV signs to 25 Cat Hollow Park off Dog Hill Road (near the Dayville Post Office). For additional information call the Killingly Planning Office at 860-779-5311 or www.KillinglyConservation.org.

By the late 1850's there were several textile mills along the Whetstone Brook not far from the present Dayville post office and the large brick mill at the intersection of Route 12 and Dog Hill Road. Unlike the majority of factories in Killingly at this time, these were woolen mills, not cotton factories. As such they fared better during the shortages of the Civil War era when cotton from the South was in short supply. One mill, along the old Cat Hollow Road, belonged to Sabin and Harris Sayles who also had a larger woolen mill in Dayville. A second, near Route 12, was the old Dexter mill that gave that section of Killingly the name Dexterville in the 1860's.

By 1868 there were three mills operating in the area between present-day "Cat Hollow" and Elmville. S. & H. Sayles and Sayles & Potter operated the "Stone Mill" in Cat Hollow and had six tenements. Dexter's wooden mill also had six tenements. "These factories employ about 50 hands, run some 6 'setts' of machinery, and produce 25,000 yards per month of 'White Stone cassimeres,' which are sold in New York. Midway between these mills is the 'Shoddy' mill of Sayles & Potter, which produces 20,000 pounds per week of this material which, mixed with 15 per cent of good wool makes a cheap but fair article of goods" (WCT 2/20/1868). The last mill (near the high waterfall) was later known as the Killingly Worsted or Litch Mill and stood for many years.

During the early 1870's the wooden Dexter mill was purchased by Alfred and Warren Potter. Unfortunately it was destroyed by fire in August 1874 (WCT 5/14/1874; 2/25/1875). The Potters quickly commenced the construction of the three-story brick mill that still stands as a testament to Elmville's once thriving textile heritage. By the 1880's the factory was operated by C. D. and C. S. Chase who manufactured fancy cashmeres (Coolidge, 230). During the past century a number of owners have operated the present Elmville mill. Other companies including Hale Manufacturing Company, Danielson Manufacturing Company, CEM, and Spirol International located in the vicinity during the 20th century (Coolidge, Natalie, Killingly Business Directory 1708-2008).

During the 1870's the area began to be called Elmville instead of Dexterville, and a February 25, 1875 Transcript entry has the first known reference with the name. (Claire Becia mentioned that the many elm trees in the area fell prey to disease or were severely damaged during the 1938 hurricane). A reference to Dog Hill had appeared the previous May when John Linch placed an ad in the Transcript: "Enquire of owner John Linch at Potter's Mill, Dog Hill" (WCT 5/14/1874).

Claire and her sister Barbara remembered walking "four times each day," since they came home for lunch, up Dog Hill to the small Killingly Center School that is still standing at the corner of Route 101. (Some of the above was extracted from an October 2009 Killingly at 300 article).

That school, located at the intersection of Route 101 Dog Hill Road, 801 Hartford Pike, is now the hall for the Killingly Grange #112. Saturday, October 13th from 11:30 to 7:45 p.m. they will sponsor the 5th Annual BIG-Little Apple Festival and Cabaret. The event will include a Yankee pot roast dinner with apple pie from 4:15-7:15 for $15; lunch items will be available all day; live music from 1-3:30; and the Salon de McIntosh Art & Quilt Show with jams, jellies, relishes, and other items. Admission is free. For additional information call 860-705-3643 or go to

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

A state crew butchered his tree

My home is the former Eastford Creamery, built in 1888 by a Farmers' Co-op. The land was chosen by the farmers because of the natural advantages of the clean, cool water from the aquifer and a cluster of white oaks, which provided shade needed for the creamery. The most significant of the trees, a white oak to the east of the building, blocked the morning sun. The creamery was built into the hill to not disturb the root systems of the trees. Wagons delivered milk from the west side of the building, and the milk was gravity fed into the creamery. Clay pipes were laid under what was then a dirt road to exit the water from the creamery into the Still River.

In May 2012, State tree service crews fatally damaged my magnificent white oak. I was not at home, and without my knowledge or consent, they cut out huge segments of the tree, leaving it weakened and out of balance. This formerly healthy white oak was over 200 years old at this time, and had a potential lifespan of 600 years. The limbs of this tree were not blocking vision, not in danger of falling, and not impacting the electrical wires. After the crew's butchery, the tree had no chance of recovery.

On June 8, 2012 I wrote a letter to the editor on this subject.

In 1991 the owners of the adjacent property to my south wanted to subdivide and sell a building lot. The State required them to obtain a site line from me. I legally granted them the site line and put a stipulation in the deed that the tree was not to be removed or damaged. The State granted the site line with my stipulation, so the tree was obviously no problem at that time. I felt assured that this tree was safe.

I chose the Creamery property because it is close to my business, and it was an unaltered historic part of Eastford. I would not have chosen to live on Rt 198 except for the beautiful trees that shaded the house and provided a natural barrier from the road.

The destruction of the historic white oak changed my life. It took away my peace of mind. Its value was immeasurable, and it cannot be replaced. The tree had many uses beyond the obvious. It shaded and cooled the house, it lowered my energy costs, it was a habitat for wildlife, it created cool breezes in the summer, and it prevented erosion. The tree was deeply connected to its surroundings.

I have been asked since 2012 why I don't clean up the tree remnants in my yard. I watched my white oak dying for two years. Eventually, it had to be taken down before it fell on my house.

It took a crane two days to take the tree down after it had been hacked to death. My property was now damaged. Due to the debris from the tree, I couldn't even park in my own driveway. My paper box is still buried under the tree. Crew members must have pulled it out of the ground and tossed it onto my flowerbed — ruining that, too. Dropping tree limbs later crushed it. The twisted steel post is still embedded in the ground.

I am writing this letter because I believe I have been treated unfairly, and I want people to be aware of the actions of their government. I am looking for help. The morning after the tree incident, I was approached by a State worker, who said that the rest of the tree could be taken down and removed with no expense to me. I cannot bear the fact that the people who destroyed my tree might heat their homes with its wood. I cannot bring the wood to a sawmill since it is too large to saw, and there is a risk of hitting metal. I know there is a chainsaw system that can saw this on site, but I don't know how to find someone who has that system. I would greatly appreciate it if someone could share that information with me. I am a cabinetmaker by trade. My main medium is wood. I want to create unique pieces of furniture with what's left of the tree. That would give me some solace. If I don't do it now I will lose what's left of it to nature's process — rotting.

If you know someone who has a chainsaw system that could cut up the remaining portions of my white oak, in my yard, please contact me at: (860) 942-4476 or olsensdesigncenter@yahoo.com.

Thank you for your interest and support. I hope others will not have to face similar destruction at their homes or businesses.

Groh is best qualified

As a longtime resident of Thompson and now a resident of Putnam, I am giving my full support and endorsement for Larry Groh, Jr. for State Representative to the 51st District. I have known Larry long enough to know he is the most qualified candidate and best man to hold this position of the 51st District. As Thompson's First Selectman, he has been active in our community as long as I have known him. His desire to seek the office of State Representative to go to Hartford and work hard and be a voice for each of us. I have no doubt Larry will do that. Please vote on November 6th for the most qualified and experienced candidate. Vote for Larry Groh Jr. as the next State Representative for the 51st District.

Dauphinais is a voice of reason

Let's return to common sense! Are you happy with the way the state of Connecticut is run?

Most are at a loss to understand how we could have lost our way so desperately. Well with all of the insanity that continues in Harford, there are at least a few voices of reason. It is time to return to common sense government. It is time to return to common sense. Over her last term newcomer and candidate, Anne Dauphinais has been one of a wave of legislators who have started to hold our leaders accountable and are pushing for a return to common sense.

State Representative Anne Dauphinais is running to continue the work she started in the representation of District 44 (inclusive of towns, Killingly and Plainfield). The positions and policies of Governor Dannel Malloy and that of Anne's opponent, Christine Rosati, may have been consistent but they have not been effective. They have, in fact, plunged Connecticut into some of the worst economic times in its history. With our once great state of Connecticut continuing to rank near the bottom of almost every measure, Ms. Dauphinais's evocation for common sense becomes indelibly clear.

Consider some of the following statistics given by third-party sources in evaluating a state which not 30 years ago might have been held up as the crowned jewel of New England. Connecticut's financial status was ranked worst in the nation with a debt burden of nearly $50K per capita, we are the second worst state for business property tax burden, second worst in the country for job creation, the fifth worst among the Best and Worst States to Do Business, the fourth highest Gas Tax and fourth economic performance and eighth worst economic outlook in the country. Unfortunately, the list goes on and on.

The condition of the State's economy is desperate and unsustainable. Ms. Rosati and Dannel Malloy have little to show the Connecticut voter that might impact the state positively. Their record instead suggests that we can expect the same policy of the last few years. Let's return to common sense! Let's send Representative Anne Dauphinais back to Hartford!

With Hartford's insatiable appetite for spending our legislators are still languishing in failure. We spend uncontrollably and yet our infrastructure is ranked amongst the worst and a recent study conducted by the national transportation nonprofit, more than eight percent of Connecticut bridges, 308 in total, are considered structurally deficient. Where is the money going? Ms. Rosati's policies have taken our state into an abyss of debt which after the largest tax hikes in the state's history still shows little improvement when viewed by any standard. We need a voice of reason. We need our government to remember whose money they are spending. We need to return to common sense! We need to send Representative Anne Dauphinais back to Hartford! We as taxpayers of Connecticut have some of the highest tax burdens in the country yet the state ranks at the bottom.

Yes, Anne Dauphinais, we are desperate for some common sense and, I for one, am ready to send Representative Anne Dauphinais back to Hartford to continue to fight for it!

REAL ESTATE CONTRACTS

At the very least, a real estate contract will include identification of the parties, a description of the property, clear terms of payment, some consideration (a deposit), and an offer and an acceptance. Most likely, both the buyer and seller will want other terms and contingencies. The buyer will probably want the sale contingent upon receiving a clear title insurance policy, while the seller will want an earnest money deposit to bind the deal and to be sure of receiving certified funds. In any case, a real estate contract should spell out the terms of the transaction in as much detail as possible. Vague offers lead to fights over details at the closing and, too often, broken deals.

HINT: The best way to conduct a real estate deal is to agree on all the details in the contract negotiation and then rest assured that the closing will go smoothly.

Buying or selling your home can be one of the most exciting, scary, stressful, and anticipated days of your life. Coderre needed in State Senate

As we approach the November election here in the State of Connecticut, we must reflect on a few relevant factors critical to the future of this state. The Democratic Party has dominated the political scene in this state for many years ; what we have to show for that governance is outrageous tax burdens, huge deficits, declining infrastructure, underfunded pensions, failing cities and an unfavorable business climate. It's time for a change. I have known David Coderre and his family for many years and I strongly believe that he will be an effective member of our state government. He has the educational background and business acumen that we need to turn this fiscal mess around. He will listen to his constituents, regardless of political persuasion; he will make sound decisions free from political correctness and political ideology. Let's make a change in this state. It's time for some new ideas. Let's vote for David Coderre for State Senate.

Groh listens to reason

I am writing this letter to give my endorsement and full support for Larry Groh Jr. for State Representative to the 51st District. The towns of Putnam, Thompson, and Killingly need an experienced and hard-working candidate such as Larry. Larry is not only the most qualified candidate, but also the candidate that can listen to reason and talk with everyone. As Thompson's prior First Selectman, and involved in local politics for 18 years, Larry has proven this. Larry will be able to start on the job and get to work for us as soon as he gets to Hartford. Both Larry and his wife are often volunteering and helping others every chance they get. They care about this community. His desire to seek the office of State Representative is to take his experience and go to Hartford to work hard and to make a difference and be our voice. Without a doubt, Larry will represent us all in Thompson, Putnam, and Killingly. Please vote for the most qualified and experienced candidate. Please joint me on November 6th by voting for Larry Groh Jr. as the next State Representative for the 51st District.

He believes in Rosati Randall

I have never previously submitted a letter to the editor but in this case I feel it necessary. I am a strong supporter of anyone who believes in people before politics and I find that Christine Rosati Randall, running for State Representative, is the one person who also believes this. Over the years that I have had the privilege to know her, I find her to be a caring, concerned and intelligent individual. Rather than impose her beliefs on other people, she listens, gathers information and facts, and then delivers a true representation of the people.

Quality education, health care, and job growth are three areas of her caring and concern. She has the strength of conviction and ability to make a major impact in these areas. She is what we need right now to make positive and necessary changes for the people of the 44th District. I urge all of you to make the right decision in November. Make the change to someone who places people before politics. Vote Christine Rosati Randall

Cell tower not welcome in Pomfret

I am writing because of my concern for the proposed cell tower on property at 72 Ragged Hill Road in Pomfret. A tower at this location will have a significant impact on this rural location. It would destroy the picturesque area and be a potential health hazard to us area residents. It also may have an impact on the area wildlife. As a home and land owner of Ragged Hill Road, the tower will be an eyesore and also create a serious depreciation in property values.

We homeowners chose to reside in this area and have worked hard and long to maintain its rural quality. The proposed telecommunication tower would result in a serious degradation of the entire areas scenic Vista value. The proposed tower would be visible for long stretches of Route 244, a section of road that the Connecticut Department of Transportation has designated as a scenic road.

I therefore request that the siting council deny the applicant's request for a tower at this location.

Dauphinais has character

Anne Dauphinais distinctively represents Plainfield and Killingly in District 44, in the eastern area of Connecticut. I will be voting for Anne in the coming election on November 6th, because Anne is willing to go against the status quo. She champions for smaller, but more effective government. In talking with her, I came to the conclusion that like our federal government, our state's government is in need of good people, like Anne, to ensure we stick to our principles of what makes our state great. Unfortunately, unless we come together and vote for people of excellent character and conviction such as Anne Dauphinais, we will continue to see what we have been seeing in Connecticut: overburdensome taxes and ineffective government agencies. Thus, I would like to encourage everyone in the 44th District to get out and vote Anne Dauphinais with me.

how much they could provide on a monthly basis. If you are married, be sure to include your spouse's retirement accounts as well. If your employer provides a traditional pension plan, contact the plan administrator for an estimate of that monthly benefit amount as well.

Do you have rental income? Be sure to include that in your calculations. Might you continue to work? Some retirees find that they are able to consult, turn a hobby into an income source, or work part-time.

Pay off debt, power up your savings: Once you have an idea of what your possible expenses and income look like, it's time to bring your attention back to the here and now. Draw up a plan to pay off debt and power up your retirement savings before you retire.

Entering retirement debt-free — including paying off your mortgage — will put you in a position to modify your monthly expenses in retirement if the need arises. On the other hand, entering retirement with a mortgage, loan, and credit-card balances will put you at the mercy of those monthly payments. You'll have less of an opportunity to scale back your spending if necessary.

In these final few years before retirement, you're likely to be earning the highest salary of your career. Why not save and invest as much as you can in your employer-sponsored retirement savings plan and/or IRAs? Aim for maximum allowable contributions. And remember, if you're 50 or older, you can take advantage of catch-up contributions, which enable you to contribute an additional $6,000 to your 401(k) plan and an extra $1,000 to your IRA in 2018.

Account for health care: The Employee Benefit Research Institute reported that the average 65-year-old married couple, with average prescription drug expenses, would need $226,000 in savings to have at least a 75% chance of meeting their insurance premiums and out-of-pocket health-care costs in retirement in 2017.4This figure illustrates why health care should get special attention as you plan the transition to retirement.

As you age, the portion of your budget consumed by health-related costs will likely increase. Although original Medicare will cover a portion of your costs, you'll still have deductibles, copayments, and coinsurance. Unless you're prepared to pay for these costs out of pocket, you may want to purchase a supplemental Medigap insurance policy. Medigap policies are sold by private health insurers and are standardized and regulated by both state and federal law. These plans cover certain specified services, but offer different combinations of coverage. Some cover all or part of your Medicare deductibles, copayments, or coinsurance costs.

Plan Well: The closer and closer an individual comes to their goal, the more realistic it becomes. However, it could also be an awakening that you need to do more in order to reach that goal. Weiss, Hale & Zahansky Strategic Wealth Advisors understand what it takes to accomplish these goals in the years approaching your lifetime goals.

Quinebaug Valley falls Prince Tech

Quinebaug Valley’s Jamie Talbot reaches to haul in a pass near midfield that he turned into an 83-yard catch-and-run touchdown in the third quarter against Prince Tech in Hartford on Saturday, Sept. 29.

BY CHARLIE LENTZ
VILLAGER EDITOR

HARTFORD — With a 12 p.m. kickoff on a sun-bleached Saturday this one was truly a duel at high noon. The Quinebaug Valley Pride brought their prolific passing attack to Prince Tech last Saturday but discovered the Falcons were equipped with a formidable aerial arsenal of their own. After the final gun at Moriarty Field — Pride senior quarterback Josh Dodd had fired five touchdowns but Prince Tech’s Devon Hernandez was the gunslinger left standing in a 50-34 victory.

“Listen we’ve had to go on the road the last two weeks and we’ve lost two shootouts,” said Pride coach Joe Asermelly. “We’re 1-3. We’ve got to finish 7-3.”

Hernandez, the Falcons senior quarterback, nimbly bought time in the backfield while passing for 257 yards and three touchdowns. Hernandez scrambled for another 50 yards on eight carries. His main target was junior receiver Tonius Gideon, who snared six throws for 171 yards and two touchdowns.

“That quarterback was able to make a lot of plays with his legs and extend the play. It was tough to cover three (receivers) for that kind of time. (Hernandez and Gideon) were a pretty special duo today,” Asermelly said.

After Hernandez tossed an 18-yard strike to Gideon to open the scoring. Dodd threw a 68-yard touchdown to senior receiver Jeff Reed with 6:05 left in the first quarter. The Pride stretched their lead to 13-6 with 9:32 left in the second quarter as Dodd hit senior receiver Jamie Talbot for a seven-yard score.

Prince Tech’s William DeLeon rushed for a two-yard touchdown with 14 seconds left in the second quarter and it appeared that the Pride would settle for a 13-12 lead going into the break — but Dodd uncorked a 72-yard bomb

Killingly responds with win over Bacon

Killingly's Luke Desaulnier is off to the races on a 70-yard touchdown run in the first quarter against Bacon Academy last Friday, Sept. 28, at Killingly High School.

BY CHARLIE LENTZ

DAYVILLE—Killingly High's Nsaiah Harriet was all ears during coach Chad Neal's halftime lecture. Harriet listened intently while Neal called out the Redmen for a lackluster first-half performance against Bacon Academy last Friday night.

"He told us basically we weren't playing our game. We needed to step it up in every aspect," Harriet said. "The team really took that to heart. We had a little meeting with our captains and we decided that it was time for us to play our game."

No one absorbed Neal's message more completely than Harriet. After the halftime harangue he rushed for three touchdowns and returned an interception for another score to pace the Redmen to a 34-0 victory over Bacon at Killingly High on Sept. 28.

"My game was based off of my line actually. I think that they blocked for me amazingly. They came out and they played as hard as they could," said Harriet, a senior. "Everything I did was based off of them."

Killingly's lone highlight in the first half came on senior quarterback Luke Desaulnier's 70-yard touchdown sprint up the right sideline with 3:04 left in the first quarter. But there were plenty of lowlights in the first half: Killingly was whistled for seven penalties totaling 50 yards, Desaulnier was intercepted, and the Redmen could not punch it in after reaching the Bobcats' 5-yard line early in the second quarter. So Neal had plenty to discuss during the intermission.

"We had a little bit of talk at halftime and (Harriet) took it upon himself to get the team going, and himself — with our lack of intensity. He carried us on his back a little bit offensively, carrying the ball, and then those plays defensively really changed the game — I don't think we would have lost — just changed the way we played," Neal said.

Harriet played at defensive end last season and has returned there this season. He earned an interception, along with a sack, against the Bobcats on Friday night. But this season he also sees double-duty at running back.

"He's still raw. He's still learning the game of football. Learning situations and learning when to tee off and get to the quarterback, when to reach run-game trap and stuff. I thought tonight was one of his best games yet," Neal said.

Harriet and his teammates flipped the switch in the second half. After receiving the second-half kickoff Killingly marched 61 yards in seven plays for a touchdown. Harriet had five carries for 46 yards during the drive and capped it with a three-yard run with 8:35 left in the third quarter. With 9:58 remaining in the fourth quarter, Harriet intercepted Bacon quarterback Justin Kelsey at the Bobcats' 25-yard line and returned it to the end zone.

"We came out in the second half and finished them," Neal said. "I'm proud of the resolve of this team. We could have come out in the second half and played like we did in the first half, and maybe win 14-0. But we came to play in the second half. I was happy the way our intensity level rose up in the second half."

With 5:14 left in the fourth quarter, Harriet bulled in from the 1-yard line to cap a 32-yard drive that put the Redmen up 27-0. And after Killingly senior safety Tommy Bernier recovered a fumble at the Bobcats' 33-yard line with 5:00 remaining in the game, Harriet rushed 23 yards to move the ball to the 10 and one play later he scored on a six-yard run with 4:06 left. Desaulnier said Harriet gave the Redmen a lift.

"We were struggling in the first half. We were making a ton of mental mistakes. We really needed someone to make a big play for us, just to get us back on track. And Nsaiah came through big with the interception and on offense, both sides of the ball," Desaulnier said. "He draws a lot of attention. It makes my job easier."

Coach Neal said the first-half performance against Bacon was perhaps not unexpected following the Redmen's deflating 25-24 loss to New London one week earlier.

"I think we were a little flat, a little hangover from last week's game," Neal said. "It took us a while to get going."

The coach praised the work of reserve linemen Caleb Johnson, a junior, and sophomore Jacob Galarza — who filled in for junior center Justin Maiato and junior John Rodriguez.

"We're very young up front. We had a center out and then Rodriguez went out — so we had two new offensive linemen in there. (Johnson and Galarza) really had to step up. It just took a while for us to establish things," Neal said.

The loss dropped Bacon's record to 0-4. The win lifted Killingly's record to 3-1. The Redmen have a bye this weekend and return to action on Friday, Oct. 12, when they travel to Stonington High. Neal said they will use the hiatus to mend some injuries and focus on their own well-being.

"We've got to rest. It's a long stretch after this. We've got to self-scout, see where we are, see what we're doing as a team," Neal said. "The focus this week won't be on Stonington, it'll be on us, and what areas do we have to improve personnel-wise. How we can get maybe more guys on the field. Look what we're doing offensively. Look what we're doing defensively and special teams. What areas can we cut back in or add to? What's our identity going to be? And then next week we'll get ready for Stonington."

Harriet said the Redmen will be ready to play "Killingly football" versus Stonington. And he likely won't need a pre-game lecture for motivation.

"Killingly football, I think, is one of the most resilient football teams in the world," Harriet said. "I feel as if whatever we put our minds to we can do. Keep working hard. Keep striving. Just play how we play."

WOODSTOCK — Dennis Snelling was never worried. Although his Centaurs couldn't muster a goal in a 0-0 tie against Bacon Academy in the season opener on Sept. 8 — the coach of Woodstock Academy's girls soccer team watched Bacon abandon its own chances of scoring while packing nine defenders back in their defensive zone. Snelling never doubted the Centaurs offensive prowess against any team in the Eastern Connecticut Conference that was actually trying to beat them. The Panthers of Plainfield High had that intention when they came knocking at Woodstock's South Campus field last Thursday. Plainfield had scored 19 goals en route to 4-0 record to start the season but they were no match for the Centaurs. Woodstock sent the Panthers packing with a 3-0 loss for their first defeat of the young season. "Today, with three goals against a really quality opponent — we're definitely not going to struggle to score within the league," Snelling said. The Centaurs have backed Snelling's confidence since that season-opening tie, tallying 21 goals over five games capped by an 8-1 victory on Sept. 29 over Ledyard. "We just have a confident team right now. The girls are fit. They're organized and they're all on the same page as far as what the team has to do," Snelling said. Woodstock's record was

5-0-1 through six games. The Centaurs are once again one of the powerhouses of the ECC and Snelling said they're well aware of the competition. "I really think we have a good read on a lot of the ECC teams and their styles. We knew Plainfield didn't lose much from last year. We kind of know who their stronger players are," Snelling said. The coach said his players had no problem getting motivated against Plainfield. "We don't have many local rivals. A lot of that is just because of the size of the schools. And Plainfield has a strong core. It's nice to have a competitive local opponent. I know Killingly's good this year, other than that we don't really play anybody who's close by where the girls kind of know each other. A lot of them went to middle school together. It just makes it more fun, especially when you win," Snelling said. Woodstock senior midfielder Ashleigh Angle said the Centaurs were looking to make an early season statement against Plainfield. "I really wanted our team to make an impact this season because we lost a couple players (to graduation) and I think Plainfield thought we were going to come in not as good," Angle said. "But we came in and we played really really well, way better than last year." Snelling said the defense was solid against the Panthers as well. Some of Woodstock's key defenders are sophomore Brynn Kusnarowis, junior Hallie Saracina, junior Linda St. Laurent, and senior Heather Converse. "We ask them to do a lot of the last line of defending and they do a great job," Snelling said. "They work in tandem. Brynn does a lot of the talking in the back to keep everyone organized. And I can't forget (goalkeeper) Irene (Askitis), she's a great anchor." Angle said it was no coincidence the Centaurs limited Plainfield to four shots. "We just worked together and communicated, making sure everyone was in the right position at the right time," Angle said. "Just shutting down every ball, every 50/50, getting to the ball, judging the ball — that just worked really well for us." Angle dismissed those who doubted the Centaurs after the season-opening tie against Bacon. "Every practice we come to work hard and get better," Angle said. "By pushing each other past our limits we're able to make each other better." The win over Plainfield should give the Centaurs some momentum as the season approaches its midpoint. "This will make us a lot more confident going into other games. But we need to go into every game thinking that we could lose. We need to push harder every game," Angle said. Snelling doesn't doubt the resolve of his players and expected them to profit from the win over Plainfield. "I think we have 11 games in 20 days. To have confidence off a big win against a good team is vital to keep the team going," Snelling said. Adeline Smith, Ivy Gelhaus, and Kayla Gaudrea each scored one goal in Woodstock's win over Plainfield. Kusnarowis and Gelhaus each notched assist. The Centaurs outshot the Panthers 19-4 and led 7-1 in corner kicks. Woodstock's Askitis was credited with two saves. Goalkeeper Sophie Mercer made eight saves for Plainfield (4-1). Woodstock is next scheduled to travel to North Branford on Saturday, Oct. 6. The Centaurs coach expects more goals against NFA. Despite a scoreless tie to open the season — Snelling was never worried about his team's firepower. "Like I said, it was a matter of time," Snelling said. "I guess I was right."

THOMPSON — Deb Spinelli is in her 28th season coaching Tourtellotte Memorial's girls soccer team and rarely has it taken her this long to unlock a team's potential. But nine games into the season she was still looking for the right keys to victory.

"Usually I have a set lineup that we use. But I've got a lot of young players that are playing those spots — just keep moving them around until we find the right combination that works," Spinelli said. "We're still struggling a little bit, trying to find the combination on the outside mids, keep rotating them — we're trying to get them in shape as they're playing because you have to be really well-conditioned play it the way we want it to be played. So we keep rotating the outside mids. So that's why some of the freshmen have been getting in there as well."

The Tigers defeated New London 3-0 on Monday, Oct. 1, but Spinelli said there is still much work to be done. After topping the Whalers, Tourtellotte's record stood at 4-4-1 through nine games. Spinelli recently started using freshman Alysha Bugbee in the lineup to contribute in the mid-field. Bugbee paid dividends by scoring a goal in a 3-2 loss to St. Bernard on Sept. 29. Also among the players she's been combining at outside midfielder are freshman Kalin Griggs (who scored her first career goal against New London), senior Rori Johnson, senior Kate Heffernan, sophomore Gracen Vanderswaagh, and senior Brianna Loffredo.

"So we keep mixing it up and rotating them around," said Spinelli. "From one game to the next we never know who's going to be 'on' for that day. That's where we've been messing around with."

The Tigers seasoned

veterans include senior Lauren Ramos, junior Ashley Morin, senior Jolie Wilber, and sophomore Makayla Tackson. Spinelli can count on sophomore Kaylee Tackson and senior McKayla Minarik for scoring punch—and both tallied one goal in the win over New London.

"In the middle of the field we've got Ashley (Morin) and Mekayla (Minarik) doing a better job. We're trying to find that other striker, that's why we've got Kalin (Griggs) up there and we've rotated (freshman Mackenzie) Minarik up there," Spinelli said. "We're trying to find the combination up there also. We're still trying to mess around with what we have as a lineup."

Mekayla Minarek and Kaylee Tackson have been a constant amid the upheaval.

"Those are the two that we look for. We've got Kaylee with her right foot and left foot. And McKayla with her left foot, period," Spinelli said. "We're also trying to get Ashley Morin to score more from the middle because she's got a deadly shot if she takes it. She doesn't take it half the time from the top of the box."

Minarik said they're gelling as a team and the win over New London was a positive step.

"I think we're doing pretty good and we're working as a team now," Minarik said. "I think we played very well today. We definitely kept possession so that was good too. We have to talk. We had good balls and we looked for feet, so it was good."

Tourtellotte outshot New London 15-4 and led 6-0 in corner kicks. Tigers goalkeeper Kali Copley made four saves. Desiree Johnson made 12 saves for New London. The loss dropped the Whalers record to 3-6. Coach Spinelli remained positive and saw good things ahead for the second half of the season.

"I hope so. We want to make the (state) tournament," Spinelli said.

Tourtellotte is next scheduled to play host to Lyman Memorial at 3:45 p.m. on Friday, Oct. 5. The Tigers tied Lyman Memorial 1-2 in the first meeting on Sept. 17. Coach Spinelli likely hopes to find the right combination to beat the Bulldogs in the rematch on Friday.

"I think we're matured a little bit more as a team right now so when we meet (Lyman) on Friday I think it'll be a little more offensive-minded on our part," Spinelli said. "I think we're getting better. But (assistant coach) Jen (Bennett) and I are still pulling our hair out because there are times where they lapse and they're watching the play instead of moving. When you have a young team it's hard to get them understand the off-ball movement is probably more important than just standing there with the ball."

But Spinelli's been doing this for 28 seasons now. Chance are pretty good she'll get her message across.

LUDLOW, Mass. — Big plays and giveaways were Woodstock Academy's undoing in a loss to Ludlow, Mass., last Friday night. Although Woodstock outgained Ludlow in yards from scrimmage and forced the Lions to punt on eight of their 10 possessions — the Centaurs fell to the host Lions 13-6 in high school football on Sept. 28. Woodstock coach Sean Saucier said the Centaurs were thwarted by four turnovers.

"It was almost a self-sabotage," Saucier said. "We've got to learn how to finish and we've got to learn how to win."

The Centaurs outgained Ludlow 312 yards to 172 but could not turn the yardage into touchdowns. Woodstock moved the football for 13 first downs and the Centaurs held Ludlow to just four first downs.

"We've got to learn how to finish in the red zone," Saucier said.

Saucier said Ludlow as able to convert two big plays for scores and that was the difference. The Lions notched touchdown runs in both the first and fourth quarters to take a 13-0 lead. Ludlow's Jamonte Beckett rushed 48 yards for a touchdown in the first quarter to help put the Lions up by a touchdown. Ludlow's Jeremy Garcia ran 31 yards for a score early in the fourth quarter to push the Lions margin to 13-0. Woodstock got on the scoreboard in the fourth quarter on junior running back Jaden Dennett's one-yard plunge to cut its deficit to 13-6 and complete the scoring.

Saucier singled out Woodstock sophomore Gavin Savoie as the Centaurs standout player of the game for his play at both running back and on defense at safety. Savoie rushed for 91 yards on 20 carries.

The win lifted Ludlow's record to 3-1. The loss dropped the Centaurs record to 1-3. Woodstock is next scheduled to play host to Amherst Regional (Mass.) on Friday, Oct. 5, with kickoff set for 6:30 p.m. at the school's South Campus turf field. Amherst's record is 2-2 and the team is coming off a 24-6 win over Drury of North Adams, Mass., last weekend. In a comparison of common opponents, Amherst lost to Ludlow 25-16 on Sept. 21.

OBITUARIES

Eileen Marie Myra Thyarion, 60

PUTNAM – Eileen Marie Myra Thyarion, 60, of Five Mile River Rd., died Sunday, September 9, 2018, at Vibra Hospital in Leicester, Mass., after a long battle with cancer. She was born in Stoneham, Mass., on December 18, 1957, daughter of the late Isabelle and James Myra. Growing up in Arlington, Mass., Eileen graduated from Bunker Hill Community College in Boston, with an Associate of Science degree. She worked in the mental health field for over 20 years as a residential counselor. At various times she worked for the U. S. Dept. of Veteran’s Affairs, nursing homes, residential group homes and independent-living facilities, assisting people with mental health issues, particularly veterans and the elderly. Eileen was a practicing Catholic and a communicant of St. Mary Church of the Visitation in Putnam. She had a big heart and loved animals, especially her dog, Peace. She was also an enthusiastic amateur painter. Moving to northeastern Connecticut in 2007, Eileen lived in Putnam with her sister and best friend Patricia Gaffney. Together they were raising their nephew Cody Keene and niece Cora Rose Desrosiers. They called her “Auntie Buffy” and were her best buddies. The three of them were the most important people in her life, with her sister Patty at her side when she died. She also leaves her brother Stephen and his wife Ann, of Belton, Texas, her brother Thomas Myra and wife his Cheri, of Burlington, Mass., nephew Craig Myra and his wife Corey, of Virginia, several cousins, a dear friend, Carol Ann Sullivan, of Scituate, Mass., who she grew up with and knew for over 55 years, and many other loving friends. Following cremation, a graveside service and burial was conducted on September 15 in the family plot in Oak Grove Cemetery in Medford, Mass. to Talbot with :00 on the clock and Quinebaug Valley took a 19-12 cushion into the intermission.

On the Pride's first possession of the third quarter, Dodd connected with Talbot on an 83-yard touchdown pass to stretch Quinebaug Valley's margin to 25-12. Prince Tech responded with 30 unanswered points as Mario Perez ranced three yards for a touchdown, Hernandez threw a 17-yard touchdown to Jacob Maisonet, Gideon returned an interception 45 yards for a touch-down, and Deleon rushed for a three-yard touchdown with 10:06 left in the fourth quarter to extend the Falcons lead to 42-25.

Dodd threw a 33-yard scoring pass to Reed and connected with Talbot for the two-point conversion with 8:26 remaining in the game. Hernandez answered with a 13-yard touchdown pass to Gideon with 3:59 left and Deleon rushed for the conversion to push the Falcons margin to 50-33 and finish the scoring.

Dodd completed 12-of-24 passes for 312 yards and five touchdowns but was intercepted five times. Dodd rushed six times for 40 yards and also made a five-yard reception on an option pass from Adrian Casiano. Platt Tech trailed 19-12 at halftime but outscored Quinebaug Valley 38-14 in the second half. The Pride also fumbled away the second-half kickoff.

"We were still able to score some in the second half — turnovers — ultimately I think bad play calling led to those turnovers, some tipped balls led to those turnovers. In the end maybe we put a little too much pressure on ourselves," Asermelly said.

Prince Tech finished with 148 yards rushing on 38 carries with Deleon leading the way with 68 yards and two touchdowns on 21 totes. The Pride ran the football just 11 times for 54 yards with Dodd scrambling four times for 33 yards and sneaking the football on two occasions on third down for a total of seven yards. Senior running back Matt Fitzpatrick picked up 14 yards on just five carries. Hernandez had the benefit of a diversified attack while Dodd was under pressure much of the contest.

"We're just trying to do what we're good at. Some of it was just this week's matchup, they have two very good linemen," said Asermelly of his pass-heavy game plan. "So we're just doing what we feel we're best-suited to do. You know, I'll reflect. I'll try to get better with my play selection."

Talbot made five catches for 184 yards and three touchdowns. Reed finished with three catches for 106 yards and two touchdowns.

Hernandez, the Falcons senior QB, completed 12-of-24 for 257 yards and three touchdowns with one interception. Gideon snared six passes for 171 yards and two touchdowns. The win lifted Prince Tech's record to 2-2.

The loss dropped Quinebaug Valley's record to 1-3. The Pride are next scheduled to play host to Platt Tech with kickoff scheduled for 6 p.m. on Friday, Oct. 5, at Ellis Tech's athletic field. Platt Tech is 0-4 and coming off a 44-18 loss to Danbury's Abbott Tech/Immaculate co-op last weekend. Coach Asermelly expects the Pride to bounce back. Quinebaug Valley must win five of its remaining six games to finish with a
