Charlton welcomes deputy chief and new firefighter

BY JASON BLEAU
VILLAGER CORRESPONDENT

CHARLTON — The Fire Department celebrated a big day on May 22 as they officially welcomed in not only a new deputy chief, but a new firefighter as well.

Lieutenant Jason Cantara was announced as the pick for the vacant deputy chief position in April but, as per tradition, was officially presented to the town during the meeting of the Board of Selectmen in May. Chief Ed Knopf, who was hired in December after serving as interim chief following the retirement of Chief Charles Cloutier, also introduced a new firefighter who is joining the force, Ian Haggerty.

“When we bring somebody new on board we like to have them come down and meet the Board of Selectmen and officially pin them as a member of the department,” Chief Knopf told selectmen in a room filled with supporters and family members on hand for ceremony.

“We have an individual who started his full-time career in March of this year and another gentleman who started his career in 1988 as a full-time firefighter.”

The first to be pinned was Haggerty, who started with Charlton in March and is entering his first full-time firefighting position. Haggerty was proudly pinned by his girlfriend and acknowledged by selectmen as the newest member of the Charlton Fire Department.

Hamelin throws pots and history at JEL

BY GUS STEEVES
STONEBRIDGE CORRESPONDENT

SOUTHBRIDGE — Almost everyone in the area knows this about local history: water made New England a major player in the textile industry. But at the same time that was strong, even before it, the dirt made us a player in pottery and brick-making.

That's because of something that happened around 15,000 years ago — the glaciers, which left easily accessible deposits of clay “all over the place,” Rick “Pied Potter” Hamelin told a small crowd at Jacob Edwards Library last week.

“I was never taught at [Tantasqua] that we were surrounded by clay pits and an old clay industry,” he recalled, noting his textbooks talked about pottery in Japan and Europe, but not the fact central Massachusetts has many kinds of clay. Some, dubbed “smooth” clay, is ideal for pottery, while others — those with higher sand content — can only become bricks.

Clay however has personality based on its chemistry and impurities.

“It is a practical joker,” he said. “It wants to make you look like a fool. If you haven't [made mistakes], you haven't made enough pots.”

Marijuana dispensary provides tour for officials

BY JASON BLEAU
VILLAGER CORRESPONDENT

CHARLTON — Members of the local marijuana committee have gotten an in depth look at the progress of a new dispensary set to open in the coming year on Route 20.

Charlton Selectman Debra Noble, the Board of Selectmen's liaison to the Marijuana Advisory Committee overseeing marijuana regulations and related facilities in Charlton, provided an update to her fellow selectmen in late May explaining a design is in place for the facility on Worcester Road.

“The Marijuana Advisory

Committee met down at the Health Wise Foundation site on Route 20 and we had a walkthrough of the framed-out building. We went through each and every piece of it, the doorways going in and out, the

The Victorian gossip girl gabs about her famous friends

History at Play has garnered nationwide attention for their living history performances, chronicling the lives of legendary women who changed society. A rare opportunity to enjoy the tales of the Victorian Gossip Girl: Annie Fields now comes to Charlton at The Overlook, 88 Masonic Home Road, Charlton, on Wednesday June 13 at 2 p.m. A one-time only special event. Featured in news media outlets, including WCVB Boston, CBS WBZ Radio, The Boston Globe, and the Associated Press, artistic director and founder Judith Kalaora expresses the delight in portraying an insider who was well acquainted with great Transcendentalist authors, including Nathaniel Hawthorne, Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, and Harriet Beecher Stowe. Kalaora describes Mrs. Fields as a woman who, "...rarely spoke of herself, but kept thirteen years of journals about her famous friends. For the first time, audiences get an inside scoop as to who these great literary figures really were, outside of the clues we have often deduced from their writings." Political correspondent for the Associated Press, Josh Lederman states, "History At Play connects the dots between the characters that made up our past and the events they shaped that still influence our lives." Kalaora established History At Play in 2010 to create enriching historical entertainment. She is a resident of Massachusetts and a graduate of Syracuse University and Shakespeare's Globe Education Program in London, England. She has performed on stages from London to Montreal and across the United States. www.HistoryAtPlay.com.

STUDENT ACHIEVEMENT
SPRINGFIELD — Ryan P. L'Ecuyer of Charlton was inducted into Beta Gamma Sigma, the honor society of AACSB-accredited business schools, at a ceremony conducted by the Western New England Chapter officers. The banquet, held April 19 at the Log Cabin in Holyoke, was attended by 120 students, guests, College of Business faculty and staff, Dean Rob Kleine, Provost Linda Jones, and President Anthony Caprio, in addition to several members of the College of Business Advisory Board. The keynote speaker was Mark Berthiaume, '78, Executive Vice President at the Hanover Insurance Group, headquartered in Worcester, who was also inducted into BGS as an honorary member. Also honored as BGS Professor of the Year was Professional Educator of Accounting, Tara Corthell. Beta Gamma Sigma is a national honor society for business majors at schools accredited by AACSB International, the Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business. Students are selected from the top 7% of juniors, top 10% of seniors and to 20% of graduate students. Candidates must have completed two semesters of study at Western New England University.

BRIDGEWATER — More than 2,100 bachelor's degrees in the sciences, arts, business and education were awarded during two ceremonies at Bridgewater State University on Saturday, May 12 on the Boyden Quadrangle. It was the 177th Spring Commencement Convocation in the university's history. The following area residents were among those who graduated: Charlton: Mitchell Robert Haase and Marco J. Tiberii.

BIDDEFORD AND PORTLAND, ME, TANGIER MOROCCO — The following local students have been named to the Dean's List for the 2018 spring semester at the University of New England. Dean's List students have attained a grade point average of 3.3 or better out of a possible 4.0 at the end of the semester. Nikonas Aganis and Samantha Binnie of Charlton.

WORCESTER — Assumption College has announced that 590 students have been named to the College's prestigious undergraduate Dean's List for the spring 2018 semester. Local students include Charlton residents Christine Dylewicz, Ashley Fagan, Jillian Fellows, and Erin Wilbur. To earn a spot on the Dean's List, Assumption students must achieve a grade point average of 3.5 for a five-class, 15-credit semester. The Dean's List is announced twice per academic year, once at the completion of the fall semester, and again at the completion of the spring semester.

STUDENT ACHIEVEMENT
WORCESTER — Quinsigamond Community College has released its Dean's and Merit Lists for the spring 2018 semester. A total of 565 students were named to the Dean's List and 1,017 students were named to the Merit List.

Students named to Dean's List must have a Quality Point Average (QPA) of 3.5 or higher and have earned 12 or more credits in a given semester. Students named to the Merit List must have a QPA of 3.5 or higher and have earned 6 or more credits in a given semester, but fewer than 12 credits. Among them were local students: Charlton: Hayleigh Baker, Amber Berthiaume, Katharine Cunningham, Zachary Dagnese, Savannah Gaspar, Jeremy Gosselin, Tyler Leblanc, Matthew Lovely, Donald Mahan, Jeffrey Morris, Billie Porter, Christopher Rapoza, Raelynn Small, Kimberly Thorpe, Sarah Ukpong, Megan Vezina, Jeffrey Wolcott; Charlton City: Kristopher MacKinnon. The Merit List includes: Charlton: Erin Brown, Sarah Caplette, Tina Costa, Maxamillion Duncan, Nicole Grigas, Sean Hallihan, Daniel Hogan, Felicia Lemire, Chase Mannila, Matthew Osowski, Cassandra Smeltzer, Ashley Steelman

WORCESTER — Worcester Polytechnic Institute (WPI) began its 150th Commencement celebrations with the graduate students' ceremony on Thursday, May 10, awarding nearly 830 master's and doctoral degrees. Christopher Legacy of Charlton was awarded a doctor of philosophy degree in chemistry; Benjamin Gaudet of Charlton was awarded a master of science degree in fire protection engineering; and Joseph Ostrowski of Charlton was awarded a master of science degree in fire protection engineering.

WORCESTER — The Assumption College Department of Modern & Classical Languages & Cultures has announced that Mark DiLegge, of Charlton, has been named to the French National Honor Society, Pi Delta Phi. DiLegge, Class of 2018, was inducted into the honor society this spring. Pi Delta Phi has more than 300 chapters at universities and colleges all across the United States. To be eligible for membership, students must be in their sophomore year or above, and have gained a B average in intermediate or advanced French courses. At the initiation ceremony, inductees promise to further and develop their knowledge of and interest in the French language, culture and literature.

Car Buying Tips

Customers ask place: How should I pay for my new car or truck?

The RIGHT answer: There are three ways to pay for your vehicle. They are to pay cash, finance the balance or lease the automobile. Each method has its pros and cons.

If you pay cash, you have the knowledge that you own your car outright. You could, in theory, cut back on insurance and you will not pay interest as you would with the other two methods. The downside of paying cash is that you are spending a large part of your liquid assets and potentially losing investment potential. The other thing is if your car gets totaled and you did cut back on your insurance you are out all that money.

If you finance, you will have a budgeted monthly payment and won't need to spend all your hard-earned cash. In fact, with today's low interest rate options, in some cases as low as 0%, it may make more sense to finance your car. You also have options with the financing that can help to protect the value of the car. Consider GAP protection to protect against a total loss. Ask us for more details on how this works. Of course, the downside of financing is that in most cases you will pay interest. Because today's cars are rather expensive many customers take on longer term notes increasing the interest expense and leaving them still owing money when they want to trade in for another. This leads us to leasing.

If you lease a car you usually get a lower monthly payment. You will also get GAP protection (at least with Ford Motor Credit Leases) at no charge and your term will be shorter allowing you to seamlessly get a new car in just a few years as your needs change. Downsides to leasing are the excess mileage or wear and tear concerns. Let us tailor a lease to your needs to help avoid these concerns.

At Place Motor we will discuss with you your situation and offer you your choices, so you can make the RIGHT choice for you. You'll experience why Place Motor is the RIGHT Place since 1923.

Local business owners planning to bring arena football to Worcester

A local businessman and his son have embarked on a journey few undertake, bringing a professional sports team to town.

Owner Hassan Yatim is president of Yatco Energy based in Worcester and owning several Gulf stations including Charlton Gulf, and his son Jawad Yatim is a former arena football quarterback who is serving as president of the team. Together they are the men behind the Massachusetts Pirates, the state's only professional indoor football team.

And they are off to a winning start! Sean Brackett hit Lavon Pearson with a ten yard touchdown pass with five seconds remaining to give the Massachusetts Pirates a 44-37 victory over the Columbus Lions May 8 at the DCU Center in Worcester. The win gives the Pirates a record of 4 and 1 and a share of first place in the National Arena League.

Massachusetts trailed 30 to 15 in the third quarter before staging a comeback. The home team outscored the Lions 29 to 14 in the second half. For Columbus it was their first loss of the season dropping them to 2 and 1. Next up, the Pirates take on the Maine Mammoths (1-3) at 7 pm on Saturday, May 12, 2018.

A member of the National Arena League, the Massachusetts Pirates will play all their home games at the DCU Center in Worcester. The regular season will run through Saturday, Aug. 4. Ninety percent of the Massachusetts Pirates roster has previously signed National Football League contracts and many of the players come from some of the biggest Division 1 college programs in the country.

For over 20 years, Hassan and his brothers, Tarek and Khalil, have been in the gas station and convenience store business, providing quality customer service and competitive gas prices to customers throughout Massachusetts. Tarek and Hassan first became store operators in 1993, when they opened up a closed Exxon location in Worcester.

In 2012, the brothers branched out into the wholesale gas distribution business as Yatco Energy, providing branded and unbranded gasoline and diesel fuels to both large and small facilities.

To create a winning team Jawad recruited Head Coach Ameer Ismail to lead the talented team of players. He is originally from Lansing, Michigan, and graduated from Holland West Ottawa High School. Ismail played at Western Michigan State University where he was a DI All-American, Conference Defensive Player of the Year, and two-time first team All MAC selection. He led the nation in sacks with 17 and tackles for loss with 26. He is the school and conference single-season sack record holder in both categories. He holds the NCAA record with 6.0 sacks in a 41-27 win over Ball State University. He earned his bachelor's degree in exercise science & physiology, as well as a master's degree in sports management & administration.

As a professional player, Ismail spent some time in the NFL as a member of the Kansas City Chiefs and Jacksonville Jaguars. He also spent time in the AFL with the Jacksonville Sharks and the Milwaukee Mustangs, but ended up making a name for himself in the IFL. He played three seasons for the Tri-Cities Fever (2010), Bloomington Edge (2012) and Chicago Slaughter (2013), earning two First Team All-IFL honors and was the 2012 IFL Defensive Player of the Year with a record 167-tackle season in only 12 games. In total, he recorded 357 tackles, 14 sacks, six interceptions, five forced fumbles, and eight blocked kicks. Ismail is also an IFL Hall of fame finalist.

Joining Coach Ismail is offensive coordinator Anthony "AP" Payton, who enters his tenth coaching season in 2018 after spending last year with the former Spokane Empire of the Indoor Football League as the quarterbacks and wide receiver coach, the same franchise that current Massachusetts Pirates Head Coach Ameer Ismail served as defensive coordinator for during the 2016 IFL

Amendment approved for veteran to veteran mediation services

BOSTON — Senator Anne M. Gobi (D-Spencer) has announced the Massachusetts State Senate voted to approve funding for a Veterans Mediation Training Program administered by Quabbin Mediation. The $100,000 in funding was filed as an amendment to the Senate budget by Senator Gobi.

The veteran mediation program provides services to prevent and alleviate veteran homelessness in the Commonwealth, along with the numerous accompanying issues. They host statewide trainings to equip veterans with the skills to help their fellow veterans with these challenges.

"This program has been incredibly successful," said Senator Gobi. "Veterans understand other veterans and the issues they face better than anyone. Providing the highest level of assistance at no cost is a great benefit that they certainly deserve."

This funding will help to equip more than 200 veterans who serve veterans with mediation skills through 35-hour professional trainings and 6-hour skills trainings. These skills will be used to provide mediation services in more than 10,000 cases involving veterans and family members, helping them to find solutions to conflicts concerning such issues as housing, family relationships, employment, health care, and more.

For FY19, there will be a strategic shift to elevate the program to a new level where mediation services provided by veterans are more widely available throughout the Commonwealth to veterans, Guard, Reserves, active military and their families. In this fiscal year, the groundwork will be laid for a network of veterans' mediation sites statewide, institutionalizing the program at community colleges and through long standing agencies and institutions. The four-year plan will begin through activities including the establishment of five satellites veterans' mediation sites and creating a system for development, outreach and support of these sites and for future site development.

Senator Gobi, the daughter of a Navy veteran, serves as Senate vice-chair of the Joint Committee on Veterans and Federal Affairs. She was successful in securing the initial amount of funding for this program in the Massachusetts HOME Act, passed in 2016.

If you have any questions, contact Senator Gobi's office at 617-722-1540.

making with the pinning of the new Deputy Chief Cantara. Chief Knopf said Cantara was chosen from a pool of candidates and immediately stood out as a frontrunner in interviews. Cantara comes to Charlton from Southbridge where he spent 30 years working in fire response.

"Chief Cloutier retired back in November and I became the acting chief at that time. We started to put a plan in place to hire a new deputy chief," Chief Knopf said. "We got that position approved again and we started a hiring process. We put it out on social media and to other websites. We came back with fourteen applicants. Of those fourteen we whittled it down. We had an initial interview process where we brought in seven and I didn't have to go any further after the first interviews. I was given overwhelming and positive feedback for this one particular gentleman."

Cantara was pinned by his two sons including current Charlton firefighter Nicholas Cantara, before also being acknowledged by selectmen and officially welcomed to the Charlton Fire Department in his new position.

Harrington announces promotions; new staff

Michael Augustine

Ann Beaudry

Kerry Burrill

Angela Chviek

Greg Mirhej

Stacy Teele

SOUTHBRIDGE — Harrington HealthCare System recently transitioned some of its employees into valuable new roles within the organization. These changes, plus other efforts being made system wide, will be to Harrington's advantage as the organization look to continue its success and provide critical patient services in its community footprint.

Michael Augustine has joined Harrington as the new director of supply chain. Augustine has more than 20 years of experience, and previously worked for Harrington in the 1980s. Most recently, he was the director of supply chain for Cape Cod Healthcare. Michael lives in Charlton, where he grew up, with his wife and five children.

Ann Beaudry, BSN, RN, has been named the new director of quality, patient safety and risk. Beaudry managed our pediatric and maternal health departments for many years and is well respected by her staff. Ann served on the Massachusetts Department of Public Health Perinatal Advisory Council and has also been involved in quality-focused committees and patient experience groups at Harrington, including chairing the Patient-Family Advisory Council and Nursing Shared Governance Quality Council. For the last several years, Ann has also served as a member of Harrington Hospital's Governance.

Kerry Burrill, RN, has been named the new director of medical/surgical services and pediatrics. Burrill has been with Harrington for almost 15 years, most recently serving as a nursing supervisor (clinical coordinator) for the past six. In her new position, Kerry hopes to successfully continue to lead the departments in achieving outstanding patient outcomes, hire and retain staff members and lead individuals to provide high-quality patient care.

Angela Chviek, MBA, CMA, joined Harrington in 2016 as the manager of business development and strategic planning. Chviek has recently been named the director of development and strategic planning, where she will continue to assist and implement the organization's strategic and long-range goals while leading our organization's fundraising efforts.

Greg Mirhej has been with Harrington for five years as the executive director of behavioral health and was recently named vice president of behavioral health services. In his newly expanded role, Mirhej will oversee all outpatient and inpatient behavioral health services and work to maintain our behavioral health department's reputation as a model of care in the Commonwealth.

Edyta Puczydłowska, RN, has been named the new director of surgical services. Puczydłowska has more than 17 years of experience as a nurse in surgical care settings. She was previously the assistant manager at Harrington's Webster campus, and spent 12 years as a perioperative nurse in areas of ACU, PACU and OR. She holds CNOR certification and Master's degree in nursing education. Stacy Teele, CWOCN, is the new manager of emergency and critical care services. Teele has been with Harrington for 14 years and has worked in several departments including medical-surgical, ICU and wound care. Stacy is a certified wound, ostomy care nurse. Her background includes clinical coordinator of the wound care center and assistant director of the ICU. In her new role, she will oversee daily operations of the ICU and both emergency department locations, with a focus on patient satisfaction and quality of care.

Harrington Physician Services welcomes orthopedic surgeon

Dr. Chad Krueger

SOUTHBRIDGE. — Chad Krueger MD, board-certified in orthopedic surgery, has joined the Harrington Physician Services orthopedic office. Patients interested in scheduling an appointment can call (508) 764-2772. Dr. Krueger received his medical degree from the University of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey, Robert Wood Johnson School of Medicine. He completed his residency at Brooke Army Medical Center while also completing a research fellowship at the United States Army Institute of Surgical Research in Fort Sam, Houston TX.

Most recently, Dr. Krueger served in the Womack Army Medical Center as a staff orthopedic surgeon in Fort Bragg, NC, as well as a consulting medical staff member for Scotland Memorial Hospital (Laurinburg, NC) and Sampson Regional Medical Center (Clinton, NC).

Dr. Krueger is a well-versed academic professional. He has presented more than 50 academic presentations and has many online publications, in addition to over 40 peer-reviewed articles and webinars. He has sat on more than a dozen professional committees, and was recently selected to be the deputy editor of social media for the Journal of Bone and Joint Surgery.

He is a member of several professional affiliations, including the American Academy of Orthopedic Surgeons, the American Orthopedic Association-Emerging Leaders Program, the Society of Military Orthopedic Surgeons and the American Association of Hip and Knee Surgeons.

Dr. Krueger will join Drs. Samantha Chase, Russell Donnelly and Young-Ho Oh to provide diagnostic and preventive orthopedic medicine for all ages.

The HPS orthopedic office offers total joint replacement surgery, ACL repair, rotator cuff treatment, splints and casts, fracture repair, carpal tunnel treatment and more. The office is located at 94 South St. in Southbridge.

Powell announces campaign

WORCESTER — Charlton resident Joanne Powell held her campaign for Clerk of Courts kickoff early this month, at the Ballot Box in Kelly Square. Powell spoke to a very enthusiastic and energized room full of her supporters.

The guest speaker, Sheriff Lew Evangelidis introduced Powell stating, "Joanne will bring much needed professionalism, efficiency, and accountability to the Clerk's Office. Joanne will use her strong business and managerial skills necessary to bring this court into the 21st century."

Other notables in attendance included: Governor's Councilor Jen Caissie, state Representatives Peter Durant, Kate Campanale, and Joe McKenna.

Powell brings experience to the greater Worcester community as the head administrative assistant for the Worcester Probate and Family Court. She is also a member of the Governor's Board of Trustees for the Massachusetts Hospital Schools. She formerly worked for the District Attorney's Office in the Outreach Unit. Powell has her MBA from Assumption College.

"I will be a hands-on leader from the start. As always, I promise to listen to my community, my staff, and focus on fixing problems. This will be a department that works for our community, to ensure a better life within the Worcester County Superior Court," said Powell.

Getting crafty in Charlton

CHARLTON — A little bit of this and a little bit of that seems to be the theme at the Charlton Arts and Activities Center located at 4 Dresser Hill Road. During the craft fair on Saturday June 2 many crafters were set up with a wide variety of personally made items. Thanks to Bittersweet Country Crafts, who sponsored the event, patrons were able to choose from handmade soaps, spring wreathes, bows and trinkets, wood burned art, and succulent gardens with whimsical themes. There were more than a dozen crafters set up inside and outside of the center.

Socks and Locks Boutique, by Robin Babst had beaded socks of all different colors. In business on and off for 15 years, Babst says she loves to make these beaded socks and sold over 800 pairs in a year. Babst is a resident of Shrewsbury but travels all over Massachusetts to sell at craft fairs. The items she makes are perfect for Fun-Key Chameleon set up shop adjacent to the entrance into the gift shop at the center.

"I make a little bit of this and a little bit of that," says Kim Koontz, Barre resident and seamstress of all things original. Koontz' most popular item are her pillow case dresses. "These dresses are made from pillow cases, they can adjust them to size because they stretch, and most come with a matching bow or scrunchie," says Koontz.

The dresses were exceptionally designed and stunning. Koontz also makes weighted blankets by order, which has been known to help children with sensory processing disorders and autism.

"I make organic heating pads and sinus pads. And baby items like blankets and sock bouquets," says Koontz.

Lishada Natural Products and Francine's Fancy were set up together in a shaded spot where the numerous wreathes could be displayed. Handmade spring and summer wreathes made customers gasp in awe. Pink flowery bows with flying butterflies, yellow and blue frills and sparkling glitter made each wreath special. Michelle Sargent of Worcester says, "this is my first time here (at the Charlton Arts and Activities Center craft fair). It is going to be a great time! It is a beautiful day and a lot of people will be coming in."

Sure enough the visitors began to fill the booths with oohs and aahs.

Kelly Bannon and her daughter Breylyn Bannon were excited to visit the craft fair. "We are moving to Charlton and we are very excited for the move," says Bannon. Her daughter, 2 years old, is also excited to be moving to this quaint town. The Bannon family went into the next booth where mysterious creatures awaited.

"I call them whimsies," says Tina Martin, Auburn resident, and operator of Crafties Creations and the Creative Crafters Guild. "I wanted to bring fairies and other creatures to life in 3D so I designed these Whimsies."

The dolls are all fascinating and exceptional. Each one has a story and each one has a theme. There are lady bug whimsies and bumblebee whimsies; leprechauns and a flowers. The amount of work and dedication shows on each designed face. Martin, a fan of Jim Henson states "they are all my design I create each and every one by hand."

Next to these whimsical whimsies is the amazing succulent designs by Maryjane Eckhardt from Rutland. "If it feels right then I know I am done, if not, then I move the plants and little creatures around some more," says Eckhardt. Potted Pleasures has some of the most pretty and petite succulent gardens available. Each planted piece tells a journey of owls, fairies, adventures and color. These small creations let you bring a small world of nature and wonder into your home.

Inside the center more vendors were keeping cool and showing off their many talents. The Witch's Kitchen Soapery was set up with various bumblebee soaps and Harry Potter bath bombs. Each bath bomb, when dissolved, would tell you what house you belonged in, how magical.

Apple Cellar Original Toys was one of the most interesting booths in the fair. Handmade pigs and lambs were beyond intricate and unique. Made from Merino sheepskin imported from Australia, these plush toys are soft, durable, easy to clean and all handmade. Among the toys were leather aprons, bags, lanyards, and key chains. Beverly Haskell has quite the talent.

"The pigs are the hardest and most time consuming to create," says Haskell.

Another different and new kind of art is displayed in the back of the center, pour art by Pour Girl, Kristen Petrik. This art is done by pouring the paint to make different designs. The tick tock of the poured paint clocks bring the patrons closer to this amazing booth. Petrik is on the board for the Charlton Arts and Activities Center and the Charlton activities council. "I'm having an amazing time, we are all looking forward to the Blueberry Festival in July," says Petrik.

The Blueberry Festival, Sunday July 29 from 10-4 is one of the main events in Charlton. Residents from all around visit the festival. Most of the crafters at this fair will be present at the Blueberry Festival as well. Each booth had something new and wondrous to offer. Everything is handmade with love and talent. With a little bit of yarn and a little bit of love, a little bit of paint and a little bit of skill, a little bit of soap and a little bit of wonder, these crafts will enrich any heart and home.

GUIDANCE NEWS

On Thursday, April 26th, the Holy Name Guidance Department sponsored a College Application Reader Review presentation for our Sophomore class. Kate Diamond from the University of Le Moyne and Tyler Tucky from University of Dayton were our presenters. The purpose of this event was to demonstrate to the students the process colleges use to determine an applicant's eligibility for admission to a college or university. The Admission Representatives discussed the importance of a solid academic transcript; preferably one that shows steady or upward progress in grades throughout high school, and shared with the students the importance of participation in extracurricular activities such as sports and clubs, employment and or volunteer experiences on the application. The Reps stressed the significance of writing a College Application Essay that truly reflects the student, as opposed to an event or another individual, and highlighted to our students that they should take their time completing the application, making it as thorough as possible. Lastly, the students were given the chance to review 5 mock applications with direction to "accept" 2 of the 5 students to a fictional university. Ms. Diamond and Mr. Tucky each shared which of the 2 students they would have accepted to either Le Moyne or University of Dayton and how they made that decision.

Fun at Five Visits Altruist Brewing Company!

Have you experienced Altruist Brewing? Altruist was founded as a result of the Bixby family sharing their passion for beer with a group of neighbors, all strangers who had just moved to a new town. Friendships were made, bonds were built...over a passion for beer. Before long, Bob and Nancy teamed up with life-long friend, Chris Mancini. As demand for their beer grew, the team at Altruist realized that they wanted to make this into something bigger... something they could share with more people. Altruist Brewing was born. Altruist brews small hand-crafted batches, adjusting each recipe in an endless pursuit of perfection, and including a big dose of love into each batch.

June's Fun at Five networking event takes place on Tuesday, June 12 from 5:00 to 7:00pm at Altruist which is located at 559 Main Street in Sturbridge Marketplace. Visit online at www.altruistbrewing.com

Moore champions public safety priorities in Senate budget

BOSTON – As Senate chair of the Joint Committee on Public Safety and Homeland Security, and as a former law enforcement officer, Senator Michael O. Moore (D-Millbury) took the lead to advance several budget amendments during the Fiscal Year 2019 budget debate in the Senate.

Senator Moore advanced an amendment that would ensure the confidentiality of peer support services for first responders. In particular, the amendment seeks to protect the confidentiality of personnel seeking help with managing stress caused by situations that arise in the workplace. Securing confidentiality will ensure first responders feel comfortable coming forward and do not feel stigmatized for receiving help.

In light of recent issues involving the Department of State Police, Senator Moore also led an amendment to require the Department to participate in an accreditation program at either the state or national level. The accreditation process will help to ensure that the Department institutes best practice regarding training, discipline, use of force standards, and emergency response planning, communication, and traffic operations. Another Moore-sponsored amendment requires the Executive Office of Public Safety and Security to report on a course of action for updating the State Police radio communication system which remains outdated.

A further $60K was also secured by a Moore-sponsored amendment to support a joint proposal for UMass Memorial Emergency Medical Services (EMS) to provide tactical EMS support to the Massachusetts State Police STOP Team. The State Police STOP Team is tasked with responding to any crisis across the state, including hostage situations, barricaded subjects, high risk warrant service and riot control.

In response to a recent report issued by State Auditor Suzanne Bump, Senator Moore offered an amendment to reform certain policies and procedures utilized by the Sex Offender Registry Board (SORB).

Among its findings, the Auditor's report highlighted SORB's inability to adequately maintain the addresses of hundreds of convicted sex offenders, and its failure to classify over 900 sex offenders in the Commonwealth. Senator Moore serves as the chair of the Joint Committee on Public Safety and Homeland Security which possesses oversight authority over the SORB.

"The Auditor's findings detail troubling deficiencies with current practices employed by the SORB that merit a legislative solution," said Senator Moore. "The SORB is a critical piece of our public safety infrastructure, and there must be strict adherence to established policies to effectively protect residents of our Commonwealth."

The Moore-sponsored amendment would broaden the reporting requirements when an offender is released from custody. Currently, the Board notifies the police department in the municipality where the offender is scheduled to live, which drastically limits how far this information is shared. Under the amendment, the Board would also notify the State Police.

Secondly, the amendment would also require the State Police to seek an arrest warrant for any offender who fails to complete their registration. While some municipalities do file arrest warrants when a local offender fails to register, there is currently no statewide mandate.

Finally, the amendment requires the Board to establish a Memorandum of Understanding with the State Police to locate offenders who have either failed to complete registration requirements or avoided classification due to a lack of notification. Incorporating a designated law enforcement partner will allow the Board to more proactively pursue their mission of monitoring offenders, with a necessary focus on those who fail to comply with the reporting and notification system.

Differences between the Senate version of the State Budget, S.4, will now be resolved with a version of the budget passed by the House of Representatives last month. To continue tracking the state budget, visit the Legislature's website, www.malegislature.gov.

BOYS STATE

The three young men will join with other rising high school juniors from across the state for a week-long camp from June 16-22 at Stonehill College at Easton, where they will study the workings of the government and the legal system as part of an American Legion tradition that dates back to 1935. Boy's State is considered one of the most respected and selective educational programs of government instruction for high school students.

The main goal of the Boy's State program is to increase awareness among young leaders about their responsibility to their peers and themselves to participate in the democratic process. A large part of the program is devoted to the organization and operation of mock municipal and state government. During the week, all students are required to attend classes in government, law, and economics.

Montville, son of Richard and Patricia Montville, Winalski, son of Thomas and Nancy Winalski and Sampson, son of Craig and Rosanna Sampson all of Charlton were recommended by their teachers as well as their guidance departments, along with other potential delegates who would move on to meet with Legion members.

It is fitting that the three will have attended Boy's State just before their senior year because the experience should give them their first glimpse of the issues they will face on a larger scale as they grow into adults and voting citizens. Friday's Child

Hi! My name is Ezra and I'm a good writer!

Ezra is a twelve -year-old girl of Cape Verdean heritage. Ezra is usually laid back and quiet until you get her talking about her favorite topics: Monster High and the robotics club she belongs to at her Boys and Girls Club! Ezra enjoys reading, writing and drawing. She has a great imagination for writing her own stories and is an excellent writer. Those who know Ezra would say she loves to please others. She does well in school and has recently been on the honor roll.

Ezra is ready for adoption and will need to maintain monthly visits with her siblings whom she is unable to be placed with. Ezra expresses wanting a family with a mom therefore her social worker is honoring this wish and seeking any type of family with at least one female parent.

Who Can Adopt?

Can you provide the guidance, love and stability that a child needs? If you're at least 18 years old, have a stable source of income, and room in your heart, you may be a perfect match to adopt a waiting child. Adoptive parents can be single, married, or partnered; experienced or not; renters or homeowners; LGBTQ singles and couples.

The process to adopt a child from foster care requires training, interviews, and home visits to determine if adoption is right for you, and if so, to help connect you with a child or sibling group that your family will be a good match for.

To learn more about adoption from foster care, call the Massachusetts Adoption Resource Exchange (MARE) at 617-964-6273 or visit www.mareinc.org. The sooner you call, the sooner a waiting child will have "a permanent place to call HOME."

Tips to pick, preserve & prepare garden herbs

What could be more delightful than the pleasure of plucking fresh herbs from an outdoor garden? Herbs not only bring essence and beauty to the landscape, they also provide an element of enchantment to a garden. Whether you grow herbs for their unique flavors, medicinal value, or just for the pure pleasure of it - the humble herb adds spice to any garden plot! Read on for some harvesting and preserving tips, plus few recipes to spotlight your fresh snipped herbs.

TAKE THE HINT
KAREN TRAINOR

Harvesting Herbs
 While snipping herbs daily for kitchen use is a common practice, the act of fully harvesting herbs regularly is also important to ensure new growth. For best flavor, cut or snip herbs in the morning, after the dew has evaporated from the leaves but before the midday sun heats the plant.

 Most annual plants can be harvested twice during the planting season. Cut plants back to about five inches above the ground and feed after cutting. Annual herbs can be harvested until frost.

 Perennial herbs may be harvested once during the first year and up to three times each season after the initial growth year. Harvest up to 75 percent of the top growth in late spring and another quarter in late summer. Stop harvesting about one month before the frost date. Late pruning could encourage tender growth that cannot harden-off before winter.

 Flowering herbs should be harvested when the buds are apparent or when flowers are just opening. This is when their oil concentration is at its peak.

Preserving Herbs
 While herbs for cooking should be used fresh for optimal quality and flavor, a zealous growing season can necessitate preserving the herbal plants. There are several methods to "keep" herbs for later use.

Freezing: This is the easiest method to preserve herbs that are to be used in cooking. Herbs should be cut fresh and rinsed briefly in cold water. Chop herbs and spread out on a cookie sheet to freeze. Once frozen, transfer to a zip lock freezer bag. Another popular way to freeze herbs for uses in soups and other dishes that require liquid is to place pinches of herbs in water filled ice cube trays. Freeze and pack them into a zip lock freezer bag. Don't refreeze herbs after thawing.

Drying: Drying is the traditional method of herb preservation. There are also several methods to dry herbs for later use.

Air Drying: If the herbs are clean, do not wet them. Otherwise, rinse, shake off the excess water, and spread the herbs out to dry on paper towels or dishcloths until all surface moisture has evaporated. Remove any dead or damaged foliage. Then, tie the stems into small bundles with twine or string and hang them upside down in a warm, dry, airy place out of the sun. Be sure to make small, loose bundles and allow for good air circulation around each bunch. Dry indoors as sun and dew moisture can discolor and ruin the quality of many herbs. Hang and dry in the kitchen or even a garage or shed. Note: Some herbs, such as basil and mints may mold if not dried quickly. An alternative to hanging herbs to dry in bunches is to spread the herbs out on window screens. Suspend the screens over sawhorses or the backs of chairs. Turn the leaves often to ensure even drying. To air dry herbs with seeds, tie the herbs in small bundles and suspend inside a paper bag with holes punched in the sides. Suspend the bag in a dark area with good air circulation. Collect the seeds when they are dry, and store in rigid light-proof containers.

Oven Drying: Traditional kitchen stoves can also be used to dry herbs. Spread the herbs on cookie sheets and dry at the lowest temperature. Home food dehydrators also do an excellent job of drying herbs. Follow the directions provided with the dehydrator.

Herbs are sufficiently dry when they are brittle and crumble easily. When the leaves are dry, separate them from their stems and package the leaves in rigid containers with tight fitting lids. Glass or hard plastic are best, although zip-lock plastic freezer bags can be used. To preserve full flavor, avoid crushing the leaves until you are ready to use them. Store dried herbs in a cool, dry place away from sunlight, moisture, and heat. Many herbs can keep for a year if stored properly.

Herbal Recipes
 Below are some simple, yet delicious recipes that showcase the flavor of freshly picked garden herbs.

Melted Cheese Spread with Yarrow
 This is a great salsa alternative when served with tortillas or corn chips)

Ingredients: one pound soft cheese; one tablespoon minced yarrow leaves; one half cup tomato soup two tablespoons whole yarrow flowers; black pepper, onion powder and garlic powder to taste.

Directions: Melt the cheese and add the tomato soup, stirring until well mixed. Add yarrow leaves and spices to taste. Blend in one tablespoon of the yarrow flowers. Use remaining flowers as a bowl garnish.

Quick Chive Biscuits
 Bisquick makes it quick and easy to bake up a batch of biscuits laced with fresh chives.

Ingredients: two cups Bisquick; 2/3 cup sour cream; 1/3 cup water; one tablespoon chopped chives.

Directions: Stir together all ingredients to a soft dough. Beat 30 strokes until stiff but still sticky. Knead dough ten times. Roll out one half inch thick and cut with a floured glass or biscuit cutter. ***

Cilantro Salsa
 This spicy salsa is a tasty accompaniment to seafood.

Ingredients: one half cup minced onion; one half cup tomato (chopped small); one teaspoon minced Jalapeno chili; one teaspoon salt.

Directions: Soak onion in cold water for a half hour, rinse and drain. Mix together all other ingredients and chill covered until serving time.

Saying "I Do" might mean "I Can't" for Roth IRA

FINANCIAL FOCUS
JEFF BURDICK

June is a popular month for weddings. If you are planning on tying the knot this month, it's an exciting time, but be aware that being married might affect you in unexpected ways - including the way you invest. If you and your new spouse both earn fairly high incomes, you may find that you are not eligible to contribute to a Roth IRA.

A Roth IRA can be a great way to save for retirement. You can fund your IRA with virtually any type of investment, and, although your contributions are not deductible, any earnings growth is distributed tax-free, provided you don't start withdrawals until you are 59-1/2 and you've had your account at least five years. In 2018, you can contribute up to $5,500 to your Roth IRA, or $6,500 if you're 50 or older.

But here's where your "just married" status can affect your ability to invest in a Roth IRA. When you were single, you could put in the full amount to your Roth IRA if your modified adjusted gross income (MAGI) was less than $120,000; past that point, your allowable contributions were reduced until your MAGI reached $135,000, after which you could no longer contribute to a Roth IRA at all. But once you got married, these limits did not double. Instead, if you're married and filing jointly, your maximum contribution amount will be gradually reduced once your MAGI reaches $189,000, and your ability to contribute disappears entirely when your MAGI is $199,000 or more.

Furthermore, if you are married and filing separately, you are ineligible to contribute to a Roth IRA if your MAGI is just $10,000 or more.

So, as a married couple, how can you maximize your contributions? The answer may be that, similar to many endeavors in life, if one door is closed to you, you have to find another - in this case, a "backdoor" Roth IRA.

Essentially, a backdoor Roth IRA is a conversion of traditional IRA assets to a Roth. A traditional IRA does not offer tax-free earnings distributions, though your contributions can be fully or partially deductible, depending on your income level. But no matter how much you earn, you can roll as much money as you want from a traditional IRA to a Roth, even if that amount exceeds the yearly contribution limits. And once the money is in the Roth, the rules for tax-free withdrawals will apply.

Still, getting into this back door is not necessarily without cost. You must pay taxes on any money in your traditional IRA that hasn't already been taxed, and the funds going into your Roth IRA will likely count as income, which could push you into a higher tax bracket in the year you make the conversion.

Will incurring these potential tax consequences be worth it to you? It might be, as the value of tax-free withdrawals can be considerable. However, you should certainly analyze the pros and cons of this conversion with your tax advisor before making any decisions.

In any case, if you've owned a Roth IRA, or if you were even considering one, be aware of the new parameters you face when you get married. And take the opportunity to explore all the ways you and your new spouse can create a positive investment strategy for your future.

EDITORIAL

Civility in our age

Call us old fashioned, or just old. But we have to ask anyway.

Whatever happened to manners? What happened to Thumper's father and his good, very good advice? (If you can't say something nice, don't say anything at all.)

What happened to caring about other people and their feelings?

About whether something said or done just might impact someone other than yourself?

The definition of narcissism and even of sociopathic behavior is not caring how what you do impacts someone else as long as you are satisfied and gratified.

Wow.
 Now, we could drag up several examples, but most glaring is the recent star studded quality of Roseanne Barr.

First of all, being able to play a part doesn't make you any more knowledgeable about politics, economics, world affairs or education than anyone else. Not that you might not be intelligent, but using your position as an entertainer does not give you carte blanche to share your insight on any of those other topics.

And why should we give weight then to the opinions of actors? Yet many do.

So when those with stars in their eyes have their idols opine on a topic, it could be either a really good thing or horribly bad.

In this case, beyond bad.
 Barr has always made her views known.

She has never pulled her punches about her own racism, feminism, or worldviews. Her early comedy was based on her hard life as an abused single mom who got herself out of a bad situation, then turned it into fodder for rather rude comedy.

Her first try at the TV was innovative, and refreshing. It did indeed portray a slice of American life not often shown; and in an era when it was needed. There are many more families in the throes of the life of the Connors than in the towers of Trump.

She had some bumps, some strange sideways trips, but she managed to keep it even enough to keep the show on for eight seasons.

Not so much now. Either her ego is bigger or less in control. She couldn't help herself.

What hurts other than the nastiness of her behavior with the people she maligned, and they were many, only the last one was the one that broke the dam and ended her reign; but she has now cost her co-workers their jobs too.

She has done deep damage to people she supposedly cared about.

All for the sake of a few words of vitriol on social media. Because she could.

It is very easy to hide behind a screen and a keyboard. Because we don't have to face people to share these words, these opinions. We don't have to see the shock and hurt on anyone's face. See the results of the words that bite.

The corrosive acid of them.

And there is never taking them back. They are there, hanging in the atmosphere, part of the world. Part of a person's background, their history whether they said them or they were said about them.

So we ask again, who must teach this to the generation coming up? The generation that no longer talks face to face but only in abbreviations on screens?

Where do they learn that words hurt?

Weather finally cooperating for anglers

RALPH TRUE

This past Sunday's weather sure changed dramatically, causing rough seas and cool temperatures. It did not stop many anglers from fishing some of their favorite hot spots for stripers. Cape fishing for stripers was fantastic all of last week with numerous 30 and 40 pound stripers being caught daily.

Large schools of stripers inundated many areas of the Cape giving fly fishing anglers some great fishing. This week's weather prediction for heavy rain and wind most of the week will hopefully be gone before the weekend.

This week's two pictures are courtesy of Red Top Bait & Tackle Shop. The young lady holding a large fluke, and an elated angler with his huge striper are enough to get the average angler packing his fishing equipment and heading to the Canal.

This week's Snug Harbor report has anglers catching a lot of fluke at Block Island, but closer to shore fishing is spotty. Fish that are being caught have a lot of sea lice on them, which is a good sign that the fluke are moving in. Legal size stripers are also spotty, with schools of undersize stripers invading the shoreline.

A report from Archie's Bait & Tackle at Riverside Rhode Island was not too exciting, although there are some large stripers being caught in the Providence River. There are still not many porgies around, and bait shops are running out of the popular bait weekly. Some areas of the Providence River have up to 30 boats chasing stripers, but the success rate is slow. It sure is a crazy year.

Lackey Pond Dam is having some construction work done at the dam this year. The boat ramp is receiving a face lift, as well as the huge stone granite that holds the area around the dam together. The initial construction of the dam 20 years ago was the work of local citizens and Ducks Unlimited. It sure has paid off for anglers and waterfowl sportsmen. The wetlands habitat provides wood duck populations to thrive in the area and with the construction of numerous wood duck boxes by Mass Fish & Game they should continue to have successful nesting in the area.

One local angler was trout fishing at the Uxbridge Rod & Gun Club last week and suc-

It seemed as though a couple of large water snakes decided to make a meal out of his trout. After recording the event he reached down and removed the trout from his stringer, and the snakes swam off with his trout. The snakes were in excess of four feet. Yikes!!!!

Deer are now having their young! If you come across a young deer that seems to be abandoned, it is best to leave it there. Every year someone picks up a new born deer thinking it is lost. People need to leave wildlife alone. It is their best chance for survival.

Hill Dam will be Saturday June 16, this year. Everyone is invited to attend. No fishing licenses are needed and fishing equipment will be available for all of the anglers young and old. The event is from 9:00 a.m. till 1:00 p.m.

windows or lack thereof, the parking, and the way it would be set up on the inside with several security doors," Noble said.

In early 2017 the Health Wise Foundation, a nonprofit wellness collective headquartered within the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, began the process of setting up shop in Charlton for a medical marijuana dispensary with the possibility of distributing recreational marijuana when permitted to do so. It's one of several marijuana-based businesses associated with Charlton and is not to be confused with the controversial $100 million project set for the Charlton Orchards property that was also approved by selectmen earlier this year. In 2017 Health Wise became the first organization to choose Charlton as the home of a dispensary in the wake of the successful statewide vote to legalize recreational marijuana in 2016.

The Health Wise Foundation's facility will be housed in a preexisting building at 46 Worcester Road which is being renovated to suit the company's needs. Health Wise also began setting up a much larger facility for packaging and cultivation in North Brookfield last year. A public hearing to discuss the plans for the facility was also held in April, a full year after selectmen first began discussing the project. Officials from Health Wise confirmed at that hearing they have received permitting to convert to recreational sales without the need for additional town approval. According to Selectman Noble is appears the organization is taking security and public safety to heart with every improvement to the building.

"I think at last count there were approximately 40 surveillance cameras set up just inside the facility. We were shown where the vault would be that would hold the product and the money and where the countertops would be, how many staff would be there, their office space, their lunch room, two unisex bathrooms at this point and also a private conference room in case an individual comes in and would prefer to speak with someone who works at the establishment in private," Noble told selectmen. "It was quite in depth and it was really good to go in and see how much work they've done and what the layout will be and how much security will be in place."

The Health Wise Foundations facility is expected to open as early as this summer.

Pietz, Bonaventura power Rams past Notre Dame, into district tournament

BY KEN POWERS
SPORTS CORRESPONDENT

DUDLEY — As far as goal-scoring duos go, Shepherd Hill Regional's Skylar Pietz and Claudia Bonaventura are simply dynamic.

Against Notre Dame Academy of Worcester on Tuesday, May 29, Pietz scored seven goals and Bonaventura six to lead the Rams' varsity girls' lacrosse team to a playoff-clinching 13-8 victory over the Rebels at Richard Carnignani Memorial Field.

Shepherd Hill improved to 10-9 with the win and, as a result — in just its second season as a varsity program — qualified for the Central/West Division 2 district tournament. Notre Dame Academy, which defeated the Rams 12-11 earlier in the season, slipped to 11-6 with the loss.

"It's incredible, being only a second-year team and making districts. It's crazy," said Pietz, a sophomore and co-captain of the team. "Seeing how hard these girls work every game, it's awesome. Their hard work really paid off this year. I'm really proud of them."

With one regular season game remaining Pietz, who scored her seven goals on just eight shots, has scored 71 goals this season. Bonaventura, a freshman, scored her six goals on 13 shots, raising her season-long goal total to 75.

"Qualifying for districts is so exciting," Bonaventura said. "We knew we needed to win today and everyone worked really hard to get that win."

Rams' head coach Sarah Morin said that she — and the team — believed a spot in the Central/West tournament was a realistic preseason goal, which is exactly what it was for the 2018 squad.

"We knew that we were going to be a whole different team this year," Morin said. "The girls proved that. It took us to the second-to-last game to get there, but we're excited to be going to districts. I am just so proud of the girls and how far they've come. They play as a team; it's obvious when they're out there. They really love the game and they're just happy to be here. I think that shows when they play and that's why we're going to districts."

After falling behind early, 1-0 and 2-1, Shepherd Hill scored eight of the final nine goals of the first half to lead, 9-3, at halftime. Pietz scored the Rams' first two goals of the game, Bonaventura then scored three straight for Shepherd Hill. Pietz then scored two in a row and Bonaventura then scored two in a row herself.

The Rams picked up in the second half where they left off in the first, scoring four of the first five goals to push their lead to 13-4 with 10:57 remaining. Pietz scored Shepherd Hill's first three goals of the second half, and Bonaventura the Rams' final goal of the game.

"The first time we played Notre Dame we were missing four starters and we lost by just one goal, so we knew we had a real chance to win today and go to districts," Morin said. "The girls really wanted it and they showed up today and they did the job. We're excited to be moving on."

When the season began Morin said she knew she had two legitimate scorers in Pietz and Bonaventura, but what she has enjoyed most this season is watching how the duo has morphed into a single scoring threat.

"We've got a nice balance offensively, having both of them playing together. They're beautiful to watch and they're such leaders on the field," Morin said. "In the beginning their scoring was more individualized. As the season has gone on, anytime we score it's off of a play or because they've really used each other. They don't just depend upon each other however; they rely on the whole team. That shows me they're good teammates."

Pietz said the transition from two different scorers to one two-headed scoring machine occurred mid-season.

"At first it was hard adjusting to us both being out there at the same time. Early in the season it was definitely noticeable; we didn't really click. But, during the middle of the season, it finally clicked and we've been improving throughout the year," said Pietz, who believes the transition occurred as a result of the pair playing together. "The more we played together the more we learned how to play together."

Bonaventura agreed. "It took us a little while to figure out that we can use each other offensively," Bonaventura said. "At the beginning of the season we were just kind of scoring on our own; we weren't really looking for each other. But now we have plays we set up where we're able to see each other in the field and off the draw. I think it's going to be great playing with her for the rest of this year and the next two years."

Shepherd Hill goalie Carrienne Fortier holds her ground while Notre Dame Academy's Jill Lucier comes charging in with possession of the ball.

Shepherd Hill finds form in final game to beat Warriors, qualify for districts

Mathew S. Plamondon photos

Shepherd Hill's Ben Carpenter releases a pass as he tries to run out the clock during the Rams' district-clinching win over Tantasqua.

BY DEAN P. ST. LAURENT
SPORTS CORRESPONDENT

STURBRIDGE — Shepherd Hill Regional senior captain Tristan Pietz raced down the sideline as time ticked down to less than 40 seconds remaining versus Tantasqua Regional on Wednesday, May 30 in a boys' varsity lacrosse matchup. Pietz wound up and rifled a shot past Warriors' goalie Mike Lucas to secure the Rams a 9-7 win over Tantasqua. More importantly, it lifted The Hill's record to 9-9, earning them a spot in the upcoming Central/West Division 2 District Tournament in their final regular season game.

Pietz gave all credit to his teammates after the emotional win.

"It felt good," Pietz expressed excitedly. "It means a lot, my team showed a lot today. It was all on them. I had a guy locking me off, but my teammates were moving and I knew I could draw and dump to them. It was all them today."

Back and forth the game went for its entirety in a battle of two playoff teams, as the Warriors finished 11-7 and will

Hill amped up its desire to win.

Still down a goal nearing halftime, Detarando made a gutsy play deep in Tantasqua territory. He fought for possession of the ball with multiple defenders and won the battle, eventually popping a shot up over Lucas' shoulder and into the net to tie the game at 3-3.

Moments later the Rams took the lead on a jumping shot by sophomore Nolan Burke, assisted by Detarando. Shepherd Hill never surrendered the lead again.

"It is a character win," expressed Kelley. "They set their goal to make playoffs and they did it. I am proud of them. They showed a lot of character and hard work, just guts."

Shepherd Hill stuck to its game plan and never veered away from it.

"We always want to make them play our game," explained Kelley. "They play a very different style, very patient. It can be very frustrating, so one thing we have adopted this year is we try and force our opponent to play how we want to play. That is why we go as quickly as we do, a lot of off-ball stuff. We try not to be one-dimensional and try to be as productive as we possibly can."

Fighting the whole game, Tantasqua played hard and with great discipline. With Districts next up, Warriors' head coach Gregg Anderson explained that his team's offensive production needs to increase.

"We have to score more goals, our defense has been playing pretty well the last few games, but we have had some trouble putting the ball into the net," Anderson said. "That is what we will be focusing on in practice the next few days."

Muir led Tantasqua with three goals and an assist.

Both teams will play their playoff games on Tuesday, June 5, after press time. No. 9 Shepherd Hill will compete at No. 8 Nashoba Regional (11-7), while No. 11 Tantasqua will take on No. 7 Shrewsbury High (11-7) at Assumption College.

also partake in the Central/West Division 2 Tournament.

Tantasqua got on the board first when Tom Muir found Austin Varney with a perfect pass toward the middle of the field. Varney did the rest, avoiding a Shepherd Hill defender with a juke to the right, followed by a rocket of a shot that pierced the back of the net.

It didn't take long for the Rams to counter, as with aggressive offense Pietz penetrated the Warriors' defense and dumped a pass to a cutting Anthony Detarando, who finished the play with a finesse shot that crossed the goal line.

"We are an up-tempo team," explained Shepherd Hill head coach Mark Kelley. "We like to run and a lot of teams have taken the approach where they're going to keep the ball from us and we try and get after it as quick as we can and get the ball."

With their backs against the wall, the Rams' performance could be best described as "gritty." Down 3-2 at the 7:13 mark, Shepherd

Veterans Inc. raises $90,000 at annual Best Ball Charity Golf Classic

A couple of players at the Best Ball Charity Golf Classic that helped raise more than $90,000 for Veterans Inc.

Veterans Inc. hosted its 21st annual Best Ball Charity Golf Classic at the Heritage Country Club in Charlton on May 9. Over $90,000 was raised to support veterans in need and their families receiving support provided by Veterans Inc.

Tournament participants enjoyed playing 18 holes of golf that included giveaways, a continental breakfast and a steak dinner. Contests included a hole-in-one contest sponsored by Sheldon's Harley-Davidson of Auburn, and Patrick Volkswagen of Auburn, a men's and women's longest drive, a closest to the line contest and a closest to the pin contest.

Donors supported the event by purchasing raffle tickets for the chance to win over $11,000 worth of items, a silent auction online, and new to this year a golf ball drop contest.

Event highlights included the singing of the National Anthem by Country singer and songwriter Lyssa Coulter, special guest appearances by New England Patriots players Devin McCourty and Matthew Slater, and WBZ on-air news personalities Paul and Steve Burton.

"Today was truly a success, even the weather cooperated," said Veterans Inc. President Vincent Perrone. "We are very grateful to Matthew Slater and Devin McCourty of the New England Patriots, Paul and Steve Burton, all of our sponsors and to those who participated in this year's tournament, as well the staff and volunteers who worked behind the scenes to make this event the success that was. It ensures that we can continue our mission of being there for our veterans when they need us."

A huge thank you goes out to our major sponsor Home Depot and TJX Companies, Inc. who helped make the Charity Golf Classic an exciting and successful fundraising event.

Unique edibles to wow your guests

Make your next gathering one to remember by including a few unique vegetables on the relish tray, as a side dish or for dessert. Your guests will be "wowed" not only because you grew your own ingredients, but because of the unique shape, color or flavor of the vegetables you serve.

Create a memorable dining experience with attractive edible containers adorning the patio, balcony or deck. Include a few Candle Fire okra plants in large containers to create a tropical feel. The dark green leaves, hibiscus flowers and colorful red pods make a striking display in a container or the garden.

Surprise guests with roasted Candle Fire okra and Candyland red currant tomatoes. Roasting okra eliminates the slime that prevents many from eating this unique vegetable. And don't discard any overripe pods, use them in flower arrangements to dress up any event.

Allow your guests to harvest their own greens, herbs and cherry tomatoes to toss into their salads or season their meal. Use Prizm kale as a vertical dark green accent in your containers. Then add a contrasting ornamental leaf lettuce like Red Sails, long lasting vibrant Red Kingdom Mizuna (Japanese mustard) and edible flowers like calendulas, nasturtiums and pansies. The new Patio Choice tomatoes produce up to 100 yellow cherry tomatoes on an 18" plant. Plant it in a container for a splendid display then watch as guests harvest fresh tomatoes from your centerpiece.

Dress up the table, indoors or out, by using a few potted herbs as centerpieces. Include Dark Opal basil with dark purple leaves and compact Dolce Fresca in a simple container or more decorative pot to create a splendid display. Just place a pair of garden snips on the table and let your guests flavor their meals.

MELINDA
MYERS

Make any meal special with a bok choy frittata. Your guests will be impressed when you create this popular dish from your own homegrown ingredients. Asian Delight pak choy (or bok choy) is slow to flower so you will enjoy season-long harvests. The mild flavored tender white stems and textured dark green leaves look good in containers, the garden and when served fresh in a salad, frittata or stir fry.

Serve a colorful platter of sliced tomatoes with the Chef's Choice series of red, pink, orange, yellow and green fruit. The globe shaped beefsteak tomatoes have the perfect balance of acid to sugar. Their disease resistance, productivity, yield, flavor, color and performance made them winners in the non-profit All-America Selections national trials (all-americaselections.org).

Stuff a few of the uniquely shaped Mad Hatter sweet peppers with cheese. Your guests will enjoy the beauty and refreshing citrusy floral flavor of this three-sided red pepper. The vigorous plant produces an abundance of fruit, so you'll have plenty to use fresh in appetizers and salads throughout the growing season or pickled for future enjoyment.

End the evening with a surprise. Serve each guest their own watermelon for dessert. Mini Love watermelon packs lots of sweet flavor into individual size fruit. Or brighten their dessert plates with a slice or two of Gold in Gold. This eye-catching watermelon has a yellow rind with golden stripes. The orange-gold flesh is crisp and sugary.

With just a little planning, you can plant unique and beautiful edibles in your garden and containers this season. Then find fun ways to include these in dishes shared at potlucks, meals for family and friends, or as a snack to enjoy on a summer afternoon.

“Pied Potter” Rick Hamelin demonstrates how to make “pinch pottery,” one of the oldest forms of pottery on Earth.

Hamelin puts finishing touches on what’s called “agateware” or “twisted ware,” a pottery style made by mixing two different colors of clay.

POTTERY

The local industry “developed very early on,” and some of today’s famous places – such as Tufts University, Norton Co., and the Baker’s Chocolate Co. – were founded by families who got rich off it. Several areas are still known for that legacy, with at least three brickyards in Southbridge (Alpine Drive, run by the Dresser clan, Brown’s downtown, and one in Westville) and places in Sturbridge, Brimfield, Holland, the Brookfields and Warren, among others.

“Brookfield bricks were supposedly the best in the state,” he said. “Northampton bricks were the worst.”

The first Massachusetts pottery dates back to the 1630s in Salem, when a group of potters settled there from Devon, England, all of them Quakers.

Within that century, towns and the colony defined areas as “public clay lands” so people would have access to material to lay floors and build chimneys without taking it out of the roads (hence the term “pot-holes”), Hamelin said. Initially, chimneys were made of about five inches of clay laid over sticks, so when the clay flaked off, it often caught fire. The government started requiring houses above a certain size to be built of brick instead, giving a “big boost to the brickyards.”

The clay pits were at least as dangerous, He noted they were “notorious for killing people because people got stuck in them.” One of the more famous stories involving such a trapping was that of Paul Revere’s ride – he escaped two British soldiers by detouring near a clay pit in Medford that they got stuck in and thrown by their horses. Beyond that, Hamelin noted the pits also tended to become ponds, which were havens for mosquitoes. In the late 1800s, eastern Massachusetts faced rampant malaria, and the state ordered the big clay pits around Medford to be filled in, pushing the potters and brick-makers west.

Before glass became popular, pottery was used for almost everything – beer jugs and bottles, transport containers, sugar molds, hair curlers for wigs, canteens and plant pots, just to name a few. Several types developed and competed, with local red clay potters getting the colonial government to give them a monopoly in the early 18th century to stave off the production of stoneware then coming in from Philadelphia. It came anyway.

Hamelin noted the difference between stoneware and other forms of pottery is due to two things – chemistry and heating temperature. Clays with sodium, aluminum, sand and other minerals in it have different melting points. Pure red clay can’t take high heat (above 1600 degrees), while that temperature is ideal for stoneware creation. But the latter also releases chlorine, one of the reasons potters were dubbed “noxious or obnoxious,” since their vicinities stank and they were “a fire risk,” he said.

For many years, potters depended on training apprentices to keep their trade alive. Such apprentices were termed “chums” (which also meant the clump of clay they brought the potter), and Hamelin read from an apprentice’s indenture contract from the 1780s. In that era, some children became apprentices as early as age 6 or 7, usually around age 13, and graduated about age 21. The potter promised to provide food, shelter and clothing, education in math, reading and writing and his trade, and a new suit of clothes upon graduation; the kids pledged to learn that trade, keep his master’s secrets and avoid marrying gambling and other “adult” activities, among other things. They literally wrote those promises on the same piece of paper and tore it in half, each keeping the other’s pledge. In the event it went to court, the judge decided the case by comparing the halves to be sure they were actually written at the same time. (The term “indenture” comes from the tooth-like edges of that torn page, he noted.)

But tapping the clay goes back millennia before Europeans arrived, since Native Americans of our area were making pottery around 4,000 years ago, using what Hamelin termed “pinch pottery.” That’s exactly what it sounds like: take a chunk of flattened clay and pinch it between your fingers to create the shape you want while you turn it in your other hand. Such bowls tended to be small and were hardened by firing them in their cooking fires. They also made coiled pottery, where snake-like coils of clay are used to shape the pot. Hamelin noted coiling is a good way to test the clay’s quality for pottery: “If you can roll a coil and it stays together, great. If not, give it up. Too much grit,” he said.

The Natives also got red ochre from the clay deposits, which has long been sacred in burial and other ceremonies.

● = Our MA and Southern NH customers

Why have 27,972 MA and NH homeowners chosen us?

No pressure. During your Free Window and Patio Door Diagnosis, we'll give you an exact, down-to-the-penny price that we'll honor for an entire year.

115 years of window expertise. We're the full-service replacement window division of Andersen, the window and door company that your dad told you to trust.

No middleman to deal with. There's no runaround between the installer and the manufacturer because we handle it all, from custom-building to installing to warranting all our products.*

We won't sell you vinyl. We've replaced thousands of poor-quality vinyl windows and patio doors, so we made our windows with our Fibrex® composite material, which is two times stronger than vinyl.

Must call before June 17th!

Recognize and relieve sources of pets' stress

Stress can affect anyone, even household pets. Although life may seem foot-loose and fancy free for companion animals, they have their share of stressors as well.

It may be hard to believe that dogs, cats, birds, and other animals can suffer from stress. But certain situations or scenarios may trigger a stressful response in pets, and pet owners should learn to recognize such stressors and do what they can to help pets avoid them.

Research indicates that stress, especially constant sources of stress, can impact pet health and well-being. A 2011 study published in the Journal of Physiology and Pharmacology found that when dogs are under stress, their bodies release an excessive amount of the fight or flight hormone norepinephrine. This can alter gut bacteria and interfere with gastrointestinal tract motility. Resulting diarrhea can compound stressful situations and exacerbate the situation.

The pet advice site Pet-Happy says that, during stressful situations, pets' blood pressure may climb, breathing may become more rapid, heart rate may increase, and the immune system can become less effective — instances that would also occur in humans. Various studies show that stress can be a contributing factor to disease.

Animals experience stress for different reasons and exhibit stress in ways that set them apart from one another and their human companions. The following is a breakdown of what may contribute to stress in birds, cats and dogs.

BIRDS

According to James Morrisey, a veterinarian at the College of Veterinary Medicine at Cornell University, birds are very good at picking up stress in people, which may contribute to their own stress. It can be challenging to determine what is causing stress in birds. However, the appearance of stress bars on feathers, the sudden onset of aggression, fearful behavior, changes in appetite, and destructive behavior can indicate that stress is present.

CATS

Cats can become stressed over situations their owners may not consider major. Loud music and noises, changes in food or litter brands, having new carpet or furniture installed, or a number of visitors in the home may be stressors, says Pam Johnson-Bennet, author and cat behavior expert. Some of the easiest stress symptoms to spot include excessive self-grooming, urine spraying, aggression, extreme vocalization, and eliminating outside of the litter box.

DOGS

The British Small Animal Veterinary Association's "Manual of Canine and Feline Behavioural Medicine" says that some of the most common dog stress triggers are novelty, housing changes, loud noises, changes in household members, and changes in schedule. Dogs may exhibit stress through appetite changes, isolation, digestive issues, lethargy, and increased sleeping.

Once stress is identified apart from any other health issues, pet owners can take steps to reduce it. Providing a security spot to which the pet can retreat, regular exercise, mental stimulation, and gradual changes to routine, diet or other things a pet has relied on can help.

Great reasons to adopt your next pet

There is no end to the companionship, love and joy a pet can bring to one's life. That is perhaps one reason why the number of pets surrendered to shelters each year so greatly upsets animal lovers. But the same places that house animals that were lost or abandoned can be the very locations where families find new pets to love.

The ASPCA estimates that 6.5 million companion animals enter animal shelters in the United States each year. According to its most recent report, the Humane Federation of Canada says around 82,000 cats and 35,000 dogs were taken into Canadian shelters in 2015.

Animal shelters, rescue groups, pounds, and humane societies are great places to begin searching for new companion animals. The organization DoSomething.org states that, each year, approximately 2.7 million dogs and cats are euthanized because shelters are too full and there aren't enough adoptive homes. Homeless animals outnumber homeless people five to one. While private breeders and reputable pet stores may have purebred animals that make great pets, to relieve the problems of relinquished or homeless pets residing in crowded shelters, prospective pet parents are urged to first consider adopting shelter pets. The following are reasons why adopting shelter dogs or cats is such a great idea.

• Well-behaved animals: The Humane Society of America says most shelter pets end up in facilities not because of behavioral issues or something they did wrong, but due to circumstances affecting their owners, such as moving or divorce. That means there are thousands of housebroken, behavior-trained pets just waiting for a new family.

• Lower costs: When a person adopts a pet, microchipping, first immunization costs, neutering/spaying, and some vet costs may be covered by the adoption fee. Plus, that adoption fee can be hundreds of dollars less than purchasing a pet from elsewhere.

• Longer life expectancy: The Canine Journal says "mutts," or animals whose genetic makeup are a combination of at least two breeds, tend to have fewer health problems and live longer than their purebred counterparts. But shelters also house many purebreds for those who prefer to go that route.

• Room for others: For every adopted cat or dog, room is freed up to take in more pets that need assistance.

• Hurt puppy mills: Puppy mills produce pets in factory-style facilities that seldom take the welfare of animals into consideration. Adoption hurts puppy mills' bottom lines and helps fight against their inhumane breeding techniques.

Animal shelters can be the first and last stop for animal lovers looking to welcome companion animals into their lives.

SUMMER

Protect your belongings at the beach

Spending time at the beach is a popular form of recreation and keeping cool when temperatures soar. A day of swimming necessitates bringing along supplies, namely towels, sunscreen and maybe even a bestselling novel. Having a few dollars on hand also can be beneficial, especially for those who plan to visit shops or concession stands along the boardwalk. But keeping your belongings safe at the beach while you're playing in the water may require a little ingenuity.

Many beachgoers want to enjoy the sand and surf. However, a select number of people visit the beach hoping to take advantage of vulnerable people who leave their valuables unattended. When swimmers wade into the water, potential thieves may be canvassing the personal belongings swimmers leave behind, so it's best that swimmers take steps to protect their valuables.

* Do not bring valuable items. It is best to leave expensive tablets, smartphones and jewelry at home if at all possible. If you are a beach reader, invest in a paperback for summer reading and leave your e-reader safely at home. Remove jewelry before you leave for the shore. Rings, earrings and necklaces can come off in rough surf and be lost forever. Flaunting a lot of jewelry could make you a target for theft. Establish a beach wardrobe of inexpensive attire that won't be missed if they happen to be stolen.

* Don't advertise what you have. Avoid flashing cash or credit cards at the beach. Try not to showcase certain items, such as mp3 players or costly cameras, that you brought along to the beach.

* Camouflage money. Wallets left behind on the sand become easy targets. Find ways to keep money and other belongings out of sight. A good idea is to use an empty sunblock container as a money holder. Clean it thoroughly and allow to dry. Cut the container in half or cut the neck of the bottle enough so you can easily insert cash, phones and keys. Stashed with other beach supplies, sunscreen will not look out of place. Women can store money in a sanitary napkin wrapper as another option. Any container that would blend in with other beach supplies will suffice.

* Keep cash and cards to a minimum. The beach is not the place to bring all vital documents and large amounts of cash. Carry only what's needed, which may include only a few dollars and a driver's license. Should personal effects become stolen or get swept away by the waves, it is much easier to only replace a few items instead of the contents of an entire wallet.

* Set up camp far from the incoming tide. Sometimes the incoming surf is a greater danger than potential thieves patrolling the sand. If the tide is coming in or if the waves grow rough, clothing, shoes, towels, and other belongings can be quickly dragged out to sea. It may require a bit of a hike to the water, but placing blankets, tents and umbrellas far enough inland on the beach can save your belongings from being washed away.

Ensure a trip to the beach is a safe and enjoyable venture. Keep money, keys and other personal effects in mind when packing for your trip. TF146231

CAPTION: Keep items you bring to the beach to a minimum. Do not advertise how much money you're carrying, and hide the money you do bring in containers that look inconspicuous.

Guide to end-of-summer sales

End-of-summer sales include discounts on bathing suits and recreational items.

The end of summer is marked by mixed feelings. Come the end of summer, vacations may be coming to an end as children ready themselves for a new school year. But shoppers know the end of summer is an ideal time to find great deals on an array of items.

Although back-to-school sales flood the marketplace this time of year, plenty of other sales take place in the final weeks of summer — and consumers can save substantial amounts of money if they know where to look.

Outdoor furniture
As stores clear out their seasonal items, shoppers can score big deals on patio sets and other outdoor furniture. Retailers need to make room for snowblowers, rakes, shovels, and holiday merchandise, so shoppers are bound to find discounted tables, chairs, fire pits, umbrellas, and chaise lounges. Individuals can use this opportunity to update worn-out patio furniture and other seasonal items they can store over the winter.

Camping/hiking equipment

Only the most devoted campers camp out when the temperatures begin to dip, so consumers can use this opportunity to grab camping equipment before it's gone for another season. Tents, flashlights, cooking gear, backpacks, outdoor recreational items, such as kayaks or fishing tackle, water bladders, and heaters may be available at steep discounts.

Grills

Backyard barbecues are a staple of summer. If your barbecue or outdoor cooking equipment experienced heavy use throughout the summer, now is a great time to shop sales on grills and outdoor cooking gear.

Travel

Consumer Reports says that prices tend to drop on airfare, hotels and theme parks after Labor Day. Deals on luggage also can be had once summer travel season ends. Tuesdays are a great day to book airline tickets because they tend to be cheaper on Tuesday than other days of the week. Travelers can use this information to their advantage, booking trips to destinations that have super weather throughout the fall, such as Hawaii or the Mediterranean. Caribbean destinations also are good choices, though travelers should consider travel insurance to protect against hurricane-related cancellations.

Vehicles

Many dealerships tend to begin discounting cars when new models begin to debut in August and September. The longer a dealership holds on to a vehicle, the more money it tends to lose. Prospective car buyers may be able to negotiate a good deal this time of year, ultimately walking away with a brand new vehicle with a solid warranty. It's not unheard of to receive a discount of 15 percent or more on previous year models.

Spa treatments

Many spas have begun discounting massages and facials at the end of summer, according to the International Spa Association. Shoppers can use this opportunity to try out new spas and save some money in the process.

In addition to these discounts, bathing suits, summer clothing, lawn and garden equipment, and pool/spa items may be discounted come the fall. TF168327

Top tips for fun days at the beach

Millions of people visit the beach each summer. For some people, there is no better place than the beach, where they can listen to the waves crash on the shore and smell the briny air.

The United States Lifesaving Association routinely compiles statistics on beach attendance, watercraft use and other recreational information, estimating that 367,231,142 people took to beaches across the country in 2015, the most recent reporting year. Cool coastal temps and refreshing oceans and lakes make the beach an ideal place to survive the heat.

While a trip to the beach has the makings of a great day, a few tips can help make these sun- and sand-filled days even better.

Protect electronics

Sand and surf can be calming, but not if your newest mobile phone gets doused with the incoming tide. For those bringing their phones or tablets along, steps to protect the gadgets can make the day even more calming. A zip-seal plastic bag can do the trick, and you can still access the screen through the plastic. If you plan to spend time on a boat, you may want to invest in waterproof, floating pouches.

Keep clean

Sand gets everywhere at the beach, so it can be a challenge to remain clean. Invest in a beach blanket where the sand falls through like a sieve, such as the Quicksand Mat from CGear. Pack baby powder in your beach bag, which will help loosen sand from kids' bodies before they get back in the car. And while at the beach, use hand-decorated aluminum cans as drink cozies to keep condensing beverage bottles from becoming caked with sand.

Time beauty regimens right

Shaving legs or underarms right before heading to the beach can result in some painful irritation. It's best to shave the night before diving into saltwater or even pool water. If you need a last-minute touch-up, use mineral oil while shaving to help keep irritation to a minimum.

It's important to apply sunscreen to the skin approximately 15 minutes before heading outdoors so that it has time to absorb, advises the American Academy of Dermatology. If you wait until you get to the beach, you put your skin at risk. Use a self-tanner for bronze skin rather than soaking up the rays.

Hide your money

Leaving your money or belongings out in the open may entice thieves. Camouflage items of value by storing them in an empty sunscreen bottle nestled in a beach bag.

Stay cool

Purchase or make a vividly patterned tarp/tent to offer a shady respite. This will also help the family find their way back to your beach spot. Place sandals or flip-flops face-down in the sand or on a blanket to ensure they won't be scalding after a day at the beach.

Trips to the beach are a summertime tradition. With a few tips and tricks, the memories can be even better.

SUMMER

Simplify vacations and savor the fun

Vacations are a great opportunity for families or individuals to recharge. But especially active vacationers often return from their trips in need of rest, as planning may have taken its toll or schedules loaded with too many activities might have left little time for R&R. Those willing to simplify their vacations may find their excursions provide the rest they need and the energizing boost they can make use of upon returning from their destinations.

Leave work behind

The United States is one of the few countries that does not guarantee paid days off. The Center for Economic and Policy Research says one in four working Americans do not get paid time off. The employment site Glassdoor notes that among those who do get paid vacations, 75 percent of employees chose not to use all of their time in 2013. By comparison, Canadians get an average of 19 days of vacation time per year. Stress about making up work or falling behind makes some professionals worry about using their vacation time, and those who do travel may stay connected to the office in some shape or form. Splitting time between leisure and work responsibilities on a vacation can be taxing and take away from the time you need to relax and recharge. Cut work ties and immerse yourself in the vacation experience.

Use a travel agent

Using a travel agent to plan your vacation can remove any stress and anxiety you may feel when planning a trip and juggling the responsibilities of everyday life. Many people choose to book their own trips as a cost-cutting measure. What they don't realize is that travel agents may be privy to special deals and perks they can pass on to customers. These agents also know the ins and outs of certain resorts and locales. Leaving the legwork in their accomplished hands means all you have to do is show up with your reservations instead of pouring over the minutiae of planning.

Consider an all-inclusive trip. All-inclusive resorts and cruise lines take the work out of having a good time. These types of vacations remove a lot of the problems associated with personal travel. Meals are provided, activities are coordinated, and you don't have to carry extra cash, as most costs generally are covered.

Keep your itinerary flexible

Scheduling right down to the minute can remove the fun of the trip. Leave opportunities to just sit and enjoy your surroundings. Perhaps other members of the family or traveling party have their own ideas for entertainment. A rigid timeline can make the vacation seem more like a commitment rather than an opportunity to let loose and stop watching the clock.

Rent a car

Find out if a rental car can be included in the price of your vacation. Having a car at the ready means vacationers can come and go as they please without worrying about hailing taxis or waiting for public transportation. Rental cars also provide access to areas outside of resort confines. Research possible destinations in advance and map out where you want to go to remain safe and prepared.

Vacations don't have to be taxing. Cut down on some of the stressful aspects of traveling by simplifying and delegating tasks.

Plan ahead for a fun day at the water park

The search is on to find entertaining ways to fill the steamy dog days of summer. After days spent swimming in the pool or at the beach, adults and children alike may be looking for something new, and water parks are an ideal way to spend a summer afternoon. Such parks are not only adventurous, but they also make great ways to cool off when the mercury soars. As with any trip, preparation is necessary to make the most of your day at the water park.

* Study the weather report. Summer weather can change in an instant. One moment it may be hot and sunny, while the next moment ominous thunderstorm clouds may soak anyone still outdoors. Many water parks shut down rides when there is thunder and lightning, and the park may close early if the weather is particularly bad. Double-check the weather report before making the trip so that your time and money is well spent.

* Visit when the park is unlikely to be busy. Many parks are very busy during the summer, especially on the weekends when parents are not at work. So families who visit during the week might enjoy a less crowded park, which means shorter lines to get on the rides. Call ahead to inquire if any camps or large groups are scheduled to visit the park on a day you want to visit.

* Research coupons and discount codes. Search the Internet to find out if the water park is offering any discounted tickets. Admission for a family of four can be expensive, but coupons or other discounts can cut those costs considerably. Find out if the park sells season passes, which will end up saving you money if you plan to visit the park on a regular basis. Certain amusement parks pair up with retailers and sponsors to offer discounts, so you may be eligible for discount tickets by dining out at a particular restaurant or collecting a coupon code from the back of a cereal box.

* Measure the kids before you embark. Rides may have height restrictions. It is beneficial to understand these height limits so that you will know if your kids will be able to enjoy most of the attractions. In many parks, 42 to 48 inches is the magic number. Some parks may allow shorter, younger children to ride when accompanied by an adult. If your kids are too small, it may be better to wait until next season when they can enjoy more of the fun.

* Get there early or very late. The parking lot at the water park may be as large as the park itself. Get to the park early to avoid parking miles away from the entrance. Know when the water park opens and be the first one in line, which affords you the luxury of the best parking spot and first choice for rides. If you're not an early bird, visit the park just before closing. Crowds may have thinned out by then and the weather may be considerably cooler.

* Wear brightly colored bathing suits. Many water parks have strict guidelines as to which type of clothing can be worn. Bathing suits are usually a must, as they won't get caught or tangled like shirts and shorts might. Choose brightly colored or patterned swimsuits so kids will stand out in the crowds. This will make it easier to keep them in your sights. Similarly, wear something that makes it easy for your children to find you should they get lost.

* Invest in a waterproof money holder necklace. Chances are you will store many of your belongings in a locker so that you will not have to carry around too many items. But it is helpful to have a few dollars on hand for those times when lemonade or ice cream sundaes beckon, so purchase a waterproof necklace to secure and hold your money.

* Bring along a change of clothing. Sitting around in a damp bathing suit, especially on the long car ride home, can be uncomfortable. Pack a change of clothes and different shoes. This way everyone will be dry, warm and comfortable.

* Continue to apply waterproof sunscreen. Water reflects the sun's UV rays, making water park revelers highly prone to sunburn. Be sure to wear waterproof sunscreen and apply it continuously throughout the day to protect against painful skin damage.

* Study and explain the safety rules. Water parks are frequently crowded, and children who wander off can easily become lost. As a family, go over safety precautions, including what to do in the event someone gets lost. Children can go to a park employee or a security guard and ask for help. Or suggest to your children that they go into any of the shops and tell the counter staff that they're lost. Establish a meeting spot to enable everyone to gather together in the event of an emergency.

* Plan break times. The water park may be overwhelming, especially for tired, hungry children. So take breaks for snacks, lunch and even a few moments to just settle down and catch your breath.

Water parks are a summertime staple. With a few tips, visiting a water park with the family can be a safe and memorable outing.

WHAT OUR CUSTOMERS ARE SAYING:

"FANTASTIC EXPERIENCE"

We met with Paul Machi, he was fantastic! He listened to what we said we were looking for and helped us into a 2018 Chevrolet Cruze. Then he sent us in to meet with Ahmad for Financing, he was absolutely professional and got us the best deal! Thank you to both for a Fantastic Experience! Will definitely send my family and friends!
