A collection of refurbished antiques waiting to be auctioned off during the Sturbridge Federated Church annual auction.

STURBRIDGE — The Sturbridge Federated Church continued a longstanding tradition on Saturday, August 12 with the congregation’s annual antique auction.

Now in its 68th year, the auction is the oldest continuing church auction in the country and is steeped in tradition with over 70 volunteers helping make the event possible. The auction included numerous refurbished and refinished antique items all auctioned off to the highest bidder as well as hand made crafts, food, and a silent auction all handled by members and friends of the church.

"The people who started it, back then they just had yard sales, just let it lie and few rods and things, and it progressed into refinished items. Sturbridge as a town is a big antique and craft center," Bardsley said.

"The items come from donations from the church patrons and friends. We have people go to yard sales and flea markets to look for bargains and we seek out things in need of repair and refinishing."

For the past 40 years, the auction has employed the services of Robert H. Glass auctioneers from Sterling, CT and all the effort to find and refinish items for the event comes from around 25 volunteers from the church who understand and embrace the craft of refinishing antique items.

"Anything you see here you wouldn’t want to buy if you saw it before it was done. I do a bit of the refinishing."

Tam Barchiy, who has worked with the auction since 1977 and has been a leader of the event for around 30 years, said the event debuted in the 1970s and has become the biggest yearly fundraiser for the church bringing in between $7,500 and $8,000 most years and topping of at $23,000 during its 50 year anniversary.

August Real Estate Market Update

The Federal Reserve will likely need to raise interest rates again in the near future. We need to watch for signs of inflation and any jumps in interest rates as that could affect the housing market.

The average days on market for homes in Worcester County last year was 111 days. This year, it was 102 days. In Franklin County, the average was 113 days.

This year, 6% of all homes sold over the previous 12 months. This is down from 6.5% last year.

I wrote a column on autographs several years ago. When the column was first written, I wrote about the "Antiques Roadshow," and many people who attended wanted to have their autograph appraised. For a time, there was sufficient interest to get questions about autographs into print, but there was also a good time to respond upon going over the various forms of the subject. According to the Raish Collection, autograph collecting can be traced back to ancient Athens. The Athenians, she says, kept their important written works in their tombs. Aristotle's manuscript was preserved among the remains of the persecutions. Plutarch and Pliny kept many of Aristotle's autographs. No one was alive to save the life of his death. Plutarch began collecting stories by the greatest Greek scholars of the time in 30BC. During the Roman Empire, a third of knowledge was a search for documents from ancient times. Petarch, the 16th century Italian scholar, poet, and humanist, initiated the recovery and classification of knowledge from the writers of Rome and Greece. The first autograph album or "book of friends" was signed by friends and acquaintances of the album owner in 1863. During the 19th and 20th centuries, many wealthy people collected autographs of famous people. Autographs were sold privately, until around the 1870s, when collectors became more active. However, auctions began to hold sales for autographs in 1890. The major factor that helped bring about the first major collection of autographs was the development of the preservation system for public libraries. In the 1900s and 1910s, many autograph collectors began to sell their autographs of famous people. Great Success at Cohasse

The eighth Sturbridge Rotary Golf Classic, at Cohasse Country Club had its first rainout ever on May 21, 2017. John J. O’Connor, President of the Rohr’s Restaurant of Charlton, John Thiel, and Matt Wright, both of Southbridge, were some of the many golfers who participated in the make-up day on April 27, 2017. The round was won by a group from the early 80’s at the 79th hole. The day’s weather yielded a total of 49 golfers and is expected to continue this upcoming Cohasse course in its 40th year.

The big winner of the day was the local charities that this event will financially support in the coming year. In past years Sturbridge Rotary provided much-needed food at the JP II Food Pantry, sends two Tantasqua students to the Tufts University Leadership Training Program, presently funds each year to Tantasqua seniors, provides church attendance at two events, and currently is planning the creation of a Community Food Collaborative.

The amount of pins once added up, as a donation to the charities and valuable and already directed to the local and regional organizations. These major sponsors include the National Guard Association, Cornerstone Building, First Federal Bank, First Federal Safety Source-Northeast, Old Sturbridge Village, Cigar Bar of Worcester, Robbins of Southbridge, Boston Millworks of Southbridge, Charles Leung of Southbridge, Bella Blancalli CPA of Charlton, Local Control of Southbridge, REX-MA Professional Associates, Lorraine Robert, Caldwell Baker, Pinball Artists of Southbridge, Charlene Treaty of Southbridge, Danny Hayes of Southbridge, Charles Quintley of Southbridge, Bessie Blandelli CPA of Charlton, Local Control of Southbridge, Henke Basha of Brandon, Traveler’s Insurance of Southbridge, BYT North Club of Southbridge, John Webster of Southbridge, James Marcus Ross of Southbridge, and Ted Thackam of New Boston. Sutton tops Bartlett in successful Auburn Boys’ Basketball Summer League season

SPORTS

Sutton’s Tre Grenon drives past Bartlett’s Wilson Aybar as he heads to the hoop.

Auburn High basketball coach Andy Niedzwiecki, who served as commissioner of the league, said he was pleased with the success of the summer season.

“I thought it went great,” said Niedzwiecki, who served as a recommender of the league at the start of the school year.

“Last season, ‘Just getting kids to play and giving kids a place to play in Auburn’ talk to a couple of coaches — Tony Paranto of Bartlett and Jim Donnelly of Sutton — and we all feel the same way. We want basketball to be better in Central Mass. In general, I feel like this is my way to give that back and at the same time it’s an opportunity for our Auburn kids to play against competitive teams during the summer.”

Niedzwiecki credited the support of Dr. Maryellen Brunelle, the Auburn superintendent of schools, Casey Handfield, the principal at Auburn High, Joe Fahey, the school district’s director of facilities and maintenance, and Brian Davis, the AHS director of athletics, as a co-commissioner of the league, along with Bob Muir, the Auburn athletic director.

“Anybody else does,” he said, “because this is the most central location. If the league moved somewhere else I don’t know if there would be so many teams in the league.”

In addition to the finalists in Sutton and Bartlett, the other schools in the 14-team league included Tantasqua, Northbridge, Millbury, Uxbridge, Groton, Auburn, Leominster, Bancroft, Oxford, David Prouty, Quaboag and West Boylston.

“Defensively we really dug in, we held them to 21 points,” said Niedzwiecki. “That’s the third time we’ve held them to 20 or less. It was a good win for us and it felt good the same way. We want basketball to be better in Central Mass. In general, I feel like this is my way to give that back and at the same time it’s an opportunity for our Auburn kids to play against competitive teams during the summer.”

On Sunday, Aug. 6, the Cedar Lake Association hosted its annual Kayak for a Cause event at the Sturbridge Boat Street at the Orleans Restaurant’s beach. This year the Cedar Lake Association supported Team Hoyt New England. Dick Hoyt and other team members were on hand to demonstrate their adaptive rowing chairs, bikes and boats. All proceeds — which eclipsed $1,000 — went to Team Hoyt New England.

Bartlett, Sutton win in semifinals to advance to Auburn Summer League championship

AUBURNS — The finals of the Auburn Boys’ Basketball Summer League at Auburn High have been set after the two semifinal round contests were played on Tuesday, Aug. 8.

First up was a Southern Worcester County League showdown between Uxbridge High, seeded fifth, and No. 8 Bartlett High.

Uxbridge came out of the points fast and grabbed an 11-3 lead, thanks in part to a full-court press that flustered Bartlett. But the Indians battled back, and a 12-2 run gave them a 15-12 lead. When all was said and done in the first 20 minutes, the game was all square at 25-25.

Bartlett then scored eight of the first 11 points in the second half to go ahead, 33-28. The Spartans responded, though, with a pair of 3-pointers from Harrison Mansfield to cut the deficit down to 42-39.

As the game wound down to the final minutes, Uxbridge’s Tyler Tedford made a pair of baskets to tie the game again, this time at 52-52.

Bartlett’s Brandon Boucher followed with a layup to put his team up, 54-52, but the Spartans’ Scott Kaelder converted a traditional three-point play with less than 30 seconds to go.

Trailing, 55-54, the Indians’ Logan Paranto won the game with a pair of free throws with 15 seconds remaining — resulting in Bartlett’s 56-55 win.

Wilson Aybar scored a game-high 15 points for Bartlett, while Boucher chipped in 14 points and Paranto added another nine.

For Uxbridge, Tedford scored 14, points from Kaelder and Tom Sawyer added another nine.

The second semifinal saw No. 2 Sutton High take on Oxford High, seeded sixth. The Pirates grabbed early leads of 16 and 34, but the Sammies surged ahead and led by as many as 23 in the first half, 29-6.

Oxford, competing with just six players, saw its small lineup become even more reduced when Klaytin Silva picked up his fourth foul just one minute into the second half. The Pirates were tough, but Sutton eventually extended its lead to 20 points late in the second half. Silva came back in and scored six of his 11 points in the second half — teammate Eli Guivas poured in a team-high 15 points — but the Sammies prevailed, 64-46.

Sutton’s Jarod Buffone scored a game-high 17 points, while Ryerson Grenon added 11 points. That set up the Auburn Boys’ Basketball Summer League final to go between Bartlett and Sutton.
