School district hosts first STEAM-athon

BY KEVIN FLANDERS
STAFF WRITER

NORTH BROOKFIELD – It was full steam ahead last week for hands-on learning, as the school district held its first annual STEAM-athon.

The March 28 program at North Brookfield Elementary School drew an impressive crowd of students and their family members. With a theme of “Careers in STEAM,” the program showcased the many paths students can choose in science, technology, engineering, arts, and mathematics.

Organized by school curriculum director Jeanne Powers, the event included several workshops for students of all ages. Guests also learned about the major strides taken in recent years by the robotics team at the junior-senior high school.

“It’s so important for us to give our students these kinds of opportunities that prepare them for the future,” said North Brookfield Schools Superintendent Richard Lind. “Interactive learning is a major priority for us. We want students to be able to work together to come up with solutions to problems.”

With the majority of new jobs over the next decade expected to focus on STEAM-related subjects, it’s critical for district leaders to continue their momentum. In 2018-19, school officials implemented a STEAM program at the elementary school and enhanced the program at the high school by hiring a full-time teacher. Additionally, a MakerSpace unit was built at the elementary school to augment K-6 STEAM programming.

Judge rejects Holdcraft’s First Amendment argument

BY KEVIN FLANDERS
STAFF WRITER

BROOKFIELD – In the latest chapter of a bitter legal battle, a judge has dismissed a resident’s claim that the town violated his First Amendment rights.

John Holdcraft, the man behind the controversial yellow sign facing Route 9, has battled the town in court over several issues during the last three years. Most recently, District Court Judge Timothy Hillman dismissed Holdcraft’s lawsuit against the town and its Zoning Board of Appeals.

In September of 2017, Holdcraft filed a complaint in Worcester Superior Court against the ZBA, challenging its decision requiring him to remove a shed on his 6 South Maple St. property, where he operates a charitable business. The infamous two-sided yellow sign is located on the property – often displaying insults to town officials – and Holdcraft felt the ZBA decision was made in retribution.

Town officials also ruled that the sign is no longer in compliance with regulations due to an expired permit for the property as a charitable business venue. The ZBA voted 4-1 in 2017 that the sign must be taken down if it is not properly permitted.

posted messages on the sign insulting Selectman Clarence Snyder and other officials. In previous interviews with the New Leader, Holdcraft expressed his belief that Snyder and other officials were attempting to infringe on his First Amendment rights.

Judge Hillman disagreed, stating that Holdcraft could not prove his case against town officials.

“He has failed to assert any factual allegations that the defendants in this case, the town and the ZBA, were motivated by Holdcraft’s criticisms of Snyder,” Judge Hillman wrote in a summary of his decision.

Holdcraft could not be reached for comment by press time. He has until April 16 to file an appeal regarding his First Amendment violation claim. If he fails to file the amended complaint by that date, the entire case will be dismissed with prejudice, Judge Hillman said. Upon the timely filing of the complaint, the town would have 30 days to submit an answer or renew its motion to dismiss the suit.

This latest court battle came just three months after the state’s Land Court found Holdcraft to be in contempt of a previous order requiring him

Summer road projects planned

BY KEVIN FLANDERS
STAFF WRITER

SPENCER – Major road improvement projects will continue this spring and summer, as the town begins the second phase of a comprehensive initiative.

In 2016, residents authorized a $19 million debt exclusion for the improvement of several roads. After issuing $6 million last April for the first phase of the effort, officials are ready to allocate an additional $5.6 million in bonds to complete phase two.

For weary residents who have endured deficient roads for years, the continuation of the project is a welcome sign of smoother travel to come. The town has already made several improvements to Routes 9 and 31 in recent years, but significant work remains ahead in order to dent a hefty backlog.

“Improving our deteriorating roads is long overdue,” said Selectman Ralph Hicks. “Residents deserve to have smooth roads to drive on without fearing that their vehicles’ front ends and wheels are at risk.”

In a public survey taken in 2012, residents listed fixing roads as the number one priority in town. With insufficient Chapter 90 funds to address the problems, officials needed to request a debt exclusion. Selectmen were pleased by the results of the first phase of the project, and they are eagerly anticipating phase two.

“They’re doing a great job of not only improving the roads, but also taking care of drainage issues,” said Selectman Warren Monette. “Residents know this is a slow but thorough process. They want to see this done the right way from start to finish.”

Coupled with the recent downtown revitalization project and the Complete Streets efforts, town officials are hoping the upcoming projects will help bring new residents and businesses to Spencer. Improved roads, sidewalks, and intersections also make travel safer and more convenient for pedestrians and public transit users, officials said.

“This is a quality of life issue that makes Spencer a better place to live. I appreciate the voters’ support in funding this important project,” Hicks added.

The total backlog in road repair projects was once estimated at $34 million, and Chapter 90 disbursements typically remain flat from year to year. Five years ago, a team of inspectors and infrastructure specialists ranked Spencer’s road network as one of the worst in the state in terms of pavement management index.

But after the upcoming improvements are made,

WEST BROOKFIELD – Even though local residents have plenty of favorite breakfast venues, there are a few nooks yet to be discovered in the Route 9 corridor.

After opening this past September, Matt’s Breakfast Nook continues to build a loyal customer base at 8 East Main St. Owners Matt and Jamie DeCell have seen traffic start to pick up with the warmer weather, and they are looking forward to strong spring and summer seasons.

For Matt DeCell, who spent 21 years preparing meals in a local nursing home kitchen, it has been a thrill to open his own restaurant. Residents have been impressed with the eclectic menu, friendly service, and cozy atmosphere of the new business.

“I always thought about owning my own place, and this was a great opportunity,” said DeCell, a lifelong Brookfield resident. “Business has been pretty good for us so far.”

Offering breakfast and lunch at his restaurant, DeCell has utilized the many culinary skills he learned while working in the nursing home. He has enjoyed the increased flexibility afforded by business ownership, and he gets plenty of help from family in running the restaurant. His sisters and niece work there as well, helping greatly during the busy weekend rushes.

“I like the ability to make your own menu and change it up, rather than have a fixed menu,” DeCell said. “I have always loved cooking, and it’s great to have help from family. It has made the transition much easier.”

Explore the hidden history at Pine Grove Cemetery

BY KEVIN FLANDERS
STAFF WRITER

SPENCER – We drive by cemeteries every day on our way to work and school, but few residents take the time to examine their rich histories. At Pine Grove Cemetery, a glimpse into the past can provide a trove of information on those who helped shape Spencer.

Located on Route 31, Pine Grove Cemetery was incorporated in 1846, with its earliest burial believed to have taken place in 1793. Since then, multiple influential residents, notable community leaders, and generations of families have been buried there.

For cemetery president Dean Stevens and his wife, Lyn Stevens, the cemetery’s secretary/treasurer, it’s important to remind residents of the fascinating history of the cemetery and those buried there. The Pine Grove Corporation has seven volunteer members on the board of directors who also work hard to spread awareness.

“Many generations of several families are buried in Pine Grove,” Lyn Stevens said. “My husband’s parents, one set of grandparents, several aunts, uncles, cousins, grand aunts, as well as one of his great grandmothers is buried there. My husband and I own plots and will be buried in Pine Grove.”

Over the years and decades, the cemetery has been meticulously maintained by members of the board of directors. In a fast-paced society where people are always on the go, cemetery leaders hope residents will take a moment to stop and appreciate the history buried in our back yard.

“The superintendents who cared for it day to day have worked hard to make it a beautiful and comforting place to visit and leave your departed loved one,” Lyn Stevens added.

Residents also enjoy the pastoral location of the cemetery as Route 31 heads north toward Paxton. A tour of the cemetery will reveal many well-known names and families, some of them recognizable from street names, buildings, and other locations in town.

“Pine Grove Cemetery is a restful place away from major traffic where the first burial was placed in 1793,” Dean Stevens said.

The following individuals are some of the earliest to be buried at Pine Grove Cemetery. To learn more about the cemetery and its rich history, stay tuned to the New Leader for future articles.

Quaboag Historical Society hosting annual luncheon

BY KEVIN FLANDERS
STAFF WRITER

WEST BROOKFIELD – A pair of distinguished community volunteers will be honored later this month at the Quaboag Historical Society’s annual luncheon.

The event will take place on Sunday, April 28, beginning at noon at Salem Cross Inn. Operating for 124 years, the QHS continues to connect the past and present with unique events throughout the year. One of the highlights of the QHS annual luncheon is the presentation of two community service awards to local recipients.

This year’s J. Irving and Jane L. England Award will be given to Kermit Eaton, a longtime volunteer in the town of Brookfield. The Lucy Stone Award, meanwhile, will be presented to West Brookfield’s Ruth Lyon for her commitment to giving back to the community.

“We present our awards to acknowledge the commitment people make to their communities,” said QHS co-president Amy Dugas.

QHS members remind residents that the luncheon is open to the public. The cost is $25 per person, and the meal selection is roast prime rib of beef or rustic chicken. Residents are invited to attend and congratulate the two award recipients for their efforts. At a time when community service is often overlooked, the QHS takes time each year to honor those who give back.

The event will also include a presentation on Isaiah Thomas to be delivered by historical actor and interpreter Neil Gustafson. Thomas was the publisher of the Massachusetts Spy newspaper, performed the first public reading of the Declaration of Independence in Worcester, and reported the first account of the Battles of Lexington and Concord. Additionally, he was the founder of the American Antiquarian Society, one of the oldest historical societies in the country.

QHS members are eagerly looking forward to the luncheon to discuss many historical happenings with guests.

“It’s a wonderful event,” said QHS co-president Ed Londergan. “It is not open to just members, but to anyone who wishes to come, enjoy great company and food, and hear an exciting and informative presentation.”

QHS members continue to identify creative ways each year to celebrate the history of the six Quaboag Plantation towns. From the earliest Native American settlements along the Quaboag River, to the industrial innovations in the 1800s, the area is rich in history. QHS members hope to convey that history to new residents in the coming years.

The QHS annual luncheon will begin with a cash bar cocktail hour, followed by the meal, award presentations, and an annual meeting.

If you would like to attend the event or learn more about the presentation, contact Barb Londergan at barb.londergan@gmail.com or by phone at 413-436-7901.

The deadline to reserve your seat at the luncheon table is Saturday, April 20.

move on to one night in Perugia, where we will have the opportunity to visit Assisi, the birthplace of St. Francis of Assisi. Following our stay in Perugia, we move on to Florence, “the Cradle of Italian Renaissance,” where we will view Michelangelo’s incredible statue of David. After two nights in beautiful Florence, we will move on to Venice. On the way to Venice, we will stop at a 12th century castle and learn about the famous Tuscan wines and enjoy a cooking class and lunch.

Next, we are off to Venice for two nights. During that time, we have an opportunity to visit many of the wonderful sites of the Canal City. After Venice, our next and last night will be Milan, where we will have an opportunity to visit and shop at the “Quadrilatero della Moda,” Milan’s high-fashion district. We will depart for home from Milan.

Paxton Seniors planning winery tour

PAXTON — Paxton's bus tour season starts Wednesday, April 24 on the Maine / New Hampshire seacoast, topped off with a visit to a Winery. First stop is the Kittery Historical & Naval Museum where you will wander through Kittery's past as you browse the exhibits, from colonial times to grand hotels, shipbuilding and light-houses, up to the present day. Find out what makes Kittery special... at the Museum!

Next stop is lunch at Warren's Lobster House in Kittery, Maine. Our prior visits to Warren's have always been wonderful. Warren's has the Seacoast's Finest Salad Bar, which offers more than 60 selections and homemade pumpkin bread, soup and rolls — For an entrée you may select from; Seafood Casserole, Fried Baby Shrimp, Ritz Filet of Haddock, Crab Crusted Salmon, Top Sirloin Steak and Chicken Parmesan. Beverages and dessert will be included.

After a delightful lunch on the river separating Maine and

New Hampshire, we move on to Zorvino Vineyard, a family-owned and operated winery, that originally started as a hobby. Jim and Cheryl Zanello purchased the 80-acre lot in Sandown in 2000 after retiring. Four years later, Zorvino Vineyards was established. The "Zor" in Zorvino comes from the original family name Zorzanello and "Vino" means wine. Family and wine, the perfect pairing.

In the first years, 150 cold climate vines, mostly hybrids, were planted. To date, there are roughly 2,000 vines on site. The bulk of the grapes are brought in from Italy, California and South America. They are mostly known for their "off dry"-fruit wines, blends and unusual 100 percent fruit or vegetable wines like Pumpkin, Beet and Rhubarb to name a few. New favorites include their red wines and white wines aged in American White Oak.

Our bus trip leaves the Paxton Senior Center, 17 West St., at 9 a.m. on Wednesday, April 24. Barring any traffic concerns on Interstate 495, we plan to be back in Paxton around 5 p.m.

The cost of the trip is $82 per person. Reservations, payment and your choice of entrée at Warren's should be mailed to Bob Wilby, 11 Tanglewood Rd, Paxton by Monday April 15. Checks should be made payable to the Friends of Paxton COA.

EXTRA! EXTRA!

Freshwater fishing season begins

Massachusetts Fish & Wildlife has been stocking fish all last week, and will continue to do so this week. Many anglers are catching limits of recently stocked trout using power bait and lures. Many trout are following the lures & are hitting them close to the shoreline. Reports of a lot of dead trout along the shoreline of Webster Lake last week right after they were stocked have anglers upset. Some speculate the pump that provides oxygen to the fish while in transport had failed, leaving the trout in poor shape at stocking time. No information on the fish kill by MFW was available at the time of this deadline.

Anglers are patiently waiting for the trout fishing to open at Wallum Lake in Douglas next Saturday, April 13. Because the lake falls under the jurisdiction of Rhode Island, there fishing regulations apply. The interstate body of water is stocked annually by both Mass. & Rhode Island, and a liberal daily bag limit of trout is five. For many years, Wallum Lake had hundreds of anglers fishing on opening day, but now there are 100 or less attending the opening day. Be sure to wear your life preserver in boats, kayaks, or canoes. It is the law, and can save your life.

The Quabbin Reservoir generally opens on the third Saturday in April. The Wachusett Res. normally opens on the first Saturday in April, to shore fishing only. To find out more about the April openings on both bodies of water, call 413-323-7221. Ice conditions could change the opening dates.

This week's picture shows Dan Southwick with a monster Musky (Muskellunge) that he recently caught in another state while ice fishing. It took Southwick well over an hour to bring the huge fish through the 12 inch hole. Dan is a fisherman that is very good at catching monster fish like Musky, Northern Pike, and huge Bass! Keeping his fishing spots secret is not an easy task. Nice fish, Dan! Mass. has attempted to raise tiger musky, but did not have much success, although there pike program is quite popular, and does well when the state purchases small pike from another state, and stocks them in some of the major lakes and ponds outside of the valley area.

The freshwater sport-fishing awards program in Mass. is open to 22 different species of fish. It is a popular program, and has hundreds of entries annually. The problem is that fish must be weighed on certified scales by the state. MFW needs to find another way for anglers to certify their catch. By the time the fish are weighed in at a certified scale, most fish are in poor shape and often die. With all of the high technology available today, someone should find a way, by using there cell phone. One popular magazine already has taken action to allow an angler to register there fish and release it after taking a picture and measuring it, for entry into numerous derbies. Just imagine how many fish will live to fight again, giving another angler the thrill of catching a trophy fish.

Numerous forms of wildlife have survived the winter months very well this year and are being observed by local sportsmen on a daily basis in the valley. Wild turkeys are already strutting their stuff trying to lure a hen to mate, although it is a bit early. Turkey hunting opens on April 29 this year in Mass. There sure is no shortage of birds this year! Deer are also being observed in local fields and also crossing roads. This writer had four deer cross in front of my car this past Sunday. They looked to be in great shape, but were extremely small for year old deer. There are no changes in the daily bag limit for turkeys this year, but it could take affect next year.

It was brought to my attention by a fellow sportsmen that Mass. Fish & Wildlife has not renewed their contract with the Corp of Engineers at West Hill Dam. The release is due to run out in October of this year. The popular hunting & fishing spot is used daily by anglers and hunters. It would be a shame if it was lost. Send an e-mail to Mass. Fish & Wildlife voicing your concerns. The state is also contemplating dropping the stocking of pheasant in areas on the Cape. The valley area has lost to many local covers , that received pheasant stocking over the past twenty years. Sportsmen had better wake up and become involved, by writing letters to MF&W stating your concern over the pheasant hunting in your area. Contacting your State Senator and State Representative about your concerns could help.

Captain Mel True is holding his first used fishing & tackle show in Wareham, Mass. on April 6 at the Rosebrook Event Center from 9 a.m.-5 p.m. He will also have a large display of used boats & motors that can be purchased at the show. With the high price of new fishing tackle today, attending the show can save you big bucks. Check him out on his web site for more information at www.fishnetcharters.com.

Another Round of Lenten Meals: Take a Tip from the Past

Generations of women (and men!) have taken up the challenge each year to prepare delicious and creative meatless dishes during the Lenten season. While this column shared some ideas earlier this month, I thought we'd take a nostalgic look at meatless meals this week. In fact, some of my fondest childhood memories include helping my mom skewer fish kebobs on metal rods and chopping chunks of Velveeta for her famous macaroni and cheese - both meals made popular courtesy of Catholic meat restrictions!

It was while I was (literally) tossing a frozen fish fillet in the oven last Friday night that I vowed to take time out to rediscover the "comfort meals" of past generations. Since I collect old cookbooks, an accumulation of time-tested meals were right at my fingertips. A quick look through a few of the books revealed meatless dishes that were both interesting and easier to prepare than I anticipated!

So - in the interest of uninspired cooks everywhere, this week's column will feature a menu of meat alternatives that promise to bring rave reviews from even the most fussy family meal critic! ***

"California Chicken" Pie (first served in the 1930s by Ruth Wakefield at The Toll House Restaurant, Whitman)

This mock "chicken" pie is the epitome of comfort food! I cheated and used a premade refrigerator pie crust; if you are really pressed for time, you can also substitute canned potatoes and carrots. I also used salmon in place of tuna fish.

Ingredients: one medium sized onion, chopped; one cup peas; two diced carrots; two diced potatoes; one large can tuna fish; two tablespoons flour; one tablespoon butter; one cup milk; one teaspoon salt; one eighth teaspoon pepper; one quarter teaspoon paprika.

Preparation: Boil the carrots and potatoes. Add peas to chopped onion. Make a white sauce by melting butter, add flour and stir until smooth. Add milk, salt, pepper, and paprika. Cook until thick and smooth. Add one cup tuna, broken into small pieces. Fill a baking dish with mixture in layers. Cover with an upper crust or buttered crumbs and bake until brown in a 450 degree oven. Serves 6. ***

Onion Soup - Toll House Style

Why not start a Lenten meal with an elegant appetizer? This original Toll House Onion Soup recipe can be adapted to better serve today's busy cook with the use of canned vegetable stock.

Ingredients: One pound onions, sliced and cooked in butter; 1 ½ rich vegetable stock; one tablespoon flour

Preparation: Cook onions until brown, sprinkle with flour and stir. Add to chicken stock slowly, stirring until smooth. Let stand for several hours or the night before for best flavor. Serve soup with a slice of French bread sprinkled with Parmesan or Romano cheese and toast in the oven the last moment. Serve grated cheese on the soup.

Babyboomer Mac and Cheese

Those "over fifty" will recall this familiar favorite, which was often topped with fresh slices of tomato. Substituting crushed potato chips for the crackers is another delicious option. Use casserole sized elbows to really bring back the memories.

Ingredients: one quarter cup (½ stick) butter; one quarter cup flour; one cup milk; 8 ounces Velveeta cheese, cut up; two cups elbow macaroni, cooked, drained.; one half cup shredded Cheddar cheese; one quarter cup crushed Ritz crackers.

Preparation: Preheat oven to 350 F. Melt 3 tablespoons of the butter in medium saucepan on low heat. Add flour; mix well. Cook 2 min., stirring constantly. Gradually add milk, stirring until well blended. Cook on medium heat until mixture boils and thickens, stirring constantly. Add Velveeta; cook until melted, stirring frequently. Add macaroni; mix lightly. Spoon into lightly greased 2-qt. casserole dish; sprinkle with shredded cheese. Melt remaining 1 tablespoons butter; toss with cracker crumbs. Sprinkle over casserole. Bake for 20 minutes or until heated through. ***

Shrimp Creole in the Crock Pot

A crock pot makes this meal hassle free. Let it cook all day, then add shrimp the last hour. What could be easier on a busy Friday night?

Ingredients: One pound shrimp, shelled; 1 ½ cups diced celery; 1 ¼ cups chopped onion; one cup chopped bell pepper; 1(8 oz.) can tomato sauce; 1 (28 oz.) can whole tomatoes, broken up; 1 clove garlic, minced; 1teaspoon salt; one quarter teaspoon pepper; six drops Tabasco, or to taste; prepared rice.

Preparation: Combine all ingredients except shrimp in the crock pot. Cook 3 to 4 hours on high or 6 to 8 hours on low. Add shrimp last hour of cooking. Serve over hot rice or thin spaghetti. ***

Baked Bean Roast

This is from "The American Women's Cookbook," Culinary Arts Institute, 1947. Readers who try this vegetarian loaf are encouraged to send in feedback!

Ingredients: Four cups mashed baked beans; two eggs, slightly beaten; two cups bread crumbs; one cup tomatoes; two tablespoons minced peppers; two tablespoons minced onion; four tablespoons olive oil; one half teaspoon paprika; salt and pepper.

Preparation: Cook pepper and onions in fat. Add other ingredients in the order given. Bake (350 degrees) in greased baking dish for 30 minutes. Serve with brown sauce or tomato sauce. ***

"Students are learning much differently today than they did in the past. We used to just take notes and study for the tests when I was in school, but now we're seeing students engaging in STEAM programs and working together to solve problems," Lind said.

In conversations with multiple teachers throughout the district this past fall, Powers saw strong interest in a STEAM-themed program. To prepare for the event, she attended the Mass. STEM Summit in Worcester and participated in a workshop hosted by teachers who have organized similar events in their districts.

Powers thanks all volunteers and sponsors who helped make the event possible. This year's program also included tennis ball towers, the science of bottle flipping, and stained glass shapes, among other activities. District leaders hope the program will become a longtime tradition.

"We had twenty volunteers for the event, including students as young as third grade," Powers said. "STEAM education is a passion of mine, and I hope to instill that in our students. The next generation of careers will be STEAM-based, and it is our role as educators to prepare students to think critically and problem solve for jobs that do not yet exist."

The STEAM-athon got off to a chilly start thanks to members of Subzero Nitrogen Ice Cream, who demonstrated how nitrogen-produced low-fat ice cream is made. Students and their families then proceeded to take part in several workshops, including a popular activity that saw them creating mazes out of marbles and straws.

School officials thank Powers for her hard work in organizing and preparing the event.

"It was a great turnout. Ms. Powers did an awesome job of organizing an event that focuses on STEAM," said paraprofessional Mary Gershman, who volunteered during the program.

Guests also received door prizes at the event, including T-shirts designed by a student.

to clean up his other properties at 90 Lake Road and 26 Allen Road.

A video taken on Sept. 7, 2018, showed bathtubs, tarps, awnings, a car battery, lumber, a safe, and other items strewn on the ground at the 90 Lake Road property. Another video taken on the same day at 26 Allen Road revealed a boat trailer, a car carrier, several lawn mowers, a stove, pipes, tarps, and plywood leaning against a truck. Additionally, two unregistered trucks were located on the Allen Road property.

The courts had previously ordered that all junk and salvage materials be removed from the two properties by Aug. 31. Following the land court's ruling against Holdcraft in December, he paid the town's legal fees of approximately $6,000. He still has unpaid non-compliance fines of about $14,000 related to the properties, which will continue to accrue if the sites are not fully remediated once the ground thaws, officials said.

Selectmen hope the court's ruling will serve as a warning to other residents whose properties are in various stages of investigation for storing junk items that violate bylaws.

"The zoning officer has identified other non-conforming sites. I am hopeful that once others understand the rulings related to Mr. Holdcraft, these other properties will come into compliance as well, without the need for the courts," said Selectman Snyder.

Looking ahead, DeCell and his staff are excited to meet many potential customers at this year's Asparagus Festival in May. DeCell will be cooking burgers and preparing several other foods for guests at his booth, so be sure to stop by and learn more about what the restaurant has to offer.

"I have been to the Asparagus Festival many times before, and I am really looking forward to it," said DeCell, who will participate in the event as a vendor for the first time.

When he isn't at work, DeCell enjoys spending time with his four-year-old child, fixing cars, and of course cooking for friends and family members.

Matt's Breakfast Nook is open on Tuesday-Friday from 7 a.m. to 2 p.m. Weekend hours are 7 a.m. to 1 p.m., and both breakfast and lunch are served throughout the week. The restaurant is closed on Mondays.

Students travel through time

Spencer resident completes research project

Local resident Louise Meyerdierks recently visited Wire Village School for a historical presentation.

SPENCER – Thanks to a pair of cultural grants, local students recently enjoyed a fascinating journey back through time.

Students in grades two through four at East Brookfield Elementary School and Wire Village School attended a program called “Life in Colonial Times.” After receiving cultural grants from each town, local resident Louise Meyerdierks led the presentations on the Revolutionary War and colonial life. Meyerdierks, along with her husband and son, has been re-enacting historical happenings for several years. They always enjoy the opportunity to connect with local students.

New yoga program underway at DPHS

SPENCER – Recognizing the importance of being relaxed and focused in the classroom, David Prouty High School officials implemented a new yoga program this year.

The results have impressed students and staff members alike. Run by DPHS English and writing teacher Nancy Gingras, the program has drawn strong participation from students and support from area businesses.

At last week’s program on March 27 at Wire Village School, Meyerdierks explained to students what life was like in the 1700s as tensions escalated between colonists and the British Empire. Students learned about several aspects of colonial culture, including what people ate, where they worked, and how they were schooled.

Meyerdierks also used her re-enactment skills during the presentation, which culminated with a show and tell session of antiques and artifacts. Students even had an opportunity to try on uniforms and colonial attire.

Last week, the Spencer Big Y donated $5,000 in grant funding to the school in support of the yoga program. At the check presentation on March 28, Big Y and school officials teamed up to celebrate the next chapter for the rising program.

“The program has been a huge success. We are all very excited about this news,” said DPHS Principal Elizabeth York.

The grant funds received from Big Y will be used to purchase equipment and flooring to create a yoga studio at DPHS.

WORCESTER — Joseph Esposito of Spencer, a member of the class of 2020 majoring in chemical engineering at Worcester Polytechnic Institute (WPI), was a member of a student team that recently completed an intense, hands-on research through the WPI project center in New Zealand. The project was titled Improving Flood Warning Systems in Lower Hutt.

In their project summary, the students wrote, “This project provided the Greater Wellington Regional Council with community-input based recommendations for improving their current flood warning system on the Waiwhetu stream to promote a more people-based warning system.”

At WPI, all undergraduates are required to complete a research-driven, professional-level project that applies science and technology to addresses an important societal need or issue. About two-thirds of students complete a project at one of the university’s 50-plus off-campus project centers, which are located around the world. A signature element of the innovative undergraduate experience at WPI, the project-based curriculum offers students the opportunity to apply their scientific and technical knowledge to develop thoughtful solutions to real problems that affect the quality of people’s lives-and make a difference before they graduate.

“The WPI project-based curriculum’s focus on global studies brings students out of the classroom and their comfort zones and into the global community to apply their knowledge and to solve problems,” said Professor Kent Rissmiller, interim dean of the WPI Interdisciplinary and Global Studies Division. “Students are immersed in all aspects of a different culture, from the way people live and work to the values they hold to the foods they eat - all valuable perspectives for surviving and thriving in today’s global marketplace. They also learn the meaning and magic of teamwork; make a real and meaningful difference in their host community; and gain a competitive edge for any resume, or graduate or professional school application.”

About Worcester Polytechnic Institute

WPI, a global leader in project-based learning, is a distinctive, top-tier technological university founded in 1865 on the principle that students learn most effectively by applying the theory learned in the classroom to the practice of solving real-world problems. Recognized by the National Academy of Engineering with the 2016 Bernard M. Gordon Prize for Innovation in Engineering and Technology Education, WPI’s pioneering project-based curriculum engages undergraduates in solving important scientific, technological, and societal problems throughout their education and at more than 50 project centers around the world. WPI offers more than 50 bachelor’s, master’s, and doctoral degree programs across 14 academic departments in science, engineering, technology, business, the social sciences, and the humanities and arts. Its faculty and students pursue groundbreaking research to meet ongoing challenges in health and biotechnology; robotics and the internet of things; advanced materials and manufacturing; cyber, data, and security systems; learning science; and more. www.wpi.edu

North Brookfield Elementary hosting climate change program

NORTH BROOKFIELD – It doesn’t take an astrophysicist to explain the dangers of climate change – but the school district will welcome one anyway this month.

On April 22, Dr. Jeffrey Bennett will answer questions about the science, consequences, and solutions involving climate change. Titled “Global Warming Demystified,” the program will take place at 4:15 p.m. at North Brookfield Elementary School.

Bennett, who also writes children’s books to convey information to youngsters, is traveling the country to help promote STEM education at schools. Only a few dozen schools that apply each year are chosen for one of his presentations.

“He will spend the day in the schools, giving four presentations to the different grade levels. He is then offering a teacher workshop in the afternoon to our teachers and local teachers in the area,” said Jeanne Powers, the school district’s director of curriculum. “Finally, he will present his free public lecture on demystifying global warming.”

Bennett, who won the American Institute of Physics Science Communication Award, has been teaching about global warming for more than 30 years. He is the lead author of college textbooks in astronomy, astrobiology, mathematics, and statistics, in addition to his acclaimed children’s book series.

During his presentation, Bennett demonstrates how individuals from across the political spectrum can team up to find solutions.

For more information about the author and his books, visit www.jeffreybennett.com.

Spencer's Aimee Travis presents research project

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. — Nearly 500 students at The University of Alabama highlighted their research and creative projects during the Undergraduate Research and Creative Activity Conference on March 27. Among them was Aimee Travis of Spencer, whose presentation was titled “How does using blood-flow restriction in rehab influence time-to-progression points in ACL rehab in college football players?” in the Health Sciences category.

The 12th annual conference is hosted by UA's Office for Undergraduate Research and the Office for Research and Economic Development. Poster presentations are grouped by research areas -- instead of by academic colleges or departments -- to align with national trends of using interdisciplinary approaches to problem-solving. The conference spurs interest in research among undergraduate students and helps students polish their communication skills, said Dr. Kim Bissell, director of the Office for Undergraduate Research. “We have got some pretty phenomenal students who are truly doing great things,” she said. The University of Alabama, the state's oldest and largest public institution of higher education, is a student-centered research university that draws the best and brightest to an academic community committed to providing a premier undergraduate and graduate education. UA is dedicated to achieving excellence in scholarship, collaboration and intellectual engagement; providing public outreach and service to the state of Alabama and the nation; and nurturing a campus environment that fosters collegiality, respect and inclusivity.

Moving slowly in the fast lane

The world is moving at a faster pace than anyone living 20 or 30 years ago could have imagined. In 1989, computers were the things teachers warned we'd never be able to "carry around in our pockets," so we still needed to learn advanced math functions. To see the weekly forecast, we had to either watch the 6 o'clock news or trust the printed version in the daily newspaper. To access facts and information, we visited the library. That was all fine with us. That was life.

In 1999, there were more and better computers, and the Internet (known then as the World Wide Web) was expanding steadily. Our access to this vast body of knowledge was through dial-up modems, waiting patiently for the ringing-static-beeping signal for a connection, and then waiting further for the page to "load." We'd scroll through the content and click on a hyperlink – repeating the process, as our desktop computer slowly accessed the new information. We were pretty happy with that. People with modems were cool. And it was so much faster than a trip to the library. Now we had instant info at our fingertips.

In 2019, our perception of "fast" and "instant" has taken on new meaning.

We are inseparable from our phones, our Kindles, our watches and our Fitbits. Need to know tomorrow's forecast? Glance at your Android. Did the Celtics win? Google it. When is the next band concert for the middle school? Check your calendar... on your phone. Need a new book to read? Download it. Could our 1999 selves ever have conceived of these things? Could we ever go back to our old perceptions of what constitutes "a long time?"

There are still things in life that cannot be rushed: long-simmered soups and stews; a hike through the forest; a conversation with a beloved friend; a long drive on a Sunday afternoon. In those moments, life slows down again. Where once speed was a luxury and a reason to be excited, now we crave the leisurely, unhurried pace of a day without our gadgets. We unplug and chill out. We remember to look up and around and take in our surroundings. Life slows down... for a while. Or at least until the alarm on our phone reminds us that it's time to get going again.

Democrats losing focus of the prize

To the Editor:
In the United States, we have unwittingly created a two-party system where any vote for other than one of the two major parties is a wasted vote. Therefore, it is wisest to vote against whatever you deem the worse candidate. This fosters the creation of teams in the light of "us" and "them." The founders of our constitution would roll in their graves if they knew, but politics is a team sport. The Trumpicans know that more than anybody else, they have become the party of Trump and play as a team. The Trumpican party could be renamed the White Nationalist Party, the Anglo-Christian Nationalist Party, but for now they go by "Republican Party".

The Democratic Party, today, represents "everybody else." We do not have the hearts and minds of the poorly educated white Christian working class – that voting block currently belongs to Republicans. We, the Democrats, are a coalition of everybody else. The college educated, the non-white, the non-Christian, the unmarried women of all races, the unions, the environmentalists, and the humanitarians among others. While our coalition represents a decisive majority of Americans, we are quite diverse and in-fighting is starting to become a problem.

This was most apparent in the recent Anti-Semitism spat with Rep. Ilhan Omar. As the party of "everybody else," we have a large super-majority of American Jews and American Muslims. The situation in Israel/Palestine is very complex, goes back over 100 years to World War 1, and global politics has made many victims. There are two narratives, both equally valid. The Israelis and the Palestinians are both victims and your point of view will dictate which problem is more important, but they are both victims of generations of global geo-politics. Having a party that sticks up for the little guy and includes "everybody else" is likely to lead to clashes, and it did. As Democrats, we need to get through that. We need to keep our eye on the prize, and that is denying the Toddler-Fascist another term. That requires solidarity. What binds us is stronger than what divides us.

Recently, I noticed that some of our local state-level politicians are running "off the rails" and playing right into Trump and Putin's hand. On March 28, they were debating "Gender X" driver's licenses and birth certificates.

The "Gender X" thing is fundamentally flawed and is an example of the activists trying to out-activist each other, and I am sure Fox News is reporting on this and riling up independants in states like Ohio, Wisconsin and Florida and convincing them they need to vote to re-elect Trump. Bills like this serve no purpose other than an activist bade-of-honor. I can buy the argument that the state need not group people into two bins, to play into the gender binary... The solution, if that is the goal, is to remove gender from driver's licenses completely. Professional licenses do not normally indicate a gender at all, just a name. My diplomas from universities do not list a gender at all, just a name. Most legal documents do not list a gender.

As the party of "Not the White Nationalists" we are outraged. The response to outrage should be tactical, not activist. Trump is an idiot, we need to out-maneuver him. I fear that our outrage is driving us to the left to become a counter-weight to Trump, supporting bills which have no real life impact but fuel the Fox News outrage machine. Channeling outrage into activism will only play into Trump and Putin's hands. We need to look like the adults in the room.

Moral legislation

To the Editor:
I can agree with Leonard Ivel and his letter to the SNL ("Immoral Legislation," March 29) on one item and one item only. That is that people need to pay attention to what their state representatives and senators are up to in Massachusetts.

The State Senate voted 34-0 on Thursday to ban "conversion therapy" by licensed Therapists in Massachusetts to change the sexual orientation or gender identity of minors. Five Republicans voted "present" because they didn't want the stigma of voting for child abuse but didn't want the stigma of voting against it either. Zero Senators voted against the ban.

The State House voted to ban conversion therapy 147-8 earlier this month. Reps. Donnie Berthiaume and Peter Durant, who represent the circulation area of this newspaper, were among the shameful 8.

For those that are screaming "but the constitution allows me to mentally abuse my child if it is in the name of religion" fear not – pastoral counseling is not regulated and was not affected. This bill relied on the well-established authority of the state to regulate professional conduct.

For those that don't know what "conversion therapy" is, parents who disapprove of homosexuality often send their teens to "camps" where there is intensive "therapy" to convince them otherwise. Some kids have been forced to live in these programs for years while they are subjected to verbal abuse telling them that they have demons. These programs have tried to arrange opposite sex marriages and more than anything else teach those kids to hate themselves. There is a reason 15 states have already banned the practice. We should call this practice what it is: child abuse.

Health care providers have a fiduciary duty to do no harm to their clients. Don't be mistaken: conversion therapy does harm to their clients. Conversion therapy harms their clients through shaming, through increasing self-loathing, through bringing to the foreground feelings of self-hatred, inadequacy, and the horrible feeling for any kid: the feeling of being other.

There is no "requirement" for licensed therapists to counsel minors to pursue same sex attractions, becoming the opposite gender, or abnormality. There is a ban on trying to change what research and the American Psychological Association considers normal expressions of human sexuality and not a mental illness.

Mr. Ivel is correct that the new law requires scientifically and medically accurate sex education taught to children before they are statistically likely to become sexually active. We all know most people become sexual active in their teen years, so 12 for education seems about right. Medically accurate sex-ed will highlight the advantages of abstinence, however recognizes the reality that abstinence-only education is woefully ineffective.

States with abstinence only education have higher teen pregnancy rates, higher teen birth rates, and higher rates of STD's. Now, in Massachusetts, teens will be armed with all the information that has been proven to lead to better choices. How to avoid pregnancy and how to obtain birth control regardless of the personal beliefs of their parents. They will learn how to engage in "safer" forms of sexual activity they are likely to engage in anyway. Finally, if everything fails and an unwanted pregnancy occurs, more information is better than less.

In my view, it is not parents' right to keep their child ignorant. It is the responsibility of our education system to teach children relevant and useful information.

Some people view their role as parents is to be an arbiter of science and truth. You are free to tell your children your beliefs, but our schools and licensed therapists are restricted to evidence based approaches.

The Barr Report

To the Editor:
For all that has been said about the Mueller Report and Trump's claim of exoneration, let's not forget that although the Mueller report is complete we've not seen it. We have seen the Barr report or the Barr summary on the Mueller report. This is an important distinction.

How did we get here?

First of all, the Russian government at Vladimir Putin's direction launched a disinformation campaign with the goal of shifting the election towards Donald Trump – this is undisputed fact from both sides of the aisle. Trump often, in public, seemed to both deny and at other times welcome these attacks from a hostile foreign power (because he was the beneficiary). During the early months of his presidency he acted with extreme deference to Russia and almost seemed to look up to Putin like he worked for him. I suppose this was his way of saying, "thank you."

Trump originally loved James Comey because of the October 2016 public statement saying that Hillary was being investigated again (again with no findings) but clearly tipped the scales to Trump in November.

Time for some financial spring cleaning

FINANCIAL FOCUS
JEFF BURDICK

Spring is here – and for many of us, that means it's time for some spring cleaning. This year, in addition to tidying up your home, why not try brightening your financial environment? Some of the same moves you make to clean your surroundings may apply to your finances. Consider these suggestions:

Get rid of clutter. When you go through your closets, attic, basement or other areas, you may find many items you no longer need. You might be able to sell some of these things or find other ways of disposing of them. And as you review your portfolio, you might also encounter "clutter" in the form of investments that may be redundant to others you own. If so, you might consider selling these investments and using the proceeds to purchase new ones, which may help you broaden your portfolio.

Protect yourself from hazards. As you go about your spring cleaning, you may well encounter hazardous substances, such as cleaning agents, paints, batteries, pesticides and so on, which you don't need anymore and which may pose potential health risks. You can reduce the possible danger from these materials by recycling or disposing of them in an environmentally safe way. Your overall financial situation has hazards, too, in the form of illness or injury preventing you from working, or, in your later years, the need for some type of long-term care, such as an extended stay in a nursing home. To protect yourself, you may need appropriate insurance, including disability and long-term care.

Find new uses for existing possessions. When you are sprucing up your home, you may rediscover uses for things you already have. Who knows – perhaps that treadmill that's been gathering dust in your garage could actually be employed again as part of your rededicated exercise regimen. And you might be able to get more mileage out of some of your existing investments, too. Suppose, for instance, that some of your stocks are paying you dividends, which you take as cash. If you don't really need this income to support your lifestyle, you might consider reinvesting the dividends so that you can own more shares of the dividend-paying stocks. Over the long run, increased share ownership is a key to helping build your portfolio.

Establish new habits. Spring cleaning doesn't have to be just about physical activities – it can also involve a new set of habits on your part. For example, instead of placing your unread magazines in an ever-expanding pile, try to read and recycle them quickly. You can also develop some positive habits as an investor, such as "paying yourself first" by regularly putting some money in an investment account each month, even before paying all your bills. You can also avoid some bad habits, such as overreacting to market downturns by selling investments to "cut your losses," even though those same investments may still have strong growth potential and may still be suitable for your needs.

Doing some spring cleaning can make you feel better about your living space today. And applying some of these techniques to your financial situation can help you gain a more positive outlook for tomorrow.

LETTER

Comey, as Director of the FBI, continued to investigate the Russian interference in the 2016 election as well as obstruction of justice. Trump asked Comey to pledge loyalty, and Comey instead pledged honesty. Trump asked Comey to consider jailing journalists over the leaks that led to Mike Flynn's dismissal (and his Russia ties) and ordered Comey to drop the Flynn investigation. On May 3 Comey testified to the Senate Judiciary Committee that Russia is the "greatest threat of any nation on Earth ... One of the biggest lessons learned is that Russia will do this again. Because of 2016 election, they know it worked." On May 9, Trump fired Comey because, "You know, this Russia thing with Trump and Russia is a made-up story."

Days later, those that remained at the Justice Department launched a Special Counsel law enforcement and counterintelligence investigation on the Russian government's efforts to interfere with our election. They were specifically investigating links or coordination between the Trump campaign and Russia. By this time, it was well established fact that the Russians effectively installed Trump, the question was whether our president was a foreign agent or an unwitting stooge.

The Mueller investigation on the Trump campaign worked for and reported to the Justice Department, or the Attorney General. Originally, that was Jeff Sessions, a Trump appointee, and Trump's first major political endorsement in the campaign. Sessions worked on the campaign that was being investigated so he recused himself from the special counsel's work. Recusal was the right thing to do, but that angered Trump. Trump often hinted that he wanted to fire Sessions, and right after the November mid-terms Sessions tendered his resignation at the President's request.

After Trump was inaugurated, William Barr (then a private citizen) stated that investigating Hillary for Uranium One was more warranted than looking into whether Trump conspired with Russians. Barr publicly said that the Mueller investigation (because it existed) was helping Democrats and lacked "balance." In June 2018, Barr submitted an unsolicited 20-page memo arguing that obstruction of justice was "fatally misconceived" and that all of Trump's actions were within his authority...As a private citizen with no access to any of the evidence/investigation!

Barr was then appointed by Trump to replace Sessions, and oversee the Mueller investigation. The Mueller report was nearly 400 pages. Barr released a 4-page summary and promised a "full redacted report" by Mid-April. Mueller's own words that Barr quoted did not exonerate Trump.

I don't believe the Barr report. Do you?

PAXTON SENIORS

Paxton’s bus tour season starts Wednesday, April 24, on the Maine / New Hampshire seacoast topped off with a vist to a Winery. First stop is the Kittery Historical & Naval Museum where you will wander through Kittery’s past as you browse the exhibits, from colonial times to grand hotels, shipbuilding and lighthouses, up to the present day. Find out what makes Kittery special... at the Museum!
Next stop is lunch at Warren’s Lobster House in Kittery, Maine. Our prior visits to Warren’s have always been wonderful. Warren’s has the Seacoast’s Finest Salad Bar, which offers over 60 selections and homemade pumpkin bread, soup and rolls — For an entrée you may select from; Seafood Casserole, Fried Baby Shrimp, Ritz Filet of Haddock, Crab Crusted Salmon, Top Sirloin Steak and Chicken Parmesan. Beverages and dessert will be included.

After a delightful lunch on the River separating Maine and New Hampshire, we move on to Zorvino Vineyard. A family-owned and operated winery, that originally started as a hobby. Jim and Cheryl Zanello purchased the 80-acre lot in Sandown, NH in 2000 after retiring. Four years later Zorvino Vineyards was established. The “Zor” in Zorvino comes from the original family name Zorzanello and “Vino” means wine. Family and Wine, the perfect pairing.

In the first years, 150 cold climate vines, mostly hybrids, were planted. To date, there are roughly 2,000 vines on site. The bulk of the grapes are brought in from Italy, California and South America. They are mostly known for their “off dry”fruit wines. blends and unusual 100% fruit or vegetable wines like Pumpkin, Beet and Rhubarb to name a few. New favorites include their red wines and white wines aged in American White Oak.

Our bus trip leaves the Paxton Senior Center, 17 West St., at 9 a.m. on Wednesday, April 24. Baring any traffic concerns on Route 495, we plan to be back in Paxton around 5 p.m.

The cost of the trip is $82 per person. Reservations, payment and your choice of entree at Warren’s should be mailed to Bob Wilby, 11 Tanglewood Rd., Paxton, by Monday April 15. Checks should be made payable to the FRIENDS OF PAXTON COA.

For more details, please contact Bob at 508-792-4662.

Are you interested in joining another wonder trip in 2019?

Following our stay in Perugia, we move on to Florence, “the Cradle of Italian Renaissance,” where we will view Michelangelo’s incredible statue of David. After two nights in beautiful Florence, we will move on to Venice. On the way to Venice, we will stop at a 12th century castle and learn about the famous Tuscany wines and enjoy a cooking class and lunch. Next we are off to Venice for two nights. During that time, we have an opportunity to visit many of the wonderful sites of the Canal City.

Offensive surge helps Rams win season opener versus Tantasqua

Allison Morin of Tantasqua lets go of a pass and sends it down toward Morgan Hammond.

DUDLEY — Carmignani Memorial Field was the site for the season-opening girls' varsity lacrosse game between Shepherd Hill and Tantasqua Regional on Friday, March 29, and the host Rams started and finished hot en route to a 15-8 victory.

Shepherd Hill scored the game's first six goals and, after the Warriors had trimmed the deficit down to 6-4, they scored six consecutive again to surge ahead, 12-4.

"We started hot and then we kind of settled down and thought it was going to be an easy game," explained Meg Dunn, the Rams' first-year head coach. "They scored three and we called a timeout and got everything back together. Hopefully we don't have to go through that again, [but] we responded well after that."

Dunn was pleased with how her team jumped out to the six-goal advantage before Tantasqua could score its first with 8:10 remaining in the first 25-minute half.

"We came out ready to go, but it's all about possession: winning groundballs, winning draws, and that's what we did in the beginning," she noted.

Shepherd Hill's Claudia Bonaventura scored the game's first goal and was followed by Tori Paine scoring. Bonaventura then grabbed her second and third goals before Skylar Pietz scored twice to make it 6-0.

Tantasqua head coach Heather Egan did explain a potential reason for the Rams' fast start.

"We had an equipment issue with our goalie, so we had to put in a girl who had never played goal before," she said. "I give McKenna Lowell all kinds of props."

Megan Frisella of Tantasqua (11) passes the ball over to Ainsley Way.

Normal goalie Jordan Guillette wasn't able to go, so Lowell stepped in. After surrendering the first six goals, Egan switched to Paige Alexander, who had only played in goal a few times in youth lacrosse.

"They're great kids that would do anything for me, so when I asked them they said yes," Egan said of Lowell and Alexander sacrificing for the betterment of the team.

Egan also acknowledged the play of some of her other players as the Warriors got as close as 6-4 down before halftime.

"I think our field players did a great job," she said. "Lila LaPorte fought like a dog out there. Cami Freeland got it going on the attack, I think she had four goals."

Freeland had three of the goals in the four-goal stretch, while Liz Beaumont had the other.

Shepherd Hill's Pietz scored just before halftime to make it 7-4, though, and the Rams added the first five of the second half (scorers were Paine for the first three, Lauren Alicea and Pietz) to pull away, 12-4.

After the Warriors netted the next three (off the sticks of Freeland, Addie Ellithorp and Beaumont) to make it 12-7, the Rams' Bonaventura, Hannah Cushing and Pietz scored in succession.

Tantasqua's Maddi Varney registered the game's final goal.

Pietz scored five times for Shepherd Hill, while Paine and Bonaventura both added four tallies.

"For the first game, they did well. They came out with good energy," said Dunn, who served as the junior varsity coach during the program's first two years. Prior varsity coach Sarah Morin stepped down for family reasons so Dunn — who had no prior lacrosse experience before learning a lot from Morin — was the next person in line to lead the team.

"We have high expectations. We saw how good we could be last year; I think we can be even better," she said of last spring's District-bound team and what could be in store in 2019.

On the flip side, Tantasqua had made Districts nine years in a row — their first nine years in the program's history — before coming up short in 2018.

"The girls all want to do it," Egan said of getting back to the playoffs. "The first handful of years we won the league and then Grafton started winning it. We want to have the opportunity to win the league again and make Districts again."

June 14 — “Evening at the Boston Pops” features a musical journey to European countries with a noted conductor leading the Boston Pops Orchestra, with each concert piece a selection of stirring 19th century anthems by Romantic-era composers, including Greig, Smetana, Strauss, Berlioz, Elgar, Wagner and Verdi. Each piece honors a particular nation, while the finale, Beethoven’s “Ode to Joy” (Europe’s official anthem) pays homage to the continent’s motto of “United in Diversity.” The concert is enhanced by a montage of evocative video images curated by Rick Steves, America’s leading authority of extensive knowledge of European history and culture and of PBS frame. All considered, this promises to be an extremely entertaining night, and please reserve early. The cost is $59 per person for the 8 p.m. concert, with reserved second balcony center seating and motor-coach transportation. Departure is 5:30 p.m. from the RMV, La Rochelle Way in Southbridge. This is the 37th annual excursion to the “Pops.”

Aug. 11 – “A Sunday Afternoon at Tanglewood” — a noon luncheon at the Red Lion Inn followed by the 2:30 p.m. concert with reserved seating in the Koussevitsky Music Shed. Thomas Ades, conductor, leads the Boston Symphony Orchestra with the music of Ives and Beethoven and guest pianist Inon Barnatan. The cost is $127 (an inclusive luncheon, concert and motor coach transportation). A payment plan is available. The reservation deadline is July 30. Departure is 9 a.m., RMV parking lot, Southbridge.

Sept. 23-25 — A three-day excursion to Cape May, N.J. The cost and all of the details to be announced soon in this listing of trips.

Nov. 16 — “Do As You Wish Day in New York City” – shop for Christmas, do some sightseeing, visit a museu, attend a Broadway matinee, dine at a special restaurant, a visit to the aircraft Intrepid, visit the 911 Memorial complex. There is much to do and enjoy. Departure is 6:30 a.m. from the Southbridge RMV parking lot, and the return departure from New York City is 6:30 p.m. Included are rest stops to and from New York City. Cost is $59 per person. The reservation deadline is Nov. 6. For information and reservations, call (508) 764-7909. To avoid disappointment, call early.

Dec. 7—“Festival of Christmas Lights” at Our Lady of La Salette Shrine, seasonal concert with Fr. Pat, the singing priest, visit the International Museum of Creches, Gift and Book Shop, Chapel of Light, a Bistro for refreshments and snacks, a Carousel for the children, an optional trolley ride for a small charge to view the display of more than 400,000 lights and a complete inclusive luncheon at Wright’s Farm Restaurant. Cost is $54 per person, $44 for children three to 10, under three free. Departure is 10:45 a.m. from Southbridge and 11:15 a.m. in Webster, with the return about 7:45 p.m. Reservation deadline is Dec. 5.

AUTOMOTIVE

SUVs, CUVs and crossovers still going strong

The end of 2017 was marked by a strong, near-record number of cars and trucks being sold. Leading the pack during that record-breaking period were SUVs and similar vehicles, such as crossovers and compact utility vehicles, or CUVs.

According to Forbes and industry consultant LMC Automotive, SUV sales rose by 12 percent across the globe in 2017, while traditional passenger car sales fell 2 percent. LMC further explains that, over the last five years, SUV sales have increased by 87 percent.

Experts at the automotive buying and selling resource Kelley Blue Book have said that, thanks to the success of SUVs, many once-successful car models are being phased out. One of the vehicle classes that has experienced steady decline is the large sedan category. Individuals and families looking for large vehicles tend to favor SUVs over large sedans.

The shift toward crossovers, utility vehicles and even pickup trucks is being driven by a strong economy and improvements regarding fuel-efficiency in SUVs and trucks. LMC estimates that, by 2022, 84 percent of all the vehicles sold by General Motors — one of the “Big Three” American automotive manufacturers — will be some kind of truck or SUV. In 2017, the balance of cars versus trucks and SUVs being sold shifted for the first time, with 65 percent of the market opting for vehicles in the latter category.

Even though compact and small vehicles like the perennially popular Toyota Corolla and Honda Civic are still strong sellers, SUVs and crossovers are outpacing the rest of the pack. Many crossovers and SUVs are now built on unibody frames, which tend to be lighter than traditional truck frames, making the vehicles more fuel-efficient and comfortable than past models. Combustion engines have received an overhaul, and some even have engines that turn off a few cylinders at times to improve efficiency. With SUVs driving more like cars and offering similar benefits, added benefits like more space, flexible seating and higher visibility continue to entice buyers.

Crossovers, which are like small SUVs but tend to be more streamlined and shaped like cars, are often built right on car bodies. They offer the drivability of a sedan but the attributes of an SUV. CUVs have become ubiquitous in parking lots and a mainstay of manufacturers’ new offerings.

Roadways are filled with trucks, SUVs, CUVs, and crossovers. These vehicles are outpacing more traditional automobiles and show no signs of losing steam.

How to fix leaky vehicles without breaking the bank

(MS) — Drivers expect to experience a few bumps in the road as their vehicles age. While certain issues, such as worn shocks or engine troubles, are best left to the professionals, drivers can address many other issues that commonly affect aging vehicles on their own.

Fluid leaks are one of the more routine problems that plague older vehicles. While leaks are not necessarily a sign of doom and gloom, they tend to distress vehicle owners and can affect drivability. In addition, automotive fluids that seep out of vehicles can prove harmful to the environment.

Leaks may not be a concern for drivers of new vehicles, but studies show that drivers are keeping their vehicles for longer than ever before, suggesting that leaks are becoming a greater issue for more and more motorists. A 2016 study from the Institute for Highway Safety found that the average age of vehicles on the road in the United States is nearly 12 years. By 2021, the IHS expects a 30 percent increase in vehicles that are 16 years or older.

So how can drivers address leaky vehicles before they contribute to potentially larger, more costly problems? Fortunately, leaks can be a relatively simple fix, which should assuage any fears drivers may have as the numbers on their odometers continue to rise.

IDENTIFYING LEAKS

Identifying leaks is the first step toward fixing them. According to CRC Industries, a global leader in specialty maintenance and repair chemicals, including K&W brand Stop Leak products, the simplest way to identify which fluid is leaking is to determine its color. CRC notes that red fluid suggests a leak in the power steering system or transmission, while black fluid typically indicates old oil or transmission fluid that has gone bad. If the leaky fluid is green or yellow, then it’s likely engine coolant.

FIXING LEAKS

Once drivers have identified which fluid is leaking, they can then take steps to fix the leak. Unlike other problems that plague older vehicles, leaks can typically be fixed quickly and affordably.

“Stop leak products can really save the day, especially if the leak means that you have to stop driving the vehicle,” says CRC Technical Service Manager Scott Brownstein. “Our K&W Stop Leak solutions are designed to provide faster, less expensive alternatives for drivers who may be facing costly mechanical repairs.”

Stop leak products can be especially valuable to drivers of older vehicles, who may not want to pay for repairs that could very well exceed the value of their cars and trucks. In addition, replacement parts for older vehicles are oftentimes not readily available. In such instances, stop leak products can help drivers keep their cars on the road until replacement parts are found. Stop leak products also can be valuable in the face of emergencies, giving drivers time to get their vehicles to their mechanics.

K&W Stop Leak products are available to address any type of leak drivers may encounter, and drivers need not be car savvy or mechanically inclined to use the products without professional assistance. For example, K&W’s Super Turbo™ Engine Oil Stop Leak and Steer-XTM Power Steering Stop Leak employ a “Pour & Go” formula that can get drivers and their vehicles back on the road in 10 minutes.

As more and more drivers look to extend the life of their vehicles, leaks figure to factor more heavily in the lives of motorists. Addressing such leaks can be easy, quick and affordable. Learn more about fixing leaks at www.stopautoleaks.com/metro.

With Chewsi, You Can Save BIG on Dental Care

YOU KNOW THE FEELING — a nagging tooth pain. An overdue dental exam. An old crown that needs replacing. And always the question: How much is this going to cost me?

For too many people, the high cost of dental care gets in the way of good oral health. But healthy teeth and gums are about so much more than a sunny smile. According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), your oral health can affect everything from the way you speak and eat to the way you work and show emotion. And, poor oral health — especially gum disease — has been linked to certain chronic diseases, including heart disease, diabetes and stroke.

Fortunately, there's a new way to save on dental care: Chewsi.

Today, people across Rhode Island and Massachusetts are seeing big results, collectively saving thousands of dollars when they use Chewsi to pay at the dentist; in fact, one person who used the app recently saved more than $6,500 on a complex dental visit by using Chewsi.

"Chewsi is a true innovation in dental care," says Joe Nagle, CEO of First Circle, Inc., parent company of Chewsi. "With just a couple of taps on your smartphone, you can get savings on dental care that you wouldn't be able to get on your own."

Here's how it works: Download the app to your smartphone (it's free) and register with referral code LCLW1. Find a Chewsi dentist near you and see what you'd pay for your dental service before you call to make an appointment. When you see the dentist for your service, use your phone to pay through the secure, cloud-based Chewsi app and see how much you saved immediately.

Anyone can use Chewsi to save on all dental services — not just more expensive care. From routine visits like cleanings and fillings to higher-priced services like implants, crowns, dentures and braces, Chewsi helps you save on every service because there are no limits, exclusions or waiting periods. If you have dental insurance, Chewsi helps you save on any services that aren't covered by your plan, Nagle says — including cosmetic services.

"Chewsi helps remove the cost barriers to dental care by connecting you directly with dentists for savings," he says. "Chewsi doesn't interfere in your dental care. Your care is between you and your dentist."

In addition to saving on specific dental services, people can also save by avoiding the monthly or annual costs they'd typically pay for a dental insurance policy or for membership in a discount dental plan because there are no monthly or annual fees to use Chewsi, and the app is free to download.

"Chewsi helps people get the dental care they need, when they need it, for less," Nagle says. "With Chewsi, you never have to worry about limits, exclusions or waiting periods."

To learn more, visit ChewsiDental.com or download the app in the App Store or on Google Play.

Chewsi helps you save on all dental care.

We're a whole new way to save BIG when you go to the dentist. From implants, crowns and braces, to cleanings, dentures and more, Chewsi helps you save on all dental care. Plus, it's free to download and easy to use, with no monthly fees.

Download Chewsi and register with referral code LCLW1 to get started.
