BY ANNIE SANDOLI

CHARLTON-United Way of Southbridge, Sturbridge, and Charlton is having a Baby Boomer Comedy Show on Friday, June 21 at 7 p.m. at the Overlook Preforming Arts Center in Charlton to benefit all the local programs related to health, education, financial assistance, disaster, and support and relief services that it funds.

Sponsored by KARL STORZ Endoskope and featuring comedians Jan McInnis and Kent Rader, the show will focus on the experiences and memories of the Baby Boomer generation, such as not having seatbelts in the car and having to get up to change the channel on the television.

"We've had a Baby Boomer Comedy Show before in January of 2017 at the Stephen Brewer Theater at Old Sturbridge Village, and it was really successful, said Mary O'Coin, UWSSC Executive Director. "This year, Overlook offered the space to us complimentary and, with the help of our main sponsors, that really helps us to cover the cost of bringing in the comedians. We are giving free tickets to

OSV launches new event for Father's Day

BY ANNIE SANDOLI VILLAGER CORRESPONDENT

STURBRIDGE - OldSturbridge Village has announced that it will be hosting a new event for Father's Day this year. Baseball, Brews, & BBQ will take place on Sunday, June 16 from 9:30 a.m. until $5\ \mathrm{p.m.}$ with free admission for all dads.

The event will focus on the history of baseball and brewing, teaching guests about early American sports games and the history of brewing and other 19th century beverages.

"Before this year, we did just a Father's Day brunch and let all dads into the village for free to enjoy the museum with their families, but it's special this year because this is a brand new event," said Sarah Blackwell, the media contact for Old Sturbridge Village.

Father's Day visitors will not only learn about the history behind two of America's most popular pastimes, but will also be given the opportunity to take part in early American baseball games and try a variety of different beers from local breweries by building flights or enjoying full pours. The everyday demonstrations of blacksmithing, printing, coopering, hearth cooking, and shoe-making will be going on throughout the day as well.

"There will be a baseball game on the common with

19th century," said Blackwell. "The extra Father's Day activities will take place on the Town Common, but the entire village will be open as normal too.'

Live music will take place throughout the day, including performances by local musical artists Chuck & Mud & the Mudchuckkers, a well-known neo-folk group, Jeff Warner, who plays traditional American music of the 19th century and has performed all across the United States and in the UK, and members of Full Gael, a group of Celtic musian additional charge, the Oliver Wright Tavern will be hosting a Father's Day BBQ Brunch with seatings from 10 a.m. until 1:30 p.m. The brunch is $34 for adults, $12 for children ages four to 12, and free for children under the age of three. Reservations made prior to the day of the event are required and those who attend the brunch get a 25 percent discount on admission to the village.

OSV's other upcoming event is Wool Days, which will be taking place on Memorial Day weekend, May 25-27, and will teach guests about how New Englanders reared sheep for their wool in the 1830s, as well as how natural dyes were used to produce a variety of colors and what kids of wool different animals produce, and

Wales native serves aboard 'Floating Airport at Sea'

Jan McInnis and Kent Rader

Josalin Beaulieu

BY JANWEB LAGAZO MASS COMMUNICATIONS SPECIALIST 2ND CLASS U.S. NAVY

YOKOSUKA, Japan - Fireman Josalin Beaulieu, a native of Wales, Mass., always had an interest in the Navy because her grandfather and great grandfather served, but she said it was her best friend who really influenced her decision to serve.

Now, two years later and half a world away, Beaulieu serves aboard the aircraft carrier USS Ronald Reagan, patrolling one of the world's busiest maritime regions as part of the leading-edge of U.S. 7th Fleet.

"It's interesting, because there's always something that needs attention," she said. "My heart always stutters when [the ship's] alarms go off because it's an adrenaline rush.'

Beaulieu, a 2017 graduate of Tantasqua High School, is a damage controlman aboard the Yokosuka, Japan-based ship, the only forward-deployed aircraft carrier in the Navy.

As a damage controlman, Beaulieu takes responsibility for the ship's firefighting equipment and serves as sort of a first responder during times of emergency.

Beaulieu credits her success in the Navy to lessons learned in Wales.

"I never take anything for granted," she said. "My dad and brother taught me to always work hard and that translated over to the Navy."

U.S. 7th Fleet spans more than 124 million square kilometers, stretching from the International Date Line to the India/Pakistan border; and from the Kuril Islands in the North to the Antarctic in the South. U.S. 7th Fleet's area of operations encompasses 36 maritime countries and 50 percent of the world's population with between 50-70 U.S. ships and submarines, 140 aircraft, and approximately 20,000 sailors.

"Everything goes by so fast and I feel like we're always said Beaulieu. moving,"

With more than 50 percent of the world's shipping tonnage and a third of the world's crude oil passing through the region, the United States has historic and enduring interests in this part of the world. The Navy's presence in Yokosuka is part of that long-standing commitment, explained Navy officials.

"The Navy is forward-deployed to provide security and strengthen relationships in a free and open Indo-Pacific. It's not just the ships and aircraft that have shown up to prevent conflict and promote peace," said Vice Admiral Phil Sawyer, commander, U.S. 7th Fleet. "It is, and will continue to be our people who define the role our Navy plays around the world. People who've made a choice, and have the will and strength of character to make a difference."

Sturbridge Farmer's Market to open June 9

BY ANNIE SANDOLI

STURBRIDGE—The Sturbridge Farmer's market is ready to launch its second season on Sunday, June 9 from 9 a.m. until 1 p.m. on the Town Common, hosting a combination of new and returning vendors, tables, and entertainment acts every week until Sunday, Oct. 6.

Created last year to support local farmers and artisans, promote sustainable agriculture and buying from small businesses, encourage the town's economic development, and strengthen the community by providing a healthy outdoor activity, the event was a huge success and had more than enough support to come back for a second year, with some new additions but the same general dynamic that made it so popular.

"In general, the core tenants of the market are the same," said Kevin Filchak, the Economic Development and Tourism Coordinator for the Town of Sturbridge. "There are a lot of returning vendors, so if you found someone you liked last year, there is a better than average chance that they will be there again this year. There will also still be music every week and a community table."

The changes that have been made this year include a more orderly and regular schedule so that those who attend the market know exactly who is going to be there each week and don't have to guess whether or not their favorite vendors are there.

"Our schedule is a lot more formal this year, so we will be putting out a calendar that will show which vendors will be at that specific market and what booths will be set up," said Filchak. "You're probably going to see the produce vendors there every week because product turns over very quickly, and the artisan and craft vendors are more likely to cycle through.'

Instead of a kids' table this year, the Sturbridge Farmer's Market is introducing an "Old Coots Table" modeled after a group of elderly people in the Midwest who set up a booth at a farmer's market and gave free advice. At this table, local residents with a lot of life experience will provide advice and share stories, connecting the older generations with the younger generations.

"We are just a group of elderly people dispensing free advice," said Sandra Nasto, a Sturbridge Farmer's Market volunteer who is in charge of the new table. "It's a way for a person to get an outside opinion from someone who has

Historical Society commemorates the tragedy of the Titanic

CHARLTON — Thanks to the magic of Hollywood, the brief but legendary life and epic tragedy of the RMS Titanic is now known to just about anyone with more than a passing interest in the doomed ocean liner. Though the stories of Jack and Rose are fiction, the surroundings and circumstances of their passage on the most celebrated ship of all time were faithfully documented on film, to the extent that this cinematic experience ranks as one of the mostwatched and awarded movies ever.

And no wonder. From the moment of embarkation on her maiden voyage on April 10, 1912, the Titanic saga was and remains one of the most intriguing stories of modern history. Every aspect of her design, construction, engineering and appointment has been studied in great detail. The chronicle of her encounter with the iceberg, her sinking, the rescue of her passengers and blame for the tragedy has been debated for a century - with no end to the fascination in sight. The discovery of the ship's wreckage by Dr. Robert Ballard more than two decades ago, and the subsequent retrieval of artifacts from its vicinity have only heightened an already intense scrutiny of everything to do with this magnificent liner.

It has been 107 years since the Titanic left Southampton, England, for New York City on its first and only voyage. As fascinating as the tale of this great ship is, so, too, are the stories of those whose lives became intertwined with the legendary vessel.

To commemorate the loss of the Titanic and celebrate the heroism of those who sailed in her, the Charlton Historical Society will host a presentation by Lester Paquin and Lucy Allen of the Barre Historical Society on Monday evening, June 10 at 7 p.m. at The Rider Tavern in Charlton. Titled "Titanic: The Ship And Her People," the illustrated talk is free and open to the public, and light refreshments will be served following the presentation.

An illustrated narrative of the Titanic's final voyage will be featured. including some facts and details not commonly known. A highlight of the presentation will be profiles of several of the ship's passengers and their circumstances. Some are well-known and others have receded into history - but all share the common bond of being at one place, at one time, that forever defined their lives and legacies.

Lester Paquin has extensively studied and lectured on the subject of ocean liners in general and the Titanic, Lusitania and Andrea Doria in particular. He is the administrator of the Barre Historical Society and the Chairman of Barre's Historical Commission, and has recently prepared a program on the rescue of the Lipizzaner stallions at the end of World War II. Lucy Allen has worked for the City Manager's Office in Worcester, and is an eminent genealogist and historical researcher who also serves as President of the Barre Museum Association.

Come to the Charlton Historical Society's presentation on June 10 at the Historic Rider Tavern on Stafford Street and hear some fascinating stories about an incredible ship and those who sailed with her into history. And, even if you saw the movie, you will likely learn something about the Titanic and her people that you never knew before.

Aemilia Ohop inducted into Honor Society of Phi Kappa Phi

BATON ROUGE, La. — Aemilia Ohop of Holland, Massachusetts, was recently initiated into The Honor Society of Phi Kappa Phi, the nation's oldest and most selective all-discipline collegiate honor society. Ohop is pursuing degrees in Art, Art History, Art Studio, Art/Drawing/Painting/Sculpture, and Psychology at Framingham State University.

Ohop is among approximately 30,000 students, faculty, professional staff and alumni to be initiated into Phi Kappa Phi each year. Membership is by invitation only and requires nomination and approval by a chapter. Only the top 10 percent of seniors and 7.5 percent of juniors are eligible for membership. Graduate students in the top 10 percent of the number of candidates for graduate degrees may also qualify, as do faculty, professional staff and alumni who have achieved scholarly distinction.

Phi Kappa Phi was founded in 1897 under the leadership of undergraduate student Marcus L. Urann who had a desire to create a different kind of honor society: one that recognized excellence in all academic disciplines. Today, the Society has chapters on more than 300 campuses in the United States and the Philippines. Its mission is "To recognize and promote academic excellence in all fields of higher education and to engage the community of scholars in service to others.

More About Phi Kappa Phi

Since its founding, more than 1.5 million members have been initiated into Phi Kappa Phi. Some of the organization's notable members include former President Jimmy Carter, NASA astronaut Wendy Lawrence, novelist John Grisham and YouTube co-founder Chad Hurley. Each year, Phi Kappa Phi awards nearly $1 million to outstanding students and members through graduate and dissertation fellowships, undergraduate study abroad grants, funding for post-baccalaureate development, and grants for local, national and international literacy initiatives. For more information about Phi Kappa Phi, visit www.phikappaphi.org.

Herbs in the Garden

As you plan this year's garden, remember that few outdoor plantings are as charming as the common herb garden. With a renewed interest in growing herbs, more and more people are enjoying the benefits of the healing plants, whether plucked straight from the ground or from a windowsill pot. Offering a visual delight, plus the promise of medicinal magic, rediscovering the humble herb is a simple summer pleasure. Read on for a review of the practical plants.

Chamomile: Chamomile is a versatile herb that can be brewed into a tea to soothe such maladies as an upset stomach, indigestion, anxiety and sleeplessness. The fragrant herb has even been touted as a nightmare deterrent! The hardy, low-growing plant is easy to cultivate in a backyard garden. Chamomile has been dubbed the "herb of humility" because it seemed to thrive when walked on, and in England has actually been planted as a fragrant lawn.

Fun fact: In the old days chamomile was called the "Plant's Physician." If a plant was sickly, the cure was often to scatter a few chamomile sprigs in the garden bed.

Peppermint: Peppermint, the source of menthol, has long been utilized by generations of practical households. It's claim to fame is that peppermint relieves a tummy ache, alleviates the chills, and lessons symptoms of fever and the flu. A few strong cups of peppermint tea has even been credited with curing a headache. The Romans crowned themselves with Peppermint branches and ancient Greeks believed peppermint could clear the voice and cure hiccups. In ancient times peppermint was considered the symbol of hospitality

Peppermint Poultice: Make a paste of crushed peppermint leaves and almond oil. Rub onto skin to alleviate muscle aches or migrane.

Catnip: While herbalists recommend catnip tea for upset stomach, nervous headache and promoting perspiration to cool a fever, it's often fun to grow catnip purely for your pet's pleasure. Folklore dictates catnip grown near or around your home attracts good luck.

While catnip is best known for the euphoric response it induces in cats, not all cats are effected by it and some don't react to catnip until they are older than three months.

Catnip Tea: Add one teaspoon of loose dried catnip to one cup of boiling water. Make sure the mixture is steeped only and not allowed to boil. Strain and serve. Try it with lemon or sweetened with honey.

Lemon Balm: Lemon Balm infuses the garden air with a citrusy fragrance. Medicinally, lemon balm has been placed directly onto insect bites or sores, made into teas for bronchial problems, colds, or drank simply to relieve tension. Today, the essential oil of Lemon Balm is commonly used in aromatherapy to treat depression. Rich in legend, it's been claimed soaking the leaves of the balm in vine for a few hours will influence love!

Lemon Balm Vinaigrette: Combine three tablespoons light olive oil, one teaspoon finely crumbled lemon balm, 1/8 teaspoon salt, 1/16 teaspoon pepper and two tablespoons rice wine vinegar. Use as a salad or vegetable dressing.

Rosemary: Rosemary folklore boasts a long history. It is said rosemary was the original incense and burning a twig of the cleansing herb would rid the area of all negativity. Rosemary was burned in shrines in Ancient Greece to drive away evil spirits and illnesses. Greeks students of that time also wore garlands of rosemary in their hair TAKE THE HINT KAREN

to improve their memory. In addition, it was long claimed a necklace made from rosemary preserves ones youth. Rosemary is now a common herb to use in drawer sachets and hair rinses.

Rosemary-Lemon Meat Rub: Mix together 1 1/2 teaspoon grated lemon peel; one teaspoon dried crushed rosemary leaves; two minced garlic cloves; and one quarter teaspoon each salt, ground pepper and dried thyme leaves. Rub on tender cuts of meat to add flavor before cooking or grilling.

Lavender: Dating back several thousand years, lavender has served as a valuable herbal staple in both the kitchen and the sickroom. Romans are credited for the spread of lavender throughout Europe, taking it with them everywhere they went in order to have local supplies of lavender oil which they used extensively in bath water and soap as well as in many other ways. Most lavenders are originally natives of the Mediterranean countries. Today, lavender is used in rubbing oils to soothe sore joints, and an infusion of lavender has long been used as a cold compress to treat severe headaches. The lovely scent of lavender makes it a popular herb in sachets, perfumes and many aromatherapy and craft projects.

Fun fact: In the middle ages, sprinkling lavender water on a person's head was thought to keep them chaste!

Thyme: Thyme is a magical herb, as popular for its flavor as for its healing properties. Historically, thyme was employed as a medicinal weapon to combat European plaques, and as recently as WWI, thyme essential oil was used as an antiseptic. And a hot cup of tea infused with thyme has even been touted as an effective hangover cure!

Sleepy Thyme: Thyme has also been used to treat nightmares. It has been said a few sprigs of the herb placed beneath a pillow can ensure a good night's sleep.

Sage: Sage traces its history back to the ancients who touted the herb for a cure-all for such maladies as epilepsy and warts. For generations, sage has been used for coughs, fevers and as a health tonic. Native Americans used sage in salves to treat various skin conditions and they frequently used sturdy springs of sage as a toothbrush. Today, sage's antiseptic and astringent properties make it a popular herb for treating skin sores and irritations. Sage is also said to help in the healing of bruises and proper blood circulation.

Sage Honey: Add two teaspoons of fresh sage to one quart of honey. Warm over low heat. Place in a covered canning jar and store for at least two weeks to infuse flavor.

NOTE: Use herbs at your own risk and only under proper direction. Herbs should not be used under some circumstances, so consult a professional before consuming or applying herbs.

Take the bassle out of daily watering

MYERS

Proper watering is key to gardening success, but untangling and dragging heavy hoses across the yard, smashing delicate flowers and young vegetable plants along the way is a common occurrence in many yards. If this describes your escapades when watering garden beds and planters, it may be time to look for some time-saving solutions that reduce the hassle of hand watering.

Protect edging plants, especially those at the corner of the bed with hose guides. You can make your own from colorful wine bottles inverted over a section of rebar anchored in the ground. Or invest in some functional or decorative hose guides available for sale.

Connecting and disconnecting the hose to the faucet, inadequate length of hoses, and nozzles can be a source of aggravation. Washers disappear, connections loosen, and leaks occur. Invest in quick-connectors that allow you to make all these connections with a simple click.

Clear the hose

clutter off patios, decks and walks while keeping them easily accessible for daily watering. A hose reel allows you to easily wind up the hose out of sight near the faucet. These are often mounted on the wall or are unsightly and bulky devices with wheels that can still be a bit unwieldy. Evaluate the design and ease of use before investing.

An automatic reel that retracts the hose quickly and easily or a lightweight portable model may be just the solution. Irrigation equipment like the G.F. Italia Portable Reel Nozzle Hose available at gardeners.com is lightweight enough, allowing you to carry 50 feet of hose that unravels just the length you need as you water various garden beds or containers on the deck.

Coil hoses ar

designed to expand when filled with water then retract into a small size for clean, easy storage and portability. You eliminate the need to unwind and rewind long lengths of hoses every time you water. Look for hoses made of long-lasting, kink-free materials that have superior coil memory for years of easy watering.

Make moving long stretches of hoses easier with featherweight and lightweight slim products. A featherweight hose can weigh as little as two and a half pounds, making it easier to move through the garden and back onto the reel or storage container.

Combine the convenience of storage and lightweight portability. You'll minimize the need for maintaining hoses at every faucet while retaining the convenience. Look for products that allow you to easily move your hose where it's needed. Expandable hoses allow you to easily move your hose from faucet to faucet for watering around the yard or pack it in your RV when traveling.

Make proper watering

a more convenient part of garden and container maintenance by investing in quality hoses, connectors and storage options. If it's easy, you are more likely to water plants as needed and then store the hoses conveniently out of sight after each watering.

Melinda Myers has written more than 20 gardening books, including Small Space Gardening. She hosts The Great Courses "How to Grow Anything" DVD series and the Melinda's Garden Moment TV & radio segments. Myers is a columnist and contributing editor for Birds & Blooms magazine and was commissioned by Gardeners Supply for her expertise to write this article. Her Web site is www.MelindaMyers.

Transitioning away from turkeys

Wild turkey hunting ended May 25 in Massachusetts, and by all the feedback to this writer, it seemed to be a great season. Reports of at least two 25-pound birds harvested in the local area by hunters, and many birds in the 20-pound-plus class provided some great memories for young and old, not to forget the great eating. Numerous local sportsmen brought along some first time turkey hunters, and helped them bag there first bird by calling and setting them up in one of their hunting spots.

Numerous young hunters were also invited to go along on

Wild turkey hunting ended May 25 in Massachusetts, and by all the feedback to this writer, it seemed to be a great season. Reports of at least two 25-pound birds harvested in the local area by hunters, and their first hunt. They are now hooked on hunting! Thanks to all of those sportsmen that took time out of their daily schedule to introduce these youngsters to the thrill of turkey hunting.

Fluke fishing in Massachusetts and Rhode Island is heating up with numerous reports of some large fluke like the one in this week's photo, courtesy of Red Top Bait & Tackle shop.

Seabass are the hot topic for this week. This year, Massachusetts has a daily bag limit of five fish from May 18-

Sept. 8, while Rhode Island does not allow any seabass fishing until June 24. This seabass regulation in Rhode Island does not sit well with many anglers. With the seabass population at an all time high, it does not make any sense. Summer flounder fishing in Massachusetts now has a special shore fishing regulation allowing them a reduced size to 17 inches, with a two daily limit. Regular regulations are six 19-inch fish per day!

Haddock fishing has been very good for anglers on head boats and private charters on the Gulf of Maine. The haddock population has rebounded big time and is providing some great fishing on the North Shore. Cod fishing still remains closed for recreational anglers despite their numerous catches made while fishing for haddock & Pollock.

Striper fishing is heating up all along the coast of Mass.

& Rhode Island. It will not be long before someone reels in a 50-pound striper like the one in this week's photo taken in 2017.

What's at stake when you take a seat?

Proponents of physical activity say that sitting is the new smoking, but how true is that statement, and what are the justifications behind modern times, with the onslaught of technology more people are spending their working hours sitting at a desk, or sitting behind a machine that is doing all of the physical labor. While there are still several occupations that allow a person to move about, the days of hard manual labor, long hours on a farm, and using hand held tools to build most things are over.

Today's society is physically lazier than ever, and that is not necessarily the fault of the individual; it is simply how things have unfolded as technology advanced. With this news of the downfalls of leading a sedentary lifestyle chirping about, some companies have invested in stand-up desks to try to offset any negative consequences to sitting in a chair all day long.

One study shows that sitting for too long can increase heart failure and will shorten life expectancy; however, there has been little evidence to prove that a stand up desk could improve such ailments. The study showed that the amount of calories you burn by standing as opposed to sitting equals out to a handful of potato chips; however, over time, those calories do add up. One study showed that standing for longer than four hours showed an increased propensity for enlarged veins. The idea is to find the balance between your standing and sitting time. One suggestion to boost more movement in the office is to move a printer or fax machine far enough away so you have to walk to it, to get in a few more steps throughout the day.

The most disturbing fact discovered was that students sit, on average, for more than seven hours per day. That makes sense when you think about the hours in a school day, drive time, doing homework, sitting down for dinner, and of course, screen time with cell phones or in front of the television. That means that children and teens today are sitting for more than 85 percent of the time during waking hours.

A different study that actually equated sitting to smoking showed that sitting as little as two hours in a row increases the risk for heart disease. Individuals apparently who sit for less than three hours per day are said to have a longer life expectancv.

Proven is the fact that sitting too long can cause orthopedic dysfunction, and also can impact a child's ability to process information. Children who are at standing desks burn up to 25 percent more calories during the school day than their sitting counterparts and were more engaged in classroom activities. Obese children who used standing desks increased calorie burn by up to 25 to 35 percent, and fidgeting can actually impact calories burned as well. Children are meant to move and if given the opportunity that's exactly what they'll do.

Interesting regarding children, and really, no surprise, is the fact that they are happier when not restricted to a chair and classroom behavior improves when students are able to actively learn and tend to be more creative.

When you are in a standing position, your complex motor skills are at their best, and you prevent back and neck pain, pelvic floor dysfunction, knee and hip disorders and reduces cell aging.

We think it would be interesting to place a step tracker on a typical student at the start of a school day and record their steps at the end of the day over the period of a week. Those results may shock many.

Living in the present with your family

POSITIVELY

By Gary W.

MOORE

As a young entrepreneur and CEO, I found myself planning for and living my life inside my head, as I worked to anticipate and capitalize on the future. Success in life requires all of us to plan and look forward. However, my problem as a young man and business leader was my reluctance to leave the office and the future behind, as I would arrive at home to live in the present. I was always looking ahead and planning for success to come, and in the process, I missed out on too many of life's impromptu and cherished

I'm not alone.

I hear it from others. We seem to arrive at a point in our lives where we understand what we have missed, and why. With that realization often comes a commitment to do better, and that's good but we can never retrieve lost time. The family events, recitals, games and other happenings can never be revisited. I didn't miss much. My body was present, but my mind was absent. I was often physically with my family and mentally at work. It is a common problem with breadwinners and is compounded by the two career households.

Our children and mates need us mentally and emotionally present. Most of us know what to do to live a life in the now, but it's not that simple. Career pressures, financial demands and professional goals, pull and tug us away from home and family. We just must make the conscious decision to be present.

I remember having this conversation with Arlene at a swim meet. I was there in the bleachers physically present but taking calls on my mobile phone. We were driving home, and she said, "Why don't you just stay at work next time? You really aren't here.'

"What do you mean?" I responded. "The kids need me here!"

She shrugged. "I agree, so why not be here next time and not on your phone

I acted offended but knew she was right. Later that night, I confessed that I to remind me as I start drifting away and she said, "Okay, then leave your mobile phone and laptop in your car.

strategies

Vacation and

To achieve any of your FINANCIAL financial objectives, you to save and invest - that much is clear. But just how you save and invest may differ from goal to goal. Let's look at two common goals to see the differences in your savings and investment strategies.

The first goal we'll consider is a dream vacation – one lasting a couple of weeks or more, possibly to an exotic locale. So, for the investments you've designated to fund this vacation, you need two key attributes: liquidity and low risk. The liquidity requirement is pretty self-explanatory – you want to be able to get to your vacation funds exactly when you need them, and you don't want to be slapped with some type of early withdrawal or tax pen-

The low-risk part of your vacation strategy means you want investments that won't drop in value just when you need to sell them to use the proceeds for your trip. However, you need to be aware that those types of stable-value investment vehicles likely will not offer much growth potential. As you may know, the investments with the greatest possible rewards are also those that carry the highest degrees of risk. Yet, by starting to invest early enough in more conservative invest ments, and putting away money regularly, you may be able to compensate for the lack of growth opportunities.

Now, let's turn to your other goal retirement. When you are saving for retirement, your primary objective is pretty simple: to accumulate as much money as you can. Consequently, you will need a reasonable percentage of your portfolio devoted to growth-oriented investments. But what's a reasonable percentage? There's no onesize-fits-all solution - the amount of growth investments in your portfolio should be based on several factors. including your age, risk tolerance and projected retirement lifestyle.

Furthermore, this percentage may need to change over time. When you're just starting out in your career, you may be able to afford to take on the greater risk that comes with having a higher percentage of your portfolio in growth investments. But as you get closer to retirement, you might want to begin shifting some dollars toward more conservative vehicles – you don't want to be over-exposed to the volatility of the financial markets just when you need to start selling investments to help fund your retirement.

Nonetheless, you won't want to give up all growth investments, even during your retirement years. You could spend two or three decades as a retiree, and over that time, inflation could take a big toll on your purchasing power. To counter this effect, you will need to own some investments that have the potential at least to equal, and ideally outpace, the cost of living.

The examples of taking that extensive vacation and enjoying a long retirement illustrate the importance of recognizing that you will have many goals in life - and you'll need to prioritize and plan for them, sometimes following significantly different investment strategies. When you do, you'll give yourself a better chance of reaching your destinations.

Reflections for graduation season

This week, I realized it has been a year since I graduated with my Master's degree.

An entire year. That's so crazy to me. It feels like just vesterday when I woke up at 4 a.m. to curl my hair and try to figure out how to bobby pin my graduation cap on my head without looking completely ridiculous, spent the whole morning so preoccupied with keeping my mom and dad away from each other that it actually made me sweat from nervousness, and was so excited that I couldn't even think about eating the breakfast the school provided for us.

I remember walking into Harvard Yard with the other people in my Journalism program and thinking, "How did I even do this? I would never even think about doing it again." After all the excitement of graduation day, I received a piece of paper with my name on it and a bunch of other words written in Latin that now sits under my bed with absolutely no use, updated my resume to say that I'm more than just a "degree candidate," made a LinkedIn account that definitely screamed "lack of real world experience" to recruiters, and said my prayers for an income that could actually allow me to pay for the piece of paper mentioned

This past year was my first year out of school...ever. I went from homeschooling, to a community college, to a university, and finally to graduate school with no breaks and no time off, not even summers. It has been very weird to listen to other people talk about finals, but not actually have any to worry about. It has been scary to be in the work force instead of just working part time and focusing on studying. It has been stressful to have my student loans thrown at me full-force despite my entry-level income and lack of financial knowledge.

But if I had to do it all over again, I wouldn't change a thing, and I really hope everyone graduating this year will feel exactly the same way a year from thing to an undergraduate experience that I will ever have. It was my first time living away from home in a new place, my first experience with parties and spending time with people from all over the world, and the first time I really felt truly going to graduate school was really the closest and intensely intimidated by how intelli gent everyone around me was. I started to realize just how small East Brookfield actually is, and I began to crave more and more new adventures.

As I look back on my experiences with graduate school a year later, I recognize that my classes taught me how to follow AP style guidelines, how to get people to open up to me in interviews, and how to cut a 1.500-word article down to 800 words and still convey the same message. What I am most thankful for, however, is that it forced me into the real world head-on.

Moving away from home was an introduction to paying rent and bills that I had never even thought about before. Meeting new people taught me lessons about trust and being straightforward. Having classmates that were smarter than me pushed me to explore new ideas and think about the world in a different light. My capstone project forced me to cover real stories and confidently talk to people on the street. Being lonely showed me that I can be my own friend when I'm in a new and strange place and no one else is around. Getting a random part-time job turned into discovering a passion for bookselling I never knew I had.

When I think about school, test scores and grades don't even come to mind anymore. It's the people, the experiences, the growth, the tears, the anger, the doubts, the successes, the failures, the self-discovery, and the passions. I hope that every student receiving their very own piece of paper this year will look back on their experiences and think, "I would never even think about doing it again, but I'm so unbelievably happy I

Jim and Cheryl Zanello purchased the 80-acre lot in Sandown, NH in 2000 after retiring. Four years later Zorvino Vineyards was established. The "Zor" in Zorvino comes from the original family name Zorzanello and "Vino" means wine. Family and Wine, the perfect pairing.

In the first years, 150 cold climate vines, mostly hybrids, were planted. To date, there are roughly 2,000 vines on site. The bulk of the grapes are brought in from Italy, California and South America. They are mostly known for their "off dry"fruit wines. blends and unusual 100% fruit or vegetable wines like Pumpkin, Beet and Rhubarb to name a few. New favorites include their red wines and white wines aged in American White Oak.

the residents there, which is a community that doesn't always get to participate, and still have an extra 200 tickets to sell."

Although they normally tour and do corporate events and conferences separately, McInnis and Rader started getting together regularly to do the Baby Boomer show after they met through a comedian friend six years ago, and haven't stopped since. They now do the show in theaters all over the country and offer it to nonprofits at a lesser price to support their causes.

"We wanted to do a show together, but I didn't want to go back to the clubs, so we decided we wanted to do something for theaters and events," said McGinnis. "We are both baby boomers and our audiences are mostly baby boomers and we talked about who we wanted to have in the audience and went from there. We also like to help out organizations, because not only is it a fun night for everyone, but it gets their name out there and associated with a nice event."

McInnis said that despite the title of the show, it is not just for baby boomers and people of all ages are encouraged to attend the completely family-friendly event.

"It is both clean and funny standup comedy," she said. "We talk about lots of topics that relate to everyone and it's not something that only baby boomers are going to get."

All the proceeds from the Baby Boomer Comedy Show will go directly towards the programs that UWSSC supports, including the American Red Cross of Central & Western MA, Big Brothers Big Sisters of Central MA, The Bridge of Central Ma, Inc., The CASA Project Inc., Catholic Charities, Community Legal Aid, Girl Scouts of Central & Western MA, Literacy Volunteers of South Central MA, MASS 2-1-1, Mohegan Council of Boy Scouts, New Hope, Old Sturbridge Village, Pathways for Change, Inc, St. Luke's Guesthouse, Tri-Community YMCA, and Tri-Valley, Inc.

"We hope that we make the money that we forecast so that we can give it right back to the public," said O'Coin. "People want to do something fun rather than just dealing with the sadness that comes with the vulnerable populations, and this event is really generational and a great opportunity for all members of the family to come enjoy it."

Tickets for the Baby Boomer Comedy Show are $25 in advance and $30 at the door. In accordance with the rules of the Overlook Performing Arts Center, alcohol will not be served at this event.

Named in honor of former President Ronald Reagan, the carrier is longer than three football fields, measuring nearly 1,100 feet. The ship, a true floating city, weighs more than 100,000 tons and has a flight deck that is 252 feet wide. Two nuclear reactors can push the ship through the water at more than 35 mph.

Sailors' jobs are highly varied aboard the carrier. Approximately 3,200 men and women make up the ship's crew, which keeps all parts of the aircraft carrier running smoothly -- this includes everything from handling weapons to operating nuclear reactors. Another 2,500 men and women form the air wing responsible for flying and maintaining more than 70 aircraft aboard the ship.

Ronald Reagan, like each of the Navy's aircraft carriers, is designed for a 50-year service life. When the air wing is embarked, the ship carries more than 70 attack jets, helicopters and other aircraft, all of which take off from and land aboard the carrier at sea.

Serving in the Navy means Beaulieu is part of a world that is taking on new importance in America's focus on rebuilding military readiness, strengthening alliances and reforming business practices in support of the National Defense Strategy.

A key element of the Navy the nation needs is tied to the fact that America is a maritime nation, and that the nation's prosperity is tied to the ability to operate freely on the world's oceans. More than 70 percent of the Earth's surface is covered by water; 80 percent of the world's population lives close to a coast; and 90 percent of all global trade by volume travels by sea.

"Our priorities center on people, capabilities and processes, and will be achieved by our focus on speed, value, results and partnerships," said Secretary of the Navy Richard V. Spencer. "Readiness, lethality and modernization are the requirements driving these priorities."

There are many ways for sailors to earn distinction in their command, community, and career. Beaulieu said she is most proud of earning a job, or "rate" and getting qualified in it.

"In a way, I feel a sense of belonging now that I have rate and it's exciting," said Beaulieu.

Project New Hope the winner as Tantasqua takes on Quaboag

BY NICK ETHIER SPORTS STAFF WRITER

STURBRIDGE — Sure, the Tantasqua Regional varsity softball team defeated Quaboag Regional, 23-3, on Tuesday evening, May 21, but the real winner was Project New Hope. The special game carried no admission fee, but there were donation bins to help benefit Project New Hope, a nonprofit organization dedicated to "helping veterans and their families during and after military service since 2011." There was also a 50/50 raffle at the game and Sunbelt Rentals graciously donated on-field lights. A PA system was implemented, the American Legion Color Guard presented the colors for the national anthem and Col. Tom Stewart threw out the first pitch to his daughter, Tantasqua senior Marie

Phil Desroches, head coach of the Warriors and the mastermind of the night's event, noticed that a Massachusetts boys' lacrosse team had a game where proceeds went to Project New Hope, and his mind began to race.

'So I thought about doing this game — a night game, getting the lights and raising the money for Project New Hope," explained Desroches. father's a World War II vet, so there's some ties. My two brothers were servicemen."

Col. Stewart, who works for the Massachusetts Army National Guard and served in Afghanistan, took the money raised and brought it to Project New Hope.

The Cougars also "graciously donated" to the cause, according to Desroches, a deed that Quaboag head coach John Fox called a "no-brainer."

"The girls contributed," said Fox. "It ties in athletics with civics. To directly do something that directly ties in with what we teach...it ties into our core values.

Desroches called the event a massive success.

"Everything that we wanted, and then some," he said.

As far as the game was concerned, Tantasqua scored one run in the bottom of the first inning, 13 times in the second, seven more in the third and added two more in the fourth as the game was called after the top of the fifth due to the mercy rule.

"It was nice for the kids, the kids needed it," Desroches said of the 23-run, 16-hit effort after an uncharacteristically poor season — the team is now 7-11. "We wanted to have a good game for our seniors, it's their last home game."

Marie Stewart and Jillian Dunn are the team's seniors, and they both had good games. Stewart batted from the leadoff position and was 1-for-3 with three runs scored, two walks and an RBI. Dunn batted third and was 2-for-2 with three runs scored, a walk, a hit by pitch and three RBI.

Other contributors for the Warriors included Niya Talcott (3-for-4, two runs, five RBI), Erin McCarthy (2-for-3, three runs, walk, two RBI), Shannon Dunn (1-for-3, three runs, two walks, three RBI), Emily Locke (1-for-3, run, walk, hit by pitch, RBI), Jenna Casine (2-for-4, two runs, walk), Molly Ryan (two runs, two walks), Rachel Flamand (two runs, two walks), Abby Arena (1-for-1, run), Megan Mawdsley (1-for-1, RBI), Linda Barriere (1-for-1, walk, two RBI) and Kaitlyn Boone (1-for-3, run, two RBI).

Flamand pitched the first two innings for Tantasqua, while Boone closed it out with the final three frames.

For Quaboag (2-10), Desiree Buter was 1-for-2 with two RBI and Kim Fish was 1-for-3 with an RBI. The Cougars' other hits came off the bats of Vanessa Ricci, Jenna Wade, Ania Bolaske, Hannah Dumas and Kailee Lindholm.

Tantasqua Regional Youth Soccer Results - U10 D3 boys take on Quabbin

Grit and tenacity. After another week for Tantasqua Regional Youth Soccer, another game for the U10 Division 3 Boys, and another contest against Quabbin (on Wednesday, May 22 at Lewis Field in Brookfield), grit and tenacity are the words to describe the character of the team coached by Eli Gillen, Andrew St. George and Kimberly Welton-Pulsifer.

For the start of the first half, Coach Gillen deployed Derrick Mawdsley in net with Nathan Regan and Hunter Bercume in the back. Noah Bruneau, Aodhan Gillen and Connor Fitzgerald played across the midfield, while Joe Achi started at striker. Eagerly awaiting their turn to play were Brody Bouchard, Gavin Espinoza, Owen Pulsifer, Colten Renaud and Elway St.

George. And everyone needed to be ready because the Quabbin team presented an adversary with size and skill.

Quabbin started the contest dominating possession and keeping the ball mostly in Tantasqua's defensive third. Tantasqua was undeterred by playing on their back foot and kept shutting down Quabbin's attack. Whether it was Mawdsley using his size and aggressive goalie skills to swallow up a shot, or Regan getting a good clear on the ball, or the midfield covering for each other, Quabbin was not given many good shots on net for all their offensive opportunities. Jack Edwards, commentator for Bruins games, would love this team: they hustle, sacrifice the body and play defense in layers. Tantasqua's persistence paid off as eventually they worked a breakout and Gillen brought it down and passed it off to Bercume, who hit a stinger off the crossbar with a resounding ring. From here, Tantasqua gained confidence that would even out the play through the rest of the match.

Bouchard and Regan, in particular, were solid on defense. Bercume asserted himself in the middle and Fitzgerald, Gillen and Renaud were pests on the wings. The game was played hard right down to the final whistle and, even though there were no goals scored, the resulting 0-0 draw couldn't have been more exciting.

OBITUARIES

Ruth Charlotte Clementsen

Ruth Charlotte Clementsen was born on February 20, 1928, to Norwegian immigrant parents John and Astrid Berg Clementsen. She grew up in Annadale, Staten Island, New York, where she graduated from Tottenville High School. She had an independent spirit: as a teenager she decided to add an "e" to her name, and was known as Ruthe from then on.

In 1946 she married George Thilberg. They lived in Jamesport, New York, and together they had three children: Jeffry, Penny and Neil. The marriage later ended

In 1958 she married Ernest T. (Ted) Berkeley, Jr. Together they had a daughter, Lori. They lived in Hurley, New Mexico; Chatsworth, California; Sturbridge, Massachusetts; and New Ipswich, New Hampshire. In 1994 they retired to Washington Island, Wisconsin, where they enjoyed twenty years in a beautiful island community before moving to Battle Lake, Minnesota in 2014.

Ruthe enjoyed music and had a lovely singing voice. She sang for many years in her church choirs and directed a children's choir while in Chatsworth. Ruthe was also an avid reader and particularly enjoyed her years working on the staff of the Joshua Hyde Public Library in Sturbridge.

Ruthe was a wonderful mother and grandmother to her children and grandchildren. She was lovingly known to her grandchildren and great grandchildren as "Bokey", a nickname given her by her granddaughter, Olivia.

She had many gifts and talents – a seamstress (she made many of her family's clothes, including Lori's wedding dress), a quilter, a swimmer (even tackling the waters of Lake Michigan), and was a great cook. In her retirement years she took up painting and her family members have many of her water color paintings on display in their homes.

Ruthe was a woman of deep Christian faith, and a very warm and caring person with a great sense of humor. She was a gracious hostess who always welcomed people into her home - whether for personal visits or frequent small group meetings and open houses at the parsonage. She is remembered by many as one of the kindest women they'd ever met. These were traits that combined to make her an outstanding partner with her husband in her life as a pastor's wife.Ruthe died peacefully with her husband at her side on May 10, 2019, at the Good Samaritan Nursing Home in Battle Lake, Minnesota. She is survived by her husband, Ted Berkeley; sister-in-law Pat (Bill) Wescott; brotherin-law Stephen Berkeley; children Jeff Thilberg (Thousand Oaks, CA), Penny (Carl) Andersen (Perham, MN), and Lori Berkeley Annbjorg (Tacoma, WA); grandchildren Rachel (Ted) Horan, Joel (Nicole) Andersen, Olivia Berkeley, Grace Goodwin, Joshua Berkeley, and Emily Goodwin; great grandchildren Lydia and Jonah Horan and Kinley and Bryce Andersen.

Ruthe was predeceased by her parents; son Neil; and sisters and brothersin-law Asie (Fred) Espenak and Marie (Walter) Taylor.

No services are planned at this time. Arrangements by Glende-Nilson Funeral Home of Battle Lake, MN.

Sally will demystify the signs, and walk you through the basics of understanding the principles of astrology (the first science, as early practitioners used it for purposes of medical assistance, agricultural guidance, public works and civic discourse and marital prospects!). This program is free but we ask that you register online at charltonlibrary.org or call the library at 508-248-0452.

Fun By The Numbers

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Level: Advanced

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!
