Beltone helps local woman receive the gift of hearing

Virginia Harris is fitted with a new hearing aid by the staff at Beltone Hearing Aid Center in Auburn.

AUBURN — Virginia Harris, 44, of Worcester suffers from major hearing loss, and cannot afford to purchase new hearing aids. She's also had many surgeries on both ears, but this has not helped with her hearing.

With nowhere else to turn, she decided to visit the Beltone Hearing Aid Center in Auburn. There, she met with Hearing Instrument Specialist Kenneth Karas, a very compassionate individual who cares deeply for his patients. Karas told Harris about the Beltone Hearing Care Foundation and said he would happily apply on her behalf to see if they could assist.

The Foundation, a 501(c)(3) charitable organization, donates hearing aids to those who are in need, and are unable to access them. Both individuals and organizations are eligible to receive assistance from the Foundation through direct nominations to Beltone or at one of its 1,500 locations across North America.

"This Foundation gives us a new path to achieve this mission by helping deserving individuals and organizations in their communities enrich their quality of life through better hearing," states Michael Andreozzi, CEO of Beltone New England.

A letter from Harris was included with the application. In it, she wrote, "All growing up, I was in the hospital getting tubes put in or taking out of my ears. I had constantly couldn't swim like the other kids and I spent a lot of time crying and unable to be like the other children due to all these problems with my ears. Before I was 21, I had some hearing loss

Community Players accepting registrations for Youth program

AUBURN — The Auburn Community Players Summer Youth Theater is now registering students for its 2019 production, Disney's "The Little Mermaid JR."

This year's theater workshop will be held from July 8 – July 19. Daily sessions run from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. at Pakachoag Church, 203 Pakachoag St., Auburn. Performances will be held Friday, July 19 at 7 p.m. and Saturday, July 20 at 2 p.m.

The program is geared towards students entering grades 5-9 as of September, 2019. The cost is $295, with discounts for siblings available.

Adapted from Disney's Broadway production and the motion picture, and based on one of Hans Christian Andersen's most beloved stories, Disney's "The Little Mermaid JR." is an enchanting look at the sacrifices we all make for love and acceptance.

Auburn Community Players is a community outreach program of Pakachoag Church in Auburn intended to provide youths from Auburn and its surrounding communities with access to enrichment opportunities through theater arts.

Tinner talks his trade and Revolution

BY GUS STEEVES
CORRESPONDENT

OXFORD – What do tin and the Revolution have to do with each other?

Not much on the surface, but local historian and tinner Larry Leonard wove them together in his role as "Brother Jonathan," speaking last weekend at a Daughters of the American Revolution gathering.

Leonard, a former teacher, has been a practicing tinner – as opposed to "tinsmith" – for about 25 years.

"The difference is about 200 years," he noted. "Tinsmith" is a 20th-century term, but the techniques, clothing and other aspects of his character come from the 18th or early 19th centuries. The trade itself goes back many more centuries, and Leonard's story actually starts around 1600, with a famous children's tale – Jack and Jill. That story, he said, has roots in tinning. When English King Charles I needed money to fight the 30-Years War but was "having problems with Parliament," he did one of the few things he could. He introduced a new way of measuring things.

At the time, a "gill" was the common liquid measure equalling a quarter cup, split into two "jacks." He shrank the latter to get more money, in effect hiking the tax on beer and wine on the grounds "they're not going to stop drinking."

The cups were typically made of tin, in large part because it's lightweight and easier to work than are copper, bronze or steel. (Tin is safer than copper, too; acidic foods in tin are safe, but in copper, they react to create highly toxic verdegriis, he said later. Copper cookware is traditionally lined in tin for that reason.)

"I do tin because I'm lazy," Leonard quipped. "It's easier than doing copper or brass ... and I can do it in the basement right next to the beer locker."

Tinning came to America in the 1740s, when Shem Browne "set up shop in Boston ... doing a little bit of everything." Around the same time, the "Patterson boys" came to Connecticut, where they made from tin "all sorts of neat things you'd normally make of pottery, pewter and silver." They'd been forced out of Pontypool, Wales, by the guilds of those other tradesmen, and settled here near toolmaker Jedediah North, Leonard has some of North's tools from the 1820s.

"Many tinner were farmers. You have to do something in wintertime other than make babies," he said.

The catch, though, was what to do

Singer to chair Board of Selectmen

BY JASON BLEAU
VILLAGER CORRESPONDENT

CHARLTON – The Charlton Board of Selectmen held its annual reorganization on Tuesday, May 7 naming a familiar name as the not-so-new chair of the board.

David Singer received unanimous approval from board members to serve as chair, a position he has occupied in the past. Singer was the only nominee for the post and will lead the meetings when available for the next year. Vice Chair will be Karen Spiewak who received the nomination over Deborah Noble who was recommended by selectman John McGrath, the previous board chair. McGrath's nomination of Noble was not seconded leading the board's newest member William "Bill" Borowski, who was elected earlier this month, to nominate Spiewak who received four votes with Noble abstaining from the vote.

Borowski was nominated for and accepted the position of clerk. Prior to the reorganization the newest member of the board thanked voters for trusting him and town employees and officials for helping with a smooth transition.

"I'm both excited and humbled to be here tonight. Thank you all who came out to vote," Borowski said. "I'd also like to extend special gratitude to both my colleagues as well as the staff at town hall for making the on-boarding process relatively painless. I'm just looking forward to trying to help out and move the town forward. So, let's get to work."

John McGrath and Deborah Noble will continue to serve as the remaining two selectmen on the board for the next year. Both of their terms expire in 2020. Before officially turning over the position of chair McGrath

Voters turn down Memorial School proposal

BY KEVIN FLANDERS
STAFF WRITER

LEICESTER – Annual Town Meeting voters made two reviews of the same warrant article last week, but it ended up failing both times.

Article 21 was the only item on the 26-article warrant which didn't pass during the May 7 meeting. The article sought the disposition of the Leicester Memorial School property, which contains about 28 acres of land.

In February, the School Committee unanimously voted to close the Memorial School at the end of the school year and reconfigure the district's grades. Students in grades three and four will be moved to the Primary School, beginning in September. Moreover, preschool students will move to the high school, and fifth graders will move to the middle school as part of the reconfiguration.

After Article 21 failed the first time, residents took another vote that yielded the same result.

In other Town Meeting news, Article 7 approved the operating budget at $29,343,868 for the fiscal year beginning July 1. This includes transfers from the Ambulance Receipts Reserved Account ($371,192) and from Free Cash ($150,000).

Meanwhile, the passage of Article 18 established annual spending limits for several revolving accounts. These include inspectional services, senior center programs, recycling, police training, recreation, tree lighting, and agricultural land acquisition, among others.

Article 13 authorized the town to transfer $84,223 from Free Cash to purchase and equip two police cruisers. Article 12 approved $21,400 to be transferred from Free Cash to fund groundwater and related studies at the former landfill site. The funds will be expended by the Highway Department.

Article 6 set the rate of compensation for elected officials, while Article 5 approved the appropriation of $50,000 to fund a Highway Department position. The source of the funding is the host community agreement signed with Cultivate Holdings, LLC. Town officials had initially hoped to create an economic development and grant writer position as well, but it was recommended that the funds be used for Highway Department staffing. The economic development position will likely be considered during the fall Special Town Meeting.

Article 4 approved $25,000 to fund improvements at town parks, which will be prioritized by the Highway Department. Selectmen previously voted 4-1 to recommend the approval of this article. Article 3, meanwhile, approved the transfer of $20,000 from Free Cash to pay for costs associated with funding police civil service promotional activities.

Article 2 authorized $90,081 to be transferred from Free Cash to fund the Fiscal Year 2019 Capital Improvement Plan budget. The funds will be used to pay for ongoing installments of a purchase agreement for an aerial scope tower truck.

Gateway players bring "Stranger in the Attic" to Sturbridge

STURBRIDGE — Old Sturbridge Village is proud to welcome Gateway Players to our stage with an exciting dinner theater experience.

On May 31, join us for dinner and the production of "Stranger in the Attic." Tickets for the dinner and show must be purchased in advance, but tickets for just the show will be available at the door. Dinner begins at 5:30 p.m. Show begins at 7:30 p.m. This is a fundraiser for the "Gateway to the Future Fund". The menu is Tossed Mixed Greens

Salad, Cole Slaw, Corn on the Cob, OSV Macaroni and Cheese, Boneless BBQ Chicken Thighs, Beef Brisket, Pulled Pork, Rolls with Whipped butter, and Strawberry Shortcake with fresh Whipped Cream. Tickets available by calling Kim Dolan at 508-347-0397. "Stranger in the Attic," written by John Kaasik, is directed by Lynn Boucher. The cast includes Billy Bolster, Lou-Ellen Corkum, Ed Humphries, Stephen Jean, Joni Metras and John Turpin. Chris McTigue is the stage manager and Barbara Day is producer. The story is set in the country home of freelance writer Brian Hollander and his wife Dana, their quiet life is unexpectedly upset by the arrival of a stranger named Kendrick, who is offering an exclusive story to Brian about a murder that has not happened yet! Brian pursues discussions of the story with Kendrick, and meets his neighbors Douglas and Margaret Brendan who tell Brian and Dana a disturbing story about a stranger who may be stalking them. Detective Hal Nelson comes into the play to try and unravel these interlocking stories and prevent a murder from happening.

Artful Friends Raffle kicks off June 6

SOUTHBRIDGE — The 14th Annual Artful Friends raffle will be on display at Jacob Edwards Library next month. This is the monthly art exhibit in the main reading room of the library, located at 236 Main St. in Southbridge.

The Artful Friends Raffle consists of donated original art- paintings, photos, collage, sculpture, pottery, jewelry, cards, fabric art and other handmade items, along with gift certificates from local restaurants and stores. People can buy $5 raffle cards, with 25 chances to win. Proceeds from the raffle will fund library programs, museum passes, speakers and receptions.

The Raffle kickoff is Thursday, June 6, with entertainment at 6:30pm by Dale Lepage, a renowned Worcester area singer, composer and author. He will be accompanied by Joey D'angelo, a long-time member of Dale Lepage and the Manhattans. This is a free program and open to all.

Tickets will be sold all month, with the drawing taking place on Thursday, June 27. Winners need not be present for the drawing, winners will be notified.

More than 13 years ago, Gregory Maguire, author of "Wicked," came to speak at Jacob Edwards Library for the first Pride in Southbridge event. The first raffle was held at the same time. Since then, a variety of programs have featured authors, musicians and speakers as part of the Pride in Southbridge events. The Raffle drawing will coincide with this year's event on Thursday, June 27.

The Friends of Jacob Edwards Library would like to acknowledge and thank all the supporters who have helped to make this Raffle a success over the years.

Library to host LGBTQ historian for Pride Month

BY ANNIE SANDOLI
VILLAGER CORRESPONDENT

STURBRIDGE—On June 5, Joshua Hyde Public Library will kick off Pride Month by hosting “Queer History: Amazing Stories You Never Heard (and why they matter),” a talk by esteemed LGBTQ historian Sarah Prager on her 2017 book “Queer, There, and Everywhere.”

The book tells the stories of 23 queer people who changed the world from the year 200 AD to the 2000s, including a Roman emperor, a Mexican nun, a baseball player, a Georgia blues singer, a Franciscan friar, and a Star Trek actor.

“I moved to Sturbridge last year, and I really wanted to bring my talk that I’ve given to over 100 groups,” said Prager. “What it entails is telling some unknown stories from LGBTQ history, and there will be some famous names, but also a lot of names people have never heard before.”

Prager has been an LGBTQ activist since she came out at age 14 and has worked for queer rights organizations all over the world. Her creation of the popular Queer history mobile app Quist in 2013 has gotten her invited to the White House, the U.S. embassy in Mexico, and the offices of Twitter, Google, and Microsoft, and her writing has been published in The Atlantic, The Advocate, Huffington Post, QED: A Journal in GLBTQ Worldmaking, and It Gets Better Project’s blog, among others. She has also contributed to making the tech policies of large corporations more inclusive of LGBTQ terms.

“I think it’s really important to shed some light on a history that doesn’t get talked about very much,” she said. “Just like women and black individuals, the LGBTQ community has contributed so much to society and doesn’t always get recognized. This history helped give me a sense of community and pride, and when I was a teenager, it helped me to know that I wasn’t alone.”

Prager was able to bring her program to Joshua Hyde Library by applying for and receiving a grant from the Mass Cultural Council, a state agency that works to enhance the cultural life in Massachusetts by partnering with communities to encourage the expansion and improvement of the arts, humanities, and sciences.

“I live with in Fiskdale with my wife and our two year old daughter, and we love going to the library here, so I’m just excited to have this opportunity,” she said. “I applied for a grant basically, so I got approved for some funds to be able to do this talk and I wanted to do it at my local library. I reached out to the library to see if they would like to host this and they agreed..”

Prager is hoping that her program will bring in people from all backgrounds and identities because she believes that it is important for everyone to learn this history regardless of whether they are part of the LGBTQ community or not.

“I think it’s important for non-LGBTQ people to know this history as well for multiple reasons, including that these are interesting stories regardless of the sexualities,” she said. “For instance, I’m going to talk about the invention of the high five. These stories also show why they matter for straight people and what straight people can do to be allies and take it upon themselves to help set the record not so straight.”

For more information on “Queer History: Amazing Stories You Never Heard (and why they matter)” or to register for the event, go to <https://www.sturbridgeli.org>.

Budget, safety building top Town Meeting warrant

BY JASON BLEAU
VILLAGER CORRESPONDENT

CHARLTON – The town of Charlton will hold its annual spring town meeting this coming Monday, May 20, with 28 articles on the agenda for discussion including the recently voted down marijuana bylaw and the proposed 2020 Fiscal Year spending plan.

The spending plan to be presented represents a $864,511 increase in expenses over the current fiscal year, a three percent increase public safety seeing the largest increase in terms of dollars. The budget includes a proposed increase of $508,368 to public safety, which would fund an added traffic officer, contract settlements, salaries changes, training and other expenses within the Charlton Police Department while the fire department’s share would retain five positions from a SAFER Grant, increase educational incentives and help with maintenance among other costs. Among the other increases proposed are $171,078 for education, $60,896 for the Department of Public Works, $39,845 for Human Services, $29,595 for general administration and $15,891 for recreation. The total spending plan would be $30,021,104.

The meeting will open by finalizing the decisions made during the annual election earlier in May. This will include addressing a referendum question to implement a bylaw prohibiting recreational marijuana that failed at the polls and this is expected to fail or be passed over at the town meeting. Other items include the usual expense-related matters of the town including transfers, town reports, litigation, unpaid bills, the water and sewer budgets, and capital items. One article will seek to amend the bylaw concerning the department of public works superintendent by changing the definition of this title and leadership role. Other personnel bylaws including the classification plan and human resource department will also be addressed.

One of the bigger items is the discussion of the proposed public safety building complex. The plans for this initiative have been making the rounds throughout Charlton in recent months with the town meeting set to stage a vote on the money required to construct and equip the facility and how that money would be raised or borrowed. In addition, several zoning bylaws concerning site plan reviews and penalties for zoning violations among other issues will also be addressed with amendments on the table for the town’s processes for the foreseeable future.

These and other issues will all be discussed during the annual town meeting on May 20 at Charlton Middle School starting at 7 p.m. Full documents concerning meeting articles and the proposed 2020 town budget are available on the Town of Charlton Web site.

'Humble and generous' Gaulin highlighted at Art Center

Charlie Gaulin talks while flanked by two of his artistic styles: watercolors on the wall and alcohol ink designs on the piano top.

CORRESPONDENT

SOUTHBRIDGE – There are two main ways to teach: by lecture and by example. Charlie Gaulin does the latter.

“He lets people find their own way, with a little hint here and there,” said Irena Russell of Charlton. “His teaching style is kind of subtle, with very gentle explanations.”

Russell, a painter for more than 20 years, has been coming to Gaulin’s Thursday painting classes at the Ruth Wells Center for months.

“I don’t really teach,” Gaulin said. “I paint with people, and maybe I can help them along.”

Not coincidentally, Gaulin is the center’s artist in residence, and this month its walls showcase his decades of work. Many of the pieces are nature scenes – some of them local – alongside various buildings, some still lifes, and some more recent abstract images in alcohol inks.

His personal favorite is watercolor.

“That’s something I’m really attracted to. It’s really delicate and loose,” he said. “You can get these delicate washes and color effects with it, and it’s less messy than oil.”

Like many artists, Gaulin got his start as a child by drawing around 5 years old and still does it “all the time.” As a kid, he remembers learning from “Captain Bob” on Saturday morning TV, and said he was “fundamentally sound” in how he taught shapes and animal drawing, among other things. He noted the fact his mother gave him space to draw “was probably her way of babysitting.” At school, he was often asked to draw holiday-related images for the classroom blackboards and recalled being “totally mortified to be singled out, but nobody gave me crap about it.”

Curiously, Gaulin’s drawing doesn’t much resemble his painting, which began in his 30s. He notes the former is mostly “fantasy” based, along the lines of Escher or Dali, while his painting tends to be much more impressionistic and realistic.

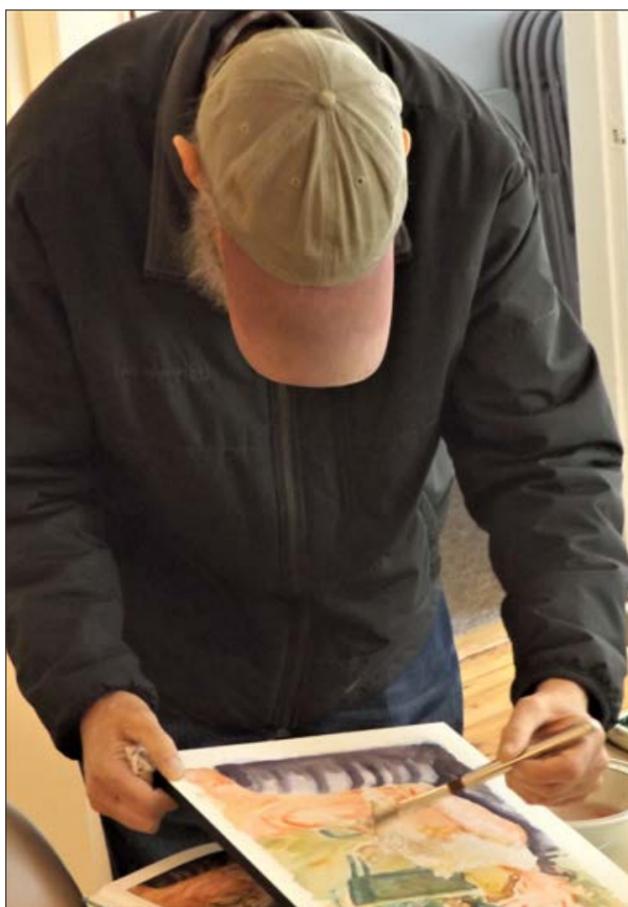

When young, “people would comment and be nice to me about [my art],” but said “You should get a job,” he recalled. So he did; for decades, he did factory work (until getting sick a few years ago), but his passion was always to “get outside on a lovely day and participate in it.”

At one point, he lost a job, so to “bridge the gap between jobs” he went to art school; that got him into painting years ago. He returned to it after getting “bumped out” of work a few years ago. To him, one of his paintings is symbolic of how he used to view his art – In Rockport, he painted a boat called the “Labor in Vain.”

That’s more a reflection of

Gaulin works on his interpretation of Mary Cassatt’s “Cup of Tea.”

Gaulin’s self-effacing personality than his talent. As he notes, other artists sometimes praise his work, and he sees that as “a high compliment.”

He wasn’t in the room to hear Russell’s response to his piece ‘Winter Woods.’ She said she likes how he depicted the play of light through its trees “almost like it’s pearlescent. That painting really stands out.”

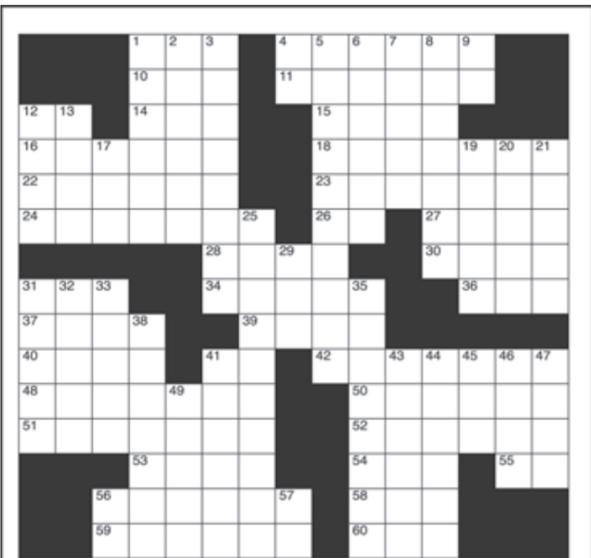

“He mentors all of us,” Mary Hollingsworth, who also has more than 20 years art experience, said. “He has a very nice demeanor, humble and generous with his help. We thought we’d get some ideas

“I was always happy to get into shows. To win one was always surprising,” Gaulin said. “I’m just trying to get a nice painting, to record a piece of life, a moment in time.”

The show, called “Retrospective,” runs through May 26, and Gaulin said it’s his first “while I’ve been independent.” Its official reception was May 5, which he said “had a nice crowd.” Some of the funds from any sales are going to help the Arts Center.

STURBRIDGE— While temporarily staying at the Sturbridge Days Inn last October during a move, Amy Bednarz of Worcester lost her blue-eyed, four-year-old orange tabby cat named Okie after he was startled by a car and bolted away, forcing her to lose control of his leash.

Bednarz continues to go back to the same spot very often to search for him, and has even started a Facebook page under the hashtag #findokienow, but has had no luck yet.

“For two weeks after that, I would go back to the hotel every day and look for him and there were never any sightings,” she said.

Bednarz is not alone, as it seems that more and more pets, including other orange tabby cats, have been going missing in the town recently. As of right now, at least three other residents of Sturbridge and Brimfield are searching for their lost orange tabby cats, and many more have posted missing pet notices on the Sturbridge Community Facebook page.

“We’ve had cats go missing and a lot of people post their cats missing and found and everyone shares,” said Paula, a Sturbridge resident who requested that her last name be left anonymous. “That’s how I became aware of Amy’s cat. Around October, three orange kitties went missing, and I started thinking about it and couldn’t get it out of my head. I wanted to get involved, so I contacted Amy through Facebook Messenger.”

Bednarz was given free assistance in helping to look for Okie by Maureen McCormick, the owner of Friends of Buddy/Lost Cat Rescue & Trapping in Manchester, Conn. who has found missing pets across the country, and both her and Paula have posted neon fliers with Okie’s picture in stores, restaurants, parking lots, banks, and the town library. They are now asking residents of Sturbridge and the surrounding areas to look out for Okie and other animals and share any information they have through the Sturbridge Community Facebook page.

“There are so many people who are out there that may not see a flier or ignore it, and we want to help anyone who is missing a cat on both sides and reach out to people who may not be seeing this,” said Paula. “We want to raise awareness so that even if you were to find a cat or see a cat, you know what to do and where to go to find out if someone is looking for that cat. We are not saying go grab the cat, but maybe approach it and get a picture and share it on a site or call animal control.”

Bednarz and Paula said it is extremely important for people to keep tabs on their animals, especially with the missing pet trend that seems to be quickly spreading throughout the town.

“It’s an issue of safety and sometimes that means not letting your cats out because of the wildlife out here,” said Bednarz. “They say that cats that go outdoors have less lifespan than indoor cats.”

“Even if they do want to go out, that’s their choice, but I don’t know if maybe more people could get them chipped,” Paula added. “That would be something that could help because there are so many animal shelters around here that post their cats and people may not know because of where the cat has ended up.”

Although Okie has not yet been found, Bednarz is grateful for the sharing that has been happening already and everything people have done to try to help her since October.

“I’ve gotten so many calls, text messages, Facebook messages about yellow tabbies that have been found and at least one person will message me every day,” said Bednarz. “It just blows me away the amount of people who have gone out of their way to share his picture and offer to help me. I never thought there were that many good, selfless people out there.”

For more information on the missing animals in the town or to provide a lead on the location of a pet, go to the Sturbridge Community Facebook page.

Out and about

This past Saturday was a perfect day to be outdoors enjoying numerous activities. The Uxbridge Rod and Gun Club held their annual kids’ fishing derby at the club pond. The turnout was great, with more than 30 youngsters and their parents and grandparents enjoying a day of fishing. This week’s photo shows Charlotte Walker, age six, with her prize-winning rainbow trout. It was the largest fish of the day, measuring 22 inches and weighing over 3 pounds. The second rainbow, caught by Bentley Bedard, is show with his prize-winning trout. Nice fish! Every young angler received a prize from a table of fishing equipment that included many donations from Jerry’s Bait and Tackle in Milford.

annual fishing derby for kids. Hopefully it will be scheduled at a later date. Trout fishing below the damn has been very good for anglers including the West River at the Route 16 bridge. Trout stalking should continue up through Memorial Day.

Wild Turkey hunting in the Valley was very good last week, with some hunters bagging their annual two-bird limit. Ken Mercer bagged a monster 25-pound bird in Rhode Island, and then returned back to Mass. to harvest his second bird on the same day. The second bird in Massachusetts sported a large beard and weighed in at a cool 22 pounds.

Striper fishing is improving each day in Massachusetts and Rhode Island, with numerous legal size bass being reported in both states. Striper fishing should blow wide open any day now if the weather improves. As of this past Sunday, porgies (bait fish) have not yet shown up in the Providence River, but when they do, some of the best striper fishing can become a reality.

Live-lining a porgie and having a large striper engulf the bait fish provides some of the greatest fishing all year.

Take a kid fishing and keep them rods bending.

but not enough for hearing aids. At the age of 26, they found a hole in my ear drum (this was my first real surgery) and they took skin from outside of my ear and covered the hole. The second surgery, for the same thing happened when I was in my 30’s. Neither one of these made my hearing loss any worse so I was still not able to get hearing aids.

“Now I have a collapsed ear drum, with constant ringing in my ear, and was told by several doctors that even if I had it repaired, the ringing would probably still be there. So, they suggested hearing aids and they gave me paperwork to go do that.

“It makes me feel inadequate, unlike everybody else, old and embarrassed. I feel like people have to yell at me all the time or I have to yell at people. I have a hard time doing my job, doing everyday things and it is so frustrating. When I say, “the word what” to someone and they didn’t say anything, I want to crawl under a rock and hide because I am so embarrassed. I just want to go visit my dad (after not seeing him for 10 years) We were trying to talk but I only understand half of what he said. I had to keep asking him to repeat himself during the conversation. It was very frustrating fir both my father and myself. This is how it is for every conversation I have.

“Not being able to hear has caused major arguments between my wife and I because I think I hear something she said, but it was really something else and instead of saying “what” for the 900th time, and have her get angry because I am annoying her, I just take what I think I hear and go with it, either way. I can’t win.

“I really need hearing aids to be able to hear above the ringing and background noise to be able to take care of my handicapped wife, who has a seizure disorder, to be able to work, and just to be able to feel like everybody else.”

The Beltone Hearing Care Foundation read the letter, and was happy to be able to approve her for new hearing aids. She was fit with them on Friday, May 10 at 2 p.m. at the Auburn location.

Asked how it felt to be surprised with the gift of a chance to hear the world around her, Harris replied, “I was very surprised and happy at the same time...couldn’t believe I was being granted a new outlook on how I am going to be able to live my life hearing what people are saying to me. Grateful to be treated like family by Barbara and Ken at Beltone New England. They were willing to help me instead of shouving me out the door like other hearing providers had.”

“I will be able to hear my family and be able to take better care of my wife, who has seizures,” she went on, describing how the new hearing aids “I will be able to interact with people and family within in a group setting, to put some normalcy back into my life that I have missing out on.”

Asked whether she had thought up a ‘bucket list’ of things she wanted to do with her new gift, she answered, “I would love to have a large family/friend gathering and be in a conversation and hear what they are saying to be part of the normal hearing world without having to always say ‘Huh?’ when being spoken to.”

“We are thrilled to be able to help Virginia Harris, obviously a person who is truly deserving and who needed our assistance in a huge way,” states Andreozzi. “We are also very happy to have played an important role in changing his life for the better. That’s what Beltone is all about.”

About Beltone
Throughout its 79-year history, Beltone has helped enrich the quality of life for countless hearing-impaired individuals in the United States and around the world. By combining new technologies and superior care, the Beltone Hearing Care Foundation will give many more people the opportunity to hear. For more information, please visit www.beltone.com

Young runners raising funds for cancer research

LEICESTER – A pair of accomplished young athletes will use their skills to raise money for the Jimmy Fund and Dana-Farber Cancer Institute this summer.

Eighth graders Abigail Bernabei and Eleanor Hills are training to take part in the Falmouth Road Race in August. And with each mile they run in support of the Jimmy Fund, they will remember the loved ones who inspired them to get involved in the fundraiser.

“I have had several loved ones pass away due to cancer, so this is a campaign very close to my heart,” Bernabei said. “The most meaningful part of this event for me is knowing that I am running for such a great cause.”

Added Hills, “I chose the Dana-Farber Cancer Institute because both of my grandparents had some sort of cancer. My grandma Pat had breast cancer but overcame it. My other grandma, Eleanor, died of ovarian cancer when she was in her early fifties. This organization is special to me because I’ve lost multiple loved ones to cancer.”

Both Bernabei and Hills are three-season athletes in Leicester. Bernabei takes part in varsity cross country, middle school basketball, and varsity outdoor track. She earned second team all-star honors in cross country in 2017, then took home first team honors last year.

Hills, meanwhile, is a member of the varsity cross country, middle school basketball, and middle school softball squads. She also earned first team all-star honors in cross country in 2018.

For both Leicester Middle School students, the training and fundraising components of the event have been enjoyable challenges. Hills is striving to raise $1,550 for her fundraising campaign, while Bernabei is hoping to raise $1,600 for the Dana-Farber Cancer Institute.

The challenging Falmouth race will also help the students in their off-season training, as they seek to return to school next year even stronger and faster.

“I decided to take part in the Falmouth Road Race because I am serious about running and I wanted to try something new,” Hills told the New Leader. “For me, this race involves having fun and running a good race.”

Added Bernabei, “I want to further my running experience and better my skills. I know that by competing in this race I can be surrounded by greater competition and a beautiful course.”

Bernabei has taken part in occasional 5K events since she was in the fourth grade, and she is thrilled to help give back to the Dana-Farber Cancer Institute. She is looking forward to the many challenges she’ll encounter in Falmouth.

“Every other race I have run is a much shorter distance than this, so knowing that all my hard work is going to positively affect the lives of other people is a great accomplishment for me,”

A pair of Leicester Middle School students is training for the upcoming Falmouth Road Race.

Bernabei said. To train for the rigors of the seven-mile Falmouth course, Hills and Bernabei are running almost every morning.

“The most meaningful part of this event for me is that I get to give back to people with cancer, and all of my hard work and training will definitely pay off when I cross the finish line,” Hills said.

Located in Boston, the Dana-Farber Cancer Institute is a world leader in adult and pediatric cancer treatment and research. Benefiting from hundreds of events across the country, the Jimmy Fund raises money to support patients and research at Dana-Farber.

Local seniors hit the town on prom night

BY KEVIN FLANDERS
STAFF WRITER

LEICESTER – Dressed to impress, several seniors headed off to prom last week in an event that continues to gain popularity.

Senior Center Director Rachelle Cloutier and a local student came up with the idea for a Senior Prom to allow seniors to enjoy the fun of prom season. Now in its third year, prom night continues to be a thrill for local seniors and their families.

On May 10, seniors enjoyed dinner, dancing, live music, prizes, and of course the naming of prom king and queen. The event always draws plenty of couples, but it also sees local singles come out and meet new people. Seniors were even able to meet State Rep. David LeBoeuf, who stopped in for a visit.

“I love to attend this event and see all of the people having a good time,” said Leicester’s Dolores Fairbanks, who won prom queen honors during the event’s inaugural campaign.

Rita Smith’s name was chosen out of a hat for this year’s prom queen crown. And for the second consecutive year, Leicester’s Rocky Durocher was randomly selected as prom king. He plans to be back again next May to see if he can defy the odds and extend his reign to a third straight year.

“It’s great to see the camaraderie of people enjoying each other’s company,” Durocher told the New Leader. “People dress any way they want, and it’s always a fun time.”

Several volunteers helped serve dinner and take part in other activities to make the event a success. Among them were students from Leicester High School, and Selectman Harry Brooks once again prepared his famous pasta dinner for guests. Other selectmen and town officials were also in attendance to help out.

For the Senior Center staff, it is always fun to host intergenerational programs that bring students, seniors, and community members together. Officials thank all of the volunteers who took time out of their schedules to give back.

Rita Smith is crowned prom queen by State Representative David LeBoeuf.

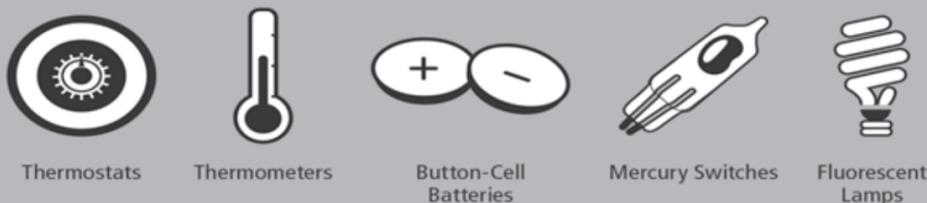

“We always have a lot going on here, and this is one of the seniors’ favorite events,” Cloutier said.

“Senioritis”: a very real mindset, with very real consequences

We’ve all heard the term ‘senioritis,’ but is this diagnosis real? After some lengthy research, we say absolutely.

Senioritis is defined as, “A supposed affliction of students in their final year of high school or college, characterized by a decline in motivation or performance.” The end is near, with graduation just around the corner, and many seniors can taste freedom, but aren’t quite sure what to do with it. Even with some students heading off to college, the fear of the unknown, combined with a complete change in the cadence in life, is enough to make several seniors come down with a serious case of senioritis in an attempt to break away from the stress and rigors of 13 years of schooling.

Some signs of the affliction include a lack of motivation, a decline in grades or feeling as though nothing they do in the final months leading up to graduation really matters much. Most students’ entire senior year of high school is spent trying to plan for the future; this can be daunting and stressful for these kids, who are still, at the end of the day, just kids. Some symptoms parents should look for include extreme laziness, apathy, spending all of their free time with friends away from home.

Unfortunately, this rapid decline in motivation does not go unseen by universities. Many schools will look at a student’s last semester, even after he or she has been notified of acceptance, and a substantial decrease in grades raises a red flag. This has admissions offices questioning a prospective student’s level of commitment, and the question of maturity is also put on the table. If the situation is bad enough, a college or university can rescind an acceptance. Each year, thousands of students receive such letters. Sometimes a student will enter their freshman year of college already on academic probation. If a student was issued merit aid from an institution they risk losing those funds.

There are things that can be done to help offset senioritis. One thing a student can do is to set tiny goals, such as getting a B or higher on the next quiz or test, or to finish an assignment ahead of time. Working on better ways to study for tests is also crucial. Too much pressure can cause students to shut down so taking some time to relax and have fun with family and friends is a great idea.

Another idea is for parents and teachers to reassure students that life after high school is an exciting time and that not every graduate needs a definitive plan right away. Explain different opportunities for a gap year, including the pros and cons of taking one.

If your child becomes too self-destructive handing out consequences is key. Finding their currency and removing it may change their perspective and keep them on track. Remembering to reward good behavior is a must. If your child is behaving in such a way that they become emotionally removed, disobedient and disrespectful taking a gap year might be the best option as college is expensive and tuition should never go to waste. Sometimes when students see their friends off at school while they are left behind can be motivation to get back into the swing of things.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Your vote has consequences

To the Editor:
 Last year, I volunteered to help a candidate for Auburn Board of Selectmen. It was decided to hold a free dinner for residents at the Auburn Senior Center. To do this, we had to pay the town a fee. We were heating up tomato sauce and boiling spaghetti, so we were required to have a cook with a safserve certification. We also had to fill out an application to use the center.

Two days before the free dinner, we were told by the center Director that we were required to get a permit and pay a fee to the Auburn Board of health. We scrambled to get this done in time. I asked the BOH agent why that requirement wasn’t stated on the Center’s application, and was told “Maybe it should be.”

We wanted to post a notice on the public bulletin board at the center to let people know about the dinner. The center Director called the Massachusetts Ethics commission to see if that was legal. She was told by the “lawyer of the day” that it probably was not legal. I asked why there was commercial advertising on the town board, but a resident could not put his. I also mentioned we would be calling the ACLU for their opinion. We were allowed to post the next day.

When we returned the following day, we found that someone had removed our notice. I guess this is what happens to you when you challenge incumbents. However, why anyone would make it difficult to provide free food to people who may be on fixed incomes is beyond me. I do know this: I will not be voting for any incumbents this year. There is only one race in the entire election that is competitive this year, the Board of Selectmen. Be sure to vote. If you don’t, then maybe next time, it will be your turn to be given a hard time.

Take a closer look at myths surrounding 529 plans

 ANTONOPOULOS

If you want to help pay for your children’s college educations, you might want to consider contributing to a 529 plan. With this plan, your earnings grow federally tax-free, as long as the withdrawals are used for qualified higher education expenses such as tuition and room and board. Yet, you may have heard some things about 529 plans that are keeping you from investing in one. However, these concerns may be more myth than reality – so let’s take a look at a few of them.

“I need a lot of money to contribute to the plan.” This myth has essentially no truth to it. Typically, only a modest amount is required to open your 529 plan, and you can generally transfer small sums to it from your checking or savings account.

“If my child doesn’t go to college, I lose out on the money I’ve put in.” This myth runs counter to one of the 529 plan’s greatest benefits: flexibility. If you’ve named one child (or grandchild) as a beneficiary of a 529 plan, and that child or grandchild decides against pursuing higher education, you can simply change the beneficiary to another eligible family member. Furthermore, if none of your intended beneficiaries will need the 529 plan, you can name yourself the beneficiary and use the money to take classes or receive some other type of qualified education opportunity. In a worst-case scenario, in which the money is never used for education, you will be taxed on the earnings portion of the withdrawals – but had you never contributed to a 529 plan, the funds would have been taxed, anyway. (However, you might be subject to a 10 percent penalty tax, in addition to regular income taxes, again on the earnings portion of the withdrawals.)

“I have to invest in my own state’s plan.” Not true. You’re free to invest in the 529 plan of any state, no matter where you live. But it could be advantageous for you to invest in your own state’s plan, as you might receive some tax breaks for state residents. (The tax issues for 529 plans can be complex, so you’ll want to consult with your tax advisor about your situation.) Investing in your own state’s plan also might provide access to financial aid and scholarship funds, along with possible protection from creditors.

“A 529 plan will destroy my child’s chances for financial aid.” While a 529 plan could affect your child’s financial aid prospects, it might not doom them. And the benefits of building significant assets in a 529 plan could outweigh the potential loss of some needs-based financial aid.

Before investing in a 529 plan, you’ll want to explore it thoroughly, as you would any investment. You can find details about a 529 plan’s investment options, share classes, fees, expenses, risks and other information in the plan’s program description or offering statement, which you should read carefully before making any purchasing decisions.

But, in any case, don’t let “myths” scare you off from what could be one of your best college-savings vehicles.

The power of positive persistence

I have enjoyed a fair amount of success in my life, and yes, I have endured near devastating defeat. Regardless, I’ve always been able to stand up, brush myself off and keep moving forward. I always have hope of a bright future. I am constantly optimistic that success is coming, and because I have hope and optimism, I’m driven to be persistent in pursuit of my dream. I am rarely the smartest guy in the room, but I’m always the most persistent.

I have written often about hope, optimism and persistence. I believe these are the essential building blocks for health, happiness and prosperity. It doesn’t always take intelligence, education or IQ to succeed. Some of the unhappiest and least successful people I know are also the smartest. Although intelligence and education are important, they are not the be-all of success and happiness.

Hope, Optimism and Persistence.

I began writing a book in late 2002. My father had lived a fascinating life in baseball and war. He served in the Navy during the Second World War and was a star baseball player, growing up in the rural coalmining town of Sesser, Ill. I felt the story had wide appeal and would be inspirational to readers. I was not a trained writer and in fact had little experience writing anything, but I began.

After 14 months of pecking away on my laptop, I had a rough manuscript I was calling, “Playing with the Enemy” and I began sending copies out to publishers. I was certain they’d all jump at the chance to publish my book. However, the rejection letters began pouring in. One, two, three ... twenty-six ... forty-two ... sixty-three ... seventy-four ... yes, I was deeply disappointed but not discouraged. I had hope that a publisher would say yes. I was optimistic that the next submission would be the one, but most importantly, I kept submitting my manuscript to publishers even though seventy-four had said no.

I submitted for the 75th time to a publisher that focused on military titles. This time, I didn’t only mail a copy as their submission guidelines instruct ... I called their President, Theodore P. Savas.

Me: Hello, Mr. Savas? My name is Gary Moore, and I’m mailing a manuscript to you today that I know is a perfect fit for your publishing firm.

Savas: Give me your ten second version.

Me: It’s about a young man’s journey through life in baseball and war.

Savas: Don’t bother mailing it. We don’t do sports books and we are not interested.

I put my manuscript in an envelope, addressed it and sent it to the man who had just abruptly said he wasn’t interested and hung up. Most people would think I’m crazy. I was just rejected and instructed not to send anything. Regardless, I was hopeful he would read it. I was optimistic that he would love it. I knew if I did not send it, I had zero chance he would publish it ... so with enthusiasm, I rushed it to the post office. A one percent chance is better than no chance at all.

POSITIVELY SPEAKING

BY GARY W.
 MOORE

A few days later, I called Mr. Savas again.

Me: Mr. Savas? This is Gary Moore. I was calling to see ... (interrupt)

Savas: I told you not to send it. We are not interested.

Me: I know, but I am confident when you read it, you will love it and ... (interrupt)

Savas: I won’t read it. I don’t have time and we don’t publish sports books and ... (interrupt)

Me: Right, and if this was a sports book, I never would have sent it, but ... “CLICK”

Again, I was disappointed, but not discouraged. I logged onto the internet to find out who publisher number 76 would be, but truth is stranger than fiction! The next day, I received a call from the man who had hung up on me twice.

Savas: Do you have a publisher for this story?

Me: Yes ... you.

Savas: You know ... I told you not to send it.

Me: I remember.

Savas: When you sent it anyway, I told you I would not read it.

Me: Yes, you did.

Savas: But last night ... I took my son to Karate class along with a handful of manuscripts I wanted to read. When I settled into the chair, I realized I accidentally grabbed yours. I wasn’t happy, but read it anyway ... (long pause)

Me: (I stopped breathing.)

Savas: Congratulations. I’ll fax a contract to you later today.

Savas Beatie released my book in September 2006 and it was heralded as a surprise hit!

Surprise? I wasn’t surprised. I remained hopeful and optimistic that it would be a bestseller. In 2008, Penguin, the world’s largest English language publisher, purchased the paperback rights and again, it was released and succeeded. Today, “Playing with the Enemy,” the book that was rejected seventy-four times is now in its nineteenth printing. It is read and taught in high schools all over America and is optioned as a motion picture. Since then, Savas Beatie has published two more of my books and I’ve become a freelance columnist appearing in thirty-four newspapers.

What would have happened if after seventy-four submissions ... and after the seventy-fifth told me not to send it ... what if I had just given up? Today, “Playing with the Enemy” would be gathering dust in a cabinet drawer, having never been published and my dream of my book would be dead ... and I would not be in this newspaper.

What is the moral of this story?

Never give up on your dream.

A common trend as Bay Path falls just short, this time to Assabet

Nick Ethier photos

Bay Path's Nate Shoemaker has a pitch fly off his fingertips and toward an Assabet batter.

Third baseman Dylan Brien of Bay Path sees the ball into his glove while making a clean play in the infield.

NORTHBOROUGH — Amid this rain-soaked high school spring sports season, the Bay Path Regional varsity baseball team has endured the elements and fought hard, only to fall a run or two short many times. The Minutemen, who still hadn't hosted a game at their high school field as of press time, squared off with Assabet Valley at the New England Baseball Complex on Monday, May 13, as the Aztecs' field also wasn't suitable for play.

The rain began to fall, again, and Bay Path ultimately lost another close decision, again. This time the Minutemen were eked out by the Aztecs, 3-2, as they lost their fourth one-run game of the season.

"We're just not hitting in key opportunities," said Bay Path head coach Mark Sansoucy. "We had guys on, we just can't bring them in.

"I'm a little frustrated at this point; the talent is there. The pitching's been great, we just don't hit in key opportunities," added Sansoucy.

The Minutemen mustered seven hits and ended up stranding eight runners on base, all over the course of the final four innings. All this was happening as Bay Path's Nate Shoemaker was pitching to the best of his ability. Shoemaker tossed all six innings and gave up three runs — none earned — on five hits to go along with three strikeouts and one walk.

"He pitched great. He couldn't have done much better. They scored on a couple of errors. He absolutely deserved to win," Sansoucy said of Shoemaker, the game's hard-luck loser.

Assabet struck for a run first in the bottom of the third inning when Justin Giusti led off with a single and advanced to second base on a coinciding throwing error. A pair of groundouts to second base moved Giusti over to third and then home, as Andrew Smith was credited with the RBI groundout.

Bay Path tied the game in the top of the fifth, though, when Dom Esposito stepped to the plate with the bases loaded and one out. Dylan Brien, Andrew Leache and Andrew Fritze had all singled for Esposito, who grounded one to second base. Fritze was out on the force play, but Esposito beat the throw and Brien came around to score.

The Minutemen nearly took the lead in the top of the sixth when Shoemaker (3-for-4) got to third base, but he remained stranded on the bag. The Aztecs then took advantage in the home half, scoring twice.

Tyler Dossas opened the inning by reaching on a two-base error. Tyler Boucher (2-for-3) then plated him with an RBI triple and Boucher later scored when Isaac Wagner reached base on an error.

Bay Path, again, had its chances in the top of the seventh when Wagner — Assabet's starter — got wild. Brien walked, Fritze hit a one-out fielder's choice, and Esposito and Erik Johnson (2-for-3) both walked to load the bases and end Wagner's day.

Dossas stepped in to toe the rubber and Shoemaker greeted him with a chopper that maybe went 30 feet. But Fritze scored from third and Shoemaker was safe at first to make it 3-2. But Dossas got Cam Stitis to fly out to right field to end the game.

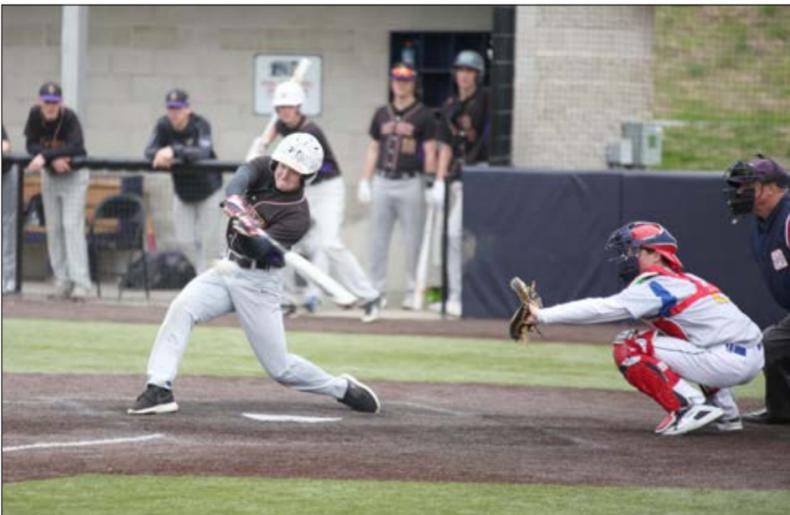

The Aztecs are now an impressive 12-2, while Bay Path slipped to 6-8.

"We have our work cut out," Sansoucy said of potentially qualifying for the Central Mass. Division 3 Tournament, where a record of 10-10 or better will be required. "We've got to get four more wins to keep playing."

The spring of 2010 was the Minutemen's last time not playing post-season baseball.

Bay Path second baseman Andrew Fritze catches the ball with plenty of time to spare, but it hops up on him as Assabet's Tyler Boucher slides safely into second base with a steal.

Dom Esposito of Bay Path sees the ball hit the bat on a hard swing.

Oxford takes control in later innings to take care of 'letdown' Minutemen

CHARLTON — In a game that started out as a pitchers' duel but turned into a slugfest — for one team, anyway — the Oxford High varsity softball squad defeated Bay Path Regional, 11-1, behind another all-around solid performance by junior Crystal Nelson and a productive day at the plate from her classmate, Sam Meech.

The Pirates improved to 7-5 with the win, while the Minutemen dropped to 8-5. The game was played at Allen Field in Charlton, which is located directly behind the library in the center of town.

After staking her team to a 2-0 lead in the top of the first inning with a two-run homer — her seventh round-tripper of the season — Nelson (home run, double, single, three RBI) struggled through the bottom of the first in the pitching circle. Sophomore Kyleigh Sutherland led off Bay Path's half of the first by walking. She then stole second and came home to make it 2-1 when the next batter, freshman Izzy Tanacea, poked an RBI single into right field.

Up next for the Minutemen was senior Kathryn Ryan, who hit a sharp grounder to Oxford shortstop Skyla Hodsdon, who forced Tanacea out at second base and then threw to first to complete the double play. Nelson finished off the inning with a strikeout of freshman Paige Osche, her first of four punch-outs in the game.

"Crystal's been pitching great this year and she had a great warm-up so it was a little surprising that she was a little bit off early but, like always, she settled down and came back even stronger," Meech said. "The double play was big for her and for us. Usually when we get that one big play we're in it for the rest of the game."

Nelson finished the complete game win allowing just four singles and two walks.

The Pirates made it 3-1 in the top of the third inning. With two out Nelson double to left field and then scored when Meech (two singles, two RBI) belted an RBI single to left field. Oxford added another run in the top of the fifth. Eighth-grader C.C. Gendron reached on a bunt single with one out, stole second base and scored to give the Pirates a 4-1 lead on an RBI single by Nelson.

Oxford increased its lead to 6-1 in the top of the sixth, senior Hannah Buxton opening the frame with a double to right field. Freshman Audrey Hayes was up next and she was awarded first after being hit by a Sarah Gosselin pitch. Both runners ended up scoring on a Bay Path error.

The Pirates closed out the scoring in the top of the seventh inning, scoring five runs on four hits, two walks, an error and a wild pitch. Big hits in the inning were an RBI single by Meech, a two-run double by junior Bella Auclair and a two-RBI single by sophomore Bella Buxton.

Meech said an early-season adjustment in her mechanics at the plate has allowed her to string some quality at-bats together.

"Hitting-wise the season was a little rocky at the beginning but it's getting better; I've kind of picked it up at the plate. I've been working on my swing all season," Meech said. "I've been focused on getting my hands back in the box and driving through the zone. I, personally, hit the outside pitch better so I look for that. I'm a little picky on the inside ones. My hits today came on low and outside pitches."

Oxford recorded two stolen bases and two walks in the game and also benefitted from three Bay Path errors and two wild pitches. All of that traffic on the bases allowed Oxford head coach Jamie Hetherman to go to his bread-and-butter, small-ball approach.

"I love playing small-ball; the key is to put the ball in play," Hetherman said. "Once you do that they have to field it, transfer it and then throw it to first. That's hard to do sometimes. And then when you add the pressure of our first two girls [Gendron and Hodsdon] running hard right out of the box, it sometimes causes the other team to make mistakes and when they do that we've got a runner or runners on with the big part of our lineup coming up."

After the game Bay Path head coach Rick Carrero was disappointed by his team's performance against the Pirates.

"This was the worst game we played all season. It was horrible; there's no excuse," Carrero said. "It seemed like we were flat and we played scared; nobody wanted to make a mistake. We were just really bad today. We're not a team that loses 11-1 to a team like Oxford. This was not us. This was a complete letdown."

TECHNOLOGY

Making Sense Of Cryptocurrencies

(NAPS) Social and traditional media have been abuzz with articles and information about the rising phenomenon of digital currencies. But what does it all mean and should you buy in?

What Is Cryptocurrency?

Cryptocurrency, or simply crypto, is one type of digital currency. Cryptocurrencies are distinct from "fiat currencies" such as the dollar, euro or yen. Unlike fiat currencies, crypto isn't represented or organized by physical paper units or coins. Rather, each unit is a unique alphanumeric string of computer code.

Also, cryptocurrencies are not issued by a central bank. Instead, they are controlled by technology that determines how many units are produced and how transactions are recorded. While Bitcoin is one of the earliest and most recognized cryptocurrencies, more than 1,000 cryptocurrencies currently exist.

For U.S. federal tax purposes, cryptocurrency is treated as property, which means selling or exchanging it can have tax consequences.

Cryptocurrencies and Risk

Buying, selling and using cryptocurrencies comes with numerous risks.

- In some cases, you can spend and trade crypto, but these products are not legal tender in the U.S. and most other jurisdictions. No law requires companies or individuals to accept crypto as a form of payment. If no one accepts a specific cryptocurrency, that crypto will become worthless.

- Platforms that buy and sell cryptocurrencies can be hacked, and some have failed. Consumers can—and have—lost money.

- Cryptocurrency payments are irreversible. Once you complete a transaction, it cannot be reversed.

Cryptocurrencies and Investing

Cryptocurrency is a digital representation of a stored value secured through cryptography, a mathematically intensive encryption process designed to enhance data protection and authentication.

All investments come with some degree of risk, and cryptocurrencies are no exception. Only invest what you can afford to lose and be aware that you may lose some or all of your investment.

Investing in cryptocurrencies can take many forms, such as purchasing coins in the hope their value increases or buying shares in platforms or companies that facilitate blockchain technology and other aspects of the cryptocurrency revolution in the hope they succeed.

Another way to invest is through an Initial Coin Offering, or ICO. An ICO is a way for companies to raise money that involves the creation and sale of digital tokens. A certain number of these tokens are sold to investors in exchange for other cryptocurrencies or fiat currencies like the dollar.

As with any new industry or concept, be alert for fraud, which has occurred in both ICO and direct currency purchases. Pump-and-dump scams are a potential risk with some crypto-related stocks, particularly those that do not list on a major exchange such as the NYSE or Nasdaq.

Crypto Takeaways
Cryptocurrencies and the technologies that power them may hold great potential for legitimate innovations in capital raising and financial markets. But it can be a challenge for investors to verify information about these products to make informed decisions. There are also major questions about how these currencies are regulated both domestically and across the globe.

The markets for cryptocurrencies continue to display high levels of volatility, and involve speculative risk and the potential for fraud. Speculators have been drawn to cryptocurrencies as a way to make a quick profit. But like any speculative investment, you can lose money.

And even when legitimate companies flock to a hot, new sector, fraudsters almost always follow suit. Look out for guarantees, unregistered products, claims of overly consistent returns, complex strategies, missing documentation, account discrepancies and pushy salespeople. All are red flags of potential fraud. Use FINRA BrokerCheck® to check the registration status of, and additional information about, the people and firms that tout these opportunities.

To learn more about how to protect your money, visit the FINRA Foundation's website www.SaveandInvest.org/LearnMore.

OBITUARIES

Sandra L. Johnson, 62

MILLBURY- Sandra L. (Waters) Johnson age 62 went home to be with her Lord and Savior Saturday, May 11, 2019 at Memorial Hospital, Worcester. She leaves her beloved husband of 39 years, David I. Johnson, four sons, Brian R. Rossi and his wife Carolyn of Lunenburg, David L. Johnson and his wife Penny of Millbury, Brian L. Johnson of Worcester and James E. Johnson of Thompson, CT., two daughters, Angela M Gilbert and her husband Jon of Worcester, Amberlyn Johnson of N. Brookfield. She loved and cherished her five grandchildren Anthony, Ethan, Vinny, Hannah and Juniper. She also leaves a sister Donna Freitas and her husband Scott along with their two children

Julie and Timm. She was predeceased by her brother William Waters. She was born in Worcester daughter of the late Lloyd U. Waters and Dorothy (Fancy) Waters and lived in Millbury most of her life. Sandy dedicated her life to children and shared her faith in Christ as a teacher in several area schools, and desired to allow her life to be used to point those around her to the Lord. Even in her illness her desire was to minister and bless all she encountered. Her confidence was firmly rooted in Jeremiah 30:17. There are no calling hours. A service will be held at Holden Chapel, 279 Reservoir Street, Holden, MA 01520 this Saturday at 3:30pm. In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to NEADS in Princeton, MA. The Shaw-Majercik Funeral Home, 48 School St., Webster, MA has been entrusted with her arrangements. A guestbook is available at www.shaw-majercik.com

Landscape structures provide function and beauty

Incorporate arbors, trellises and other structures into your designs when planning new or updating existing gardens and landscapes. These structures help form the framework of any garden, add year-round interest and provide years of beauty and function.

GARDEN MOMENTS

two garden beds with an over-the-top arbor. Grow pole beans, melons or squash up and over the Titan Squash Tunnel (gardeners.com). You'll expand your gardening space by going vertical and help reduce disease problems by increasing the sunlight and airflow reaching the plants. Secure large fruit to its obelisk with a net, cotton or macramé sling to prevent them from breaking off the vines.

Dress up any home, garage or shed with trellises covered with flowering vines, climbing roses or an espaliered fruit tree. Provide space between the wall and trellis when mounting them to a building. The space reduces the risk of damage to the wall and the plants benefit from the added airflow and light.

Many trellises are works of art in their own right, so when the plants go dormant the structure continues to dress up an otherwise blank wall. Whether you prefer simple squares and diamonds, circles, leaves or ceramic songbirds perched among the branchlike supports of the Enchanted Woods Trellis; select a design that reflects your personality and complements your garden design.

Combine several trellis sections to create a decorative screen or bit of fencing. This is a perfect solution for creating privacy or a bit of vertical interest in any size or shape of garden space. Add colorful glass bottles and contemporary design to a vertical planting with a trellis like Gardener's Achla Designs Vinifera Bottle Trellis.

Use obelisks as focal points and plant supports in the garden or containers. They're perfect for creating scale in the garden, especially when new plantings are small and immature. Select a support tall and sturdy enough for the plants you are growing.

Add a bit of beauty and elegance when growing watermelons, cucumbers, pole beans or tomatoes. Train them onto decorative obelisks and they'll be pretty enough to include in flowerbeds and mixed borders. Add more beauty and a bit of hummingbird appeal with scarlet runner beans. The bright red flowers are followed by green beans that can be eaten fresh or its large seeds harvested and used fresh or dried.

Always consider the function, strength and beauty when selecting structures for your landscape. Team them up with plants suited to your growing conditions and you will benefit from years of enjoyment.

Larry Leonard shows an example of a colonial tinderbox.

they'd gone insane due to lead poisoning. To address that, tinner found a way to seal cans by machine without solder, by folding the edges over each other.

"Once it all became mechanical, you could throw anything you want at it," he said. "The best thing we can is beer."

Revolutionary origins: 1620

Regarding the Revolution, Leonard noted it didn't really start in 1775, but had roots going back to 1620's landing in Plymouth. There, the colonists were "well outside the place [they're] supposed to be, and [their] agreement with the proprietor is null and void," he noted.

They were supposed to be in Virginia. Instead, they drafted the Mayflower Compact to define how they wanted to run things, with 47 signers (all free, adult males). Everyone agreed to "abide by the rules of the majority," and created what we now know as Town Meeting. But they weren't exactly inclusive. They had two groups – the Pilgrims, who "called themselves Saints because they [thought they] had the one true vision of god," and a mixed group of craftsmen here for economic reasons.

In 1629, their original proprietors gave up their charter, and King James incorporated the Massachusetts Bay and Plymouth colonies under the stipulation the colonies had to pay him "one-fifth of an ore of gold and silver... which were promptly avoided," Leonard said. "Smuggling was another thing we did very, very well."

The Crown tried to crack down on New England repeatedly, without much success. In 1654, it tried to prohibit local coinage, but colonists simply kept minting them with the date of 1654. That same decade, Parliament passed a series of Navigation Acts, which required crews to be 90 percent English to ship anything to the colonies and set a long list of other restrictions aimed at quelling smuggling and Dutch trading. Later, in the 1680s, James II tried to consolidate colonial government in the hands of Gov Andros of New York, but the numerous New England colonies refused, arguing it violated their charters, which they hid from royal troops.

That didn't last long. After James was overthrown, Massachusetts got a new charter with a royal governor and various other officials the colonists themselves paid, local government by Town Meeting, and a House of Representatives elected by Town Meeting who chose the Governor's Council.

"The governor could not run roughshod over the colony and expect to get paid," Leonard said.

Wars spark repression

In practice, that meant a lot of local autonomy for the next several decades. However, England found herself in several costly wars – Queen Anne's War/The War of the Spanish Succession (1704-14), King George's War/the War of Jenkin's Ear (1740s), and the Seven Years War/French and Indian War (1760s). They left the Crown "very much in debt," so it hiked taxes on almost everything going to the colonies. Two of the most notable were those on molasses and the infamous Stamp Act, which was applied to almost every document needed to do anything. They had to be paid in cash, but that was in short supply, so colonists created various work-arounds, including a land bank that acted as a form of collateral for IOUs.

"We had absolutely no problem cheating the Crown out of anything," Leonard said. One way was by trading in kind. That "suits my purpose, but doesn't suit somebody who's trying to get ahead."

Colonists fought the Stamp Act by arguing it was "taxation without representation," with the winter products come spring. Most farmers couldn't afford the time to travel to sell them, so they hired someone to do that, giving birth to the Yankee peddler, Leonard said. That itinerant tradition eventually gave birth to a few famous major brands, including Montgomery Ward and Sears.

In the early 1800s, machines – which he dubbed "idiot tools" – began to eat away at the tinning trade, by doing "all the work I do by hand." At first, tinner used them to keep their apprentices busy, but eventually, the tinner themselves found themselves using the machines on other metals, including aluminum, and doing different things with them to stay afloat.

"Apprentices are worthless, believe me," he said. "If it weren't for the fact their fathers paid me to teach them things they don't want to learn, I wouldn't have them."

One of the issues in those days was the fact many containers were sealed using solder – a 60/40 mix of tin and lead. Acidic foods leached out the lead. Leonard said one suspected example was the Shackelford expedition; those Arctic explorers vanished, and evidence later found suggested something that was in practice impossible since it took a year to make any round trip to London. The Crown conceded, but replaced it with the Townsend Act taxing various things, including tea (at 6 pence a pound). The British East India Co tried to undercut that by selling its massive stockpiles of tea at half that, which was cheaper than smuggled tea, but the colonists still refused to pay. That famously prompted the 1773 Boston Tea Party, where 340 (maybe 342) chests of BEIC tea were thrown overboard into low-tide mud and "stomped into the ground."

Although "we want our tea because we're trying to emulate them because we think we were as good as them," the tea itself "was vile. It would take paint off a wall," he said.

The British Army shut Boston's port and the Crown passed the "Act for Better Governance of Mass Bay Colony." That made the governor, his council, judges and other key posts directly appointed and paid by the Crown, allowed only one Town Meeting a year to elect House members, and required all other local warrant items to get the governor's approval.

The colonists couldn't tolerate that. When the next round of circuit court meetings were held, locals repeatedly shut them down, refusing to acknowledge them unless they convened under the Charter of 1692 (which they couldn't). In Worcester, 4422 county residents gathered to blockade Chief Justice Peter Oliver, demanded the judges' resignation, and made them recant "every five, 10 or 15 feet and beg forgiveness." Nobody was hurt, Leonard noted, "yet government stopped that day in Worcester. It was the last time anyone tried to meet under the Mandamus Councillor Act."

Later, Gov Gage sent agents to Worcester to scout out its supplies of weapons, food and other military needs, but decided it was too far away (a four-day hike) to attack... so he chose Lexington and Concord.

"Worcester was the hotbed. Concord and Lexington were little, out of the way places nobody ever heard of," Leonard said. "... [Gage] knew he was going to ignite a shooting war," but he'd been ordered to capture John Hancock and Sam Adams.

"We could rely on ourselves and we usually did very well," he added. "... Benign neglect by England ... came back to bite them."

Timely Tips

The long awaited warm weather is finally here and summer is right around the corner! While springtime promises plenty of outdoor fun in the sun it can also bring with it a new season of everyday hassles. From repelling pesky fleas to growing a better garden, the following "timely tips" are geared toward making life's little challenges a little easier!

Make Fleas Flee: It's flea season and here are some home remedies:

* Are fleas bugging your dog? Field and Stream magazine touts Avon Skin So Soft as a great flea and bug repellent for dogs. The magazine recommends mixing: Five parts water to one part Skin So Soft. As a bonus, brushing the mixture into the pet's fur makes its coat gleam.

*Here's an easy way to turn any inexpensive shampoo into a highly productive flea bath for your dog. Add a few drops of natural eucalyptus oil (food grade, not craft oil) to regular shampoo, lather up the dog and rinse away fleas!

Note: Never use essential oils on cats.

*Or, try (original blue) Dawn dishwashing detergent in a tub of water. Lather up the dog or cat well, let sit for five minutes or so and rinse thoroughly. (I tried this and was amazed at all the dead fleas in the sink!). This treatment is for occasional use only as any shampoo can dry your pet's skin.

*Whip up a great, natural flea spray for dogs by mixing equal parts apple cider vinegar and water in a spray bottle. Spritz directly on fur and rub in for maximum benefits.

Gardening season has arrived! Read on for some tips and tricks from green thumb sources:

Want the secret to growing great tomatoes? Blue Ribbon tomato growers reveal planting deep is the golden rule to successful tomato plants! Bury a tomato plant's stem and the stem will sprout new roots that help the plant grow sturdy and tall quickly!

How does your garden grow? With a little help from your garden tools! Keep them clean with a five gallon bucket of coarse sand mixed with a quart of clean motor oil in the garage. After using spades and shovels push the metal end in the sand mixture and wipe dry. The sand will knock off the dirt and the oil will prevent rusting!

Do pesky insects invade your garden each year? Here's how to banish bugs the natural way! Aluminum foil "foils" aphids: Use a tin foil mulch around the base of plants. The reflection drives insects away. Deter cabbage worms with a sprinkle of flour, and slay a slug with a dose of table salt.

TAKE THE HINT

visions of planning a lush garden have taken their toll on your trusty old house plants, try this tip: Just stir together one package of granular dry yeast and one quart of warm water. Mix it well and water plants with the elixir monthly to perk up your plants!

Placement is important when growing squash and melons. Because they are pollinated by bees, avoid planting them near other flowering plants, which can compete for bee pollinators.

Plant a chrysanthemum plant in the vegetable garden. Because the flower wilts before other plants when water is needed, it'll act as a red flag to tell you to irrigate. Cucumber and squash plants can also act as indicators because they are the first to droop during a dry spell.

Going on vacation? Keep house plants watered for up to a month by watering well placing pot and all in a clear plastic bag. Tie it top and bottom and place in northern light. When you're back, untie the top and let the plant adjust to room air for a day or two before removing the plastic completely.

Here are some more seasonal tips:

Firing up the grill for a sizzling steak? New York Times 'Minimalist' and cookbook author Mark Bittman claims the five best steaks for grilling are: rib eye, skirt, sirloin, t-bone and flank steaks, one inch thick. His secret? Dry the steaks with paper towels then grill them without turning for three minutes

Want to serve up the "catch of the day?" Here's a tip to serve up perfect fish every time: Store fresh fish in the refrigerator between self-sealing plastic bags filled with ice cubes. This will keep it from getting soggy and ensure a fabulous fish feast. And if you need to remove fish odors from a pan, just rinse the pan with vinegar while it is still hot.

Sleeping under the stars this season? To keep warm, make sure your sleeping bag fits properly. Too big and you'll lose heat, too small and insulation compresses, compromising the warmth factor. And before turning in, indulge! A high calorie treat like hot cocoa will give your body fuel to burn and keep you warm through the night.

Win Dinner for Two at the Publick House

Your tips can win you a great dinner for two at the historic Publick House Historic Inn in Sturbridge! Simply send in a hint to be entered into a random drawing. One winner per month will win a fabulous three course dinner for two at the renown restaurant, located on Route 131 across the town common in historic Sturbridge. Because I'm in the business of dispensing tips, not inventing them (although I can take credit for some), I'm counting on you readers out there to share your best helpful hints!

Do you have a helpful hint or handy tip that has worked for you? Do you have a question regarding household or garden matters? If so, why not share them with readers of Stonebridge Press newspapers? Send questions and/or hints to: Take the Hint!, C/o the Southbridge Evening News, PO Box 90; Southbridge, MA 01550. Or E-mail KDRR@aol.com. Hints are entered into a drawing for dinner for two at the historic Publick House Inn.

A Place To Call Home...

WOODSTOCK - This small home is neat, clean and efficient but has everything you need. The cozy living room has nice hardwood floors, a door out to the newly refinished back deck/fenced in area, along with the pellet stove for alternative heat. The master bedroom has a good sized closet along with washer/dryer and access to the full bathroom that's been updated. The second bedroom (which could be used as a dining room) is also good sized with a double closet and hardwood floors. $174,900

WOODSTOCK - New England charm fills this delightful 3 bedroom Colonial Gambrel in beautiful Woodstock. You will love the wide board floors, formal living & dining rooms with a country flair. Master suite with walk-in closet & half bath, extra bonus room over 2 car garage and private deck all nestled on 1.5 acres. Now offered at $279,500

THOMPSON - Built in 1971, this one-owner home is located in a residential neighborhood in the Quinebaug section of Thompson, just minutes from the Dudley MA line. The home offers 4 bedrooms and 1 1/2 baths, generous sized living room and eat-in kitchen. There is a heated enclosed mudroom separating the main home from the attached 2 car garage. This home needs a buyer who is not afraid to put in some hard work. Short sale. $123,500

THOMPSON - This great Ranch style home has been well maintained. Home features 2 good sized bedrooms with hardwood floors & generous closets. The eat-in kitchen is neat and clean and has plenty of space. The living room also has nice hardwood floors and the windows make it nice and bright. The basement has a full walk-out and is a great workspace. There is a great detached 3 car garage with tons of potential! Great water view just off the backyard. $170,000

BROOKLYN - The home has been completely updated and provides a very comfortable floor plan which includes a large kitchen with a center island and open eating area. The living room conveniently opens to the kitchen and large front deck for entertaining, relaxing, and endless views of the waterfront. There are 3 good sized bedrooms including TWO with attached full bathrooms. There is a third full bathroom centrally located for guests and a laundry room adjacent to the kitchen for easy access. One of the bedrooms also has a separate, private end deck for morning coffee. The property has abundant frontage on Tatic Pond and is ideal for boating, kayaking, fishing and wildlife viewing. $189,900

LAND FOR SALE

WOODSTOCK - Looking to build in the Quiet Corner here is your chance to own a great piece of land on an approved lot. The land has been subdivided into three separate lots, which have been perc'd & surveyed. Lots are located in an open field so no clearing is needed! There is a conservation easement on one side of Lot A so there will be no further development only wildlife to enjoy! Proposed 3 bedroom homes with a garage, all that is needed is your plans. $289,900

No Substitution

“If you want to know what’s going on in your town – whether the news is about the mayor or taxes or high school football – there is no substitute for a local newspaper. Wherever there is a pervasive sense of community, a paper that serves the special informational needs of that community will remain indispensable...”

"Care with compassion and give from their hearts.... Helping and assisting, working hard from the start. Just making a difference with their kindness and caring.... Listening and walking, wheeling and sharing. This work yes, it's hard, and tiring at times.... But the rewards are so great seeing other's eyes shine. Follow our journey, become a CNA, and you'll see.... How wonderful and great other lives will be!"
