School Committee cancels partnership with Nexamp

BY JASON BLEAU STONEBRIDGE CORRESPONDENT

The Dudley Charlton Regional School District will be seeking a new partnership after agreeing to cancel its contract with a solar energy company that would have provided the town net metering credits.

The regional school committee heard an update from the district's director of finance and operation Richard Mathieu on March 14 at which Mathieu recommended the committee end its partnership with Nexamp Solar Energy Solutions after the company failed to do its part in the agreement and offer any value to the towns of Dudley or Charlton.

"The district entered a net metering credit arrangement with Nexamp in May of 2013. They've never fulfilled their commitment on that contract and we do have an opportunity to basically substitute a new program for this one at the same 30 percent level," Mathieu told school officials.

"It's the suspicion of mine that Nexamp never enacted it because that 30 percent was so generous. Most of these arrangements are around the 30 percent level. I don't have proof of that, but if we can swap one or the other that would appear to be a live opportunity rather than holding out hope that at some point in time Nexamp would fulfill their obligations."

Superintendent Gregg Desto confirmed the district had sought legal counsel on the matter and the district was in the clear if they chose to end the agreement

Mathieu also confirmed this, stating the district could have ended the partnership a long time ago if they wished. "It could have been canceled 18 months after it was signed if they hadn't provided a facility," Mathieu said. "We held out hope, because it was a very favorable rate for us, that we'd be able to get in at their next one and it just never worked out. They've offered us no contract whatsoever."

The school committee voted unanimously the cancel the contract and explore new options. Mathieu brought a possible new vendor to the table during the meeting.

"The new vendor would be Seaboard Solar and they do have an arrangement with the Dudley Housing Authority currently. They're actively trying to finish up the sale of their credits, so they can have the facility built and they expect to be online within a year." Mathieu said.

be online within a year," Mathieu said.

The school committee made no motion on such a partnership during the meeting.

Vet Agent brings request for hours to Personnel Board

BY JASON BLEAU

DUDLEY – The town veterans agent has brought his request for increased hours for his office to the Personnel Board, making him the fourth department head to propose a raise for an employee in the last three months.

Veterans Agent Stephen Rogerson first brought his proposal to selectmen on Feb. 26, but also had to state his case before the personnel board, which would include a raise for the veterans office clerk Pamela Young, as well as increasing the hours of the office's operation to full time.

"She's been here about three years and four months and she started at $12 an hour and others have been starting at $14. She hasn't received a penny increase since. That's one part of this issue. The other issue with the veterans office is I have requested to the selectmen and they voted to have it go to the town administrator to see if he could work out making it full time. Currently it's part time. It's been part time since basically the 1946," Rogerson said. "We're at the point now where we can't handle the work load on a part time basis."

Rogerson made a case before selectmen in February that his position is one of the few state mandated positions for each town and that, by law, certain services must be made available to veterans in every town. Currently the veterans office is open only Thursdays from noon until 7 p.m. This leaves Rogerson unable to satisfy the needs of every veteran in Dudley and, as he put it, has forced the town to start deciding what services they provide which violates

"There are just under 700 veterans in Dudley. That's not including veterans' families. That's just veterans. There are a lot of widows who come in consistently. I just don't have the time so I'm giving out my personal cell phone number, my email address and I'm using a home computer to support (everyone). It's becoming a little too much," Rogerson told the Personnel Board. "One of the big concerns that I'm coming up to this point is which benefits and services do we not offer veterans within Dudley. I have severe time constraints – So we

WORCESTER – Outraged by the proposed cuts to public transportation services, residents and legislators from throughout central Massachusetts descended on City Hall last week for a rally.

Reduced services have been proposed for several Worcester

Regional Transit Authority bus routes, while others have been slated for elimination to save money. Among the proposals is an option to cut all bus services west of East Brookfield District Court on Route 9, while another option could bring an end to weekend bus routes.

DC school officials to meet with State Auditor Bump

BY JASON BLEAU STONEBRIDGE CORRESONDENT

DUDLEY- The town of Dudley will hold a long-awaited meeting between local officials and the office of the state auditor

Superintendent of Schools Greg Desto confirmed the meeting during a school committee discussion in mid-March noting the conversation could have significant implications on the future of education funding in the commonwealth, an issue that has struck the towns of Dudley and Charlton hard in recent years.

Desto confirmed this meeting will be open to officials from both communities and could provide a forum for voicing concerns about different funding struggles the district continues to face.

"The Dudley Board of Selectmen, led by Town Administrator Greg Balukonis, have secured a meeting with a representative from the state auditor's office," Desto said. "Representative of both town have been invited to that meeting (including the school committee)."

The purpose of the meeting will be to discuss ideas for long term funding solutions for communities like Dudley and Charlton, which share a school district and face different hardships than other districts and independent agencies in the commonwealth. Desto said he feels the state auditor has an awareness for the difficulties districts like theirs continue to face and would like to find a solution.

"As everybody on this committee is aware, auditor Suzanne Bump came out with a report on funding regional districts. With that as a jumping off point we're going to try to work together with her office," Desto said.

In January, Bump submitted a request for full funding of regional school transportation and in October

Dudley continues push to update development plan

BY JASON BLEAU TIMES CORRESPONDEN

DUDLEY – The town will be launching phase two of its economic development plan update in the coming months after completing the first phase and an economic development survey in the past year.

The Dudley Economic Development Committee received an update from town planner Donald Johnson on March 20 at which he told members they had been approved to go ahead with the second phase of the initiative, which has been a priority for the young commission for several years.

"The good news is we've been funded for phase two. It's a three-phase program. It's called the District Local Technical Assistance Program or the DLTA. It's through the regional planning agency. Phase two will be started within the month of July I imagine. The Central Massachusetts Regional Planning Commission administers the DLTA Program. The first phase was an inventory of assets. The second phase is going to be working with those assets," Johnson said.

Phase one was considered the "heart of the document," and the next two phases will determine the most effective and efficient use of the assets available to the town. Johnson said the plan is to examine what's stopping growth in certain place or sectors in Dudley and review the regulations in place as well as look as sector specific workshops.

One specific area of concern that Johnson said has been neglected is agricultural growth in a town where agriculture should be a dominant enterprise.

"You've probably noticed that 20 percent of our land in town is taxed for agriculture. It's a significantly underutilized sector of the economy as we see it, so we're taking a hard look at that. We're also taking a hard look at a few different areas of town for various economic development activities that can take place there," Johnson said.

Areas that will be a focus of examination in phase two include the Webster-Dudley Main Street corridor, which was the subject of a 2015 study for a commercial corridor, the Nichols College and Center Road area, and Schofield Avenue and the surrounding sector. A site walk of the Main Street area is also expected to take place before the annual spring town meeting in May.

Car Buying Tips

Customers ask place: When is the best time to buy a Car or

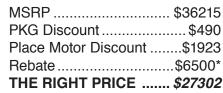

The RIGHT answer: (PART 3) The NO TIME LIKE THE PRESENT theory. Almost every day is a good day to buy a new car or truck. We know that most new cars have rebates from the manufacturer. They may also have special finance terms or some combination of both. This theory is based on the fact that if you are trading your car, its value is at its highest right now. Depreciation is always eating away at the value of a used car. The other aspect to consider is the factory incentives when buying a new car. Incentives can be a volatile thing and can change at the drop of a hat. Manufacturers like Ford watch the markets very closely. They adjust their strategies based on sales and production targets in an effort keep the factories moving. As inventory levels, market share and consumer demand change the rebates and incentives change. A strong economy and low inventory might mean fewer rebates. High inventory or the desire to gain market share might mean higher rebates. In any case what we know today is how a vehicle is priced. If a customer finds a vehicle that fits their needs and the numbers make sense then buy now. Waiting could cost you more. Our current economy appears to be at a turning point. If the rebates go down or stay the same and your trade has lost more value your cost to buy will have gone up. Let us here at Place Motor show you how to take advantage of the current incentives and get the most for your trade. Let us show you why we are the Right Place to buy a Ford since 1923.

Giving voice to nature: drumming and dreaming

Larry Spotted Crow Mann sings an Algonquian song to the beat of the sacred drum Saturday.

BY GUS STEEVES

WEBSTER — Although he doesn't say it outright, Larry Spotted Crow Mann's latest book Drumming & Dreaming is, in a mythic sense, an autobiography.

The book is crafted as a story in which Crow gets Bear's help to find his lost dream, along the way exploring oft-unheard Algonquian Indian legends, ones Mann specifically wanted to put on paper before the elders who knew them died. In a sense, it dramatizes his own journey, one Mann hopes many others - Native and otherwise – will share with him in their own ways.

As a youth 20-plus years ago, Mann admits he was essentially adrift, drinking a lot and more or less just existing in the void between typical American culture and that of his ancestors.

"I was lucky to stop drinking when I turned 21," and started learning Nipmuc tribal history and culture, he told a small audience at Booklovers' Gourmet last Saturday. Since then, he's traveled the US, Canada, Europe and elsewhere sharing Native culture, educating fellow Native Americans about their traditions, and otherwise spreading the idea that "we need to heal our relationship each other, Earth and the other Earthlings we share the world

"This drum is why we're still here," Mann said, noting in Native culture the drum begins and ends all ceremonies, is used to greet visitors, and more. It symbolizes the most basic level of life "everybody's heartbeat, and is the beginning of all our stories.'

On Saturday, he began with a song and prayer in the Algonquian language. He said there's "really no equal translation" because that language "is the ecology of the land; there is no separating them" before summarizing it as an invitation to the ancestors to join us and help in the healing process.

'It's very important to open up those passageways of reciprocity," he said.

The stories themselves are also "part of the land," rooted in specific places known to everyone in our area (often by other names): Chargo ggagogg m anchauggagoggchaubunag ungam augg, Mannexit, Wabbaquasit, and elsewhere. Today, it's known as Nipmuc Country, but he said there really was no Nipmuc tribe; the term is actually a collective one for "32-36 distinct tribal communities" between Natick and the Connecticut River. Some of them became famous as "Praying Communities" for converting to Christianity (and being interned and starved on Deer Island during King Philip's War); others fought the English and were dispersed after that war.

Describing the compilation as "a hero's journey" he intended to put in a format "as they were 1,000 years ago," Mann said he found it fairly easy to identify when certain tales came into being by how foreign images (including European ones) crept into them. One example is the character of Hobbamock; to Christians, he was associated with the devil, but to Mann's own people he was not evil, just a powerful, and sometimes dangerous, trickster spirit.

"There's a lot of nuance to him. He is a reflection of all of us, as the Great Spirit is," Mann said. Searching the Web for that name comes up with several entries, most ly regarding a real-life Wampanoag man who interacted with the earliest Pilgrims alongside the better-known Squanto and Massasoit. Wikipedia's page, however, ends with the note his name "may have been a pseudonym, as Hobbamock was the name of a powerful manitou," which the latter word's entry describes as "the spiritual and fundamental life force among Algonquian groups."

"I had to dig deep, go back and listen to the elders" to reconstruct the stories, Mann said. "For some, we only had bits and pieces," with many shared characters, sacred animals and images, but "the stories never die" as long as Native people are still around and remember

"They give voice to our brothers: the Beings, the animal community, the tree community," he said, noting the state Department of Public Health is using some of them to teach life skills, anti-bullying, sharing, and how to deal with drug-alcohol addiction. "All of them teach us life-valuable lessons."

To many Natives, that's been a long time coming. For decades, Native children were forced into boarding schools and other settings where they were punished for even speaking their language, never mind practicing their faith or sharing their stories. Four of 10 kids at boarding schools never came home, he said; many of them simply vanished into unmarked graves, with officials denying knowledge of what happened. His own grandparents went through that; grandmother kept some of the legends "but didn't really want to pass it on" due to fear, although she did teach some medicine skills.

Since then, many Native people have gotten "caught up in the stereotype of who they should be ... and internalized it," he noted. One of them is laziness based in the fact Natives "only worked 3-4 hours a day" because they didn't need any more when Europeans landed; under Colonial doctrine, that was ridiculed and often seen as an excuse for stealing tribal land.

The US has generally not dealt well with Native issues, including hundreds of treaty violations. He noted, for example, that Webster itself was created illegally in the 1800s when the state took the land, while only the federal government had authority to deal with tribes deemed sovereign under the law. Similarly, the state promised Natives they'd set aside funds for land in Grafton, but have never paid the money, claiming the records "got burned."

Fixing those issues, and others, needs "black, white and red to come together to fight the injustices," Mann said. Although money might help that process, he personally doesn't want to see Nipmucs create a casino. They fought over one in 2002-03 that divided the tribe, although he noted he's also seen some tribes using casino funds to benefit their people.

Mann also plans to speak about the French River (Mannexit) at 7 p.m. on April 11 at the Wintergarten, upstairs from Kretchmann Brewery.

Can I just sell my home AS IS?

REALTOR'S REPORT

> JAMES BLACK

You absolutely can and I highly recommend against it unless you are in a financial position where you cannot make necessary repairs in order to sell your home. Even then I would explore borrowing from a family member or maybe getting a home equity line to pay for the improvements. Most of the time people will ask me if they can just sell as is and most of the time if they put 10-20K into the home based on my recommendations they are going to get 50-60K back on the sale. There are 2 big reasons for this. First the buyers are unable to typically envision the finished product and second depending on the repairs they may not be able to obtain bank financing without the repairs being made and then you may be stuck selling to an investor who will pay pennies on the dollar because they need to make a profit.

Some of the most common things people want to leave for the buyers to do is paint and carpet because they are concerned that the buyer may not like the colors of the paint or they will want to rip out the carpet and add hardwoods. This is the logical but people buy based on emotion rather than intellect and old carpets and beat up walls tell people the home needs work and they want to discount for the upgrades but the possibility of unseen repairs as well. I highly recommend making these improvements as well as refinishing hardwood floors and stripping wallpaper and painting. Another difficult one is landscaping because a nicely edged lawn with no overgrown trees and shrubs and mulched beds will make the home pop and is worth every penny when getting the home ready because it again gives the buyer the feeling that this home is well cared for and they don't have to do any work. Buyers are willing to pay a premium to move right in and not have to do any work.

I recommend as soon as you decide you are going to move to have a Realtor come evaluate your home and give you a list of the recommended repairs to get the most money for your home. Keeping in mind it could taker months to get your home ready for it to be sold.

Powers announces bid for Congress

Kevin Powers

Kevin W. Powers, of Millville, announcing his candidacy for United States Congress, 2nd Congressional District of Massachusetts.

Powers is running on a platform of term limits, better jobs, protecting Social Security for seniors, and low cost and renewable energy with a plan for energy independence within 15 years. He is also a proud and strong advocate of animal

"As a small business owner, I create jobs. When I get into Congress, I will work to ensure that the Government doesn't get in the way of small businesses to create better jobs for you."

America is facing challenges like never before. Under the leadership of career politicians, the people have been let down. It is time to limit terms and return control of our nation to people who have actually had to create jobs, earn an honest paycheck, and pay a mortgage - people in touch with the difficulties created by the career politicians we have been electing.

Kevin is a strong supporter of term limits stating that, "Congress has a 13% approval rating, but a 95% re-election rate. The root of this problem is that politicians are incentivized by the political system to care more about retaining their position than about doing what is best for the country. Our elected leaders can and do abuse their power to keep away challengers, transferring power from the hands of citizens to the hands of unaccountable career politicians. To help end this problem, I have signed the congressional term limits pledge."

U.S. Term Limits (USTL) praised Massachusetts U.S. House District 2 Candidate Kevin Powers for signing its congressional term limits pledge. STL President Phillip Blumel commented on Kevin's Pledge saying, "Kevin's support of term limits shows that there are people out there who are willing to put self-interest aside to follow the will of the people and the founding fathers."

"Our founding fathers never intended for public service to be a career. Rather, serving in Congress was designed to be a temporary sacrifice made for the public good.'

That is exactly what Kevin will do; serve in Congress for no more than six years and then return to his life as a local businessman and entrepreneur.

If you would like to know more about Kevin Powers' platform, please visit his website at www.kevinpowersforcongress. com or on Facebook.

Kevin will be visiting your community soon and he looks forward to meeting you and your neighbors.

Webster Democratic Town Committee makes a comeback

After several years of inaction, the Webster Democratic Town Committee was reconstituted under new leadership during the caucus held on Feb. 17 at a nearly full Webster Town Hall Selectmen's office.

The impassioned group elected Tom Klebart, a vigorous advocate of local, state and national Democratic causes, as their new chairman. Tom Walsh as vice chairman, Monica Baldyga as secretary and Nathan Wilder as treasurer round out the newly elected board. The Committee already has over a dozen members and is extending a welcome to any Webster citizens interested in organizing for the Democratic Party, the longest running continuous political party in the United

Among a multitude of goals, the Democratic party will continue to fight for economic fairness and equality, the protection of voter rights, ensuring health care for all our citizens, fixing our broken immigration system, combating climate change, increasing mental health treatment, restoring our democracy and continuing our country's leadership in an increasingly interdependent world. It is these issues, and more, that have been turned upside down during the last fourteen months. The current political climate prompted seasoned Webster Democratic voters, as well as many new to the political process, to come out in record numbers to form the newly constructed Webster Democratic Town Committee.

With increased political awareness in mind, the Webster Democratic Committee along with their counterparts in the towns of Dudley and Oxford would like to invite residents of these towns to attend a "Meet and Greet" with Congressman Jim McGovern and other local Democratic candidates. This meeting will be held on April 29 between 2-4 p.m. at Point Breeze Restaurant, 114 Point Breeze Road, Webster.

Anyone looking to become involved in the Webster Democratic Town Committee should contact Tom Walsh at (978) 764-7473 or via email at sunamericasecurities@yahoo.

the launch of a new down payment assistance program designed to lower the barriers to achieving homeownership working households face. MassHousing's new down payment assistance program will allow qualified first-time homebuyers to finance up to 100 percent of the purchase price of their first home.

MassHousing is now the only entity offering a down payment assistance program for low-, moderate- and middle-income buyers throughout Massachusetts, and the only entity in Massachusetts offering a sustainable, conventional mortgage product allowing buyers to achieve homeownership without making a down payment.

Record-low inventory levels, rising home prices, high rents, and student loan debt are all making it more difficult for the average Massachusetts household to afford to purchase a home," said MassHousing Executive Director Chrystal Kornegay. "MassHousing's new down payment assistance program will help ensure that homeownership remains accessible to working families, by allowing creditworthy homebuyers to buy their first home with little to no down payment requirement. By boosting the buying power of low-, moderate- and middle-income households, MassHousing will support investment in neighborhoods, help the state's workforce remain rooted in Massachusetts, and advance the Agency's mission of confronting housing challenges facing the Commonwealth, to improve the lives of its people."

MassHousing is making down payment assistance loans available to first-time homebuyers with annual household incomes at or below the area median income, using MassHousing financing to purchase a single-family home or condominium unit. The area median income varies by county. Eligible households will earn $103,4000 or less in eastern Massachusetts, $85,700 in Worcester County, and $67,200 in Berkshire County.

Homebuyers accessing down payment assistance must still meet MassHousing's underwriting criteria, including minimum credit score and debt-to-income qualifications, and attend a homeownership education class.

MassHousing mortgages currently finance up to 97 percent of a home purchase price. The Agency's new down payment assistance program will finance up to an additional three percent of the purchase price, allowing for up to 100 percent financing for creditworthy income-eligible borrowers.

Down payment assistance will be a fully amortizing 15-year, fixed-rate second mortgage, with an interest rate of one percent. The down payment assistance loan will carry no additional fees,

In partnership with the Baker-Polito Administration's Housing Choice Initiative, MassHousing is advancing measures to boost the production of new housing, and deliver 135,000 new housing units by the year

Teacher with local ties to be honored

Mary Anne Jezierski from St. Bernadette School in the Diocese of Worcester, MA, will receive the 2018 Lead. Learn. Proclaim. award from the National Catholic Educational Association for dedication and commitment to excellence.

Jezierski, a lifelong resident of Webster, was chosen from more than 150,000 teachers and administrators, as well as diocesan leaders and organizations dedicated to the nation's Catholic schools. Jezierski will be recognized during the annual NCEA 2018 Convention & Expo that will take place April 3-5 in Cincinnati, OH. The annual award honors those whose ministry is Catholic school education and who have demonstrated a strong Catholic educational philosophy as well as exceptional ability, dedication and results.

'It takes dedicated people in the schools, the dioceses, the parishes and the communities to carry out the mission of faith formation in Catholic schools. They are the living messengers of God's purpose from generation to generation," said Barbara McGraw Edmondson, Ed.D., NCEA chief leadership and program officer

"I am most grateful for the opportunity to educate and help form responsible citizens, steeped in a Catholic world view and sustained by Gospel values, said Jezierski.

According to Principal Deborah O'Neil, Jezierski has been a valued member of the faculty at St. Bernadette School for the past 17 years.

"She has continually demonstrated a commitment to her students and has contributed significantly in collaborating with her colleagues in the interest of developing a comprehensive and integrated program at St. Bernadette School. She challenges students to think beyond content to connect Catholic social teachings to their every interaction. Mary Anne has actively sought out professional development opportunities to expand her expertise and is generous in sharing her skillset with colleagues at St. Bernadette School and other Catholic schools in the Worcester Diocese and the Archdiocese of Boston.'

St. Bernadette School, a Roman Catholic elementary and middle school located in Northborough, MA, was established in 1997 by the Diocese of Worcester. The school is accredited by the New England Association of Schools and Colleges. St. Bernadette School serves girls and boys in Pre-K3 through Grade 8 and offers a rigorous academic program to a diverse student body of 460 students, which includes many international students. Limited class size and a talented and dedicated faculty enable the School to maintain consistently high standards for all students while ensuring individual attention. St. Bernadette School was named a 2014 National Blue Ribbon School by the US Department of Education as an "Exemplary High Performing School."

The mission of St. Bernadette School is deeply rooted in firm Catholic beliefs and traditions. We are committed to providing a high-quality education that develops the intellect, inspires the spirit, and guides students to do what is right and just. In partnership with the Church and family, we encourage our students to exemplify Christian values and to become life-long learners.

Schools to undergo program review

Dr. Kristine E. Nash, interim superintendent of the Oxford public schools was informed by the Department of Elementary and Secondary Education of an upcoming coordinated program review that will be taking place this school year. As part of this review, department staff will visit the district during the week of April 23. Such visits are routinely conducted by the Department to satisfy federal and state requirements for the periodic review of specific education programs and services in schools throughout the Commonwealth. The Department is reviewing several programs during a single visit in order to use Department and school staff's time most efficiently and to encourage strong connections among the programs.

Department's The Coordinated Program Review will address the following programs: special education, civil rights, and English learner education. After reviewing school district procedures for these programs, a Department team will make its onsite visit, during which it will review individual student records, interview administrators, teachers and paraprofessional staff, survey parents and observe instructional spaces. After the onsite visit, it will prepare a report for the Superintendent and School Committee, with detailed findings for each program.

Using a scale of ratings ranging from "Commendable" to "Not Implemented," the report will rate the implementation of each requirement reviewed by the Department. Where requirements are found not implemented or only partially implemented, the district must propose to the Department corrective action to bring those areas into compliance with statutes and regulations. Districts and schools are encouraged to incorporate the corrective action into their district and school improvement plans and professional development plan.

The school district will be provided with technical assistance from the Department in developing a corrective action plan. Both the Department's report and the corrective action plan are public information and will be available to the public upon request. Program review final reports are also available on the Department's Internet website at http://www.doe.mass. edu/pqa/review/cpr/reports/.

Any member of the public may request to be interviewed by telephone by a member of the Department's visiting team. Those wishing to be interviewed should call the Superintendent's Office at (508) 987-6050 x 1111, no later than April 17 to leave their name and phone number, or they may call the Department of Elementary and Secondary Education at (413) 314-6708. A member of the visiting team will contact each person desiring an interview within two weeks after the completion of the onsite visit. If an individual is not comfortable communicating in English or requires some other accommodation, the Department will make arrangements to communicate appropriately with the individ-have to make a choice of which veterans' services we don't offer to them, which is illegal. If a veteran comes into the office I have to offer them support and assistance and when dealing with these claims and fighting with the veterans' authority I have to sit down with them, find out what they need and that usually takes and hour or two hours. Then I have to have them come back to fill out forms. They have homework to do and they have to come back with their ailments."

The hone is that by increasing the office's clerk to 20 hours with a long overdue pay increase will help better serve the veterans and relatives in need. Rogerson would also commit to those 20 hours and much of Dudley's expenses for his salary are reimbursed by the state. Rogerson said after local publications reported on his original request from February he received a lot of public support for the change.

T've received a lot of support from the community. I didn't realize it would go that far," Rogerson said. "Most people don't know what the veterans' office does. They walk by, they see the flags and they don't realize a lot of work goes in there."

The Personnel Board remained consistent in their action on the matter, taking the same vote they do with other requests for raises in different town departments. The Board decided to take the request "under advisement" and to seek an updated job description for the clerk position. The board's newest member Peter Fox, a former selectman and a veteran who has been an outspoken supporter of raises in the past, took a moment to relay the reality of Dudley's financial situation to Rogerson and explain why none of the requested raises in the town have been outright approved as of yet.

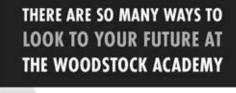

"One of the major concerns that I have, not just with this request but with all the requests, is I think everyone is well aware of the financial situation the town is facing. It's enormous. We have a huge and important override vote coming up on April 3. The town administrator's number one responsibility, at least in my opinion, is the budget. Right now, he does not have all the information needed to formulate an accurate budget at this time because we don't know what the school result would be, and we still don't have any numbers from the state. So, I have recommended to this board that we take any recommendations under advisement but take no action at this time because we don't have any financial picture of where we stand today," said

"The board supports people being paid fairly. I've gone on the record supporting the 90 percent factor from the area towns that we'd be able to compensate our employees properly, but right now today the bottom line is we don't know where we stand with the budget."

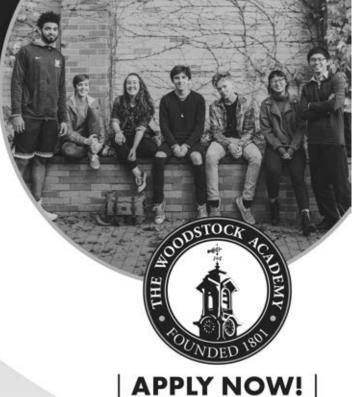

Rogerson said he understood the situation and the reasoning for the Personnel Board's hesitation to cast a vote. He explained his purpose for appearing before them was primarily to make them, and the public, aware of the situation and recommend a solution for consideration.

"My whole thesis is just to let people know what's going on," Rogerson said. "It's impossible to read a book and understand everything about working with veterans. There's a lot going on. My thesis was basically this is what we're doing, the town needs to understand it, and that's it."

Master gardeners to share secrets of saving seeds

STURBRIDGE — Have you ever wondered how to save your own seeds from the plants you grow year after year? At the annual Old Sturbridge Village Garden Symposium on April 7, participants will discover the joys, benefits, and techniques of seed saving. Expert gardeners will explain which plants are best adapted for this practice, and uncover the secrets - and value - of preserving heirloom varieties.

The keynote address will be delivered by Hannah Traggis, senior horticulturist at the Massachusetts Horticultural Society's Elm Bank. In her talk "Seeds: The Powerhouse of Civilization," she will describe the case for and cultural importance of saving open pollinated seeds.

Gretel Anspach, a retired Raytheon engineer and master gardener, will present "Seed Saving 101," a primer for beginning and experienced gardeners with tips and techniques for collecting and preserving seeds from a wide variety of vegetables, flowers, and herbs.

Other workshops during the day-long symposium will cover topics such as "19th-century Seed Saving" and "Collecting and Saving Seeds from Fruits.'

The Symposium begins at 9:00 am on Saturday, April 7, and costs $50 for the day, or $40 for OSV members. An optional boxed lunch may be purchased for an additional $15. To register, visit www.osv.org/saveseeds or call 508-347-0290.

VIEWPOINT

The kindness of strangers helps young boy with autism

My son is nine years old, his favorite color is orange, and he enjoys reading Dr. Seuss books...I think.

Sometimes I don't really know what my son likes or dislikes. He is a mystery to everyone, even me, and I am his mother. Jase was diagnosed with autism at the fragile age of two, said his first word at age five, then lost it, and said another first word at seven, and kept it. He is still non-verbal, but uses a communication device to tell us what he wants and needs. On top of the autism diagnosis Jase has speech-apraxia, which is just a fancy word for the inability to talk. So, here we are, a little family whose lives revolve around therapies, doctor and specialist visits, school meetings, and too many emotions to count.

If you are a parent of someone with autism, or teach someone with autism, or are someone with autism, you know that there are these special magical moments of clarity. These little yummy morsels of just sweet, sweet lucidity where everything comes out clear. The static is gone, the voice is clear and it says "I want more color hats."

Okay, it might not be about hats, but that is what it was for my Jase. Hats, and he wanted more of them.

A little background information for you: Jase doesn't like anything. Like, anything. I thought he enjoyed puzzles, but when he started doing 100-piece puzzles and memorizing where each piece goes, it didn't interest him anymore.

I thought he may like dinosaurs: no. Match box cars: no. LEGO: nope. Coloring, painting, or sports: no, no, and no.

Then one day we were waiting for his van that would take him off to another day at school, and he looks at me and says (yes, says!) "I want more color hats."

That's it. I mean, I just stare at him as he is adorned with a pirate hat that he wears every single day already, and say "okay," like this is a totally normal thing.

My non-verbal kid just talked. He asked for something other than a food item or a need to be left alone. He asked me for something that means a lot to him: hats.

I put him on the van, wave to him as he drives away, and run straight into the house to caffeinate and concentrate. Time to get the word out. I hit Facebook immediately, which, is pretty much the only social media I know anything about, and I post away. Mom looking for hats, used hats, old hats, new hats, different hats, hats, hats! I post on my page and I post on local yard sale sites, and people saw and pulled through for us.

We had hats coming in from all over Massachusetts, Connecticut, and New Hampshire. In boxes they came, sent directly to Jase with his name on the mailing address and everything! Inside we received notes and cards all wishing him a happy day, and lovely texts about how wonderful he is. "Enjoy your hat & keep inspiring the world!" from Drew and Athena. Some wonderful people even started to make hats for Jase. We even received crochet hats with his favorite movie characters on them!

Jase now chooses a different hat every day, somedays he is a police man, others he has a giant pizza, or has a shark trying to eat his head! He loves his hats and they all make him smile.

People often ask me, why hats? I cannot honestly know. He can't tell me, or hasn't told me why yet, but I have my suspicions.

Jase is a peculiar fellow. When out in public he may hum loudly, wiggle his fingers in front of his eyes, and carry a big iPad around his neck to talk. He has received a variety of looks from curious, to scared, to amusement, or misunderstanding.

Then he started to wear his pirate hat, and people didn't notice anything else but the hat. Out of context of Halloween, it is pretty darn cool to see a young kid exploring his imagination and wearing a neat pirate hat around the store, in a restaurant, or just around town.

Jase knows a lot more than we give him credit for. He is super smart, super sweet, he knows deeper, he feels greater, and he experiences absolutely. I truly believe that these hats are all protection for him. It is a way for him to express his true self: a child filled with wonder and kindness.

I want to thank everyone who sent him hats. I want to thank everyone who made him hats. You are so very talented and we appreciate your hard work. I want to thank everyone who shared and reached out to us. You are all so very amazing for spreading such happiness to a little boy who, although can't speak, says the most wonderful things when his eyes light up and he adorns a loved and gratefully accepted hat. Thank you.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Moran: vote in favor

To the editor:

On April 3, we citizens of Dudley and Charlton will have the opportunity to vote on the future of our children. A special election will be conducted on that day in both towns to permit a Proposition 2 1/2 override to fund our schools. This is urgently needed to avoid significant cuts which may jeopardize their right to an education which prepares them well for their future.

Why is this necessary? Since the most recent (2008) state education funding allocation changes, cities and towns in Massachusetts have been asked to fund a larger and larger share of the burden of public education. Since that time, our share of responsibility has grown by half, and the state's share has barely increased at all. This has driven our administrators to dig very deep over the years to make up the shortfall... and there isn't any deeper it appears we can go without new revenue.

If we fail to act, class sizes will increase, enrichment programs and resources including mental health support could be jeopardized, critical infrastructure like roofs and heating systems will continue to crumble, and needed technology investment cannot be made. Each of these taken individually diminish our students' experience, but all of them taken together would significantly disadvantage our students compared with their peers even in the next towns over.

Now I do not have children in the Dudley school system. I am retired, and my children are grown. But it is very important to me that our children, ALL our children, receive the best education we can deliver to them. They are our future. They deserve the best we can do for them.

So please. Come out on April 3 and vote! Vote for our kids. Vote for those who work with them every day. Make sure your friends and neighbors are informed. We don't have an opportunity very often to make such an important difference in the lives of so many. Let's make this happen!

Davies: unhappy with Sound Off

To the Editor:

A "Sound Off" column....really??? Have you learned nothing from the last two years of cultural divisiveness? Now the Webster Times joins social media in promoting incivility of discourse, unverified "facts", declarations that information not to your liking is "fake" news, — dividing us rather than uniting us. And the best yet...you can be anonymous.

In my opinion the Times already has been violating the principles of good journalism by allowing anonymous letters to the editor for those with no intestinal fortitude to express valid concerns openly and hopefully with suggestions for improvement. You do not need a special column for it. As we near a new local election cycle, the Times (which bars only "libelous remarks and personal attacks" from its letters) now can be just one more "social media" site for venting, making innuendos, and generally spreading ill will. I would hope that instead you would encourage transparency, integrity, and meaningful debate. And to those of you who don't have the courage to sign your names—ask yourselves why you can't come forward with your convictions.

And since you are encouraging us to "sound off", I say to "Citizen: new name" (The Webster Times-March 23, 2018), brown water indeed is an issue in Webster. So do something about it. Get involved in town meetings, boards, and commissions. Learn about the progress that has been made and what remains to be done and how it is being addressed and funded. Ask questions. Make positive suggestions. There is a need for citizen participation. Or you just can hide behind your anonymity and complain.

I am so disappointed in my hometown paper.

DR. ELAINE F DAVIES (N.B. NOT ANONYMOUS)

Lemire: Et tu, Webster Times?

To the Editor:

The "Viewpoint" in the March 16th edition of this paper showed that being educated doesn't make you "smart." It was titled, "Bill of Rights not easily changed" written by Dr. Harold Pease. I don't agree with Pease, but what is very objectionable is the Webster Times (WT) showing its political choice and its stand on gun control. This piece was not submitted by Pease to the WT. Someone within the WT found this article and chose to insert it. As a person awarded by the Massachusetts Press Association for my newspaper work, I have always considered a "weekly" to be neutral. The WT isn't the Manchester Union Leader, but it seems obvious that they drink the same juice. To choose (and the key word is "choose") to give Pease space in this paper labels the WT. Some may agree with that label – some may

ot. A point about Pease's column:

The guns that were used by the militia and the British Army in the American Revolution were single shot muskets. It was a British weapon and it had the nickname "Brown Bess." It weighed 14 pounds and was 3' 8" long. It was inaccurate and it took 20 to 30 seconds to reload. On September 17, 1787, when our "Founding Fathers" drafted the United States Constitution and the "2nd Amendment," it was the above musket that the Fathers wanted all of us to have the right to bear.

Is there anyone out there reading this, that could possibly think that even the most demented politician would draft the 2nd Amendment, as it was drafted in 1787, if the arms were AR-15s???? If the US Constitution was drafted today, then there would be no provision that would allow you and me the right to bear assault rifles. Should we have the right to own a revolver or hunting rifles and shotguns? - Yes. But what insane purpose does owning an AR-15 serve? None! And Dr. Pease, living in America, has the right to his opinion. He has the right to write his opinion. But for the WT to choose to put it into our local paper... They have that right, but when I retrieve this paper from my mailbox – I will find it on the far right side.

As a side note. This Pease insertion, with the killing of 17 students on February 14th, just one month before the March 16th edition, had the pictures of high school students on the front page. That isn't poor timing – it is irresponsible journalism.

To the Editor:

Oxford High School's presentation of "Dorothy in Wonderland" was just great! Kudos go to those on the stage and behind the scenes.

The story was very imaginative and it was presented so well using excellent costumes and sets. It was good to include an autographs page in the program — there are some rising stars

Thanks to all involved in the production — I could tell there was a lot of hard work to make such a great show!!

EDITORIAL

Sounding off: it ends

A few years ago, before the advent of Facebook news and faceless media trolls on the Internet, a different editor and others at Stonebridge Press adopted an idea. It wasn't entirely new, it had been done elsewhere, but it was taken

The premise was, some people were afraid to express their opinion, afraid of repercussions from, well, take your pick: politicians, the police, neighbors, whomever this person or that thought might not agree and would take offense in some hostile manner.

So it became a policy, you could call in and leave a voicemail, or you could mail an anonymous letter, and be assured it would get into the pages.

But there were some major problems with this in the long run. We couldn't know just who it was that was sending us these gems. We couldn't know if they were "on the up and up" for one thing, whether the people were who they claimed to be.

And there wasn't a lot we could do about their information. We couldn't ask them where they found their information, what it was based on, who they had spoken to, whether other steps had been taken...really whether any of what they purported to say was even truthful.

We couldn't know. But we printed them.

We've had second thoughts. As our publisher Frank Chilinski eloquently put it, "In this era of the internet, social media, news online that goes unchecked and unchallenged, it is a much different world then the world of 15 years ago."

And in the last week or so, we've had some varied responses to some harsh anonymous contributions.

With that in mind, while there are some responses in this week's opinions, be assured there will no longer be anonymous letters to the editor in our pages.

We may, if the writer chooses and can prove a need, withhold a name of a writer upon request, but the writer must provide us with their contact information first, so we can verify their information with them if we have questions. That's the only way we can do it and be as balanced as possible on all fronts.

We hope this helps clarify our position, and makes us a bit more respon-

On another note, while debating the pros and cons of gun controls, First Amendment rights of various groups debating those rights and the newest demonstrating Children Who Have Discovered Voices: we nearly missed a huge issue much, much closer to home.

Every one of the towns served by a Stonebridge Press newspaper is affect-

While we who drive Massachusetts highways and byways continue to pay for the Big Dig, the Massachusetts Turnpike, the airports and the non-existent-to-us train services beyond the I-495 corridor, the Governor who gets driven to work has chosen not to fully fund transportation services out here.

That it doesn't do enough already, and if anything should be expanded in most areas, the idea of a cut in services is ludicrous.

We can't conceive of the words to condone this idiocy. People who need this service, who must get to work, to health services, to get to schools, even to shop or to enjoy a little time away from home depend entirely on the bus runs. Many rural areas still don't have regularly scheduled runs now; they should be expanded not contracted.

This one thing is enough to change our minds about Charlie.

A form of March Madness

March Madness. Who would come out on top?

Most in Jerusalem knew the team they were cheering for on that first Palm Sunday and the sort of champion they wanted to lead them to victory.

Some were rooting for a new ruler to bring back the perceived good old days of the kingdom of David (Mark 11:10).

Some wanted the political and military machinery of Rome with their appointee Pilate to keep the peace through a show of military force.

Others were infected with a sort of madness and this madness was spreading. There were lots of fans cheering on this new champion Jesus and his team called disciples. They had no idea what they were doing or what they were getting themselves into.

It was madness to stand up to the powers that be as they did. It was madness to profess this carpenter as king, as equal to Caesar, madness to believe in him as Son of God, madness to believe his words proclaiming all of them as sons and daughters of god, also equal to Caesar...deadly madness.

It couldn't end well, vet those common people just struggling day to day to survive, beaten down and kept down by the powers that be, those lepers and prostitutes, those women, men and children, those laborers, farmers and uneducated masses had never had a champion like this before. Growing throngs of people were infected with this madness leading them to believe that mountainside gatherings, teachings, healings, sharing resources, planting seeds of love and marches for peace could change the course of human history.

Yes, this is madness, this "March Madness," as they march their way through the gates of Jerusalem. They follow their champion.

Yet their champion is a team player. He sent a couple of them to find a colt and tells them if anyone questions them "If anyone says to you, 'Why are you doing this?' just say this, 'The Lord needs it and will send it back here immediately'." (Mark 11:3 NRSV)

Oh sure, that makes sense! What!?

Yet somehow it did, they who would have never thought it possible, made the play of their lifetime.

David Brooks, a columnist for The New York Times, has written, 'About once a month I run across a person who radiates an inner light. These people can be in any walk of life. They seem deeply good. They listen well. They make you feel funny and valued. They are not thinking about what wonderful work they are doing. They are not thinking about themselves at all.' In 2018 a March Madness (beyond that of basketball) infects certain folks like this, and it's beautiful.

They march with young people in what they call a March for Our Lives. Sounds like Palm Sunday to me. And while we might be tempted to look at all this, smile, and call it all quite sweet...it's anything but. This is deadly serious stuff and here in the middle of Holy Week the world needs mad marchers more than ever. On March 24, the day before a week our tradition names as Holy, families took to the streets of Washington DC, Boston, Worcester and other cities throughout our nation and world, demanding that all of us get serious about gun violence, mass shootings in our schools and reasonable gun reform.

They're just a bunch of kids, right? They'll grow. They'll come to understand the way things are. Let them have their moment. Smile at them politely then, let them realize how ridiculous they were, madness, marching together like that, not understanding that peace only comes through more violence... yet those who cheer that team cheer as those who once cheered Pax Romana. the peace of Rome, peace at the end of

Jesus is being tested this week by every other team's champion. They'll seek to humiliate and defeat him, to erase him completely, as if he'd never

So long ago now, crowds marched with Jesus and shouted "Hosanna!" which means "Save Us!" Save us from defeat and despair and save us from

Jesus is a champion unlike any other, a champion whose physical body is destroyed on the court, a champion who suffers what appears to be defeat yet continues and perseveres and never gives up, a champion who carries the cross of his broken body and this broken world and then invites us to champion (as a verb) the kingdom of God he champions, to be on earth as in heaven.

To follow Jesus, not just to utter words of belief in Jesus, but to actually follow with our actions on the court of life's journey, was considered madness on that first Palm Sunday march. It still is. March Madness. And yet we march, listening for what Jesus needs from us, responding...seeing success not defeat as we stand at the foot of the cross, Jesus our champion on the court of our lives that cross now a symbol of our trust in God marching us away from true madness towards peace, justice, equality and God's kin-dom made real through us. "Save us!" we cry. Then, through the saving love of Christ Jesus marching with us, we are saved. Amen.

Can you keep a car at home if it isn't registered?

CHIEF'S CORNER STEVE WOJNAR

I was asked a question involving storage of unregistered motor vehicles on property here in town. Many people have unregistered vehicles on their property for one reason or another. A person recently bought a new car and is in the process of selling their older one. I was asked to explain the town

By-law for the benefit on storage of unregistered cars.

Article twenty-one is the section of the Dudley By-laws which pertains to storage of unregistered motor vehicles. Unless a person is the holder of a license, such as a car dealer, or unless given a special permit by the Selectmen, they cannot allow more than one unregistered motor vehicle to remain on a lot in the town. The vehicle can be assembled or disassembled for the purposes of this law. The term "lot" is defined as "a parcel of land held in identical ownership throughout including all contiguous land held in the same ownership.'

In the incident in question, the property owner is completely within the limit of the law.

Should someone request a special permit, a public hearing will be held and the Selectmen "may" issue one if certain criteria are met. Some items of consideration include whether or not the vehicles constitute a nuisance and if they do "not adversely affect the neighborhood.

This By-law does not apply to vehicles stored within an enclosed building or if they are designed for farming or other agricultural purposes. Penalties for a violation are $20 per day for each violation. This law is designed to avoid hazardous situations and the compiling

Should you find yourself with a potential violation, it is good to know you have options. Many charities or scrap dealers will take old vehicles off your property at no cost. You may also receive a tax credit in some cases. Feel free to contact our office should you require assistance with this problem.

Thanks again for your questions and comments. Please send them to me at the Dudley Police Department, 71 West Main St., Dudley, MA 01571 or email at swojnar@dudleypolice.com.

Newer investors: don't panic if bear market returns

FINANCIAL Focus

DENNIS ANTONOPOULOS

If you're in your twenties or thirties, you might be starting to focus more on investing to reach your financial goals. Because of this, you also may be more attuned to moves in the financial markets. Depending on your age, vou may have only experienced the bull market of the past nine years, so you might not know what to expect – or how to respond - whenever the next bear market strikes.

Of course, just recently, you've witnessed a market correction - a drop of at least 10 percent in the major stock market indices, such as the S&P 500. This sudden plunge made big news and reminded many investors of how volatile the financial markets bear market usually isn't identified until the markets are down 20 percent from their recent highs. Plus, bear markets, unlike corrections, tend to linger for a while.

The last "bear" emerged from hibernation in October 2007 and stayed on the prowl until early March 2009. During that time, the S&P 500 declined by about 50 percent. Clearly, investors were not happy – but the market recovered and moved to new heights. This long and strong run-up may have obliterated your bear market memories, if you ever had them at all. And that's why you might want to familiarize yourself with some of the bare facts about bear markets:

Bear markets may provide good buying opportunities. When gas is expensive, you may just buy a few gallons at a time – but when the price falls, you're probably more likely to fill up your tank. The same principle can apply to investing - when stock prices are down, your investment dollars will buy more shares. And the more shares you own, the greater your ability to build wealth once the share price rises. In short, a bear market may provide you with a chance to buy quality investments at good prices.

Bear markets don't last forever. No one can predict precisely how long bear markets will run, but they've typically been much shorter than bull markets. So, while you might not particularly like looking at your investment statement during a decline, you can take some comfort in knowing such downturns are a normal feature of the investment landscape.

Bear markets don't affect all investments equally. If you only own U.S. stocks, your portfolio may well take a sizable hit during a bear market. But other types of investment vehicles may not be as directly affected – and some may even show positive results. Consequently, you could reduce the bear's "bite" if you also own a variety of other investments, such as international stocks, bonds, government securities, certificates of deposit (CDs) and so on. However. while owning this type of diversified portfolio can help reduce the impact of market volatility, it does not guarantee profits or protect against

A bear market can be challenging. But by making the right moves, such as staying patient, looking for buying opportunities and maintaining a diversified portfolio, you may be able to prevent a market decline from becoming unbearable.

Sound Off I agree

Just finished reading the Letter to the Editor and answering to what "just Saying" wrote.

Thank you for writing this article. It has been on my mind for a long time but thought I was the only one that thought that. I am old now, but when I see the immigrants taking over my town that I lived here all my life. And getting sympathy, so they go on welfare, free housing, medical care, etc.

You wrote the honest thing that I have read in a long time. "Just Saying," I am proud that you wrote the truth. Believe me I have nothing against them especially the good ones, but since we been bringing them in all it has been is guns, drugs, robbing people, not to mention killing. I am afraid of going out, I feel I am becoming a recluse. Thank you again.

New networking connection with Tri-Valley benefits seniors

Tri-Valley, Inc. is now part of the National Council on Aging's network dedicated to helping people with Medicare improve their financial outlook by enrolling in programs to help them afford health care, prescriptions, food, and more.

Nationally, half of all people with Medicare live on incomes less than $26,200 per year, and they often lack the resources needed to meet basic living expenses. Federal, state, and local programs exist to help these individuals, but many people do not know how to apply for assistance.

Tri-Valley, Inc. has a strong history of helping vulnerable residents in 25 towns located in South Central Massachusetts (Bellingham, Blackstone, Brookfield, Charlton, Douglas, Dudley, East Brookfield, Franklin, Hopedale, Medway, Mendon, Milford, Millville, Northbridge, North Brookfield, Oxford, Southbridge, Spencer, Sturbridge, Sutton, Upton, Uxbridge, Warren, Webster and West Brookfield)," said Susan Salisbury, director of community services. "We're proud to be part of this national network of organizations that, since 2009, has helped more than 850,000 low-income older adults and younger adults with disabilities achieve economic stability.

Tri-Valley, Inc. is one of 69 Benefits Enrollment Centers funded by NCOA to serve low-income Medicare beneficiaries in 36 states. BECs are supported by funding from the Medicare Improvements for Patients and Providers Act, administered through the U.S. Administration for Community Living. Tri-Valley's BEC will cover the agency's 25-towns listed above plus 36 additional communities in Central Massachusetts.

BECs use NCOA's free online BenefitsCheckUp(r) tool BenefitsCheckUp.org to screen lower income older adults, and younger adults with disabilities, for more than 2,500 benefits-including Medicare Savings Programs, Part D Extra Help, and the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP), and to help them apply for and use those benefits.

Space memorabilia

Given the rich history and significant contributions in our region, it's no surprise that we have local connections to the space program.

Robert Goddard is considered the father of American rocketry. He was born in Worcester in 1882. Goddard graduated from Worcester Polytechnic Institute in 1908. Dr. Goddard began his graduate WAYNE TUISKULA studies the same year at Clark University.

NASA's website states his 1920 treatise, "A Method of Reaching Extreme Altitudes," outlined the possibility of a rocket reaching the moon. On March 16, 1926, Goddard launched his first liquid fueled rocket on Pakachoag Hill in Auburn. NASA equates the historical significance of this event to the Wright Brothers first flight at Kitty Hawk, North Carolina.

A handwritten letter by Robert Goddard can bring four figures at auction. Letters with important rocket related content can bring even more. A typed letter signed by Goddard may even bring $1,000 or more. Five photos of Goddard target shooting, in a car and performing other activities sold for $375 in a 2006 auction.

The Worcester Historical Society website highlights

NASA approached Allegro Systems, in Worcester, for help with a project. World leaders had written messages for the astronauts to carry to the moon. NASA needed them reproduced on some type of small surface to be left at the moon. Allegro created a 14/1000th inch disc to hold the messages that is easily readable with a microscope. It was left on the moon during the lunar landing in 1969.

Wyman Gordon Company, of North Grafton, produced more than 150 fittings that were used on the Saturn V booster rock-et for Apollo II. More recently, Wyman Gordon forged the main landing gear for the U.S. Space Shuttle.

David Clark Company, in Worcester, developed the anti-G suit for pilots during World War II. It helped prevent pilots from blacking out during high speed maneuvers. In the late 1950s, David Clark produced equipment for the space program. John Glenn wore a headset manufactured by David Clark when he orbited earth in 1962. When Neil Armstrong set foot on the moon, he also wore a headset made by David Clark. David Clark Company was also in the news more recently. Felix Baumgartner made a record breaking 24 mile jump from the edge of space wearing a David Clark spacesuit.

Auction records list David Clark high altitude suits for pilots selling in the thousands of dollars. Pressurized helmets also can bring four figure sums. A Gemini space suit thermal layer made for Gus Grissom rocketed to $43,750 at auction.

There are other types of memorabilia that are more common. Signed astronaut photos are popular with collectors. Because Neil Armstrong was the first person to walk on the moon, his autograph is especially desirable. His signed photos can sell for over $1,000. For collectors on a budget, there are autographs by lesser known astronauts. A photo signed by Michael Rich Clifford, who was on three Space Shuttle missions, recently sold for just over $1 on eBay. You can still find prices on some space memorabilia that aren't priced out of this world.

We will be offering space memorabilia from a David Clark Company executive in our fall live auction. Info will be coming soon on an online auction we'll be running in Sterling. See www.centralmassauctions.com for details on this and other upcoming

Flower Power

The months of March and April bring with them the anticipation of sunny days to come. And for New Englanders, the long awaited warm weather promises a new season of flowers. From altering moods to increasing productivity, tending to flowers can serve as a valuable form of garden therapy. Read on for some inspiration to plan spring and summer gardens this year!

Don't have a garden? Don't fret - simply being in the company of flowers can have a profound therapeutic effect. The mere sight and fragrance of flowers can trigger the release of endorphins, the "feel good" hormones that increase joy and well being.

In fact, research by Rutgers College, New Jersey established flowers have a positive impact on moods and can even decrease bouts of mild depression. According to the ten month study, flowers have an immediate impact on happiness. The research also showed flowers have a long-term positive effect on moods and study participants reported feeling less depressed, anxious and agitated after receiving flowers, with a higher sense of enjoyment and life satisfaction.

Want more? Studies on the effects of flowers by Virginia Polytechnic Institute revealed the presence of flowers enhances communication, restores mental fatigue and promotes a good sense of self esteem! According to various medical reports, all it takes is three to five minutes looking at views dominated by trees, flowers or water to begin to reduce anger, anxiety and pain and to induce relaxation. And research by Dr. Roger Ulrich, PhD proved patients recovering from surgery healed quicker and needed less pain medication when they had flowers within view. These patients also had shorter hospital stays than their flowerless counterparts!

Need a nudge to bring more flowers into your life in 2018? Here are some eye opening facts on the virtues of flowers!

"Flower Power" takes on new meaning when you understand fresh flowers have the capacity to alter our energy and emotions. Why not take the benefits of the flower garden one step further and plant specifically to improve both body and soul?

*Lavender: Want to relax? Plant lavender. The scent of lavender prompts calmness. Studies report that the smell of lavender triggers alpha waves in the part of the brain associated with a relaxed state.

*Roses: No flower is more sentimental than the romantic rose. And it's no wonder. The scent of roses evokes nostalgia, which can recall happy memories from the past.

*Violets: Research shows violets enhance learning speed by 17%, and also improve concentration when used in study rooms.

*Lilies: Need an energy boost? The scent of lily has been proven to increase wakefulness and help you stay alert.

Legends and Lore of the Blooms: Flowers have long played a role in our everyday lives and according to folklore, perhaps even our futures. The "magical" power of blooms is legendary, as the following superstitions suggest:

*Daisies: Perhaps the most familiar floral "predictor" of love is the daisv. Plucking off petals one by one while reciting "He (or she) loves me, he loves me not," has long served as an amusing indictor of requited love.

*Bachelor Buttons: Folklore may explain how these bright blue and purple cornflowers earned their name. Legend has it that young suitors would place freshly picked flowers in their pocket while courting. If the "bachelor buttons" remained fresh and unwilted for the duration, it was a sure sign the relationship is on a steady course of *Roses: Romantic lore claims rose petals helped young ladies of earlier eras choose between two or more suitors. Writing the name of each prospective husband the petals and tossing them to the wind, it is said the last petal to hit the ground holds the name of the one she shall TAKE marry. THE *Primrose

Superstition has it that HINT bouquets of flowers should always contain an odd KAREN number of blooms, lest bad luck be lured. This TRAINOR belief especially applies to primroses, as the English believed the flowers should be only be brought into the house in groups of 13 to ensure good fortune.

*Daffies: Perky yellow daffodils can be an instant mood booster, but according to Welsh folklore the flower can also bring wealth. It is said the first person who spots a spring daffodil will be rewarded with prosperity throughout the year! *Roses: To bring good luck into a home in days of yore, rose leaves were tossed into the fireplace flame.

*White Flowers: White blooms are beautiful, but they can carry a melancholy message, according to age old folklore. Think twice before you send a bouquet of white flowers to a sick friend in the hospital as legend claims whites with a strong fragrance can worsen a sickness or even bring on death! Ditto for white flowers that show signs of wilting. And never pair white and red flowers in a bouquet for a sick person, as the combination is said to bring bad luck.

*Day Lilies: These bright orange flowers, common to the New England landscape, were considered a lucky health charm when worn. It was believed wearing a lily would lighten one's worries and lessen distress.

Poppies: While wearing a poppy in the lapel on Veteran's Day has long been a tradition to honor those who served and died for their country. poppies were also worn in the belief they help dispel worries and anxiety.

Students in the Northeast gifting the flowers to each other during the Irish holiday.

Paired with seasonal greenery, the colorful green carnation is a popular St. Patty's Day centerpiece.

Easter Lily FYI: Easter Lily symbolizes innocence, purity and virtue as the gorgeous white flowers reflect the spiritual aspect of Easter. Legend tells of lilies growing in the garden of Gethsemane - springing up where Christ's drops of sweat fell during his final agony.

Each year at Easter, pots of white lilies grace the alters of Christian churches and the homes of believers.

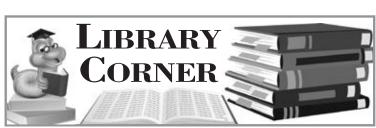

While the Easter Lily is a symbol of the holiday, the seasonal perennial flower can be planted and enjoyed for years to come.

After the plant is done blooming. trim off dead foliage and plant it outside when ground is thawed. Lilies like a sunny area with well drained soil. Give the plant plenty of water and add an all purpose fertilizer. It probably won't flower again until the next year, but replanting the Easter Lily rewards the gardener with years of beautiful blooms!

Determined Owusu shines at SWCL All-Star game, wins MVP

The Southern Worcester County League All-Stars before their game.

McAddai Owusu of Oxford was the MVP of the SWCL All-Star

BY KEN POWERS

SOUTHBRIDGE — It was raining 3-pointers at the Southbridge High gymnasium on Friday, March 16, as the Southern Worcester County League (SWCL) boys' basketball teams officially closed out the 2017-18 season with an All-Star game in front of family and friends.

The teams combined to hit 35 shots from beyond the arc — and score 227 points.

The Home Team, with five players scoring in double figures and 10 recording at least seven points, won the game, 124-103

Oxford High's McAddai Owusu led the Home

Team — which connected on 21 of its 3-point attempts — recording a double-double, scoring 18 points and pulling down 10 rebounds. For his performance the junior was named the game's Most Valuable Player.

"This was a great way to end the season. It was fun; it was a great game played in a really nice atmosphere. I really enjoyed it," said Owusu, who drilled a pair of 3-pointers and recorded three assists. "I was disappointed I didn't get selected for this game last year so I worked hard during the summer so I could get selected for this year's game. Hopefully I'll get selected for the game again next year and that will give me a chance to repeat as game

David Prouty Regional senior Sage Maryyanek was the Home Team's top scorer, finishing with 21 points (five 3-pointers), four rebounds and an assist. Northbridge High junior Robbie Cannon added 15 points, six rebounds and six assists, while Bartlett High's Dylan Paddleford scored 14 points and grabbed eight rebounds. Northbridge junior Sean Rosenlund chipped in to the winning cause with 13 points (three 3-pointers), five rebounds and five assists.

Bartlett sophomore Logan Paranto scored nine points (two 3-pointers) to go along with four rebounds and four assists while Uxbridge High junior Harrison Mansfield, Bartlett senior Dom Palmerino and Oxford senior Klaytin Silva all scored eight points. Mansfield also grabbed six rebounds and served up three assists while Silva recorded eight rebounds and a pair of assists.

Northbridge junior Dillon Padula finished with seven points, two rebounds, an assist and a steal while Uxbridge junior Tyler Tedford his playing time cut short when he reinjured his left ankle — scored three points and grabbed a pair of rebounds.

The Home Team which was coached by Northbridge's Aaron Katz—put the game away early, outscoring the Away Team 31-6 during a seven-minute span of the first half to turn a 16-15 deficit into a 46-22 lead. The run included a string of 14 consecutive points. Maryyanek scored eight points in the spurt, six coming on 3-pointers, while Owusu added five and Rosenlund four.

Northbridge senior Jared Richardson, Uxbridge senior Scott Kaeller and Oxford senior Jared Perkins were also selected for the game but were unable to attend. Auburn High seniors Tyler Judice and Matty Backlin were also originally on the roster, but both were forced to bow out of the competition due to injuries.

After the run the Home Team, which led 55-44 at halftime, led by double digits the rest of the way, its largest lead being 36 points, 89-53, on a 3-pointer by Padula with 13 minutes to play.

The Away Team, which drained 14 treys, was led by Southbridge High senior Jared Figueroa, who scored 20 points (two 3-pointers), grabbed eight rebounds, served up five assists and made three steals. Grafton High's Will Herndon led the Away Team in scoring with 22 points. The senior also grabbed six rebounds. Tantasqua Regional senior Drew Peretti also scored in double figures. nine of his 13 points coming on triples. He also recorded six rebounds and three assists. Tantasqua senior Evan Couture and Southbridge senior Justin Reves each scored nine points while Leicester High senior Kyle Enberg added eight points (two three-pointers) and Millbury High senior William Nadeau tossed in six points on a pair of 3-pointers. Couture also grabbed three rebounds while Reyes had five rebounds and two assists, Enberg had two rebounds and an assist and Nadeau had five rebounds.

Rounding out the Away Team roster were Tantasqua juniors Hayden Peterson and Chase Freeland,

Dylan Paddleford of Bartlett saves the ball from bouncing out

Grafton's Kyle Sawtelle (senior) and Ryan Jack (junior), and Leicester seniors Kyle Padeni and Anthony Goodney. Quaboag Regional senior Zach McCann was also picked for the game, but he was unable to attend.

"I told the guys before the game that we were going to try to have a Grinnell type of game," said Tantasqua's Tom O'Neil, the Away Team coach, referring to the Grinnell (Iowa) College men's basketball team, which averages 120 points a game and subs five guys at a time every four minutes.

"I wanted us to try and run and score and put on a show for the fans." O'Neil continued. "I just tried to let the kids play and do what they want. This is a game where it's all about them so I wanted them to go out and just let the offense happen. I wanted them to just go out there and have fun; that's what this game is about."

This All-Star Game, and the girls' game which preceded it, were organized — for the second year in a row — by Victor Colon, the Southbridge High boys' varsity coach.

"I thought it went great," Colon said. "I'm doing this for the kids so they have a chance to play together and play with the other guys. They seem like they're having fun, so why not keep doing it."

Delgado's all-around effort leads to victory and MVP in SWCL All-Star Game

The Southern Worcester County League girls' basketball all-stars, along with their respective coaches.

BY KEN POWERS
SPORTS CORRESPONDENT

SOUTHBRIDGE — Julitza Delgado enjoyed one final moment on the basketball court where she made a name for herself and, in the process, helped lead the Southern Worcester County League (SWCL) All-Stars Home Team to a come-from-behind victory over the Away Team, 84-75, on Friday, March 16.

The Southbridge High senior poured in a game-high 18 points — 13 after halftime — pulled down five rebounds, served up five assists and made two steals in the game. For her efforts, just a month after surpassing the 1,000-point plateau for the Pioneers on this very court, she was named the game's Most Valuable Player.

"This was really a lot of fun," said Delgado, who had both arms wrapped around her very large MVP trophy. "I really enjoyed the chance to play with some girls I haven't played with before. We all really seemed to work well together. I didn't feel like I had to do a lot of the work; I could just go out there and play."

As the years went on Delgado shouldered more and more team responsibilities during her time at Southbridge. By the time her senior year rolled around she was the Pioneers' main scoring threat, rebounder, ball handler and defender. In this game she was able to let some of her teammates take on some of those duties.

"I was able to just be a piece of the puzzle; I really like that," Delgado said. "I think playing in college is going to be like that, too, which is one of many reasons I'm looking forward to playing at the next level."

The SWCL All-Star Games — the boys' All-Stars played following the girls' game — was a yearly postseason highlight for the league for several years, but hadn't been played for some time until Southbridge High boys' head coach Victor Colon brought the event back to life last year.

The Home Team roster consisted of 10 players: Delgado and freshman Ashanti Morales from Southbridge; sophomores Shannon Reno and Morgan Cronan and seniors Samantha Brady and Jenna Nasuti from Millbury High; junior Kelly Moran from Northbridge High; junior Olivia Hicks from Uxbridge High; junior Allison Grzembski from Bartlett High; and junior Brooke Pepin from David Prouty Regional.

In addition, Northbridge senior Maria Cray, junior Jackie Puda and freshman Hannah Lomonaco were selected for the game but were unable to attend.

Also scoring in double figures for the Home Team were Reno, who tossed in 17 points and hit three 3-pointers and Brady, who contributed a dozen points to the winning effort. Reno also co-led the Home Team in assists with five, while Moran led the way on the boards, grabbing eight rebounds.

The Home Team trailed, 18-5 and 27-13, before outscoring the Away Team, 26-10, over the final five minutes of the first half to grab a 39-37 lead at intermission. The Home Team then opened the second half with a 14-7 run to extend its lead to 53-45 with 15 minutes left in the game.

The Away Team then went on a run of its own, outscoring the Home Team 16-6 to take a 61-59 lead. The Home team quickly bounced back, however, using a 10-2 lead to re-take the lead for good, 69-66, with six minutes remaining.

The Away Team roster consisted of nine players: Junior Lindsey Zak, sophomore Lydia Boland and freshman Ainsley Way of Tantasqua Regional; juniors Anya Kopyra and Jenna Gordon of Grafton High; junior Emily Fontaine, sophomore Maddie Hippert and freshman Alex Dufries of Leicester High; and junior Semran Sahota of Auburn High.

Tantasqua freshman Morgan Smith, Grafton junior Abby Rogers, Quaboag Regional sophomore Kiarra Dorman and Oxford High junior Gina Parmenter were all invited to play in the game but were unable to attend.

Sahota led the Away Team with a double-double, scoring 14 points and pulling down a game-high 15 rebounds. She also recorded a steal and an assist. Also scoring in double figures for the Away Team were Fontaine with 13 points (including three 3-pointers), Dufries with 12 (two 3-pointers) and Kopyra with 10 (two 3-pointers). Way was the team's second-leading rebounder, with 10, while Gordon pulled down eight boards to go along with a and an assist.

"I had a great bunch of girls and we had a lot of fun," said Leicester head coach Dave Padavano, who, along with Auburn's Nicole LePrevost, coached the Away Team. "The game was competitive. We cut a 14-point deficit to two at the half and even managed to have the lead for a little while in the second half, too.

"It was an All-Star game; there were a lot of points scored and not a lot of defense played, but we had a lot of fun," Padavano continued. "This was an awesome opportunity to coach bunch a girls from all over who really enjoy playing the game."

Millbury's Steve Reno served as the head coach for the Home Team.

the actions of individuals for their outstanding efforts during the year that helped promote hunting, fishing, and environmental issues that benefited sportsmen and the general public. Many legislators were also in attendance and played a big role in the night's festivities. Long time member of the league was Mel Crouse, at age 93 still active in the league and still hunting deer in Maine annually. He and his brother, also in his 90s, managed to harvest a huge buck in Maine a couple of years

Special guest wildlife artist Ed Desrosiors was introduced to the members and guest by Jim Berube, followed with keynote speaker Bob Durand and Dr. Dick Callahan, which was followed by numerous awards to the following individuals: Ralph True Sr. received the Words of Wisdom award in recognition of his efforts through journalism to inform and educate, and promote sportsmen issues. He also received a certificate from the House of Representatives and the State Senate and signed by numerous Representatives Senators. I was certainly humbled by the award.

Dr. Dick Callahan reported on the loss of bees in Massachusetts and surrounding states at last week's League Banquet. He spoke at length about his concern for bee populations and what is killing them off annually. It is not only killing bees, but is responsible for killing ground worms and other insects that are good for gardens. You are urged to contact your state Reps and state Senators to favor the bill.

Reduced services could raise havoc for commuters

BY KEVIN FLANDERS NEWS STAFF WRITER

Proposed cuts in bus services across the Route 9 corridor are causing unease for residents who rely on public transportation to get to work.

The Worcester Regional Transit Authority has proposed reduced services for several of its bus routes, while others have been slated for elimination to save money. Among the proposals is an option to cut all bus services west of East Brookfield District Court. The proposal would also reduce services along WRTA Route 33 to one bus every two hours.

For several residents in Brookfield and West Brookfield, an elimination of bus services would prevent them from getting to work. Others rely on the service to visit family and friends, while many residents use the WRTA to reach colleges, hospitals, courts, and events in Worcester.

"I know one person who commutes on the WRTA bus from Brookfield to a Worcester college, and this person would potentially need to move," said Brookfield Selectman Clarence Snyder. "The Route 9 corridor needs more transportation alternatives, not less."

As the Senate Chair of the Regional Transportation Authority Caucus, Senator Anne Gobi is advocating along with other caucus members for full funding for bus services. This request is in accordance with a 2014 transportation finance law which established a funding schedule for the regional transportation authorities.

Governor Charlie Baker

allocated $80,400,000 this year for regional transportation authorities, which represents level funding. The Senate request for $88,000,000 supported by Gobi and her colleagues would restore what the House and Senate implemented in the 2014 transportation reform act.

"I am aware of the difficulties all 15 regional transit authorities across the state are facing, especially the areas served by the WRTA," Gobi said. "The lack of reliable public transportation adds to the isolation of people and deprives them of access to basic needs such as healthcare and employment opportunities."

The proposed cuts in bus services would not only impact individuals who rely on public transportation, officials said, but they would also hurt municipal economies.

Selectmen in Brookfield and West Brookfield are concerned that if bus routes west of the courthouse in East Brookfield are eliminated, several employees and visitors to their towns would have no means of reaching them.

As part of its proposed cuts, the WRTA is also considering an elimination of weekend bus services, which would prevent many residents from getting to church and recreation activities. Meanwhile, the potential elimination of WRTA Route 40, also known as the Hub Loop, is causing additional concerns. Several other bus routes, though preserved by the proposals, would see dramatically reduced daily service.

"Any curtailment of WRTA service on the Route 9 corridor will have an impact on the regional economy," Snyder said.

All proposals must be voted on by the WRTA advisory board and wouldn't take effect until the summer. Prior to the vote, residents will have an opportunity to weigh in on the proposals during a series of public hearings. A meeting will be held on April 3 at 6 p.m. at Spencer Town Hall, while Brookfield residents will have a chance to share their concerns on April 12 at 6:30 p.m. at Brookfield Congregational Church.

Several local and regional officials were also planning to attend a rally in Worcester on March 20 to demonstrate their opposition to any cuts in service

At the March 20 rally outside City Hall, several legislators and residents spoke out against the proposed cuts. For thousands of residents in central Massachusetts, an elimination of bus routes would prevent them from getting to work and school.

"Not everyone has their own vehicle, and it is unacceptable to be looking at cuts to public transportation," said State Representative Natalie Higgins, of Leominster, who represents the Fourth Worcester District.

The state's 15 regional transit authorities are short roughly $8 million for fiscal year 2019, according to projections released by Governor Charlie Baker in his appropriations bill. If the current budget passes, it would have a crippling effect on public transportation across the state, officials said.

The proposed cuts would most severely affect Worcester, Springfield, and the Merrimack Valley, officials warned. Legislators have long decried the inequity of funding between greater Boston communities and the central and western parts of Governor Charlie Baker allocated $80,400,000 this year for regional transportation authorities, which represents level funding. The Senate request for $88,000,000 supported by Gobi and her colleagues would restore what the House and Senate implemented in the 2014 transportation reform act.

"Reliable bus service is a must for our area, and any decrease or elimination of services is not just an inconvenience – it is the loss of a vital lifeline," Gobi said. "I will continue to advocate for more funding than the Governor proposed in order to keep the buses rolling."

The proposed cuts in bus services would not only impact individuals who rely on public transportation, officials said, but they would also hurt municipal economies. ## Create and hide unbreakable Easter eggs

Easter is one of the most important days of the year for Christians. Easter Sunday is filled with symbolism and tradition, some of which harken back to early Christianity, while others trace their origins to paganism.

The Easter Bunny and Easter eggs are two Easter traditions with less extensive histories. The Easter Bunny, according to sources including History. com, first arrived in America in the 1700s via German settlers who brought with them their tradition of an egg-laying hare called "Osterhase." Children would make nests where the rabbit could lay its colored eggs. Eventually, the custom spread from Pennsylvania, where many German immigrants settled, to other areas around the country.

Eggs are symbolic of new life and rebirth in many cultures. To Christians, eggs represent the resurrection of Jesus Christ.

Another theory suggests that Christians were once forbidden to eat during the Lenten season preceding Easter. Therefore, Christians would paint and decorate eggs for Easter to mark the joyous celebration and cessation of penance and fasting.

Even though these traditions have endured, Easter eggs themselves might not be so strong. This year, Easter celebrants may want to experiment with different materials that are more forgiving and more enduring than standard

WOODEN EGGS

Families may find that wooden eggs are much more forgiving than standard eggs. Wooden eggs don't have to be boiled, and they don't need time to harden, and they're quite maneuverable for young fingers.

Decorators can explore different ways to color wooden eggs. Acrylic paints are readily available and safe for users of any age. Wood stains or wood markers also can be used to give the eggs a natural finish. Others may want to rip small pieces of decorative paper to create a decoupage effect on their wooden eggs.

SEW SOFT EGGS

Those who are handy with a needle and thread can explore patterns for making soft, stuffed eggs. Cozy fleece or other fabrics can be sewn together to make the general egg shape. Then the egg is filled with polyester filling, feathers or another soft material. Ribbons, buttons, trims, and other decorative touches can personalize the eggs and add a touch of whimsy. Check out www. sew4home.com for their ideas on handmade Easter eggs.

MODELING CLAY

Children who love to get their hands dirty may enjoy making Easter eggs out of modeling materials. Colors can be blended together to create a marbleized effect. Depending on the clay medium, the eggs may air-harden or may need to be heated at a low temperature in the oven to fully cure.

Easter eggs are a fun tradition that adds to the festivity of spring. While traditional eggs can be used, many different, more long-lasting materials can be used as well.

Victor F. Stolarczyk, 97

WEBSTER- Victor Francis Stolarczyk, 97, died peacefully at night on Wednesday, March 21, 2018. He lived his final years Webster at the Manor. After a period of declining health he passed away surrounded by love and care that we only hope lived up to the love and care that he gave to his family, friends and the world, over all the years that he lived. His wife of 60 years, Frances (Darzenkiewicz) Stolarczyk died in 2010. We imagine they are together again, the way they lived, inseparable.

He leaves his daughter Judith S. Earls and her husband Dr. Stephen T. Earls of Holden, his son Victor K. Stolarczyk and his wife Cathy of Sutton and his son-in-law Ronald A. Fontaine of Lancaster; 9 grandchildren: Stephanie, Bethany, Laurel and Jonathan Earls, Ronald and Jamie Fontaine, and Rebecca, Maria and James Stolarczyk; 12 great grandchildren: Christian, Monet, Miles, Julia, Grant, Noelle, Aria, Aidan, Max, Isabel, Thomas and Joshuah; a sister Lorraine Dion of Thompson, CT and a sister-in-law Genevieve Darzenkiewicz of Southbridge, MA; many nieces and nephews and a community at Webster Manor that adored him. In addition to his wife, he was preceded in death by his daughter Joyce B. Fontaine, brothers John, Chester and Vincent Stolarczyk and sisters Stasia Jasczur, Joan Plasse, and Teresa

Courtemanche. Victor was born and lived his whole life in Webster, son of Czeslaw and Aleksandra (Krupinski) Stolarczyk. Family and peers called him "Nito", a nickname that was coined in youth because of his mispronunciation of the word "nickel". He was a humble World War II Veteran having served in the Army Corps of Engineers. On the occasion that he would share his experiences, history came to life. A hard worker who made everything seem easy, Mr. Stolarczyk worked as a machinist at Crompton and Knowles Loom Works in Worcester for 38 years. He also worked as a meat cutter at Thrifty Supermarket and was a toll collector on the Massachusetts Turnpike for 5 years. He was a member of Saint Joseph Basilica and held a life membership in the Auburn -Webster Lodge of Elks #2118 and the American Legion. Victor's life was devoted to his family, especially his grandchildren, who called him "Bumpy".

Victor was generous and kind beyond measure and exuded a unique combination of playfulness and wisdom. He was smart and engaged a living example of dedication to his family and work. He was the quiet steady force that matched his wife's spark. In the prime of their life together, he and Frances created a warm home that nourished their children and grandchildren. It was always a treat to go to "Bumpy and Bumma's" house. Together they were always available to help care for their family. Victor was a gentleman who prioritized fairness and presence, always making the effort, even in his late years, to be a part of family celebrations and holidays and milestones. Bumpy had a sweet tooth like no other. He loved snickers and coke and a nice cup of DD coffee. Those who had the chance to sit with Bumpy knew his gentle yet strong hands and were probably welcomed into a hand squeezing contest (that he usually won). Victor, Nito, Bumpy left the world a better place, with a cultivated legacy of love and peace.

The family would like to express their profound gratitude to the competent and compassionate staff of the Webster Manor for the love and care they rendered to Victor during his time there. They were truly an extended family for him.

The Funeral was held Tuesday March 27 from the Scanlon Funeral Service, 38 East Main Street, with a Mass at 1:00 PM in Saint Joseph Basilica, 53 Whitcomb Street. Burial was in the Saint Joseph Garden of Peace, with the Webster-Dudley Veterans Council providing military honors. Visiting hours were from 5:00 to 7:00 PM Monday March 26 in the funeral home. Donations may be made in his name to either Webster Manor Patient Activity Fund, 745 School Street, Webster, MA, to Hospice of Western and Central Massachusetts, 1325 Springfield Street Suite 12, Feeding Hills, MA 01030 or the Felician Sisters, 1315 Enfield Street, Enfield, CT 06082. Arrangements are under the direction of Sitkowski and Malboeuf Funeral Home, 340 School Street, Webster.
