CHRISTMAS ON THE HILL moves outside

Putnam Area Foundation announces grant recipients

PUTNAM — Thomas A. Borner, President of the Putnam Area Foundation, announced the award of $7,500 in grants to three local organizations with mission providing critical support to the residents of Putnam and the surrounding areas.

The organizations awarded the grants are TEEG, headquartered in Thompson, Daily Bread in Putnam and Project Pin in Plainfield.

Both Tim Keefe of Project Pin and Karen Delrey of Daily Bread, expressed appreciation on behalf of their respective organizations for being made at a crucial time.

Anne Miller, Executive Director of TEEG, commented that “This year has shown us the very worst of what a pandemic can mean, but it has also shown us the very best of the generous spirit of Northeast Connecticut. We are very grateful for this gift as it will allow us to help with the increase in demand for our services.”

Lisa Haupt, Director of Family Ministries, explained: “An example of a recent initiative made possible by fair income is a gift to Kasia’s Hope.”

WOODSTOCK — It was a beautiful day to be outside and pop-up tents signaled the festivities on the lawn of the First Congregational Church of Woodstock.

“Christmas on the Hill holiday fair became and annual tradition this year,” said Rev. Kevin Downer. “We are grateful to all our patrons and sponsors for their flexibility and generosity as we adapted to Covid restrictions.”

Patrons stopped by to pick up pre-ordered baked goods and chicken pot pies. They browsed through tables with handmade washable masks and purchased wreaths, greens and holiday decorations.

“We had some really good games but lost by a goal or two,” continued Rearden, whose team finished 11-0. “In those games, if you had gone on the balance of the results, we should have won those games. But last year we could not score a goal to save our life. And, at the other end, we didn’t have as many natural defenders and every mistake that we made, we got punished for it.”

Woodstock entered the TIC tournament experience region championship game having defeated the Bombers the only time the teams met this year, 2-1, in the regular-season finale. Fearing the previous win might affect his team’s mindset, he told his players the night before the game that while it was great to win at the end of the season, people only remember how you did in the final game, especially when there is a title at stake.

“Talk about extremes; it was a marvelous turnaround,” said Woodstock coach Paul Rearden, whose 2019 team compiled a 1-12-3 season. “I think it’s important to point out that, although the results last year didn’t paint a great picture, our performances last year versus our record on paper, didn’t do the season justice. We had some really good games but lost by a goal or two,” continued Rearden, whose team lost 1-0. “In those games, if you had gone on the balance of the results, we should have won those games. But last year we could not score a goal to save our life. And, at the other end, we didn’t have as many natural defenders and every mistake that we made, we got punished for it.”

Local minister to attend National Religious Renewal Program

Rom. Dr. Susan Foster

WOODSTOCK — The East Woodstock Congregational Church (United Church of Christ) has been awarded grants totaling $500,000 to allow its congregation, the Rev. Dr. Susan J. Foster, to participate in the 2020 National Clergy Renewal Program. EWRP is one of only 140 congregations nationwide to receive this competitive grant. Established by the Lilly Endowment, Inc., in 2000, and administered by Christian Theological Seminary in Indianapolis, the grants enable Christian congregations to support their pastors with the gift of a sabbatical or extended time away from their ministerial duties and responsibilities.

Grant recipients give their ministers the opportunity to temporarily step away from the demands of daily work for reflection and renewal. Pastors are encouraged to create a carefully considered retreat that may include travel, rest, and prayer, or immersive arts or cultural experiences. Applicants to the National Clergy Renewal Program may choose to meet new spiritual communities, enhance spiritual communities, or develop shared experiences that will address their unique needs and aspirations. Up to 10 percent of the grant may be used to support insect pastoral leadership during the pastor’s retreat, as well as renewal activities within the congregation.

Recognizing that ministers’ families are affected by the demands of their daily work, the program encourages pastors to involve their families in renewal activities. Families are affected by the stress and demands placed on pastoral leaders, the program seeks to offer them their own time to renew in a period of rest and renewal. We encourage those families to support their ministers in their separate experiences. We seek to honor pastors for their work, and bring new vitality to the leadership of congregations they serve,” said the Rev. Foster. “Pastors play an important role in nurturing the spiritual lives of individuals and in guiding the work of the Christian congregations they serve,” said the Rev. Foster. “Pastors play an important role in nurturing the spiritual lives of individuals and in guiding the work of the Christian congregations they serve.”

Application and program are collaborative in nature, they allow increases invigorate the leadership of pastors and bring new vitality to their congregations as well.”

This year's small businesses and private non-profits were impacted the most by the pandemic and have since had difficulties with keeping up with overhead costs and providing services. However, loans have been offered to aid with these issues. The Paycheck Protection Program (PPP) was created to help alleviate the incremental cost to operate without layoffs for businesses that have been significantly affected by the pandemic. Companies that have jobs during one of these severe operating difficulties, those who have been operating for at least 60 days, and those who meet PPP qualifications can apply for a PPP loan from the Small Business Administration (SBA).

PPP borrowers are able to apply for forgiveness of their loan for a certain amount based on when they received their PPP funds. The Small Business Administration in August started accepting applications to have the loans forgiven, and it began approving them this month. Here are some things you can do if you applied for the PPP loan for your business:

How can I apply?
PPP borrowers should apply for forgiveness through the lender that issued the loan. The lender then submits the application to the SBA, which makes the final determination on how much forgiveness is borrower should receive.

Submission procedures vary by lender and can include accepting applications or having current or newly opened up applications to select borrowers. For example, JPMorgan Chase, the top PPP lender by dollar amount, is emailing customers on a limited basis and inviting them to apply based on when they received their PPP funds.

How long will it take to get an answer?
A lender has 60 days to review the borrower’s application and forward it to the SBA. The agency then has up to 90 days to make a decision on the application. The SBA said it expects that processing time to be benefits to starting the process soon—later than “if you’ve already made your covered period, then everything is fresh,” Ms. Holt-Fuller said. Borrowers may “low track the accounting perspective of it” by waiting, she said. When it comes to taking the next step, the team at WHZ knows that one size does not fit all. We’ll help you figure out what’s best that suits your goals and priorities.

What is required to have a loan forgiven?
To have the full amount forgiven, borrowers must spend at least 60% of their loan on payroll costs and must keep at least 60% of the remaining full-time employees of the loan’s determination for the SBA. PPP borrowers must also spend at least 28 days from the date the loan was issued to maintain their payroll. Borrowers who have used Form 3508S won’t face any reductions in their forgiveness amount if the business lowered head count or wages.

Some payroll-processing companies of Certified Public Accountants, said John Asbury, chief executive officer of the grant application process. He said that service is available to them. Borrowers may also need documentation of other eligible expenses, such as utility bills and forgiveness.

In what application is the like?
The SBA and Treasury Department have issued three different application forms, and which one must be used depends on the nature of their business. Borrowers who reduced employee head count or salaries are required to use Form 3508, while borrowers who are not eligible for certain levels. The third and most recent reapplication form, Form 3508S, is for lenders of PPP borrowers who have difficulty navigating the forgiveness process to provide guidance on how borrowers’ loan forgiveness, said Battie, a principal in the technology consulting group at the same time. She said that service is available to them. Borrowers may also need documentation of other eligible expenses, such as utility bills and forgiveness.

The Law and Order President

The Law and Order President
 leader over the COVID-19 cliff and believ- ing his conspiracy theories. They are suffering enough with rampant COVID-19 caused by speaking from those mannekins super-spreader setups. But surely, there are enough of us who are thankful. Our hearts are filled with gratitude for the first four years of the first term of the Law and Order President. In terms of business regulation, the ten states with the most burdensome regulations are all run by Democrats. As a result, it is no surprise that we have received an ominous sign from the world of business, which is making a decision not to operate in these states. For Donald Trump, I have a short civics lesson. This is an intentional move on the part of businesses that are hurt by his policies and his administration. For me, watching you get escorted out would be the best thing that could happen to number 45. I am grateful that he is finally gone. I hope I can find a way to live in peace and harmony with my fellow citizens as he is out of the picture, and we can begin to move forward. In the meantime, I will continue to support common sense policies and laws that benefit all Americans.
My mother taught me many things. She gave me the gift of life and poverty. She taught me everything and encouraged her children to be individuals. After she spent her early years as a housewife, she returned to school and became a registered nurse. With her experiences she taught me about the importance of humility, hard work, and the ability of the process.

As you can see, I am a young girl from Sapulpa, Oklahoma to Oakland, California who now works in a small family yard to support our war effort. This is how I got to be in my first pizza. It was love at first bite. I was a young girl, and I loved the pie to her children and her parents. Now I am an adult.

How much I love the pizza, you ask. Why not? What's not to love? You can make it at home and eat it whenever you want. It’s not the same as the one in a little box. It’s not as good, but sometimes even good pizza is better than no pizza at all. I’ve learned that it’s maybe not the taste of the pizza, but the role it plays in American life.

Growing up, a great thrill and a thrill. My first pizza was coming. It was a real thrill when I got a pizza different from the one I was used to. I loved it, and it was pure delight.

It was like waiting for Santa, but instead of treating him cook.

Pizza has become a national food tradition. We now order them good things to eat, no affordable anywhere, and compare them to one another. It’s a food. It’s a common food found in many regions of the world. Yes, it is true, you do order a pizza. But do you order what I choose the first time I met you? Well, it’s close to the final pizza in this book. Check it out! This is aDifficult pizza to follow and is a book of the world. It is choice to close up the doors of the thin and crispy crust. All of it good. I do enjoy New York style pizza but have found three types of pizza that don’t work.

Before I go ... how do you find a pizza to your liking? With toma- go to provide nourishment, but

Winter care for trees, shrubs and perennials in containers

As you prepare your landscapes for the colder months, don’t overlook the tender perennial shrubs that you may have grown in pots. Those that have grown in containers usually need a bit of extra protection to survive the cold winter temperatures. What’s the best way to do this?

Moving containers to a sheltered location and placing them together for added insulation may be a good option. Place the pot to store the heat of the sun and protect it from the cold.

Fun By The Numbers

Like puzzles? Then you’ll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you glance at it, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Here’s How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!
