A good time for some good news

BY BRENDAN BERUBE
EDITOR

As members of the news industry ourselves, we try to keep up with current events as much as possible by monitoring other publications and watching the nightly news regularly. At this point, however, we — like many of you out there — have had it. Over the past few weeks, there has simply been too much darkness assailing us through our television screens every night. Too many graphs and charts depicting rates of infection, too much footage of ambulances racing through city streets, too much focus on dreary and depressing statistics reporting how many have been infected by the COVID-19 virus and how many have died. A steady diet of television news right would be enough to leave any viewer with the impression that the very fabric of our society is crumbling away around us.

Anyone who has been out of the house during this outbreak, however, has seen that nothing could be further from the truth. There is another side to the COVID-19 pandemic that has been receiving far less attention. Individual tales of generosity and goodwill have been popping up across the country recently — stories of landlords foregoing the collection of rent from tenants who are home without pay or insisting that the hard hit businesses who rent space from them pay employees first; stories of neighbors buying groceries and supplies for the elderly couple next door; of parents organizing food collection drives to ensure that families in need are able to keep food on the table for children whose schools have temporarily closed. Every day, in every community across the nation, ordinary people are stepping up to the plate to combat the negative impact of COVID-19 with kindness.

Just last week, we received a phone call from someone driving down Main Street in one of our own local communities who saw a group of children writing messages of encouragement and affirmation on the sidewalk with brightly colored chalk because it was

Charlton sees first positive test for COVID-19

BY JASON BLEAU
VILLAGER CORRESPONDENT

CHARLTON — The COVID-19, or coronavirus, pandemic has hit close to home with the first recorded case in the town of Charlton.

On Wednesday, March 18, town officials were notified of the first positive case of the virus after three EMTs were exposed to a patient who was later tested for the illness. The positive case was confirmed on Tuesday, March 17, and the following day, a call from St. Vincent Hospital in Worcester informed officials of the situation prompting the three EMTs to be self-quarantined for fourteen days. As of this report none of the EMTs were confirmed to have contracted the virus during the call.

The Charlton Fire Department released a statement on their Facebook page confirming the reports and discussing the measures being taken to help protect first responders during the pandemic.

“In an abundance of caution, even before being notified of this exposure, the fire department took extreme measures to isolate all shifts in a ‘proverbial vacuum’ so that there is no cross contact amongst the four working shifts. The administrative staff has been relocated offsite, working remotely. This was done to minimize exposure opportunities running through the department. We have also updated our response to include every patient receiving a surgical mask prior to interaction with the EMTs. We are also providing additional personal protective equipment for our staff to wear during respiratory calls. Sanitizing of all apparatus is happening after every response for service,” the statement read.

The revelation of a positive case capped off an eventful week for Charlton as the town followed suit with countless other communities across the state and country by closing town office buildings to public traffic and imploring residents to practice social distancing and proper hygiene to curb the spread of the virus. Charlton Board of Health Chair Matthew Gagner said the town has been working all along with the assumption that the virus was in the area and acknowledges that things progressed quickly even before a confirmed case was announced.

“This, in a way, made some of the residents more aware of the situation. The Board of Health has been very aware of it and we were taking it very seriously before it hit us. It's become our world for the last month. We saw it coming but I just think this will make residents in town more aware that it is here, it is a real issue. Hopefully they'll practice the social distancing and I think they'll be more cautious. It's not something somewhere else, it's right here in our communities,” Gagner said. “The town of Charlton is very well prepared. We've had a plan in place for a situation such as this and other situations that could occur. We've always had an emergency response action plan. Charlton was well stocked up with gloves and masks and personal protective equipment that other towns are running short on and we've been able to supply mutual aid to local doctors offices and even other towns in the area as needed.”

Town Administrator Andrew Golas said having a positive test in Charlton doesn't change much from his perspective.

School officials provide update on COVID-19 outbreak

LUNCH SERVICE TO CONTINUE

CORRESPONDENT

DUDLEY/CHARLTON — While schools have remained closed throughout the duration of March and into April in the wake of the COVID-19 pandemic, the Dudley-Charlton Regional School District has been hard at work communicating with parents about the outlook for the remainder of the school year and what services remain at their disposal.

Superintendent Steven Lamarche released a statement to parents in the district confirming that all schools are closed to the public “until further notice,” calling the pandemic a “surreal time in our lives” that has brought real struggles to families across the commonwealth.

As learning has transitioned to the home environment, the superintendent said the Dudley-Charlton Regional School District is facing many of the same struggles that families and districts across the country are managing as the United States works to respond to the outbreak. Part of the response has been to make learning opportunities available as of March 20 on the school Web site to guide the learning process away from the classroom.

“I want to reiterate a few important guiding factors associated with these learning opportunities. We cannot replicate the school day for all of our students and the learning opportunities are ungraded. The work is not mandatory, and we will not administer tests or quizzes. These factors are critical as we are not providing direct instruction to all of our students and we do not have the capacity to provide direct instruction to all of our students during this extended school closure. Our efforts and factors are the same as many, many districts across the Commonwealth,” said Lamarche.

While the learning experience may have been drastically altered by the pandemic, Lamarche offered some good news for parents in terms of school meals and payments of services for families. With school meals, students will continue to have access to food through the school district through the Free and Reduced Grab-n-Go program.

“This will take place at Shepherd Hill Regional High School for Dudley families and Charlton Middle School for Charlton families. From 11 a.m. through 1 p.m., we are asking parents/caregivers to drive to the pick-up location. A staff member will ask for a student(s) name for confirmation purposes only. From there we will place 3-4 days of food in your vehicle,” Lamarche said. “(This will continue) Mondays and Fridays until further notice. Again, we know that some families and caregivers may now qualify for free and reduced meals. We will work with you, but all we ask is that you provide the staff member with a completed application when we provide you with food.”

The superintendent also announced that the district will not be accepting any more payments for services from families including outstanding balances. These will resume when school is back in session. He added that should the shutdown extend past the end of the school year in June then a prorated or full reimbursement program for payments already made, including preschool, athletics and other student activities

Golas settles in as town administrator

BY JASON BLEAU
VILLAGER CORRESPONDENT

CHARLTON — Since attending his first meeting in January, Charlton's new Town Administrator, Andrew Golas, has seen quite a lot in town during his first two months on duty.

Golas succeeded longtime Town Administrator Robin Craver who departed in October of 2019, after himself serving several years in the town of Barre and hit the ground running.

Golas said his first few months in town have been quite the learning experience. He has been welcomed with open arms by the staff and town officials, and said it didn't take long for him to realize he made the right choice by joining the Charlton community.

“Everyone that I've worked with has been great about bringing me up to speed. I've been as proactive as possible to get out to the business community and reach out to residents to see how I can best serve them in my capacity. I've been getting up to speed on the budget system but thankfully we have a finance director who is great to work with. Pretty much everything else that's ongoing has almost come naturally,” said Golas.

After only a few short months, Golas said he feels like he has been in the town for years and thanked the staff and elected officials for making his transition seamless. Among his biggest challenges has been learning the nuances of the different people he works with day to day, from department heads to the board of selectmen, challenges that come with any job transition especially when helping manage a community as tight nit as Charlton.

“Everybody here is so passionate about what they do. I have a lot of department heads that have been here for a long time, and know a lot about where Charlton has been and where it is now. A lot of the things that surprise me is when they talk about when Charlton used to be this rural farming community and being a new person in town I think of Charlton as more of an affluent community.

Now that I'm here I can see that personality and how things have all come together and grown,” Golas said.

While Golas has big shoes to fill after Craver's 13-year stint in the town's highest non-elected post, he feels up to the challenge. He doesn't plan to judge his success based on the past, rather he wants to continue to create a bright and successful future for the community and believes that to accomplish this everyone needs to work together.

“I want to see a teamwork approach. As we see people come in for new developments, I want to sit down as a team with the applicant and give them our guidance all at once rather than having them bounce from office to office. I'd like to make sure that department head meetings continue, and we all know what's going on,” Golas said. “We launched a social media page for the town, and I want to make sure we push updates for people to see about what's going on and they know what we're dealing with and what to anticipate going forward.”

Anyone interested in staying informed on the happenings in the town of Charlton and news from the new Town Administrator's office need only search for Town of Charlton on Facebook and click the like button to follow the page.

First COVID-19 case confirmed in Charlton

CHARLTON — As we continue to make strides to inform the public about the threat of the coronavirus (COVID-19) to our community and practice social isolation and proper hygiene to combat the virus, the Town of Charlton Board of Health has been notified of the first confirmed case of COVID-19 in the Town of Charlton, as confirmed by the state Department of Health. This case is currently under quarantine and being monitored by health officials.

The confirmation of this case is not a need to be concerned, but is a reminder to be vigilant to take the proper precaution to prevent the spread of the disease. As confirmed by the Board of Selectmen, the Town cannot provide the identity of the individual under quarantine nor require the individual to make any public statements regarding their health condition in accordance with HIPPA Laws.

Continue to protect yourself by following public health advice about keeping your hands clean, and covering coughs and sneezes. Stay home if you are sick and protect others who are most at risk of COVID-19 by keeping your distance from people (at least 6 feet away from others), especially those who are older, and people living with chronic health conditions. If you feel that you may have been exposed or are showing symptoms of the virus, please call your physician.

As a reminder, all municipal buildings are closed to the public until April 6 and on site employees will be working at reduced or remote staffing levels during that period.

We will continue to provide updates on the COVID-19 impacts to the community and remain available to the public remotely as we continue to fight this virus. Please visit <https://www.mass.gov/2019coronavirus> for the latest news, case counts, and lab testing results or visit www.townofcharlton.net for updates on town operations during this time.

Community health centers call on Baker for COVID Relief

WORCESTER — The Edward M. Kennedy Community Health Center (Kennedy Community Health) and the Family Health Center of Worcester (Family Health) announced today that they are in full support of the Massachusetts League of Community Health Centers' letter to Governor Charlie Baker seeking immediate and substantial financial relief in order to avoid a partial or complete collapse of the state's largest primary care network.

As the two largest health centers serving Greater Worcester, Kennedy Health Center and Family Health are responsible for the health care for over 50,000 local residents. The health centers are on the frontlines of the COVID-19 crisis, and have redeployed resources and staff to assess and care for patients with urgent health care needs.

"We have transformed our operations to respond to the coronavirus crisis, while continuing to serve the health care needs of the people who live and work in our community," said Stephen J. Kerrigan, President and CEO of Kennedy Community Health. "Dealing with this pandemic has the potential of crippling both our financial sustainability and workforce."

Community health centers work within a tight financial model caring for the needs of low-income, vulnerable individuals and families.

"We have alerted the Governor to the significant impact of this epidemic on front-line providers at Community Health Centers," said Louis Brady, President and CEO of Family Health. "We protect the health the entire community and need the resources to continue this critical public health work."

Both Worcester health centers have set up screening and isolation tents or mobile structures to assess patients' risk for COVID-19 and coordinate appropriate treatment or offer quarantine guidance. The health centers have shifted many services to telehealth appointments to protect both patients and staff from the risk of exposure to the coronavirus.

"We are relying on the Governor to hear the pleas of the largest primary care group practice in Massachusetts," said Kerrigan. "Without financial assistance over 1 million Massachusetts residents will have no access to health care during this crisis and in the foreseeable future."

American Legion news

As it is the 75th year of the end of World War II, Danny Dono set up a uniform and memorabilia display including a dress uniform that was donated by LT Mathew Smith who was a B-24 navigator in the southwest pacific theater. There were also pictures of several legion members taken during that crisis era, including Clarence Bachand who served in Europe as a combat engineer.

Awards were presented to Karen Potter, a retiring music teacher from Charlton Middle School who, along with her 5th and 6th grade chorus, has performed so many times for Legion and veteran events, mainly at her school, the Overlook senior care and the Senior Center here in Charlton.

Also attending, two eagle scouts who were present,

Michael Mullaly, Jr. and Christopher Sampson. Alexandar Vescovski of Bay Path Reg'l-Voc'l High School, our Boys State recipient. ## Online antique education

WAYNE TUISKULA

What a difference two weeks can make. In my last column, I discussed upcoming flea markets as we started to see nicer weather. Now, with people staying at home and social distancing, many are looking online to learn something new. There are plenty of online options for those of you interested in studying about antiques and collectibles.

If you want to do something informal, you can dig out your antiques and collectibles and research them. If you aren’t sure what your item was used for, Google images may help you find a match on the web. Go to images.google.com and you can find other items on the web that look like yours. I recently had a piece I couldn’t identify and found it was a gold-filled retractable toothpick using Google images. You may find a manufacturer’s mark on some of your pieces and can research the company’s history on the web. You can look up eBay sold prices if you’d like to find out what items like yours sold for. There are other research options as well, including worthpoint.com, liveauctioneers.com, invaluable.com, askart.com, art-price.com and artnet.com. Some of these sites do charge fees to access their databases.

There are plenty of videos about antiques on YouTube and other websites that you can view for free. Just remember that there may be inaccuracies, biases, or the video creator may be trying to get you to sell them your antiques and collectibles. So, view them with the healthy skepticism you would with anything else you find on the web.

If you are serious about learning more about antiques and collectibles, there are some distance learning courses that you can sign up for. Please use due diligence when choosing courses as I have no direct experience with any companies offering these courses.

Universalclass.com offers online classes on a wide range of topics. Their antiques and collectibles course costs $50, or $75 if you want a CEU credit. They also offer unlimited courses from their hundreds of offerings for $189 a year. Their antiques and collectibles course description reads: “How to Buy and Sell Antiques and Collectibles offers a highly successful approach to acquiring and selling antiques and collectibles for both fun and profit. This course incorporates many strategies of acquiring and selling desirable objects and pieces, with the goal of personal enjoyment and fulfillment.” There are 15 lessons for both collectors and dealers.

The Asheford Institute of Antiques offers an online appraisal course. The individual lessons may appeal to people who are interested in opening an antique shop, selling online or considering some other type of antique related career. I spoke with the Business Director at Asheford, Greg DeMarco. He said that they typically see an increase in people taking their courses during a recession, as people feel the need to learn more or make career changes. When I spoke with Mr. DeMarco, Asheford was seeing nearly a 15% increase in registration since the COVID-19 virus. Asheford Institute’s website is asheford.com. DeMarco may see an uptick in business, but like all of us he hopes that the pandemic and the measures needed to contain it are short-lived.

I’ll be appraising items for the Douglas Historical Society on May 3, provided there is no need to reschedule it. We will also be running an estate sale with many antiques in an Auburn, MA home and an online auction in Warren, R.I. when conditions allow. Our online Rutland estate farm auction has been temporarily postponed. Please see www.centralmassauctions.com for details on these and other events. Stay healthy, everyone! I look forward to seeing you at antique events soon.

Nichols College postpones Commencement exercises

DUDLEY — Nichols College has announced it will postpone its annual Commencement exercises on May 2, in accordance with government mandates aimed at containing the transmission of COVID-19.

Nichols President Susan West Engelkemeyer, Ph.D., informed the graduating class in a March 17 email, saying, “Per CDC and state guidelines, it is with a heavy heart that I inform you that our May 2, 2020 Commencement Ceremony is postponed.”

This week, Gov. Charlie Baker announced a prohibition on gatherings of 25 or more people, and the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention issued new recommendations to cancel or postpone events of 50 or more for eight weeks.

In her message, President Engelkemeyer also promised graduates an opportunity to commemorate their academic achievement at a future event, with details to be determined.

“There will be a day that I will proudly, and with great joy, recognize this milestone in your lives,” she added.

In addition, Nichols is planning to create a virtual event for May 2 in acknowledgement of the Commencement Ceremony that was scheduled to take place at Worcester’s DCU Center.

The college recently announced it was moving exclusively to online course delivery following this past week’s spring break until at least April 3 and offering campus housing only to those students unable to return home.

“It is truly impossible to express how very sorry I am that your final semester has been disrupted in such a profound way,” Dr. Engelkemeyer said to the seniors, referring to the cancellation or deferral of in-person classes, and activities such as spring athletic events and travel opportunities. “For many of you and your families, I remember being there the day you moved into Shamie or other residence halls. And I fondly remember shaking each of your hands as we came together during fall orientation. You are all in my heart.

Please know it aches for you.”

As the ever-changing situation develops, Nichols is keeping open various channels of communication to the students and the entire campus community.

tive either. Charlton has used the governor's recommendations and orders as well as the advice of medical professionals to their advantage to try and stay ahead of the pandemic and they plan to continue to embrace these practices as long as needed to prevent the continued spread of the illness.

"The result of having a positive case hasn't changed anything. We've been operating using the governor's orders and looking to other towns as well but obviously having a positive case in town is not a great thing. We're just trying to get the public information out there about the fact that it is close, and we want to do everything we can to mitigate the situation and keep it from spreading further," Golas said.

Board of Selectmen Chair David Singer released a statement to the public in the wake of the positive test urging the community to remain calm and touting the town's preparedness as the pandemic has become a much clearer reality. He also urged the community not to change who they are, but only how they interact to help stop the spread of the virus without sacrificing the sense of community that has made Charlton so great.

"The people of Charlton have always supported and watched out for one another. Knowing the people of this town that's not going to stop. Call your neighbors to check in and make sure they're okay. If you know a senior offer to help if you can. They may need someone to run and get groceries for them or may need a ride. Call in a take our order from any of the restaurants owned by our friends and neighbors. Together we can, together we will!" Singer said.

He also urged citizens not to panic as many in the country have done in the past few weeks by raiding grocery stores and hoarding supplies.

"There's no reason to run to the store and buy all the food and supplies in sight," he said. "There is no shortage of food or supplies. There is simply a shortage of manpower to unload trucks and restock fast enough. Buy what you need as you normally would, and there will continue to be plenty to go around."

With Charlton having its first confirmed case Harrington HealthCare Systems has announced the temporary closure of the urgent care facility in Charlton recommending all patients go to the Oxford urgent care site at 78 Sutton Ave. instead. While the confirmed case from Charlton did not originate from the Charlton facility, the company decided to close the facility due to declining patient volumes and the increased space for patients in Oxford. The company has set up a coronavirus hotline at 508-765-8191.

For now, the district is resorting to a "skeleton crew" with many employees transitioning to a home model of communication and work. Any questions or concerns are best communicated through email for the time being. As the COVID-19 pandemic continues to take its toll Superintendent Lamarche reminded parents and all residents to follow the guidelines of the CDC and other agencies and to contact private care physicians if they feel they have been exposed or are experiencing symptoms of the virus.

United Way honors volunteers, area companies at awards ceremony

STURBRIDGE — On March 12 at the Oliver Wight Tavern at Old Sturbridge Village, prior to the restrictions on events, the United Way of Southbridge, Sturbridge and Charlton honored two special volunteers and recognized our corporate partners that held workplace campaigns.

The 2019 Campaign Chair, Dawna Dagenais addressed the gathering stating "Our success is very dependent on the companies and individuals in our community who support the United Way so that we may provide the resources that our Member Agencies need."

Mrs. Dagenais updated the guests on the status of the current campaign.

"With the loss of a few companies who chose not to run workplace campaigns this year, the campaign is short $32,000 of the local goal of $312,000," she said. "As the United Way forward funds our Member Agencies based on the previous year's pledges, this shortfall will affect the allocations to our member agencies in 2020. However, our corporate partners that are here today, and some that are not able to be in attendance, did an outstanding job of maintaining and even increasing their annual workplace campaigns!"

Awards were presented to two individuals for their commitment to help the United Way in their own ways. David L. Langlais, a Hyde Tools employee, received the 2019 Unsung Hero Award for his many years of volunteering to help to maintain and deliver the large campaign thermometers that are displayed during the campaign in Southbridge, Sturbridge and Charlton.

The 2019 Volunteer of the Year Award was presented to Maria Gravel, an employee of Savers Bank, who acted as the campaign manager for the bank. Her passion and compelling story of how a United Way program assisted a person she knew through a difficult time was instrumental in the success of the Savers Bank campaign.

Other awards of recognition were presented to the following companies for either their level of employee participation, or for total money raised through their individual campaigns.

Good Neighbor Award - Over $10,000 and under 70 percent participation

Hyde Tools, Inc. & Employees for their continued support of over $15,000

Harrington Hospital Employees - for their continued support of $10,000

Southbridge Credit Union – with a combined total of $7,100

Silver Award - 85 – 99 percent Employee Participation

St. Luke's Health Care

Executive Director, Mary O'Coin, concluded the event stating that "In these times, it is important to remember those who struggle daily with making ends meet, finding affordable day care, access to medical and mental health services, food for seniors, activities for the youth and much more. We appreciate all who volunteer and those that give to the United Way. This event marks the last one for the United Way of Southbridge, Sturbridge and Charlton as we begin a merger with the United Way of Webster-Dudley and will be known as United Way of South Central Massachusetts in the coming months."

United Way plays a vital role in creating positive change within our community. UWSSC spends its time, energy, and funds on five initiatives: Health, Education, Financial Stability, Basic Needs, and Literacy, funding more than 26 programs through 19 non-profit partner agencies annually for programs and services that focus on the initiatives.

There is an open adoption agreement in place for 3 visits a year with birth mother.

Who Can Adopt?

Can you provide the guidance, love and stability that a child needs? If you're at least 18 years old, have a stable source of income, and room in your heart, you may be a perfect match to adopt a waiting child. Adoptive parents can be single, married, or partnered; experienced or not; renters or homeowners; LGBTQ singles and couples.

The process to adopt a child from foster care requires training, interviews, and home visits to determine if adoption is right for you, and if so, to help connect you with a child or sibling group that your family will be a good match for.

To learn more about adoption from foster care, call the Massachusetts Adoption Resource Exchange (MARE) at 617-964-6273 or visit www.mareinc.org. The sooner you call, the sooner a waiting child will have "a permanent place to call HOME."

A much needed time for renewal

Another winter is on its way out, and warmer, longer days are finally here. As March turns the corner into April, the dawning of the season of renewal is perhaps more welcome this year than ever before in the shadow of the Coronavirus outbreak, and we thought this would be an opportune moment to reflect on some of the things that make us grateful for the arrival of spring.

While each season has its own perks, there is something about spring that seems to surprise us each year. We re-acquaint ourselves with our yards as they slowly reveal themselves as the snow banks melt away, and we welcome the sight of our lawns and tree branches once again sprouting green.

Another phenomenon that comes with spring is ‘spring fever.’ In modern times this is a semi-positive term. Back in colonial times, however, ‘spring fever’ referred to the poor quality of health everyone was in after sustaining a winter without fresh vegetables and proper diet. Today’s ‘spring fever’ will have children restless in school, new romances transpire and people attacking their homes with dust cloths and Windex.

Experts say the changes that a person goes through during the springtime are due to hormonal changes in the body. During the winter months, the body secretes a large amount of melatonin, (the sleep hormone). The presence of more sunlight in spring sends the body a message to stop producing as much melatonin. This causes folks to be more awake. Add this to the uptick in your serotonin levels due to the sunlight, and you will not only be awake, but enthusiastic.

To touch on a bit of history, as we are wont to do, the month of April is derived from the word ‘Aprillis,’ which in turn is derived from the word ‘aperire,’ meaning “to open.” This makes perfect sense, as the world becomes abloom again in spring. With everything once again blooming and warm, sunny weather ahead, we hope all of you out there have an opportunity to stave off stir craziness during this outbreak by stepping outside to feel the sun on your own faces, inhale a deep lungful of invigorating air, and enjoy a much needed sense of renewal.

OPINION

VIEWS AND COMMENTARY FROM CHARLTON, CHARLTON CITY, CHARLTON DEPOT AND BEYOND

Does humanity really end when the toilet paper runs out?

POSITIVELY SPEAKING

BY GARY W. MOORE

I have a friend since high school named Karen. She was a smart and focused student, a cheerleader ... very popular but always a kind soul. We lost touch through the years but reconnected when, to her surprise, she saw my name on a book at Barnes & Noble. Karen was always engaged and helpful. Raised by kind parents, she was always one of those people who were ... well, just that way.

Sunday morning, Karen rose early and headed to the grocery store in her small Michigan town. She had a plan to arrive as the doors opened and get the few items she needed and did. Toilet paper was on her list and she bought the only package left ... a package of eight rolls. She, like most of us, was surprised by the empty shelves. She bought what she could and headed out of the store and to her car. In the parking lot, she encountered an elderly man, visibly upset. Karen asked if he was okay.

“My wife and I are out of toilet paper. I’ve been searching for days. I don’t know what to do,” the troubled old gentleman explained.

He didn’t know what to do, but Karen did. She broke open the package of eight rolls and tried to give him half. He would only accept two, and was touched to tears. He didn’t have to leave empty handed because of the generosity of Karen Tyson. She, and others like her, give me hope and optimism in a time wrought with despair and pessimism.

We still live in the richest nation in the history of the world. Is it truly necessary for some of us to survive, that others must go without?

No.

“We have nothing to fear but fear itself.” – Franklin Delano Roosevelt

When fear sets in, irrational behavior begins. Saturday, I witnessed a man and a woman struggling in the aisle of my local store over a bottle of bleach. There’s really not a shortage of bleach, there is only the fact that some bought more than they needed and left others without. The same with hand sanitizer. I’ve seen some on social media bragging about how much they have while others are driving all over town and can’t find a single bottle. I personally know of a 65-year-old man with cancer who is at high risk and can’t find a single bottle anywhere.

Being prepared is admirable, while hoarding is only selfish.

Last week, I wrote a column that I thought would be whimsical, but by the time it went to print was not. There are people in serious need of the basics of life. No, not having toilet paper may not be life threatening, but a lack of food items and basic products for disinfection are. If you have a little to spare, please share. Call your local house of worship, food pantry, Salvation Army or any organization who can help get these into the hands of someone in need. Be inspired by the kindness and willingness to share that Karen, and many like her have displayed.

No. I am not asking you to share what you need for the survival of the next few weeks or month, but please examine your heart and ask yourself if you have a little to spare. I believe the supply chain of these items will catch up with demand sooner than later. The shelves will soon be filled again. That’s the beauty of capitalism. Just look into your heart and pantry and see, like Karen, if you can graciously give a little to help someone who is in need.

Keep your eyes open. Most people in need will never ask. Karen saw a man who was distraught and asked him. Will you do the same? Do you have elderly neighbors? Will you stop by and check on them? See if they are in need?

Be kind ... be optimistic ... and pray.

If you have nothing to give, share a kind and encouraging word. Do not take part in the negative gloom and doom conversations. Be uplifting and encouraging in public and in private, if you are so disposed ... please pray.

We’ve always been a nation that looked out for our neighbor and pitched in to help where we can. Yes. These are unprecedented times, but we will survive then thrive. And besides ... I am old enough to brag that I have survived at least ten end-of-the-world predictions. I’m optimistic the world will survive this one too.

Don’t let fears drive your investment choices

FINANCIAL FOCUS
JEFF BURDICK

First, the coronavirus rocked the financial markets. Then, oil prices dropped more than 20 percent after a breakdown in OPEC production discussions. Not surprisingly, the markets took another nosedive. Yet, despite these events, this recent market volatility may well be attributed more to fear than the forces that usually drive the markets. Ultimately, in the investment arena, as in all walks of life, facts matter. And right now, if you look beyond the headlines, the facts that matter to investors may be far less gloomy than you might have imagined.

So, here are some things to keep in mind over the next several weeks:

This isn’t 2008. If you were an investor in 2008, you well remember the market crash that resulted from the bursting of the housing bubble, which had severe ripple effects throughout the economy. The situation is different now. While it’s quite likely that the U.S. economy will take a hit in the short term, the overall economic fundamentals were strong before the coronavirus came along and may indeed prove resilient enough to withstand the recent shocks. Specifically, the labor market conditions were the best in decades, housing activity was improving and interest rates remained low. And even the recent events may have a bright side: The drop in oil prices will likely reduce prices at the gas pumps, leading to more money in the pockets of consumers, which, in turn, can boost spending, a key driver of our economy. And the large decline in interest rates will make home purchases and mortgage refinancing even more attractive – again, positive moves for the economy.

We’ve been here before. From the time the markets bottomed out in early 2009 until just a few weeks ago, stock prices climbed about 300 percent. Yet, during that time, we also saw three separate market drops of more than 15 percent, similar to what we’re seeing now. These market corrections always feel unsettling, but it’s important to recognize that they are actually a normal part of the log-term investing process.

So, given these factors, how should you respond to the current situation? Instead of simply selling your stocks in an attempt to cut your losses, review your portfolio to see if it is properly balanced between stocks, bonds and other investments in a way that reflects your goals, time horizon and risk tolerance. Those investors with properly balanced portfolios are not seeing the same level of decline as those whose holdings are almost entirely in stocks. And while diversification can’t guarantee profits or protect against all losses, it can help reduce the impact of volatility.

Here’s another suggestion: Look for good buying opportunities, because they are certainly out there. A well-managed company with a solid business plan that produces quality products and services is going to be that same company after the coronavirus and oil price panics subside – and right now, that company’s stock shares may literally be “on sale.”

While it’s not easy for you to look at your investment statements today, remember that you’re investing for goals that may be decades away. By keeping your eyes on this distant horizon, so to speak, you’ll be less likely to over-react to the news of the day – and more likely to follow a long-term strategy that can work for you.

Bye Bye Bunnies: Do you have left over solid chocolate bunnies? Here are some ideas to put them to good use:

*Chop up chocolate and store in zip lock bags to use as chocolate chips in cookie batter, muffins, pancakes or to top cupcakes.

* Make candy coated popcorn: Melt chocolate and toss in freshly popped corn to coat. Allow to cool and harden before serving.

*Whip up an old fashioned mug of rich and yummy hot chocolate. For every cup of whole milk add four ounces chopped chocolate. Add a few drops of vanilla extract and a dash of sugar if desired. Melt on the stove on medium/high heat, stirring constantly. When mixture simmers, turn to low and cover

Everlasting Flower Preservative

Want to preserve your Easter bouquet or corsage? It’s easy to make them last almost indefinitely!

Ingredients: 1 pint powdered Borax (in laundry aisle); two pints cornmeal; covered cardboard box (a shoebox is ideal); fresh flowers.

Instructions: 1. Thoroughly mix borax and cornmeal. 2. Cover the bottom of the box with 3/4 of an inch of this mixture. 3. Cut flower stems about 1 inch long. Lay the flowers face down in this mixture. Spread the petals and leaves so that they lie as flat as possible. Do not place flowers too close together. 4. Cover the flowers with 3/4 of an inch of the mixture. 5. Place the lid on the box and keep at room temperature for 3 to 4 weeks. The flowers will stay summer fresh indefinitely.

Turkey hunting tactics

Will life ever be the same again? One good thing that sportsmen have in their favor is that hunting and fishing in the great outdoors is available 24/7, with plenty of room for all. Massachusetts has been busy stocking trout in most area ponds that normally receive them. Local rivers and streams had not been stocked as of this past weekend, but should receive an allotment of trout this week. Check the Massachusetts Fish & Wildlife Web site for up to date stocking of trout in your area. The water is still cold and fishing for trout has been slow, according to some anglers. As always, power bait is the number one bait to fish with.

Wild turkey season is not far away, with this year's opening day April 25. With the mild winter we had this year, an abundance of birds survived, as did other wildlife. Central Massachusetts has a large population of birds, far surpassing the Berkshires and areas north & West of the valley. Those areas were once the only place to hunt Wild Turkeys back in the day, but when the state started to stock some of the wild birds from New York and other states in the Blackstone Valley, their populations exploded.

Hunting tactics for harvesting a Wild Turkey have not changed much over the years, but more and more hunters are starting to use ground blinds, unnoticed by the keen sight of the wild turkey. They allow the hunter a lot more ability to move around in a comfortable chair, or just to sip on a cup of hot coffee while waiting for a big tom turkey to come strutting into your decoys. The blind also allows you to stay off of the ground decreasing an encounter with a nasty deer tick, which, by the way, have started to show up on my dogs in the last month, as well as other residents' dogs. Today's ground blinds are easy to set up and are extremely light and cost around $100.

Using a box call to imitate a hen turkey is the most popular call among sportsmen to lure in a big gobbler, and is easy to use. Slate calls and mouth calls work extremely well, but do require a bit of practice. Many hunters have a hard time using a mouth call, which requires the call to be kept in their mouth for sometimes long periods, but when they are mastered they work very well.

When wild turkey hunting first started in Massachusetts, numerous seminars were held throughout the valley by some game call representatives like Quaker Boy, or professional turkey hunters from other states. There are very few seminars today, but some Fish & Game clubs should consider holding one at their club for first time turkey hunters, and even those that enjoy that have harvested a few birds. The hosting club usually has some great food available and even some video of past hunts. Hopefully, the virus that has caused so much health concern will be gone soon so that everyone can get back to their normal life. It is too late for turkey seminars this year, but hopefully, next year will be different.

Charter boat captains are also going to get hit hard by the virus pandemic when fishing season rolls around. Boat captains that have sport fishing boats (called six packs) carrying six anglers or less, will not be hit as hard as the large charter boats that carry up to 40 or 50 people. They will basically be shut down until July or August if things stay the same or get even worse. Private boat owners will still be able to fish unless we to are told to shelter in place.

Hope everyone stays safe and life will get back to normal soon!

God Bless.

Designing a beautiful garden for you and the pollinators

GARDEN MOMENTS MELINDA MYERS

You don't need a prairie or large lot to attract and support pollinators. A meadow or informal, formal and even container gardens can bring in bees, butterflies and hummingbirds to help pollinate plants. It's just a matter of selecting the right plants, adjusting your maintenance practices, and skipping the pesticides. Create your garden by converting a few square feet of lawn, garden bed or front yard into a pollinator-friendly garden. You may want to start by switching out part of an existing garden or container to more pollinator-friendly flowers. Expand your planting options by converting a portion of your lawn into a pollinator garden. Outline the bed with a hose or rope. Remove the sod, add compost as needed to improve drainage and you'll be ready to plant. Simplify and dress up your efforts by using an easy-to-assemble raised garden kit like the Pollinator Garden Bed (gardeners.com). Its long-lasting cedar planks slide into aluminum corners to create a hexagonal bed. Get creative while increasing the garden's size by adding additional sections to create a honeycomb or other interesting design. Mark the outline of the raised bed you select. Cut the grass short and cover with newspaper. Set your raised bed in place and fill with a quality planting mix. Mulch four to six inches surrounding the raised bed for ease of mowing and to eliminate the need to hand trim.

Once your planting bed is prepared, you're ready to plant. Include single daisy-like black-eyed Susans, coneflowers, and asters that allow visiting insects to rest and warm when sipping on nectar or dining on pollen. Add a few tubular flowers for butterflies and hummingbirds. They both like bright colors and can be seen visiting salvias, penstemon and nasturtiums. And don't forget the bees that are attracted to bright white, yellow, blue and ultraviolet colors. You'll find them visiting these and other blossoms like catmint, sweet alyssum and perennial geranium. Include spring, summer and fall bloomers to keep pollinators visiting and well fed throughout the season. You'll enjoy the seasonal changes along with the color and motions the visitors provide. Include early spring perennials and bulbs to attract visitors in early spring as they search for much-needed food. Add fall flowers to help prepare them for winter or migration to their winter homes. Those in milder climates will want to add some pollinator-friendly flowers to support and attract pollinators wintering in their backyard. Plant flowers in groups for greater design impact and to reduce the energy pollinators expend when gathering nectar and pollen from one flower to the next. Provide plants with enough space to reach their mature size. Temporarily fill in voids with annuals like salvia, single zinnias and nicotiana that also attract pollinators. Don't let all the plant and design possibilities overwhelm you into inaction. Gardener's Supply Company has plans for designing gardens to attract bees, butterflies and hummingbirds plus tips on keeping them safe in your garden. Mulch the soil with leaves annually. It suppresses weeds, conserves moisture, improves the soil and provides homes for many beneficial insects. Allow healthy plants and grasses to stand for winter. These provide homes for many beneficial insects and food for birds. Wait as long as possible to clean up your garden in spring. If needed, pile clippings out of the way to allow beneficial insects to escape these winter homes once temperatures warm. Then shred and compost the plant debris in summer. As your gardens flourish, you will want to create more pollinator-friendly spaces. Your efforts will be rewarded with beautiful flowers, increased harvest and the added color and motion these visitors provide. Bobby Flay recommends boiling older eggs rather than very fresh eggs, because it's easier to peel older hard boiled eggs than fresh ones?.

You'll need: Tissue paper in several colors; water, hard boiled eggs, small bowls or cups.

Instructions:

1. Tear the tissue paper into small pieces.
2. Put some water in a bowl.
3. One at a time, soak pieces of tissue paper in the water. Then stick the wet pieces onto the surface of a hard boiled egg. Keep placing tissue on the egg until it is covered. You may want to overlap the tissue pieces a little to cover the entire egg, or leave spaces to create a mosaic effect.
4. After the entire egg is covered, place it in an egg cup to dry.
5. When the tissue is dry, peel it off of the egg. The color of the tissue paper will have transferred to the egg.

Prolong Potted Lilies: Easter lilies are gorgeous plants, and with a few tricks you can prolong their life as a potted plant way past the Easter holiday.

If you are purchasing the plant yourself, choose a healthy looking plant with a few flowers in full bloom but with most unopened. Keep potted soil moist and place in a cool 60 to 65 degree room where it can get some indirect sunlight. Avoid direct heat and direct sunlight. Be sure the pot is on a saucer, and if it is wrapped in foil be sure the foil doesn't trap any water in the bottom of the pot. Help your lily last even longer by snipping off the pollen laden anthers from the center of the blooms.

***

Long Lasting Lilies: When your Easter lily has seen better days, don't toss it out! Your potted lilies can last for years to come if you plant them outside. To do: When leaves and stems turn yellow and or brown, trim them back and plant the bulb directly into the garden after the threat of frost has passed. For best results, plant the bulb in about three inches of good soil in a sunny or partial shade area. Top with another three inches of mulch, peat moss, compost, etc. (bulb is six inches underground). Water as needed.

Keep in mind transplanted lilies won't bloom until next summer. Keep well mulched during the winter and next spring remove extra mulch to help lilies sprout up.

***

Chalk it Up: Wondering what to do with all those eggshells left over from Easter? Why not be creative and teach the kids how to make sidewalk chalk? While you're at it, you can throw in a little recycling lesson!

Eggshell chalk: four to five eggshells, one teaspoon flour, one teaspoon very hot tap water, food coloring (optional).

Directions: Wash and dry eggshells. Put the shells into bowl or grinder and pulverize into a powder. Toss away any large pieces. Place flour and hot water in another bowl and add one tablespoon eggshell powder and mix until a paste forms. Add food coloring if desired.

Shape and press mixture very firmly into the shape of a chalk stick, and roll up tightly in a strip of strong paper towel. Allow to dry approximately three days until hard. Remove paper towel and you've got homemade chalk! (Eggshell chalk is for sidewalks only.) Recipe can be doubled or tripled, depending upon how many eggshells you have.

Here’s How It Works:
Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

4TH YEAR!

DRIVE FOR BETTER PLACE

For the months of March and April we pledge to donate $150 for every car or truck we sell to be donated to Webster Dudley Food Share, Webster Dudley United Way and The Webster Dudley Boys & Girls Clubs

This year we will make ourselves available to accept food donations for the Food Share

In these uncertain times Place Motor is doing all we can to provide a safe environment for our customers and employees while keeping those who really need our help our top priority.

The widening coronavirus outbreak is making it difficult for food banks, food pantries and soup kitchens to fulfill their missions at a time when they are needed the most.

School closures, job disruptions, lack of paid sick leave and the coronavirus's disproportionate effect on older adults and low-income families have further contributed to the demands placed on food banks.

Many families who were already food-insecure now find themselves with children out of school — children who ordinarily received more than half of their daily nutrition at school through free and reduced-price meals.

Food banks are seeing volunteers disappear and supplies evaporate as coronavirus fears mount. Food and cash donations have sharply decreased, even as the logistics of feeding the hungry have become more complex.

Your support is critical to our mission. Help however you can. Your donations of non-perishable food items help more than you can imagine.

We thank you for your contributions. Together we can work through this moment in history and come out stronger still.
