Police cruiser debt exclusion approved at the polls

RUDA, JOSEPH MAINTAIN SEATS ON BOARD OF SELECTMEN

BY JASON BLEAU
NEWS STAFF WRITER

DUDLEY — The Annual Town Election on June 13 could be described as uneventful, but while none of the available seats featured a contested battle, the voting public still had important decisions to make, including whether or not to vote yes to a question for a pending purchase by the town's Police Department.

With no hotly contested seats on the ballot throughout the day, the big story of the vote was the question on the ballot that asked voters whether or not to allow a debt exclusion for the purchase of three new vehicles for the Police Department over the next few years with the investment totaling $135,000. A majority vote passed the item during the May 23 Annual Town Meeting but the ballot question also needed approval for the funding to progress. With only 417 voters turning out throughout the day, every vote mattered, and in the end a decision of 235-158 (with 24 voters leaving the item blank) approved the question, which Chief Steve Wojnar said will be a great step forward to keeping the Dudley Police up to date with new and properly equipped vehicles coming in year after year to replace outdated and old cruisers being used on the road today.

“Thank you to all the voters for the support and to the town officials. I really appreciate it. It's going to help us really take care of a big problem we've had for a long time,” Wojnar said. “The good thing is right now it gives us a seeding process at least over the next three years where we can replace some vehicles. That'll give us time to save up money in the future or to develop another plan, but it gives us the three years

Oxford approves changing bar closing time

BY JASON BLEAU
NEWS STAFF WRITER

OXFORD — The Oxford Board of Selectmen has officially approved a massive change for the culture of the town, one they believe will not only make Oxford safer but will also work better for the residents of the Main Street area in the process.

After originally bringing up the idea of rolling back the maximum closing time for bars in the community following a request from the Oxford Police Department, a universal vote of approval on June 7 approved the new closing for local bars to be 1 a.m. instead of 2 a.m. as it stands today. The new rule will go into effect on Jan. 1, 2017, when liquor licenses are up for renewal.

The proposal to roll back the closing times was brought forward due to numerous reports

ZBA rejects cemetery application

BY JASON BLEAU
NEWS STAFF WRITER

DUDLEY — After months of debate, Dudley's Zoning Board of Appeals has denied the request from the Islamic Society of Greater Worcester to house an Islamic cemetery on Corbin Road.

What started in January with an application and erupted into a town wide, and eventually national, debate over the months to follow has resulted in a unanimous decision by the Zoning Board to not grant the request based on the lack of legal standing of the Islamic Society with the town prepared to consider its right of first refusal under the statute Chapter 61A, which protects the property in question for agricultural use only.

According to Dudley Town Counsel Gary Brackett, the use of the property for anything other than agricultural WORCESTER — It's starting to become old hat for the Oxford High varsity baseball team. This makes three Central Mass. district titles in the last five years for the Pirates following a 6-5 win in walk-off fashion over St.

Bernard's in the Central Mass. Division 4 district championship game, played Sunday, June 12 at Hanover Insurance Park at the College of the Holy Cross.

“That was the best team, they were the best coached team we've seen all year, they pushed us to the brink,” Oxford head coach Justin Richards said after the dramatics versus the Bernardians had subsided.

Things started slowly for top seeded Oxford, as they sent Bryce St. Germain to the hill to start the game, while No.

Senior center increases questions in budget vote

BY JASON BLEAU
NEWS STAFF WRITER

WEBSTER — While the Town of Webster successfully approved a new budget for the fiscal year, starting July 1, during its reconvened Annual Town Meeting on June 6, the decision did not come without its share of debates.

While many hours of discussion were had before a final verdict was handed down, one budget line item stood out as taxpayer Ken Mandile sought to reduce the salary of employees in the Webster Senior Center in favor of what he saw as more worthy investments, namely the items that were recently turned down during a special election in Webster concerning Prop. 2 1/2 override requests that would have allocated money for overnight coverage at the fire department, two additional officers at the police department and new technology for the Webster Public Schools.

The town budget, which eventually passed untouched, included a $40,194 salary for Senior Center Director Jean Travis as well as another $18,200 for a program director's salary and $22,268 in custodial services. Those line items added up to a $25,175, including funding the Program Director which previously had no money allocated to it and an increase of just over $10,000 to the custodian line item and over $15,000 to the senior center director salary. Mandile suggested level funding each of the line items to match the current fiscal year, and while his motion didn't stand he was able to voice his opinion that the town has other priorities it needs to focus on.

"It's very hard to stand up here and propose salary changes. It's not the way it should have to happen, but we have not been given the information we need to make decisions and there hasn't been sufficient discussion," Mandile told his fellow taxpayers. "I'm not doing this just to save money. I was hoping that if we could have passed enough of the reductions I believe there is money in this budget that we could have used to fund overnight fire coverage or adding to the police department or fully funding the $150,000 for the school departments technology spending. All of that is possible in the budget, but decisions were made not to do that."

Mandile argued that the increase in salary would make the Senior Center director the third highest paid employee in the town by hourly wage before it was cleared up that the number in the budget was a salary number. He also noted that he felt adding staff was unneeded at the time as the current staff on duty has been able to handle the responsibilities and if a raise is being given to the senior center director they should be expected to fill a lot more duties as well. He proposed the concept of the seniors doing some cleaning as well to offset the need for more custodial work using a town program that allows the seniors to work for lower taxes.

While Mandile made it clear that his request was in an attempt to do what he saw as best for the town, officials from the police and fire department humbly disagreed saying that while they appreciate the support they did not want to gain anything in the budget at the expense of any other departments in the town.

"There's a right way and a wrong way to do things," said Lt. Michael Shaw of the Webster Police Department in response to Mandile's request. "We wanted to fund as much as we could at the Police Department. We did this as a team, everybody sitting here. We came up with a budget that we can work with and we will work with. We tried the Prop. 2 1/2 override request to fund two additional police officers and it didn't work. The town spoke. We can live with that. What I don't want as a department head, and I think I speak for everybody, is to supplement my budget with extra money taken from other people and programs. That's not how we want to do it."

Fire Chief Brian Hickey echoed Lt. Shaw's statements.

"We appreciate the support, however we didn't want to take out of the pockets of the other departments," said Hickey. "These people earn their pay and earn their keep. Our seniors are the pride of the town and we support the seniors as much as they support us."

Responding to Mandile herself, Webster Senior Center Director Jean Travis said she didn't believe Mandile fully understood the amount of work that goes into the Senior Center, which is now housed in the same facility and the Sitkowski School Apartments and, according to Travis, services around 500 people a month.

"I don't think a seniors should pick up a mop and a pail and start cleaning. They've paid their dues," Travis said. "I know what (the seniors) need and I know what they want. I will continue to offer it to them."

While the public decided not to support Mandile's proposal, he did leave a message for his fellow voters to consider in the future.

"Remember these are choices that we're making," Mandile said. "We're choosing to drastically increase the senior center budget instead of having overnight fire coverage, instead of building the technology for the school department, instead of adding to the police department. These are choices that were made. We are the legislative body of the town. We own the budget. They can propose it, but it's up to us to debate it and decide what our priorities are. We're saying the senior center is a priority over overnight fire coverage. That just doesn't seem to be a good choice to me."

Announcing a new free monthly program: A Memory Café is opening here at the Dudley Senior Center on Thursday, July 21, at 4-6 p.m., and will continue every third Thursday of the month. This program is geared towards any person suffering from early stage dementia, mild memory loss or cognitive impairment, and for family or friends of those affected. (Please note: caregivers must be present). This free program, sponsored by a grant from the MCOA, is designed to give both the affected individual and their caregiver a chance to create new fun times together through engaging in fun activities, programs, socialization, while also creating new friendships and happy times. This is not a support group, but you will most likely make new friends who are in similar circumstances. Memory Cafés have been around for several years, and are now popping up all over; to date there are 200 Memory Cafes in the USA. Research shows that Memory Café participation may reduce social isolation, anxiety, and provide enjoyable interaction without stigma/judgment. Social isolation is a major challenge for people living with dementia. Caregivers too can be overburdened by daily routines and frustrations, neglecting their own feelings adding to their own personal stress. Together we can make it fun, brighten up, and lighten up your day! We will also be offering a light meal to enjoy while we're together. Please call

Webster K9 unit visits St. Joseph School

Marianapolis bids farewell to the Class of 2016

THOMPSON, Conn. — Despite the wet and damp weather, Marianapolis Preparatory School in Thompson held an inspiring and, in many ways, emotional commencement ceremony on June 5, graduating the Class of 2016, which included several students from Charlton. Students were recognized for their achievements in school and teachers and even guest speakers shared their stories of experiences with the class and their own experiences as former students of the prestigious school. With graduates literally from all over the world taking part, the Class of 2016 received a fitting farewell honoring their achievements and the legacy they leave behind.

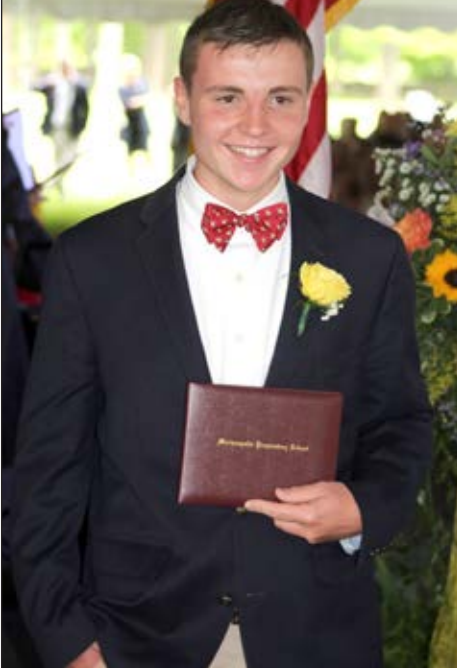

Students make their way out of the 2016 graduation ceremony at Marianapolis to meet their teachers one last time and mingle with family during a proud day.

Joseph LaBuff, of Oxford, Mass., proudly displays his diploma with his sister Michele and brother Alex by his side.

Headmaster Joseph Hanrahan speaks to the students of the Class of 2016 and their families during the opening of the 2016 graduation ceremony.

Matthew Panagiotou, of Webster, Mass., proudly displays his diploma from Marianapolis.

Class of 2016 President Andrew Ford reveals the Class Gift, new portable scoreboards for the track field.

Friday's Child

Dominic is a sweet and sociable 3-year-old Caucasian boy who loves to laugh, smile and run as fast as he can. Dominic also enjoys playing with his toys and spending time with his foster family. He is diagnosed on the Autism spectrum and has global developmental delays. Because of Dominic's small size and his developmental delays, he presents in many ways as a much younger child. He continues to make steady progress and is working hard to overcome his challenges and increasing his ability to communicate. At his daycare Dominic's teacher reports that he has made connections with some of his classmates and even says he is like "brothers" with one of the other children.

Dominic would do best in a home where there are two parents with or without other children. The family should have an understanding of Autism and global delays as well as be able to celebrate all of Dominic's daily successes!

Who Can Adopt?
Can you provide the guidance, love and stability that a child needs? If you're at least 18 years old, have a stable source of income, and room in your heart, you may be a perfect match to adopt a waiting child. Adoptive parents can be single, married, or partnered; experienced or not; renters or homeowners; LGBTQ singles and couples.

The process to adopt a child from foster care requires training, interviews, and home visits to determine if adoption is right for you, and if so, to help connect you with a child or sibling group that will be a good match.

To learn more about adoption from foster care, call the Massachusetts Adoption Resource Exchange (MARE) at 617-54-ADOPT (617-542-3678) or toll free 800-882-1176) or visit www.mareinc.org. The sooner you call, the sooner a waiting child will have "a permanent place to call HOME."

Bartlett Class of 2016 takes center stage

WEBSTER — Bartlett High School celebrated the accomplishments of 76 graduates during the school's 103rd Commencement Ceremony on June 10. Family and friends turned out in droves to enjoy the outdoor ceremony and see their graduate honored. The ceremony was extra special for a few members of the Bartlett staff as it celebrated the first class that Principal Steven Knowlton has presided over for a full four years and the final graduating class for Superintendent Dr. Barbara Malkas, who will take a similar post in North Adams for the next school year. For some it was an emotional moment, for others and exciting one, but for everyone it was a ceremony filled with pride and optimism for a bright future for the Class of 2016.

Caroline James was one of several scholarship recipients during Bartlett's commencement ceremony. Being third in the class, James was presented with a Sitkowski Scholarship.

Father figures

As children, it's obvious that we need our fathers.

We rely on our fathers (whether we want to admit it or not) for just about everything. And if a father is doing his job correctly, we rely on them for helping put a roof over our heads, for discipline, for leading us in what is right and wrong, for teaching, for correcting and for acting in a way that is an example to mimic.

As an adult, I realize that even now, I depend on my father still for quite a bit. He is the first one I call when anything and everything happens. He's the one I call when my furnace acts up, when my lawnmower fails to start or I have car problems. He's the one whose phone rings when there's a project around the house I know I need help completing because I am hopelessly talentless when it comes to working with my hands. He's the one I consult in all matters automotive and construction, because his mind is filled with knowledge that I am even now just beginning to tap into. Since I became a homeowner nearly two years ago, I think I've learned more from him about these things than in my first 30 years. As I write this, there's a power washer that we are planning on working on together in the garage. That will certainly be a learning experience.

Watching him work is fun to watch. He always has a way to fix anything, even when anyone else thinks it's broken. His creativity when it comes to fixing, building or making something out of nothing is impressive. I will always be in awe of that.

But it's not just all things construction that impresses me about my father — it's his capacity for kindness, his heart to help other people and his humble attitude. So many times, he has gone out of his way to help other people, and it's a quality I want to mimic in my own life and show my own son as an example to follow.

As we look ahead to Father's Day this weekend, my mind drifts to my own role as a father, what I've learned from my own father, and how similar I am with my son to how my father was with me growing up. He was always more than willing to access his goofy side with my brother and me, rough housing with us and making us laugh. For me, I see shades of my father in the way I have fun with my kids.

The other night, working late on deadline (I'm talking middle of the night/ wee early hours of the morning late), I heard the door to my son's bedroom creak open, and footsteps begin to stumble down the hallway toward where I was working at the dining room table, where I work at a makeshift work station (until someday I finish off my basement and make me an office!). It was my son, bleary eyed, and on the verge of tears. He was obviously tossing and turning, and just woke up from a nightmare of some sort.

"You OK, buddy?" I asked, taking off my headphones, saving what I was working on and meeting him where he stood.

He merely looked up at me through half-closed eyes, a frown across his face, and lifted his hands toward me, wanting me to pick him up and hold him to comfort him. Of course, I obliged. Holding him as he calmed down, I whispered in his ear.

"I got you," I calmly said. "Daddy's got you."

He needed me in that moment. He needed his Daddy to comfort him. He needed me to make everything that was going on in his head better. I walked him back down the hallway and into the bedroom, gently laying him back on his bed. He was already asleep. I kissed him on the head, and snuck out, wondering how many times I myself snuck out of that very bedroom when I was a child and sought out my Dad to comfort me when I was scared. It was probably more than I remember.

In a way, at the end of the day, I don't think there will ever be a day where I don't need my Dad. Obviously, our relationship has grown and changed over time, but in some ways, I'll always need him. I wouldn't have it any other way.

Observing recent drama on Webster Lake

It was interesting to see some Webster Lake residents try to restrict access to the lake for the paddleboat last summer.

Under Commonwealth laws (Colonial Ordinances 1641-1647 with revisions and updates) people have been allowed access to pass and repass to, from and around the shores of Webster Lake over private property between the mean high and mean low water marks to fish, fowl and navigate since 1641.

Currently it is impossible to walk around the lake due to all the unpermitted fences, walls, docks, placed fill and structures erected by lake abutters thereby restricting access to the lake not in accordance with these 365 year old laws. The Webster Board of Selectman owe a duty to the public to ensure access to/from and around the lake is protected and should begin efforts to force these lake abutters to remove their unpermitted obstructions and preserve public access to the lake.

Additionally, many of the subdivision laid out at the lake between 1880 and 1960 showed public easements, rights of ways and streets on the recorded plans that continue to the lake and also are available for public use as access to/ from the lake. Some local associations and or abutters have posted no trespassing signs on these public easement, rights of ways and streets in an attempt to keep the public off of these ways.

Webster Lake is a Great Pond. A Great Pond is a body of water in the Commonwealth that contains more than 10 acres of water in its natural state. Before the lake was dammed by Samuel Slater & Sons, Inc. 1812-1819 it was a Great Pond and is now a dammed Great Pond.

The height of water behind the dam was set by Jury Trial in accordance with Massachusetts General Laws. The elevation of the lake can vary from 478.5' to 481.5' based upon the last court action to set the dam elevations. Any 10 individuals can sue in the Commonwealth court system to challenge the regulated height of the water behind the dam. In several jurisdictions environmentalists have sued and obtained judgments to have dam owners remove their dams via this action.

Prior to damming the natural lake level was approximately 5' lower than bench mark of 479.5'.

The Colonial Ordinance of 1641-1647 indicates that the adjacent owner of land on a natural Great Pond owns to the low (natural) water mark; however many lots at the lake had been conveyed referencing subdivision plan lot numbers only between 1880 and 1960 with or without deed descriptions that do not indicate if the parcels conveyed go to the dammed or natural low water mark of the lake.

When Slater leased some of the land around the lake for the dam and flowage rights between 1812- 1819 for 999 years he did not purchase the land that was flooded by the subsequent dams he built or between the natural low water mark and the maintained dammed low water mark on portions of land around the lake. This may have created a donut of land around portions of the lake where it is questionable who actually owns that land. It's a legal question.

The town taxes the abutters as if they have waterfront property but it is questionable who owns some of the land between the limits of the subdivision plan lot lines and/or ambiguously drafted deed descriptions to the natural low water mark on portions of the dammed lake. Does the original owner of the land leased by Samuel Slater and Sons, Inc. or their remainder men have some claim to the land in front of those lake lots constituting the donut of land around portions of the lake where conveyances were ambiguous? Some lots were conveyed with deed descriptions to the natural low water mark making it easier to locate those lot lines on the ground.

The current owner of the land under the dam and/or operator of the dam may be responsible under Massachusetts General Laws for maintenance, inspection and repair of the dam. At some point the earthen dam may require millions of dollars of work to maintain/repair the dam. The original purpose of the dam as granted by the legislature was to flow water for mill power and water use which are no longer economically viable. Who is going to pay for the dam maintenance and repair, perhaps no one? If that happens then the lake eventually returns to its original undammed size, you would be able to walk across the Narrows from Killdeer Island to Birch Island during dry summers and all around the natural Great Pond aka Webster Lake, which is actually three separate Great Ponds, all those unpermitted walls, fences, docks, placed fills and structures would serve no purpose and the town would lose millions in tax revenues and land disputes will surely ensue. But under Commonwealth laws the paddleboat could still travel around the natural lake, but you would have to walk over the mud flats to get to it. In essence "you fish on your side and I fish on my side and no one fishes in the middle (the Narrows)" would be literal and/or literally accurate.

Unregistered vehicles

CHIEF'S CORNER

STEVE WOJNAR

The subject of unregistered motor vehicles on private property was brought up. The person was in the process of selling a vehicle and wanted to know if there were any restrictions on keeping the car there? Many people have unregistered vehicles on their property for one reason or another. I was asked to provide some information on the town bylaw.

Article 21 is the section of the Dudley bylaws which pertains to storage of unregistered motor vehicles. Unless a person is the holder of a license, such as a car dealer license, or unless given a special permit by the Selectmen, they cannot allow more than one unregistered motor vehicle to remain on a lot in the Town. The vehicle can be assembled or disassembled for the purposes of this law. The term "lot" is defined as "a parcel of land held in identical ownership throughout including all contiguous land held in the same ownership."

Should someone request a special permit, a public hearing will be held and the Selectmen "may" issue one if certain criteria are met. Such items of consideration include whether or not the vehicles constitute a nuisance and if they do "not adversely affect the neighborhood."

This bylaw does not apply to vehicles stored within an enclosed building or if they are designed for farming or other agricultural purposes. Penalties for a violation are twenty dollars per day for each violation. This law is designed to avoid hazardous situations and the compiling of vehicles. Should a situation arise where you may have more than unregistered vehicle present, you may have some options. Many charities or scrap dealers will take old vehicles off your property at no cost. You may also receive a tax credit or cash in some cases. Feel free to contact our office should you require assistance with this problem.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Beresik: Taxpayers deserve better

To the Editor:

The Webster Annual Town Meeting for FY 2017 articles and budgets was held on Monday, June 6, at the Bartlett High School auditorium.

A quorum of 61 registered voters is required, and according to the Town Clerk, 162 were in attendance at the outset of the Town Meeting.

Fiscal 2017 budget, including schools, totaled $40,493,665, not including water and sewer budgets, as they are Enterprise Accounts.

Fiscal 2017 budget increased by $1,780,862, a 4.6-percent increase over fiscal year 2016.

There was no information, written or verbal, given to the town meeting on how much the proposed budget increased nor the tax impact of the $40,493,665. Also, no information on how many personnel changes were being anticipated by either eliminating positions, creating new positions, combining positions for both part time and/or full time personnel.

When the previous town administrator left for another position the selectmen decided to appoint from within an interim town administrator. Other towns normally hire an outside interim to keep "the ship afloat" and to manage the day-to-day operations while a new town administrator is hired.

The first Town Administrator Search Committee met, chaired by a current selectman, for months and the end result was the selectmen did not choose any of the finalist's given to them by the search committee. Time and money was lost and it took weeks for the selectmen to approve a new search committee.

During this time the interim town administrator, that the selectmen appointed from within, accepted the appointment and was responsible for doing two major financial positions at one time. The person was being paid for both positions at the same time.

Annual budget time came and the truth of the matter was revealed. Budgets were incomplete and constantly changed for various reasons. Delays in meeting deadlines for state reports and documents were constant. The request for financial budget data was either denied or not available by the interim town administrator. Selectmen continued to defend the interim town administrator for the incomplete or lateness of needed financial information.

Last week the selectmen were notified that they conducted, not one but two, violations of the Open Meeting Law in executive session and are subject to a monetary fine by the State Ethics Commission and the State Attorney General.

Webster's town government has "run amok" and is "out of control" under the current administration led by the selectmen. Taxpayers and voters deserve "much better" for their tax dollars.

Bernard: A big summer up ahead

To the Editor:

This year is the Center of Hope's 60th birthday this year.

Recently, they played dodge ball, raising over $1,200 for Special Olympics and helped out cleaning out Southbridge for Earth Day festivities as well was a part of the Bicentennial festivities. Now it's that time of year again coming up here in Webster on Friday, night July 22. On that night, at Indian Ranch here in Webster they will host the annual Country for a Cause concert. Featuring a few "Friends in High Places" called the Mychael David Project. Sadly their drummer Scott "Scooter" Mackey passed away a few months back, but Mychael, Susan Jayne and the band will be there for a great night of fun.

Hope to see you there and that's it for now!

Fishing updates from the Valley and beyond

Now that haddock daily bag limits have been increased for recreational anglers in the Gulf of Maine, charter boat captains are enjoying some of their normal business that was lost over the last couple of years due to the closure of cod fishing and unrealistic regulations on haddock.

Anglers are doing extremely well, with most anglers catching daily limits of haddock on each trip. Pollock are also mixed in the daily limits and a nice 42-inch halibut was recently caught. Every Thursday, a marathon trip is scheduled which gives the angler a two day fishing trip for a $90 fee. That is indeed a bargain. The angler is allowed to keep two limits of haddock resulting in a 30-fish bag limit. With the price of fish today, the trip will pay for itself, not to mention the experience of fishing overnight on the ocean. For more information on the charter boat Yankee fleet fishing schedule visit www.yankeefleet.com, or call 1-800-942-5464.

The depletion of fish stocks in saltwater has been caused by numerous factors, some of which are rarely discussed. A saltwater bird known as the cormorant is having a huge impact on our fish stocks both fresh and saltwater. These birds have been observed by this writer, eating recently spawned winter flounder at salt pond in Rhode Island for many years. Because of commercial over fishing and high mortality of the young flounder by the cormorant there is no longer a flounder season in most of Narragansett Bay. Other species of animals that are having a huge impact on our saltwater fishery, are the hundreds of seals that devour as much as 40 to 50 pounds of fin fish a day. Just recently close to 1,000 seals were on the local news sunning themselves on a section of Cape Cod. Although they are nice to see, their population is out of control. Their only predator is the sharks that do not seem to be doing a good job at keeping their populations down.

The seals are also are also attracting more sharks to the area which is resulting in a danger to swimmers. Something needs to be done to bring down the seal population soon or the fish populations will continue to decrease.

The recent arrest of a few commercial anglers fishing for sea bass on the Cape is long overdue. These anglers were caught with a few hundred sea bass, which is a flagrant violation of saltwater fishing regulations. The sea bass populations have steadily increased over the last few years, but with this type of overfishing it will not be around long. Rhode Island fishing for sea bass does not open until July 1. Fluke fishing is improving daily on the Rhode Island coast with numerous local anglers returning with limits of nice fish including some big fish often called doormat fluke. Charter boats in the area are doing a brisk business this year due to the great fishing in the area. The 18th Annual Fishing Derby will be held this Saturday, June 18, at West Hill Dam in Uxbridge. The event is free and no fishing license is needed. Numerous prizes and events will be held through out the day. Do not miss it. Take a kid fishing. Check the event out at www.westhilldam.com.

Creative multipurpose tips

TAKE
KAREN
TRAINOR

In today's economy it's important to get the most use out of the products you buy. Thanks to some creative repurposing, many ordinary items can do double duty all around the house. Read on for some unusual uses for everyday things.

And remember readers, send in your best tips and you'll be in the running to win Dinner for Two at the Publick House!

Bamboo Skewers: Not just for shish kabob or fruit arrangements, a package of inexpensive wooden skewers come in handy! Use them to test the doneness of cakes; to easily turn doughnuts and other foods when deep frying; and insert into cake layers to invisibly stabilize a crooked confection. Wooden skewers are also in the workshop. To camouflage a narrow nail hole, dip the end of a skewer in white glue, push it into the wall, break it off and paint over. The most creative use of all? I once caught my niece using one of the wooden sticks as a hands-free Oreo dipper. She just stabbed the middle cream and dunked the whole cookie into milk!

Aluminum Foil: Hate to iron? Place a sheet of tinfoil under the ironing board cover (above the foam but below the cloth) to boost the heat of the iron and get the job done more efficiently and quickly! Run out of steel wool pads? Crumple up a ball of tinfoil and use to clean pans (not non-stick). And did you wonder why grandma had a sheet of tinfoil taped behind the radiator? The shiny surface reflects the heat and boosts the warmth.

Vodka: Is your potpourri losing its scent? Toss in a capful of vodka and mix it up to renew fragrance in the dried flower mix. Want your fresh flowers to last a bit longer? Simply add a few drops of vodka along with a teaspoon of sugar to the water in the vase. The vodka kills bacteria, extending the life of the blooms. And you can whip up an effective air freshener with vodka. To do: In a spray bottle, mix together six ounces water (distilled if possible), one ounce of vodka, and your choice of essential oil (about 20-30 drops). Shake up and spray!

***

Dental Floss: Hanging a picture and don't have any wire? Doubled up dental floss is strong enough to substitute on lightweight pictures; Are photos stuck together? Instead of pulling apart, lessen the risk of damage by gently shimmying the floss between the photos to pry them off. Swaging holiday greenery? Green mint dental floss serves as a strong (and invisible) tie to wind around garlands to hang down stairways or along a mantle. And unflavored dental floss can also be used to truss a turkey. Dental floss even works as a quick fix to restringing beaded jewelry. And if you happen to snap your fishing line, a length of dental floss can serve as a temporary substitute.

***

Here are some additional multipurpose ideas:

- Have extra roof shingles? Stow a few in your trunk during winter weather. If you get stuck, wedge the shingle under the tire for traction.
- Need to clean a grout stain? Saturate a cotton ball in bleach and place it on the stain until it fades out.
- Or place a few drops of essential oil on a cotton ball and put in your car ashtray or other niche to discreetly refresh the whole car.
- Save plastic newspaper sleeves. The long bags protect shoes from other clothing when packing a suitcase.
- Wet boots from winter weather? Stuff newspaper inside your shoes and they'll dry out faster.
- Newspaper also works to prevent odors in thermos bottles between uses. Just pack crumpled newspaper into the bottle before closing to store.
- Stuff Styrofoam packing peanuts into a bean bag chair to puff it back up without spending a dime!
- Repurpose grass clippings into old, musty dresser drawers. Close the drawer and in a few days it will smell fresh.
- Spray some no stick cooking spray on your snow shovel to help heavy, wet snow from sticking to it.

Many hands make light work

BEYOND THE PEWS

REV. ANN GIBERT
PASTOR, UNITED CHURCH OF
CHRIST, FEDER-
ATED, WEBSTER

Have you ever wanted to do something to make your community better, but thought, "What can I do. I'm only one person." I love those stories that make the rounds on social media and the evening news about folks with a great idea who made amazing things happen in their communities. I'd love to be one of those folks with the BIG IDEA, but that isn't me.

My gift isn't being the idea person, but the "connector." I specialize in searching out those who make a difference in their communities, and in finding ways to match donors and volunteers. I've always been this way, I think I was born with some kind of social justice gene that makes me attuned to what is going around me.

My favorite childhood books were the "Little House" series by Laura Ingalls Wilder. Although I grew up in a home setting far different than life on the American prairies of the 1880s, something about the grit, determination and the love of neighbor in Mrs. Wilder's books connected with me. I particularly loved some of Ma's sayings – "modesty is the best sauce", "least said, soonest mended" and my favorite, "Many hands make light work". Over my years in ministry and as a community volunteer, I've learned that Ma's saying is profoundly true. Not only do many hands make the burden lighter, many gifts lead to creative ideas and solutions, and many voices sharing stories and laughter make the time fly, even when the work is tedious.

Friends, there is a ministry at my church, United Church of Christ, Federated in Webster that needs your hands to make lighter work. Webster-Dudley Food Share operates out of space in our building at 4 Church Street in Webster. A group of dedicated volunteers unloads, sorts, packs and gives away food to 100 families per week. They need your help. If you have ever thought about doing something that would make a difference in your community, this is your chance. I won't kid you, most of the work involved is heavy lifting – unloading donations, repacking and helping clients put their food boxes (which can weigh up to 50 lbs.) into their vehicles. They need caring folks with strong backs to come and help on Tuesday and Thursday mornings from 8:30 until 11:30. Think of it as a combination of community service and weight training. They are open year round and would welcome your help. This ministry also operates the Bread of Life supers on the second and fourth Tuesdays of the month from September to April. They are always looking for kitchen help and servers.

I'd love to live in a town where no-one needs to depend on the kindness of strangers for their next meal, but that town doesn't exist. Instead, we have a town where the hungry can come and get a box of food, no questions asked, to stock their own kitchen, and where they can sit down twice a month with up to two hundred of their neighbors (or with complete strangers) to enjoy a hot meal served with a smile. And maybe in an odd way, that's a good thing, because it means that instead of us all going home and eating behind locked doors, and possibly alone, we sit across the table from one another and share food and stories with others we might not have met in any other way.

So, can I ask you to please consider helping out this amazing community ministry? As I mentioned above, they are in urgent need of volunteers with strong backs to help with the heavy lifting. If you are free either Tuesday or Thursday mornings, give them all call at 508-943-9171. Can your hands be the ones that help make the work light? Thank you. Ma would be proud.

Pirates walk off to stun St. Bernard's in D4 title game

3 St. Bernard's (18-6) countered with Ryan Fillebrown. St. Germain went just two innings allowing two hits and a run in the second frame, leaving with his Pirates trailing 1-0.

Jared Buckley came on in relief in the top of the third and went the final five innings. Meanwhile, apart from a run in the bottom of the third, Fillebrown was rolling along. Zakk Renihan — the big-hitting Pirate catcher — singled with two outs to earn his 100th career hit. He then stole second base and advanced to third on a throwing error. Buckley singled him home to tie it, 1-1.

"I've wanted this since freshman year, so it's great to finally have it. Buckley got his 1,000th point in the state basketball championship, so he kind of outdid me there," Renihan laughed of his classmate's achievement on the hardwood and his on the diamond.

On the mound, Buckley cruised until a tough fifth inning came about. The first three Bernardian batters reached before coach Jim Beaugerard called back-to-back suicide squeeze plays. Each ultimately scored a run and it was 3-1. Buckley then walked in a run and the St. B's got their fifth tally on a groundout to second to make it 5-1.

Things looked bleak for the Pirates until the bottom of the sixth. St. Germain (2 for 4, 2 runs, RBI) led the frame off with a single and Matt Grasseschi (2 for 4, run) followed with one of his own. Ultimately, it was leadoff man Austin Greene earning his third hit of the day, singling to drive home St. Germain to make it 5-2 heading to the seventh.

"It just shows the strength in the lineup that anyone can come through," Greene said of his three hits at the top and major contributions from the bottom of the order as well. "We needed everyone to come through, and everyone came through tonight."

St. Bernard's put two on in the seventh with two outs, but Buckley wriggled off the hook and the Pirates headed into their final three outs trailing by three.

"You just hope that you mentally stay into the game and I feel like I have a team that's very, very resilient, and is going to refuse to lose," Richards said of his squad, which boasts seven starting seniors.

Refuse to lose they did. Renihan (2 for 4, 2 runs), Buckley (2 for 3, run, RBI), and St. Germain all singled to start the rally with nobody out, and Renihan came home on that third single to make it 5-3. Meanwhile, Cooper Bigelow came on in relief of Fillebrown after the first two reached. Next up, Grasseschi bunted perfectly and Bigelow misplayed the ball. The result was Buckley hustling home to make it a one-run game, 5-4.

With the pressure mounting, Bigelow settled some, getting a pop-out and groundout. But, in between the two, a passed ball allowed St. Germain to score the tying run in dramatic fashion, but that was hardly it for the dramatics.

Nine-hole hitter and senior second baseman Cam Cardoni was 0 for 3 heading into his two-out at-bat with a title on the line, but that didn't mean anything to him or his head coach.

"He hits the ball really well from the nine-hole, so with him up there with a guy on third [Grasseschi], I was very, very confident," Richards said.

"I have to say, last night I did have a couple dreams about walking off, it's crazy," Cardoni added.

And walk-off they would. Cardoni floated a Bigelow pitch into shallow Oxford starter Bryce St. Germain only went two innings, but was solid at the dish going 2 for 4 with two runs scored and an RBI versus St. Bernard's.

left-center and the celebration was on as he was mobbed by his teammates just past first base on the outfield grass. A 6-5, come-from-behind district championship victory was the result of what was surely the biggest clutch moment in Cardoni's high school career.

"We're just a great group of guys and we've been working hard all year for this, hopefully it doesn't stop in our next game," he Cardoni said when the excitement had died down some.

"We're senior dominated, so we've been here before and we know what it's about, and we wanted to win it," Greene added.

"We're just a bunch of seniors that don't like losing," Renihan concluded.

They sure don't as the win moved Oxford to 20-5 on the season and sends them to Westfield State University for a state semifinal matchup to be played after press time. Richards noted his team's experience in his closing statement.

"We've been there before, we know what to expect and what not to expect. We'll just go and give it our best shot," he said.

HOW THEY GOT THERE

With win over Leicester, Pirates’ baseball reaches fifth straight district final

Oxford's Dave Meech, one of head coach Justin Richards' "three aces," started the game versus Leicester and was relieved by Jared Buckley during a jam in the third inning.

BY JON GOUIN
SPORTS CORRESPONDENT

MILFORD — The top-seeded Oxford High varsity baseball team has been here before, both literally and figuratively. They’ve made tough comebacks to win recently, and they’ve also played at Fino Field for big games. Both happened again on Thursday, June 9, when they faced No. 5 seed Leicester High in the semifinals of the Central Mass. Division 4 district tournament.

It took some time for the Pirates to crack the riddle that was Wolverine starting pitcher Christian Russo, but once they did, Oxford’s offense took care of business, coming from down 3-0 to pull away with a 7-4 victory behind seasoned veterans Jared Buckley and Zakk Renihan.

“It’s five straight years [reaching the district final], that means seniors like Jared and Zakk — who have played four years — and everybody else playing with us has been in it three or four times,” Pirate head coach Justin Richards said of the perennially strong program.

Richards added: “All of them, their season hasn’t ended short of the district championship game and I don’t know if that’s ever happened, especially with Buckley and Renihan who have started all four years. It’s something special that they’ll remember for the rest of their lives.”

While Oxford was making waves with their five-year plan of domination, in 2015 Leicester was wondering if they’d ever crawl out of the Southern Worcester County League West Division basement. Following a two-win campaign, new head coach Chuck Fahey stepped in and immediately turned the ship around. What resulted was a stellar 14-6 regular season and two district victories before running into the powerhouse Pirates.

“I told Chuck Fahey before the game — their new coach — that somebody should build a gold statue of him. What he’s done with that program in a year is just remarkable, it’s good to see,” Richards said of his counterpart.

Asked what changed, Fahey responded, “I think just the attitude of the kids. They showed up ready to play and wanting to win. They struggled last year and knew they could be better than they were. They came in eager to learn and ready to win.”

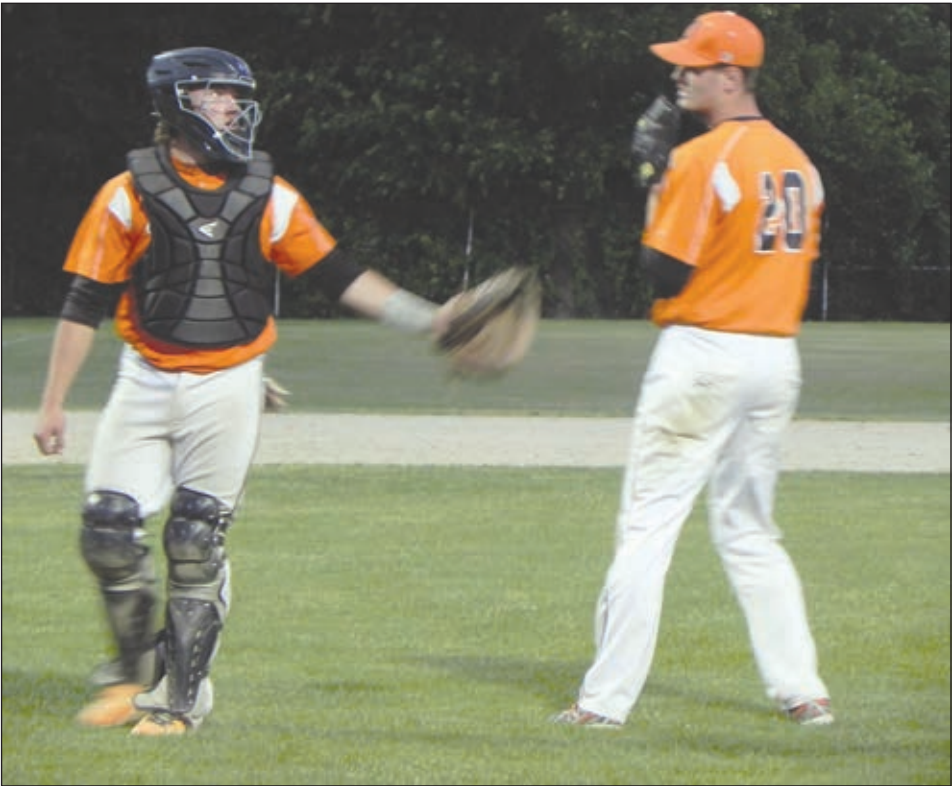

As far as the game action went, after the top of the third, the Wolverines held a 3-0 lead on the Pirates. It was the bottom of the order that got things rolling as Sean McCarthy singled and Ryan Stanick reached on a fielder’s choice when trying to bunt him over. Leadoff hitter Brett Willand then got hit by a Dave Meech offering to load the bases, and a wild pitch scored McCarthy from third to make it 1-0. The next batter for Leicester, Mike Albro, lifted a sacrifice fly to center to score Stanick. Camden Hart (2 for 3, run, RBI) then drove him in with a long single getting it to 3-0.

In the midst of the rally, Meech (2 2/3 innings, 1 hit, 3 runs, 3 strikeouts) was pulled by Richards in favor of Buckley, who finished out the game while pitching dominantly most of the way, which allowed his mates to climb back into the game.

“I was just trying to throw strikes, pound the zone and work on my fast-ball, which was very effective tonight,” Buckley said of his efforts on the hill.

In the bottom of the frame, Oxford began to chip away at the deficit. A two-out Renihan RBI single got the Pirates on the board, but Russo was able to get out of the inning shortly thereafter. In the fourth frame, it was right fielder Joe Grady coming through for his squad, grounding into a force out, but allowing Bryce St. Germaine (who walked) to score in through the back door, and it was now just 3-2.

first seven overall, which was just what the Pirates needed to get back into the game. In the bottom of the fifth, Oxford captured the lead, and it was Buckley’s bat helping them out.

Austin Greene (2 for 3, 3 runs, steal) led off the inning with a single through the left side and Meech dropped a sacrifice bunt to put the tying run at second. After Renihan (2 for 4, run, 3 RBI) reached on an error, it was Buckley’s time to shine. The result was a two-run single to right that gave his squad their first lead of the semifinal, 4-3.

Leicester quickly tied it at 4-4 when Anthony Notaro singled in Hart, who also singled, but in the bottom of that sixth inning, Oxford broke things open. Noah Buckley singled to start the rally, and then Greene did as well. Meech was then hit by a pitch to load the bags for Renihan, who delivered.

The senior catcher ripped a two-run double to left to make it 6-4, and then Jared Buckley drove in Meech on a groundout to second. At 7-4, that was all “Buck” would need.

But, in a tough seventh frame, he hit two batters, which was wrapped around a strikeout, to set up the tying run at the plate with one down. He was then able to induce a grounder to second, and Cam Cardoni made a great turn to start the 4-6-3 double play, highlighted by a great throw by shortstop St. Germain to end the game.

Buckley finished his 4 1/3 innings allowing one run on three hits with seven strikeouts.

Next up for Oxford is a date with No. 3 St. Bernard’s in the district championship game.

“It feels great,” an excited Buckley said after the win.

“Someone’s got to walk away without the win,” Fahey said of the semifinals versus Oxford. “That’s a good team over there; they swing the bats well from number one to number nine. They’re going back to the finals again because that’s the team they are.”

Asked about a lasting impression he would take from his team’s fine season, Fahey responded simply, “Just a big smile on my face.”

Rockets' baseball soars past Bay Path, ending Minutemen's successful season

WORCESTER — Senior right-hander Pat Westerlind pitched a complete seven innings for the Auburn High varsity baseball team, allowing just two hits and notching four strikeouts versus Bay Path Regional, as the third seeded Rockets soared past the second ranked Minutemen, 9-0, in a Central Mass. Division 3 district semifinal played at Tivnan Field on Wednesday, June 8.

Improving to a 19-3 overall mark, Auburn now looks ahead to facing undefeated and top seeded Groton-Dunstable Regional (20-0) for the district championship. With 10 seniors on the roster, the Rockets will be making their second consecutive appearance in the district final, where they are the defending champions. Westerlind believes experience will pay off.

“We’re excited and no matter who we play, we’re going to come out on fire like we did tonight, and we’re going to give them our best,” he said. “I just wanted to go out there, throw strikes, pound the zone and hit my spots. No one wants this season to end. We’re a great family and everyone wants to come every day to practice. We’re just fighting every day to get another day together.”

“Knowing we can get back to Holy Cross, we had a very aggressive mentality today,” added Auburn head coach Eric Swedberg. “The team prepares correctly. They know it’s eyes on the prize every day. Today, you saw that we were very comfortable here, and it’s hard to be new and be in a game like this. I think for our seniors, just wanting to not break up that group is so huge because we have a big group of guys and they just have so much fun.”

After a remarkable season, the Minutemen concluded their season with a 19-3 record. Bay Path head coach Mark Sansoucy hopes to continue to build his team’s brand in next season’s conquest.

“The seniors led the team and they were united — they played great together all year,” he said. “Hopefully the younger kids that are here have learned that and take it back next year. They have nothing to be ashamed of. They had a great season, and they should be very proud of what they did.”

Auburn held a 9-2 hitting advantage, as the Rockets left 11 runners on base and Bay Path left two.

Leading the Rockets at the plate was senior center fielder Pat Fitzgerald, who batted 3 for 5 with three singles and two RBIs. Just behind Fitzgerald was junior shortstop Luke Matthews (2 for 4). Senior third baseman Conor Scully batted 2 for 5 and added three RBIs to the victory.

Starting on the mound for Bay Path was right-hander Alex Belanger, who threw 5 1/3 innings, allowing five runs (two unearned) on five hits. Belanger recorded two strikeouts. Closing for the Minutemen was right-hander Tucker Hetherman, who allowed four runs (one unearned) on four hits. Hetherman had four strikeouts.

Auburn jumped out to an early 1-0 lead in the top of the first inning when Fitzgerald singled to left field before junior left fielder Steve Saucier reached on an infield error. Scully then took a pitch to the shoulder to load the bags, as the Rockets’ first run of the game was walked in with no outs.

Bay Path’s infield fired throws to home plate to get the lead runners out on the force-out twice to prevent any further damage before Belanger ended the inning with a strikeout, leaving three Rockets on base.

After turning a double play to escape the bottom of the first with runners on first and second, Auburn added two more runs to stretch out to a 3-0 lead in the second inning. Saucier brought in the first run on a sacrifice fly to left field, followed by another score on a passed ball.

Both teams then exchanged a series of quick frames up until the top of the fourth when Scully earned his first two RBIs of the night on a double shot down the third base line, extending Auburn’s lead to 5-0.

The Minutemen earned their first hit of the game in the bottom of the fourth off a bunt by left fielder Spencer Natale. With no outs, Natale got to second on a sacrifice ground-er and advanced to third on a passed ball, but the Rockets found the outs to keep Bay Path off the board.

Then, in the fifth, Fitzgerald’s single to center field with the bases juiced increased Auburn’s lead to 7-0.

the inning with a clean sheet, the Minutemen were fired up. Starting their at-bat in the bottom of the sixth, designated hitter Adam Grzyb cranked a single to left field. However, with one down, Saucier made a diving catch in left field before doubling off the Bay Path base runner to end another promising inning for the Minutemen.

After Auburn plated its final two runs off a hit and an error in the top of the seventh, the Minutemen could get no closer to scoring, as the Rockets secured the 9-0 victory.

After season-opening loss, Sturbridge Legion Post 109 will ‘be all right’

Connor McCaffrey of Post 109 takes a slight lead off first base.

BY OLIVIA J. CAPPOLI
SPORTS CORRESPONDENT

STURBRIDGE — Looking ahead after its first game of the season, a positive-minded Jim Rosseel, manager of the Sturbridge American Legion Post 109 baseball squad, consistently used one phrase to describe his team’s efforts: “We’ll be all right.”

As the youngest team in Zone 4, a tough American Legion division, Rosseel’s group of talented players, ranging from ages 14 to 19, showed signs that they will be all right after they battled against an offensively powerful Northborough Post 234 team in a hard-fought 10-7 loss to begin the 2016 season on Friday, June 10.

When asked if the youth of his team puts them at a disadvantage, Rosseel said that it did, but only a little bit.

“We’ve just got to hold our composure,” he explained. “They’re getting their Legion experience right now, that’s invaluable. We were in it until the end and that’s all we ask. I think if I can hold them together, we’ll be a force to be reckoned with down the road.”

Northborough was one batter shy of sending its entire lineup to the batter’s box with three hits giving the team an early 3-0 advantage to begin its half of the first frame. With two outs recorded, Matt Maslowski put the first run on the board when his single past the dive of the shortstop allowed Nolan Kessinger to come around from second. In the next two at-bats, Northborough continued to make Sturbridge pitcher Dan Gilligan work. Ross Grasso sent what should have been an inning-ending fly ball into right, but the ball got lost in the sun and turned into an RBI triple. The third Northborough run of the first crossed home plate on Owen Lyons’ RBI infield single to the shortstop as the inning concluded with a fly ball to left.

After Post 234 made Gilligan work, Sturbridge made pitcher Charles “Chuck” Gallagher put in some work of his own as Northborough watched their 3-0 advantage quickly vanish.

Connor McCaffrey started off the inning with a single into left before Gallagher gave up a walk to Gilligan to put runners at first and second with two outs. With one swing of the bat, Tyler Stoever put Sturbridge within one at 3-2 with a two-RBI double that fell into the right-center gap.

It was a battle of the bats for the remainder of the game as the score continued to fluctuate from inning to inning.

A passed ball allowed Northborough to go up 4-2 in the top of the second, but Sturbridge once again put the game within one thanks to Gilligan’s sacrifice fly into right in the third frame. Northborough then went up 5-3 on Lyons’ RBI double into center, yet Sturbridge did not allow them to enjoy its regained lead for long. In the fifth inning, Sturbridge put two runs back on the board to equalize the game at 5-5.

Gallagher allowed a double that grazed the left field line to McCaffrey, who scored the fourth Sturbridge run after Brannon McMullen connected for an RBI triple that found its way into right-center. Keegan Moynahan squared the game at 5-5 as his single slipped through the left side to plate McMullen from third.

With the score now evened, the young Sturbridge squad displayed that they were there to win.

Northborough, however, had other plans. Back-to-back singles and early sixth inning miscues by Sturbridge allowed Northborough to regain the 6-5 edge. An RBI triple into the right field gap by Grasso chased Gilligan from the game with Northborough now ahead 7-5 as Abdiel Ramos stepped on the mound in relief. Ramos got a warm welcome from the first batter he faced in Harrison Sandorfi, as he Sandorfi connected for an RBI single into right to bring in Lyons to stretch the lead to 9-5.

Besides being able to hit the ball well, the young Sturbridge squad was also good at battling when its backs were against the wall. For Rosseel, that is what a coach wants to see in a team.

“They didn’t give up,” he said. “This league is a whole different animal than high school.”

Mike Scorzelli made his way to the mound to close out the game for Northborough, yet Sturbridge was not ready to let them walk away with the win. In the bottom of the sixth, Post 109 chipped the four-run deficit down to two.

Scorzelli fanned the first batter he faced, but things went south for him afterward. The defense ran into some trouble as they allowed the next two batters to reach safely and found themselves in a bases loaded rut after Scorzelli drew a walk to McCaffrey. McMullen then singled through the left side to plate Jared Langevin to make it 9-6. Sturbridge kept its comeback hopes alive with score at 9-7 thanks to Mick Sullivan sliding safely into home on a passed ball, but that was all the runs they could produce. After Northborough added its 10th and final run in the seventh, Scorzelli retired the side in order to help lift his team to the 10-7 victory.

With the first game in the books, Rosseel already had his eyes set on what his team needed to focus on in forthcoming games.

“We’ve got to make the plays that we should make,” he said. “There was a couple that we should have made and we didn’t. We need to make the plays that we should and minimize the errors that we shouldn’t have made and they were costly. We’re young and we’ll learn.”

UPDATE:

Sturbridge Post 109 sat at 0-3 following a 10-0 loss to Grafton Hill and a 9-3 setback to Framingham, as of Monday, June 13.

of planning ahead to get this stuff taken care of.”

Dudley’s Board of Selectmen will remain as it has for the past few years with incumbent selectmen Jonathan Ruda and Paul Joseph each securing the two available seats on the board with 320 and 261 votes, respectively. After the tally was revealed, Ruda said he is looking forward to continuing to work on the Board of Selectmen to lead Dudley toward a brighter future.

“I appreciate the confidence the voters have shown by re-electing me for my third term,” Ruda told the Webster Times. “I look forward to continuing to do the things that we do well and working on the things we need to improve on. I think the last six months have not been the finest for Dudley and I’d like to get us back on course.”

Joseph showed his own gratitude as voters elected him for his fifth consecutive term. While Joseph and Ruda were unopposed, the threat of a competitive write-in is always a possibility and Joseph said he was humbled and grateful to be reelected as a member of a very successful Board of Selectmen.

“I’m grateful the people recognize that you don’t tinker with a board that functions really well,” Joseph said. “Every one of the five selectmen is intelligent, articulate and brings a unique set of skills to the table. I’ve had so many people from nearby towns as well as Dudley say they used to watch the meetings for Monday night fights, but this board is so effective so I’m grateful for that.”

Joseph said he too feels Dudley has a bright future ahead, specifically when it comes to economic growth, which he targeted as a priority for his fifth term on the board.

“Now that we have a really well qualified and expanded Economic Development Committee I’d like us to look at developing ways to decrease the tax burden on residential properties and try to find ways to bring in good clean assembly warehousing businesses and see if there is any way we can improve the infrastructure out West Main Street, through Quinebaug and up towards Southbridge. I’d like to see us open up both sides of those roads where available to additional commercial and clean industrial organizations. That’s a goal,” he said.

Elsewhere on the ballot, Ora Finn secured 344 votes to maintain the position of Town Clerk,

Catherine Mahoney Kabala was re-elected to the Dudley-Charlton Regional School District Committee for another term with 302 votes, Timothy Schur was re-elected to the Southern Worcester Country Regional Vocational School District board with 301 votes, Roberta Johnson secured 306 votes to start her first term on the Board of Health, Thomas Fournier was re-elected as Water and Sewer Commissioner with 299 votes, Pellegrino J. D’Auria joined the Housing Authority with 309 votes and both Patricia Korch and Richard Clark were elected to the Library

Trustees with 306 votes and 272 votes respectively. Several seats with no specific candidate named on the ballot also received attention with 39 write-ins for the vacant Town Assessor seat, 19 write-ins for the second available Water and Sewer Commissioner seat and 59 write-ins for a vacant seat on the Planning Board. The winners of these votes were not revealed to The Webster Times before press time.

Closing time for Oxford bars officially changed to 1 a.m.

and concerns gathered by the Oxford Police Department and received mixed reviews from citizens and bar owners with many of the issues focusing on Main Street business the Days End Tavern, one of four bars in the town that utilize the 2 a.m. closing option but most certainly the one that has seen the most success in the early morning hours. The Veteran’s Council, J. Anthony’s Italian Grill and The Whistle Stop also have permits to remain open until 2 a.m. during the week.

In order to obtain feedback from bar owners and citizens the Oxford Board of Selectmen held off a decision on changing the closing time cutoff in town from May with a public hearing on June 7, where few citizens and bar owners attended to speak. Lt. Anthony Saad represented the Oxford Police Department at that hearing an reiterated the concerns his department had with safety with the 2 a.m. closing time allowing commuters to rush to Oxford for one more drink when bars in surrounding towns close. Police have noted the Days End Tavern specifically as a center of disruptive behavior in recent months.

“The less hands on that my guys are breaking up fights and dealing with drunks the better off we are and the less likely we are to sustain any injured on-duty claims,” said Saad. “Since the meeting on March 22 there have been nine additional incidents that we’ve had to deal with at that particular establishment, six of which now directly relate to the 2 a.m. closing issue. We had one disturbance, which we had to break up a couple of groups of guys who were getting ready to fight. We had a hit and run accident. We’ve had to deal with three intoxicated individuals and get them safely home and we’ve also had three assault issues that officers have had to deal with.”

Andrew Marsh was the sole member of the general public who spoke during the hearing and he said while he is not a drinker he believes the earlier closing time is a step in the right direction.

“I’m always in favor of public safety and if the chief of police thinks that this will be a benefit for public safety then I say go for it. Personally I can’t really think of why anyone would want to be up and active and driving around town past midnight,” Marsh said. “I think even 1 a.m. is generous.”

Selectman Michael Voas, who has been a heavy proponent of the change from the start, said he feels the change is the best decision the selectmen could make and that the issue is not just about violence and public safety, it’s also about quality of life.

“Its not only a public safety issue, it’s a public nuisance issue,” Voas said. “People live around these barrooms. I think the town goes above and beyond trying to do the best they can to help any business in town flourish, but it gets to the point where it’s diminishing returns and we have to be more concerned with the health and the wellbeing and the safety of our officers over what benefits having an extra hour of drinking in town.”

Voas said he understands that some establishments might face a hardship from the earlier closing, but he hopes they understand the intent behind the change is not malicious, but rather with the best intentions in mind.

Selectman John Saad has stood as the most undecided selectman on the issue throughout the debate but in the end agreed the change to a 1 AM closing was the way to go. Before taking the vote Saad said he wanted it to be clear that just because the Days End Tavern was at the center of the debate does not mean the decision was an attack on that establishment and that the decision needed to impact all bars and not just that one.

“We’ve given the opportunity to have the owners come in. They’ve all been notified. It affects their business. If they don’t have an argument to present forward I guess it makes our job a lot easier,” Saad said. “Oxford has always been business friendly. These bars and restaurants are part of the business community. We’ve always supported them. However, it makes it very difficult when you own and establishment with a liquor license because some things just get out of control no matter how hard you try to run a good establishment. You can’t regulate stupidity and that’s what happens when people drink, they do stupid things and they put other people’s lives in danger. I really don’t want this to be about one establishment because the license is issued to a number of establishments. This could happen to any of them. It just so happens that (the Days End) is in a central location and it gets a lot of attention and a lot of activity takes place in the center of town.”

Saad stressed that the Days End is not necessarily at fault and that if they were police reports would show it and that the bar owners in Oxford do their best to follow some of the strictest regulations in the region.

Bars that currently have permission to remain open until 2 a.m. will be permitted to continue to stay open under their current agreements with the town of Oxford, however as of Jan. 1, 2017, the rule will go into effect and the 2 a.m. closings for bars in town will be no more.

Antiques of our industrial past

With the rich manufacturing heritage in our area it is appropriate that I dedicate one of my columns to industrial antiques.

The minimalist design, sleek lines and sturdy construction of furniture used in factories and mills appeals to many decorators and collectors. Companies like O.C. White of Worcester produced machinist lamps with swing arms during the early 20th century that bring strong prices today. Carts that were used to wheel goods between stations in a factory are being repurposed and finding their way into homes as coffee tables or stands. With brick factories being transformed into apartment buildings, some of the signs and other objects that were once part of the factories are now being used to adorn the walls.

Pieces for storing items are also popular. Metal storage bins that held baskets for factory workers, parts bins and other vintage industrial metal storage units are highly sought after. Wooden storage bins also appeal to designers and those looking to furnish homes or businesses. Octagonal wooden carousels held triangular shaped drawers that were stenciled with the types of screws they held. We sold 2 of these at past auctions and they fetched prices in the high $100’s each. Printers’ cabinets, map, blueprint and chart cabinets are some of the other wooden storage pieces buyers crave.

Many industrial machine parts are repurposed. Artists and designers use machine gauges, cogs, gears and other parts to create decorative pieces. Steampunk is a genre of science fiction that uses Victorian era clothing, industrial parts and other pieces that may have been scrapped to create futuristic designs that some say were inspired by Jules Verne and H.G. Wells. Repurposing of old parts has created a niche market for these old industrial pieces.

Other antiques from the Second Industrial Revolution that took place during the late 1800’s and early 1900’s and later are also in demand. Country store pieces like spool cabinets, display cases, advertising signs and almost anything else with old advertising on it is desirable. Prices can range from hundreds to thousands of dollars. Decorators and collectors appreciate Americana and the nostalgia of old advertising pieces of all kinds.

Transportation related items are also coveted by collectors, dealers and designers. Vintage gas pumps, automobiles, motorcycles, advertising signs and other accessories continue to maintain strong interest and prices. Nautical items like brass ship telegraphs, brass diving helmets, compasses, ships’ clocks and steering wheels are just a few of the many items collectors desire. Engine bells, whistles, paymasters’ desks, lanterns and signs are just a few types of railroad memorabilia that are still on track with collectors.

The estate sale calendar has been very busy and we sometimes run multiple sales on weekends to meet client demand. Our next live auction takes place August 25th. # ISGW ruled to have no ‘legal standing’ to buy property use violated its standing under 61A, and if it were to be used for a cemetery changes to its status would need to be made and certain rights of the town relinquished for the applicants to actually own the land.

“If a property owner who is under 61A wishes to change the use of the property from agricultural to nonagricultural, or to sell the property for a purpose that is nonagricultural, that individual is required to give notice of intent to sell to the Board of Selectmen, and the selectmen then have 120 days to exercise a right of first refusal,” Brackett told citizens and the Zoning Board.
Brackett said he has provided correspondence to the members of the board, revealing that Town Administrator Greg Balukonis has reached out to the owner of the property, Annabelle Moninski, who currently resides in Harmony, Maine, advising her of her responsibilities under Chapter 61A in May.
“Since that time I have spoken with Ms. Moninski by phone, following up on the letter sent by Mr. Balukonis. I’ve explained to her that we are awaiting the notice of intent to be presented to the Board of Selectmen,” Brackett said. “She indicated that there was some misunderstanding on her part early on, but that she had requested an attorney to take care of preparing the notice of intent.”

Brackett said that the fact that the town was not informed of the intent to sell through the requirements of Chapter 61A left the Zoning Board in a precarious situation, with the Board considering an application for the use of the property by an entity that has no legal standing with the property in question as they do not yet own the property and the town still has not acted on its right of first refusal.
“Technically, in my opinion, the Islamic Society of Greater Worcester does not have the proper legal standing at this point because their interest in the property is clouded by the notice of intent requirement and the action by the Board of Selectmen,” Brackett said.
This issue did not sit well with representatives of the Islamic Society of Greater Worcester, with Amjad Bahnassi, an outspoken supporter of the project at past meetings and a representative of the society’s Board of Directors, saying that the Zoning Board should have started the process of informing the applicants that they didn’t have legal standing. While several people in attendance, including town counsel, said that the Islamic Society and their attorney should have been aware of the situation Bahnassi made a point to note that the Zoning Board was also seemingly uneducated in the details of the property through-out this process as well.
“Everyone applies to the Zoning Board before they get whole possession of the land,” Bahnassi said. “If that was the case why weren’t we told that from the first meeting? The point is if we didn’t have any legal standing on applying for this then on day one (the Zoning Board) should have said that since we were not legal owners of the property we could not apply. No one told us that, but the procedure went through.”

The project’s Civil Engineer Imad Zrein of DeVellis Zrein, Inc. said the Islamic Society has not intention to impede on the town’s right of first refusal and that the applicants are simply trying to go through the appropriate processes as they are laid out by the town of Dudley.
“We know this is the town’s right to exercise the right of first refusal. The applicants are not challenging that right. We’re not challenging that right. It’s just a matter of going through the channels,” said Zrein. “We’re not fighting the 61A issue. It is a right the town has and if they choose to take it we’ll walk away from it.”
Zoning Board member John Glynn shed some light on his board’s perspective concerning the property’s standing at a 61A designated property and the Zoning Board’s lack of action sooner in regards to the right of first refusal. Glynn clarified that the Zoning Board was not aware that the property was under Chapter 61A in January when the application was received and over the past few months this information has come to light. Since then that designation has put a “cloud over the issue,” as he put it, and the town has received support from its taxpayers to explore the possibility of utilizing the right of first refusal to buy the land with a matching bid.

“(The Islamic Society) is not a property owner and they’re parties to a contract that the town has a superceding interest in. We only listen to people that have title to the property or prospective title and they are on notice that their prospective title is subject to the town’s superceding interest so therefore they are not an appropriate applicant,” Glynn said.
Brackett seemed to support this statement and noted that regardless of the Zoning Board’s notion of the Chapter 61A designation on the property the applicants and their attorney also had a responsibility to be educated in the status of the land and they weren’t.
“The obvious slogan for any party purchasing land is ‘buyer beware’ and the fact that it was in an agricultural use or had been in that use was certainly not a hidden factor for this 55 acres of property,” Brackett said. “The Islamic Society and their attorney were under the same requirement to inquire about that as the owner and her attorney to provide the proper notice. I’ve reached out to the attorney for the Islamic Society and he doesn’t agree with my interpretation.”
The Zoning Board agreed unanimously to deny the request, but Glynn was very specific in ensuring that everyone understand that the application itself was not denied, rather the Islamic Society’s right to seek a permit was denied.

“I want it to be clear to the public that they have not been denied a special permit for the cemetery. They’ve been denied the ability to seek one because they don’t have standing and if the town does not buy the property they have the absolute right to come back as a contingent purchaser to seek a special permit. I want that in the record,” Glynn stated.
In May the voters of Dudley passed a symbolic line item at Dudley’s Annual Town Meeting approving the town’s ability to utilize the right of first refusal when it comes to the table. According to Mr. Brackett, once the application to remove the land from 61A designation is received, which must be filed for it to be used outside of agricultural purposes, the town’s selectmen would need a vote of approval from a town meeting to appropriate the funds and a ballot vote would need to pass for a debt exclusion for the purchase to be finalized. As of this report the property was listed for $359,900 and if the town refuses to buy the property then the process of the Islamic Society bringing it’s cemetery to town will start all over again should they choose to continue pursuing their plans.

11 questions to ask when hiring a real estate agent

Most people only hire a real estate agent a few times in their life. For many, this process can be scary and intimidating because you are entrusting someone with your largest asset. There is no reason to fear if you know what questions to ask and what you should be looking for answers.
1) How long have you been selling real estate? This is a great question to understand if they are brand new or have been in the business for 30 years. Neither is bad nor good since the newer agent may be willing to work harder for the sale and if they have an experienced agent helping them it will be like getting the experienced agent and at the same time having someone with that experience is invaluable.
2) How many homes did you sell last year? I think this is more important than years of experience because this shows experience in this current market.
3) What is your marketing plan? This is important to ask so you don’t assume they are doing something like taking professional photos when they just planned on taking the pictures with their smart phone.
4) How long does it take you to sell homes? You want them to supply data on how long it on average takes them to get an offer on their listings compared to Hirinother agents.
5) What is your list price to sales price ratio? This will help you to see that not all agents are created equally and if you hire the right agent you will actually make more money when selling your home.
6) Can you provide me with testimonials and even references? If we interview for a job they always ask for references, why not ask for references from the agent because they are interviewing for a job.
7) Why should I hire you over another agent? I don’t think there is a right or wrong answer for this one but I think it will help you to see how they handle themselves with tough questions because this is a similar question to why should I buy this over another house.
8) Are you an individual agent or

REPORT

do you have a team? Another question that I don’t think has a right or wrong answer. Many agents have teams that have specialized people for each step of the process. Other agents will run the whole transaction themselves. If the team has cohesi veness then I think that is the best option but if there is not good communication then the individual agent could be a better option. You should find these answers in your reference checks.
9) What are your standards for returning phone call and e-mails? This is important to ensure you know what to expect when you have questions but also if a buyer calls on your home are they getting a call back within an hour or will it be 2 days and they already decided to buy another home. Another great question is when someone calls on your home who gets that call? Is it going directly to that agent, to their team or just anyone in their office. You just want to make sure it is being routed to someone who has a stake in selling your home.
10) What happens when you are out of the office? Make sure when your agent goes on vacation that your home does not go on vacation. This is an advantage of a real estate team to ensure there is coverage when the agent is out or ensure they have someone they partner with who will be covering everything when they are out.
11) Are you a Realtor? This question is important because a Realtor is held to a higher level of standards and ethics. It doesn’t mean someone who isn’t a Realtor doesn’t have high ethics but it is another way to confirm they are being held to a higher standard.
These are only a handful of great questions to ask but it is a great place to start and should hopefully help you feel a little more confident next time you sit down with a real estate agent to help you sell your home.

Don’t keep family in the dark about your plans

You might work diligently at building a financial road-map for your retirement years and a comprehensive estate plan. But you can’t just create these strategies – you also have to communicate them. Specifically, you need to inform your spouse and your grown children what you have in mind for the future – because the more they know, the fewer the surprises that await them down the road.
Let’s start with your spouse. Ideally, of course, you and your spouse should have already communicated about your respective ideas for retirement and have come to an agreement on the big issues, such as when you both plan to retire, where you’ll live during retirement, and what you want to do as retirees (volunteer, travel, work part time and so on).
But what you both might have let slip through the cracks are the important specifics related to financing your retirement. You’ll need to answer several questions, including these:
When will you each start taking Social Security?
Are there strategies for maximizing both of your Social Security payments?
When will you need to start tapping into your respective retirement accounts, such as your IRA and 401(k)? And, once you do start withdrawing from these accounts, how much should you take out each year?
You may want to work with a financial professional to address these issues, but however you proceed, you and your spouse need to be “on the same page” regarding the key financial components of your retirement.
Now, consider your grown children. You need to clearly communicate your estate plans to them, not only for the sake of openness and honesty, but also because they may well play active roles within those plans. So when talking to your children, make sure you cover these areas:
Durable power of attorney – You

may well decide to give one of your grown children the durable power of attorney to pay bills and make financial choices on your behalf if you are unable to do so.
Estate executor – An executor is the person or entity you name in your will to carry out your wishes. An executor has a variety of responsibilities, so you’ll want to choose someone who is honest and capable of dealing with legal and financial matters. Again, you could ask a grown child to serve as your executor, but, to avoid potential conflict of interests among your children, you might want to go outside the family. Talk with an attorney about how best to name your executor.
Status of will and living trust – Assuming you have already drawn up a will, share it with your grown children. The same is true with a living trust, a popular estate-planning tool that may allow your survivors to avoid going through the time-consuming, public and expensive process of probate. A will and a living trust will obviously contain a great deal of information your children should know about – so take the time to explain your thinking when you created these documents.
You want to enjoy a comfortable retirement, and you want to leave a meaningful legacy through your estate plans. To help accomplish both these goals, you need to include your loved ones in your arrangements – so open those lines of communication.

Father knows best: Part 1

Even at my tallest he still stood almost a foot taller than me. He always stood up straight and had an air of confidence. Maybe it was the military in him, or maybe it was the strict religious upbringing he had, but almost anyone who met him from afar felt a slight intimidation by him. To me, he was the most handsome, smart, talented man in the world. He taught me how to drive, how to pilot a boat, build a retaining wall, landscape a garden, send my very first email, build a fire, and cook the best soups many people have ever tasted.

This was my dad. He was strict with me, I knew there was very little I could get away with and I knew he was always watching. Until I was in my twenties I honestly thought my dad could see everything I did and knew about it before I even thought of doing it. I learned that pulling over to call him from a payphone at midnight because I was running late for curfew was better than just walking in the house late and hoping no one would notice.

The phrase “daddy’s girl” did not apply to me until I was in my late teens. Many people with an amazing father can say they have wonderful memories their entire life, but I cannot say the same. Throughout my entire life my dad and I had a rocky relationship. Having had a rough childhood with infrequent visits with my dad gave me a lot of animosity towards him. When I was 7 my dad got remarried and that didn’t sit well with me. He married a woman who had two (grown) children herself, I was the baby, but I was petrified I would no longer be my daddy’s baby girl anymore. No longer was I the one and only sunshine in his life, and that didn’t sit well with me. Throughout my adolescence and teenage years I became very separated from him. He tried to be my dad, my role model, but I wanted nothing to do with it.

As every kid does, I went through a period of time in my late teen years where I was finding myself. Through all the crud I put him through he was there to pick up the pieces every time, but he always did it with a “I refuse to take any bull-poop from you” attitude. And that is what I needed most even if I didn’t realize it then. When I cried my dad wasn’t there to wipe the tears away, he was there to stand me back up, tell me to go wash my face, and come back and figure out the problem. When I had my first heart break I flew home from across the country and my dad didn’t welcome me with open arms, he greeted me with a rational thought of “what now.” When I got overwhelmed taking care of my finances he didn’t write me a check, he sat down with me and wrote every single thing I owed on the back of an envelope and made me face it. My dad is the reason I joke when things get tough, face every problem with a solution and not emotion, and make large pots of soup in the middle of the winter when I feel stressed.

I am sure there are lots of people who wouldn’t want a dad like mine. But I wouldn’t want any other dad.

My dad’s health started deteriorating a little over 10 years ago. I couldn’t even list all his ailments because part of me can’t keep track and the other part blocked many of them out. Between heart attacks, a bone marrow transplant, dangerously irregular blood sugar, failing memory, chemo, and a slew of other things that he has to live with each day, I would always rather pretend he is just fine. He has always been a gruff and slightly grumpy crass man, but his mood has become more defeated over the years. He is not a fighter and never has been. So when he wants to storm away, or get up and stress cook, he can’t. While he is still mobile, he is limited and not well. So many times he has just wanted to give up, but the mere thought even came with a hefty price. He will never get down on his knees and plant a lilac bush again, he will never get behind the wheel of a car and drive listening to his favorite doo-wop, he will never steer a boat into the open waters and enjoy the spray on his tanned skin. But he will be there to watch my kids excel in life. He will be there to answer the phone when my son wants to call and talk about his school event, or my daughter wants to babble something incoherent to him over the phone that only makes sense to her, he will be there. In two years my husband and I will celebrate

The festival opens Friday night, June 17, at 5 p.m. until 11 p.m. Seafood Specials of fish and chips, clam chowder and fritters will be featured, as well as Polish and American foods. On Saturday, June 18, the festival will be open from noon until 11 p.m. At 1:30 p.m., St. Joseph School will hold a Talent Show, and from 3 pm to 4 p.m., the Polish-American folk group, PIAST, will perform. At 4 p.m., the annual Festival Mass will be held in St. Joseph Basilica. And then once again, from 6 pm until 10 p.m., Maestro's men will take the stage with your favorite polka music.

On Sunday, June 19th, the festival will open at noontime with an Old Fashioned Chicken Barbeque Dinner, from Noon to 1:30 p.m., which includes half BBQ chicken, baked potato, coleslaw, roll and butter. The children's choirs will perform at 2 p.m., and the Pakachoag Fiddlers Group will perform from 2:30 to 3 p.m. A polka DJ will be playing all your favorite polka tunes from noon until 4 p.m.

Featured all weekend long will be Polish and American food and Spirits, live music, Raffles, 50/50, Games of Chance, Crafts, Polish Booth, Pastry Booth, Kids games, Bounce House, adult games of fun, Dice Wheel, Blackjack, Seven Under/Over, Dunk Tank, Corn hole Tournament, Hoop Shoots and much more.

All raffles will start at 4 pm on Sunday, June 19th. A total of $5,250 in prizes will be raffled off in the Money Raffle. First prize is $3,000; 2nd prize is $1500 and 3rd prize will be $750. Yard salers: Neighbors await your visit SOUTHBIDGE — The "Annual Multi-Family Yard Sale at the Top of Morris Street in Southbridge" will begin at 9 a.m. Saturday, June 18.

The rain date is Saturday, June 25.

The area has grown to include Maria Avenue, Arland Drive and Apollo Drive. As in the past, many neighbors will be set up. There are usually more than 30 families who will have their stuff on display. When you walk around the neighborhood you never know what you will find. Pick up your usual cup of morning coffee and head out early if you plan on making a lot of stops. We are all praying for sunshine so we will not have to reschedule.

This long-running annual event which began in 1988 has now reached three generations. Some neighbors who participated in the beginning are still setting up and now have their grandchildren by their side. It really has developed into is a "family affair."

Also this year, the American Cancer Society is holding its annual "Relay For Life" event at McMahon Field on Dresser Street on Friday, June 17 and Saturday, June 18. One way you can support the Relay is to stop at Paula Martin's house at 374 Morris St. and see what she has to offer. She will be donating any money raised to the ACS's Relay For Life.

Nearby, at 385 Morris St., Coby and Calle Merchant will be set up hoping for a good turnout because they both have special plans for the money they raise. Baseball player Coby will be competing in a week-long baseball tournament for 12-year-olds in Cooperstown, N.Y. in August and 9-year-old Calle, who loves to dance, has been invited to dance in the opening number of the National Convention of Dancers Inc. in Hyannis in July. They would love to make enough money to but some souvenirs. Take a peak and see what they have on their tables.

Should you choose to venture out for a day of fun and visiting with friends, make sure to wear comfortable clothes and walking shoes because you will be covering quite a big distance. Some yard-salers prefer to park their cars and walk the entire distance while others choose to move their cars occasionally so they do not have to carry their treasures very far. Either way, the families at the top of Morris Street anxiously await your arrival.

So, pray to the Rain Gods so they may keep the rain away. See you soon!

WEBSTER

"Team Barbara," from the Webster Alzheimer's Support Group, will be sponsoring a fundraiser at Point Breeze Restaurant, 114 Point Breeze Road, Webster, on Thursday, June 23. A portion of the cost of the ticket will be donated to the Alzheimer's Association Walk to be held on Sept. 25, where approximately 4,000 people walk for loved ones who are now struggling with the disease, have died from the disease, who support or care for someone with the disease, or someone who actually has the disease. Monies are needed for research to help find a cause and cure for this dreadful disease that over-takes the minds of so many people, young and old. We ask your help and support to make this become a reality.

The buffet style meal will consist of ziti with meatballs, chicken, salad, dinner rolls, coffee, pastry, casual dining, open seating, from 6-7 p.m. Doors open at 5:30 p.m., raffles after dinner, cash donations $20/adult, $12/child (4-12), Tickets are limited to 200 and may be purchased by calling 508-943-2142 weekdays between the hours of 3-7 p.m. If no answer, leave a message.

Fattman invites students to join Senate Advisory Committee

BOSTON — State Sen. Ryan C. Fattman (R-Webster) would like to invite high school students within the Worcester Norfolk district to join the 2016-2017 Student Advisory Committee, starting in the fall of 2016.

The group of students meets with the senator every two months. When the committee meets, students are invited to debate new ideas, discuss topics of concern with the Senator, offer up advice on how to improve the Commonwealth, and learn about the intricacies of holding office.

“This is a fantastic opportunity for students to become involved and begin to understand the impact they can have on state and local government,” said Fattman. “This past year over 18 students join me for meetings throughout the district and at the State House to discuss pertinent issues involving our state and millennials.”

For any prospective students wishing to apply, please reach out to Benjamin Mitchell in Senator Fattman’s office at Benjamin.mitchell@masenate.gov with a resume and cover letter. Please call 617-722-1420 with any questions or comments.

Brookside Rehab feeds first responders

WEBSTER — Staff and residents of Brookside Rehabilitation & Healthcare Center held a “First Responders Cookout” to give back to firefighters, police officers and EMS personnel in Webster.

At the April 27 event, guests enjoyed dry-rubbed and barbeque ribs, burgers, potato and macaroni salads, coleslaw and homemade desserts. Because many first responders were on shift and unable to attend the cookout, Brookside food service director Ed Troy and maintenance director Joe Forget delivered 35 meals to the fire, police and EMS stations.

“Joe came up with the great idea to give back to our dedicated first responders in Webster,” said Troy. “We plan to make this an annual event and look forward to firing up the grill for our firefighters, police officers and medical emergency crews again next April.”

Fattman invites students to join Senate Advisory Committee

BOSTON — State Sen. Ryan C. Fattman (R-Webster) would like to invite high school students within the Worcester Norfolk district to join the 2016-2017 Student Advisory Committee, starting in the fall of 2016. The group of students meets with the senator every two months. When the committee meets, students are invited to debate new ideas, discuss topics of concern with the Senator, offer up advice on how to improve the Commonwealth, and learn about the intricacies of holding office.

“This is a fantastic opportunity for students to become involved and begin to understand the impact they can have on state and local government,” said Fattman. “This past year over 18 students join me for meetings throughout the district and at the State House to discuss pertinent issues involving our state and millennials.”

For any prospective students wishing to apply, please reach out to Benjamin Mitchell in Senator Fattman’s office at Benjamin.mitchell@masenate.gov with a resume and cover letter. Please call 617-722-1420 with any questions or comments.

Catholic Charities receives grant from Malser Trust

Catholic Charities Worcester County is pleased to announce that it is the recipient of a $10,000 grant from the Janet Malser Humanities Trust to assist residents in Webster, Dudley and Oxford.

The “Helping Hand Project” will stabilize households with their basic needs and provide direction and guidance to help them manage their future needs. Case managers will help people needing assistance by providing case management for basic needs, direct client financial and/or material assistance as resources allow, household budgeting review and guidance and financial education on selected topics. The Project will begin on July 1.

“I felt enormous relief and gratitude upon learning that our Helping Hand project awarded $10,000 from the Janet Malser Humanities Trust,” said Lisa Genest, Area Administrator of the Southbridge Office that serves the region.

“The recent years have been trying for many families in the communities of Dudley, Oxford and Webster. Our staff often sees a family that has full time employment being unable to pay rent or utilities when they are beset with an unexpected expense, such as when a vehicle repair is needed or if they miss any work due to illness or an injury,” she explains. “With this grant we will be better positioned to partner with families to stabilize their situation and chart a pathway of hope to a brighter future.”

People needing assistance may be referred by other providers and organizations or they may contact the Southbridge office directly for services.

Fire, Police graduate Advanced Fire Investigation Course

State Fire Marshal Peter J. Ostroskey and Massachusetts Firefighting Academy Director George Kramlinger are pleased to announce 24 public safety officials completed the Massachusetts Firefighting Academy’s six-day Advanced Fire Investigation course on Wednesday, April 27.

This rigorous professional training provides public safety professionals with the advanced skills to accurately determine the origin and cause of fires in their jurisdictions and together, build solid, prosecutable cases.

State Fire Marshal Ostroskey said, “The team concept of fire investigation has been used successfully in Massachusetts for over 20 years and it starts with joint training.”

He added, “When police and fire are trained in the same techniques and procedures together, the consistency leads to accurate origin and cause determinations, and when arson is the cause, solid criminal cases.”

Massachusetts Firefighting Academy Director George Kramlinger said, “This course provides students with fire scene experience from investigation through courtroom testimony. They are exposed to the investigatory process as outlined in the National Fire Protection Association Standard 921: Guide for Fire and Explosion Investigations.”

The 24 graduates, including three local police officers, three Massachusetts State Police officers, one Department of Fire Services Code Compliance Officer and 17 firefighters, include

- Robert A. Silver Jr., Millbury Fire Department, Assistant Chief
- David M. Sheridan, Oxford Fire Department, EMT-B
- Michael J. Gadbois, Spencer Fire Department, Captain
- Christopher E. Inzerillo, Spencer Police Department, Police Officer
- Kevin P. Adams, Webster Fire Department, Lieutenant

The six-day advanced fire investigation course covers the concepts of fire behavior, scene examination, fire scene documentation, evidence collection, witness interviewing, and management of major fire investigations in more depth than the basic fire investigation class. It also addresses the legal issues of managing fire scenes, evidence collection, and concludes with practical exercises of participating in the courtroom process. Students give mock depositions and participate in both a mock grand jury and a mock trial. The program covers unintentional fires, intentionally set fires, and fatal fires.

Students learn how to effectively collect evidence samples, how and when to avail themselves of resources such as accelerant-detection canines, state police fire investigators in the Office of the State Fire Marshal, and technical experts such as electricians.

Fire investigators work to first determine the point of origin of the fire and then its cause. Once they are able to determine where the fire started, they often rely on witness statements to identify the possible sources of ignition at that point and then work to eliminate each possible ignition source, one by one, until they are left with only one most probable cause. Fire investigators are trained to examine a fire scene by going from the minimum amount of burn damage to the point or points with the maximum amount of burn damage. The rationale being that the fire has been burning longest where the most damage is and that is often where the fire began. In addition, they learn to identify fire patterns which can help investigators determine the intensity and duration of the fire, and the direction in which it spread.

Massachusetts uses a witness-driven protocol of fire investigation. Investigators want to interview people who know the building or saw the fire start as quickly as possible while memories are fresh or before those displaced by the fire become hard to locate. Investigators compare the witness statements to the evidence found in the forensic scene examination to determine the cause of the fire. With possibly a large number of people to interview quickly, the benefit of the added manpower a team investigation brings is clear. Investigators compare notes and often need to re-interview witnesses for clarification. A deep understanding of fire behavior is essential to evaluating witness statements.

Ostroskey said, “It is a challenge to determine the cause of the fire when so much of the needed evidence is destroyed by the fire itself. Fires can also create evidence, which assists investigators. This training provides our local fire and police investigators with the skills and knowledge to meet that challenge.”

This course was developed in accordance with NFPA Standard 921: Guide for Fire and Explosion Investigations and NFPA Standard 1033: Professional Qualifications for Fire Investigator.

The Massachusetts Firefighting Academy, a division of the Department of Fire Services, offers this program, tuition-free.
