Baker rolls out second phase of reopening plan

BY KEVIN FLANDERS
STAFF WRITER

REGION – A new set of local businesses began welcoming back customers last week, as Gov. Charlie Baker launched the second phase of his reopening plan.

With Coronavirus cases continuing to decline statewide, the second phase of reopening went into effect on June 8. State officials continue to carefully monitor the number of new COVID-19 cases and deaths, and the second phase is expected to last at least three weeks.

Most notable in the second phase is the return of in-person dining at restaurants (outdoor table service only). Also returning are the following businesses:

- Retail, with occupancy limits
- Childcare facilities and day camps, with detailed guidance
- Hotels and other lodgings (no events, functions, or meetings)
- Warehouses and distribution centers
- Personal services without close physical contact, such as home cleaning, photography, window washing, career coaching, and education tutoring
- Post-secondary, higher education, vocational-tech, and occupation schools for the purpose of completing graduation requirements
- Youth and adult amateur sports, with detailed guidance
- Outdoor recreation facilities
- Non-athletic youth instructional classes in arts, education, or life skills (in groups of less than ten)
- Driving and flight schools
- Outdoor historical spaces (no functions, gatherings, or guided tours)
- Funeral homes, with occupancy limits

State officials have been encouraged by the data over the last month-plus, but they urge residents not to become complacent.

“Since mid-April, the seven-day average for the positive COVID-19 test rate is down 82 percent, the three-day average of hospitalized patients is down 55 percent, and the number of hospitals in surge is down 76 percent,” read a statement released by Governor Baker’s office.

A total of 630,000 viral COVID-19 tests have been completed statewide, and testing continues to increase throughout the state. Officials continue to promote social distancing and the use of face masks, which has helped swing the battle against COVID-19 in recent months.

Also part of the second phase of reopening, health-care providers may begin incrementally resuming in-person elective, non-urgent procedures and services. These include routine office visits, dental visits, and vision care exams. Telehealth services must continue to be utilized and prioritized to the greatest extent possible, officials said.

Limited resumption of visitation at hospitals and nursing homes will also begin later this month. All visitation approvals will require the use of social distancing and face coverings.

“Given the diversity of facilities and programs, there are specific timetables for visitation. Care programs will be reaching out to families with specific details on scheduling visits,” the Governor’s statement read.

The following businesses will be eligible to reopen in the state’s next phase, which will be announced at a later date:

- Indoor table service at restaurants
- Close-contact personal services
- Hair removal and replacement
- Nail care
- Skin care
- Massage therapy
- Makeup salons and makeup application services
- Tanning salons
- Tattoo, piercing, and body art services
- Personal training, with restrictions

Local churches form new partnership

AUBURN/OXFORD — It is with great joy that the parishes of Grace Episcopal Church, Oxford and St Thomas Episcopal Church, Auburn announce that they have entered into a partnership effective June 1.

Worship will be held at the Oxford church when the Diocese of Western Massachusetts allows in-person worship to begin again (no earlier than July 1). Until that date, the parishes will continue to worship with online, virtual services and events.

The partnership will be served by the Rev. Julia Dunbar as Priest-in-charge and the Reverend Audrey Cronin as Deacon.

The hope of both parishes is that the partnership will lead to a strong church that is a visible and helpful part of the Oxford and Auburn communities. Persons interested in becoming part of the Episcopal Church as this collaboration continues forward should check for updates at Facebook at: <https://www.facebook.com/GraceChurchOxford/> or <https://www.facebook.com/St.ThomasAuburnMa>.

Assumption confers 522 degrees to Class of 2020

WORCESTER — On May 10, Assumption conferred the degrees of 522 individuals who completed their studies at the culmination of the 2019-20 academic year. Local students include:

Ahmad Dawood, of Auburn received a bachelor’s degree in Chemistry.

Matthew Pugliese, of Auburn, received a bachelor’s degree in Actuarial Science.

On Sunday, May 10, the day on which the Class of 2020 was originally scheduled to receive their degrees at the College’s 103rd Commencement, Assumption virtually celebrated the candidates for graduation and their years of commitment to academic programs. Assumption President Francesco C. Cesareo, Ph.D., was joined by Provost and Academic Vice President Greg Wiener, Ph.D., and Vice President for Mission Father Richard Lamoureux, A.A. ‘64 for a Conferral of Degrees ceremony that was livestreamed from the Chapel of the Holy Spirit. The ceremony was followed by a Mass which included candidates for graduation who pre-recorded hymns and readings.

Assumption has rescheduled its annual commencement ceremony during which it will formally honor the graduates of the Class of 2020 for August 23.

When addressing the graduates virtually, President Cesareo acknowledged the unprecedented challenges the Class of 2020 faced in their final semester, namely making a swift shift to remote learning due to the global pandemic. “You have come to the end of your studies at Assumption under extraordinary circumstances. This has certainly been a difficult and challenging semester for your class. You have had to confront adversity and the unexpected,” he said. “You should be proud of the way in which you adapted to this situation, how you showed your resilience, strength, and ability to overcome challenging times.”

He added that while the COVID-19 pandemic has created many challenges for the Class of 2020, their Assumption education has and will help them thrive rather than simply endure. “Because of your education, you are able to view challenges as obstacles to overcome rather than a crisis to be endured,” he explained.

“Assumption has provided you with an education that prepared you to confront and to make sense of these personal and societal challenges. This pandemic has made the unique value of a Catholic liberal education like the one Assumption provides even more evident. The most important challenges our society faces in both overcoming and understanding this crisis involve more than technical problems, although those are an important part of an Assumption education, too. The essential issues are the deepest questions of the human heart, which transcend time and place,” he said, adding that ancient and modern thinkers have explored the questions regarding the meaning of life and human suffering.

Saint Augustine reminds us that these questions are ‘ever ancient, ever new.’ The Assumption education you received has prepared you for a changing world. Many institutions have forgotten these enduring questions.

CHARLTON — Food insecurity and hunger is a growing problem in America. COVID-19 has made it even more difficult for many people to access food and get the nutrition they need. United Way is helping those that are struggling to put food on their tables or have access to daily meals. As part of the United Way COVID-19 Fund, and with donations from local residents, United Way of South Central Massachusetts (UWSCM) is providing much needed funds to local food pantries and Tri-Valley, Inc.’s Meals on Wheels program.

A check was presented to the Charlton’s CHIP IN Food Pantry.

CHIP-In’s Director, Darlene Emco-Rollins, said, “This donation will allow them to purchase food for 16 cents a pound! Cash donations are worth more to them since they are able to purchase directly from Worcester Community Food Bank and USDA.”

She also stated that the CHIP In is open the third Saturday of the month and open to Charlton residents who needs food assistance.

The United Way will continue its COVID-19 Fund and will make future grants depending on the donations it receives over the next month. If you are interested in contributing to the fund, more information can be found on the United Way of South Central MA Web site at www.uwscm.org.

United Way of South Central MA functions as part of United Way Worldwide. United Way works with companies, governments, non-profits and other establishments to address complex challenges to help build stronger communities. Video, brochures promote Public Safety Building

BY JASON BLEAU
VILLAGER CORRESPONDENT

CHARLTON – Even though the COVID-19 pandemic slowed things down over the last few months work towards a new public safety building in Charlton has continued with the Public Safety Building Capital Campaign Steering Committee working on more ways to raise awareness for the need for the facility.

Steve Coleman and Noreen Smith, co-chairs of the capital campaign committee, joined the Charlton Board of Selectmen during a livestreamed meeting on June 9, revealing that the committee has been hard at work putting together a slew of resources to help promote the project and, potentially, bring in financial support from donors.

While voters in Charlton showed support for the initiative during a town meeting in 2019 a subsequent ballot vote to confirm the funding mechanism for the $28.5 million facility, which would house both the police and fire departments, failed. The capital campaign was started to offset part of the cost and has secured $8,000 to date.

The capital campaign committee worked with a company called Boston Freelance Media to put together a five-minute video to help promote the project with a heavy focus on the need for a new fire department in Charlton. The video was funded through a private donation and will be used to help promote the public safety building to both citizens and potential financial backers. The video is currently available on the TVCharltonmass YouTube channel.

"In the video, we encourage everybody to contact the police chief and fire chief to get a physical look at the buildings to actually get in there and see what's going on," Steve Coleman said. "Unfortunately, we know many people probably won't do that. I think the video at least provides that stopgap where they can get a handle on at least some of the struggles in the five minutes we were able to portray."

Other resources the committee has produced include a tri-fold brochure that summarizes the details available in the video and social media resources like a hashtag, #supportcharltonpsb, and a downloadable frame Facebook users can add to their photos to show their support for the project. While these resources are ultimately meant to help promote the project, Coleman said they will also assist in overcoming one of the biggest hurdles the committee faces by making sure residents are properly informed.

"Part of our goal is also to assist the building committee itself in raising awareness and getting the right information out there. The amount of misinformation that I hear on the street is somewhat overwhelming and shocking to me so to be able to get the right information out there is important. One of the things that the committee is going to do in conjunction with the building committee is we're probably going to hold a couple of public outreach sessions through Zoom. Unfortunately, we're still not able to get together (in person) at this point but we want to give people the opportunity to come on and ask questions of not only the capital campaign committee but also the building committee," said Coleman.

Selectman John McGrath shared his thoughts on what he believes is pervasive misinformation designed to sideline the project. He feels there is a core group of individuals in town campaigning against the project and see that as a significant roadblock the building committee and capital campaign committee must manage.

"Please take a look at who is putting the information out there," McGrath said as a message to the public. "The people that have the most to gain from shooting us down are the large landowners. Most of them own very large tracks of land that they have either not developed yet or they're in the process of developing and they're tax burden is going to go up on this incrementally for their holdings. Please look at who ran the last campaign against the building and funding it and please look at who is putting out the information. View this with filtered glasses as to the reasoning why they want to do this. It has happened with many large projects in town through the years. They're well-funded and they have a financial interest in shooting this down."

Other members of the Board of Selectmen voiced their support for the project and thanked the capital campaign committee for their hard work. Selectman Bill Borowski implored citizens with questions and concerns to see the current fire and police departments for themselves.

"If you have any questions take a tour. Truly it takes fifteen minutes, twenty minutes maximum. You guys should be enlightened by the amount of disrepair in both buildings and it's really not an exaggeration once you actually see it. If you have the opportunity, tunity, the staff over there will always have time for you," Borowski said. Selectman Karen Spiewak made her support for the project clear calling it a "need, not a want" especially for the safety of the town's firefighters.

"It's the safety of our first responders and remember it's their job to get to us to save our lives. So I really hope as everyone finds out more and more about the project they'll understand that and they'll look at the numbers and the safety factors. All I've ever asked anyone ever is you have the right to vote whichever way you want but be informed. Learn about it and then make your decision," said Spiewak.

Before closing the discussion, Selectman Deborah Noble made one recommendation to the capital campaign committee, that they produce something focusing on the financial aspect of the project to help further inform citizens and investors. The recommendation was welcomed by the committee as a "great suggestion."

But tomorrow
may rain, so I'll follow
the sun

Well, here we are at the start of summer. We've survived a mild winter, but winter nonetheless. The days are longer. The sun is shining brighter. Now that warmer days have arrived, it makes the current closures a bit easier to manage.

While we will miss summer festivals and live music, there is still plenty to do to soak up a fun filled, relaxing summer. While we're out in our kayaks, hiking in the White Mountains, or enjoying an afternoon fishing at the river, don't forget about the many health benefits that come along with this amazing season.

Sunlight acts as an aid to regulate our bodies and gives us more motivation to improve our lives. During the summer months there is a reduced number of heart attacks. One study, including 11,000 individuals, showed that over nine years, the survival rate increased by almost 20 percent if the incident took place in the summertime. One theory is that the increase in vitamin D, plays a role.

During the summer months people are more likely to eat more fruits and vegetables. Diets become more green and healthier. We all know the more colorful the diet, the healthier we are. We could argue that the all time best cereal invented, Fruity Pebbles could be just as healthy, but we would be wrong.

Warmer months means clearer skin for many. Now that we are older (some of us), we know that sitting outside with tin foil to help us become more tan faster, is not a smart move. Sunscreen it is. In addition, people tend to exercise more in warmer weather. This is perfect for allowing more oxygen to reach the brain and stress levels decrease as an added bonus.

The sun can have an effect on those with sleep issues as well. Waking up to the sunlight aids a person's internal clock to reset. Hotter weather also causes us to drink more water. More water means less toxins in our bodies. Cheers to that.

We think it's a good idea to create a summer bucket list. Some of the things on our list include hiking more 4,000 footers, finishing a certain amount of books (some started almost ten years ago), making more trips to the ocean, trying out a paddle board, getting around to purchasing a fishing license, question legislation about daylight savings and having sunflowers in bloom by fall.

The most important thing, and we say it often, is to remember to slow down and appreciate every summer moment, hour by hour.

Note: To give credit where it is due, the title of this week's Editorial was taken from the song "Follow the Sun," written by John Lennon and Paul McCartney and recorded by The Beatles in 1964.

Prior to comic books pulp magazines were popular. They used brightly colored covers and sensational stories to attract readers. The paper was made of cheap wood pulp that now has usually become yellow and brittle. Tarzan, Sam Spade and Zorro appeared in pulp magazines. The Shadow was one of the most popular characters and appeared in 326 issues from 1931 to 1939 according to Britannica.

Looney Tunes, adventure, mystery and other genres appeared in Golden Age comic books, but superheroes were very popular and are the most valuable today. D.C. Comics introduced Superman in 1938. According to Britannica, writer Jerry Siegel and artist Joe Shuster were unable to sell Superman as a daily series to newspaper syndicates.

"DC then took an enormous risk in 1938 by publishing the untried character, given the depressed economic climate of the day," Britannica writes.

Action Comics # 1, featuring Superman, sold very well, and DC Comics grew into a highly successful company.

According to PBS' "History Detectives," Captain Marvel by Wizz Comics was a very popular character during the 1940's, often outselling Superman. Comic book sales increased during World War II.

"They were cheap, portable and had inspirational, patriotic stories of good triumphing over evil," PBS wrote.

The first issue of Captain America pictured him in a stars and stripes costume battling Adolph Hitler on the cover. After the war, comic books with superheroes saw sales decrease and comics from other genres were created to help fill the void. Superhero comic books continued to be printed though. You can buy Superman comics today, over 80 years since the first issue was published.

Guinness World Records website has a timeline listing when superhero comic book characters were first introduced. Some characters may have a longer run than you might expect. The Phantom was created in 1936. Superman first appeared in Action Comics # 1 in 1938. The first comic book with Batman came out in 1939, as did Captain Marvel. 1940 saw the introduction of The Comet, The Flash, Fantomah/Woman in Red, and Justice Society of America. Captain America, Aquaman, and Wonder Woman all began in 1941.

Golden Age superhero comic books in decent condition can be worth thousands but having one in great condition can be worth a fortune. Superman first appeared in Action Comics in 1938, but Superman appeared in his own comic book in 1939. Superman issue # 1 sold for over $500,000. A 1939 Detective Comics issue #

27 with the first appearance of Batman sold for over $1 million in 2010. A high grade 1939 issue titled "Marvel Comics" by Timely Comics sold for over $1.25 million last year. Ironically, Timely Comics evolved into Marvel Comics during the 1960s. A copy of Action Comics # 1 with the first appearance of Superman went up, up and away for $3,207,852 in an online auction in 2014.

The preview for our Rutland farm auction will be held on June 20. The address will be published on our Web site on June 19. Face masks and social distancing are required during the preview and pick-up. Bidding ends on June 24. Our online only auction with estate jewelry, sterling silver, and collectibles, including some comic books, ends June 25. There is more information on both auctions on our website.

OPINION/COMMENTARY

Always look for the good within the darkest times

POSITIVELY
MOORE

I know we are washing our hands more, resisting touching our faces and practicing social distancing. If we continue, my guess is not only can we do a better job of containing Covid-19 but also the flu and common cold. I will continue to wear a mask in public during cold and flu season. I think what we have all learned is positive and will serve us well in our future.

What good has come from this economically?

I believe in human resilience. In tough times, creativity flourishes. I think we are learning new ways to provide and obtain services. For basic Dr. visits, I love doing them remotely online. Why should I have to appear in person so they can ask me how I feel or if my medications have changed? There will always be times we need to be physically in the same room with our health care providers, but for basic services, I'd rather dial in. I think this is a positive.

I also love the creativity of restaurants. In many places, indoor restrictions are in place, so restaurants are pitching tents and putting picnic tables in their parking lots. If it's below 90 degrees, I'd always choose to eat outdoors. For me, this is positive.

I also think many churches have become incredibly creative at providing their services online. The constitutional argument rages on as to whether a governmental body can ignore our constitutional rights, but I think it was the right thing in the heat of this pandemic to restrict assembly everywhere possible. While some churches, like my local church, have provided prerecorded and shortened services that cater to those who when watching online have a shortened attention span, others, like Pasadena (Calif.) First Church of the Nazarene continues to provide a full, live service. The point is there is a multitude and variety of church services available online. I tune into both each Sunday, and if you oversleep, you can access it online at any time.

What's positive about this? I believe again, learning to deliver needed and wanted services in unique new ways to reduce risk and save lives is a positive. Our racial divides.

We are now having positive conversations in a frank and truthful way that seemed unlikely, if not impossible, before. I think if we are talking, listening, and engaged in a fruitful dialogue, positive changes emerge. The televised death of George Floyd has awakened the senses of even the most hard-nosed racial divide deniers. I'm hopeful and optimistic that this is a positive turning point for our nation, and it is ... if we make it so.

I also know that the majority ... I believe upward to 99% of police officers ... are good public servants. As in any profession, we are going to see there are bad actors. And a bad actor with a gun is especially dangerous. I believe community officials are awakened to the need to pay attention to officers with an unusual amount of complaints and act quickly. I believe police unions, if they genuinely want to protect their good members, they must stop protecting the bad officers. Protecting the job of a bad cop puts us all at risk. I believe needed change is occurring and we'll all be better and safer for it.

Now that the average citizen is awakened to these problems, we must all stand and force the needed change.

I think there are silver linings in all situations. Unless we look for and seek the good within, it's easy to believe the sky is falling ... and it's not. Always look for the best in every situation and in every person. As I always say we usually find what we seek.

So, where there are problems, seek solutions.

Where there is pain, look for ways to ease suffering.

Where there is hopelessness and despair, seek the silver lining and shine the light on hope.

When the choice faces you to live in despair of the situation or to rejoice in the possibilities, always choose to rejoice.

Always look for the positive within the negativity and you'll never feel hopeless. ■

Sticking to budget can boost your emergency fund

ANTONOPOULOS

During the coronavirus pandemic, our health concerns – for ourselves and our loved ones – have been at the top of our minds. But financial worries have been there, too, both for people whose employment has been affected and for investors anxious about the volatile financial markets. And one aspect of every individual's total financial picture has become quite clear – the importance of an emergency fund.

In normal times, it's a good idea for you to keep three to six months' worth of living expenses in a liquid, low-risk account. Having an emergency fund available can help you cope with those large, unexpected costs, such as a major car repair or a costly medical bill.

Furthermore, if you have an adequate emergency fund, you won't have to dip into your long-term investments to pay for short-term needs. These investment vehicles, such as your IRA and 401(k), are designed for your retirement, so the more you can leave them intact, the more assets you're likely to have when you retire. And because they are intended for your retirement, they typically come with disincentives, including taxes and penalties, if you do tap into them early. (However, as part of the economic stimulus legislation known as the CARES Act, individuals can now take up to $100,000 from their 401(k) plans and IRAs without paying the 10 percent penalty that typically applies to investors younger than 59 and a half. If you take this type of withdrawal, you have up to three years to pay the taxes and, if you want, replace the funds, beyond the usual caps on annual contributions.

Of course, life is expensive, so it's not always easy to put away money in a fund that you aren't going to use for your normal cash flow. That's why it's so important to establish a budget and stick to it. When developing such a budget, you may find ways to cut down on your spending, freeing up money that could be used to build your emergency fund.

There are different ways to establish a budget, but they all typically involve identifying your income and expenses and separating your needs and wants. You can find various online budgeting tools to help you get started, but, ultimately, it's up to you to make your budget work. Nonetheless, you may be pleasantly surprised at how painless it is to follow a budget. For example, if you've budgeted a certain amount for food each month, you'll need to avoid going to the grocery store several times a week, just to pick up "a few things" – because it doesn't really take that many visits for those few things to add up to hundreds of dollars. You'll be much better off limiting your trips to the grocery, making a list of the items you'll need and adhering to these lists. After doing this for a few months, see how much you've saved – it may be much more than you'd expect. Besides using these savings to strengthen your emergency fund, you could also deploy them toward longer-term investments designed to help you reach other objectives, such as retirement.

Saving money is always a good idea, and when you use your savings to build an emergency fund, you can help yourself prepare for the unexpected and make progress toward your long-term goals.

Three ways to help your gardens thrive with minimal care

Fishing Tips and Tricks

Days “gone fishin” are the simple pleasures life-long memories are made of. Whether relaxing on the shore of still waters, or wrangling in a temperamental trout, the sport of recreational fishing remains a popular activity for all ages. In fact, fishing during the current crisis provides an important outlet for relieving stress and can be very social distancing friendly!

Want to up your odds of reeling in “the big one this season?” Read on for fishing tips from the pros!

Successful fishers make it a habit to change their line. Fishing line has memory- it will retain the twist, nicks scrapes, and it gets weaker every time it is used. Don’t chance losing the “big one” to brittle line!

And be sure to match your hook size to your bait: small for small, large for large. It makes a difference in holding your bait, and in how many strikes you will get.

Take a valuable fishing tip from old timers who say “if you find the bait you’ll find the fish.” To do this efficiently, they make it a habit to scan the water for bird activity. Follow the birds, who follow the bait, and you’ll likely find the fish!

When throwing into the wind, drop your rod tip to the water right after making the cast. You’ll get more distance and will also get the slack out of your line in case you get bit just when the bait hits the surface. If you leave the rod held high, the wind will make an arc out of your line and you’d lose control of the bait.

Still no bites? It could

be your bug repellent. Never handle bait after applying it as the scent will keep the fish away.

Tips to Track Trout
* Did you know Rainbow Trout favor 56 degree water? Find that temperature and you’re sure to find the fish! If it’s cold out, trout can typically be found on the surface of a lake. If it’s hot out, they’ll be deeper in the water.
*Remember, trout have tough mouths. Keep your hooks sharp - and use a number 4 hook for best results!

* Want to up your odds of trout for supper? When lake fishing, dip your crawler in the oil from a can of smoked oysters!

* Trying to tempt the best trout. Try this secret recipe from anglers: Combine two ounces of cod liver oil with 20 drops oil of anise. Mix well. Dip your bait in the mixture and string up the trout!

Bait and Catch: It’s summertime and the fishin’ is easy - if you use an old fashioned bait recipes. They’re tried and true secret weapons from successful fishermen - but best of all, you can whip them up with ingredients from your kitchen cupboards!

*Anglers swear refrigerator biscuit dough is a great bait for trout. Just pull a raw biscuit apart and start reeling in the “big one!”

*Even fish love spicy food, as this super lure recipe will attest. Mix together 8 ounce ground aniseed or fennel seed and two ounces ground allspice. Sprinkle 1/16th oz. oil of cloves over the above and mix. Store in tightly sealed jars for a few days while the odors blend. Put a drop on fish bait.

*If you’re fishing with salmon eggs or worms, don’t forget to add a miniature marshmallow to the hook to keep your bait buoyant!

Win Dinner for Two at the Publick House

Your tips can win you a great dinner for two at the historic Publick House Historic Inn in Sturbridge! Simply send in a hint to be entered into a random drawing. One winner per month will win a fabulous three course dinner for two at the renown restaurant, located on Route 131 across the town common in historic Sturbridge. Because I’m in the business of dispensing tips, not inventing them (although I can take credit for some), I’m counting on you readers out there to share your best helpful hints!

Do you have a helpful hint or handy tip that has worked for you? Do you have a question regarding household or garden matters? If so, why not share them with readers of Stonebridge Press newspapers? Send questions and/or hints to: Take the Hint!, C/o the Southbridge Evening News, PO Box 90; Southbridge, MA 01550. Or E-mail KDRR@aol.com. Hints are entered into a drawing for dinner for two at the historic Publick House Inn.

So, you filled your shopping cart and gardens with lots of new shrubs, flowers, and vegetables. Now what? Keep your plants looking their best with minimal effort so you can enjoy them and your summer even more.

Watering is one task where I find even experienced gardeners struggle. Proper watering is key. Too much or not enough water can result in yellow, wilting and even death of plants.

Check container plantings daily. Stick your finger into the soil and water whenever the top few inches of soil is starting to dry. Water thoroughly so the excess runs out of the pot and away from the planter.

New plantings need special attention the first few weeks. Water thoroughly and often enough to keep the roots and surrounding soil slightly moist. Gradually reduce frequency and only water thoroughly when the top few inches are crumbly, but slightly moist.

Continue giving perennials, trees, and shrubs regular care the first two years. It takes this long for them to establish a robust root system. Water thoroughly, but only as needed.

Water early in the day to reduce water lost to evaporation. Avoid watering at night. Wet foliage at night is more susceptible to disease.

Use soaker hoses, drip irrigation or watering wands to apply water to the soil. Less water is wasted plus you’ll help decrease the risk of disease by avoiding wet foliage.

Mulch gardens to conserve moisture, suppress weeds and improve the soil as it decomposes.

Spread a two- to three-inch layer of organic mulch such as shredded leaves, evergreen needles, wood chips or shredded bark on the soil surface surrounding your plants. The courser the mulch used, the thicker the layer. Do not bury the base of your plants or pile mulch against the trunks of trees. This can lead to a decline of your plants. I like to use wood-based mulches for permanent plantings and pathways.

Consider using shredded leaves, evergreen needles or even a thin layer of chemical-free grass clippings for annual plantings. These mulches break down more quickly than wood and do not cause nutrient deficiencies if worked into the soil.

Fertilization provides the nutrients plants need to grow and thrive, but too much of a good thing can be detrimental. Over fertilization can result in lots of green leafy growth, but no flowers or fruit. Lush succulent growth from over fertilization is more susceptible to insect and disease problems.

Select a fertilizer labeled for the plants you are growing and your gardening goals. Organic and slow release fertilizers provide a slow, steady supply of nutrients over a longer period of time. You’ll need to make fewer applications throughout the growing season. Do not apply more than the recommended rate. Not only are you wasting fertilizer and money, but an overdose of fertilizer can damage and even kill plants. Consider taking a soil test in the future. The results tell you how much and what type of fertilizer to apply. Contact your local Extension office for tips on how to take a soil test and where to send the sample for testing.

Visit your gardens regularly. Pick a few flowers to enjoy in a vase indoors and harvest vegetables when they are mature. Regular harvests of ripe vegetables and herbs keeps them producing.

So, enjoy your summer and gardening adventures. Each year brings new successes, plants to try, and lessons to learn from our gardens. As you experience the joy and benefits of this season’s garden, you will be looking for more opportunities to expand your plantings next year.

PLACE MOTORS IS PROUD TO SPONSOR

Friday's Child

Aiden
Age 9

Hi! My name is Aiden and I love cats and dogs!

Aiden is an energetic and sweet boy of Caucasian descent who loves to laugh. He is very active and likes to be outside, play sports, and run and climb. When he is inside, he enjoys playing with cars and trucks, building with Legos, and collecting Pokémon cards. He also likes to have books read to him before he goes to bed. Aiden is a big sports fan, and when he grows up, he would like to be Tom Brady. If that doesn’t work out, Aiden says that he would like to be a fireman. Aiden plays well with others, as well as on his own.

He does well in school and gets along with his teachers and peers. He receives speech services, as well as emotional and behavioral supports to help him stay focused in class.

Legally freed for adoption, Aiden is searching for a family of any constellation with either no children in the home or with children who are older than he is. An ideal family will be able to provide Aiden with individualized attention, consistency, and structure. A family must be open to Aiden visiting with his birth mother twice a year in Massachusetts. Aiden also has an older sister who he is very attached to, and he will need to keep in contact with her.

Who Can Adopt?

Can you provide the guidance, love and stability that a child needs? If you’re at least 18 years old, have a stable source of income, and room in your heart, you may be a perfect match to adopt a waiting child. Adoptive parents can be single, married, or partnered; experienced or not; renters or homeowners; LGBTQ singles and couples.

The process to adopt a child from foster care requires training, interviews, and home visits to determine if adoption is right for you, and if so, to help connect you with a child or sibling group that your family will be a good match for.

To learn more about adoption from foster care, call the Massachusetts Adoption Resource Exchange (MARE) at 617-6273 or visit www.mareinc.org. The sooner you call, the sooner a waiting child will have a permanent place to call home.

Now that some of the restrictions on daily activity are being lifted due to the Covid Pandemic, fishing is getting back to some form of normality. Some of the six pack Charter boats are now operating in Massachusetts & Rhode Island and fishing has been pretty good overall. Three anglers from Rhode Island fished the Buzzards Bay area Saturday and limited out on their daily bag of five seabass. They were all in the 18 to 21-inch size. They also caught huge scaup filling three coolers. Sounds like they had a great day.

Captain Mark Pettit of Fire Escape Charters reported on some great striper fishing in Buzzards Bay last week, but unfortunately only two stripers were in the 28-inch slot limit , all the rest were schoolies. In two days, his clients brought in close to 400 stripers, and they were hitting everything. The big fish have still not shown up! The Providence River continues to give up some real nice stripers with many over the legal-size limit of 35 inches. If you hit it right, you will catch fish.

The Uxbridge Rod & Gun Club has installed a new Sporting clays range which opened officially last Sunday. Members & non-Members are invited to try out the new course, and to brush up on your shooting skills. The trap is also open every Sunday. Come to the club and enjoy some great shooting.

Fishing on the Cape Cod Canal has been restricted to recreational fishing only as of a couple of weeks ago. Unruly anglers prompted the emergency action to be taken along with other problems at the canal. Only stripers measuring 28 inches to 35 inches are allowed anywhere on the canal. Allowing commercial anglers to fish alongside recreational anglers on the canal was not a good idea to begin with. With problems they have had in the past, it was sure to get ugly again, and policing the area with the large amount of people fishing at the canal this year, was a receipt for disaster. Free saltwater fishing in Massachusetts on June 20 - 21 this year, so take the family fishing. You will hopefully enjoy the sport and purchase an annual license.

This writer and my Great granddaughter Eva, fished the Providence River last week with her Dad Chris Henchey.

This picture shows Edward Zaczek of Webster with his large calico bass taken in Webster Lake. He could receive a gold pin from Mass. Fish & Wildlife awards program. Nice fish.

Chris Henchy of Shrewsbury with his daughter Eva after catching a striper in the Providence river last week.

Fluke fishing along the beaches of Matunick, R.I. has picked up a lot but most fish are short of the 19-inch limit for recreational anglers. A lot of the released fish are going to die, which is a terrible shame. Many fish swallow the hook and trying to remove the hook is causing released fish to die and become crab bait. As I have said in the past, someone with some sense of responsibility and knowledge needs to be put in charge of the fishery which seems to be driven by politics , and not by sensible fish management. Commercial fishermen are allowed to keep seabass only 11 inches long? What a waste!

The Seven B Charter boat is taking only 20 people at a time , as of last weekend. You need to call ahead and reserve & prepay. The fare has gone up to $100 per person for a seven-hour trip. Call 1 -401 789- 9250 to reserve your spot. Seabass season in Rhode Island opens June 24 with a 3 fish daily limit per person. The Seven B charter boat has a very good reputation for catching big fish!

Freshwater fishing for numerous species of fish by local anglers last week had one angler weigh in a 6.4 pound largemouth bass at Jerry's Bait & Tackle shop in Milford. Numerous other species of fish included two large pickerel, and a huge calico bass that weighed in at over two pounds, which was caught at Webster Lake. Webster Lake also gave up some nice Brown & Rainbow trout last week. Wallum Lake is slow with very few fishing the interstate body of water. Both Webster Lake and Wallum have most trout staging in deep holes of the lake, were the cool water remains throughout the summer

Bob Czupryna of Uxbridge reported a lot of anglers were fishing the Quabbin Res last week at gate 43. The Quabbin Reservoir is not renting boats at this time but is open to shore fishing anglers and anglers with their own boats. A reminder that you need to have your boat washed before launching it into the Quabbin Reservoir to go fishing. A season pas is only $25 if you plan on fishing the Res. often this year. Bob reported catching numerous rainbow trout, Lakers and an occasional bass. One angler caught a nice salmon and took it home to eat. The salmon had numerous rubber baits in the stomach. The industry was in the process of making the plastics and rubber worms biodegradable a number of years ago but has failed to live up to their commitment. The plastics and rubber worms are killing fish!

As reported last week about the shortage of live bait & catching your own, can save you money and the bait that you catch in the small traps can be better than what you buy. Baiting the trap with a few pieces of bread and setting it in a lake or pond can have you catching numerous species of small fish. Retain only shiners and small sunfish (pumpkinseeds) which are a natural bait for most warm water fish. It is illegal to use other species of fish for bait. Using shiners for bait will have you catching fish daily. Also, catching pumpkinseeds with a light rod & small hook baited with a piece of worm is excellent live bait. Placing a 1 inch to three-inch live pumpkinseeds on another rod, and letting it swim freely will have you catching big fish.

A report from " Fat Nancy's " Bait & Tackle shop in New York reported on some great Brown Trout fishing in Lake Ontario. Four-to-six-pound brown trout are numerous at this time of year with an occasional 10-to-12-pound brown. Bass fishing on Oneida lake is also hot.

Assumption never has, and you have benefitted from this. A Catholic liberal education engages these questions has prepared you to live out your vocations and to be lifelong learners. It has provided you with the wisdom and courage to confront the challenges we face at this time and that you will face throughout your life.”

Before closing, President Cesareo said he hoped that the disruptive nature of the last several months had taught the graduates some important lessons: take the time to say ‘I love you,’ to stop harboring resentment, thinking that forgiveness can always wait for another day, to cease pretending that little annoying things matter so much, to pick up your heads to look at the beauty of the world, to examine your beliefs about what truly matters in life, to mend relationships, and to take time to pray,” he said.

“I am not going to say goodbye, but rather arrivederci, since it is my hope to see you in August,” he said.

The ceremony was complemented by the playing of a newly composed hymn based, “Shelter Me,” a prayer song in the time of COVID-19, by Jan Michael Joncas based on Psalm 23. After the conferral of undergraduate, continuing education, and graduate degrees, Adam Duval ‘20, William Goliger ‘20, Arianna Pereschino ‘20, and led by Brad Dumont, sang the Alma Mater, “Long Live the Blue and White,” via video conference.
