Dancing the night away at the senior center

BY RAYANNE COOMBS
TRIBUNE CORRESPONDENT

NORTHBRIDGE — Not everyone was as light on their feet as they remembered; but the chance to dance was an absolute joy for those who took in an evening of dining and dance at Northbridge Senior Center last weekend.

On June 24, the senior center opened their doors to the community for its first ever Dinner Dance. It's sincerely hoped it won't be the last, it's intended to become an annual affair. The Italian-themed event, sponsored by Friends of Northbridge Elders (FINE), was coordinated by Senior Center volunteer, Sharon Rivers.

Michelle Methe, assistant director at the Northbridge Senior Center explained, "Sharon's vision was to have a formal event to bring people together in the community for an evening of dining and

Moore sponsors bill to protect small business

BOSTON — Legislation filed by Senator Michael O. Moore (D-Millbury) recently advanced from the Joint Committee on Public Safety and Homeland Security. The bill, which would establish basic protections for small businesses that are targeted by exploitative lawsuits under the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA), received unanimous support from Committee members and has moved through to the next step in the legislative process.

The bill addresses so-called "drive-by lawsuits" which are based on ADA claims made by individuals, who are neither disabled nor customers, in order to extract a monetary settlement from a business owner. The violation could be as particular as a misworded handicap parking sign. With continuing advancements in technology, the practice is becoming even more common. Some individuals are using applications such as Google

Maps to find violations and to target sites that they may have never physically visited. Oftentimes they target dozens of businesses simultaneously within the same vicinity.

The bill would require that the business be notified of the violation and be given up to 60 days to rectify the issue before a lawsuit may be filed. Under current state law, a business owner can be brought into litigation with no notice informing them of their non-compliance status. Similar right-to-cure standards exist under different areas of law including

Good Shepherd Parochial School hosting first reunion in 45 Years

Are you one of the 800 students to have graduated from Good Shepherd Parochial School in Linwood/Uxbridge? Are you interested in reuniting with classmates, or simply reliving childhood memories by walking the halls of your former school? If so, then it's time to go back to school. Join us on Sunday, June 25 from 1-5 p.m. for our Reunion Open House.

The reunion will feature an exhibit on the history of the school and a trip down memory lane through a series of articles and class photos. Be there for the opening ceremony at 1:30, led by parish historian Roger Poulin, who will introduce any former teachers in attendance. Good Shepherd's current pastor, Father Larry Esposito, will also be on hand to lead a talk. You'll witness the school building's transformation into the Good Shepherd Parish Center, where it continues to cultivate young minds through religious education and youth ministry programs.

The Good Shepherd Parochial School opened its doors on June 6, 1921, educated by the Sisters of the Presentation of Mary from St. Hyacinth, Quebec. The final class graduated in June 1972. The Reunion will be the first in 45 years since the school's closing.

So whether you're a graduate of the school, or simply interested in seeing the halls and classrooms where your loved ones grew up, we welcome you to celebrate its legacy and reunite with friends along the way.

Join us in our bar area, every Tuesday after 3pm, to enjoy hard or soft shell Tacos for $1.00

How do you make sure you make the right investment in a home?

REALTOR'S REPORT

JAMES BLACK

At the end of the day this is your house and you want to ensure that it is a place that you can call home. Even if the home is a place that you never plan on moving from, I always think we should consider how good of an investment is this home. We want to think of whether there will be issues if you had to sell your home that would cause the average buyer to not purchase the home. Here are a few things to consider:

Over-improvement - Never over-improve the home for the neighborhood or the town. If you live in a neighborhood with all 1000 square foot ranches, don't add a 2nd floor to your home and an addition of the back. You will never recoup that money because the other homes will pull down the value of your home. Also be careful about over-improving the finishes in the home as that will have the same affect. So if you are going to buy a home also look to ensure that the home is not too superior to the neighbors unless you are getting a good discount.

Curb Appeal - Make sure the home either has good curb appeal or could have good curb appeal. If you buy an ugly house that cannot be made pretty that may be an issue when you go to sell the home. The first picture that someone sees of the home is of the front and it will show the curb appeal or lack thereof.

Neighbors - You could have a beautiful home but if all your neighbors homes are not appealing then that can cause an issue in the future. Yes, you can definitely have turnover in your neighborhood but if almost all the people take care of their homes you have a better chance of those who move in to have the same desire to make their home look good. They will have that pride of ownership.

Home Inspection - Most people are not professionals in the area of home maintenance. Ensure you have a certified home inspector inspect the home so you know exactly what you are getting into. This will help give you a good idea if it is still a good long term investment.

Get title insurance - The bank if you get a loan will make you get lender title insurance but also get owners title insurance. This protects you when you find out that garage you thought was yours and then you find out half of it is on your neighbors property. At this point you would reach out to the title insurance company to file a claim so they can resolve the issue. This will help protect your investment.

Your Team- Interview and hire a Realtor, Real Estate Attorney, and Lender that you can trust to ensure they help you navigate the above items to ensure you make a sound investment.

No more pencils... no more books...

At one time this was the sing-song as children were released for the summer; to the freedom of what was then nearly three months of no assignments and no deadlines. Blissful freedom to sleep late, hang out with friends, eat whenever and whatever, make up games or pick up the usual kid games if you had enough kids to make up a team.

There was not much organization to it; there were kids in each neighborhood, you hung around with the ones who lived closest, as you got older you might be able to ride a bike a few blocks further away. You made do with the playthings at hand, or made your own. No proper bat and bases? No problem, mom's broom got taken apart for its handle and everyone found a sweatshirt or some such to fold into a shape for a base in the empty lot. Little League? You were an all star if you actually owned your older brother's cast off glove; and it didn't matter if it was actually a catcher's mitt and you were out in right field.

Girls made doll clothes out of hollyhocks, dressed their teddy bears in discarded t-shirts. Theirs was not a world of Design-A-Bear workshops or American Girl franchises.

There were no helmet laws or safety pads for skating or whatnot. If you fell, you got bruised or scraped. Meh.

And once you had spent a frenzied, fevered couple of days out in the sun, you might take a quieter day; lay about with a book because you wanted to; the story was a good one and transported you away to somewhere you'd never been, with people you would never meet, and had adventures. By yourself. With no interactive prompting.

See, today's version of no pencils and no books is a little scarier.

At least it is to us.

We see over scheduled kids with no free time to just BE. And if they do find a few precious seconds, they spend them on something electronic that tells them how to move, how to think, what to do...how to be.

We're losing childhood real fast here. And we're doing it to ourselves.

We can decry the kids who don't leave their homes to interact with others, why should they? If they become complacent, and live only through a screen, it seems more normal to them than actual interaction. Social justice and norms are learned behaviors. If no one teaches it, how do they learn it?

And don't tell us it will happen at school because no; just no. That is one more burdensome expectation on a teacher who is not able to do the job of actual teaching now for all the demands made. Teachers should be allowed to teach; not be social workers and nutritionists and behavioral scientists and culture police and disciplinarians and Miss Manners too. Somewhere in there should be parents and aunts and uncles and grandparents and responsible adults who also interact with the kid.

And not just through a screen, we hope.

Gallant: 'Northbridge Water Concerns'?

To the Editor:

Recently it was brought to my attention, that the Town of Northbridge may not have a 'comprehensive', 'all' inclusive, multi-point, written legal contract with the Private Water Company that serve's our Town? Suggestively absent of a potential comprehensive legal contract, with this Private Water Co, may the full 'vested interest' of the 'Homeowner', 'Renter', 'Rate Payer', our 'Town Government', be potentially properly fully served, by maybe not having a potential comprehensive agreement, with this Private Entity?

Suggestively within the next month or so, it may be alleged the Administrative Staff of the Private Water Co, may be coming before our Board of Selectman, Town Manager, seeking a potential upward step, 'Rate Increase'? To be suggestively bestowed upon those on a Public Water supply service in the Town.

Hopefully the Board of Selectman, our leadership laureate's of the Town, may unequivocally do their 'due diligence' on this suggestive, upward Water Rate request? Hopefully all financial staff facets of our Town Government, to include the Town's appointed Water Superintendent/DPW Director. Plus, our relevant Town Official's, may also comprehensively review the totality of all the informational data, that the Private Water Co may submit for this potential request? Before the Town leadership team may make any conjectural 'final determinations'? Plus to 'fully determine' to suggestively support this potential requested Water Rate Increase, before the suggestive Commonwealth's Department of Public Utilities?

With many Seniors, and Shut-In's on fixed incomes, College Students with College loans, Young Families, plus many that have survived on stagnant incomes over the last eight years. Is it not one of our local Governments 'top priority's', is it not to 'look out' for the most 'vulnerable' of our own very local Town 'Societal Hamlet'?

What can investors learn from the All Stars?

FINANCIAL FOCUS
DENNIS ANTONOPOULOS

Next week, the 2017 Major League Baseball All-Star Game will be held in Marlins Park in Miami. If you're a baseball fan, you may tune in to admire the skills and grace of the players. And if you're an investor, you can learn some valuable lessons from the All

Stars, including these:

Alertness – Most of us can only dream of having the outstanding reflexes of major league ballplayers. But we can develop a similar trait: alertness. Just as a ballplayer who wants to steal a base needs to be alert to the pitcher's delivery and the strength of the catcher's throwing arm, you should be vigilant about investment opportunities and the potential need to make changes to your portfolio.

For instance, you might realize that, over time, your portfolio has become too top-heavy with the same types of investments. Since these investments are likely to move in the same direction at the same time, you could take a big hit during a market downturn. Consequently, you may want to diversify among a wider range of vehicles, including stocks, bonds, government securities and others. While this type of diversification, by itself, can't guarantee a profit or protect against all losses, it can help you reduce the effects of volatility on your portfolio.

Patience – When you watch the best hitters – such as those appearing in the All-Star Game – you will notice that most of them are very patient, willing to wait for several pitches until they get the one they feel they can hit. As an investor, you, too, need patience. The investment world contains many myths, one of which is that it's possible to get rich quick by finding "hot" stocks when they're cheap and selling them after a meteoric rise. But these events are actually pretty rare. The most successful investors are typically the ones who invest steadily, through good markets and bad ones, and who follow a long-term strategy appropriate for their needs, goals and risk tolerance.

Preparation – During the All-Star Game – or, for that matter, during any game – the ballplayers will know exactly what to do in almost any given situation. To take one example, consider what happens when a runner is on first base and the batter hits a ground ball to the shortstop. Almost without thinking – because he's already prepared for this very scenario – the shortstop will flip the ball to the second baseman, who is already standing on the bag, because he too is ready for this play. The second basemen completes the double play by immediately throwing to the first baseman, who is also in the right place, standing on first base.

When you invest, you also need to be prepared for certain situations and how you'll respond. When your children head off to college, you should know if and how you'll help them pay for it, maybe because you've prepared by saving in a 529 plan or another college-savings vehicle. When the day comes for you to retire, you should know how you'd like to tap into your retirement accounts, such as your 401(k) and IRA.

By being alert, showing patience and preparing for your goals, you can put some of the All-Stars' skills to work when you invest – and by doing so, you might improve your personal "box score."

Democracy is strongest when every voice is heard

Our democracy only works when every voice is heard. During my time in Congress, hearing from constituents has been one of my top priorities. That's why in diners, supermarkets, and town halls across our district, I hold office hours every year to listen and learn about how I can best represent you in Washington.

Throughout June, I held office hours to meet with constituents from towns across our district, including Winchendon, Orange, Athol, Warwick, and Royalston. I'm always excited when people take time out of their busy schedules to share their concerns with me. Hearing how families are doing, what's on their minds, and how I can help is so important. Sometimes we will talk about the need to give seniors a cost of living adjustment, make college more affordable, grow our local economy and support farmers. Sometimes we talk about issues of war and peace, human rights, and immigration.

But I don't have to tell anyone – these are not ordinary times. My office has received almost double the number of letters and emails from constituents than we did last year. And at office hours, I've seen the fear, anger, and confusion about why Washington seems so broken. I understand where it's coming from.

I feel the fear of a nervous mom who asked about the Affordable Care Act. Her son has a pre-existing condition and the Affordable Care Act, she said, literally saved his life. She cried, asking why anyone would want to put her family through this.

I share the concerns of a young boy who told me he's worried about climate change and the future of our planet and wanted to know why the President would remove our country from the Paris Climate Agreement.

LEGISLATIVE VIEWS
CONGRESSMAN JAMES MCGOVERN

I hear the anger of those who want to know why the level of civil discourse in our country seems so low – and why Republicans and Democrats can't seem to agree on anything. They reminisce about the days when political opposites like Tip O'neill and Ronald Reagan could find common ground. The one question that always gets asked is, "Where do we go from here?" My answer – keep the faith. Stand by your values. Fight for what you believe in. If we want positive change, like-minded people need to work for it.

Office hours are a great way for me to step outside of Washington and have an open, honest conversation with people across our district. I encourage everyone in the coming weeks to move forward in that spirit, to remain active and find meaningful ways to make a difference. It's time for all of us to step outside our comfort zone, reach outside our bubble, and begin anew the hard work that democracy asks of each of us.

Finally, keep calling, emailing, and showing up. The stories, struggles, and solutions I hear from you teach me how to be a better representative. You can engage with my office on Twitter, Facebook, and Instagram, or at www.McGovern.House.Gov to sign up for my newsletter and learn about how I'm working to put our families first. Your stories and words of support – and disagreement, too -- give me the strength each day to make sure your voices will always be heard in Washington.

Congressman Jim McGovern represents the 2nd Congressional District of Massachusetts

Folk Art – art by untrained hands

Merriam Webster defines folk art as “the traditional typically anonymous art of usually untrained people.” These self-taught artists used a wide variety of mediums when they produced their works.

Painting, of course, was one of the most important ways that they expressed themselves. Folk art paintings are sometimes described as naïve or naïf art. Folk Art artists painted many of the early American portraits from the late 18th century and early 19th century. Villages, ships, animals and still lifes are just a few of the many other types of paintings created by Folk Art painters. Folk Art paintings have been compared unfairly to cave drawings or children’s art with paintings typically being flatter and lacking perspective and dimension.

Along with paint, many Folk Art artists also worked with wood. Wooden signs were used to advertise businesses. Carved figures were used to promote businesses or for decoration. A rare “Cigar Store Indian” brought over $200,000 at auction in 2010. Ships, duck decoys, other animals, game boards and people are just some of the forms created by Folk Art artists.

Metal was also widely used by Folk Art artists. Weathervanes are one type of metal work that are highly collectible. We sold a 19th century banner weathervane for over $5,200 at auction. In 2006, a weathervane from the Woonsocket, RI railroad station in the shape of a train was auctioned and brought $1.2 million. Antiques and the Arts weekly reported that a molded copper weathervane of a Native American with a bow and arrow sold for $5.84 million in 2006.

Most of the folk art pieces that we’ve sold have been from the 19th century because older pieces tend to bring the strongest results at auction. We sold a leather fire bucket from Boston that brought a four figure sum and a metal sign from a Boston optometrist in the shape of eye glasses that fetched well into the thousands. Folk art signs have also sold well including a wooden folk art barber pole that sold for thousands of dollars.

In our August auction, we are offering a pair of leather fire buckets. The family had them appraised several years ago and the appraiser’s research attributes them to LeBaron Putnam of Sutton.

We are also including one newer piece of Folk Art in our upcoming auction. George Sosnak was an umpire who aspired to work in the major leagues. He had artistic talent and was once asked by a fan to draw a picture on a baseball. The fan loved it and he found that many others also enjoyed his work. He is believed to have created around 3,000 baseballs, with only 800 having been painted on every panel of the ball. We have one that he created for the 1955 World Series. Other examples of his have sold for prices in the hundreds to mid-thousands. See our website www.centralmassauctions.com if you’d like to see photos and more information on the fire buckets and the Sosnak baseball.

Folk Art is such a broad category that one column can’t adequately cover all of it. Watch for future columns focusing more closely on different types of Folk Art.

Our Aug. 31st auction has a wide variety of items along with the Folk Art including historical memorabilia and coins. Other sales are being scheduled.

See www.centralmassauctions.com for details on these and other upcoming events.

Add some extra appeal to your landscape with garden art

Adding excitement to your garden is easy. You can create instant, year-round color, structure, motion and fun to your landscape with a bit of garden art.

Just like shopping for plants, look for pieces that complement your gardening style. And consider all the benefits each piece of art provides. Many pieces are functional as well as beautiful, helping you get the most from your garden budget.

In centuries past, garden art included statues of gods and beautiful people as well as pieces that mimicked nature’s ornamental qualities. You can still find those traditional garden statues. But these days you will also find colorful pieces made from a variety of weatherproof materials in a variety of styles.

Look for garden art that’s functional as well as beautiful. You no longer need to settle for drab plant supports.

Look for items like the Kaleidoscope tomato cage (gardeners.com made of durable, heavy gauge steel and adorned with colorful weatherproof glass inserts. Train peas and pole beans up colorful and sturdy structures like Kaleidoscope spiral supports. These make creating an edible, ornamental landscape a breeze.

Bring your garden to life with garden art that moves in the wind. Metal wind spinners, mobiles and wind chimes add motion and in some cases sound to the garden.

Try creating a bottle bush using individually mouth-blown art glass globes instead of wine bottles. Select those suited to the outdoors. Strategically place them in the garden, so you can enjoy the way the sunlight plays off the unique, colorful glass.

Add a bit of color and ornamental appeal when purchasing your next birdbath or bench. And don’t forget about other winged visitors. Some garden art, like poppy sways, also capture water for hummingbirds, butterflies and other beneficial insects.

Artfully direct water from the roof using decorative rain chains into a rain barrel or mulched area. Use this century-old technique to slow the flow of water, preventing mulch and mud from splashing onto the house. Those in cold climates will appreciate the beauty of the ice-covered chains in winter.

Extend your enjoyment by lighting up the landscape with solar powered artwork. Set solar stakes donned with birds, roosters or calla lilies throughout the garden. You’ll enjoy their charming style by day and colorful glow at night. Lead your guests to the front door or backyard garden with the help of solar powered mosaic glass globes.

Include a bit of fun and whimsy in your landscape. Let your garden design and garden art reflect your personality. A flock of funky metal chickens meandering through the garden or school of steel Fish Out of Water garden stakes swimming through your perennials may just be the extra character your garden needs.

Take some time this season to finish off an established garden, create a focal point for a new garden or just add new life to an existing landscape. Whatever the reason, you’re sure to enjoy the added beauty only garden art can provide.

Friday's Child

John and Kelsey are a loving and bonded sibling group of two of Caucasian descent. Kelsey is a sixteen-year girl whose foster mother describes her as a "giggle puss". If you spend time with her you will quickly see why! She has the biggest smile and an infectious laugh. Kelsey is diagnosed with Down Syndrome and Cerebral Palsy. She was previously using a wheelchair prior to coming into foster care, but now is now walking and making tremendous progress! She is getting stronger every day and working hard in physical therapy! Kelsey likes to do karaoke, read, and listen to music. One of her favorite singers is "Pink"! Kelsey is in the ninth grade where she receives support in school through her Individualized Educational Plan (IEP).

John is a fifteen-year old boy who likes Pokemon, watching TV and working out! John has lost over 100 pounds in the last year due to his hard work and determination to work out and eat healthier. John is in the ninth grade where he receives additional support in the classroom through his Individualized Educational Plan (IEP). John is a talented teen who likes to cook and do woodworking projects. He is described as outgoing and engaging.

Legally freed for adoption, the children have shared they are looking forward to having a mom and a dad. They may want contact in the future with an adult sibling so a family should be open to maintaining this connection.

Who Can Adopt?

Can you provide the guidance, love and stability that a child needs? If you're at least 18 years old, have a stable source of income, and room in your heart, you may be a perfect match to adopt a waiting child. Adoptive parents can be single, married, or partnered; experienced or not; renters or homeowners; LGBTQ singles and couples.

The process to adopt a child from foster care requires training, interviews, and home visits to determine if adoption is right for you, and if so, to help connect you with a child or sibling group that your family will be a good match for.

To learn more about adoption from foster care, call the Massachusetts Adoption Resource Exchange (MARE) at 617-54-ADOPT (617-542-3678) or visit www.mareinc.org. The sooner you call, the sooner a waiting child will have "a permanent place to call HOME."

Shaw formally sworn in as Deputy Chief

BY JASON BLEAU
TIMES CORRESPONDENT

WEBSTER — After being announced as the choice for the Webster Police Department's vacant deputy chief position, Lt. Michael Shaw was formally sworn in and promoted on June 19 before the Board of Selectmen, community members, and members of the police department, fire department, and Webster EMS.

Shaw's swearing in was the first item on a busy agenda for selectmen that night, but put an end to six months of anticipation and debate over who, if anyone, would fill the role. The deputy chief position had received some public opposition at town meetings over the past two years and in January members of the local police union had expressed concern that Town Administrator Doug Willardson would potentially pass over Shaw for the position despite him being Chief Timothy Bent's suggested pick for the job. However, a public meeting cleared up the later misconceptions as at the time Willardson admitted he wanted to learn more about the lieutenant before he made a final recommendation. On June 19 Willardson said he has gotten to know the officer and feels Shaw truly is the best man for the job.

"I've been here about six months now and during those six months I've gotten to know who was Lieutenant and is now Deputy Chief Shaw very well and I've been very impressed with his desire to make Webster the best place that it can be. He's someone who has dedicated his professional life so far to the community and I think he's going to do everything in his powers to continue to make Webster a better and a safer place for all town residents," Willardson said.

Shaw was named the pick for the role at the end of May and officially took the position on June 4. He was sworn in on June 2, but formally sworn in before a public audience during the June 19 Board of Selectmen's meeting. Bent spoke highly of Shaw at the meeting saying he has envisioned Shaw as his right-hand man for some time.

"Michael Shaw joined us in 1996 as a part-time officer. He worked nine months and then went to the full time academy. He joined us (full time) in 1997 and we knew instinctively right away that he was going to be somebody special. He had everything that it took," said the chief. "I couldn't be happier that this day has come."

Shaw's swearing in was attended by a crowded room of citizens, family, and fellow officers as well as other community employees and volunteers with his family helping swear him in by presenting him with his new badge.

"I want to thank everybody that took the time to come in and show their support. It means a lot to me. I wouldn't be here today without (my fellow officers) as well as my family," Shaw said after taking his oath. "Family is huge. Not just blood, but also the family that we work with. In our profession, we face a lot of challenging times, not just locally but nationwide. I've always said it, and I've said it for the past 20 years, we have the best department in central Massachusetts. I don't just say that. I say that from working with departments across the country and across the state."

Shaw shared his feeling in an interview after exiting the meeting saying he is happy to take on a new role at the Webster Police Department, although it's a role he has become quite familiar with over the past few years.

"I feel like it's been a long time coming, but it was definitely worth the wait. I'm excited to see where it goes," said now Deputy Chief Shaw.

"We haven't had a deputy chief since December of 2015. I've been kind of doing both jobs as it is now so and it's definitely been an increase (in responsibility). It will be nice to have that lieutenant spot filled so they can oversee the patrol operations so we can really focus on the matters at hand and running the day-to-day operations of the department as a whole."

ture developing right here in Uxbridge. After the fire in 2007, which destroyed the developing structure that was housing 68 businesses at the time, there was very little economic development on the Bernat Mill property."

Leonard "Cappy" Fournier bought the mill in 2005, and at the time there were a few tenants offering retail services. Where the existing structure still stands, currently housing JTB Wellness and Sassy Foxx Consignment Shop, was the Uxbridge Youth Center. Foam Concepts was also in one of the large buildings on the property. Fournier's vision was to turn the mill into a mixture of retail spaces, dance studios, antique shops, café, photographers.

Fournier explained some of the Mill's rich history, "Bernat Mill was a woolen mill, which was built in the early 1800s. They made all sorts of woolen items, and also during World War I and World War II, workers here in the mill were one of the largest suppliers of uniforms to the U.S. military. During World War II, uniforms were also made for the French and English. Like many mills in the Northeast, manufacturers started moving business down South, so this type of industry was no longer in demand here."

Fournier described the night of the devastating fire, "The fire began in the basement of the mill, and is speculated to have been caused by a computerized machine that was programmed to run overnight. Luckily, there was no one in the building. When the alarms went off, the property manager, Johl Delory, was alerted and was the first one on the scene. Firefighters from all over the community were involved in putting it out. With over 400,000 square feet, some people say this was the biggest fire in Massachusetts."

He added, "It killed me because we had all of those tenants, and they were great. We had a really good relationship with all of the tenants. Every day it was just a blessing to be there."

In the past few years, there has been a resurgence of businesses moving in to the mill. Jacques explained, "I relocated and expanded my business in June of 2016 from a small room I was renting in Douglas to the Mill."

In addition to JTB Yoga & Wellness, the property now houses several women owned businesses including Tranquility

Skincare, Felicia's Salon & Spa, Sassy Foxx Consignment Shop, Summit Beauty Studio, and Wicked Depiction Photography. Jacques said of her inspiration to organize the Bernat Mills Rising event, "It feels like there is new life here now, and I wanted to bring some attention to that as well as honor the history of the property."

She added, "The purpose of this event is to bring the community together to celebrate local business, the arts, music, and movement."

The family friendly event will include vendors, food, free yoga classes, and live music. Jacques said, "We have vendors ranging from local artist Sue Dion to photographers, jewelry makers and more. Musical acts include members of Jediah, Blackstone Valley String Quartet, Nate Flecha, Matty G, Kirtan with Shubalananda and friends. Entertainment will also be provided by Green Bean Theater, a children's theater group based out of Sutton. We will have chair massage, Thai massage, yoga demos from instructors at JTB Wellness, a hair extension demo by Felicia from Felicia's Salon & Spa, and a micro-blading demo from Danielle at Summit Beauty Studio."

Foppema's Farm is open June through October and sells small fruit (apples, strawberries, blueberries, raspberries, gooseberries and currants) and vegetables (sweet corn, tomatoes, squash, beans, lettuce, cucumbers, peppers, onions, eggplant, rhubarb, cabbage, broccoli and just about anything you can think of). Every year the farm grows something new for their customers to try. This year they have planted peach and nectarine trees as well as some new apple varieties.

The next Read Around the Town event will be held at West End Creamery, 481 Purgatory Road, Whitinsville. For more information about upcoming events at the Whitinsville Social Library visit them at 7 Main St., Whitinsville, or contact (508) 234-2095.

MOORE

the Consumer Protection Act.

"The ADA is an essential protection for our disability community," said Senator Moore. "This bill will protect business owners and the courts from frivolous lawsuits without removing the important protections set forth by the ADA. I am hopeful that this bill will arrive on the Governor's desk during the current legislative session."

"Small business owners are often just one frivolous lawsuit away from being forced to close their doors forever," said Christopher Carozzi, Massachusetts State Director of the National Federation of Independent Business. "Senate bill 1346 seeks to give business owners an opportunity to rectify any ADA public accommodation violations before they face an expensive lawsuit. This is common-sense legislation that will safeguard hard-working small businesses from those serial plaintiffs and attorneys who seek to inflict financial damages as their primary source of income."

"This legislation will not only add protections for small businesses regarding violations and enforcement around accessibility issues; it further adds protections for the disability community creating greater access to local, small businesses," stated W. Stuart Loosemore, Esq., general counsel and director of government affairs and public policy for the Worcester Regional Chamber of Commerce. "This proposed new law is not intended to create a shield for bad actors, instead it creates the ability for a business or property owner to cure an accessibility issue that they may not have realized exists."

"Drive-by lawsuits unnecessarily threaten Massachusetts businesses with significant legal costs that are particularly burdensome on small businesses with limited resources," said Jon Hurst, president of the Retailers Association of Massachusetts. "Yet such claims are often based on easily correctable technical violations. By providing businesses with the opportunity to cure these violations, this legislation not only protects our businesses, but also provides a more efficient means for achieving the underlying policy goal of providing public access."

Maintenance, safety and the fine, fine days of summer

RALPH TRUE

Anglers fishing from their private boats need to check their equipment before each fishing trip to insure a safe day on the water. Replacing worn and damaged fishing lines is necessary before heading out on the water for a day of fishing. It can cost you a big fish if you do not keep all of your lines and reels in top working order. Old rusty hooks also need to be replaced when necessary. Checking your outboard or inboard motor is necessary before each trip. A few weeks ago, I stopped at a local gas station to fill my gas tank with new fuel. We were not on the water 20 minutes when the motor started to act up, constantly stalling. It ran great the day before so I had a good idea what was wrong. I had filled my tank with some bad gas!!!

My 25 hp. Mercury motor has been one of the best motors I have ever owned, and it has never given me any trouble. Fortunately, I was able to choke the motor to keep it running the entire fishing trip. The next day I took a sample of gas out of the tank to check it for water. There were no signs of water in the gas, but I decided to dispose of the gas and buy some new gas at a different station. My good friend from Bob's Marine in Mendon gave me some of his 2+4 Johnson fuel additive to try.

Adding a couple of ounces to the gas was hopefully going to clean out the carburetors, and remove any water that could be still in the fuel line and fuel pump. I am happy to report that the motor is running great again. There are a lot of problems with gas these days and ethanol is most often the culprit. Be sure to buy gas from a reputable dealer, but even then, you can get a bad tank of gas.

Checking batteries, trailer tires and wheel bearings can keep you from having trouble on the road and on the water. Many boat owners have extra boat insurance like Sea Tow and other services which run at an average coast of $150 to $200 a year. I had it for many years only using it one time, but I was sure glad I had the insurance for that one time. Owning a boat that is used on the ocean, requires a lot of responsibility by the owner, insuring it is safe for all on board. Life preservers are a very important and necessary part of boating. Make sure they are safe and available for everyone on board. With the July 4, weekend just around the corner thousands of boat owners will be on the water with friends and family. Every year someone loses their life on the water, and most fatalities are because of foolish behavior by someone on board a watercraft.

This past week I was fishing aboard a sport fishing boat with my son Ralph Jr. (a Father's Day gift), and a few of his friends. Although it was a slow day of fishing everyone on board had a great time. Near the end of the fishing trip a large sailing vessel came within a hundred feet of the stern of our boat. Although the sailboat has the right of way, they could have made adjustments to their course early, as we had two lines trolling lures in back of the boat, which were more than 300 ft. behind the boat. The captain was a bit upset with the crew of the sailing vessel and let them know it!!! It was not long before we had a large population of sailboats coming from every direction. Fortunately, they sailed off into the blue waters not to be seen again. We survived another day on the high seas!!!! We also were very close to running out of food during our trip!! This week's pictures show the sailing vessel that we encountered, just off the Southern tip of Block Island & Ralph with his pool winning striper.

Memorial Day and the July 4th. weekends are the times that boaters encounter some nasty and outrageous boaters at the boat ramps. It is best to avoid encounters with these people, that have no respect for other boaters. Most often a family will encounter these hotheads, and they will do best if they avoid them. Do not let them ruin your day with your family. Give them plenty of room!

At this time of year many households are being hit with black ants, which can cause a lot of damage to your home and also are a nuisance. A good remedy is to mix a cup of sugar to a cup of 20 Mule Team Borax soap. Spread the mixture around the foundation of your home when a few dry days are forecast. The ants will bring the sugar and soap particles into their nest, killing them off. It really works!!!! A lot cheaper than hiring a pest control company.

dancing, something not offered very often in our area. Sharon wanted the night to be an Italian theme including an Italian dinner featuring her own family recipes."

Methe added, "It was open to all surrounding towns and was very well attended by 65 people."

The event began with a "mocktail hour" with appetizers and punch being served by volunteers from Northbridge High School, community members and Northbridge Senior Center Director, Kelly Bol.

Methe said, "Volunteers wore black, and were given a handmade red apron so they all looked the part of Italian servers. The aprons were handmade by a volunteer at the Senior Center."

She went on to say, "Dinner was an overabundant amount of food including chicken parmesan, homemade meatballs, ziti, salad, garlic bread and a delicious dessert of ice cream and fruit compote. Italian music played in the background during the dinner, but after dinner our DJ, Ken Dicillo played the dancing music that brought the senior center to life with lots of dancing! We also had a raffle with 20 raffle items donated by local businesses and by volunteers at the senior center."

The event was an overwhelming success. Methe said, "There were two favorites voiced by everyone: the food was delicious, and the dancing brought such joy to some who said they hadn't danced like that in years!"

She went on to add, "There were a number of volunteers helping Sharon in the kitchen and to help bring this event together, but Sharon Rivers deserves a tremendous amount of credit for bringing this to our senior center. After dinner, the whole dining room applauded the meal. We can't wait for next year!"

Douglas knocked off Senior Ruth unbeaten ranks when Shrewsbury wins in 13 innings

Nick Genatossio of Douglas delivers a pitch to the plate versus Shrewsbury.

BY KEN POWERS
SPORTS CORRESPONDENT

OXFORD — It may have taken 13 innings and more than three hours, but Shrewsbury — finally — knocked Douglas from the undefeated ranks of the Paul N. Johnson Senior Babe Ruth League, 4-3, on June 20 at Stephen J. Horgan Field at Greenbriar Park.

Nick DiGirolamo laced a two-out RBI single to right field in the top of the 13th inning, scoring teammate Anthony Cotoia, who had reached base on a fielder's choice, to put Shrewsbury ahead, 4-3. Douglas — which employs local athletes from Douglas and Oxford — went down in order in the bottom of the frame.

Shrewsbury improved to 5-2 with the win.

Douglas (7-1), which trailed 2-0 after four innings, 2-1 after five and 3-1 heading into the bottom of the seventh, scored twice in the seventh to tie the game, 3-3, and send it into extra innings.

With one out in the bottom of the seventh Douglas' Jake White reached on a fielder's choice. He moved to second base when Joel Erickson followed with an infield single. White scored to make it 3-2 when Pete Oberg then singled to right field.

Douglas tied the game, 3-3, when, with two out, Mike Bordeaux doubled to right field, scoring Erickson. Oberg tried to score the winning run on Bordeaux's double but was tagged out at the plate by Shrewsbury catcher Tim Rioux after a perfect relay throw from Cotoia.

Douglas had chances to win the game in the bottom of the 10th, 11th and 12th innings.

In the 10th Oberg led off with a walk and then went to second on a sacrifice bunt by Jake Rucci. Seeing no one covering third base Oberg attempted to take the bag, but Shrewsbury third baseman Korey Patwari scrambled back in time to take the throw from Cotoia and tag Oberg for the second out of the inning. Bordeaux then grounded to third to end the threat.

"Their third baseman [Patwari], when we tried the wheel around on the bunt, made a great play," Douglas manager Dave Meech said. "Normally teams field the bunt and throw it to first. But to get back to third and be in position to make a play, that's a really good baseball play. He did a good job."

In the 11th Douglas had runners on second and third with one out when Nick Genatossio was called out on strikes. Genatossio, thinking the ball was low, made a comment to the umpire and was ejected. Meech came out to argue the ejection, and what he thought was a game-long inconsistent strike zone, and he was ejected as well.

Despite the ejections, Douglas loaded the bases with two out (Jake Murphy on third, Dave Meech Jr., on second and Harrison Sandorfi on first). Shrewsbury pitcher Matt Sullivan then struck out White to end the threat.

In the 12th, with two out, Rucci walked. Bordeaux followed with a single to center field. Rucci, running through the stop sign put up by his third base coach, barreled into Rioux at the plate and was tagged out. Rucci was then ejected because he did not slide or attempt to avoid contact on the play.

"It is what it is," the elder Meech said. "We definitely had opportunities to score. We've been struggling with that all year, as well as doing the little things to win games."

"We have a good mixture of older kids and younger kids and I try to play everyone so they can learn what it takes to win games," Meech continued. "We've won two championships in a row. To continue success you have to teach the younger kids. But, it comes at a cost. The younger guys made a couple of errors at the beginning of the game to cost us a couple of runs."

Douglas' Harrison Sandorfi lowers the bat toward the ball to make contact on the swing.

Late rally from Northbridge Legion falls short in loss to East Side

BY GREG BARLOW
SPORTS CORRESPONDENT

NORTHBRIDGE — The hits and runs came late in the game for the Northbridge Post 343 American Legion baseball team versus East Side Post 201 at Northbridge Middle School on Wednesday, June 21. Down by six runs, Northbridge rallied in the fifth, sixth and seventh innings to tie the game at 7-7, but it wasn't enough, as the home team was edged out, 8-7, in the eighth.

"We dug ourselves a hole — I mean, down 6-0," explained Northbridge manager John Demagian, whose team dropped to 3-5. "We fought back, and I thought we had it."

Post 343 ended the game out-hitting East Side by a 13-9 margin, but only gathered four hits through the first four innings. Zach Roberts led Northbridge's offense, going 3 for 4 at the plate.

Northbridge got runners on in every inning except the last, but struggled to put a dent in their early deficit. Post 343 left 14 base runners stranded on the day, falling to East Side (4-4) for the first time since 2013.

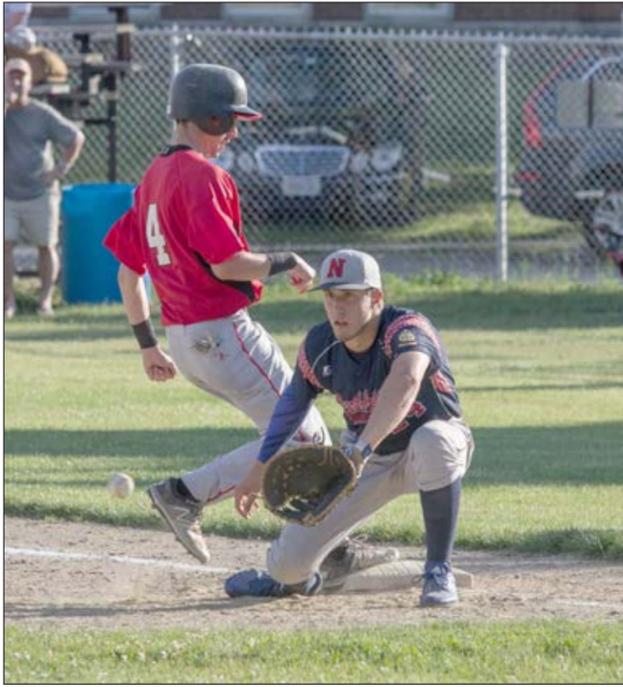

"We're leaving way too many guys on base," said Demagian. "Somebody has to step up and get a big hit when it counts. It just hasn't been happening. We also made some mistakes."

Northbridge ran into trouble in the first and fourth innings, as Post 343 lefty starter Chris Brouwer logged five strikeouts but gave up five earned runs, five hits and seven walks.

Brouwer had a long first inning to open the game. Leading off for East Side, PJ Barry used his speed for a base hit and stole second. Brouwer then walked the next two batters to load the bases. East Side used a sacrifice fly, a wild pitch and an RBI single to take a 3-0 lead. Brouwer then looked to shake off the dust after striking out the side in the top of the third, but faced another tough inning in the fourth, as Post 201 scored three more times to move out to a 6-0 advantage.

On the other hand, Northbridge's offense was making contact and getting runners on but couldn't find an answer. Through the first four innings, the home team had left seven runners stranded on base.

Post 343 finally responded during the following two frames, rallying for the next five runs through the fifth and sixth innings to narrow the gap to one, while Izaiah Wadsworth came out of the bullpen to retire six straight East Side hitters.

"We fought back, we'll fight right until the end," Demagian noted.

Northbridge filled the bases with one out in the bottom of the fifth after Mike Tourony walked, Marc Flores singled to left field and Jack Marzec reached on an error. East Side walked in a run before Brian Iarussi earned an RBI on a sacrifice fly. Marzec kept the energy alive and stole third base and then advanced to home plate on a throwing error on a pickoff attempt. With two outs, Ethan Paine doubled down the left field line to drive in Johnathan Lucier for the final RBI of the inning.

Northbridge carried the momentum into the sixth inning to plate its fifth run with Marzec picking up the RBI single to opposite right field, making it a 6-5 game.

The action resumed in the top of the seventh with East Side claiming the next run to gain a 7-5 cushion. The Raiders recorded back-to-back singles, as an error put a base runner on third with one out. A tough play on a weak grounder to first base, resulting in a collision, allowed the East Side runner to score.

Then, with more East Side runners still in scoring position, Paine made a catch on a fly to shallow right field and belted a throw to home plate on a tag-up to beat the runner and prevent any further damage.

Northbridge continued to battle back. In the bottom of the seventh, Post 343 used three hits to drive in two runs and tie the game at 7-7, as Flores picked up two RBIs on a base hit to right field. With two outs, Marzec delivered a line drive to center field that would have scored the game-winning run, but Barry made a diving catch for Post 201 to bring the game to extra innings instead.

"That kid made a heck of a play in center field," recalled Demagian.

In the top of the eighth, Barry led off with a single and bolted to third base on a passed ball. Earning the RBI for East Side was Andrew Pepper, who used a sacrifice bunt to bring home the game-winning run.

Northbridge was unable to get a runner on base in the bottom of the eighth, as Post 343 suffered the 8-7 heartbreaker.

Valley Tech tees off for good cause; annual golf tournament supports educational and athletic events

UPTON — Rainbows of golf balls streaking through the air decorated the Highfields Golf Course in Grafton on Tuesday, June 13 as over 90 golfers took to the fairways for Blackstone Valley Tech's Annual Golf Tournament.

The annual event has been a component of the system's fundraising approaches for the BVT Athletic Department and the Valley Tech Education Foundation for nearly 20 years. From gourmet dinners to technical service fees, the District incorporates multiple activities within its annual revenue pursuits.

This year, the tournament featured almost 30 sponsors and raised more than $12,000 making it one of the most successful events in the tournament's history. The money raised through registration fees and sponsorships opportunities allows the athletic department to keep athletic fees low and furthers the Valley Tech Education Foundation's mission to enhance the quality of education at Valley Tech through constantly improving curricula, programs, services, technology training, and community collaboration.

This year's winning team of Representative David K. Muradian, Jr. (R-Grafton), Representative Joseph D.

McKenna (R-Webster), Paul Fitzpatrick and Superintendent-Director Dr. Michael Fitzpatrick donated their first prize to the students' fundraiser.

The Athletic Department and the Valley Tech Education Foundation will build off of the continued success of the tournament at the 2018 Blackstone Valley Tech Annual Golf Tournament, which is tentatively planned for June 2018.

Northbridge Middle School Booster Club announces golf tournament to save middle school sports

The Northbridge Middle School Booster Club announced their fourth annual golf tournament will be held at the Whitinsville Golf Club on Saturday, Aug. 5 at 2 p.m. Following the tournament, a fun evening is planned in the clubhouse including dinner, raffles and a silent auction. Dinner is included in the golf package or non-golfers can purchase dinner tickets in advance of the event. All proceeds raised at the event will directly fund sports programs at the Northbridge Middle School.

Middle school sports have been fully funded through fundraising activities created by the Booster Club as well as a participation fee since the programs were cut from the Northbridge Public Schools budget in 2014. The Booster Club takes on the overwhelming task of raising over $30,000 each year to fund all sports including football, field hockey, soccer, basketball, baseball and softball.

"Since the programs were cut in 2014, our middle school students have almost all transitioned to the high school," said NMS Booster Club President Jennifer Rice. "We are finding the incoming parents as well as students need to be reminded that these cuts were made, and their help is needed to keep these programs alive."

"Raising this amount of money year after year in a small town with so many groups looking to raise funds is overwhelming," remarked Gretchen Tucker, Fundraising Coordinator for the Booster Club.

The annual golf tournament is the Middle School Booster Club's biggest fundraiser. This year's format is slightly different than year's past, as it is a nine-hole tournament. A shotgun start will begin at 2 for golfers, dinner ticket holders are invited to a cocktail hour beginning at 4:30 followed by dinner and a silent auction.

Golf, which includes 9 holes and dinner, is $90 per golfer or $360/foursome and dinner tickets are $30, and must be purchased in advance. To register for both golf and dinner the Boosters ask that you visit their website: www.nmsboosterclub.com or email Jen Rice at northbridgesports@gmail.com.

Tournament sponsorship opportunities are available at three levels: $500 for your name (or company name) and logo on the registration banner as well as a tee box sign; $100 to sponsor a tee; and $50 to have your name on the welcome flyer. Please email Kate Tracy at kltracy21@gmail.com if interested in becoming a tournament sponsor. Donations for the silent auction are also needed, please contact Gretchen Tucker at tuckergretchen@yahoo.com to donate.

Safety Tips for Car Trips

The Car Care Council dedicates this time of year to reminding drivers of the importance of being “car care aware.” In fact, each year on the cusp of summer the organization launches a nationwide effort geared to focus motorists’ attention on the essentials of vehicle care and maintenance. And it’s no wonder the importance of regular maintenance is stressed this time of year, as accident statistics this season are staggering: An average of 13,000 Americans are killed between Memorial Day weekend and Labor Day, some a result of unperformed vehicle maintenance, according to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration.

According to statistics, each year, neglected maintenance leads to more than 2,600 deaths, nearly 100,000 disabling injuries and more than $2 billion in lost wages, medical expenses and property damage. The eye opener is that most mechanical failures could easily have been prevented by ordinary maintenance! Read on for some car safety advice from the experts.

The U. S. Department of Transportation reports the leading cause of mechanical breakdown on our nation’s highways is overheating, a condition that is easily avoidable. Other deficiencies that are simple to detect include low antifreeze, worn or loose drive belts and defective cooling system hoses – proving it pays to check under the hood before you drive!

Checking tire pressure and inflating a tire costs nothing, yet an average of 21 percent of cars inspected in check lanes during a National Car Care check have under inflated tires, according to the Car Care Council. This can lead to a blowout and a serious accident.

Rainy weather can affect driver visibility and worn windshield blades can cause streaking and smearing that impair vision. In fact, the Car Care Council report one out of every five vehicles that passed through their safety check lanes had worn wiper blades.

Wipers generally need replacing every six months. An easy reminder is to change wiper blades in the spring and fall when you change your clock. Be sure the windshield washers are working properly, too, and keep the reservoir filled with solvent.

Poor maintenance also takes a toll on fuel mileage. Here is a safely checklist as suggested by the Car Care Council to keep your mileage up to par and ensure you’re driving safely this season.

*Check vehicle gas caps: About 17 percent of the vehicles on the roads have gas caps that are either damaged, loose, or are missing altogether, causing 147 million gallons of gas to vaporize every year.

*Inflate tires properly: When tires aren’t inflated properly it’s like driving with the parking brake on and can cost a mile or two per gallon.

*Replace worn spark plugs: A vehicle can have either four, six or eight spark plugs, which fire as many as 3 million times every 1,000 miles, resulting in a lot of heat and electrical and chemical erosion. A dirty spark plug causes misfiring, which wastes fuel. Spark plugs need to be replaced as recommended by the manufacturer.

*Replace dirty air filters: An air filter that is clogged with dirt, dust and bugs chokes off the air and creates a “rich” mixture – too much gas being burned for the amount of air, which wastes gas and causes the engine to lose power. Replacing a clogged air filter can improve gas mileage by as much as 10 percent, saving more than 20¢ a gallon.

*Check all vehicle lights: Motorists should check their lights monthly. When your vehicle’s lighting is defective, other motorists may not get the message that you intend to stop or turn. The end result could be disastrous. In traffic, it could be beneficial to keep headlights both day and night. This helps define your car’s position on the road, and its distance from other drivers.

The Car Care Council offers three suggestions for a traveler’s 10-minute pre-trip checklist:

*Check all fluids. There are several fluids, in addition to antifreeze, that require attention, including engine oil, power steering, brake and transmission fluids and windshield washer solvent and antifreeze/coolant.

*Check hoses and belts. A belt that fails can affect the electrical system, air conditioning and power steering, as well as the cooling system. Cooling system hoses may be deteriorating from within, so old hoses and clamps in marginal condition might need to be replaced.

*Check the tires. Check tire inflation and inspect the tread for uneven wear, indicating the need for wheel alignment. Also look for bulges and bald spots.

Safety Recalls: While new vehicle owners are informed of manufacturer recalls, those who purchase a used car or truck are often in the dark when it comes to safety recalls of their pre-owned vehicle. The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration website, nhtsa.gov offers free, instant recall searches by make, model, and year of vehicle. The search engine allows you to retrieve information by the vehicle or equipment producer and/or model.

Slide Into Safety: Tips For A Fun, Safe Season

(NAPS)

While the warmer months and longer days are often a time for outdoor fun and more physical activity—camping, boating, swimming, biking and the like—they can also mean an increased potential for injuries. Playground falls, lawn mower accidents, campfire and fire pit burns are common childhood injuries—but they don't have to happen to your family.

These tips from Shriners Hospitals for Children can help.

GO OUTSIDE AND PLAY

Outdoor play provides physical and mental health benefits, including opportunities for exercise, creative expression, stress reduction and access to a natural source of vitamin D—sunlight. Before sending kids out to play, however, make sure they're wearing shoes to protect from cuts, scrapes and splinters, and sunscreen to protect against sunburns and harmful ultraviolet rays.

PLAYGROUND 101

- Teach children that pushing and shoving on the playground can result in accidents and injuries.
- Remind kids to go down the slide one at a time and to wait until the slide is completely clear before taking their turn. Teach them to always sit facing forward with their legs straight

Your kids can have a swinging good time playing outdoors as long as everyone remembers a few safety suggestions.

- In front of them and to never slide down headfirst.
- Remind children to swing sitting down, to wait until the swing stops before getting off and to be careful when walking in front of moving swings.

MAKE A SAFE SPLASH

- Instruct children to never swim alone or go near water without an adult present.
- Always jump in feet first to check the depth before diving into any body of water.
- Never dive in the shallow end of the pool or into above-ground pools.
- Fun on the Water
- Have children wear a Coast Guard-approved, properly fitted life jacket while on a boat or when participating in water sports.
- Educate yourself. According to the U.S. Coast Guard, 86 percent of boating accident deaths involve boaters who have not completed a safety course.
- Check water conditions and forecasts before going out on the water.

- Fire Safety Simplified
- Teach kids to never play with matches, gasoline, lighter fluid or lighters. Make a habit of placing these items out of the reach of young children.
- Do not leave children unattended near grills, campfires, fire pits or bonfires.
- Leave fireworks to the professionals.

Making Connections: Exploring The Themes Of 'Splash And Bubbles' With Preschool Children

BY ERIC SOLOMON,
DIRECTOR OF ARCTIC PROGRAMS
AT THE VANCOUVER AQUARIUM
MARINE SCIENCE CENTRE

(NAPS)—Whether we live in Idaho or India, we are bound together by, and intimately connected to, the ocean. It covers 71 percent of the Earth's surface and over 90 percent of the habitable space; it is the source of half the oxygen we breathe; it regulates the temperature and creates the climate and weather we rely on to survive.

Meanwhile, beneath the surface swims the most amazing life—glow-in-the-dark fish, disappearing octopuses, scallops with 200 eyes and just about any other weird and wonderful thing you could imagine. The ocean is weirder, funnier, richer, more colorful and dynamic than the craziest world our imaginations could ever conceive of. Yet unlike the fictional worlds of Neverland, and the many enchanted kingdoms, the ocean realm is real—and it's a vast world to which we are all intimately connected.

These are the reasons I jumped at the chance to be the Curriculum Advisor for The Jim Henson Company's new marine science-based preschool show, "Splash and Bubbles" (airing daily on PBS). It's a show that celebrates our one big ocean and all its wackiness while exploring marine biology concepts ranging from currents to cephalopods and camouflage. The show is built around five curricular themes that have both marine biology and social-emotional connections.

Diversity: Differences in how we look and where and how we live are worth celebrating!

Splash and Bubbles discover and celebrate the value of diversity as they explore new habitats, make new friends, and learn about all the different ways life looks and lives in the ocean.

Talk about it: Use moments in the show as jumping-off points to discuss diversity in our own land-based communities.

Interconnectedness: We are all connected to the ocean and to each other.

For example, in many episodes, we learn that the more we discover how diverse the world truly is, the more we realize how connected we all are.

Talk about it: Use these ocean examples to start a discussion about the many ways we all rely on each other.

Individuality: Everyone has something valuable to contribute. The gang learns that everyone on the reef has an important job to do.

Biologically speaking, every living thing has a role to play in the web of life. From a social-emotional perspective, we all have something valuable to contribute in our homes and communities.

Talk about it: Explore with your child what valuable contributions they make at home, among their friends and in their community.

Empathy: Awareness and understanding of another's feelings help us be good friends. Empathy grows as self-awareness devel-

Rangers. Talk about it: Give young viewers an opporhighlight the connections to viewers' own land-based lives. As you watch

Julie Phillips and Merrill Puckett-Miller of Herschend Enterprises,

Splash, Bubbles and their best friends Dunk and Ripple go on epic adventures, discovering marine biology and oceanography as they meet all kinds of "citizens of the sea."

ops in children. In the "Double Bubbles" episode, Ripple can see that Bubbles is upset about something.

Talk about it: Ask children whether they've ever felt that way and what would have made them feel better.

Celebration of learning: It's fun to share what you've learned with others.

Scientists are inherently excited about learning and sharing what they've learned with others. So are preschoolers. And so are the Reeftown tunity to tell you about what they've learned and share in their excitement.

"Splash and Bubbles" demonstrates and celebrates diversity, interconnectedness, individuality, empathy and a love of learning while exposing viewers to concepts of marine biology. The stories and characters make them relevant and "Splash and Bubbles" with the children in your life, I encourage you to look for and explore those connections.

"Splash and Bubbles" is a production of The Jim Henson Company and Herschend Studios. The series is executive produced by Lisa Henson and Halle Stanford of The Jim Henson Company, as well as John Tartaglia, Michael Shawn Lewis and Jill Shinderman. The series is funded in part by the Corporation for Public Broadcasting and by the National Science Foundation (NSF). Airing daily on PBS (check your local listing) and streaming on Netflix.

Don't Let Lice Ruin Summer Camp

Be vigilant about head lice in advance of summer camp.

(NAPS)
When sending kids to summer camp, parents have always worried about homesickness, safety and sunburns. One more concern is head lice. The likelihood of exposure to lice increases at places such as school and camp, where children share belongings and are in close proximity to other kids.

WHAT YOU MAY EXPERIENCE AT CAMP CHECK-IN

Many camps now perform head checks at registration to help prevent lice transmission at camp. Children who have lice may be delayed from entering camp to be treated or potentially sent home.

WHAT YOU CAN DO

1. Conduct a Pre-Camp Head Check. Parents who examine their child at home for lice can detect an infestation early and save their child the frustration of being diagnosed with lice during camp registration.

Here's how:

- Part your child's hair to examine the scalp under a light. Watch for movement. Lice will move quickly away from the light.

- Lice eggs ("nits") may look like dandruff but cannot be flicked off with a fingernail. Eggs will be attached to the hair shaft within 1/2" of the scalp.

- Use a lice comb to work through small sections of hair looking for lice or nits. Pay extra attention to the nape of the neck, behind the ears, under bangs, and the crown of the head.

2. Treat Any Infestation. If you find an infestation, get your child camp-ready quickly with a product that allows you to end an infestation in a single treatment rather than needing to reapply seven to 10 days later. Pesticide-free Vamousse Lice Treatment kills both lice and eggs in one 15-minute application—even pesticide-resistant super lice.

3. Keep Lice from Returning Home from Camp. It takes four to six weeks for telltale itching symptoms to start. This means a child returning from camp may not be diagnosed until family and friends have been exposed. While kids are away, have them use a daily defense shampoo such as Vamousse Lice Defense, which has been shown to kill lice during routine hair washing. Encourage your child to keep belongings separate, and pull long hair into a ponytail to minimize contact.

Remember that although lice are an annoyance, they are very common and do not spread disease or pose serious health risks. By making Vamousse products part of your plan for summer, you can look forward to hearing camp memories rather than, "Mom, my head itches!"

Parenting experts and educators say that if parents understood just how crucial play was for their children's development, they'd encourage their kids to play more often.

Make No Mistake—Play Is Crucial, Experts Say

(NAPS)

While most kids score an "A" in play, many parents need to understand just how crucial play is for their children's development.

That's the consensus experts share in "The American State of Play" report published by The Genius of Play™, a national movement to raise awareness of play's vital benefits.

"The latest research shows that children are spending less time playing than ever before and it's a problem," says Dana Points, a parenting expert and one of the report's contributors. "Play is one of the most essential elements of learning, helping kids develop social, emotional and cognitive skills. Yet overly structured schedules, increased screen time and diminishing recesses in schools are getting in the way."

To help your child learn, explore, create and evolve through play, check out these tips:

- Engage in All Types of Play. Kids learn through all play, but not all play must be structured and not all play is the same. Kids may take part in active, cooperative, creative, even solitary play in a single afternoon, with and without actual toys.

- Use Play as a Learning Tool. Enrolling children in a program to learn a skill is not the same as just letting kids play. The pressure parents feel to make sure their kids are getting the best training can be counterproductive to the positive emotional, social and skill-based learning they get through play.

- Recognize the Power of Recess. Recess helps kids learn. Research after recess.

- Trust Your Kids, Within Boundaries. Teach kids problem-solving skills to help them make better decisions and then set certain parameters in terms of knowing where they are, giving them space and trusting their judgment. That's how kids learn independence, competence, and confidence they need for success in life.

- Guide Children's Tech Use. Give kids time to explore virtual worlds and tech-based play but set limits, just as you do with everything else. Parents can be role models in how to use technology in a responsible way.

- Let Kids Lead the Way. Parents learn much more from children when they interact and play with them on their terms. Just being present plays a significant role.

Understanding How Boys Play

(NAPS)

Toys that encourage boys to get in touch with their creative and nurturing side can help them grow up to be happier, healthier, more successful people, experts say.

You may have seen it at home, in the classroom, on the playground and around the sports field: boys carrying on the way boys do. If someone gets roughed up, he may be told to "man up," or if feelings get hurt, to "let it go."

Although numerous studies show that strong relationships and the ability to connect are key to happiness, health and even career success, boys grow up with cultural messages telling them feelings and relationships make them weak. For generations, boys have been pumped with messages that encourage stepping away from their feelings. They're urged to mask their emotions with bravery and toughness and it's reinforced in the toys targeted to them. Trucks, action figures, building sets and the like don't much contribute to developing emotional intelligence or teaching compassion and empathy.

In the girls' toy aisle, the opposite is true. Almost all toys targeted to girls focus on creativity, friendship and nurturing.

Now, a psychotherapist and mother of a son, Laurel Wider, has come up with a way to change how boys connect during play. When her son returned home from preschool and declared that "boys aren't supposed to cry," she realized that even though she encouraged her son to express his feelings, it was quite evident that influences outside the home were sending the "man up" message. The same directive was also broadcast—loud and clear—in the toy aisle. Wider decided to use her experience and expertise to create a different play option for boys—one that would focus on building social and emotional skills.

"In efforts to bring friendship and empathy to boys' play, I knew I had to find a way to cut through the stigma and that's when it hit me: There's no reason why a superhero or builder can't also be a nurturer."

In response, Wider created a line called Wonder Crew Buddies, designed for boys ages 3 to 5. The 15" buddies combine the adventure of an action figure with the emotional connection of a stuffed animal. The four pals, Will, Marco, James and Erik, can empower boys to develop emotionally through friendship, imagination and adventure. Each 15-inch figure comes friendship- and adventure-ready, dressed in superhero gear, complete with matching mask and cape for kids. When children suit up along with their buddies, this not only adds to the crewlike vibe, but deepens the imaginative play experience.

Boys can partake in both adventurous and imaginative play, while having meaningful conversations and sharing feelings with their buddies. The diversity among the dolls is a huge plus, bolstering the confidence, self-worth and empowerment in all boys.

As Dr. Shawn Meghan Burn, Professor of Psychology at California Polytechnic State University, put it, "Children need toys that will prepare them for active roles in both the home and workplace, that promote a wide variety of skills, and that help them develop their own unique aptitudes and skills rather than only those that conform to traditional gender stereotypes." In partnership with PlayMonster, the Buddies are available now where toys are sold.

"Wonder Crew Buddies are inspired by boys but truly meant for any child," Wider added. The mission is to empower all kids to see themselves as caring, creative and strong people with the ability to go anywhere and be anything.

LEARN MORE

"Wonder Crew isn't just a line of boy dolls, we're sending boys that message that YES, of course you have feelings and YES, you can be an awesome caretaker or friend," Wider added. Wonder Crew aims to move beyond the stereotypes and empower the whole child. Learn more at wondercrew.com.

415 BUSINESS SERVICES
 Seeking area residents interested in having an on-site, professional review of their private wells. This service is grant funded by the USEPA. It is free and is confidential. Many times well owners are unaware of the possible causes of contamination in their wells. Older wells may not be sealed properly near the surface or their source of water may be shallow and influenced by things like feedlots, septic systems, or nearby land uses. Many things at or near the surface could impact the water quality of a well. This assessment provides you a comprehensive evaluation of the possible causes of contamination at or near your well to help you understand what possible risks and vulnerabilities you should be aware of that might impact your drinking water. The assessment considers site conditions, geology, land use practices, well construction, and maintenance to provide you with a detailed list of things, if any, that could impact your well water quality. The results will provide you a list of possible concerns, if any are found, and recommendations and best practices that will help you keep your well and your family safe from well contamination.

 North Brookfield, MA 01535

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!
