TOGETHER APART

This week’s edition of the paper might seem a bit smaller than you are accustomed to, but rest assured, this is only temporary. Due to the ongoing public health crisis, we are unable to print the full publication under the present state, and local events and community activities have wisely been cancelled so we all try to stay closer to home and practice social distancing.

As we ride out this temporary interruption of life as usual together, we urge you to continue supporting the local businesses that advertise in your newspaper. They have always been here for you through good times and bad, and will need your support as much as you need to be there for them going forward.

Above all, know that we care about your health and well-being and wish you a safe and happy week.

As we continue to ride out the COVID-19 pandemic, the local businesses suffering from the constraints imposed by the State of Emergency declared resulting from COVID-19 have been faced with many challenges.

While the COVID-19 pandemic has brought about many kind and thoughtful gestures nationwide, some of the most generous donations have been directed towards hospitals and first responders. In order to further support our first responders, Dudley FD Fire Chief Dean Kochanowski has accepted a donation of PPE gear from Nichols College.

Second Chance founder publishes new book

BROOKFIELD — Last Saturday should have been a night of support and celebration for Second Chance. It was also to be the book launch of “Walking Off-Leash,” written by Sheryl Blancato and her husband, Joe Blancato, Sr. When the event was postponed in light of the current COVID-19 situation, the Blancatos decided to release the book online.

Joe Blancato began writing the book almost eight years ago to capture the stories that Sheryl told him throughout the years. “I don’t think Sheryl ever fully understood the magnitude of all she has done,” says Joe who notes that the Second Chance founders works round the clock in the name of animals and rarely has a moment to look back at her accomplishments.

Sheryl Blancato, a self-described “reluctant autobiographer” who is still surprised that anyone would want to read her story, only agreed to publish the book so she could donate 16 percent of the proceeds to Second Chance to help pets in need.

According to Sheryl, “Right now, the need is great. It’s imperative that we keep our vet hospitals and our adoption center open for all the pets and pet owners who truly need help.”

Sheryl hopes the book proceeds can help defray all the costs as a result of all the extra precautions put in place to safeguard the health of visitors and staff alike.

The book, subtitled “New Passion and Dedication Inspired an Animal Welfare Revolution” chronicles the nonprofit’s evolution from a small, foster-based shelter to the animal welfare organization that serves as a role model across the country by focusing on the causes of animal homelessness instead of simply dealing with the aftermath. It begins with the origin of Sheryl’s love of animals in her early childhood and closes with a chapter entitled “The Journey Continues.”

Second Chance board member Heather Gablaski helped promote the book’s book cover to local businesses and media outlets “to spread the word to more than animal welfare workers.” It is the story of someone who didn’t take ‘no’ for an answer and found she needed to travel more than animal shelters. “It is the story of someone who didn’t take ‘no’ for an answer and found she needed to travel more than animal shelters.”

“Walking Off-Leash” is available in paperback and eBook formats. Signed copies will be available at Second Chance locations when it is safe to permit visitors to enter buildings without restrictions.

DUDLEY/CHARLTON - With the COVID-19 pandemic demanding social distancing and the avoidance of even small crowds, playgrounds across the region have been left untended and sanitized to ensure the safety and health of all users. However, when kids do return to their beloved playgrounds, they’ll find them clean and refreshed thanks to volunteer efforts from Paragon Power Washing.

The local business, owned by David Cantwell, has been approached by towns and schools across the state government to keep playgrounds and school grounds clean and maintained. “That’s the whole point of the pandemic, to do so in-person will not be able to do so. At this point, we have started about 80 playgrounds and have been extended until June 30th,” Cantwell said. As of the writing of this article, Paragon Power Washing had cleaned playgrounds at Dudley Elementary School, Mason Road Elementary School, Leicester Elementary School and Integrated Pre School, the Charlton Community Playground, Heritage School, Charlton Elementary School, and Lewis Integrated Elementary School with projects in Webster and Oxford still on their schedule.

Cantwell, who grew up and lives locally, has efforts aren’t simply a way to spread his business name. For him it’s all about giving back to the community that has given him so much and one that he has called home for his whole life. “It’s important for people to know there are those out there not only still working but trying to make a different no matter how small that difference might be. We’ve all trying to do our part to help where we can and this is what we can provide to help make a difference,” Cantwell said.

While it might still be some time before local children get to enjoy the playgrounds again, thanks to Paragon Power Washing, they will be ready and sanitized when they time comes that their kids return to a clean, sanitized, and beautiful play place when all goes back to normal.

Registry of Motor Vehicles extends renewal deadlines

BOSTON The Massachusetts Registry of Motor Vehicles on Monday was extending the deadline for renewal of driver’s licenses, ID cards, Learner’s Permits, including Driver's Licenses, ID cards, or Learner's Permit. To accommodate the current COVID-19 pandemic the RMV has implemented a delivery and organizational protocols as follows:

- Due to the current COVID-19 pandemic, the RMV has implemented a no-walk-in policy at a limited number of Service Centers that remain open to the general public. Service for necessary in-person transactions is available by appointment only. Customers should visit Mass.Gov/ RMV to make a reservation at an open Service Center or find information on over 40 transactions that can be conducted online, by phone, or at a service center.

- All Driver’s Licenses, ID cards, and Learner’s Permits, including Commercial Licenses & Permits, that have expired or are expiring between March 1 and April 12 have had a 60-day extension applied to the current expiration date and do not need to be renewed at this time. This does not apply to customers whose end of stay in the United States is in the same as the expiration date on their Driver’s License, ID card, Learner's Permit. CDL Medical Certificates that expire on or after March 12 until April 30 will be extended until June 30th to prevent license downgrades and elective medical visits, as well as alleviate demand on medical providers.

The annual motor vehicle safety and emissions inspection stickers that are required for registration will also be extended 60 days and all motorcycle inspection stickers originally set to expire on May 31 must be inspected by June 30. The RMV is also extending the time during which newly registered vehicles must be inspected based on the purchase date.

In addition, the RMV has suspended all road tests through April 12 Class D and M Learner’s Permit knowledge exams have been suspended indefinitely. Commercial Learner’s Permit tests will be available to be taken at the Milford and Wilmington BMV Service Centers during normal business hours and commercial road tests continue to occur.

For details on all of these extensions and additional information on RMV services and the RMV’s response to COVID-19, visit https://www.mass.gov/info-details/rmv-covid-19-information.

School employee tests positive for COVID-19

BY JASON REYES

DUDLEY/CHARLTON — The COVID-19 pandemic has hit home for Dudley and Charlton once again. A staff member of both towns and their school districts has tested positive for the virus.

The individual tested positive for the coronavirus is a Dudley Elementary School Teacher, who is currently in quarantine. In a joint statement from Charlie Town Administrator Aaron Lamarche, Dudley Elementary Teacher Jonathan Ruda and Charlton Town Administrator Steven Levenson, it was revealed that the teacher submitted a positive test to be tested to the town on February 31. The employee said the test results come from Dudley and Charlton Boards of Health, according to the statement.

"Our thoughts and prayers are with the teacher and their family," the statement said.

In the press release, the statement notes that schools in the area are closed to all personnel until March 18. Teachers were invited back into the school on March 18 to retrieve resources for students who are still attending

The infected individual was confirmed to have been a teacher who entered one of the activities during the week.

"The individual diagnosed with COVID-19 resides present at Dudley Elementary school, ready to enter the school for the extended closure. Since March 18, the Dudley Elementary School has been closed to teach a teacher to the school to keep our communities," the statement said.

As of April 3, Dudley and Charlton reported nine confirmed cases of COVID-19 in total. Around 915 cases of the virus have been reported in the state on potentially using a local/regionally based COVID-19 treatment facility.

"A lot may not have thought about us designing new accommodations for pets, with food, medication and boarding, and stick a written list of all those items down on their door. First responders can find it, should they go to the hospital or need to leave their home," the statement said.

"Overall, people seem to be pretty good going home. Everyone is going home safely," the statement said.

"Our hope is to follow the Governor’s Stay at Home advisory, the joint press release said.Both continue to work to take the appropriate steps to notify the other state on potentially using a COVID-19 treatment facility.

Finding joy in quarantine

Visions of a half-baked garden can brighten darks days, and here are a few tips to keep such a garden from going stale.

Firstly, take the time to soak in your own yard or garden. The fresh air and the sound of nature can calm your mind and soul.

Secondly, start some seeds indoors. This can help you stay occupied and give you something to look forward to.

Thirdly, invest in some outdoor furniture. This can help you enjoy the outdoors even more.

Fourthly, check out some local garden shows or workshops. These can help you learn new skills and meet other gardeners.

Fifthly, don’t forget to take care of your mental health. This can include activities such as yoga, meditation, or even just taking a walk outside.

Finally, remember that even during difficult times, there is always hope for a brighter future. Keep your spirits up and your garden growing.

Time to Plan the Garden!

The weather is warming up, and it’s time to start thinking about your garden. Here are a few tips to help you get started:

1. Start planning now. Take some time to think about what you want your garden to look like and what you want to grow.

2. Prepare the soil. Make sure your soil is nutrient-rich and free of weeds.

3. Choose your plants. Decide what types of plants you want to grow and where you want to put them.

4. Create a budget. Make sure you have enough money to buy what you need.

5. Get started! Once you have everything ready, it’s time to start planting. Have fun and enjoy the process!

Finding joy in quarantine

I love to sit at 5 a.m., start a pot of coffee, order my flavored Kit- chen gasp and am sitting in the kitchen, counting my blessings. My family is close and spread out in the United States, and we have to get together in person now. (I’m海上 in Los Angeles.) We have to watch the news, and we have to make sure that we are all safe. Our dear friends and family are spread out in Texas, and we are here and I’m going to make my grand- nacid a few miles from me. Don’t forget the bread. I cannot describe the joy I am feeling.

I think people often interchange the terms “happiness” and “joy,” but they are the same. They are not. Happiness is the emotional state of well-being, while “joy” is the feeling of joy. I understand what you are saying, but I cannot describe the joy I am feeling.

I love the joy in my family and friends. I am joy in making breakfast for my family. I get happiness from something as simple as a good breakfast. Want to be joyful? Have fun! Say it out loud! Start by counting your blessings.

Joy from the heart.

I find joy in my family and friends. I am joy in making breakfast for my family. I get happiness from something as simple as a good breakfast. Want to be joyful? Have fun! Say it out loud! Start by counting your blessings.

Two good passbooks:

We must not waste our time in waiting for the end of the virus. We must do something about it now. We must do something about it now.

Finding joy in quarantine

It’s not easy, but look past the market selloff

These are challenging times. Everyone is concerned about their health and their job security.

During this time, we need to focus on the things that we can control and not on the things that we cannot.

Firstly, we need to stay informed. We need to keep up with the latest news and information about the virus.

Secondly, we need to take care of our physical and emotional health. We need to eat healthy, get plenty of sleep, and exercise regularly.

Thirdly, we need to stay connected. We need to reach out to friends and family, and try to stay in touch with them.

Fourthly, we need to stay positive. We need to focus on the good things in life, and not let the negative things get us down.

Fifthly, we need to stay active. We need to find ways to stay active, even if it’s just a small walk around the block.

Sixthly, we need to stay engaged. We need to stay involved in our community, and try to make a difference in the world.

Seventhly, we need to stay hopeful. We need to remember that things will get better, and that we will get through this.

These are challenging times, but we can make it through. We can stay positive, stay healthy, and stay connected.

Many antique events and auctions have been canceled due to the coronavirus pandemic. The usual online selling and buying are still available though, and some auctioneers have even begun offering live online bidding. Many antique news is that the March/April edition of “The Auburn News” has been canceled. While not the case with some other publications that you might be familiar with, this is disappointing to antique dealers and collectors, as in my opinion, July will be one of the best shows. Many other events has also been canceled. Live auctions and estate sales have been put on hold. Antiques Weekly has a long “running list” of canceled or postponed events available on its website, antiquesweekly.com.
