Buma remembered as World War I hero

Buma Square honors his memory

The Armistice ending WW1 was signed 100 years ago, on November 11, 1918. The United States suffered some 53,000 battle deaths and President Woodrow Wilson called it “the war to end all wars,” and the war to make the world “safe for democracy.” Buma Square, at the intersection of Main Street and North Main Street is so named because of Raymond Buma, the first local casualty of World War 1 and the only Distinguished Service Cross recipient. The rare honor was received for “extraordinary heroism in action near Cuisy, France.” After all his squad members had become casualties, he alone continued to operate his gun, and after his ammunition was exhausted, he ran from shell hole to shell hole picking up ammunition and carrying it back to his gun, resuming fire on the enemy, which was very instrumental in the success of the attack.

Resident running NYC marathon for ovarian cancer research

BY KIM PALMUCCI
TRIBUNE CORRESPONDENT

Uxbridge resident Jamie Salas is currently training to run the New York City marathon on Nov. 4, committed to honoring her stepmother, Laura Tellmann, who lost her battle to ovarian cancer in January of 2018. “I will always remember that Laura had the best, most unfiltered laugh — she never held back when she’d laugh, and she’d do so often,” said Salas. “She had a way of making everyone around her feel comfortable and welcome.” Salas said running has been a huge part of her life for many years, but she really started enjoying it when Tellmann signed her up for her first race in 2007. “From the moment we ran the St. Patrick’s Day Parade Run in St. Louis together that year I fell in love,” she said, describing Tellmann as one of her heroes. Salas joined up with Team Teal, the running team for large races that raises money for the National Ovarian Cancer Coalition. In the past, she has run many races including 5K’s, 5-milers, 10K’s and more than a handful of half marathons. But she never Oktoberfest is upon us!

There was a time when they raced horses down Main Street Douglas. This year, on Oct. 6th, we will once again be closing Main Street (and Depot Street) to traffic and opening it up to our friends and neighbors! From 9 am to 4 pm we will have live music, a magician, petting zoo, games, rides, food, car show, and fundraisers. This year we will feature Berkshire Brewing beer in our beer tent, along with Ricker Hill Cider, and Pump House Red & White wine. The whole party stops twice this day to witness our brand new ‘Larger than Life Parade’ featuring music and dancing from Dance Sensations, and our ‘Larger than Life’ characters. The parade will dance its way from Stage B (by the Goodness store) to Stage A (in front of the EN Jenckes store) and up Depot Street to Stage C (in front of the Masons Lodge) The whole event will start off with the National Anthem performed by Encore, the Whitinsville Christian School Acapella group on the Main stage...you don’t want to miss that! They will be followed on the main stage by Douglas’ own Blue Car Groove, our award-winning high school chorus, the very Saxxy Brian James Quartet, and the ‘70s and ‘80s phenomenon ‘Boom Box’. New senior center van has everyone’s blessing

The Uxbridge Senior Center recently celebrated the delivery of their new van on Friday, Sept. 14. The celebration included guest speaker Senator Ryan Fattman, Susan Franz of the Uxbridge Board of Selectmen, Marsha Petrillo, former Director of the Uxbridge Senior Center, and Lisa Bernard, present director of the Uxbridge Senior Center.

Our special guest was Fr. Nick DeSimone of St. Mary’s Church in Uxbridge, who officially blessed the van.

The celebration ended with a delicious cake donated from Hannaford’s Supermarket in Uxbridge.

The van was purchased from MHQ located in Marlborough and was delivered to the Senior Center on Sept. 4. The van holds 15 passengers and will be utilized to transport Uxbridge residents to and from the Senior Center and for weekly shopping trips to Hannaford’s Supermarket and other establishments.

The van opens up many opportunities for our seniors to get out of their homes to socialize and participate in the many programs that the Senior Center offers. The Senior Center offers a hot, nutritious, lunch five days a week, cooked by our very own chef.

Please call the Center at least 24 hours in advance to arrange a ride and make reservations. Donations are accepted to defray the costs.

Car Buying Tips

People ask Place: Summer is over, what should I do to get my car or truck ready for Winter?

The Right Answer: As much as we hate to think about the cold and snow, it is coming, and our vehicles must be ready. To make sure your ride is ready here are a few things to check out. Make sure your tires are ready for the slippery roads. Check them for the proper type of tire. By this I mean you want to make sure your tires are rated as all season or winter tires. These types of tires will have tread designs and compounds that work best for the conditions. All season tires are made for a variety of conditions and adapt well to most people’s needs. Winter tires tend to have a more aggressive tread and will provide a bit more traction in the worst weather. Make sure the tread depths are good and there is no abnormal wear. Replace them if needed

Check your battery. There is nothing worse than your car not starting on a snowy winter morning. Most batteries need to be replaced every 4-6 years. Inspect the cooling system. The cooling system of your vehicle is like the circulation system. It must flow clean and easy to prevent damage to the engine. In New England we need a proper mix of water and anti-freeze to protect the engine. Make sure the concentration is correct and that the fluid is clean. Now is a great time to have your car prepared for the adverse conditions it will face over the coming months. Our techs can check the cranking power of your battery and determine if it is time for a new one. They can flush your cooling system and make sure it is ready for the cold. They can even help get the right tires at the right price.

We can service all makes and models so make your appointments now. See why Place Motor is the Right Place since 1923.

BY IAN BOWLES
TRIBUNE CORRESPONDENT

Douglas Police Chief Nick Miglionico went before the Douglas Board of Selectmen to introduce new patrol Officer Adam Wright to the town. The vacancy was the natural result of Chief Foley's retirement last year and the internal promotions that followed.

Wright started with the Douglas PD in 2014 as a part time dispatcher after graduating from Worcester State with a Bachelor's degree in criminal justice. Working his way up from part time to full time dispatcher and then part time officer, he was appointed as a full time officer in December 2017.

After 24 weeks of training at the State Police Municipal Academy in New Braintree, Wright graduated on Friday Sept. 14 and was officially sworn in the following Monday by Douglas Town Clerk Christine Furno.

Miglionico, commenting on the appointment; "Adam has proven himself through his hard work and dedication which led us to offer him the full time patrol position. He is a great addition to our department and I am confident he will have a successful career with the Douglas Police Department."

Fire department to host open house

The Douglas Fire Department welcomes local families to a free open house on Wednesday, Oct. 10 from 6:30-8:30 p.m. The open house, sponsored by Papa Gino's, is aimed at teaching families fire safety and prevention practices. The Douglas Fire Department open house will be held at 64 Main St.

This open house commemorates National Fire Safety Month (October). Participants will receive safety tips such as "stop, drop and roll", learn how to plan escape routes and how to crawl safely through a smoke-filled room. In addition, Papa Gino's, the Dedham based pizza chain, will provide free pizza and children's fire safety coloring sheets at the open house.

"This event allows us to reach out to the community and arm local families with fire safety tips and procedures," said Chief Vincent. "Our open house allows families to get together and better prepares them to react if a fire does start."

Papa Gino's is celebrating its 23rd anniversary of sponsoring fire safety open houses throughout New England to encourage families to learn about fire safety. For the past 23 years, Papa Gino's has sponsored open houses throughout New England, helping to educate more than two million people about fire prevention and safety. During the month of October, Papa Gino's will also provide guests with fire prevention themed coloring sheets and a limited amount of certificates for kids, while supplies last. Fire department open houses are being hosted throughout Connecticut, Maine, Massachusetts, New Hampshire and Rhode Island in October.

Owl Prowl
this weekend in Uxbridge

BY KIM PALMUCCI
TRIBUNE CORRESPONDENT

This weekend will really be a hoot in Uxbridge, because the annual Owl Prowl at West Hill Dam is scheduled for Saturday, Sept. 29, at 7:00 p.m.

According to Park Ranger Viola Bramel, who has hosted the event since the early 1990s, nesting season has ended and this year's fledglings will be seeking mates. September is an interesting month to observe owls as the new ones have not established a territory, and mated owls will wander outside their range.

"I started this event in 1992. I started with my personal tape recorder, an old megaphone, and a handmade tape in a Massachusetts Audubon Wildlife Sanctuary," said Bramel. "This is important as we gain the respect of visitors who help protect habitats near their own homes, too, and some of the best pictures and reports come from visitors."

The tour will start by observing animal mounts of the three species of resident owls—the great horned owl, the barred owl, and the screech owl—and listening to the calls they make. Then, visitors can sit near the wetlands or other park areas and listen for owls responding to a series of tapes, which Bramel said are approved by permit only.

Bramel added that the screech owl is typically the most vocal and reactive each year, but some migrate for food this time of year. However, with the recent hurricane, this year will boast an interesting owl prowl.

"I host this event year to see what the resident wildlife are doing for reproduction. Also, education is the best tool we have for the recruitment of stewards and caretakers for all generations to come," she said.

Animals adapt by meeting their basic needs of food, water, and shelter; Bramel added that hopefully, the owl prowl group will be able to observe the resident great-horned owl and new fledglings seeking mates.

Bramel said in past years, owls have dive-bombed at the tape recorder, and the group has even had a barred owl land above them in the trees and call back and forth with them for a lengthy amount of time.

"I finally apologized saying we aren't your mate, and we left," Bramel said. "Owls get used to my tapes; I try to make new ones every year, so some years we get no response. Last year was mostly screech, but only in the distance."

Only heavy rain would warrant a cancellation of this two-hour event; the group will meet at the large picnic shelter on Saturday at West Hill Dam.

Interested parties are encouraged to bring a flashlight, dress for the weather, and be prepared to walk a distance of about a ¼ mile to suitable habitat. Children under the age of 16 must be accompanied by an adult; the program is not recommended for children under eight.

"[Visitors] really enjoy this event, bring children and grandchildren, and some have been coming for more than ten years to see what the owls have been doing during droughts, flood events here, and more through the years."

Historic paint restoration of Tennis Shack complete

BY KIM PALMUCCI
TRIBUNE CORRESPONDENT

The paint restoration of the building referred to as the "Tennis Shack" in Whitin Park, originally known as the Gardeners' Shed, is complete, the Whitin Community Center announced recently.

The structure has undergone an extensive and historic paint restoration over the past few weeks, a project which was donated and completed by Gadoury Homes, LLC. The building's architecture recalls an earlier time and it is an important feature within the park that tells the story of the Victorian gardens.

"I've been a Trustee to the Community Center for many years, and try to do what I can do to maintain the historic value and appearance of the original property that we inherited from the Whitin family," said Board of Trustee member and owner of Gadoury Homes, LLC Norman Gadoury. "I feel that everyone should do their part. The Community Center operates on very little assistance, and we do a tremendous job for the community—this is all true philanthropy."

According to information supplied by the Community Center, the building is the only remaining original building left from the John C. Whitin estate, circa 1875, on the property. The 11-acre estate of the founder of the Whitin Machine Works was developed in the 1870s as a gift to Whitin's second wife, Sarah Elizabeth Pratt. On the northern border of the estate, High Street, there was a large glass greenhouse constructed. Below the greenhouse, the land was terraced flat to accommodate a large formal garden. Many specimens grown in the greenhouse were transplanted into the

At 2-3 p.m. we will be holding a Field Day Olympics consisting of three events. A sack race, three legged race, and an egg drop race. Two age groups are invited, 8 years old and younger, and over 8 years old. Prizes to be awarded. Entry forms available online at www.danielsfarmstead.org or you can sign up on the day of the event.

Browse the Farmer’s Market where there will be fresh produce, apples and cider from local orchards, apple related foodstuffs including apple crisp, locally made craft items and much more! Baked products will also be available for sale at the food concession along with burgers, hot dogs, and sausage sandwiches from our grill.

Music will be provided by the Blackstone Valley Music led by Shanna Keegan from 11:00 AM to 1:00 PM.

Tours of the historic cider house and the Daniels’ home will take place throughout the day.

The day concludes with the dedication and blessing of the Daniels Farmstead Memory Orchard to be held from 3:30-4:00PM where individuals have an opportunity to plant an apple tree in memory of a loved one.

Hiram T. Daniels was proprietor of the farm beginning in the late 1800s. He constructed a cider mill for the apple orchard which he had on the property and which would become a mainstay crop for the farm for a period of time in the early 1900s. he cider mill was later improved with a second press for the thriving apple orchard and to accommodate vinegar and cider production for farmers as far away as Woonsocket, Rhode Island. Throughout the mid-twentieth century Hiram’s son, Adin Thayer Daniels, better known as “Charlie”, raised peaches and hayed the fertile fields. He also worked the cider mill with two presses powered by a steam engine and a large outside cistern until 1950. Vinegar and cider were processed and sold at the farm until Charlie’s passing in 1993.

Some years ago, the steam engine, which powered the cider presses, was sold to Hopedale Mill, yet the cider mill retains its works representing an important building type and function.

The Daniels Farmstead Foundation, Inc. was founded in 2003 with an all-volunteer board of directors with the goal to protect and preserve this historically significant farm and buildings and its pristine farmlands; to restore the farm to its former splendor; and to operate a living museum where local historians, schools, and the general public can learn about the New England Farm life from the 18th and 19th centuries. This remarkable endeavor is due to the efforts of Doris Daniels King and her family to preserve the farmstead’s history and legacy. The Foundation’s focus is to provide a place for people to gather, celebrate, and learn the values of a working farm and its traditions.

Come join the celebration! For more information for this event, contact Jim Beauchamp at jim.beauchamp2251@gmail.com or call 508-498-0270. Visit our website at www.danielsfarmstead.org formal gardens; built into the foot of this garden area was a simple building — commonly referred to as a Gardeners’ Shed. The Gardener’s Shed was once adjacent to tiered flowerbeds and an award-winning greenhouse that produced orchids year-round.

When the estate was closed and the mansion was torn down in 1943, the land was deeded to the Whitin Community Center. It was then that the Trustees discussed how the newly acquired 7.5 acres of the “upper estate” could be utilized toward their mission to support the health and well-being of individuals and families and to build a strong community in the Blackstone Valley. The entire parcel of land was on a hillside, rising 75 feet in elevation that made the land unsuitable for sports such as baseball, football, or soccer. There was one flat area, however—the former formal garden—and it was decided to build three tennis courts across the expanse.

In 1945, the Gardeners’ Shed was retained, and was put to new use as the Tennis Shack where players could assemble

Gadoury painted the building to its original grandeur, and said he was most notably inspired by others who set the example of community service for him, including Gerry Gaudette and Jim Knott. The Tennis Shack will now be able to be enjoyed and used for generations to come.

“It’s a way to promote community service and the value of it,” he added. “There wouldn’t be a museum, there wouldn’t be a park, there wouldn’t be anything if it wasn’t for philanthropy.”

Valley Tech recognized for student fundraising efforts

UPTON — According to the Pancreatic Cancer Action Network, the five-year survival rate for those with pancreatic cancer is among the lowest of all major cancers at just nine percent. The network is working to create better outcomes for pancreatic cancer patients and their families with the help of fundraising efforts across the nation. On Sept. 17, the PCAN recognized Blackstone Valley Tech's Team Yancik Strong for their incredible work raising more than $15,000 to date to support pancreatic cancer research.

The BVT community began raising money for the Pancreatic Cancer Action Network as a way to support and honor HVAC&R instructor and football coach, Derek Yancik. The HVAC&R students and football players registered for the PurpleStride Boston Walk to End Pancreatic Cancer, enlisted the help of the school and local community, and began raising money. Through apparel fundraisers, bake sales, restaurant give back nights, school events, and donations, the team has raised more than $15,000 toward the fight.

Unfortunately, Yancik lost his battle with pancreatic cancer in May, but the students and staff are continuing their fundraising efforts to help future patients and families.

"I promised him last year that I would raise money again this year and attend the walk even if he wasn't here," said HVAC&R Class of 2018 graduate Allyson Charpentier. "I feel like I'm honoring him by keeping my promise."

The Pancreatic Cancer Action Network noticed the team's fundraising prowess and recognized the students and staff with a certificate of appreciation and a letter from the organization's chief science officer Dr. Lynn Matrisian.

"I know that you became involved with PurpleStride

Boston because of your high school football coach, Derek Yancik. Your team name says it best – you all are 'Yancik Strong' and you're showing all of Boston and the nation that the students at Blackstone Valley Regional Vocational Technical High School are making a difference," Matrisian wrote in her letter. "Your coach would be proud."

Dinners hosted for a charitable cause

BY KIM PALMUCCI
TRIBUNE CORRESPONDENT

Students from the Blackstone Valley Tech SkillsUSA Chapter and Culinary Arts Program are once again hosting a series of fundraising dinners to benefit several charitable organizations and causes.

Each all-you-can-eat dinner is held on a Thursday evening and consists of a themed buffet, dessert, and beverage. The following dates and themes have been selected for the fall 2018 series:

Thursday, Sept. 6 was ham; Thursday, Oct. 11 will be Italian; Thursday, Nov. 1 will be roast turkey; and Thursday, Dec. 6 will be pot roast.

"I got involved in the charity dinners during my freshman year. I was interested in culinary arts and I thought it was a good way for me to pursue that interest while giving back to the community," said Joshua DeLuca, a senior culinary arts student. "I love being a part of the monthly dinners because I get to help out both my school and community while spending time with my friends. It's really not an obligation for me; it's a fun thing I get to do."

DeLuca added that while participating in the dinners, he has built many culinary arts skills he can use in the future.

"They've really sharpened my cooking and serving skills while introducing me to new things. I got involved with the SkillsUSA competition series because of the work I was doing for the dinners. Now I compete in the Commercial Baking SkillsUSA competition and I've really enjoyed that."

A district spokesperson said the charity dinners were originally hosted by the district's Friends of Rachel club, a group aimed at fostering a permanent culture of kindness and compassion on campus, in collaboration with the culinary arts program. In January 2018, the Friends of Rachel club turned over the reins to the SkillsUSA chapter, which now collaborates with culinary arts to continue the tradition.

Proceeds from each dinner will benefit the Be Like Brit Foundation, the Doug Flutie Jr. Foundation for Autism, and the BVT SkillsUSA Chapter. The monthly dinners are held in the student-run Three Seasons Restaurant, located on the Blackstone Valley Tech campus at 65 Pleasant St. in Upton.

"We started the dinners in 2012 after a school-wide presentation from Rachel's Challenge. The first dinner raised money for a local family. It was such a success that we expanded the event and made it a monthly dinner to raise money for different charities," said culinary arts instructor Dawn Dubois. "We chose charities that benefited children because we felt like there were always children that could use our help."

Dubois noted that about 50 people have been attending the monthly dinners since the event's inception. "We love that our community is eager and willing to give back to our school and our community."

Originally known as Vocational Industrial Clubs of America, SkillsUSA was founded in 1965. It is a national organization that supports career and technical education. Students compete at the district, state, and national level in their technical areas and leadership events.

Tickets are $15 for adults and $8 for children under 12. Dinners are scheduled for 5:00 p.m., 5:30 p.m., and 6:00 p.m. with limited seating; reservations are required. Contact Kathleen Manoogian at 508-529-7758 x3019 or via email to kmanoogian@valleytech.k12.ma.us to book your reservation.

"This is my senior year, and these dinners have been so important to me for my entire high school career. I really hope it expands and continues to be a part of our entire school community. I want to see it grow and bring more people in and help more organizations," added DeLuca.

UHS educator to present at national conference

Uxbridge High School educator Claire Munley has been selected from a national pool of prospective presenters to share her experiences at the National Art Education Association annual conference.

Munley will be presenting on the integration of engineering design principles and laser engraving with digital art curricula, which has formed the basis of her master's degree work. This presentation coincides with Munley's efforts to integrate fine art education at Uxbridge High School with the technology education and engineering programs and builds off UHS participation in teacher training with AET Labs, conducted in the summer 2018.

"We cannot be prouder of the work that our STEAM [Science, Technology, Engineering, Arts, and Mathematics] team has been doing," said Uxbridge High School Principal Michael Rubin. "We are putting relevant technology in the hands of our students in multiple courses, and our students are graduating from UH S with a number of relevant and marketable tools thanks to instructional and curricular adaptations being made every day by educators like Munley."

Dr. Frank Tiano, superintendent of schools, added, "Education is continuously moving toward engaging students and curriculum in an integrated manner as it better prepares students for their post-secondary career and beyond. I congratulate Ms. Munley for her recognition in this area, as well as, recognize the supportive teaching and learning environment that has been fostered in our high school that encourages our staff to identify those critical content and skill based connections that students can make in a real-world, project-based manner."

The NAEA National Convention is an annual event providing substantive professional development services that include the advancement of knowledge in all sessions, events, and activities for the purpose of improving visual arts instruction in American schools. As such, it is the world's largest art education convention. The three-day convention includes more than 1,000 participatory workshops, panels, seminars for job-alike groups, research reports, discussions, exhibits, tours, and addresses by world-acclaimed educators, artists, researchers, and scholars. The convention provides educators with the opportunity to connect with an international audience, with close to 200 exhibitors of texts, curriculum materials, equipment, and programs. The 2019 convention will be hosted in March at Boston's Hynes Convention Center.

Founded in 1947, the National Art Education Association is the leading professional members hip organization exclusively for visual arts educators. Members include elementary, middle, and high school visual arts educators; college and university professors; university students preparing to become art educators; researchers and scholars; teaching artists; administrators and supervisors; and art museum educators. Its mission is to advance visual arts education to fulfill human potential and promote global understanding.

Over the past three years, Uxbridge High School has more than tripled its offerings in engineering, technology, and fine art courses, including significant enrollment in digital art and engineering design programs.

Recognized as a state leader in these programs through its Innovation Pathway, UHS has robust partnerships with the MassSTEMHub, the Blackstone Valley Chamber of Commerce, the Blackstone Valley Ed Hub, AET Labs, and a number of local manufacturing engineering leaders with a focus on improving student achievement and supporting opportunities for students. Munley's work focuses on bridging many of the skills developed in the STEM fields in to the fine arts and integrating the creativity of fine art classes to the manufacturing program.

"Our goal is to have our students be able to apply strategies, think creatively, and problem solve," Rubin said. "We are fortunate to have innovative educators in our building who leverage the support of our partners and the resources provided us by the School Committee and town into bringing these skills to life."

Hi! Our names are Felix and Felixiano and we care a lot about each other!

Felix and Felixiano are brothers of Caucasian and Hispanic descent. They are very close and play well together. Felix describes himself as a caring, friendly, funny boy who likes karate and is a good sharer. He loves to eat and will try almost anything, including vegetables! Felix identified basketball as his greatest talent and when he grows up he wants to be a teacher or a firefighter. He is communicative, outgoing and likes to ask questions so that he knows what is going on around him. Felix enjoys school, and has a strong desire to learn. He particularly enjoys math.

Felixiano describes himself as a boy who does the right thing and likes to play catch with his friends. Felixiano also enjoys playing basketball, video games, giving hugs, superheroes, cooking and playing outside. His favorite color is red and his favorite food is pancakes. When asked what he wants to be when he grows up, he said to be a teenager. Others who know Felixiano say that he is a playful and curious boy who is eager to please, and is both endearing and imaginative. Felixiano is very smart and performs well in school. His teacher reports he is helpful in the classroom and gets along well with the other students.

Felix and Felixiano
Ages: 7 and 9

Legally freed for adoption, Felix and Felixiano can be placed in a home of any constellation, with or without other children. Any prospective family must be open to maintaining relationships with the boys' siblings and biological parents.

Who Can Adopt?

Can you provide the guidance, love and stability that a child needs? If you're at least 18 years old, have a stable source of income, and room in your heart, you may be a perfect match to adopt a waiting child. Adoptive parents can be single, married, or partnered; experienced or not; renters or homeowners; LGBTQ singles and couples.

The process to adopt a child from foster care requires training, interviews, and home visits to determine if adoption is right for you, and if so, to help connect you with a child or sibling group that your family will be a good match for.

To learn more about adoption from foster care, call the Massachusetts Adoption Resource Exchange (MARE) at 617-54-ADOPT (617-542-3678) or visit www.mareinc.org. The sooner you call, the sooner a waiting child will have "a permanent place to call HOME."

The angst of it all

In 1967 there was a rather large party, an after party really, at a large apartment complex in a military town. This was after there had already been a fun evening at a local dance and drink establishment where soldiers and airmen were encouraged to congregate, were charged a small cover charge, but local young women were allowed in without that charge to encourage them to come, an enticement to get those soldiers and fly-boys in the door.

It worked. The place was always jumping.

So back to the story. A few people found themselves at an apartment; with beer and snacks. Not ready to call it a night yet.

There were some willing partnerships, but some weren't quite so willing; and sometimes there was some pressure to be "more willing" than certain people wanted to be.

Depending on who needed a ride home, that could be pretty daunting.

And scary.
And downright dangerous.

To be real, some of those people weren't even using their names, only nicknames.

We were lucky, the one or two of us who really, really wanted to leave found a way to do so.

It was not the last situation, or even the worst situation women have found themselves in.

Being hugged a little too tightly, kissed a little too knowingly, leered at, innuendos, "teasing" in an unpleasant manner, overbearing and condescending language; even wolf whistles in the street.

Unwanted attention is just that. Unwanted.

It is a frightening experience. And very, very hard to handle at the time it happens.

It is often unexpected, coming without warning from someone we thought we could trust; who had shown no signs of being covertly disdainful of us in the past. But suddenly there is an opportunity and that person becomes someone different.

We not only react badly, both frightened, and unnerved; but wonder what happened. Where did this behavior come from?

The excuse of drinking, or "only teasing" or a myriad of other reasons doesn't hold water.

Yet we are so astonished our first reaction, besides fear and surprise, is to blame ourselves and worry about reactions of others.

It's a woman thing.
Women will understand.

So the brouhaha over whether something should have been said 40 years ago is valid. Absolutely it is. But we do understand too why something wasn't said.

The first reaction would have been, "But this isn't like him! What the heck, what is going on? Stop it! Get away!"

And then shame, worry, fear, and agonizing over whether or not it really happened (it did), whether you had somehow done something yourself (she didn't), or whether he meant to do it (yes, he did, he just didn't have the courage to do it right when not drinking).

Drunken stupors aside; and age of people involved as well, the right of a woman of any age to be safe in an environment should be a given.

We will give one caveat however to the entire scenario. Why didn't she contact Kavanaugh through private channels, or his lawyers or representatives; or other people involved in this entire procedure to present this and try to quietly present her case? It did not have to be as sensational as it has become. It has indeed been 40 plus years. If Kavanaugh has been free of incidents since that time, it was indeed a one-off and not a pattern of behavior for his entire life, then this investigation could have been one and done. People doing the vetting could be informed as part of the entire process, it would have been informational with ALL the facts.

If in fact he is guilty of many breaches of conduct, this then would have been discovered and then a bigger case made at that time; and most likely be more plausible because the investigation would already be done.

Instead, we have a tempest over the woman's behavior instead of his, and questions over the timing instead of the reality of the incident.

How and to whom the query was made were not well planned. We have to ask whether that was done intentionally to cause the sensationalism or whether someone was just that dumb.

Investing in the future of the Blackstone Valley

YOUR TURN

Making higher educational opportunities more accessible to the residents of the Blackstone Valley has long been a goal of mine. Consequently, the news that an "education hub" has been opened by the Blackstone Valley Chamber of Commerce in the Linwood Mill building using funds that I inserted in the FY 2015 State Budget was music to my ears.

The Blackstone Valley Education Hub will help to satisfy several concerns that I had as a state legislator. It will complement the educational programs of Valley area high schools by offering skills development to prepare students for jobs in advanced manufacturing.

The Valley area has long benefitted from a first-class vocational-technical high school at Valley Tech in Upton, however, it does not have the capacity to serve every student who would like to go there. I've often worried that students who want skills training that's not available in their local high school, but who are unable to attend Blackstone Valley Tech, were missing out on essential career skill development. The new hub will help to close that gap, and is already working with Northbridge and Uxbridge high schools.

This new education hub will also be able to help current workers who need to update their technical skills to earn more money and advance in their careers. The people who live in the Blackstone Valley, where unemployment rates have often exceeded state levels, have always preferred a helping hand rather than a hand out. The education hub will offer that helping hand.

When I first began to advocate for a Blackstone Valley Community College or a satellite campus of Quinsigamond Community College in the 1970s, it was during a recession with high unemployment. The dominant textile mills had already moved south or overseas and workers desperately needed help to prepare Valley residents for careers of the future.

It was becoming increasingly apparent that the remaining traditional manufacturing industries in the Valley such as Whitin Machine Works and Draper Corporation were struggling to remain as major local employers and economic engines of the Valley. Workers needed to receive training in computers and technology to be employable in the emerging economy.

In the early 1970s, as a selectman in Hopedale, I was appointed by Governor Francis Sargent to a special commission on Blackstone Valley Economic Development to investigate and find ways to improve the economic opportunities in the Valley, which chronically suffered unemployment rates of double the state average. One of the recommendations of a commission subcommittee that I chaired, was to consider the establishment of a community college in the Blackstone Valley.

Even before I was elected to the Legislature, I convinced the Quinsigamond Community College administration to open a Valley satellite program at Blackstone-Millville Regional High School in the 1970s when I served on the QCC Board of Trustees. I actually taught a state and local government course in that evening program. Later, the program was moved to the former Grafton High School building for several years, but that proved too close to the Worcester campus to attract strong attendance from Valley residents.

As a state representative, I succeeded in having the Massachusetts Board of Higher Education (then known as the Board of Regents) conduct a study which led to a proposal to create an educational center that could house Quinsigamond and Worcester State classes. However, that idea was put on the back burner during difficult economic times.

As a state senator, I worked with my colleague Senator Steve Brewer to develop a satellite facility in the former American Optical campus in Southbridge, and I'm pleased to say that effort has been very successful helping students gain college classes without travelling to Worcester or beyond. Working with Jeannie Hebert and others, we also tried to get QCC to establish a similar operation in the Blackstone Valley, studies were conducted, and that effort continues. Before I left the Senate, I succeeded in gaining a budget appropriation of $300,000 to begin offering post-secondary education and training through a cooperative agreement between Quinsigamond and the Blackstone Valley Chamber of Commerce.

I might add that the Chamber, itself, is a project that I helped to initiate as state representative in cooperation with the late Gerry Gaudette of Gaudette Insurance Agency and Joe Rahal, then-publisher of the Blackstone Valley Tribune.

The cooperative agreement between QCC and the Chamber, combined with other grants and private business investment, has taken the form of this education hub whose opening was celebrated recently with Lt. Governor Karyn Polito and Congressman Jim McGovern. Students and staff from Blackstone Valley Voc-Tech deserve to be commended as well for helping to build out the space at the Linwood Mill to serve as home for the education hub.

This hub marks a significant milestone in this 40-year quest to provide educational opportunities for Valley residents. I use the term milestone, because I hope that it is not the culmination of the quest, but a step along the way toward a more comprehensive educational institution in the Valley that will serve a wide-range of educational and training needs of Valley residents of the future. We're told that, increasingly, the ticket to a good job is no longer just a high school education (unless you are a graduate of Blackstone Valley Voke-Tech), but a two-year degree will be needed in careers in advanced manufacturing, health care, and technology, etc.

We're fortunate that Massachusetts currently enjoys near full-employment, and we hope that continues. However, we've witnessed the cyclical nature of the economy and that good economic times are, unfortunately interrupted by downturns, or even recessions. Those who receive training in this new center will be better able to find meaningful employment in a more competitive economy.

However, even if we continue to enjoy near-full employment for some years to come, we have not enjoyed the benefits of a strong economy in the form of higher wages and opportunities for career advancement. That is the other opportunity offered through this center. Those who take advantage of the programs offered in this center will be better able to find better jobs, higher paying jobs, to help them and their families keep up with the economic challenges of the time.

I want to take this opportunity to applaud Jeannie Hebert and the Chamber Board, and those at Quinsigamond, Worcester State, the Job Corps, and others who have helped to make this vision a reality. I also want to challenge them – and the elected officials of the region – to move this project to the next level of more comprehensive post-secondary educational offering geared to jobs of the future.

Richard T. Moore lives in Uxbridge and represented the Blackstone Valley region on Beacon Hill as State Representative (1977-94) and State Senator (1996-2015). He has long championed expanded educational opportunity and job development for Valley area residents.

Understanding risk tolerance is essential for investment success

FINANCIAL FOCUS

DENNIS ANTONOPOULOS

To succeed as an investor, you might think you need to know about the economy, interest rates and the fundamentals of companies in which you'd like to invest. And all these things are indeed important. But it's most essential to know yourself. Specifically, you need to know how much risk you are willing to tolerate to achieve your goals.

Of course, you've lived with yourself your entire life, so you probably have a pretty good idea of your likes and dislikes and what makes you comfortable or uncomfortable. But investing can be a different story.

Initially, you may believe you have a high tolerance for risk, but if the financial markets drop sharply, and you see that you've sustained some sizable losses (at least on paper – you haven't really "lost" anything until you sell investments for less than what you paid for them), how will you feel? If you find yourself constantly fretting over these losses, perhaps even losing sleep over them, you might realize your risk tolerance is not as high as you thought. In this case, you may need to scale back the part of your portfolio devoted to growth in favor of a more balanced approach.

On the other hand, if you believe yourself to have a low risk tolerance, and you start off investing in a conservative manner, you may indeed minimize short-term losses – but you also might find yourself frustrated over the slow growth of your portfolio. So you may decide that being highly risk-averse carries its own risk – the risk of not making enough progress to achieve your long-term financial goals. To reduce this risk, you may need to tilt your portfolio somewhat toward more growth opportunities.

In short, you may have to invest for a while before you truly understand your response to risk. But even then, don't get too locked in to one approach – because your risk tolerance may evolve over time. When you are first starting out in your career, and for many years after, you are probably investing primarily to accumulate assets for retirement. Consequently, you may need to include a relatively high proportion of growth-oriented vehicles, such as stocks, in your portfolio. While stock prices will always fluctuate, you will have many years, perhaps decades, to overcome short-term losses, so you can possibly afford to take on a greater risk level in exchange for the potentially higher returns offered by stocks and stock-based investments.

However, things can change once you reach retirement. At this stage of your life, your overall investment focus may shift from accumulation to income. This means you will need to start selling some investments to boost your cash flow – and you won't want to sell when prices are down. (Remember the first rule of investing: "Buy low and sell high.") To help avoid these "fire sales," you may want to adjust your investment mix by adding more income-producing vehicles and reducing your holdings in growth-oriented ones. By doing so, you will be lowering your overall risk level. Keep in mind, though, that even in retirement, you will need some exposure to growth investments to help you stay ahead of inflation.

Become familiar with your own risk tolerance – it can play a big role in your investment decisions.

Goodbye Mel; fishing will not be the same

Mel True Sr. with a 40 pound striper caught while fishing with his son Mel Jr.

This past week my brother Merrill “Mel” True Sr. passed away at the Providence Hospital from numerous complications at the age of 81. He had heart trouble for many years, and when it seemed as though he did not have long to live, a new heart was found after a long wait. The donor of the heart was not revealed, but we were all appreciative of the new heart, and it gave Mel 17 extra years of life, which he enjoyed to the fullest.

When he became well enough to use his boat again he called it Second Chance. His love of fishing and hunting never stopped him from enjoying his favorite pastime with his two sons Jamie and Mel Jr. Mel Jr. left his job a few years ago to pursue his love of fishing, and is now a boat captain in Massachusetts! His boat is named Fishnet Charters, and has become well known on the ocean and on the internet. Mel Jr. often brought along his dad to fish alongside many of the charter fishermen and women, giving him the opportunity to continue fishing. This week’s picture shows my brother Mel a few years back with a 40 lb. striper he caught while fishing with his son Mel Jr.

I also fished alongside of my brother Mel in our younger years when our dad took time off from his job at the Whitin Machine Works to fish for trout on opening day. Fishing Prentice Brook and Johnsons Brook in Whitinsville back in the day did not take long for us to catch our limit of brook trout. We were back home in time for school, but my dad was a bit late for work.

When we got out of school we both grabbed our fishing rods and bicycles & fished both Meadow Pond and Arcade Pond. Our report cards reflected our failure to do our homework, but we could not do both, so fishing took up most of our time. I showed one of my report cards to my granddaughter. A big smile said it all!! If I had it to do all over again I would not change anything. I know my brother would do the same. In our early years, we were a different kind of millionaire with little money, but enjoyed a great childhood growing up in Whitinsville enjoying life.

Catching stringers of yellow perch, blue gills and calico bass, which were brought home for my dad to make fish chowder at least once a month. I have not had a good fish chowder since his passing many years ago.

When we got out of church on Sundays, we quickly grabbed the fishing rods and left the neighborhood to do some fishing, but it was not long before my mother realized that we had gone fishing. My mother was very upset, as a Dutch Deacon of the church would take a walk along the shores of our favorite fishing spots every Sunday after church. God forbid he spotted us and reported our fishing activities to my mother. Our mother would instruct my dad to get in his 1937 Pontiac and try to find us. The poor guy would slowly drive up and down the road at Meadow Pond trying to locate us, but we would stop fishing as he drove by, and he could not see us crouching against the embankment of the pond.

RALPH TRUE

As soon as he went by we started to fish again. Being a good Dutch family back in those days was really tough. There was no fishing, no reading Sunday papers, no movie theaters, etc. Our family was very religious which was not a bad thing, and our parents were trying to do their best to raise us that way.

I will miss my brother’s weekly phone calls updating me on the fishing he and his son enjoyed the previous week, and the visits he and I had in my back yard weekly. Rest in peace brother.

A spay and neuter clinic in Boston’s Angell Memorial Hospital offers low cost dog & cat services, as well as low cost veterinary care in some cases. There are also low cost pet services at some of the major pet shops in the area. This is a follow up on my recent column about high cost veterinary bills for pet owners which drew a substantial response from our readers. They also offer adoption to responsible residents looking for a pet. Check them out on line for more information and other low cost care for your pet at www.mspca.org/medical-centers/angell-animal-medical-center-boston/

Fishing on the saltwater has been sporadic, but anglers that are putting in their time have had some great fishing. Now that the hurricane threat is over for now, things should get back to normal, although this week’s weather forecast had a lot of wind and rain for most of the week.

The early goose hunting in the valley was extremely poor this year, but hopes are high for the start of the second opening day scheduled for Oct. 9, at which time ducks also become fair game. Waterfowl hunters are reporting a significant number of ducks in the area, with many wood ducks and mallards. By the time you read this column, trout stocking by MFW should be underway.

Pheasant hunting opens on Oct. 13 in Massachusetts! More next week!

“ Correction” The 200 Sportsmen’s Club will hold their chicken & rib barbecue on Oct. 13 and is open to the public starting at 1 p.m.!!!!!! Plenty of good food there.

Northbridge nips Warriors, improves to 3-0

BY KEN POWERS
SPORTS CORRESPONDENT

NORTHBIDGE — Perhaps it was the fact that the opponent beat them twice last season. Maybe it was the fact that in the first two games they had started slowly.

Whatever the reason or reasons, against Nipmuc Regional on Friday, Sept. 21, at Lasell Field, the Northbridge High varsity football team started fast and improved from there. The Rams scored on its first three possessions and four of its first five, built a four-touch-down lead and cruised to a 33-14 victory.

The Warriors defeated Northbridge twice last year; in the regular season, and then again in the Central Mass. Division 5 Tournament. This season the Rams needed second half rallies to register wins in its first two games against Quabbin Regional and Tyngsborough High.

“We’d like to think the fast start was because they beat us twice last year; we mentioned it during practice this week,” Northbridge head coach Ken LaChapelle said. “But it wasn’t just that. Our mantra all week was, ‘we’re in a good position. This is our first big game of the year and this game is going to set the tone for the playoffs.’ That is, after all, what we’re all fighting for right now.”

Rams’ running back Zack Roberts, who rushed for 84 yards and a pair of touchdowns, believes last year’s losses to Nipmuc motivated the Northbridge players.

“That was the No. 1 thing we were thinking about coming in. They had our number twice last year including a heart-breaking loss in the playoffs [19-14] when we had the lead and we couldn’t get it done,” Roberts said. “Coming in and getting this win means everything to us.

“Losing to them twice last year motivated us and helped get us off to the fast start, but we also knew we needed to start strong and have a good first half,” Roberts continued. “In our first two games we were a second half team. We did a great job coming in energized and ready to go.”

Northbridge (3-0) needed just seven plays and less than four minutes to drive 74 yards on the opening possession of the game to take a 7-0 lead. Roberts scored off a direct snap, zipping around the right end on a three-yard touchdown run. Roberts punctuated the TD with a dive to the pylon, knocking it over as he crashed into the end zone.

After the Rams forced the 2-1 Warriors into a three-and-out, they needed just two plays to make it 14-0, junior quarterback Jake Stuczynski scampering up the gut from seven yards out for the touchdown with 5:18 left in the first quarter.

Roberts ended Nipmuc’s next possession by intercepting a pass attempt by Judah Dishington at the Northbridge 42-yard line.

Seven plays later Stuczynski hit Brian Wildman with a short swing pass and Wildman did the rest, scurrying in from 22 yards out to make it 21-0 Rams with 1:35 remaining in the first quarter.

Northbridge began the second quarter with a long drive that ended at the Warriors’ 24-yard line, the ball going over to Nipmuc on downs. On their next drive, however, the Rams drove 51 yards on seven plays, scoring on a fourth-and-six play, Stuczynski hitting senior wideout Jordan Froment with a 32-yard scoring strike to push the lead to 27-0.

Northbridge led, 27-7, at halftime.

The most interesting development of the second half was LaChapelle’s decision to move Roberts to quarterback. Stuczynski injured his shoulder in the first half when he was driven into the ground after one of his 12 pass attempts. He came out briefly after the hit, sophomore Joey Consigli taking over, but returned to action in time to hit Froment with the touchdown toss.

It was almost like LaChapelle had a premonition something was going to happen to Stuczynski, deciding to throw Roberts in at quarterback at practice the day before the game.

“The only reason I did that was because the backup, Joey Consigli, he can run the offense but he’s not a runner,” LaChapelle said. “This is the kind of game where I needed a runner, that’s why I went to Zack. We went over it [Friday] — timing is beautiful — we worked on five plays he would run if he got in there. I thought Zack did a great job running the offense.”

Roberts was thrilled to get the call to quarterback the team.

“It’s been my dream since the eighth grade to get in there behind the center,” Roberts said. “I was surprised when he moved me there in practice and then when he told me I was going in at quarterback in the second half. I just went in there and did my best.”

One goal enough for Uxbridge to top Warriors

BY DEAN P. ST. LAURENT
SPORTS CORRESPONDENT

STURBRIDGE — Scoreless after 55 minutes of play, the Uxbridge High girls’ varsity soccer team set up a perfect counterattack to defeat Tantasqua Regional, 1-0, and extend its winning streak to four games.

The Spartans, now 4-1, gained possession of the ball at midfield, connected on a couple of crisp passes until Madeleine Schleinitz gained possession and sent a beautiful through-ball to a streaking Elena Franzosa, who sent a rocket of a shot under the outstretched arms of Tantasqua keeper Caitlyn Mills for the only goal of the contest.

“We are playing very composed,” Uxbridge head coach Brian Linnehan said. “I teach a lot of combination and possession and that is what led to our goal. We ran a combination through-ball and we got a ball behind the defense. We have a great striker in Franzosa who scored 23 goals for me last year and she got her sixth today. She can get in behind defenses on penetrating passes and finish the way she does.”

a huge opportunity to tie the score. Alli Parker ran down a pass inside the box and was tackled by two Uxbridge defenders, which forced a penalty kick attempt.

Regan Jones set up for the prime scoring chance and sent a shot that hit off the crossbar and out of the net, preserving the Spartans’ shutout. Aside from the PK attempt, the Spartans’ defense didn’t allow many other clear Tantasqua offensive chances.

“Yesterday our training session was all defense,” informed Linnehan. “We talked about that second defender, that cover defender and our cover defender today put on a clinic, there was someone always there to cover the ball if it came through. We also work a lot on deflections, so if you see a player loading up for a shot you get a foot up to make deflection.”

Early on it was clear that the Warriors wanted to play aggressive. Tantasqua was able to force five first half corners, but had nothing to show for it in the scoring column.

The Warriors have struggled putting the ball in the back of the net as of late, as their record slipped to 1-2-2.

“We have to work better in the air and take the ball out of the air, as well as their confidence in shooting,” explained Tantasqua head coach Matt Rickson. “They don’t want to pull the trigger, they’re getting in the right spots but are just hesitant to pull the trigger. They aren’t selfish, they are too nice.”

Despite the lack of offense, the defensive play for Tantasqua was superb against Uxbridge, which was led by their backup keeper Mills.

“That was our substitute goalie, our starter was ill,” stated Rickson. “She did great job and we honored her at the end of the game. She did what she was supposed to do today and did it well. I was very pleased with that.

“The back four did their job, none of their shots were that crazy expect for that great counter attack,” added Rickson.

Big plays help boost Blackstone Valley Tech by Wolverines

BY KEN POWERS
SPORTS CORRESPONDENT

UPTON — Making big plays and forcing turnovers are two sure-fire ways to ensure success in a high school football game. Against Leicester High on Saturday, Sept. 22, Blackstone Valley Tech used both to score 33 unanswered points and roll to a 40-12 victory over the Wolverines.

The Beavers improved to 2-1 with the win while Leicester dropped to 1-2 with the loss.

The Wolverines jumped out to a 6-0 lead, taking the opening kickoff and driving 62 yards in six plays, junior quarterback Dan Mero hitting classmate Jack O'Neill with a six-yard scoring strike to cap the possession.

Blackstone Valley Tech took a 7-6 lead with 18 seconds left to play in the first quarter, senior Conner Christensen scoring on an 85-yard double reverse, a play that could have ended at the BVT two-yard line with a loss of 13 yards. Instead, Christensen wriggled out a potential tackle by a Leicester defender, darted to his left and raced down the sideline and into the end zone. He then tacked on the extra point.

Leicester re-took the lead on its next possession, 12-7, junior captain Bryce Gosselin scoring on a four-yard run to cap an eight-play, 57-yard drive. Following the touchdown the Wolverines attempted a two-point conversion, but the rush failed.

On the ensuing kickoff Beavers' freshman Josh Mateo gathered in the ball at his own 10-yard line started to run into the middle of the field before quickly veering right and streaking down the sideline and into the end zone, giving Valley Tech the lead for good, 13-12. Christensen made it 14-12 moments later when he tacked on the second of his four PATs on the day.

After Mateo's return the floodgates opened for the Beavers, who scored on its next three possessions and led, 34-12, at halftime.

"Conner has been a three-year starter for us and he's a senior," Blackstone Valley Tech coach Jim Archibald said of Christensen. "We've been trying to get him the ball and it just hasn't worked out. That was a huge play for us. On the opposite end of the spectrum from Conner is Josh, a freshman who comes in and gives us a big lift by returning that kickoff for a touchdown. Those two big plays swung the momentum for us."

Junior JD Antaya scored the first of his four touchdowns on BVT's next possession, gathering in a 22-yard touchdown pass from senior quarterback Scott Mackay to help the Beavers extend their lead to 21-12.

On the first play of Leicester's next possession, Mero was intercepted by senior John Warren at the Leicester 45-yard line. Warren returned the interception to the Wolverines' two-yard line and Antaya bulled in from there on the next play, helping to push the Valley Tech lead to 28-12.

The Beavers also scored on their next possession to extend their lead to 34-12 with 1:12 left before intermission, Antaya (12 carries, 74 yards) scoring on a 19-yard run. His fourth TD of the day came in the fourth quarter on a seven-yard run.

"High school football is all about emotion, turnovers and giving up big plays," Leicester head coach Tim Griffiths said. "They ran a double-reverse and we had [Christensen] in the backfield and he ends up with an 85-yard touchdown. We rebound from that, we score, we re-take the lead and then we let them return the ensuing kickoff for a touchdown."

"We're suspect defensively," Griffiths

continued. "They scored on almost every series they had the ball. We've got to get better defensively and that's on the coaches. They're a good football team. I think we can play with them but in high school football there are ebbs and flows and when you give up the big plays — which are just as bad as a turnover — and turn the ball over, you're not going to win the game."

Lost in BVT's offensive explosion was the play of its defense, which held Leicester to 60 rushing yards and made big plays all over the field.

"Our defense has been our strength all year; it's been outstanding," Archibald said. "They had us on the ropes early and our guys did a great job getting us back into it. All week we [practiced] what we saw on film of them. We have a few former players on the coaching staff and all week we had them on the scout team."

"We really had a great week of practice," Archibald continued. "We were tough on the kids and today I think it showed; as the game went on it got easier for us. We knew what was coming and we knew where to be. My hat's off to our kids. It was a great, great job by them."

Strong second half showing boosts Beavers by Bay Path

BY NICK ETHIER
SPORTS STAFF WRITER

CHARLTON — After a pair of defensive breakdowns led to first half goals for the Blackstone Valley Tech and Bay Path Regional boys' varsity soccer teams at George L. Fowler Memorial Field on Monday, Sept. 24, the Beavers played a more inspired second half, scoring a pair of goals.

That effort was enough to get past the Minutemen, 3-1.

"I was definitely a lot happier with the second half — obviously the score, but also I do think that we were controlling a lot more and making better passes. I'm glad that the results showed," said Valley Tech head coach Khalid Al-Haza'.

"They had control of the game in the second half," conceded Bay Path head coach David Martinson. "They were a little quicker than we were. We went a little flat."

The Beavers nearly took the lead in the 45th minute when Steven Makynen hit a 25-yard free kick that ricocheted off the Minutemen's defensive line, which altered the save that was made by keeper Aiden Sabatinelli.

Undeterred, Makynen set up the eventual game-winner two minutes later when he made a left-to-right and up-and-over crossing pass to Grant Van Dyke, who finished the job with a shot back into the opposite lower left-hand corner of the net.

Makynen capped off his stellar second half by drawing a penalty inside the box in the game's final minute. He then bootied the PK past Sabatinelli to make the 3-1 final.

"He's my center attack, my senior captain. He's the one kid that I've had since freshman year on varsity," said Al-Haza'.

Makynen started his career as a defender and then moved to midfield and now attack throughout his four years.

"I'm proud of him," Al-Haza' said. "He plays defense for his club team, but I need him at attack."

Back in the first half, Van Dyke gave his team a 1-0 lead in the 10th minute with his first of two goals. A Bay Path defender couldn't clear the ball out of the box and it scooted over to Van Dyke, who slipped his shot into the far left-hand corner.

Martinson called a timeout just five minutes later to possibly jolt his team and to take an offensive approach upon the game's restart.

"We started flat, so the idea was to get the timeout and try to get them regrouped, and we changed our formation," he explained. "It gave us a little more offensive opportunity."

It worked, as Devin Hanlan scored in the 24th minute to knot the score at 1-1. Hanlan found the ball on his foot when keeper Zachary Brabham (two saves) misplayed a clearing attempt. Hanlan then had an open net to shoot into as the game was tied at halftime.

But BVT's impressive second half improved their record to 4-2. The win was crucial for the Beavers, who have lofty seasonal goals.

"Our first goal this year is we want to win back our league. The last three years, since AMSA's been in our league, they've won it," Al-Haza' said of the Advanced Math and Science Academy, adding that qualifying for the State Vocational and District Tournaments are the team's other goals.

Bay Path, meanwhile, slipped to 4-3-1 as Martinson praised the play of Sabatinelli in net, who finished with 16 saves.

"He did a great job, kept us in the game," said Martinson.

Martinson hopes that his team can avoid short stretches of flat play as the season reaches its second half.

"That's been the case every game, we have a flat spot," he said. "It's just practice and getting prepared."

made the commitment to run a full marathon, and never imagined she would—until now.

"I remember myself declaring out loud after most of my half marathons that people who run a full marathon are insane and you'll never see me running one...That all changed in early 2018 when Laura lost her battle with ovarian cancer," she said. "Whenever I think of quitting or struggle a lot on a run, I remind myself that I'm doing this for Laura and it gives me the extra push I need to keep going."

In one of their last conversations, Salas was able to thank Tellmann for the impactful influence she had on her life.

"She not only gave me the gift of running, but she was also a major influence for me in her ability to live life with grace and humor regardless of the cards she was dealt. During our last call I promised Laura I would think of her every time I went out for a run and it was during one of these runs that I started thinking about running a marathon for charity in Laura's name."

And after doing some research, Salas decided if she was going to run a marathon for Tellmann, she may as well run the biggest one, in New York City.

The American Cancer Society estimates that in 2018 in the United States, about 22,240 women will receive a new diagnosis of the disease and about 14,070 women will die from ovarian cancer. Ovarian cancer ranks fifth in cancer deaths among women, accounting for more deaths than any other cancer of the female reproductive system.

"Every single person that I have mentioned my fundraising or training to has either been directly impacted or knows someone who has had this disease," Salas said. "I hope that by being vocal and getting my fundraising efforts out there, I can raise awareness of this disease for everyone."

For more than 25 years, the National Ovarian Cancer Coalition (NOCC) has been steadfast in its mission to save lives by fighting to prevent and cure ovarian cancer, and to improve the quality of life for survivors. For the third year in a row, the organization's NYC Team Teal will run 26.2 miles in the NYC Marathon to support the NOCC and its fight against ovarian cancer. All proceeds raised by the runners will help expand the NOCC's programs and provide vital research funding.

For more information, visit Salas' Team Teal page at www.events.ovarian.org/nycteamteal/forlaura. Salas said she also has a donation jar at Bert's Breakfast & Lunch on Quaker Highway in Uxbridge for those interested in supporting her journey.

Of the 500 men from Northbridge who entered the service, he is the only soldier to receive the Distinguished Service Cross.

Three days later he was killed in the Argonne sector of France on Sept. 27, 1918 after being hit by a shell. A letter from Colonel F.C. Bolles of the 39th infantry to his parents says in part, “He was a true American soldier of unusual courage and at all times proved himself worthy of every trust. He served his gun after the entire crew except himself had been killed. When killed he was far beyond the infantry lines firing on the enemy. Corporal Buma was admired and loved by all who knew him, both officers and men, and was recommended for a distinguished service cross for his brave and gallant work.”

Buma’s mother also received a letter from General Pershing commending his bravery while in line of duty.

Raymond Buma was born Nov. 15, 1896 in the town of Ylst, in the Friesland part of the Netherlands. At the age of 10 he came to Whitinsville with his parents Minne and Theresa and his nine siblings.

When he enlisted in the US Army Dec. 31, 1917, he was 21. Before entering the service, he was employed by the Whitin Machine Works as a machinist. At one time, he was associated with his brother in managing a local baseball team called the Red Sox. Later, Raymond became manager.

His body remained in a marked grave in France until it was returned to Whitinsville three years later and laid to its final resting place in Pine Grove Cemetery. From newspaper and other accounts, it seemed the entire town turned out Oct. 21, 1921 for a military funeral to honor the young soldier. Businesses shut down and flags on public buildings and private residences were at half-mast.

Private services were held at the family’s home on Lake Street in New Village by Reverend Huston of the United Presbyterian Church and Reverend Trappe of the Christian Reformed Church, a former chaplain in the Army.

Before the services, a large contingent marched from Cottage and Prospect Street to Church Street to Memorial Square and then to the Buma residence where the remains were placed on a caisson drawn by four black horses.

Among the marchers were: members of the Jeffrey Vail Post, British & Canadian Veterans, James Pelletier Post, Rowse R. Clarke Post, High School Cadets, Navy veterans, Spanish War veterans, Whitinsville clergy, firing squad, Rockdale Mill band, town officials and members of the 376th infantry.

The line moved to Buma Square where the band played a dirge and a wreath was placed. It continued on to Memorial Hall where public services were held. On arrival at Memorial Hall the casket, covered with the national colors, was placed in front of the platform surrounded by pictures of prominent men connected with the war. Rev. Trappe read scripture and offered the pray. Rev. Huston gave a eulogy paying tribute to the first local boy to pay the supreme sacrifice, and a quartet sang. The line then proceeded to Pine Grove Cemetery where the burial took place. As the coffin was lowered into the grave, the band played “Nearer My God to Thee.” A volley was fired, taps sounded, and the flag on the coffin was given to Corporal Buma’s mother.

Buma Square was dedicated some time before Buma’s body returned home. The bronze marker was then erected some time after the military funeral, but no ceremony was attached to the placing of the marker. Josiah M. Lasell of Hill Street was responsible for placement of the marker.

4th Infantry Division

The United States declared war on Germany on April 6, 1917, and by the latter part of the summer of 1918 the U.S. had more than 3 million men in France or in training at home.

Buma was part of the 4th Infantry Division, a combat division of the US Army. It was the most technologically advanced combat division in the US Army. Its distinctive insignia, the four ivy leaves, signified the unit’s motto of “Steadfast and Loyal.”

The 4th Infantry Division included the 7th Infantry Brigade and the 39th Infantry Regiment of which Buma was a part. General Pershing, Commander of the American Expeditionary Force in France fought under his own organizational elements. Pershing began his last push on Sept. 14, 1918 at the St. Mihiel Offensive and then on to the Meuse Argonne Offensive where Buma was recognized for his heroism.

Buma’s 4th Division was withdrawn from the front on Oct. 19. During its 24 days of combat, it paid a heavy price with 244 officers and 7,168 men killed or wounded. They fought their way over 8 miles and captured 2,731 enemy prisoners.

Letters Home

In letters written home from the war, Buma states, “How would you like to shoot a gun that shoots 600 shots a minute. I like to shoot them all day. I’ve seen Jerry get a good beating. Jerry is the nickname the Americans gave the Germans. So far I’ve come out of the scrap without a scratch, although some of them came mighty close. You have to expect that. A little teamwork and we’ll get the Kaiser for sure.”

In Buma’s homeland of Friesland, Netherlands, a special event is planned for the 11th hour, of the 11th day, of the 11th month of 2018 in memory of the 100th year anniversary of the Armistice. Historians will unveil a new book, “Friesians in WW1”, in which Raymond Buma will be featured. Local relatives plan to attend the event.

Hay! I see pumpkins!

Yes, we are THAT family. You know the one. With our bigger than necessary comfy sweaters, fleece lined boots that makes our feet sweat (but we don't care), flannel scarves, and pumpkins on the brain. We are the first ones onto that hay wagon and last ones to pick out our pumpkins. We take our time, we examine each of the 700 orange orbs that are in the magnificent patch! We are the family to get totally and completely lost in corn mazes, even the ones made for kids. We are what some may call the Fall Frenzied Family. We line our front steps with pumpkins and gourds. So many, many gourds that you cannot walk up the steps. If you do somehow get up there, good luck finding the door. There are corn stalks and wreaths all over the place. Hay bales and leafy drifts, colorful scarecrows and funky doormats. We love it all and we love fall.

On Sunday, the first official day of fall, I took my family to Monson to visit Westview

MASH UPS
.....
KIMBERLY
MASCHI

Farms and bask in the delight of campfire smoke, churning ice cream, and crackling straw beneath my feet.

We finally land in Monson, after driving through the ever-exquisite antique shops along the way. I am happy to report that I did not make my husband stop the car so I could go into every open shop available.

I know, I am proud of myself too.

We parked on the grass and walked towards the farm. Now, I had my children with me so I could not go total fall fanatic. Not yet at least. I had to hold my composure and keep it at a suitable pace because I have to be a good role model and be an adult and blah blah blah. It was difficult. But thankfully when you have kids you get to go on to all the kids' activities and live your life vicariously through them. It's a perk! A pumpkin patch perk!

I did lose my composure a wee bit, I really wanted to ride the wagon the tractor was pulling, but I wanted to be in the front. You know, where it bounces the most and tosses you around like a ride, So I whisper secretly to my daughter, 'hey Charlotte want to ride up front?' She of course, as a miniature me, obliged and I shrugged my best, 'well if she wants to go up there, I guess I have to go with her' shrug.

Good job Charlotte!

When frolicking though fall festivities, like Westview, I have some helpful tips.

First tip, enjoy your visit. The seasons are short and fall is one of the best ones, not too hot, not too cold, goldilocks would say it is just right. So, Enjoy!

Second, goats. Goats are awesome. Don't just go over to the goats and have expectations that they will do backflips or act like that famous goat that goes around flip kicking its friends all over the farm. Stoop down to their level, gaze into those weird looking eyes and really see the goat for what it is. A magnificent fall creature, here to amuse you with its bleats and tiny soft licks at your hands. Bring food for them of course, if you don't, well than don't expect them to stick around.

Third, take home the weirdest gourds and pumpkins. Take the ones that are deformed and dented. Pick up the ones with weird stony bumps all over them because we weird things need attention too. Trust me, people will love your peculiar pumpkin a lot more than some perfectly round boring, grown and aged right pumpkin. Put some pumpkin spice into your décor!

My last tip, wear jeans, I am still picking hay out of places

I rather not discuss because I thought yoga pants were okay to wear! Wrong, so very wrong.

If you are a Fall Frenzied Family, like us, then you will appreciate all things autumn. So, go out there and pick those apples, drink that cider, and befriend a goat. Take your time, relax and breathe in that crisp cinnamon air.

The Vote in the Cemetery

In that great time, searching for truth became a revolutionary act.

The barrage of lies and half-truths, the understanding that names and identities and pictures and films could all be faked, could be made to seem real but were not, all of this seemed to make falsehood and truth indistinguishable.

Everyone seemed to have an agenda. Some media in particular had helped this confusion along by mixing opinion and facts, by complacently accepting that all points of view were worth listening to. But this bow to the idea of fairness gave a podium to the hateful and uncaring...those who would re-write history and ignore science.

How did we get here?

He walked into the Veteran's Cemetery slowly, reading the names and dates on each grave site, unconcerned that he did not know each individual, less concerned with where he or she had served, how they had died, what their last words to themselves were as the dark closed in...

And then he saw "Marine, Iwo." He knew that slaughterhouse only from books and films: chaos, terror, shouts, explosions, the decision to move, friends falling with a groan...and all the while knowing that there was no rhyme or reason to who lived or died. You just could not let your buddies down, you could not stop to weep or ponder or say goodbye. If you lived, there would be a lifetime for that.

You were up and off, killing them before they killed you. No matter what anyone said, when your time was up, your time was up. Frightened, but trained, you moved on. Only later would you worry about what you had done in order to survive, what you might have become. And only if there was a "later."

And then the shock, the surprise, body and mind as one, falling, falling hard.

Were there flashes? Her smile in close up, her laughter, the boy standing for the first time, his first step, that slow dance music, the dog rushing to greet him...

Or did the shock and fear and adrenaline shroud memories in a blanket of fog?

Row on row of sacrifice: all that someone was or might have been.

Each past, present and future...gone.

Good people were now convinced that democracy had gone down too, that an oligarchy ruled the country. A rich few had unusual sway over public discourse. Money wrote greed into law. Ambition muted conscience. A smooth corporate voice offered platitudes and false hope and distracted many good people from... what exactly?

These public voices were wrong about so many things: the importance of character; the unimportance of race or gender or religious belief to define citizenship; protecting the vulnerable; looking out for your neighbor; considering the future not just for a few years, but for a few generations; a work ethic that would strive to leave a better place for those that followed; a deep understanding that the courage to do the right thing accumulated in small increments, like confidence.

And those who scoffed at voting, seeing it as a waste of time because the powerful would do as they please? His message to them was simple: the dead had sacrificed everything...but they handed each of us a promissory note that came due Election Day. Vote character. Vote conscience, not party. Mistakes would be made because we are human. But we could not evade our obligation to the sacrifice.

At that moment, he decided that any politician who would scorn this sacrifice was not worthy of consideration. And anyone who supported that scorn, who enabled that disrespect, was unworthy of his vote.

There were excuses on Election Day. Good people were working hard to make ends meet, dealing with personal pain or illness, confronting a sudden life change. But Absentee Ballots were available.

To his fellow citizens who had pondered the sacrifice, he offered a reminder:

Not to vote was to spit on those graves.

What To Do When The ‘Lice Letter’ Comes Home

(NAPS)
If any of America’s 56 million school-children is yours, you are probably familiar with the “lice letter” alerting parents that a head lice outbreak has been identified at school. When the letter comes home, some parents panic while others delay action because “it wasn’t my child.” Fortunately, there are steps you can proactively take to control the exposure risk.
Be Proactive
Catching lice early is vital in halting the spread of these itchy pests. It can take four to six weeks after infestation begins for itching to start, and not everyone develops this telltale symptom. Help the entire family to avoid an outbreak by acting quickly after exposure.
Steps to Take
• Check the child and ALL family members for lice using a nit comb. To check fine sections of hair with the comb, apply a 50/50 solution of conditioner/water to the hair to help facilitate combing. Work under bright light and watch for movement. Examine the comb after each stroke, wiping it on disposable towels or running it under water.
• Nits and scurrying lice are so small that they can be easily missed. It’s likely other family members and friends have already been exposed to lice by the time an infestation is identified. If you don’t find lice but are still concerned, switch the whole family to a daily lice defense shampoo. How is a daily lice shampoo different from a lice treatment shampoo? For starters, shampoo is a form and treatments

If you get a message from your child’s school that there are lice in the class, don’t panic, but take control.

come in many forms. This topic really deserves its own article, but there is one key difference worth noting. A daily lice defense shampoo is pesticide-free and can be used like regular shampoo to defend your family against a head lice infestation or control against re-exposure to someone who has not been successfully treated. A lice treatment shampoo is used to treat an active lice infestation, and most OTC products contain pesticides so they aren’t ideal for a daily regimen. One gentle daily shampoo that offers ongoing control is Vamousse Lice Defense. It’s been found in laboratory studies to kill lice with each use and is recommended for 10 to 14 days following the risk to help reduce the potential growth of an infestation contracted but not yet identified.
• Treat anyone who is infested. With lice increasingly resistant to traditional over-the-counter pesticides, look for a pesticide-free treatment that is proven effective against super lice. There are many new types of products, so read the instructions carefully. For example, Vamousse Lice Treatment comes in a convenient mousse format that kills lice and eggs before they hatch—in just one application. Lice eggs are rendered no longer viable with this treatment, so there’s no waiting for them to hatch to treat again a week later, thus decreasing hassle and the risk of spreading lice throughout your family.
• If you are concerned about your home, vacuum, and then wash and dry any launderable items in high heat. For items that cannot be washed or soaked in 130° F soapy water, the company offers a powder that is the only one on the market proven to eliminate super lice in the environment.

Thirty Years Later—Laser Vision Correction Remains A Good Option For Many

Looking at LASIK? Work with a highly qualified ophthalmologist to learn if you are a good candidate for the procedure.

(NAPS)
2018 marks the 30th anniversary of the first laser vision correction procedure where, for the first time, people with vision issues had an option beyond glasses and contact lenses to see well. So far, more than 19 million LASIK procedures have been performed in the U.S., proving it is a popular alternative to the struggle many people have with their vision. In fact, the U.S. military relies on LASIK for its operation-ready personnel. While technologies and techniques have advanced the science of LASIK, not everyone is a good candidate for the procedure. On average, between 15 and 20 percent of patients are considered ineligible. While every patient is unique, there are general guidelines that surgeons use in determining if a patient is a candidate for LASIK eye surgery.
For adults over 18, LASIK can correct nearsightedness, farsightedness and astigmatism, within certain prescription ranges set by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration. LASIK improves vision by reshaping your cornea—the surface of the eye that helps focus light to create an image on the retina. A thorough eye exam will confirm the vision correction needed isn’t too extreme. Importantly, the prescription should be stable, meaning it has stayed the same for at least a year. During the exam, the thickness of the cornea is measured to make sure there is enough tissue for the reshaping required to achieve the desired amount of correction.

Certain health issues and medications may interfere with the healing process, making laser vision correction a poor choice. It is important that patients share their complete health history with their surgeon to ensure a recommendation for candidacy based upon all available facts.

Because many people are interested in LASIK, understanding that there is a process for becoming a candidate, accepting that the procedure has limits, and recognizing that there is a healing and recovery period involved is helpful in making an informed decision.
Knowing if you are a good candidate is important for considering any procedure, including LASIK. Finding and working with a highly qualified surgeon, having a complete evaluation of your eyes and vision, and doing your own research into the procedure are important steps in the process. Armed with the facts, both you and your surgeon will have the information needed to make the best recommendation for you and your vision.
To learn more about what to expect from a LASIK consultation, visit www.americanrefrativesurgerycouncil.org/blog.

Make Vision A Focus

(NAPS)—Did you know that more than 23 million American adults have never had an eye exam? May is Healthy Vision Month—and the National Institutes of Health’s National Eye Institute (NEI) urges all Americans to make vision a focus.

Take steps to protect your vision today, so you can see the people and things you love for years to come.

To protect your vision, see your eye care professional.

Get an eye exam—Since many eye diseases and conditions have no early symptoms, an eye exam is the best way to find out how healthy your eyes are and if you are seeing your best. Talk to your eye care professional about how often you should have an eye exam.
Eat eye-healthy foods—The foods you eat can help you protect your vision. Eat a variety of fruits and vegetables—especially dark, leafy greens like spinach, kale, and collard greens—as well as fish that are high in omega-3 fatty acids, like salmon, tuna and halibut.
Give your eyes a rest—Spending a lot of time in front of a computer can tire out your eyes. Remember the 20-20-20 rule: Every 20 minutes, look away from your screen and focus on something that’s at least 20 feet away for 20 seconds.
Know your family’s eye health history—Ask your family members about their eye health. Because most eye conditions run in the family, knowing your family history can help you tell if you’re at higher risk. If you learn that someone in your family has an eye disease or diabetes, talk to your eye doctor.
Wear sunglasses—even on cloudy days! Sunglasses can protect your eyes from the sun’s ultraviolet (UV) rays. When buying sunglasses, look for ones that block at least 99 percent of both UVA and UVB radiation.
Don’t take your vision for granted—take steps to protect it! To learn more, check out the Healthy Vision Month website: <https://nei.nih.gov/hvm>.

Reducing On-The-Job Stress Improves The Classroom Experience

(NAPS)

As with any helping profession, teaching can be a stressful job— but teachers say the rewards are worth it.

Why They Gladly Teach

According to a University of Phoenix survey, K-12 teachers most enjoy the interaction with children—with 68 percent citing seeing the growth of students and 57 percent citing working with children in general as their favorite part of the job.

How to Make Teaching Better

“Those who go into the teaching profession tend to have a passion for it. It's hard work and sometimes thankless. Self-care is important,” said Pamela Roggeman, Ed.D., academic dean for the College of Education at University of Phoenix. She offers these tips:

1. Don't be afraid to ask for help. Whether from the school principal, classroom parents or your colleagues, a support system is important.

2. Request donations for the classroom to relieve personal financial burden. Teachers often dig into their own pockets to pay for classroom supplies. Ask parents for assistance in collecting needed items.

3. Do small things every day to take care of yourself. Have snacks on hand for those days when your lunch break is interrupted. Look into short meditations or breathing exercises for times when stress levels are higher.

4. Take time to recharge. Career burnout can happen. Take a day off or a short break when you can and focus on something you enjoy.

5. Make your classroom

The teacher's self-care is an important tool for providing a better classroom experience for students.

a place where everyone can refocus. Remember that your state of mind will guide your students. Try things students can benefit from, too, such as mindful moments throughout the day or even aromatherapy.

What Else You Can Do

Staying up to date on current trends can also help reduce on-the-job stress. According to the survey, about half of the people who've been teaching for at least five years say there are more leadership role opportunities than in the past, but only 16 percent of all teachers gave themselves an “A” when it comes to educational technology, leaving room for growth in this area for many.

Many of those who feel that teaching may be their calling or are looking to advance their career in education may care for information about University of Phoenix teacher preparation programs, continuing teacher education and professional development programs. They're available on the University of Phoenix website at www.phoenix.edu/education.

Learn More

The University of Phoenix College of Education has been educating teachers and school administrators for more than 30 years. It provides bachelor's and master's degree programs for individuals who want to become teachers or current educators and administrators seeking advanced degrees to strengthen their professional knowledge. With education programs available throughout most of the U.S., it has a distinct grasp of the national education picture and priorities for teacher preparation. It's just one way University of Phoenix helps working adults. To learn about all the programs offered through the College of Education, visit www.phoenix.edu/education.
