Dancers challenge selves for good cause

BY GUS STEEVES
NEWS CORRESPONDENT

AUBURN — For some people, dancing is an everyday act, something they know well and do gracefully. For others, it can be an experience proving they have “two left feet.”

Those two groups are being paired later this month to help raise funds for a good cause. On Saturday night, Jan. 27, Auburn Mall will be hosting the ninth annual Dancing with the Stars, the biggest annual benefit for Auburn Youth and Family Services.

“I like it because I think it has a good lesson for the kids we work with that you have to take risks and try new things,”

AYFS Executive Director Sally D’Arcangelo said.

One of those throwing his feet into the ring this year is Selectman Dan Carpenter, who said by email that he’s doing it primarily for D’Arcangelo’s reason and is “honored to be asked to join in.”

“It has been a bit nerve-wracking, but fun,” he said of the learning process so far. “I’m trying to find a sense of humor when confronted with my lack of grace.”

D’Arcangelo can relate; she knows what it’s like to be on the spot. Back in its second year, she was one of the non-dancers paired with a skilled partner from Sally McDermott Dance

Studio, which has provided dancers and lessons from the beginning. (This year, they’re joined by Poise, Style & Motion of Worcester.)

“It was really, really fun, but I was nervous,” she said, noting she hasn’t danced since then.

“It’s important to do athletic things and exercise, so I liked it from that perspective.”

Firefighter Nick Fairbanks already has the athletic part down, and he said he’s also found practicing fun. But when asked if he’s ever danced before, he said, “God, no. It should be funny.”

Fairbanks is one of a long string of fire department personnel who have been, as he put it, “volun-told” to participate in this event. As one of the newest members, he was the lucky one this year, but he’s upbeat about it all.

D’Arcangelo said the idea was born after she saw the show on TV and bounced it off McDermott and a former AYFS board member. For many years before then, they’d held a formal charity ball and wanted to try something new. The idea of “getting community celebrities” from town departments and local businesses made the idea of Dancing with the Stars appealing.

Generally, getting women to participate has been fairly easy, but “with the men, it’s a harder sell, so we reach out,” she said. Over time, they’ve had several town department heads and selectmen, both Rep. Paul Frost and Sen. Mike Moore, and representatives of many community organizations involved, and she noted some entities, including MidState Auto, send someone almost every year.

This year, she added, there will be food from at least 12 local restaurants, and Joe Hurley will again be the Northern Exposure Outfitters Dog Sledding Company (NEO) is based in Brookfield and has been in business for the past 20 years. As a very active member of the mushing community, NEO has the privilege of educating and providing equipment for mushers across the country.

Approximately five years ago owners Bailey Cross Vitello, age 20 and Brianna Blomgren, age 22, met 15-year-old Lara Renner from Alton, NH at the Northern New England Sled Dog Trade Fair in New Hampshire. Since then NEO has worked with Lara on how to fix lines, correctly size a harness for her dogs and how to select the proper equipment she would need to compete and succeed in dogsled racing.

Rock Voices Auburn makes appearance

BY GUS STEEVES
NEWS CORRESPONDENT

AUBURN — When you see several dozen people dressed well up on a stage, what do you expect? Show tunes, classical or opera?

Well, if you go to Shepherd Hill Jan. 27, leave that preconception at the door, because what you’ll be hearing is rock: B-52s, Queen, Beatles, even Janelle Monae and James Taylor. No Bach or Gilbert & Sullivan here.

That night represents the debut concert of a new area choir called Rock Voices Auburn, led by retired Shepherd Hill music teacher Connie Galli.

“It’s a wonderful community and a great way to bring people together,” she said of the nearly 60 members. “I’m particularly impressed with their commitment and dedication. They’re just working so hard, have really formed a wonderful community and have definitely formed their own choral sound.”

The group formed last fall as the fifth Rock Voices choir in central and western Massachusetts. The idea was the brainstorm of Northampton musician and music teacher Tony Lechner six years ago, when he turned 37 people

Keeping the feathered friends from freezing

BY AMY PAUL
STONEBRIDGE CORRESPONDENT

Surviving in these cold and snowy weather conditions is easy if you have a roof over your head, warm foods to eat, and a thick blanket. But how do we best help the wild birds struggling to keep warm while living exposed to winter’s chills? A mix of bird-friendly yard plantings and feeders are the best way to maintain bird biodiversity and add to inexpensive winter entertainment.

Ellen Sousa, whose Spencer farm has been a certified wildlife habitat by the National Wildlife Federation since 2006 says, “the best way to help birds in your backyard is to provide bird-friendly plantings for food and shelter. Lots of shrubs with fruits that persist into winter such as winterberry and American holly, crabapple, chokeberry, and evergreen trees such as pine and juniper, that provide safe cover from predators and a sheltered place to weather the storms. Also, leave areas of your property wild instead of mowing/

28th Amendment proposal on ballot

BY JERRY CARTON
COURIER CORRESPONDENT

Enough petition signatures have been certified to guarantee a spot on the November ballot an initiative which would add a 28th Amendment to the US Constitution aimed at curbing the influence of special interest money in American elections. Massachusetts Secretary of State William Galvin okayed the required 85,000 signatures just before Christmas.

A statement from American Promise, the organization guiding the proposal said, “we want to get big money out of politics,” specifically calling for the repeal of Citizens United v Federal Election Commission which struck down the Bi-Partisan Campaign Reform Act. In turn, asserted American Promise, that 2009 Supreme Court ruling opened the floodgates for corporations to pour millions of dollars into campaigns for federal offices.

Car Buying Tips

Customers ask place: When is the best time to buy a Car or Truck?

The RIGHT answer: (Part 2) There are some times of the year that seem better than others. I already spoke about the end of the year. Another good time is toward the end of winter going into spring. We all know about the Presidents Day sales in February. Customers, dealers and manufacturers all are beginning to feel a little stir crazy from the long cold days of January and early February. As this holiday comes along there is a bit more excitement and a strong desire on the dealer and manufacturer to get selling for the spring and summer markets. Usually this is also a time in which the manufacturers step up their advertising and incentives to support this goal. The model year changeover is a good time to buy. This is normally the September, October time frame. Incentives on the current model year are usually strong and inventories are still pretty good as the new model year is beginning to show up. Dealers will be making room for the next years vehicles and starting to trim inventories approaching the year end and holiday seasons. At Place Motor we will always do our best to save our customers as much as possible whenever you decide to buy. We will lay out all your options for you to see and make your best decision. We want the time you choose to be the right time to buy your new car or truck.

Academy holding open house

Trinity Catholic Academy in Southbridge, will host their annual Open House for families who are exploring educational options for their children in grades Pre-K through eight. Students will be able to enroll in the current school year, or plan to enroll in the 2018-19 school year. This is an opportunity for families to tour the school and meet the faculty and parents of currently enrolled students.

During the Open House, families will be able to learn about everything this unique school has to offer. Trinity Catholic Academy offers traditional values, Catholic formation and Academic excellence. As a small private school, they are able to provide smaller class sizes, offer art, music and Spanish language instruction for all grade levels, athletics, and much more.

There will be faculty, parents of currently enrolled students, coaches for cheer and basketball, as well as representatives from the golf and Arts Initiatives programs available to answer any questions or to share with you all of the great opportunities available to their students.

Trinity Catholic Academy provides a strong moral and academic foundation for our students, who progress successfully to both public and private high schools. Recent alumni have been recognized as their respective high schools valedictorian or salutatorian.

Enrollment has remained strong, with several students enrolling in January. The middle school grades 6 to 8, retained all but one student during this school year, as they moved out of area. The elementary school grades are growing, and we anticipate a waiting list to enter our preschool program. The commitment to our school is stronger than ever, come see why!

The Open House will take place on Sunday, Jan. 28, from 11:30 a.m. until 1:00 p.m.

Trinity Catholic Academy is located at 11 Pine St. in Southbridge. It provides outstanding, affordable education to children in grades Pre-K (age 4) through eight to students from Southbridge, Sturbridge and Charlton and other surrounding towns. For more information, they may be contacted at (508) 765-5991.

Should I increase the living area of my home?

This is a question you should ask of a Realtor prior to finishing area in you home that is currently unfinished or adding an addition on your home. One common thing people will do is finish off a basement to gain an extra bedroom, maybe a second bathroom or a larger family room. This will depend heavily on things like the current square footage, bedroom count, and bathroom count. If you have a 2 bedroom 1 bath home with 800 square feet and you add a bedroom and bathroom into a walk-out basement that will definitely add significant value. However, if you have 3000 square feet and 4 bedroom and 3 bathrooms. Adding that bedroom and bathroom in the basement may not be necessary for some buyers and some may actually feel the home is now too big. Another common way to add square footage that I see is converting the garage into another bedroom. This will add value because you have more square footage above grade and another bedroom. However you have now also lost value due to the removal of a garage and home will also possibly lose some buyers due to excluding buyers that require a garage. A more costly option is to add an addition onto your home. I always suggest weighing out the cost of the addition compared to the cost of buying a home that already has the square footage you want. The other concern is the setup

of the home that needed the addition. Did it have rooms that were tiny then you added a couple huge rooms and the square footage is big but the home itself feels small to the buyers. The other concern is if you are in a neighborhood where there are all 1000 square foot ranches and you add a 2000 square foot addition. Now you have overimproved for the neighborhood and will never get that investment back. This is why if you think you may want to add onto a house later, try to buy one of the smaller homes in the neighborhood so you don't overbuild for the location. I have only talked about the investment part of doing the renovation. We also have to look at our lifestyle and quality of life as well. Lets say we want our parents to move into our home to help out with the kids and to help them out as they are aging and spend more time with them. This scenario may not financially make sense for the home but it could make sense because now between you and your parents the cost is less to have the one home and you get extra benefits that are not financial. Before doing any renovation I suggest your discuss with a Realtor that you know and trust how it will affect you financially in the long run.

Tips to drive safely in snow

TRAINOR

Hot on the heels of a major Nor'easter, it's time again to review some winter driving tips to keep safe while navigating icy, snowy roadways. When the wintry weather finds you slip sliding away this season, keep in mind these common sense strategies to up your odds of a safe trip.

And remember readers, send in your best wintertime hints — you could win dinner for two at the Publick House!

Accelerate slowly to reduce wheel spin. If starting from a standstill on slick snow or ice, start in second gear so the vehicle is less likely to spin the tires. The automatic transmissions on some vehicles have a winter mode that automatically starts in a higher gear.

Reduce your speed and drive smoothly. In slippery conditions, tires lose their grip more easily, affecting all aspects of your driving: braking, turning, and accelerating. The key is to drive as smoothly as possible, avoiding sudden actions or rapid movements of any kind. Drive as if you have a bowl of water in your lap and don't want to spill any.

***
Don't lock your wheels when braking. Locked wheels can make the vehicle slide or skid. If you have a vehicle without an antilock braking system (ABS), you may need to gently apply the brakes repeatedly to avoid having them lock up the wheels.

***
Perform one action at a time when accelerating, braking, and turning. Asking a vehicle to do two things at once — such as braking and turning, or accelerating and turning — can reduce your control. When taking a turn, for instance, slowly apply the brakes while the vehicle is going straight. When it's at the right speed to take the turn, let up on the brakes and smoothly turn the steering wheel. After you're through the turn, slowly depress the accelerator to regain your speed.

***
From the Archives: Thanks to reader Robert P. Beauregard of North Oxford for pointing us in the right direction when it comes to steering clear of skids. His tip from 2009 is worth remembering:

"What's the best advice when a front wheel drive automobile (and that includes almost all cars on the road) goes into a skid? Most people would say to cut the front wheels in the direction of the skid and gently apply brakes. That's fine if you have a rear wheel drive vehicle. But with a front wheel drive, you steer away from the direction of the skid by accelerating the vehicle, since the drive wheels are up front. And there's no reason to tap on the brakes. This way, you'll come out of the skid."

Did you know tires are your most important weapon against slipping and sliding? Take into account these top tire tips:

Cold temperatures decrease the air pressure in tires, which adds to the rolling resistance caused by snow and slush. So be sure to check tire pressure regularly, especially after there has been a sharp drop in temperature.

When buying allweather or snow tires have them installed on all four wheels. This provides even traction all the way around and gives you top notch steering and stopping.

Can't replace all four? If you can only afford two snow tires, some tire experts suggest you get them mounted in the rear. Here's why: If your front tires skid, you can still maintain some control over the car by steering those wheels. But if your rear tires lose contact with the road, it's much harder to control where the car goes. For that reason, the tires with the greatest amount of traction are supposed to go on the back

Make sure you have enough tread on your tires. The drive tires must provide traction to push your vehicle over wet pavement and through snow. The steering tires must have traction to steer the vehicle. Experts say you should have at least one eighth inch of tread to plow through snow effectively.

Note: The driving advice above was culled from various sources including State Farm Insurance Agency, Consumer Reports, and Michelin Tires.

This included purchasing a Danler open sled, which she has used for the past four years.

Having firsthand knowledge of Lara's mushing skills reinforced their observations that she has become a force to be reckoned with, and that she has great success written in her future. She is now set to compete in the 2018 Junior Iditarod sled dog race held in Wasilla, Alaska.

In preparation for this 150-mile race, she has been diligently working and training her team of 10 Siberian huskies better known as "Team Snowspeeder." Many local companies, friends and family members have rallied to support her dream to conquer this long and challenging race.

One obstacle that she faced was that a longer race requires a bigger sled to meet race official's standards. Northern Exposure Outfitters wanted to make sure she had a safe, fun and successful race using top-quality gear available to compete and has officially sponsored Team Snowspeeder and Lara in the form of a Danler Grand Odysse dog sled for the race as well as providing access to their outfitting shop for equipment needed for the race.

"She has worked very hard to get here and we hope that she has a great experience and gets to meet and make many new friends along the way. The care she provides for her dogs and her love for mushing and the amazing adventure that she is about to go on reminds me of when I raced the Junior Iditarod in 2012," said Vitello.

"This race was such an eye-opening experience and one that I still talk about to this day. She will create an unbreakable bond with her dogs on this trip and we (Northern Exposure Outfitters) wanted to help her get there."

"We are both very proud of how far she has come," said Blomgren.

"Team Snowspeeder's adventure has just begun and Northern Exposure Outfitters is behind them all the way."

Local Scouts actively seeking members

UXBRIDGE — There are eleven Girl Scout troops in Uxbridge ready to welcome girls in kindergarten, first, second, seventh, eighth, ninth and tenth grades.

Joining Girl Scouts is a great way to help girls build confidence, try new things, and discover their inner G.I.R.L. (Go-getter, Innovator, Risk-Taker, Leader). Previous Girl Scout experience is not necessary. For information on Girl Scouts and how to join visit gscwm.org and click BE A GIRL SCOUT or call (508) 749-3612.

About Girl Scouts of Central and Western Massachusetts
 Girl Scouts of Central and Western Massachusetts serves nearly 8,000 girls in grades K through 12 with the strong support of 3,800 adult volunteers in 186 towns and cities in central and western Massachusetts. Girl Scouts' mission is to build girls of courage, confidence and character who make the world a better place. Since 1912, girls have explored new fields of knowledge, learned valuable skills, and developed strong core values through Girl Scouts. Today, Girl Scouts is, as it always has been, the organization best positioned to help girls develop important leadership skills they need to become successful adults. Local Girl Scout Troops Welcome New Girls. Several area towns have active Girl Scout troops with immediate openings. Auburn Junior troop #64536 welcomes girls in grades 4 and 5 and meets bi-weekly on Mondays at 6:00 pm. Auburn Junior Troop #30197 welcomes girls in grades 4 and 5 and meets Thursdays at 6:30 pm. Auburn Daisy troop #64778 welcomes girls in grade 1 and meets bi-weekly Sundays at 5:30. Douglas Daisy troop #64806 is welcoming girls in kindergarten. The troop meets bi-weekly on Tuesdays at 6:00 pm.

Rockdale Senior troop #11786 is welcoming girls in grade 9. The troop meets bi-weekly on Sundays at 6:00 pm. Whitinsville Daisy troop #64825 is welcoming girls in kindergarten and first grade. The troop meets bi-weekly on Tuesdays at 4:00 pm.

Fire department recipient of two grants

STOW - The Baker-Polito Administration announced that 253 fire departments have been awarded public fire education grants. Two hundred-fifty fire departments will receive Student Awareness of Fire Education (S.A.F.E.) program grants to work with classroom teachers to deliver fire and life safety lessons. Of these, 238 fire departments will also receive a Senior SAFE program grant to work with older adults on fire and life safety. Three communities will receive Senior SAFE grants only.

Auburn received $4,308 for its S.A.F.E. award and $2,615 for its Senior SAFE program.

"The S.A.F.E. Program has played an important role in educating the next generation of fire safe children for 23 years," said Governor Baker, "The program is a great example of state and local governments collaborating alongside teachers to improve the lives of young people." The average number of children dying in fires annually has dropped by 72% since the S.A.F.E. Program began.

"In its fourth year, the Senior SAFE program is supporting fire educators who deliver fire safety education to seniors who are most at risk of dying in fires in Massachusetts," said Lt.

Governor Karyn Polito. "Firefighters use these funds to provide older adults general home safety education and strategies on how to be better prepared to survive a fire," she added. Fire departments partner with local senior service agencies.

State Fire Marshal Peter J. Ostroskey said, "The S.A.F.E. and Senior SAFE programs are having a great impact on the fire and life safety of our most vulnerable populations - children and elders." He added, "The fire departments being supported in these public education efforts are increasing the safety of the people in their communities." The S.A.F.E. Program provides $1.2M through the Executive Office of the Public Safety and Security to local fire departments. The Senior SAFE program provides $600,000 in grant funds from fees paid by tobacco companies to the Fire Standard Compliant Cigarette Program to ensure their products meet the fire safety requirements to be sold in Massachusetts. The programs are administered by the state Department of Fire Services.

AMENDMENT

political system by concentrated wealth and power," said American Promise President Jeff Clements.

The organization envisions a 15-person volunteer Citizens Commission in Massachusetts to research and assist in drafting the details of the proposed 28th Amendment.

American Promise associate director Ben Gubtis was bullish on the prospects in the Bay State.

"Thanks to the support of hundreds of volunteers who collected, sorted and submitted those signatures, 4.5 million Massachusetts voters will have a chance to weigh in on the 28th Amendment in 2018 and stand up for democracy," he said.

Technically known as 'People Govern, Not Money Initiative', the proposal has been approved by voters in California, Colorado, Montana, and Washington.

The Massachusetts volunteer committee said it collected over 100,000 signatures from all 351 cities and towns in the state. That was news to Ianna Arthen, co-founder of the Winchendon Indivisible chapter.

"This is the first I've heard of it," she told the Courier.

Volunteer Kimberly Wass was excited.

"100,000 signatures mean our volunteers had over 110,000 face-to-face moments of shared civic engagement, most of this outside in heat, cold, sunshine and rain, all within a nine-week deadline. It's really an extraordinary feeling of what is possible, of hope and optimism and the power of individual citizens to create change," she enthused.

In both 2012 and 2014, the state legislature passed resolutions supporting the proposed amendment, urging Congress to do the same and send it to the states for ratification. American Prospect said 150 of those 351 cities and towns have also passed similar resolutions. Nationally, American Promise says 19 states and over 800 cities and towns across the country have done likewise.

D'Arcangelo said AYFS had been looking for a new venue for a while, but were learning "it's hard to find a venue that can hold that many (about 400) people." Thus, when the Mall reached out to them, they accepted; she noted they've been "very, very generous" in this, their first year as a sponsor. Savers Bank is also one.

"In the dead of winter, when it's so cold, people like to get out and have fun," D'Arcangelo said. Last year's event raised about $23,000.

2018 WINTER LECTURE SERIES

Introduction to Moths Saturday, Feb. 3 at 1:30 p.m.

Let's open the door to the fascinating world of nocturnal insects and welcome folks to the dark side! This program will introduce the families of moths likely to be encountered in central Massachusetts. Presenter David Small is a lifelong Massachusetts resident, is president of the Athol Bird and Nature Club and Director of the Millers River Environmental Center. Dave shares his passion for herps, birds, butterflies, dragonflies and most recently moths through workshops, lectures and field trips around New England. Free. Space is limited. Call (413) 267-9654 or email lectures@norcrosswildlife.org to register.

After the 2011 Tornado: Impacts on Massachusetts' Forests; Saturday, Feb. 10 at 1:30 p.m.

The 2011 tornado left a visible scar on our landscape. After the tornado, much of the affected forested land underwent salvage logging to remove the fallen trees; however, Brimfield State Forest did not. Instead, fallen trees were left on the ground. Research conducted in 2012 and 2017 has allowed us to study the effects of the tornado and salvage logging on forest recovery by comparing Brimfield State Forest to salvage-logged areas nearby. Join Danelle Laflower and Jennifer Santoro to look specifically at the tree sapling regrowth to determine how the forest is recovering after the tornado. Free. Space is limited. Call (413) 267-9654 or email lectures@norcrosswildlife.org to register.

Parents must bring the child's birth certificate, two proofs of residency, and immunization records. Children do not need to attend the registration.

Packets for registration are available at Bryn Mawr School, Pakachoag, the Superintendent's Office at 5 West St., Town Hall and the Auburn Public Library.

Please pass this information along to friends and neighbors who may have children who will be eligible to attend kindergarten. Thank you.

If you have any questions, please feel free to call Beth Chamberland at (508) 832-7733 or Jennifer A. Stanick (508) 832-7788.

Egg regs could keep them out of baskets

BY JERRY CARTON
STONEBRIDGE CORRESPONDENT

In 2016 Massachusetts voters approved banning the sale of eggs from farm animals who were restricted to cages and consumer groups hailed the result. That proposal, which was supported by an overwhelming 77-percent of voters, requires that only cage-free eggs be sold in the state by 2022, irrespective of where they were produced.

13 states though (none in New England) didn't think much of that and filed suit with the Supreme Court, arguing such a ban is unconstitutional. Indiana is the chief plaintiff but Alabama, Arkansas, Louisiana, Missouri, Nebraska, North Dakota, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Texas, Utah, West Virginia and Wisconsin are co-plaintiffs.

Massachusetts Attorney General Maura Healey's office acknowledged it has received notice but declined to comment.

The suit claims Massachusetts is trying to establish its own regulatory standards on farmers in other states, thus violating the Constitution's commerce clause and insists farmers "will have to increase their production costs by decreasing flock of herd size, investing in new infrastructure and undertaking contentious zoning approval processes. If they do not", the suit adds, "they must forgo completely any sales in Massachusetts or to national distributors that may resell products in Massachusetts".

Paul Shapiro is vice-president for policy of the Humane Society of the United States and said those 13 states are "grasping at straws."

"Massachusetts has an interest in protecting its consumers from inhumane and substandard production of eggs."

He added the state is "applying an even standard by requiring the same condition for housing animals at its own farms."

State law defines an overly restrictive cage "as one which would prevent an egg-laying hen, breeding pig, or calf raised for veal from standing up, turning around or fully extending its limbs." Many animal protection groups backed the measure.

Antique musical instruments

You may not have a Stradivarius violin in your home, but there are many other musical instruments that may be valuable.

Many people collect musical instruments. Other buyers purchase quality instruments that they can play. Musical instruments are also housed in museum collections including the Boston Museum of Fine Arts, the New York Metropolitan Museum of Art and the Smithsonian Institution in Washington D.C.

As with other fields of collecting, there are organizations for aficionados. The American Musical Society's mission is "to promote better understanding of all aspects of the history, design, construction, restoration, and usage of musical instruments in all cultures and from all periods." Their website states members include "collectors, historians, curators, performers, instrument makers, restorers, dealers, conservators, teachers, students, and many institutional members." The organization has meetings, a newsletter, a journal and online publications. Their website has links to collections of musical instruments throughout the world, educational programs, instrument manufacturers and dealers. Many factors can help you determine whether your instrument will only make a nice wall decoration or if you can pay off your mortgage. Age and condition are important with musical instruments, as they are with all antiques and collectibles. The materials used and the quality of the workmanship are also important to collectors. Having an instrument that was owned and played by a famous person will certainly increase value. A guitar played by John Lennon sold for $2.4 million in 2015.

ANTIQUES, COLLECTIBLES & ESTATES

If you have a violin, viola, cello or bass, you may be able to identify it by checking for the maker by looking through the f-holes. They are the slots on each side of the bridge. The labels on violins by better makers should be hand written. There should also be a date and the label might also show the city where the piece was made.

There are many types of musical instruments that can sell for five figure sums. Here are some instruments and makers to look for. Some of the most valuable pianos are made by Steinway. Shigeru Kawai pianos are also sought after by musicians and may bring similar figures. The right Verne Q. Powell flute can bring five figures, as can a Selmer saxophone. Guitars by several notable makers can also sell for five figures. Martin, Fender and Gibson are three of the top guitar makers.

We have auctioned some instruments that have brought strong auction prices. We have sold several violins that fetched prices in the high hundreds. A Hawaiian steel guitar from the mid-20th century went for $2,800. A cello by a 19th century maker in fair condition sold for over $1,300. A Rive sterling silver flute brought over $3,000. An RCA theremin brought over $6,000 and an Estonia piano reached over $8,000.

If this column motivates you to look through your musical instruments, take a second look if you see Stradivarius on the label. Odds are that you will see "copy of" before the Stradivarius name.

Our live auction takes place in Worcester on January 25th. On March 5, I'll be teaching my Evaluating your Antiques class at Bay Path Evening School. We have an estate sale scheduled for January 27 and 28 in Webster. Other sales are being planned. Keep checking www.centralmassauctions.com for details.

How do you find out?

There is a big taboo in America, actually it is alive and well in most countries, about talking about salaries and money.

Now, as we see the huge discrepancy in the Wahlberg-Williams movie star fiasco (he got $1 million, she got $1,000); we have to wonder, is the big secret so some can keep others from knowing just how big those discrepancies really are?

(And as a second caveat, Mr. Wahlberg oh so generously gave a big donation to some foundation or other as compensation for that big discrepancy; and his agent kicked in another bit as well to show good faith. Nice guys. How about paying Miss WILLIAMS that money for her hard work instead guys?)

We know, oh yes we do know, that the men Vee women thing is real. Very, very real.

And we have heard some very interesting reasons for it over the years.

Here are a few.

“He has a family to support.”
This when this editor was working four part time jobs because the other half of the marriage was in school full time.

“He needs it more.”
How do you know? Ever. No one can ever know the personal circumstances of home life.

“He just bought a house.”
Because he could. We never had the funding on short wages.

“The job isn’t the same.”

Actually, the job differences meant the job this person did was more difficult, not less.

“The job is more important.”

To who?

And the biggest kick yet was when a younger man was hired for the same job, at higher salary than the current one being earned. Then this person had to train said new employee.

The only reason this was discovered was because this person did the payroll. Wow.

We all have the tales. We know. But without knowing that yes, we do the same job as Bob in the next cubicle; we actually accomplish more than Joe who has the other territory; we have the same title as Dick; or maybe we even have what sounds like a more important title than Jack; the paycheck just doesn’t reflect equality in numbers in the checking account.

Unless and until that piece of the picture is resolved, some of the other feelings of inequality won’t be resolved either.

See, there is an unequal lord over serf thing that happens when you know your work is valued or not. And the lord does indeed lord it over the serf, the peon, the go-fer. It puts a different spin on interactions in other areas, it’s easier to get pushy about other things... maybe even harassment and bullying... and all because you feel you are entitled or worth more.

It might seem trivial to those who don’t have to think about it, and forcing them to think about this inequality, just as many have been forced to think about race relations, religious freedoms, political ideals and other matters are just part of where we are at this moment in time.

Becoming the best we can be

Upon my arrival as the Superintendent of the Auburn Schools in the fall of 2008, I posed three questions to the entire community, my goal being to better understand the Auburn citizens’ priorities with regard to its educational program. Those three questions were: “What three things about the Auburn Public Schools make you the most proud and believe we must not change? What three areas of concern do you have regarding the Auburn Public Schools and believe we should consider changing to further improve it? and, What is your vision of the Auburn Public Schools and how it should look in five to eight years?” The article on January 5th focused on areas that brought the community great pride, with the article on January 12th focused on areas that respondents believed should be changed, to include updates regarding progress made. This third and final article in the series will focus on the respondents’ vision for the Auburn Public Schools back in 2008, along with progress that has been realized in the past decade.

While not everyone who responded in the fall of 2008 shared their vision for the Auburn Public Schools, some generalizations still could be drawn from the comments of the many who did. In equal numbers, three goals were shared most frequently: new buildings with state-of-the-art equipment and technology; provide stability over the long-term by maintaining the current Superintendent; and a commitment to providing an excellent, top-quality, well-rounded education for all students at all levels. Several mentioned another theme that was best summarized as follows, “develop a far greater sense of community pride where students, parents and the greater community alike are proud to be associated with the Auburn Public Schools.” Additionally several suggested that the Auburn Public Schools should someday soon be in the top third - or even the top fifteen percent - of its counterparts across the Commonwealth.

It is with immense pride - and with sincere appreciation to the many who have positively contributed to the fulfillment of these goals in the intervening ten years - that I share, at least from my perspective, that each of these goals has been accomplished. The new Auburn Middle School, a state-of-the-art facility that is both beautiful and highly functional in supporting our educational program, opened in the fall of 2015. The pride of the Auburn community was palpable when hundreds of residents and APS Team members attended the official ribbon-cutting of Auburn Middle School on August 29, 2015, complete with tours of this awesome facility and a celebration of our middle school students’ future. Additionally, over $3 million was spent in upgrading the former Auburn Middle School - now named the Swanson Road Intermediate School, or SWIS for short - to give it an elementary feel and to improve its many systems, the goal being to create an educational environment in which our students and staff could work, learn, grow and thrive. This move also brought together all of Auburn’s third through fifth graders, an additional educational benefit, while allowing us to return two of Auburn’s oldest educational facilities to the Town to be repurposed. While admittedly Bryn Mawr and the Pakachoag Schools are not new facilities, they are extremely well-maintained and do a fine job in supporting our students’ and staff’s needs, while also recognizing that there are other potential facility needs across the Auburn community.

With regard to technology, we have a full 1:1 iPad program in grades six through twelve, with those students having full use of them 24/7, with our SWIS students having 1:1 access throughout each school day. At grades kindergarten through two, they have the equivalent of a nearly 1:2 environment, with students regularly and effectively utilizing these technologies throughout each school day. Additionally, our new textbook series have online components, as do the majority of those assessments, with the iPads allowing for great flexibility and innovation. Stability in leadership is a critical component in a district’s success and I’m pleased to share that the Auburn Leadership Team has enjoyed such stability for numerous years. While it is true that I have been serving as Auburn’s proud Superintendent since 2008, now in my tenth year, so too, have other critical leadership positions been maintained by other dedicated individuals. Some have spent their entire educational careers here in Auburn, with the average number of years in the same position among Auburn’s Leadership Team being 7.5 years.

Finally, and as reported in a previous article in this series, schools within the District have been recognized at the national level with blue ribbons awards, AHS was ranked #31 in Massachusetts high schools by US News & World Report - which puts them in the Top 9% of the 354 MA high schools - with the local Telegram & Gazette grading the Auburn Public Schools an “A,” one of only 4 districts to earn that distinction. While such tremendous progress speaks to the commitment of students, staff, parents and the community, there is more we can - and will do - on our quest toward educational excellence.

While additional worthy ideas were shared, one seems to capture the sentiments of many: “My vision of the Auburn Public Schools is that we finally come together and realize what a direct impact our community has on our children’s education... Good schools and quality education are the key to our future.” As noted in a previous paragraph, the pride that a community has in its schools is a reflection of its priorities. From my perspective, the Auburn community has immense pride in its schools, demonstrating their incredible commitment to our students, their future and their limitless potential. And that is the best gift that one generation can give to the next... thank you!

In the beginning, my primary reason for conducting this “Three Questions” exercise was to ensure that the vision for the Auburn Public Schools was one in which everyone had a voice in establishing. Secondly, I wanted to be sure that my vision for the Auburn Public Schools - my hopes and dreams for the District and the amazing opportunities we would provide to our students - was in keeping with the vision of the various constituencies of the entire Auburn community. Looking back now ten years later, I believe this exercise was a success. While only 49 people chose to share their input, their comments were open, honest and focused on how we could work together to improve upon our challenges. Through this exercise, my initial belief of what the community of Auburn wanted for its schools and its students was affirmed: a top-quality well-rounded educational program that helps each child achieve to his or her maximum potential. With the information gleaned from this activity, along with the input of the 120 Strategic Plan participants in the fall of 2013 and the 140 Strategic Plan participants in the fall of 2017, we have a focused plan of action that will continue to lead us - and most importantly, our students - to great places. Denis Waitley’s words continue to lend guidance as we take the next step to harness the focused energy derived when we work collaboratively in accomplishing our goals: “Goals provide the energy source that powers our lives. One of the best ways we can get the most from the energy we have is to focus it. That is what goals can do for us; concentrate our energy.” Based on the momentum from the last ten years, I am convinced that the future of the Auburn Public Schools remains bright, the students being the true beneficiaries of our collaborative efforts.

To contact me to share an idea, a concern or to ask a question, I can be reached at 508-832-7755 or via e-mail at mbrunelle@auburn.k12.ma.us. Thank you for your continued interest in and support of the Auburn Public Schools!

How can you improve your financial fitness this year?

FINANCIAL
ANTONOPOULOS

If one of your New Year’s resolutions is to get healthier, you may already be taking the necessary steps, such as improving your diet and increasing your exercise. Of course, physical fitness is important to your well-being - but, at the same time, don’t forget about your financial fitness. Specifically, what can you do to ensure your investment situation is in good shape?

Here are a few “healthy living” suggestions that may also apply to your investment portfolio:

Build endurance - Just as exercise can help build your endurance for the demands of a long life, a vigorous investment strategy can help you work toward your long-term goals, such as a comfortable retirement. In practical terms, this means you will need to own some investments with the potential to provide long-term growth. These are the investments that, ideally, you can hold on to for decades and eventually reap the benefits of capital appreciation. Of course, growth-oriented investments, such as most types of stocks, will rise and fall in value over the short term, and there’s no guarantee of profits, or even preserving principal. But if you choose wisely, and you’ve got the patience and discipline to hold on to your investments through the market’s ups and downs, you may well be rewarded.

Maintain an ideal “weight” - You can help yourself stay healthy by maintaining your ideal weight. This can be challenging - as you know from the recently finished holiday season, it’s easy to put on a few extra pounds. And, just as inadvertently, your portfolio can tack on some unneeded weight, too, in the form of redundant investments. Over time, you may have picked up too many similar investment vehicles, resulting in an overconcentration, or “flabbiness,” that can work against you, especially when a market downturn affects the asset class in which you’re overloaded. So, you might be better off liquidating some of your duplicate, or near-duplicate, investments, and using the proceeds to help broaden your investment mix.

Get proper rest - Many studies have shown that we need adequate rest to stay alert and healthy. In your life, you’ve probably already found that if you over-tax your body, you pay a price in your overall well-being. If you look at your investment portfolio as a living entity - which, in a way, it is, as it certainly provides life to your goals and aspirations - then you can see that it, too, can be weakened by stress. And one of the main stress factors is excessive trading. If you’re constantly buying and selling investments in an attempt to boost your returns, you may rack up hefty fees, commissions and taxes - and still not really get the results you wanted. Plus, if you’re frequently moving in and out of different investments, you’ll find it hard to follow a unified, long-term strategy. So, confine your trading to those moves that are really essential - and give your portfolio a rest.

To enjoy your life fully, you’ll want to take care of your physical and financial health - and, as it turns out, you can make similar types of moves to help yourself in both areas.

Winter hunting and fishing sports still excellent for those willing to brace the weather

.....
TRUE

The recent heavy rain sure had a negative effect on ice fishing this past weekend, but other than sloppy ice fishing conditions, there was still plenty of safe ice. The cold weather after the rain hardened the ice, and fishing got back to normal. Many anglers were out ice fishing this past weekend after the heavy wind and rain. Jerry, at Jerry's Bait & Tackle in Milford, reported a brisk business on live bait and worms. Cape waters had plenty of safe ice on them last week and were producing some real nice fish. Jig fishing was great for trout at Hamblin Pond. Hamblin Pond receives a good amount of trout from the state annually and provides some great fishing year around. My brother Ken and the late Dave Parker and this writer had many enjoyable fishing trips to Hamblin pond for years.

A recent post by Toby Lapinski gave me a good laugh last week. He spoke about cod fishing at the rail of a charter boat last week during the extreme cold temperatures that had anglers having cold hands and snotsicles on their noses!! If you can handle the extreme weather conditions it is great, but this writer will wait for warmer weather. Been there & done that in my younger years.

This is the time of year that sportsmen take the time to get there gear ready for spring fishing. What better way to start than to attend the upcoming sportsman's shows, and find the latest fishing gear that is available this year, and to meet old friends. The first event will be the New England Fishing Show & Outdoor Expo in Boxboro slated to open on Jan. 26 - through 28. Doors open at 1:00 p.m. Friday, & Saturday & Sunday at 10:00 a.m.! Check out the full events at the Expo on the web site at nefishingexpo.com! There is plenty of free parking.

The Springfield show at the Big-E will open their doors on Friday, Feb. 23 at 1:00 p.m. & Saturday and Sunday at 10:00 a.m.! More on this show in the coming weeks.

The RISAA saltwater fishing show in Providence RI is a must attend show if you fish the saltwater. More than 16,000 saltwater anglers attend the show every year. More on this show in the coming weeks also.

The Uxbridge Rod & Gun Club had their pheasant pen raided last week by a four legged fur bearer that killed all of the pheasant being held for a final pheasant hunt by members. 60 to be exact!! It is believed to have been a fisher cat that climbed into the pen. They are a real killing machine and will kill for the fun of it, which was evident last week at the club's pheasant pen. They are a small carnivorous animal native to North America. It is a member of the weasel family and is related to the American marten. It spends most of its time on the forest floor and rarely eats fish. It normally has its young in the spring, and will have three or four kits annually. The fisher cat has few predators other than man, who have trapped the fisher cat since the 18th century for their prized pelts. They have a delayed reproductive system that is very unique. One thing for sure, there presence is well known in the valley, and more so after last week's massacre of 60 pheasant.

The Massachusetts black bear season for 2017 had a good number of bear harvested during the three seasons. Numerous bear were harvested with shotgun this year because of the open season during the regular deer season.

The Uxbridge Rod & Gun Club will hold its annual ice fishing derby for members this Saturday, Jan 20. The derby was canceled last week because of the heavy rain and wind. A full breakfast will be served in the morning. Bring the family down for a great day of fishing. The pond was stocked last week with some impressive rainbow and brook trout. Derby starts at 8:00 a.m. sharp. Some great prizes will also be awarded.

Author to lead workshop on writing process

BY KEVIN FLANDERS
NEWS STAFF WRITER

WEST BROOKFIELD – Have you always wanted to write a novel but aren't sure where to start? Or perhaps you've written a lengthy manuscript and are eager to show it to agents and publishers. No matter which stage of the writing journey you're on, a local author is once again looking forward to guiding writers through the process.

Award-winning author Ed Londergan will hold his third annual writing and publishing workshop on Sunday, March 11, from 10 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. at the Salem Cross Inn in town. The workshop will cover the entire writing and publishing process, including content development, story structure and the creation of settings, character development, chapter arrangement, dialogue, and maintaining readers' interest throughout a story.

The cost of the workshop is $95, and lunch is included.

"The purpose of the workshop is to help people who want to write but don't know how to go about it," said Londergan, who lives in West Brookfield. "It is also for those who have written something and need to know how to move ahead."

Common problems like overcoming writer's block will be addressed. Every writer has experienced it — that dreaded moment of staring at the computer screen and not knowing how to advance the story. Having worked through writer's block on more than a few occasions, Londergan has plenty of tips to help writers regain momentum in their works.

The publishing process will also be heavily covered, including the pros and cons of traditional publishing and self-publishing routes. From writing query letters meant for agents, to creating a compelling press release and book description, every detail counts when you're attempting to get your story into readers' hands.

For Londergan, the workshop has become one of his favorite events of the year. He gets to help writers of all ages and experience levels, and he hears about many fascinating stories along the way.

"The past workshops have been attended by a variety of people of all ages and occupations, from 12-year-old students to 75-year-old retirees, all who have a story to tell," Londergan added. "The workshop is geared toward anyone who wants to write and does not know where to start, or those who have some writing experience but either haven't written anything for a while or are not sure what to do next."

The workshop always includes writing exercises that get the creative juices flowing. Whether you're a new writer or someone who hasn't put together a story in decades, Londergan has found that sometimes all it takes is the spark of a writing prompt to get the story going.

Writers also enjoy the opportunity to meet other local storytellers and share inspirations.

"There is always a lot of discussion at the workshops. Individual issues or problems anyone is having with their writing are discussed, and the group helps them with suggestions and observations," Londergan added.

One of the common issues discussed each year is the challenging process of trying to secure an agent — and the inherent frustrations of the endeavor. It's no secret that writers must have thick skin, but hundreds of rejection letters can get even the most determined writers in low spirits. By attending Londergan's workshop, writers can meet others who are going through the process and develop an important support system. Some writers even connect afterward and offer feedback on each other's stories.

"People do not realize how difficult it can be to get an agent," Londergan said. "It is possible to send a query letter to 100 or more agents and have few, if any, respond. Folks also don't realize that an agent will not consider representing an author unless they have a story that will make money for the publisher. It is a highly competitive marketplace that revolves around making money."

Registration is required for the workshop, and the deadline to sign up is March 7. To register, send an email to ed.londergan@gmail.com or call (413) 436-7901.

Auburn hockey team honored to commemorate 50-year anniversary of state championship

Courtesy photo

The 1968 Auburn High varsity hockey team defeated Arlington High, 3-2, for the Division 1 State Championship on March 23 nearly 50 years ago. Members of the team will be honored before this year's Rockets play Marlborough High on Jan. 27 at 6 p.m. at the Horgan Rink.

BY KEN POWERS
SPORTS CORRESPONDENT

AUBURN — Even now, 50 years later, when the elders of the town get together for coffee at McDonald's or breakfast at the Heritage Coffee Shop, the talk often turns into a stroll down memory lane regarding Auburn High's 1968 Massachusetts Division 1 Championship hockey team.

That team, which featured guys like Ray Bylund and his cousin in Peter Bylund, Phil Dumas, Fran Johnson, Bill Cantwell, Mike Waldron, Vern Longueuil and Steve Heslinga, will be honored at 6 p.m. on Jan. 27, prior to Auburn's boys' hockey game with Marlborough High at the Horgan Rink.

"The sport of hockey put the town of Auburn on the map in the '50s and '60s, but this team took it to another level by winning the Division 1 State Championship," Brian Davis, Auburn High's Director of Athletics, said. "I went to every game. Those guys were my heroes."

Auburn, known back then as the Dandies, defeated Arlington High, 3-2, in sudden-death overtime to win the first state championship of any kind in Auburn High history. It was only the second time in the — then — 26-year history of the Division 1 state tournament that a team outside of Eastern Mass. had won the title.

Ray Bylund, a junior on the team, scored the game winner 1:18 into overtime, rifling the puck past Arlington goalie Joe Bertagna after taking a pass off a faceoff from fellow junior Phil Dumas.

"It was a dream come true," Ray Bylund said about winning the state title. "We had a wonderful season; we were 26-1 that year. That was an incredible year. It was a joy playing for coach [Dick] Longueuil. It was a really close team."

While it was Dumas who took the faceoff prior to the game-winning goal, it was Peter Bylund who was the Auburn player who was most often in the faceoff circle.

"Peter was normally the centerman," Dumas confirmed. "But, because Ray was a left-handed shot and I was a right-handed shot, I took the faceoff. The faceoff was to the right-hand side of the goalie. It's much easier to control a faceoff with the backhand. And because I was right-handed, that was my backhand side. I took the faceoff and all in one motion passed it back to Ray and he shot it in. If the faceoff had been on the other side of the goalie Peter would have taken the faceoff because it would have been on his backhand side."

The Bylunds and Dumas were regular linemates all season.

"That was an incredible line — me, Peter and Phil," Ray Bylund said. "We had a lot of fun out there. We scored a lot of goals together."

Dumas said he never saw the puck go into the net.

"I didn't even see the shot. I was in the process of turning," Dumas said. "By the time I got turned around the shot was already on its way."

"The moment after the puck went in the goal it was like instantaneous euphoria," Dumas continued. "It was something as a kid you dreamed of; playing for your high school team and winning the state championship. I remember coming back to town on the bus and there were people everywhere. The high school parking lot and Drury Square were packed."

Eugene "Sandy" Burgin, who covered the state title game for The Worcester Telegram, remembers the Dandies' 1968 season very well.

"That Auburn team really defined much of my 32-year career at The Worcester Telegram," Burgin said in an email from his retirement home in La Jolla, Calif. "I was fortunate enough to cover every Auburn High game that season."

Auburn captured the state championship in 1968 on March 23, Burgin's 25th birthday.

"After Ray Bylund's winning goal I remember going into the locker room and the players started to sing Happy Birthday to me," Burgin said.

Dumas and Ray Bylund both remembered Burgin fondly, not only for his excellent game stories that year, but for his ever-present scarf as well.

"In those days a green tartan scarf was what I wore to keep warm in the cold rinks Auburn played in," Burgin said. "Over the course of the season that scarf became a good luck charm for me and for the team. I remember being in that press box at the old Boston Garden and when Auburn scored I would stand up and shake the scarf and the players on the bench would turn around and acknowledge it."

Burgin is making plans to return to the area to celebrate the 50th anniversary of the state championship with the team.

"Ultimately that 1968 Auburn hockey team launched my career as a sports writer and gave me some local notoriety," Burgin said. "It will always hold a special place in my heart."

Oxford puts together strong second half run to take down Rockets

BY DEAN P. ST. LAURENT
SPORTS CORRESPONDENT

OXFORD — Oxford High put together a 9-0 run late in the third quarter to take the lead and never surrendered it again as they defeated Auburn High, 56-46, in a boys' varsity basketball tilt played Wednesday, Jan. 10.

"We picked up the defensive intensity, which forced a lot of tips and deflections," explained head coach Anthony McDonald. "We have athletic guards and we turned them over in the third quarter and got layups on the other end."

Oxford trailed at the half, 24-23, but saw its defense come to fruition, which helped the team run well in transition and in turn score easy baskets. The Pirates (5-3) outscored the Rockets, 14-10, in the third and added two quick buckets in the fourth to extend the lead to seven points. From there, Oxford never lost that lead the rest of the way.

Along with their success in transition, Oxford hit five 3-pointers and had three players score in double figures.

"We are a decent 3-point shooting team so when Mr. Silva [Klaytin Silva] can catch the ball in the post we like to play inside-out to make people close out on our shooters and it worked well tonight," McDonald said.

Silva turned in a team-high 15 points and was perfect from the free throw line down the stretch, hitting four foul shots in the final minute of regulation. Guards McAddai Owusu and Eli Guivas, who caused havoc for the Rockets on the defensive end, also added significant offensive scoring by notching 14 and 11 points, respectively.

The first half was a good one for the Rockets, as they played great defense and matched the Pirates bucket for bucket. Their success was predicated on ball movement and penetrating toward the basket.

"It was more of us moving the ball, we were swinging it from one side to another and when we got stagnant we didn't look good at all, but we do get good looks when we are able to penetrate into the paint," explained head coach Andrew Niedzwiecki.

Down the stretch Auburn struggled to get easy baskets and repeat what was giving them success in the first half, but effort was never in question. Senior guard Tyler Judice never gave up, scoring 10 of his team-high 12 points in the second half.

"Our guys are playing hard and they have been playing hard every game, we are just struggling with execution right now. It has been a few close games when we aren't getting the shots that we want and we aren't forcing the team to do what we want defensively," expressed Niedzwiecki. "We are somewhat of a young team, but I have to find a better way of getting us prepared in that sense because we are not getting the looks down the stretch when we need a basket. We just need to find a way to improve."

Moving forward, for Auburn (3-5) to have success it is about one thing.

"It is about a lot of mental toughness," Niedzwiecki emphasized. "Knowing who should get the ball where and when and when we run our sets."

Parmenter heats up in fourth quarter to guide Pirates' ship past Auburn

OXFORD — Junior captain Gina Parmenter scored 15 of her game-high 30 points in the fourth quarter for the Oxford High girls' varsity basketball team, as they deflated Auburn High's seven-point fourth quarter lead to propel the Pirates past the Rockets, 47-38, on Wednesday, Jan. 10.

"Just tremendous," Oxford head coach Joe Pietrzak said after a speeches pause. "That is what leaders do in those situations is pick up your team and not only did she pick up our team offensively, but she also picked us up defensively as well. I thought she caused a lot of havoc in both aspects of the game."

The comeback started with a long two-pointer by sophomore Micaela Perry closely followed by a driving and-one by Parmenter and concluded by two free throws by junior Felicity Steiger to start the fourth quarter on a 7-0 run. That erased Auburn's 34-27 lead and tied the score at 34-34.

Oxford didn't look back after their early fourth quarter lead. After an Auburn free throw by junior Semran Sahota that silenced the crowd for a moment, Parmenter hit two clutch 3-pointers to stake the Pirates to a five-point lead (40-35) and full advantage of the game. Oxford never lost the lead again and concluded the fourth quarter on a 20-4 run to complete the comeback.

"I am very proud of them, especially coming off a tough game on Monday night against Uxbridge at their place," Pietrzak expressed. "We continued to battle tonight and I think the character of them really came through at the end of the game."

For much of the contest Oxford was fighting from behind and it wasn't until everything started to click defensively and on the glass that the Pirates were able to rally.

"We have been trying to work on our defensive pressure all year and I think tonight we started to do that, especially with our guards. I thought all five kids, whoever I had out there did a heck of a job," explained Pietrzak. "We also rebounded the ball with more passion than we have all year."

The Pirates, now 4-4, got to .500 and for a program that is rebuilding and doesn't roster a senior, Oxford is going in the right direction after the come from behind win.

"This is what we are looking to do here, we want continue to build this program and a night like this big for us. I am proud of them," stated Pietrzak.

Controlling the tempo and the pace for most of the game, Auburn had the edge for the first three quarters. Providing the Rockets' spark was Sahota, who was fearless on the offensive glass and provided a team-high 13 points.

Auburn was outrebounding Oxford and causing havoc with their full-court press until momentum shifted after the Pirates' fourth quarter surge.

"We stopped doing the little things," head coach Nicole LePrevost expressed after the tough loss, which dropped the Rockets' record down to 2-8.

Auburn Athletic Director set to be inducted into Mass. Baseball Coaches Hall of Fame

High school varsity baseball coach Brian Davis, who guided the Hudson High program to more than 285 wins and the 1999 and 2002 Massachusetts state championships, is being inducted into the Massachusetts Baseball Coaches Association Hall of Fame at 6:30 p.m. on Saturday, January 27 at the Four Points Sheraton in Wakefield.

Davis, who grew up in Auburn — where he currently serves at the Auburn High Athletic Director — is a Hudson resident, having moved there when he was coaching the Hawks. He is part of a Hall of Fame induction Class that includes Dan Avery of Framingham High, Ron Drouin of Tewksbury High and Peter Farr of Palmer High.

Tickets for the Hall of Fame Induction Ceremony and Dinner are $50 per person. Tickets can be ordered by going to the MBCA website at www.massbca.com, clicking on the tab "Hall of Fame" and then clicking on the button "Buy Tickets." Tickets can also be purchased by contacting former Auburn and Leicester High football coach Tom Lauder, who is helping to coordinate the event for Davis, at (508) 688-7666.

Baker is running...but no official statement made

BY JERRY CARTON
STONEBRIDGE CORRESPONDENT

Governor Charlie Baker has made it clear he's running for a second term this year though there's no scheduled date for an official candidacy announcement.

Baker revealed on Twitter just before Christmas he will keep Lieutenant Governor Karyn Polito as his running mate.

"We've accomplished a lot together but there's more work to do," the governor tweeted.

Jim Conroy, one of Baker's senior aides, said, "the governor and lieutenant governor remain focused on the bipartisan work they were elected to do," but declined to set a specific date for the ticket to enter the race.

Though Democrats hold a statewide registration edge and hold both US Senate seats as well as all House of Representative seats, the Republican governor has remained popular across all demographics since his narrow (48%-46%) 2014 victory over Attorney General Martha Coakely. Baker has often distanced himself from President Donald Trump on a number of issues including health care, where he opposed the failed effort to 'repeal' the Affordable Care Act and the Administration's efforts on immigration policy. The governor has gotten high marks as well from Democratic legislators on Beacon Hill.

Baker's strength is dramatized by the lack of big-name Democrats such as Attorney General Maura Healey to show any interest in challenging him. The same goes for the state's entire congressional delegation. Former Newton Mayor Setti Warren has entered the race and even made one trip to this region last fall, as have Jay Gonzalez, a member of former Governor Deval Patrick's cabinet and entrepreneur Bob Massie. Salem Mayor Kim Driscoll and former MBTA general manager Richard Davey have indicted they're considering the race.

The primary election is set for Sept. 4, the day after Labor Day. Traditionally held later in the month, Secretary of State Bill Galvin said the date was moved as to not coincide with the Jewish High Holidays. He's also asking the legislature to approve five days of early primary voting as is the case in the general election.

Woodstove cause of Oxford fatal fire

STOW - State Fire Marshal Peter J. Ostroskey, Worcester District Attorney Joseph Early Jr., Oxford Interim Fire Chief Paul Ford, and Oxford Police Chief Anthony Saad said the cause of the Dec. 14, 2017 fatal fire at 16 Sacarappa Road was the woodstove. The fire took the life of Josephine Mulvey, age 93. Two Oxford firefighters were transported for minor injuries.

The fire started at the woodstove in the living room at 7:45 p.m. The home was totally destroyed.

Chief Ford said, "I want to extend my condolences to the friends and family of Mrs. Mulvey. I would also like to commend the members of the Oxford and mutual aid fire departments who fought a fire that was well underway before we arrived and under difficult circumstances."

The single family home was located in a very rural, wooded area with no hydrants. Firefighters from ten communities had to use a tanker shuttle to provide water to put out the fire on a bitterly cold night.

The fire was jointly investigated by members of the Oxford Fire and Police departments and State Police assigned to both the Office of the State Fire Marshal and the Office of the Worcester District Attorney. Assistance was received from the Department of Fire Services' Code Compliance and Enforcement Unit.

Keep Warm, Keep Safe-<<https://www.mass.gov/ser-> vice-details/keep-warm-keep-safe-toolkit>

In 2016, there were 565 fire incidents involving chimneys, fireplaces, and woodstoves throughout the commonwealth. These fires were responsible for three civilian injuries, five firefighter injuries, and resulted in $2.3 million in property losses. In March 2017, five family members died in a woodstove fire in Warwick.

Ostroskey said, "We want everyone to keep warm and keep safe this winter. If you're heating with wood, have chimneys cleaned regularly and inspected for cracked and broken mortar. Keep combustibles three feet away from the stove, and dispose of ashes in a metal can with a lid."

BIRDS

cutting down perennials and grasses in the fall — the seed stems standing above the snow are a very important winter seed source right now. Though this year much of that is buried in deep snow."

Sousa adds, "Mostly what feeds wild birds in the winter are the seeds, fruits, nuts, buds and insect eggs found on native perennials, shrubs and trees. Spend time looking at plant and seed catalogs; plan to incorporate some bird and pollinator plantings into your landscape in the spring. Native perennials such as coneflower, aster and milkweed, and flowering shrubs such as dogwood, viburnum, chokeberry and native roses will provide food, shelter and housing at various times of the year for birds and the insect life that birds will feed their nestlings come springtime."

If birdfeeders, rather than plantings, are your choice for feeding wild birds, Nancy Cormier of The Bird Store and More in Sturbridge says certain seeds are better than others in supplying the energy needed for birds to thrive and survive in the cold temperatures.

Cormier says, "Look for seeds high in oil and fat content. Black oil sunflower seeds are the best all-around food for all bird species. Though, partially or completely hulled sunflower seeds and split peanuts are also good choices."

Cormier also recommends suet as an excellent source of food, "Pre-packaged suet is good for any weather conditions. Yet, many people enjoy making their own suet by picking up beef fat from the butcher. This is fine, and very good for the birds, but it is important to note that if temperatures rise above 40°, butcher suet will rot and make the birds sick enough to die."

Safflower seeds, according to Cormier, are a good choice if squirrels are a problem, "they are more bitter, making them unappealing to squirrels, but still high in oil content, an excellent option to maintain a bird's energy."

Finally, Cormier recommends a heated bird bath if attracting many varieties of birds is a goal and to provide the best conditions for all birds you attract, "Having an open water source is important in attracting and feeding birds. The heated bird bath is an excellent choice, maintaining a temperature of 35°. When birds eat snow, their body temperature is reduced, using more energy."

Sousa recognizes the entertainment and gratification feeding wild birds can bring, "When it's too cold and stormy to be outdoors, bird feeders and planting a bird habitat outside the window is one way for a nature lover to get their daily dosage of our favorite feathered friends: the chickadees and Carolina wrens! It's a nature gardener's payback time — the work of planting is done, and you can enjoy watching your efforts be used and appreciated by wildlife at a very difficult time of year."

ROCK VOICES

into such a choir in Hadley. He noted two new groups are starting this spring, and all of them (including Auburn) will begin rehearsing for the spring season Feb. 8.

"My life has been all about getting people singing," he said. "I thought this kind of music would be a very accessible way to do it, so I started a choir that only sings rock. I wanted to show them how easy it is to sing songs they've probably loved all their lives."

Since Lechner started, he's tossed his singers a fairly wide range of material. Generally, members vote on most of what they want to sing, but he always tries to include a few pieces that will challenge them. They tend to favor harmony-laden tunes, making those of the '60s and '70s popular especially with older members. But younger ones tend to pick more recent material, and one of this year's repertoire is 'Tightrope' by Janelle Monae, which he admits "is not the type of song you'd ever see a choir sing." Not only does it include a rap section, he felt a need to censor, and he laughs when reminded the kids have probably heard it uncensored.

Probably more unusual is 'Lift Me Up,' from a Swedish jazz a cappella outfit called The Real Group. Not only have most members probably never heard of them, Lechner had to rearrange it himself to suit the fact the choir will have a backing band led by former Auburn resident and regional music legend Mitch Chakour.

Chakour's website is a who's who of blues and rock stars.

Among others, he has played with the Tedeschi Trucks Band and Warren Haynes (both linked to the Allman Brothers), Koko Taylor, Muddy Waters, B.B. King, Aerosmith, Bonnie Raitt, and J. Geils Band, and was Joe Cocker's long-time music director, keyboardist and vocalist. He has led several of his own bands over the years, including Mitch's Mission Band and Shaboo All-Stars.

"Whenever possible, I try to get someone who's a local celebrity in the band," Lechner said. "Mitch grew up in Auburn, his mom still lives there, and he has some star power. It gives members a little bit of celebrity by association...and everybody feels like rock stars."

To Galli, the fact they're singing rock "might be a bit less threatening" for many members than classical. She knows how that feels, since she still leads Shepherd Hill's Fantasy show choir, which generally sings rock and pop, too.

"This is really kind of special for me because my kids will be opening the show," she said, noting they'll get a chance to see adults doing what they've been doing. Some Rock Voices members are Shepherd Hill choir alumni.

But they don't have to be. In fact, one of the Rock Voices selling points is that new folks are always welcome and do not require any singing experience. Galli said a few of her members have sung in other, more traditional choirs and a couple came from one of Lechner's other rock choirs.

"We have a few with some real skills and a lot of people who have nice singing voices," she said. "Each choir learns to listen and balance, and that takes time. They picked that up quickly and learned to listen to each other well."

Over the last six years, Lechner said he's seen lots of people "join these groups who didn't think they could do it," but found they could and found a community in the process. A few in the Northampton area have even been asked to sing with established area bands, creating some "interesting cross-collaborations," he said.

The Jan. 27 show will partly be a benefit for Shepherd Hill's music program, but Lechner said he normally tries to use performances to raise funds and awareness for homeless shelters, food pantries and similar community groups. Tickets are $15, $12 for seniors and $8 for students; doors open at 6 p.m. and the show starts at 7.
