Owner Jeff Sandness' wife, Patty, said that her favorite part of the job is seeing how happy the families that visit Buell's Orchard are. She said: "I barely deal with bad customers. Everyone is always smiling."

Getting picky in the Quiet Corner

EASTFORD — Don't feel too bad if you missed out on Buell's Orchard peach season: Apples have arrived!

After a "big, beautiful crop" of peaches was picked clean off the trees, Buell's Orchard is now ready for families to spend an afternoon picking bushel of apples. For the orchard, pick-your-own is a very popular activity for local families from all over the state.

"I love that families are having such a good time," said Patty Sandness, wife of Jeff Sandness, who owns Buell's Orchard with his partner Jonathan Sandness. "People are really enjoying themselves. They have big smiles on their faces. We're just making people's day. We set up picnic tables and people will bring their lunch hand eat underneath the trees."

Peach season was extra successful this year because of an event now known as the St. Valentine's Day Massacre. Last year, the warm winter followed by a very freezing cold February (with temperatures that reached 15 below), killed off all of the peaches in Connecticut and beyond.

Sandness recalls her husband saying, "We're going to have no peaches this year. They're gone."

The excitement to pick peaches this year kept Buell's Orchard very busy and Sandness said it was "wonderful" to see all of the people coming back this August.

Now, the state is in the heart of apple picking season.

Buell's Orchard has over a dozen varieties of apples. They start out with McIntosh and Gala apples, then Cortland and Macoun varieties. Later, the orchard offers

Toying around with a charity idea

The toys Jeanne Carita has on display at the Thompson Public Library will be given away to children at the DKH and needy families later in the year.

THOMPSON — Jeanne Carita has been knitting since she was 10 years old. Now, the passionate toy-maker gives away her creations to children at Day Kimball Hospital and families in need.

I spoke with the North Grosvenordale resident about her hobby and the reasons she gives the toys away to charity.

You started knitting at 10 years old, you said. Was it always toys?

"My mother taught me the basics. You had to practice that for a long time before trying anything else. Over the years I made scarves and hats and sweaters. Then, my aunt loaned me a pattern book that had all clowns in it. I made one clown and I haven't gone back since."

Why did you decide to stick with dolls instead?

"For the last 20 years, I've made nothing but dolls and toys. I haven't made a piece of clothing since. This was much more fun."

What are you working on right now?

"Right now, I'm making an entire Christmas manger for one of my kids. So far I've finished Baby Jesus, Mary and Joseph. Today I'm starting to work on one of the shepherds. There are going to be two, three wise men, sheep and a donkey. I'm also adding a barn to the whole scene. This is very time consuming and difficult."

Wow, that sounds complicated!

"I make one for every one of my children for Christmas."

It sounds like you truly have a passion for making the toys and dolls. What did you think when your aunt first gave you that pattern book?

"I was excited. I thought,

Leaving his prints behind

Putnam resident Aaron C. Stark with one of his favorite pieces, currently on display at the Thompson Public Library.

PUTNAM — Despite having dreams of being a paleontologist when he was a kid, Aaron C. Stark was also a very artistic child. Apparently, the artist side of him won: Stark is now well immersed in Putnam's art scene, as both a teacher at Artique and one of the artists working on a couple of mural projects downtown.

Not too shabby.

It was probably in high school when Stark began to realize that fossils were out and linoleum was in. He took a variety of art courses at the Academy and realized he wanted to pursue art as more than just a hobby.

Inspired, he attended the University of Rhode Island, which he graduated from in 2014 with a Bachelor of Fine Arts in Print Making.

Print making wasn't ever on Stark's radar. But a print making professor he had in his first year of college truly inspired him to pursue the medium. Gary Richman, who was like "an extra grandpa" to Stark, let his students explore and test various styles and techniques. He wasn't overbearing, but he was there when Stark needed him.

"He was warm, yet stern," he said. "He'd say, 'Don't cut your finger,' but I I did that anyway. I cut my thumb open. But that was just part of the process."

Carving into linoleum became Stark's new passion.

"I like the negative space," said Stark. "You can play around with it, the way the lines are formed and the smoothness of the cuts. It's not an ink drawing as much as it's a carving. You get a lot of interesting texture. A variation in lines and gradients that you don't get from

State Police foot patrol zero tolerance sweep

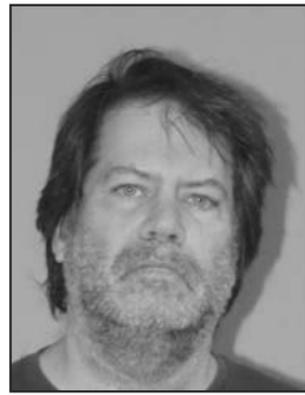

KILLINGLY — On Sept. 11 from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. members of the Connecticut State Police Troop D – “Quality of Life Task Force”, assigned to the Killingly and Brooklyn Resident Trooper Offices and Officers assigned to the Department of Correction Parole Division conducted a Zero Tolerance Enforcement Operation which targeted the towns of Killingly and East Brooklyn. Troopers broke up into teams of two and were assigned a high crime area to conduct foot patrols in. The focus of the operation was to reduce nuisance/street crimes such as loitering, drug use/dealing, disturbances, reckless use of the roadways by pedestrians and others. As a result of this initiative three arrests were made and eight infractions were issued for various offenses.

While on patrol, Troopers arrested Douglas Flannery, 49, of Reynolds Street in Danielson for Failure to Appear in the Second Degree. He was placed on a $1500.00 cash/surety bond and is to appear in Danielson Superior Court on Sept. 28. Later in the operation, Troopers arrested Kevin Horton, 41, of Maple Street in Danielson for Failure to Appear in the Second Degree. He was placed on a $5,000 cash/surety bond and is to appear in Danielson Superior Court on Sept. 25. Lastly, Troopers arrested Seth Barrows, 28, of Franklin Street in Putnam for Failure to Respond. He was placed on a $500 cash/surety bond and is to appear in Danielson Superior Court on Sept. 21.

This is the second zero tolerance operation that has taken place in Troop

D's area of operation this year. These operations were prompted after Troopers received numerous complaints from various business owners and citizens within the borough of Danielson and east Brooklyn. Troopers plan on conducting similar operations throughout the year in an effort to make both areas a safer and friendlier community for business owners, patrons, citizens and visitors to the town.

Members of the Connecticut State Police are committed to combating drug activity in the “Quiet Corner” and anyone with information regarding the illegal sale of narcotics and/or synthetic marijuana are encouraged to call the Troop D QLTF anonymous Tips Hotline at (860) 779-4950 or message the QLTF Facebook page.

New playground rolls toward fundraising goal in Woodstock

BY OLIVIA RICHMAN
NEWS STAFF WRITER

WOODSTOCK — The Woodstock Middle School Playground Committee is about to reach 50 percent of their fundraising goals, thanks to generous donations from private donors, local businesses and a very passionate and supportive community.

Sometimes recess can often be looked over, but members of the committee and the Woodstock community know that for 42 percent of students, recess is the only form of exercise they'll have that week, thanks to a study done by the committee.

"Physical activity feeds the brain," said Chair Crystal Adams. "It builds social skills and reduces stress. After recess, the students' focus is increased."

And the new index tests don't only take grades and graduation rates into consideration anymore, she noted. They're also testing the students' physical fitness. Fortunately, the playground will help increase the students' upper body strength, flexibility and core muscle strength.

The fundraising goal of $100,000 will provide the WMS with equipment, its installation, four park benches and wood chips.

The "centerpiece" of the playground is the Explorer Dome. This "crown jewel," as Adams jokingly referred to it as, is a 13 foot tall structure that's meant for kids to climb on. Unlike simple slides and other playground staples, the Explorer Dome is meant to be a "graduated challenge" with no prescribed path. The students must learn over time how to climb to the top, overcoming various obstacles and challenges.

Some of the other notable additions will be the Super Nova (a moving piece of equipment that encourages cooperative play) and the Swaying Bridge (which helps students with balance).

The top-of-the-line pieces of equipment will be a huge improvement over the WMS's current playground.

"There's nothing at the middle school," stated Adams. "There was nothing for the kids to do at recess. They went out to a paved lot with some four square lines painted on it and a basketball hoop. As a resident of Woodstock, I always heard once they got to middle school there was nothing for them to do. Last year it affected me personally because my son came home from move-in day and said there's nothing to do at recess."

The whole concept for building a playground started over a year ago when Adams and her family visited Cape Cod. Her son spied the top of an Explorer Dome through the trees at a park in Falmouth. They stopped to check it out. According to Adams, she had "never seen anything" quite like the Good Will Park's playground. It was so much fun, in fact, that the family went back the next day.

It was a drastic difference from WMS's barren pavement.

In collaboration with the PTO, the Superintendent, principals, teachers and Planning & Zoning, the plan for the playground installation was approved in February.

So far, the committee has raised almost $42,000 in pledges and donations since. While many donations come from private donors and businesses that members have approached, they also hold fun fundraisers at the Woodstock Elementary and Middle School.

A recent fundraiser involved classrooms raising money to see who would get the chance to Silly String the principal in front of the whole school.

There's a fundraiser currently underway at the WES and WMS that rewards the winning classrooms in each building every week. WES students have won a picnic with the principal and extra gym classes. The middle schoolers have won free homework passes, pizza parties and ice cream parties.

"It's amazing to have this much support from the community and schools," said Adams. "We're so thrilled it's progressing as fast as it is. I hope in the next month to be halfway to the goal."

Stailing is Day Kimball Employee of the Month

Jessica Stailing

PUTNAM — Jessica Stailing, patient service representative (PSR) and certified medical assistant (CMA) has been named employee of the month for August at Day Kimball Healthcare (DKH).

Stailing began her career with DKH in 2008 as a PSR in the Day Kimball Medical Group pulmonary medicine office in Putnam. She has since earned her CNA/CMA certificates to perform cross coverage as a CMA in addition to her role as a PSR. In her role, Stailing's responsibilities include processing and maintaining patient information, patient intake services, telephone management, scheduling, coding review, charge entry, as well as assisting with direct patient care and routine specialized procedures.

At an award ceremony recently held at DKH, Stailing's supervisor, Isabel Young, Day Kimball Medical Group practice manager stated, "Jessica is most deserving of this acknowledgement. She is a team player who has been instrumental in assisting with staffing needs across the practices in the DKMG. She is always willing to help whenever she is called upon, and always volunteers. She has one of the most positive attitudes of anyone

I know and always has a smile on her face. Jessica's customer service, both to patients, peers and clinicians, is always great and her demeanor always helpful. It is a privilege to work with Jessica and I congratulate her on this well-deserved honor."

When asked how she feels about being named Employee of the Month, Stailing said, "I am honored. Many of Nicholson's paintings are inspired by nature and fantasy.

NEWS STAFF WRITER

DANIELSON — Oil and acrylic artist Kevin G. Nicholson was pleasantly surprised by the amount of people that gathered on Main Street for First Friday earlier in the month. As someone who appreciates a good conversation, Nicholson said it was great to talk to so many different people from his tent covered in original paintings.

The paintings, which are mostly of landscapes, dragons and other fantasy-inspired images, are the result of over 20 years of practice. Nicholson became interested in painting because of his father, who painted himself.

When he was a teenager, his father sat him down and said, "Let's see if you have a knack for it."

He did. Unfortunately, Nicholson's father passed away a few years ago. His sister passed the same year. Instead of going down "a path of self-destruction," Nicholson decided to remember some of the things his father had told him.

"I have my artwork set up on the corner of the street I live on," explained Nicholson. "My father caught wind of it and said he was proud of me. I remember saying, 'Wow! I've been waiting for that for so many years!' That was nice. I was doing something that he was proud of. He was giving me that energy and support."

He ran with it. That year, he did 30 paintings over the course of a single month. Once the summer got warmer, he continued to paint outside, "working out his frustration."

Painting, building and creating are things that come naturally to Nicholson. They're something he's just "compelled to do." Painting was something that stuck with him because he could "summon" anything from his mind. It was a form of creating.

"And I wanted to keep improving," he recalled. "I liked that there were benchmarks. It was inspiring to see how much better I became each time."

While his inspiration comes from fantasy films, like "The Hobbit," his earlier work in the 80s seemed to resemble computer graphics in a way. It was a lot of blocks and spheres, "imitation" of what he saw on television. He just wanted to learn. He wanted to replicate.

While he isn't a fan of his earlier work, it did land him a job as a computer animator for a video game company in the 90s after he learned animation himself.

"It was very surprising for me at the time," he recalled. "When I was 19, I was just sitting in an apartment, trying to figure out how to use this software I'd just purchased. But I managed to get a job in Providence, and I did it for quite a few years."

Working on the RPG, Asheron's Call, was "nice," but he felt "quickly discouraged." With about 30 people working on the game all at once in one room, Nicholson felt more like a cog in a business, not recognized for his original talents and creations.

So he left. He started working on independent films, including a medieval fantasy called "The Silver Tree." It had a lot of promise, he said, but they never got to complete it because the lead actress got pregnant.

But he is grateful for the experience, which has led to a lot of inspiration for his current pieces.

"When somebody comes up to you and says they'll buy your painting, that really inspires you to keep going," he said. "Once I started doing shows in the area and sold paintings, it felt the universe was giving me positive incentive to keep going."

Currently, Nicholson is working on a large 8' by 5' canvas, which will have an oil painting on it of some sort. He's not quite sure what it will be yet. He's been toying with a few ideas, but thinks it will be a nature scene, "because the contrast and light can be quite stunning."

When he's not painting, Nicholson likes camping and DJ'ing. He also enjoys spending time with friends. He said: "I am grateful for the friends that I have. I have such an appreciation for the people around me."

QVCC celebrates Hispanic heritage

DANIELSON — Hispanic Heritage Month is recognized and celebrated each year at Quinebaug Valley Community College to honor the contributions of Latinos and Hispanics to the history and development of the United States.

This fall the college is sponsoring two events, one at the Third Thursday Street Fest in Willimantic and the other at the Danielson campus.

The Puerto Rican folkloric music of Jose Diaz and Grupo Boriken can be heard on Thursday, September 21, from 6-7 pm, on the North Stage at 3rd Thursday. The band of seven musicians, including two singers, will play the cuatro, guitar, congas, bongos, and guiro. To hear a music clip, visit <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=llki-qGWwUg>

On Monday, October 23, from 12-2 pm, the Core Ensemble brings its chamber music theatre performance of Tres Vidas to the auditorium at the college's campus. Tres Vidas celebrates the lives of three legendary Latin American women: Mexican painter Frida Kahlo, Salvadoran peasant activist Rufina Amaya, and Argentinean poet Alfonsina Storni. The audience will hear folk songs of Mexico, El Salvador, and Argentina as well as vocal and instrumental tangos. The three women are played by one actress.

These events are sponsored by the college's Cultural Programming Committee. According to member Elkin Espitia-Loaiza, professor of Spanish, many groups of Latinos have settled in the Windham area and made significant contributions to economie development. In fact, the Willimantic area has the largest presence of Latinos in the country.

The public is invited to attend both performances and admission is free. For more information call (860) 932-4155.

Cameo, Braeburn and Empire apples. "Right now," she said, "the Honey Crisp is the most popular. They are new and they are completely different than any apple you've ever eaten. They are super crisp. They are really sweet. Super juicy. You bite into it and you're just like, 'Wow!' I eat one or two of them every day. You will squirt the person next to you when you bite into one, they're so juicy. They have really grown in popularity."

They're so popular, in fact, that people will start calling in August, asking when the Honey Crisps are ready.

Said Sandness: "When they're gone at the end of the season people are really sad. 'What am I going to eat now!'"

For apple picking season, Buell's Orchard will give you a bag to fill out in the orchard. You can fill it with any variety of apple that's available.

"You get the fun of walking through our beautiful orchard," she continued, "picking off an apple and shining it off and biting into it. That's half the fun."

Buell's Orchard will be holding their annual Harvest Festival on Columbus Day Weekend (Saturday, Oct. 7 and Monday, Sept. 9), a free to enter event that has live music, a chicken BBQ, cider and donut samples and even hay rides that bring you to the pumpkin patch or apple orchard so you can pick your own pumpkins and apples.

Programs abound at Putnam Public Library

BY OLIVIA RICHMAN
NEWS STAFF WRITER

PUTNAM — School isn't the only thing kids will be attending later this month. The Putnam Public Library is excited about their plethora of children's programs just around the corner, including fun craft nights and weekly story times.

Apple Craft Night will be Wednesday, Sept. 27 at 4:30. The creative night will supply each child with a bag full of crafts they can make with their parents. There are also edible crafts they can make with Children's Librarian Tina Aubin. With only 21 spots, the program requires registration.

"Apples are out!" said Aubin. "It's seasonal and it sounds like fun. I like doing things revolving around the season. That's how I plan a lot of my story times, too. It's about what's going on outside and the holidays coming up around that time."

Many of Aubin's craft ideas come from teachers' and librarians' best friend: Pinterest. Her favorite crafts are ones that look visually appealing and fun to create.

"I love the creativity of these programs," said Aubin. "I like being able to be creative with the programs. I just love kids. They make me smile."

One of the story times is Tina's Tiny Tots, for babies through age three. The interactive program includes Aubin reading two short books, leading some singalongs and time for the kids to play with props and instruments. It's interactive and fun, said Aubin of the story time that will take place every Friday at 11 starting on October 6.

"I love working with this age because they make me smile. They're just so honest. They really make me laugh. They're so cute," gushed Aubin. "The things they come up with. They just show love. They're not afraid to run up to you and give you a hug."

Because of their short attention span, Aubin tries to find short stories that are age-appropriate, including her favorite, "Karen Katz." With a lot of "lift the flap" pages, the book features a "peek a boo" theme that the age group is really entertained by. Wondering what's behind the flaps really keeps their attention.

The Putnam Public Library will also have a story time for older children starting the same week as Tina's Tiny Tots. One will be Tuesday afternoons at 4:30, the other at 11 on Thursdays.

Later on, the Putnam Public Library will be hosting a lot of activities and crafts to go along with the town's Pumpkin Festival on Oct. 21. They are also planning a lot of fun at the library on the day of Trick Or Treat Night, Oct. 27.

"We're here to serve the public at all ages," explained Aubin, when asked why the library is an important part of the community. "We just want to give lots of programs and books... Whatever people need to enrich their lives at any age. We just want people to be happy, with both education and fun."

For more information on upcoming programs, visit putnamlibrary.org.

Ruth Bragg

Putnam dispatcher charged with interfering

PUTNAM — An incident in July led to an arrest on Thursday, Sept. 8. On July 20, 2017, at about 9:54 p.m., Ruth Bragg was working as a dispatcher for the Putnam Special Services District. Bragg received a call requesting officers be sent to the Dunkin Donuts on Woodstock Avenue for a possible restraining order violation involving her son. Apparently no officers were dispatched.

At approximately 11:17 p.m., after receiving no police response at the scene, the victim and witnesses came to the Putnam Police

Dept. and reported the incident to a second dispatcher. Police investigated the incident and arrested Bragg's son, 22 year-old Timothy Bragg, charged with violating a restraining order.

An investigation was initiated into the lack of response to the original complaint and Ruth Bragg was placed on administrative leave. The subsequent investigation led investigators to believe that Ruth Bragg intentionally failed to send police to the complaint. Subsequently a warrant was issued charging Bragg, with Hindering Prosecution 3rd and Interfering with Police. Bragg was arrested on Friday Sept. 8. She was released on a $5000 non surety bond and is scheduled to appear in Danielson Superior Court on Monday Sept. 18.

Listening in on distant cities

Recently the Killingly Historical Center received the gift of a framed collection of radio verification stamps from the family of the late Frank Blanchette. I was fascinated since I didn't realize that such stamps even existed. Call letters like WXLO, WOSL, WRST, WTFF, CKAC, KGO, WGO, KFI, WCO, WOS, WOOD, WDAF, WFIW, WSUI, WIBO, and WBZ intrigued me. I remember as a child growing up in Pennsylvania listening to my father's favorite baseball team, the Pittsburgh Pirates, on KDKA. That's when I learned that most of the stations that began with "K" were situated west of the Mississippi River except KDKA. None of the Killingly Historical Society board members and volunteers who were present had heard of the verification stamps either. Thank goodness for the internet! The website www.thesaltsailor.co./rhodeisland-philatelic provided the following about the stamps.

"EKKO Stamps. In the early days of radio broadcasting, listeners across the nation were fascinated with broadcasts from distant cities. Many cities had 'Silent Nights' where local stations would go off the air to allow distant stations to be heard. It was in this experimental era of the 1920's and early 30's, when broadcasting was new, that EKKO stamps became popular.

"The EKKO Company of Chicago, Illinois came up with the idea of having broadcast radio stations provide Verified Reception Stamps to their listeners. EKKO provided an album for $1.75, which contained outlines of each of the stamps/stations currently available. The album contained a map showing the locations of the stations with blank spaces for additional new stations. There was also space provided to write down the dial settings at the time of reception.

Proof of Reception Cards were provided with the album. Listeners would search the dial for distant signals waiting for the call letters. They would then look up the station address in the EKKO directory and fill out the card with the time and dial settings of the station heard and send it along with 10 cents to the station. The station would verify the card against their logs for accuracy and send the listener an EKKO stamp with the station's call sign on it. They frequently would also include letters and or station cards and other material with the stamp."

One of the featured stamps was for station KGO, which I learned was General Electric's Pacific Coast Station. Situated in Oakland, California, the station was the brainchild of General Electric and was planned for that location "because of its location midway along the Pacific Coast and due to its ample supply of musical talent." Its companion station on the East coast was WGY from Schenectady, New York. "The station received the fortieth broadcasting license issued by the Department of Commerce" (Wikipedia). CKAC was located in Montreal. Eventually I hope to try to determine where each station was located and prepare a list to accompany the framed display. If any of you also have EKKO verification stamps in your family treasures, please contact me or call the Killingly Historical Center. It will be interesting to see how many local families were collecting them.

Have you ever heard of a "Bacon Bat"? An extract from a 1917 Windham County Transcript contained the following tidbit. A Letter Written in the fall of 1917 from Mount Holyoke College. "Our other real bat was last night when five of us girls with one poor man as escort -Margaret Merriam's brother-in-law to be - went up to 180th Street and had a bacon bat down in Riverside Park. We

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Nicholson: significant impact on Pomfret.

To the editor:

It is very exciting to see the new sidewalk coming to life in Pomfret. I think it is important however to remember that Maureen Nicholson was the moving force that had the vision, foresight, and the energy to finally make the sidewalk a possibility. It had been talked about for years but she secured the grant for the sidewalk safety project shortly after being elected first selectman. She should be recognized for that project, as well as other projects that are significant improvements for our town.

Over the years she has changed the landscape in Pomfret in many ways. Twenty years ago Maureen worked with my husband, Peter Nelson, when he asked for her help in replacing dying trees along scenic Route 169. She wrote, received a grant, and planted 10 sugar maples to replace those that had died. When Armand Jolly asked for her help with his Memorial Day flag project along this same stretch of road, Maureen went work, raised the funds and made it happen. When the Pomfret First Congregational Church ran into problems rebuilding due to site constraints, Maureen worked out a solution that made rebuilding possible by negotiating land donations to secure a needed right of way and relocating Grosvenor Road. Maureen worked with Pomfret School to negotiate the donation of land to allow Pomfret Public Library to enlarge their parking lot which is finally beginning this month.

Maureen Nicholson has a history of creative problem solving and she quietly works to make our community a better place. These are just a few examples of what she has done over the years but there are many more. I am voting for Maureen Nicholson for First Selectman because I believe she is the most qualified candidate running and I know she will continue to work hard on behalf of the citizens of Pomfret to protect and improve our town.

We did break it and we should fix it

To the editor:

James Leonard's column last week regarding state employees and teachers pensions basically blames them for creating the "problem" and he goes on to denigrate these dedicated employees.

These employees who teach our children and grandchildren, clean our roads, protect our forests and much more, negotiated through their bargaining agent, for their contracts. These contracts include employees making choices between higher raises and or pension and health insurance. They negotiated in good faith as they thought the state was doing. All of these contracts are approved by the legislature further committing the state to these employees and contracts. Unions do not negotiate based on an organizations profits but rather what is a fair wage for the work done with many considerations such as cost of living. People plan their whole lives based on the agreed upon contract.

Contrary to Mr. Leonard's claim, dues money cannot be legally used for political action activities. This money must be solicited separately from dues collections. The money collected from union members is a "drop in the bucket" compared to huge corporate contributions that are legal.

I in no way benefit from either of these pensions but I am most fortunate to have a union negotiated pension. With that pension I pay taxes and economically contribute to our state. I am grateful for my union pension and wish very much that all hardworking residents had the same. When I was a child almost everyone in Eastern had a union pension, mostly through the unionized manufacturing base. Unionization was key to creating a middle class in this country. I am not sure when it became "un-American" to have a pension but it is a poor reflection on our society and increases the inequality that unfortunately is becoming the hallmark of our county.

The teachers and state employees did not cause this problem, years of underfunding and basically stealing from the pension funds created this problem. If you want to look at the culprit, look at our elected legislators. The union employees have already made concessions so they have contributed to fixing it. Now it is time to look at other sources of revenue including incredible loop holes and tax rates for the many rich residents in this state. Many of whom work for the large corporations making obscene political contributions.

Nicholson/McCarthy: proven leadership for Pomfret

To the Editor:

Over the last two years, Pomfret learned the hard way that experience does matter. That's why, this November, I'll be voting to elect Maureen Nicholson as First Selectman. Maureen got her start in municipal government more than 25 years ago and has since served as Chair of the Board of Finance and First Selectman. Elected officials have an obligation to ask questions, listen, and never forget their first responsibility is to the townspeople. Maureen knows this. It's exactly what she did as First Selectman before and it's exactly the kind of leadership style she'll bring back to Pomfret.

Patrick McCarthy, Nicholson's running mate, compliments her long list of accomplishments (half a million dollars in town grants including the sidewalk on Route 169/44, a stable property tax, upgrades at PCS, Pomfret Library, Senior Center). McCarthy, a 25-year resident of Pomfret, is an educator with a no-nonsense approach to town matters. His neighbor-oriented approach to town government will be a breath of fresh air from the closed-door policy of the current administration.

Maureen will work to complete town projects that she started while in office and have since collected dust on the first selectman's desk. She'll use her vast experience with the town budget to save the taxpayers money like she did while in office. The choice could not be clearer this November. I will happily cast my vote for Maureen Nicholson and Patrick McCarthy and their entire Team because we have to put our town back on track.

Putnam's mayor sees progress

So, how did the Town of Putnam become "one of the BEST 15 towns in New England" as posted in the Boston Globe? Just maybe, the town of Putnam's Democratic leaders these past 20 or so years were NOT stale, were Not complacent, did NOT believe in the status-quo management and had the foresight to expand our economic future, excite the population with events that draw thousands to our Town, built up both the industrial park and are now trying to fill our Tech Park with new, green, high tech industry to restore our very good tax base, Putnam is the Town that is the model for all the towns this side of the Connecticut River. We ARE the TALK of the TOWN! Just look at the experience and years of dedication your current Mayor and Selectmen have. These Democratic leaders have been the engine that has powered the explosion of new and innovated ideas and projects that we have all seen and enjoyed over the years! The Democratic team we have now cares and really knows what are Putnam needs and wants. They are all running for re-election and will need your support. If, as the saying goes, "if it isn't broke, don't fix it".

As your Mayor the last four years, I pride myself with a great partnership with the Putnam Business Association as well as all our social networks to help not only those less fortunate but all Putnam citizens. I did not build the YMCA, but just ask those that run this tremendous establishment, who is the guy that put it on his shoulders. The Farmers Market Building was established by the present administration and is a showplace for all Farmers Markets in Connecticut. 88 Main Street finally has come around and will soon add a fourth floor and bring over 50 new employees to Putnam, a Charter Revision Commission was established as well as Senior Citizen Committee to address issues that have been solved by your Democratic Team presently in office. And with all this progress and development, the Democratic Team in office are called "state" and status-quo management? Perhaps the Republicans that are challenging the

Well-oiled machine should reassess their position and philosophy and take a giant step back

Reaching retirement: now what?

You've worked hard your whole life anticipating the day you could finally retire. Well, that day has arrived! But with it comes the realization that you'll need to carefully manage your assets so that your retirement savings will last.

Review your portfolio regularly

Traditional wisdom holds that retirees should value the safety of their principal above all else. For this reason, some people shift their investment portfolio to fixed-income investments, such as bonds and money market accounts, as they approach retirement. The problem with this approach is that you'll effectively lose purchasing power if the return on your investments doesn't keep up with inflation.

While generally it makes sense for your portfolio to become progressively more conservative as you grow older, it may be wise to consider maintaining at least a portion of your portfolio in growth investments.

Spend wisely

Don't assume that you'll be able to live on the earnings generated by your investment portfolio and retirement accounts for the rest of your life. At some point, you'll probably have to start drawing on the principal. But you'll want to be careful not to spend too much too soon. This can be a great temptation, particularly early in retirement.

A good guideline is to make sure your annual withdrawal rate isn't greater than 4% to 6% of your portfolio. (The appropriate percentage for you will depend on a number of factors, including the length of your payout period and your portfolio's asset allocation.) Remember that if you whittle away your principal too quickly, you may not be able to earn enough on the remaining principal to carry you through the later years.

Understand your retirement plan distribution options

Most pension plans pay benefits in the form of an annuity. If you're married you generally must choose between a higher retirement benefit paid over your lifetime, or a smaller benefit that continues to your spouse after your death. A financial professional can help you with this difficult, but important, decision.

Other employer retirement plans like 401(k)s typically don't pay benefits as annuities; the distribution (and investment) options available to you may be limited. This may be important because if you're trying to stretch your savings, you'll want to withdraw money from your retirement accounts as slowly as possible. Doing so will conserve the principal balance, and will also give those funds the chance to continue growing tax deferred during your retirement years.

Plan for required distributions

Keep in mind that you must generally begin taking minimum distributions from employer retirement plans and traditional IRAs when you reach age 70½, whether you need them or not. Plan to spend these dollars first in retirement.

If you own a Roth IRA, you aren't required to take any distributions during your lifetime. Your funds can continue to grow tax deferred, and qualified distributions will be tax free.2 Because of these unique tax benefits, it generally makes sense to withdraw funds

Board of Education: not a thankless job

"What a thankless job it must be?" I cannot even count the number of people who have said those words to me.

After the evening of November 16th, I will have completed my 6-year term on the Woodstock Board of Education. When I began, in 2011, our oldest child had just gotten married. Today we have two sons-in-law, a daughter-in-law, and 4 grandchildren. Much has changed in my life including the experiences in Woodstock.

Six years ago I sat at "the table" at my first official BoE meeting, naïve, ignorant, and in wonderment of what others knew and how much

GUEST COLUMN

CLIFF DAVIS

(and quickly) I had to learn. Luckily there were teachers, staff, administrators and parents who were patient as this "newbie" tried to understand new acronyms, understand schools I had barely set foot in, and toil over what was best for the education of our kids. With their guidance, I slowly gained my footing, found my voice, and attempted to start to make a difference.

I was elected as a Democrat, but like most of my fellow board members, served simply as a citizen with little regard to party. The first two years had an alarming degree of partisanship with votes typically being along party lines. Yet, in year

3, partisanship seemed to disappear, with much of the great credit going to the leadership of Mike Bernardi. His calm and inclusive style allowed the Board to become truly non-partisan as none of us felt pressured to vote in a specific way. Debate became respectful and therefore, productive. Listening, thinking and then voting objectively became the norm. We each found a voice and learned how to use it.

This BoE may be unique. It is comprised of parents of current and former students, educators, business people and regular caring citizens. Many contribute to nearly every discussion with some (me, for example) contributing even more than needed. Yet we each learned to respect the words of the other. We have often offered differing opinions, debated, voted, and then moved on to unity. Grudges and back room chatter had no place so it didn't happen.

It has been an honor to serve with my fellow Board members. It was laughable when a letter writer once opined (in this paper) that the BoE didn't do its job because so many decisions were unanimous. What I have learned in 6 years is that good, spirited, and respectful debate often leads to consensus.

So, when someone casts a sympathetic look remarking about what a thankless job it is, I respond strongly. This has been an incredibly gratifying, often fun and consistently rewarding experience. I have met some wonderful people, made new friends, and in the end we achieved our objective of doing what is best for the education of the students of Woodstock while spending the hard earned money of our taxpayers wisely.

No, it's not thankless. Rather, I am grateful to the citizens of our town for electing me to serve in this very special role and I would strongly encourage others to seek out similar opportunities in the future. Lastly, I would like to extend a special thanks to those who have served with me. You have made me better and I will miss you!

Woodstock: moving forward

Regular readers of the Villager know I have been critical of Woodstock Town leadership for several years: stipends, overstaffing, and budget surpluses while increasing taxes, poor to non-existent communications with the public and the list goes on. Some of these issues have begun to be addressed, but this year will bring new challenges and opportunities. With state finances in turmoil Woodstock is more fortunate than most in Windham County in that, thanks to Prop 46 and overwhelming support it has received over the years, we have to some degree kept the "lid on" and have some financial reserves but strong leadership going forward will be needed as these resources can be squandered away very quickly and the challenges will not cease.

To that point, November's elections will provide an opportunity to bring in that much needed leadership. Fortunately, Mike Alberts has stepped forward to run as First Selectman. Mike is a USAF and CT Air National Guard veteran working in air traffic control and public affairs achieving the rank of Major. At the town level he served on the BOF including as Vice Chairman and Chairman and he has also served a term as Selectman so he is quite familiar with the issues of town government. At the state level he was our Representative in the General Assembly for 12 years and knows firsthand the issues facing the state and how they may impact us. In the private sector Mike has been in the banking industry specializing in commercial lending and trust services for 30 years and is a Certified Financial Planner. He is currently Vice President of Jewett City Bank where he manages the bank's commercial lending operation.

Woodstock is in serious need of strong leadership to help us through what will undoubtedly be several difficult years as the state tries to contend with its financial issues and towns will have deal with the fallout. Leadership, planning, communications, financial management, and a new way of doing things will all be critical. Mike brings the experience and record to the table that we need going forward and has proven his commitment to the community. For all these reasons I am endorsing Mike Alberts for Woodstock First Selectman in November. This is not the time to skip the election and not vote; our future as a community hangs in the balance. Come out and support Mike Alberts.

Opinions expressed are mine and may not reflect those of the Board of Finance.

Welcome back

VIKTOR TOTH

Welcome to the 2017-18 school year! School is already well underway, and our students and staff are already settled into their routines. This year we have welcomed 943 students from pre-kindergarten through 8th grade into both schools. There are currently 449 students enrolled at Woodstock Elementary School and 404 at Woodstock Middle School. We were surprised by an influx of new students at both schools, which exceeded our projections by 50 students. Much of this increase seems to have been due to a very active real estate market.

Our Woodstock Schools are known for their family and community feel. Our staff pride themselves on having created a safe and nurturing climate in their schools and we are fortunate to have two dynamic building principals in Mrs. Demers at WES and Mrs. Durand at WMS, leading the way.

This year we have introduced full 20 minute recesses at WMS for all students grades 5-8. The Woodstock PTO has recently installed a new Gaga Pit for WMS students to enjoy at recess. The elementary school starts each day with a brief recess period as soon as students arrive. Teachers have found that this early recess helps to increase student focus, reduces stress and results in an increase in academic learning and productivity.

I strongly believe that the town of Woodstock is special. It is a great place to live and to raise families. This community is committed to providing a quality education for its children. In addition to the core curricular areas our schools are also able to provide foreign language instruction, STEM enrichment opportunities, physical education, band, music, art and library. We are especially focused on student engagement in all classrooms. A warm and caring classroom enhances students' self-belief allowing them to become engaged when acting as their own learning agents, working to achieve goals important to them. This helps them develop confidence and a commitment to learning.

I look forward to working with everyone in Woodstock to help make our schools the best that they can be.

Candidate for Pomfret Library Board of Trustees

I am running for the Library Board of Trustees on the Democratic slate. You might recognize my name from my byline in The Putnam Traveler, for which I have written the last 10 years, and in The Pomfret Times on behalf of the Pomfret Proprietors. When I moved to Pomfret in 1996, I worked at Rectory School for several years and then my husband and I opened our home as a B&B (Daniel Trowbridge House) for 5 years. I then worked at Celebrations Gallery in Pomfret for the 9 years they were open. Today, I continue to write freelance and manage marketing for our business the Old Wood Workshop. One of my very first jobs in the area was at the Pomfret Public Library. Marge Serrine was librarian and she and then-board member Nancy Weiss hired me as the Saturday librarian. It was my entrée into the community, working in a place I was comfortable, surrounded by books and people like me who loved them. At the time, the library was a peaceful, quiet place. As a patron, I have watched it change dramatically over the years. I am a member of the Friends of Pomfret Public Library and am proud of the many improvements we have assisted with, from enhanced programming to the beautiful gardens. Today, our library is attractive and live-

I hope to be a part of that important growth.

Author Neil Gaiman says, "Libraries are about freedom. Freedom to read, freedom of ideas, freedom of communication. They are about education (which is not a process that finishes the day we leave school or university), about entertainment, about making safe spaces, and about access to information." Our public libraries are crucial to a literate and imaginative society, and Pomfret clearly recognizes that. I am proud to live in a community that supports these values. I love words, books, language, reading and writing. I am a dedicated and active volunteer for many local organizations that I care about. I would be honored to serve on the Pomfret Library Board of Trustees.

roasted corn and sweet potatoes, cooked bacon on a stick, "stewed" tomatoes on sticks, toasted rolls, ate grapes, pears and candy." (What they referred to as a Bacon Bat was a barbecue and a slang meaning for Bat was a Binge or Spree. So perhaps this old term Bacon Bat was a Bacon Binge, editor").

Another article spoke of a local Bacon Bat at what is likely the Old Furnace State Park. "On last Friday afternoon the Nipmuc Campfire Girls journeyed to Fall Brook Dam where they indulged in a bacon bat. But they are not selfish in their good times and they invited the girls of the Quinebaug Campfire to be their guests on this occasion. The brisk autumnal air, the delicious viands and a large portion of good nature made the affair an afternoon of unalloyed pleasure."

Many of the Transcript articles of this time referred to local individuals serving in World War I and related activities. "Goodyear Band to play at Fort Terry. Early this week it was learned that the Goodyear Mills Band was willing to go to Fort Terry and give a concert for 'Danielson's Own.' Captain A. P. Woodward, than which our boys have no better friend, immediately began making the necessary preparations. Getting in communication with the officials at Plum Island, he secured the requisite passes and made arrangements with local automobile owners for the use of enough cars to carry the band to New London. Plans are now complete and the Goodyear boys will journey to Fort Terry on Sunday and give the concert."

from a Roth IRA last. Know your Social Security options

You'll need to decide when to start receiving your Social Security retirement benefits. At normal retirement age (which varies from 66 to 67, depending on the year you were born), you can receive your full Social Security retirement benefit. You can elect to receive your Social Security retirement benefit as early as age 62, but if you begin receiving your benefit before your normal retirement age, your benefit will be reduced. Conversely, if you delay retirement, you can increase your Social Security retirement benefit.

Consider phasing

For many workers, the sudden change from employee to retiree can be a difficult one. Some employers, especially those in the public sector, have begun offering "phased retirement" plans to address this problem. Phased retirement generally allows you to continue working on a part-time basis—you benefit by having a smoother transition from full-time employment to retirement, and your employer benefits by retaining the services of a talented employee. Some phased retirement plans even allow you to access all or part of your pension benefit while you work part time.

Of course, to the extent you are able to support yourself with a salary, the less you'll need to dip into your retirement savings. Another advantage of delaying full retirement is that you can continue to build tax-deferred funds in your IRA or employer-sponsored retirement plan. Keep in mind, though, that you may be required to start taking minimum distributions from your qualified retirement plan or traditional IRA once you reach age 70½, if you want to avoid substantial penalties.

If you do continue to work, make sure you understand the consequences. Some pension plans base your retirement benefit on your final average pay. If you work part time, your pension benefit may be reduced because your pay has gone down. Remember, too, that income from a job may affect the amount of Social Security retirement benefit you receive if you are under normal retirement age. But once you reach normal retirement age, you can earn as much as you want without affecting your Social Security retirement benefit.

By planning carefully, investing wisely, and spending thoughtfully, you can increase the likelihood that your retirement will be a financially comfortable one.

Presented by James Zahansky, Weiss & Hale Managing Partner, researched by Broadridge Investor Communication Solutions. You should consult a legal or tax professional regarding your individual situation as all investing involves risk, including the possible loss of principal, and there can be no assurance that any investment strategy will be successful.

pen and paper. I enjoyed playing around with the print process itself."

Stark is currently an art teacher at the Artique, a "little paint bar" in downtown Putnam. He loves inspiring children to paint. To be artistic. So he's also become very active in the Putnam art scene, another way to inspire and excite the community with art.

The Putnam Arts Council has recently begun to power wash the long stairway leading from the municipal parking lot up to Putnam Bank. Stark and other local artists will be covering the stairs in a colorful mural.

"It's a surprise," Stark said of the project, "but I will say it's going to be very colorful and very flowing. Instead of saying, 'Nah, no stairs today,' the art will draw you up. It's going to be adventurous and fun."

The expanding art scene in Putnam has been a big part of Stark's life after graduation. He was also part of the Empty Space Project, which "unfortunately came and went."

He still misses it.

Luckily, more art projects will be coming to downtown Putnam. And Stark always has his own art to keep him entertained as well. Right now he's working on more surrealist and abstract pieces that explore the psyche and people's train of thought.

"For me," he said, "I have always been a daydreamer. I'm a person whose mind wanders a lot. My pieces reflect that. A lot of the piece I really cherish are ones that flowed for me with little surrealist concept and train of thought. A lot of them have to do with your general living life and death topics. I have a few pieces about creative block and creativity versus lack of creativity and how it will affect somebody. It's all about how I perceive my brain right now. It's kind of a strange place."

Linoleum is one of Stark's favorite mediums: "I like the negative space. You can play around with it, the way the lines are formed and the smoothness of the cuts. It's not an ink drawing as much as it's a carving. You get a lot of interesting texture. A variation in lines and gradients that you don't get from pen and paper. I enjoyed playing around with the print process itself."

Courtney looks for help with crumbling foundations

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Congressman Joe Courtney, representing the Second District, and Congressman John B. Larson (CT-01) met with Treasury Secretary Steven Mnuchin and Assistant Secretary for Tax Policy David Kautter at the Department of the Treasury headquarters in Washington, D.C. on Sept. 11 to discuss assistance for north-central Connecticut residents impacted by crumbling concrete foundation. The members wrote to the Secretary earlier this summer requesting a meeting to discuss crumbling foundations relief, specifically requesting an IRS “revenue procedure” — a guidance document that, if approved, would allow homeowners to deduct foundation repair costs from their federal taxes. The Treasury Department’s Office of Tax Policy directs the issuance of these documents, which are then prepared by the IRS. “After meeting with Secretary Mnuchin and his staff today, it is clear that they are engaged on this issue and understand the urgent situation facing residents in Connecticut,” said Larson and Courtney. “After laying the groundwork for possible coordination on crumbling foundations with the National Taxpayer Advocate earlier this year, and the Secretary during an appearance before the House Ways and Means Committee, we are pleased that he took time to meet with us once again to discuss the situation facing homeowners in our districts.

“We discussed several possible options for federal assistance through the IRS and the Treasury Department, and we were encouraged by their understanding of the situation facing Connecticut homeowners and commitment to working with us toward a solution. We will continue to work with Treasury and with the IRS as they consider legal issues in the tax code to secure some relief for homeowners. As we have said all along, there is not going to be one silver bullet that solves the entire problem for homeowners. Instead, we need a concerted effort at the municipal, state, and federal levels and this could be an important and valuable piece of the puzzle.” Under current tax law, taxpayers may deduct a casualty loss from their income if they have suffered a sudden loss. Citing the precedent of IRS assistance to homeowners affected by corrosive Chinese drywall in 2010, Courtney and Larson are seeking IRS guidance to allow a casualty deduction related to the longer-term damage suffered by homeowners with crumbling home foundations. Earlier this year, National Taxpayer Advocate Nina Olson also endorsed this effort, formally submitting a letter of support and outlining how the IRS could construct the details of this policy. The Connecticut Society of CPAs has also lent their support to this effort.

Art show at Thompson Public Library

THOMPSON — For the month of September, the Thompson Public Library's art exhibit will feature various linoleum cuts and illustrations by self-proclaimed "relief printmaker" Aaron C. Stark. A recent graduate from the University of Rhode Island, Stark is currently an art teacher and muralist in Putnam.

"I feel good about this exhibit," said Stark. "It gives me a lot of room to stretch out my stuff. This is the first show I've done with only my own pieces, showcasing only my art. It's been a long time coming."

Untitled artwork by Aaron C. Stark currently hangs in the Thompson Public Library throughout the month of September.

Restoration underway at historic Chamberlin Mill

Courtesy photos

Chamberlin Mill from the northeast in 2009, shortly after the Nature Conservancy (TNC) made a "historic exception" for the building and a small footprint at the corner of its 98-acre Still River Preserve. TNC gave this "historic exception" to Chamberlin Mill, Inc. in 2014.

Chamberlin Mill from the northeast in September, 2017, following timber frame repair.

WOODSTOCK — This summer has seen some remarkable changes at Chamberlin Mill. Since May, Historic Preservation Associates of Wales, Massachusetts has been meticulously restoring important timber frame elements undergirding this historic sawmill on the Still River in Woodstock. Rotted sills and joists have been repaired or replaced as needed, and the building has been carefully and slowly brought back to plumb. As a neighbor commented recently, the building now "looks happy."

With this basic structural work complete, repairs are underway to fill in gaps in the dry laid stone foundation. Most of the stones come directly from the site where they had tumbled as the building, unused for a half century, settled on deteriorating sills. Further work on an interior post and other elements continues as well, but for the first time in many years, the building stands squarely on its foundation, with a proudly straight roofline.

repairs are complete, Chamberlin Mill, Inc., the non-profit organization responsible for the historic site, will be able to replace the metal roof that has served the building for over a half century, and which is credited with keeping the building substantially intact throughout this time. Then, the 1873 Lane #1 circular saw with its substantial 48" blade will be rebuilt and connected to the power source that was used after major flooding in 1936 destroyed its water power capacity. This 1928 straight-eight Studebaker engine is itself a story of remarkable restoration by volunteers from Mystic Seaport.

Visitors to Chamberlin Mill's Walktober event at 2 P M on October 1 can hope to catch a glimpse of the rebuilt engine and to see the progress that has been made at the site this summer. Celebrating Agriculture visitors will also have an opportunity to see the engine in operation at the Woodstock Brunn Barn on September 23. Chamberlin Mill, Inc. continues on schedule to have an operational sawmill ready for public view by 2019. In the interim the Mill is open for occasional events. Its story has already become part of local history study for Woodstock third graders, with classroom presentations including hands-on time with working models of an early undershot water wheel and later water turbine, both of which were likely used at the Mill.

The site, in use by one family for more than one and a half centuries, supported a grist mill and sawmill operation in its early years, and retained its sawmill operation through the 1960s. An early turbine remains buried in mud; post-Civil War gears and pulleys as well as a saw carriage for the 1873 saw remain in place. Research underway for a National Register of Historic Places nomination has determined that the current post and beam building dates from about 1900. There is a great deal of history here, and a real story about early lumbering, technological change, renewable energy, and how ingenious agricultural mill owners kept one of New England's early small-scale industrial sites operational for a very long run. Chamberlin is the only complete, publicly accessible structure of its type in Connecticut, complementing Ledyard's up-down saw mill in telling the story of how New Englanders got lumber for the houses and barns that dot our historical landscape. While there are no structural remains of a grist mill at the site, a large mill stone, raised from the adjacent Still River many decades ago, has been given to Chamberlin Mill, Inc. by Tom Campbell of Pomfret. This artifact and many others from the building and nearby area will be part of the Chamberlin Mill collection. The site is on the State Register of Historic Places. Further information about Chamberlin Mill is available through its website, www.chamberlinmill.org. To become a Friend of Chamberlin Mill and receive occasional newsletters or to volunteer, send email to chamberlinmill@gmail.com.

"Save the Columns" concert set for East Woodstock Church

WOODSTOCK — The East Woodstock Cornet Band will be performing a benefit concert on Saturday, Sept. 23, at the East Woodstock Congregational Church. The concert begins at 7 p.m. and will help raise funds to restore the historic columns on this beautiful New England Congregational Church. Everyone is invited for an evening of wonderful music as well as apple desserts during intermission.

The church was built in 1832 and has withstood the test of time, hurricanes, and age. Now, however, it is time to restore the four columns that help support the roof and steel ple of the church.

The East Woodstock Congregational Church, best known for its annual Fourth of July Jamboree, is an active participant in community events and well-known for its compassion and generosity in times of need. Now the Church is asking for the community's help as they restore the aging columns. With everyone's help, the church will stand ready to serve the community for another 150-plus years.

More information can be found on the church website, www.eastwoodstockchurch.org

Coat drive on Sept. 23

PUTNAM — With winter just around the corner, Cargill Council 64, Knights of Columbus will be collecting donations today of clean, used winter coats for men, women and children and clean, used blankets and baby clothes in good condition, for needy people throughout northeastern Connecticut on Saturday, Sept. 23. We all know that this is a good time to clean out your closets, so we're asking you now, so we can give the clothing away to needy, local families this fall, strictly on the basis of need. If you have a winter coat or a blanket or baby clothes, please bring it to the parking lot behind St. Mary Church of the Visitation, 218 Providence Street, Putnam, on Saturday, Sept. 23, from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m.. For information, please call Council 64 Brother Knight John Ryan, at (860) 928-7241.

The toys Jeanne Carita has on display at the Thompson Public Library will be given away to children at the DKH and needy families later in the year.

TOYS

"This is different!" I had never seen any pattern books that had toys in it. One of the clowns from the original book, the painter clown, is on display at the Thompson Library right now. I have 25 to 30 pattern books on that subject now."

That is really awesome. What keeps you making more and more?

"First off, it's my personal hobby. It's relaxing for me. It gives me a sense of accomplishment. I've been doing this enough years that if I don't like something about it, I can add my own twist. It's a creative outlet as well. I've designed one whole thing myself."

What was it?

"It was for my granddaughter years ago. It was a large caterpillar named Callie-Pillar, a play on her name. That was my own design. It had the little legs and different color shoes on each leg. You could count the segments of the caterpillar. She could also learn to tie her shoes with the shoelaces. It was a learning toy."

That is really cool! What is one of your favorite patterns?

"I have a lot of favorites, but last year I made a baby elephant. I really, really like it. I just love how cute it is. It's got the little pouty lip under the trunk. It has the little tuft on the top of its head. You can tell it's a baby from the design. It's just so adorable I really love it."

That sounds very cute!

"There's also Victorian dolls with the straw-type hat and the pantaloons under the dress. I've made so many of her over the years that she's become a favorite as well."

It sounds like there are so many different things you can make!

"I've made some odd things as well. I just finished a kraken as a matter of fact."

Now that's different! What made you set out to design that?

be the most comfortable to work with for me. I find that knitting needles and crochet hooks are comfortable to hold. They don't make my hands go numb like other implements did. I just really enjoy it the most. I get such a kick out of the different patterns."

Do you make custom pieces if people request them?

"I don't sell these items. Over the years I've done maybe a few craft fairs. But, the one craft fair I used to do each year was something I didn't make money on. I donated the money to a toy drive, plus some of the toys I made. I give all of these toys to charity. A majority goes to DKH Pediatric Surgery Unit."

What is your reason for giving them away?

"Well, what would I do with 50 toys each year? I have 50 on display at the library. What would an old lady like me do with them? My 12 grandchildren already have plenty of the toys I made. The children at the hospital appreciate an extra toy. Needy families who can't afford to buy their children Christmas toys. I know how hard Christmas can be. I think it's a good thing to do. The toys have a useful purpose. I can do something with it and help other families in the process."

Prostate Cancer Facts And Figures That May Save Your Life

(NAPS)
 If you or someone you care about is a man over 50, now may be a good time to ask a doctor about prostate cancer screening.
 According to the National Cancer Institute, prostate cancer is the most commonly diagnosed solid tumor in men; in fact, nearly one in nine men will develop prostate cancer over their lifetime. While this data appears to indicate an improvement in the number of men diagnosed with this disease according to historical figures, the information is deceiving. The American Cancer Society estimates 161,360 new cases of prostate cancer to be diagnosed in the United States this year alone. While some believe that prostate cancer is a slow-growing disease that is not a major health issue, nothing could be further from the truth. Prostate cancer continues to be a leading cause of cancer death—but if caught in the early stages, it's just about 100 percent survivable. In fact, more than 2.9 million men in the United States who have been diagnosed with prostate cancer at some point are still alive today.

Encourage the men in your life to get checked for prostate cancer so they can stay in your life.

The Problem
 Unfortunately, diagnosing prostate cancer can be difficult. There are generally no symptoms until the disease has spread outside of the prostate. Most symptoms that men associate with their prostate are related to difficulty with urination, but those symptoms are more commonly associated with benign enlargement of the prostate. That's why Henry Schein, Inc.—the world's largest provider of health care products and services to office-based dental, animal health, and medical practitioners—and the Integrated Medical Foundation stress the importance of getting checked regularly, especially if you're susceptible. The importance of PSA screening was underscored by the recent recommendation by the United States Preventive Services Task Force (USPSTF), which acknowledged the importance of prostate cancer screening and suggested that men between the ages of 50 and 69 discuss screening with their physician.
 "Prostate cancer has taken far too many fathers, sons, brothers and friends for us to remain silent about the importance of prostate cancer screenings," said Dr. Deepak A. Kapoor, founder, Integrated Medical Foundation. "The true tragedy is that with early detection, prostate cancer is almost invariably curable. Now is the time to speak with the men in your life and make sure they discuss a prostate cancer screening with their doctor."
Who Is at Risk?
 Particular risk factors for prostate

- cancer include:
- Being age 50 or older;
  - An African-American or non-white Hispanic heritage;
  - A family history of prostate cancer; and
  - Exposure to toxins such as Agent Orange.

How to Prevent Prostate Cancer
 Scientists have not yet discovered any surefire prevention for prostate cancer—research is being conducted to determine if a daily aspirin may be of benefit, but for now, a healthy diet with appropriate exercise is the best option.

Treatment Options
 If your doctor ever does discover prostate cancer, there are several treatments available, according to Dr. Kapoor. The physician will determine which is best for you depending on the stage and grade of the cancer. The three most common options are:

1. Active surveillance;
2. Surgery, whether open, laparoscopic or robotic, in which the prostate and possibly some surrounding tissue is removed; and
3. Radiation therapy, such as:
  - Seed implantation, in which radioactive seeds or pellets are surgically placed into or near the cancer to destroy the cancer cells;
  - External beam radiation therapy, where radiation is administered from outside the body into the cancer using sophisticated computer-generated images to aim thin beams of radiation at the tumor from many angles—this type of radiation can be targeted with a high degree of precision to minimize untoward side effects.

Killingly opens a new chapter this season

BY CHARLIE LENTZ
VILLAGER EDITOR

DAYVILLE — The subplots were as thick as the crowd as Killingly High opened its football season last Friday night against East Lyme: The questions: Is this year's version of the Redmen equal to its predecessors, who reached the state semifinals the past two seasons? How would Luke Desaulnier fare in his first varsity start at quarterback? Could running back Spencer Lockwood continue his ridiculous accrual of rushing yardage? And what about the return of senior receiver Vasileios Politis — back after a bout with Non-Hodgkin Lymphoma.

This season's story line appears intact after Killingly's 47-28 victory over East Lyme at Killingly High School on Sept. 8 — the Redmen are likely plotting another playoff run but much work remains.

"I think they have great potential to take it to the next level but we've got to be a lot better than we were tonight to get there," said coach Chad Neal said. "From week one to week two is where you see most of the improvement with a football team. And we expect to be much better next week than we were this week. It's a good start. It's a passing grade. It's a win. But it's got to be better next week. And that's what we're going to focus on, is getting better."

Lockwood will remind you that story book finishes get written with hard work.

"We know what we can do but that's not why we have the confidence that we have. Every single player is self-motivated," said Lockwood after rushing for 286 yards and three touchdowns against East Lyme. "If we can keep growing each week and learn from our mistakes, by the end of the season we'll be a team to be reckoned with but that's only if we progress every single week."

Lockwood picked up where he left off last season, when he rushed for 2,496 yards as a junior. Against East Killingly's Luke Desaulnier goes airborne for an extra yard.

He'll wear teams down," Neal said. "He's going to carry the ball a lot for us as we know. I feel he is the best running back in the state, I know there are other guys out there. But I'd be hard pressed to find somebody better than him."

Junior quarterback Luke Desaulnier made a successful debut in his first varsity start. Desaulnier was efficient against East Lyme, completing 3-of-4 passes for two touchdowns including a 27-yard scoring toss to senior tight end Jake Gauthier and a 40-yard touchdown to Politis. Coach Neal said Desaulnier is off to a good start.

"I thought he did a good job. He ran the offense well," Neal said. "He made some plays. He had a couple great touchdown passes. He's going to continue to get better and better."

The team had been led by four-year starter Kyle Derosier, who graduated last June. Desaulnier said he was glad to get his first start after a long wait. Over the past two seasons Desaulnier has played at receiver, in the secondary, and done the placekicking.

"I've played quarterback for a long time. The past couple years I haven't played because Kyle Derosier was the quarterback. Today I was just looking to come in and do all the little things right to make a difference in the end," Desaulnier said. "Just focus on trying to stay calm, it was my first start as quarterback."

Lockwood said Desaulnier brings a new dimension to Killingly's offense. In spot duty over the past two seasons, Desaulnier has shown himself to be an able quarterback who can also run the football.

"Luke can do a couple different things. He can pass the ball but he can also run the ball so that makes us a little bit more diverse," Lockwood said. "Luke Desaulnier, being able to run and throw, that helps us out a lot. Luke's a tough kid. He has great composure."

Handing the football off to a player of Lockwood's ability makes Desaulnier's job easier when it comes time to pass. On their touchdown catches both Gauthier and Politis were wide-open after play-action drew the attention of East Lyme's defenders.

"(Lockwood) opens it up a lot. You run the ball a lot and then you run a play-action, he opens it up a lot," Desaulnier said.

But Desaulnier said much work remains.

"We have a lot to improve on, clearly," Desaulnier said. "But I think this team can do a lot of great things this year."

Politis, a senior captain, has been an inspirational lift to the team.

"He's a leader," said coach Neal. "He's on a mission. The guys are on a mission. I couldn't be happier for the kid and what he's done to get back."

Politis would have been a senior last season but spent most of the year battling Non-Hodgkin Lymphoma, which is currently in remission. He was granted another year of eligibility by the CIAC. Against East Lyme last Friday, Politis said it was a bit surreal as he collected Desaulnier's toss and turned it into a 40-yard touchdown in the first quarter to help stretch Killingly's lead to 14-0.

"(The pass) is definitely coming in slow motion. As soon as the ball was snapped everything opened up," Politis said. "It was exactly how we practiced."

Before Friday's season opener Killingly's last game came nine months ago — on Dec. 5, 2016 — when they fell to New Haven's Hillhouse High 49-28 in the semifinals of the Class M State Tournament, that's history now. This season's plotline includes a first-year starter at quarterback, a wide-receiver who beat lymphoma, and a battering ram at running back who carried the ball 40 times for 229 yards against Hillhouse — Lockwood stowed away that playoff memory before the season-opening kickoff against East Lyme last Friday.

"Even tonight, Coach said 'Remember the last time you playing football.' Because the last time we were playing football was in the state semifinals against Hillhouse, that just really made us think and made us hungry," Lockwood said. "We're focusing on this season, one game at a time, and ultimately reaching that goal of getting back to where we were last year."

Politis hopes they get back to the tournament, he rooted from the bench last season. He's wants to be on the field for a state game this fall — for now it's just nice to be back on the field. Plenty of plot lines remain and Politis intends to enjoy every chapter.

"I'm going to enjoy it more than anything in the past year. Going out there a switch flips and you're zoned in on the game," Politis said. "Everything in life just disappears. It's a great feeling."

New start for Woodstock Academy

Woodstock's Kameron Janice races ahead of the pursuit on the way to a 40-yard touchdown in the third quarter last Saturday. Janice added touchdown runs of 80, 33, and 17 yards and finished with 337 yards on the ground.

WOODSTOCK — Woodstock Academy senior running back Kameron Janice perhaps should have saved some of the four touchdowns and 337 yards he gained against Platt Tech in last Saturday's 46-22 victory. That likely won't be necessary because Woodstock's offense has been prolific of late. But improvement is needed if Woodstock wants to achieve its first winning season since the program was resurrected roughly a decade ago. The Centaurs took a step in the right direction as first-year head coach Sean Saucier got his first win on Saturday — and Janice likely took the first of several steps into the end zone this season. "Tremendous runner. He's a senior. He's a leader," Saucier said. "And when we really needed him he produced." Saucier is in his first season at Woodstock Academy after coaching Hyde School for 11 seasons. His first win at Bentley Athletic Complex is now behind him. "I'm just happy for the kids. They executed. They did what we taught them to do," Saucier said. "They gave it a lot effort, not much more you could ask for." But the Centaurs will likely have to do better in many phases if they want to get their first winning season in the past decade. Woodstock was whistled for 16 penalties worth 110 yards. "We've got to be more disciplined," Janice said. Saucier is Woodstock's third coach in the last three seasons. Janice said each season is always a new experience and the Centaurs must adapt. "Every year is a new start, doesn't matter if it's the same coach, new coach, every year is a new start," Janice said. "From here on out we're just looking to progress and get better."

Against Platt Tech, Janice rushed for 337 yards on 24 carries with four touchdowns on runs of 80, 40, 33, 17 yards. Last season the Centaurs came close to a winning

Putnam booters strive for solid season

BY CHARLIE LENTZ

PUTNAM — Defensive midfielder Hayden Belliveau is one of five seniors at Putnam High — a group that's never played on a winning soccer team in high school. The Clippers came close last year, going 7-7-2 in the regular season and then ousted in the first round of the state tournament. Belliveau and his senior cohort are working for a different finish this fall.

"We're focused because our first two seasons we weren't very good and we only won a couple games. And then last year we just didn't have a lot of good team chemistry," Belliveau said. "So this year we want to build up play and keep communicating so we can score more goals. I want to win every single game. We're going to try our hardest and see what comes."

Putnam shut out Norwich Tech 4-0 on Monday, Sept. 11, at St. Marie-Greenhalgh Complex to lift its record to 2-0. In the win Belliveau scored one goal, junior Hunter Touchette scored one goal and had one assist, junior midfielder Simon Morente scored one goal, junior Kobie Bates scored one goal, and sophomore Justin St. Martin notched one assist. Putnam led 17-4 in shots. Goalkeeper Don Hunter Touchette moves upfield against Norwich Tech on Monday, Sept. 11, in Putnam.

Duca made eight saves for the Warriors. Tyler Fitts (3) and Tyion Harris (one) combined for four saves for Putnam. Touchette said the Clippers are concentrating on working together. "The seniors are very good leaders. They focus a lot. They keep us in check. I feel like we're more of a team this year and I feel like we can go the distance," said Touchette, a center midfielder. "This team has no limit. It's a good tone. It raises everybody's standards."

Belliveau said the seniors are taking the season very seriously.

"I think we do a good job being role models," Belliveau said. "We definitely have a shot at hosting a state tournament game and I hope we do."

Morente said it's been a long stretch since a successful season.

"We all want it so bad. We haven't done it for years now. I believe with this team we can achieve a lot of things," said Morente, a left outside midfielder. "It's extraordinary what we've become over three years."

Putnam coach Jon Miller said the Clippers have clicked thus far.

"This year they understand to play the ball wider, that points are more useful for us rather than trying to be selfish and taking shots after trying to dribble by three and four guys," Miller said. "We definitely have possessed the ball through two games."

The Clippers played in the Constitution State Conference last season but that conference has disbanded. Putnam is now playing an independent schedule and will join the Eastern Connecticut Conference next season. Murphy said the Clippers' goals are to finish with a winning record and thereby qualify for the state Class S tournament.

"It's unfortunate not being in a conference so there's no conference play for us. But hopefully we'll make the state tournament, maybe host a game," Miller said. "My seniors, these players, I've coached them since middle school, they definitely understand what we're looking for. Some of them have finally grown into their jerseys. They have that common goal of doing better in the states than last year."

Miller said the seniors have made an impact and they include Belliveau, defender Scott Davagian, goalkeeper Tyler Fitts, Ben Smith, Justin Haynes.

"It's nice to see our five seniors taking over," Miller said. "They talk every day. I know they have a group chat, I let them know if I need anything, any word to get around."

Putnam is next scheduled to play at Norwich Tech at 11 a.m. on Saturday, Sept. 16. The Clippers return home on Monday, Sept. 18, to play host to Parish Hill with kickoff scheduled for 6 p.m. at St. Marie-Greenhalgh Complex.

Elsie K. Haworth, 96

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS, FLORIDA -- Elsie K. Haworth, a award-winning Industrial Arts teacher, avid ballroom dancer, mother of four, and 9th great granddaughter of Plymouth Colony Elder William Brewster and Connecticut Colony Governor Thomas Welles, died on July 25 in hospice care in Altamonte Springs, Florida. She was 96.

She is survived by her four children, Carlene Haworth-Kaplowitt of Woodstock; Gary Haworth and his wife Debra of Clearwater, Florida; Thomas Haworth and his wife Gael of Orlando, Florida; Pamela Cyr and her husband James R. Gibson of Gibsonton, Florida, and many grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

Born in Milford, she was raised with her eight brothers and sisters initially in Southbury, where she attended grammar school in the historic 1762 Bullet Hill two-room school house. The family moved when she was 13 to a 198-acre dairy farm in Woodbury. As a young girl, Elsie enjoyed hopping into the back of a pick-up truck with her siblings, or into the rumble seat of a Ford Roadster with friends, to go dancing to the swing bands of Sammy Kaye and Spike Jones. After graduating from Woodbury High School, she defied family expectations and left the bucolic family farm behind. She enrolled in Central Connecticut State Teachers College in New Britain, where she defied expectations yet again, and began pursuing a degree in Industrial Arts.

Elsie left college in her junior year to marry Ash Haworth, a handsome young U.S. Army reconnaissance photographer and former Prisoner of War just returned to the States after being liberated from a German Stalag. She and Ash moved to a 3rd floor apartment in Hartford, and four years later, with two young babies in tow, they signed a 1.5% GI mortgage on a small cape in the nascent suburban sprawl of East Hartford. To help pay down the mortgage, Elsie's in-laws moved in to help with child care while Elsie worked for several years at Pratt & Whitney Aircraft, the "airplane factory" just a few miles from their new home. She first worked on the production line, machining the giant fan blades of jet turbines, but was later promoted to a teaching position in Pratt & Whitney's in-house "school," teaching newly-hired male factory workers how to read plans, use a micrometer and operate the milling machines on the production line.

After raising four children, she returned to university at age 50, finished her bachelor's degree, and was hired to teach Industrial Arts at O'Brien Middle School in East Hartford. She loved her job at O'Brien and often stayed after class to help her students if she saw they were struggling with something, even in subjects other than Industrial Arts. She successfully motivated several troubled, held-back students to improve their below-grade reading skills by using a Department of Motor Vehicles driver's manual as a reading text.

In 1980 she was named "Outstanding Teacher of the Year" for the State of Connecticut by the Connecticut Industrial Arts Association.

In 1981, at age 60, she graduated yet again from Central Connecticut State University, with a master's degree in Technology Education.

Ash and Elsie retired in 1985 and moved to Beverly Hills, Florida, where Elsie took up ballroom dancing and quickly earned the nickname "Old Smoothie." She joined the Beverly Hills fishing club, sewed tailored ballroom gowns and sequined dance costumes, and volunteered hundreds and hundreds of hours as a teacher's aid at the Marine Science Station in Crystal River, FL. At age 85, she traveled to Alaska with her eldest daughter, mushed a dog sled team across Denver Glacier, and out-fished everybody on the boat trolling for salmon out of Juneau.

Widowed in 1993, she remained in Beverly Hills until 2005, when she moved to Orlando, across the street from her youngest son. Elsie had given up ballroom dancing due to failing health and advancing Alzheimer's, but with the assistance of her son and his family, she was still living in her own home and still rolling a bowling ball at age 95. Elsie marked and left behind a favorite prose poem that said in part, "When I leave you, don't weep for me... I'll be off, dancing somewhere on the beach."

In addition to her four children, she also leaves brothers Lee and Willard, and sister Ruth of Woodbury. She was predeceased by her husband, W. Ashton Haworth, her brothers Arthur, Howard, Stanley and Charles, and her sister Irene of Woodbury, and her son-in-law, Dr. Stephen J. Kaplowitt of Woodstock.

Her remains were interred beside those of her husband, in the Florida National Cemetery in Bushnell, FL. In lieu of flowers, the family requests that donations be made to the Alzheimer's Association in Elsie's name at www.alz.org.
