Car Buying Tips

Customers ask place: When is the best time to buy a Car or Truck?

The RIGHT answer: There are many opinions regarding this question. Sometimes our personal situations may dictate the best time to buy. Maybe you want to wait for a tax return or maybe you get a bonus at work. Coincidentally the holiday season is a good time to buy a car or truck. As a general rule the last month or two of the year is a good time to buy. The model year change has occurred so leftovers have strong incentives. Rebates and low finance rates are among the best of the year. With some models getting in short supply we will do our best to get what you want and in many cases we find folks can get a better car for less money because of the dealers desire to move what they have. It is also the time of year for many small businesses to make purchases to improve their tax positions. The need for capital expenditures and the write offs for depreciation can help keep a business from paying too much to the tax man. We all want to keep our taxes to a minimum. Please consult with your accountant to discuss these potential benefits. Lastly many dealers like us are looking to get as many sales as we can for year end. Just like other retailers, car dealers like us want to cash in on the shopping season. We know we are competing against jewelry stores, toy stores, and just about every kind of gift seller. We want to meet sales goals, reach contest objectives, and make it so that our families may have a wonderful holiday season too. Place Motor wants your Holiday season to be special so when you come get your new car or truck, if you want us to, we will even put a bow on it for you. Happy Holidays!

The Myth of the Spring Market

BLACK

Many people this time of year will tell me they want to wait till the spring before selling their home. Sometimes it is because they don't want to deal with selling their home during the holidays or having to leave their house for showings when its 10 degrees out or 10 inches of snow. The other major reason people make this decision is due to thinking that if they wait till spring then they will sell quicker and for a better price. That will sometimes be true but it will not be based on the time of year as much as market factors changing. I also hear people say that no homes sell in the winter which is also a myth.

If we look at 12/1/2015 through 11/30/2016 it was taking on average 57 days to get an offer, homes were selling at 98 percent of their listing price and the average sales price was $290,361 in Worcester County. From 12/1/2016 through 2/1/2017, the average days to offer was slightly lower at 56 days, also homes were still selling at 98 percent of listing price and the average sales price was up almost 1% to $292,770. Approximately 14.3% of homes sold that year sold in those 3 months. This number is significantly lower than the other 3 quarters of the year. However, if less homes are selling that time of year then your chance of getting a higher price is much better.

I suggest consulting with a local Realtor to see how your specific market and town performs in the winter months as not every area has this same data. Your home may have limited off street parking, a steep driveway or a be a waterfront home which all can be affected more greatly by the winter.

Single minded and generous describe goals of foundation

BY KEVIN FLANDERS
NEWS STAFF WRITER

NORTH BROOKFIELD — Nothing can divert Richard Fiske's focus from assisting children and families in need — not even a life-threatening case of pneumonia.

Though Fiske was sidelined earlier this year by complications from his illness, which ultimately caused him to have surgery, he couldn't wait to get back to North Brookfield and help the community as he's done for decades after founding the Heart to Heart Foundation.

"Just a few months after he got home, he was already out there, mowing lawns again for people," said Reverend Richard Jakubauskas, of St. Joseph's Parish, who has seen Fiske's kindness take many forms over the years. "He is the ultimate steward, and his greatest satisfaction is the ability to help people out."

This year, Fiske's foundation made donations of $200 each to St. Joseph's Parish, Christ Memorial Church, and First Congregational Church of North Brookfield. The donations are vital for churches around the holidays, helping fund everything from a food pantry to church outreach programs and other services at St. Joseph's Parish.

"Churches do so much for our community, and we always want to help them out," Fiske said.

But churches aren't the only recipients of Heart to Heart Foundation funds this year. After a few months of recovery from his illness, Fiske and his foundation are getting back into high gear in terms of giving this holiday season — and not just in central Massachusetts. The foundation will award $500 each to the following locations for disaster relief: Florida, Puerto Rico, and Texas.

Additionally, the foundation has donated over $3,000 to the Red Cross in the last year alone.

"When we see disasters like that, we try to chip in whenever we can," said Richard Fiske Jr., who has been a member of his father's foundation since its inception.

Looking ahead, the foundation is preparing to award its annual scholarships to students at North Brookfield High School and David Prouty High School, which will be awarded in the spring. Support from the foundation is also ongoing for dozens of local children battling illnesses, and Fiske is always searching for new families to help.

Of course, the foundation wouldn't be able to assist anyone without strong support over the years from residents, organizations and businesses. Fiske thanked everyone who offered support during his recovery, and he is eager to see old friends again and connect with new donors at upcoming foundation events.

"We are small, but we have a great support system," Richard Fiske Sr., added. "The greatest gift at Christmas is giving back."

Founded in 1995, the Heart to Heart Foundation has supported hundreds of children and families over the years, raising funds through talent shows, motorcycle poker runs, community fun days, and direct contributions. To learn more about the organization and how you can help, check out the Heart to Heart Foundation's Facebook page.

To make a donation to the foundation, make checks payable to Heart to Heart Foundation and send them to: PO Box 154, North Brookfield, MA, 01535.

DON'T MISS A BEAT

CHECK OUT THE SPORTS ACTION!

Winter fishing just revving up

TRUE

With pheasant hunting and deer hunting coming to an end for most outdoorsmen and women, waterfowl hunting and ice fishing are the final two activities left for most sportsmen that enjoy the great outdoors during winter months. There are a lot of ducks and geese in the area, but hunters need to be extra careful with frozen waters that are being hunted. Extreme caution needs to be used when sending the hunting dogs out into frozen areas, to retrieve downed birds. Costal hunting for sea ducks at this time of year has caused the death of many duck hunters in the past. Fast moving tides can carry hunting dogs away from the hunting blind and too often hunters needed to retrieve duck and dogs because of the strong tides. Duck hunters hunting costal marshes also need to keep an eye on the incoming tides. Too often duck hunters have been stranded on sandbars after the tide comes in. Play it safe!!!!

Although the final count of the deer harvest is not complete for this year, MFW is predicting a record harvest for all three seasons in Massachusetts. The quality of the deer was great, with numerous young bucks sporting large antlers and weighing in at surprising numbers on the scales during the first week of shotgun season.

A huge black bear weighing in at 342 lbs. was hit and killed by two vehicles in Gardner on Rt. 2. A hunter also illegally shot a moose in the Gardner area during the shotgun season. The Environmental Police are investigating the incident. The controlled hunt at Blue Hills this year netted 67 deer of which 42 were females.

Some ponds have enough ice on them for some ice fishing, but extreme caution needs to be used. Striking the ice with a good ice chisel as you navigate the frozen waters, is the only safe way to go, as mentioned last week. Many first time anglers of the year start out jig fishing and it can be extremely productive for catching enough yellow perch for a good meal. When a good school of perch are located and they are feeding, a single angler can catch a dozen or more perch from one hole.

During a feeding frenzy, largemouth and small mouth bass will aggressively hit the jig, providing the angler with some excitement as he or she tries to bring the fish to top, and through the hole. A Swedish pimple with a single hook, baited with a grub, can catch the first perch. Immediately remove one of the eyes of the perch, and affix it to the single hook, being careful not to break the eye. The fresh eye is the best bait to use when fishing with a jig stick for perch. A small fresh shiner is also great when jigging for larger fish like pickerel and bass. Be sure to test the depth of the water at each hole, as water depths can change quickly. Fishing a foot off of the bottom is normally best to catch yellow perch, but sometimes a few feet off of the bottom can make a difference.

Cleaning yellow perch is quick and simple by removing the top fin completely. Make a cut just in back of the head being careful not to completely cut off the head. Place your right index finger in back of the head and your left index finger and thumb also in back of the head, and pull down with the right hand. As the skin starts to peel off you will be left with only the fully cleaned fish. Lay the perch on their side one by one and cut off the bones along the cavity with one stroke of the knife on each end. Rinse the fish off and you are ready to start cooking.

A combination of 2/3 yellow corn meal and 1/3 flour ground in a blender for a few seconds, will give you the consistency of a milled substance that is ideal for frying any kind of sea food and fish. A cast iron pan with a good frying oil and small amount of butter will cook up your perch to perfection. Cooking the fish for a couple of minutes on each side will give you some tasty eating at the table. Carefully peel the meat of the perch from the main bone, and eat them with some great fried rice from Food Works restaurant in North Uxbridge, along with your favorite beverage. Great.

This week's picture shows a local angler with a large Northern Pike taken through the ice in Connecticut a few years back. If you want to catch a fish like this you need to go to a neighboring state, although a few fish still inhabit some local waters from stockings of pike a number of years ago. Local anglers are hoping that MFW will expand their pike program back to more than a few northern bodies of water. Manchaug Reservoir had a huge success rate back in the '80s or '90s when the state was stocking local bodies of water in the state, as did Webster Lake.

The Uxbridge Rod & Gun club will hold their annual Red Eye Shoot at the trap range January 1, starting at 10:00 a.m. The event is open to the public.

Wishing everyone a very Merry Christmas and Happy, Safe Holiday Season

Note: High tech tracking of Kris Kringle might appear a modern marvel, but the premise has been a tradition for more than half a century. Here's the story: Since 1955, NORAD and its predecessor, the Continental Air Defense Command (CONAD) have tracked Santa each year. The tradition began after a Sears Roebuck & Co. store advertisement for children to call Santa on a special "hotline" included an inadvertently misprinted telephone number. Instead of Santa, the phone number put kids through to the CONAD Commander-in-Chief's operations "hotline." Thus, a tradition was born.

Not a Creature was Stirring: From eggnog to Wassail, you'll be able to whip up the best yuletide drinks in style if you log onto the free Online Bartending School at www.cocktailsonline.tv/. ## Friday's Child

Kelsey is a loving sixteen year old girl of Caucasian descent. Kelsey's foster mother describes her as a "giggle puss". If you spend time with her you will quickly see why! She has the biggest smile and an infectious laugh. Kelsey likes to do karaoke, read, and listen to music. One of her favorite singers is "Pink"! Kelsey is in the high school where she receives support in school to help her succeed. Kelsey is diagnosed with Down Syndrome and is thriving in school! Kelsey enjoys horse back riding, swimming, cooking class, and doing art activities.

Legally freed for adoption, Kelsey has shared she is looking forward to having a mom and a dad. She may want contact in the future with an adult sibling so a family should be open to maintaining this connection. She also will need contact with her brother.

Who Can Adopt?

Can you provide the guidance, love and stability that a child needs? If you're at least 18 years old, have a stable source of income, and room in your heart, you may be a perfect match to adopt a waiting child. Adoptive parents can be single, married, or partnered; experienced or not; renters or homeowners; LGBTQ singles and couples.

The process to adopt a child from foster care requires training, interviews, and home visits to determine if adoption is right for you, and if so, to help connect you with a child or sibling group that your family will be a good match for.

To learn more about adoption from foster care, call the Massachusetts Adoption Resource Exchange (MARE) at 617-54-ADOPT (617-542-3678) or visit www.mareinc.org. The sooner you call, the sooner a waiting child will have "a permanent place to call HOME."

Let there be peace...

We are here just three days before the biggest holiday in the Christian calendar, the birth. It is a joyous time, and meant as time for families to unite (or reunite), for good will toward one another, for charity, for hope, and also for meditation and prayer; for reflection and perhaps even repentance.

The end of the cyclical year, the dead of winter; the end of days for those who go by the seasonal year as the Solstice ends the solar calendar with the shortest day of the year and begins a slow climb toward more light.

Those who live in an even darker, colder climate than New England were the ones who lit a log in commemoration of this, the hope the light would come back, that the people would stay warm enough through the rest of the dark winter to survive.

Many traditions are based on even older traditions, adapted to new uses.

We don't see mind at all, but we would like to see some revived.

The one that says for just a few days, we forgive one another our differences, no matter what they may be. We don't need to know what it is we fear about one another that makes it an "us" and a scary "them." We just need to be a people. A single entity. Just for now.

We need to erase imaginary lines drawn on maps and globes. We need to forget anyone actually "owns" dirt. Or air. Or water.

We don't. We borrow for a few years. It then reverts or moves on to another form and to another "owner." We carry more dust that belongs to us on the soles of our shoes than we can claim ownership to than the acres we fight over on man-drawn papyrus.

We need to learn to say...enough. We own enough, we have enough, we've had enough, that's enough...

The wealth of the world is skewed true, and no, we don't expect it ever to be equalized; nor should it be spread about without someone doing their fair share to earn a bit of it; work is rewarded not existence. But on the other hand, when the world is producing enough food to feed itself easily yet there are people starving, when there are people without housing or clothing in a world as rich as ours, there is something wrong with the economies of the countries.

Health care, education, food, basic needs, are not rights true, at least not now in our country at this time in history (and before you hit us with the education one, re-examine the criteria now being set for voc-tech schools, charter schools and public schools and tell us again how we all have a right to basic education).

A lot of it has to do with the gap between the costs of goods and services and the wages that have not risen had the same rate as those costs. A person making $1 an hour in 1957 was living better than his counterpart at $10 an hour now.

Our expectations of having someone else do the hard stuff is skewed too. We have attempted to give our power to the politicians, the ones in charge, the Powers That Be, the bosses. We want to keep our heads down, do our thing and not take any responsibility. It's someone else's problem, so we can just complain, not be part of the solution.

Which brings us full circle.

If we aren't responsible, if we aren't the ones to reach out first, to say we will help, we will talk, we will ask, we will find out, we will fix, we will try... who will?

And if we want a bit of peace, we first need a bit of disturbance, of our own conscience.

The Constitution deals with sexual abuse in Congress

According to the media members of Congress of both major political parties are dropping like flies to a fly-swatter in a barn: Senator Al Franken, Congressmen John Conyers, Ruben Kihuen, Blake Farenthold, Joe Barton, Trent Franks, Alcee Hastings, in the last 30 days. All are accused of sexually abusing women, some recent, some years ago. The Constitution deals with misbehaving members of Congress when followed fully.

Unfortunately, with the disclosure of these seven also came the exposure of the existence of a secret funding source for members of Congress accused of sexual harassment and other work-place discretions created under the Congressional Review Act of 1995. Since 1997, the fund has paid at least $15 million to settle complaints. Congressman Blake Farenthold is the first member of Congress confirmed to have benefited from it receiving $84,000 in taxpayer dollars in 2014 to settle a sexual harassment lawsuit with a former aide. We will have many other disclosures to rise to the expenditure of $15 million. A fund to potentially hide immoral activities is completely unconstitutional. It also removes a deterrent to transgression.

So how does the Constitution deal with misbehaving members of Congress? It begins with the morality of the electorate. John Adams, a Founding Father and second president of the United States, identified the first principle of a republic where a king does not dictate good or evil, but the participants in that government bridle their "human passions" through "morality and religion," left unbridled, he said, they "would break the strongest cords of our Constitution." He ended a lengthy paragraph on the topic with, "Our Constitution was made only for a moral and religious people. It is wholly inadequate to the government of any other."

At least nine other Founders expressed similar opinions. George Washington in his "Farewell Address" wrote: "Of all the dispositions and habits which lead to political prosperity, religion and morality are indispensable supports. And let us with caution indulge the supposition that morality can be maintained without religion."

In their time, none denied the relationship between morality, religion, God and justice. When morality is situational, as it seems to be for so many today, this link is broken and one depends upon his own wisdom alone. There is no "appealing to the Father of lights to illuminate our understanding," as expressed by Benjamin Franklin in the Constitutional Convention. As Washington once said, "Government is like fire, a dangerous servant and a fearful master." Unprincipled government can do much damage as it has to the Constitution for years.

We expect those we elect to govern to have strong moral fiber and to have their human passions fully bridled. If they are still struggling with the base, hedonistic, animalistic and adulterous elements of themselves, such as is reported of these ly starts long before one is a member of Congress. Al Franken demonstrated this by his choice of material as a professional comedian. Women complained of the sexually abusive behavior of John Conyers decades ago. Once this is known and confirmed, he should not be reelected. When the people themselves are morally bankrupt and do not care about the philandering of their favorite, as in the second election of President Bill Clinton, then such, as Adams said, breaks "the strongest cords of our Constitution."

Returning to the principle of electing only those with strong moral fiber, and zero tolerance for those who do not, will eliminate most, if not all, predatory behavior in Congress.

Once manifested two parts of the Constitution come into play to isolate the damage. Each House is to be the judge "of the Elections, Returns and Qualification of its own Members" making certain that it is the will of voters and that will was fairly derived (Article I, Section 5, Clause 1). But neither House can constitutionally rejudge behavior that is known to voters addressed during the campaign after the expression of the people, should any of the seven run and win in 2018.

Also, each House may "punish its Members for disorderly Behaviour, and, with the Concurrence of two thirds, expel a Member" (Article I, Section 5, Clause 2). In this they deal with behavior occurring after being seated such as sexual harassment. So let the Ethics Committee of both houses deal with the accused.

But the Constitution has one more check. At least six of the seven accused of sexual abuse face their constituents in eleven months to be judged by them and reelected or not. Their best behavior is likely pending that outcome. Let these two constitutional filters do their work not media trials that only serve the vengeful and are too politicized to be fair.

If the above does not end predatory sexual behavior in Congress the Constitution can be said to be broken, as Adams said, at least on curbing immorality of its leaders. The disclosures are serious; still, we need to be reminded that there are 535 members of Congress and most bridle their "human passions" but the seven, who presumably do not, are seven too many.

Happiest of holidays, and thank you

The holiday season is upon us and for me, it is a time to be especially thankful for the blessings of family and friends, colleagues and coworkers, those people who we rely on, receive unconditional love and support from, and share our dreams, laughter and tears with the whole year through. In short, it is a time to be truly "present," ensuring that despite the frenetic pace of our daily lives, we stop and enjoy the special people and moments that are all around us. As we learn all too well as we continue to age, there are no guaranteed promises of tomorrow, making it ever more important that we make the best of each moment and each day, with the holidays being the perfect time to do just that.

As the proud Superintendent of the Auburn Schools, I feel truly blessed to be part of an organization that has students as its primary focus, the district believing that through teamwork, a positive attitude, a strong work ethic and a sincere belief in the limitless potential of our students, educational excellence will be ours. It is, after all, for the students – those we already know and work with, as well as those who have yet to enter our schoolhouse doors – that we engage in work we love and hold ourselves to high standards. In fact, it was Theodore Roosevelt who once said, "The best prize life offers is the chance to work hard at work worth doing," and I could not agree more with his sentiments.

Over the past several weeks, I have been fortunate to attend holiday concerts provided by some of the students and staff in our schools and while admittedly a biased observer, I was thoroughly entertained and so very proud of our students' performances and their teachers' obvious dedication. The concert performed by our third graders in early December, to include a performance by the students learning the strings – which was delightful – was the perfect event to instill the holiday spirit into all in attendance. From the students' palpable excitement to the teachers' obvious enthusiasm and everything in between, it was spectacular! In fact, in my opinion, there is nothing better than to enjoy the sights and sounds of children at this time of year; enjoying them gleefully singing songs is an added bonus. Special thanks are extended to the Music Department as a whole as all of the holiday programs

Are you a snowbird? Protect your finances while you're gone

ANTONOPOULOS

Winter is (just about) officially here – but you may soon be leaving it behind if you're a snowbird. When you go, though, you'll want to keep your financial situation from getting caught out in the cold. These are a few suggestions you may want to consider:

Protect your home. If you're like many people, your home is your biggest investment, so you'll want to protect it while you're away. You're probably already familiar with the steps you should take, such as informing your neighbors that you'll be gone, stopping your newspapers, forwarding your mail, using a timer to turn lights on and off, and so on. And these days, with smart phones and advanced security systems, you can look in on your home whenever you like.

Notify your bank. Recognizing the prevalence of identity theft, the fraud departments of many banks are getting more aggressive in spotting and denying unusual charges. Consequently, you'll want to give your bank your temporary address and contact information before you leave. By doing so, you can reduce the risk of your account being frozen temporarily if your financial institution can't reach you with questions about charges from an unexpected location. You might also find it useful to open a bank account at your snowbird site.

Gather your tax forms. If you're gone most of the winter, you may bump up against the tax-filing deadline, which, in 2018, is April 17. So, to allow yourself enough time to prepare your taxes, or to have them prepared by a professional, gather your tax information before you leave. Make sure you've got all your investment-related forms, such as your 1099-INT (for interest income) and your 1099-DIV (for taxable capital gains and dividends).

Track your investments. You can probably track the progress of your investments online, and it's a good idea to do so, just as you would at your permanent residence. Even if you're only gone a couple of months, you may need to make some investment moves, such as "maxing out" on your IRA, so stay on top of your accounts and contact your investment professional, as needed. As always, though, don't overreact to sudden market swings – ideally, you've got long-term strategies in place that can serve your needs in most investment environments. In any case, it also wouldn't hurt to notify your financial professional that you'll be away for a while, even if you typically only see him or her a couple of times a year.

Arrange for bill payments. If you handle most of your bills online or through auto-pay, you won't have to worry about missing a payment while you're gone. Still, if you take care of some bills the old-fashioned way, with checks, envelopes and stamps, you may want to give yourself some sort of reminder of when these payments are due.

Be careful on social media. To be on the safe side, you may not want to trumpet your extended time away from home on Facebook or other social media platforms. It's sad but true that identity thieves watch for information like this.

In all likelihood, you'll enjoy being a snowbird – and by making the above moves, you'll have less financial baggage to deal with when you take off.

Donating items has multiple benefits. It is a good way to help local charities as they assist those in need in your community. You also get the satisfaction of knowing that you are making a difference in someone's life.

It provides you with other benefits as well. If you are an estate personal representative or just need some extra room, it can help you get things cleaned out. You may not have anything particularly valuable and an auction house may not be interested in selling your items. A charity may have many people who would be thrilled to have your unwanted ed dining room set, bookcases, household items and clothing.

There are many local charities that accept donations in our area. Many larger charities have locations where you can drop items off or arrange to have items picked up. The Salvation Army has several donation centers throughout the area that the Stonebridge Press newspapers reach.

Local Salvation Army locations include the following:

120 E Main St, Webster, MA 01570 Phone: (508) 461-5207

Goodwill also has a Worcester location:

Habitat for Humanity website states that they make pickups of many types of furniture. You can find additional information at www.habitat.org. There are many other smaller local charities that operate thrift shops or make donations directly to those in need. Please email me if you have any that you'd like me to share with readers in a future column.

Along with helping local charities, you may get an additional benefit from your donation. Many of these charities will provide you with a donation slip. Goodwill and Bankrate.com are two of many sites that offer suggested prices that can be used when you donate items. Some examples from Goodwill's website are $7 for dresses, $6 for jeans, $10 for microwaves and $75 for a dining room set, assuming they are in good condition. These are estimated prices and it is best to consult with your tax preparer on prices. If you are dropping items off at the donation center now, expect long lines. Many people drop off items near the end of the year to get donation slips for their taxes.

Our next live auction will take place in Worcester on Jan. 25th. I'll be teaching my Evaluating your Antiques class for the Bay Path Evening School on March 3rd. Other events are being planned for after the holidays. See www.centralmassauctions.com for details.

REUNITE

Eventually, the Trainas moved to Massachusetts, where her husband became president of Clark University. When he retired, they moved to Overlook 11 years ago, and he passed away from cancer a few years ago.

She recalls that as the biggest change in her life, but still takes it with a touch of humor.

"If he was still alive, I'm sure I'd be saying 'If he does that one more time....,' and he'd say the same of me," she noted.

Still-active people like Traina were the reason Brody started the Reunion Project in the first place.

"I find joy in being around people who own their aging," Brody said, noting the idea came from her own 50th high school reunion in Hartford. She thought about some of the women she hadn't seen in all those years, wrote them to say she was interested in taking their photos "and having a conversation about what our lives are like now and what we expected," she told several dozen exhibit-opening attendees at Overlook last week.

When she did it, she expected they'd take her surveys home and fill them out later, but what happened was that the women did it right there and started talking, while the men hung out at the bar.

"People shared the most extraordinary stories," Brody recalled. Among them: the popular prom queen told her she got pregnant prom night, gave up her baby for adoption, and never had another one. Out of the blue 10 years ago, the daughter found her mother and "now [she] has a family," Brody said.

Brody's own memory was of being "a bottom-feeder because I was an artist; it had no credit at all." After she left, she went to college because of a mistake in her favor on the SAT, but "flunked out almost immediately."

She tried again later, and this time was required to take remedial classes in her own high school basement. Times had changed by then; the teacher noticed her struggling and asked if she'd ever heard of dyslexia. She hadn't, got tested, "and that's how I found my brain," Brody said.

As a guidance counselor, participant Sue Hagberg probably saw quite a few students like Brody. But her most vivid memories were of a very different place — her years in Las Vegas, the cultural difference between there and here, and a pair of cowboy boots.

"In the West, people's boundaries are much wider than in the East," she recalled, noting people there often think we're distant and stand-offish. By contrast, though, she also recalled "In New Mexico, people painted their doors blue to keep the witches out."

She also remembered surviving her dad's death when she was 8, her four "siblings pounding on me," getting "a new boyfriend every year," and her mother's very wise observation about life: "You can laugh, or you can cry."

"Then, I saw life as a series of things you had to do and have fun," Hagberg said. "Today, I see life as a series of problems to solve and, despite them, to have fun, experience life and culture. Life is ever-changing. Accepting that has helped me float my boat through the whitewater."

Most of the facility's women weren't part of the project, for various reasons. For Barbara Howard, she wasn't there the day of the photo shoot, but she still sees the display as "very interesting, [especially] seeing some of the things most important in their lives."

As a young person on Cape Cod, Howard said her family really wanted her to follow in the footsteps of her father, grandfather and great-grandfather, all of whom had been state representatives. But she never really wanted to, moved to Connecticut, "and now I'm too old," she added.

"The project itself, and [Brody's] motivation for doing it — she stumbled on some universal truths," Hagberg said. "Once they're out there, published, we say 'Of course,' but don't really think about it because were struggling to survive. Being mindful in the moment, it's hard to remember being mindful at age 17."

NICHOLS

a turkey dinner and each donated $5 (totaling $80) to the American Legion in Webster to help provide Thanksgiving meals for those in need.

The Commonwealth Coast Conference Student-Athlete Advisory Committee conference-wide food drive kicked off Nov. 10. During its fall meeting, each of the 10 CCC institutions decided to hold events on their respective campuses to support a local food bank. To that end, Nichols held its collection Nov. 10-17 and donated 120 canned goods to Webster-Dudley Food Share.

Sodexo Dining Services at Nichols put the icing on the cake in terms of food/can drives for the holiday season. On Nov. 13, it held its annual can/food drive. For over 10 years, Nichols Dining by Sodexo donated to the Worcester County Food Bank, and 2017 was the third year it has donated to Webster-Dudley Food Share. Last month approximately 400 pounds of cans and nonperishables as well as 10 turkey dinners were donated to Food Share.

On Nov. 10, a few ELP members hosted the Nearly Naked Mile fundraiser to raise money and collect canned goods for Veterans Inc. in Worcester. The students raised $210, two free haircuts, and over 40 canned goods to help homeless veterans at the organization.

The Nearly Naked Mile was a fundraiser to support homeless veterans. To participate in the race, students, faculty, and staff were only required to donate two canned goods and at least $5 on the day of the race. This was so the student who organized the event could donate the goods and donations to Veterans Inc. in the following week. Race participant Stigerik McElhinney, a senior criminal justice major from Dracut, went above and beyond his call. Not only did he win the race, but days after the event he also had the desire to give more.

McElhinney contacted the student in charge a few days after the Nearly Naked Mile to see if they had already donated the canned goods. After hearing that they had not, he donated 10 extra cans.

"What veterans have done for us is such a selfless act, and the fact that there are some who are homeless is wrong," he said. "Giving more cans was something very small that I could do; I didn't know how much it would help, but I wanted to take that opportunity to help make someone's life better."

At the end of November, Nichols students traveled to Dudley Middle School to help wrap 350 gifts DMS students collected to benefit Adopt-a-Child.

Nichols Student Alumni Society members held a coat drive in November to benefit the Webster-Dudley Boys & Girls Club, veterans, and homeless shelters in Worcester. The students collected 21 coats from students, faculty, and staff.

For campus community members with unwanted tickets issued by Nichols Public Safety, they had the opportunity to get it paid off in full if they donated a new, unwrapped toy with a minimum value of $10 to its 12th annual Tickets for Tots fundraiser. All 61 donated toys were given to the Dudley Police Department, which will in turn donate to local children in need and Webster-Dudley Food Share.

On Dec. 10, the ELP Christmas Celebration was held to benefit Boston Children's Hospital. Students were asked to donate either new toys priced between $5 and $10 or new children's books. In exchange, their names were entered in a raffle for a variety of prizes.

"Giving back is important for all of us as it raises our consciousness of the needs of others, and as a result, it teaches and creates compassion and empathy for others," said ELP chair and professor Luanne Westerling, associate dean for business. "In the consciousness that is created we are also reminded of how lucky we are, and it feels good."

The Nichols Student Government Association partnered with the college's Management Club and local businesses to help Operation Christmas Child. This is an organization that collects shoeboxes full of supplies, toys, and other necessities for less fortunate children ages 2-14 around the world. This year they were able to fill 61 boxes.

SGA also partnered with Fels Student Center staff to host the annual Giving Tree. From Dec. 6 to 14, students, faculty, and staff chose an angel ornament hanging on the tree. These angels had the name and gift request of a child in need. All gifts were given to children at the Webster-Dudley Boys & Girls Club.

"I wanted to run a fundraiser that would benefit the children of this community who are less fortunate," she said.

The College's Criminal Justice Club joined the Nichols community in giving back by hosting its second annual K-9 fundraiser Nov. 14. Last year, the club raised money that went directly to the Massachusetts State Police to honor fallen K-9s. With all of the money raised, there was a K-9 memorial built in Stow to honor each K-9 that had served.

This year, instead of raising money for fallen K-9s, the Criminal Justice Club raised money to support the current State Police K-9s. The money raised went toward the dogs' medical and food supplies. Both years, the club raised $440 and intends to raise even more next year.

Who said giving back to the community meant staying local? Students, faculty, and staff at Nichols began a movement to help people in Puerto Rico impacted by Hurricane Maria in September.

"Send It to Puerto Rico" was a combination of a food drive and fundraiser. Students, faculty, and staff sold T-shirts and golf towels, and faculty and staff raised over $155 through the College's Denim Days Program.

Launched in 2014, Denim Days has helped a variety of charities. On Denim Day, which occurs every Friday during the academic year, any faculty and staff member who wants to wear jeans on Friday donates $5. The money goes to a specific charity depending on the month and time of year. One month per semester the money collected is donated to the Nichols Books Fund, which helps students in need pay for text books. One month is donated to the Faculty/Staff Endowed Scholarship Fund. One month in the spring goes to the Alternative Spring Break Fund, and the rest are for charities, which have included the ALS Family Foundation and Girls Inc.

The students, faculty, and staff at Nichols College understand the importance of giving. Not only does this show through the events and fundraisers held in just two months, but it also shows in the attitudes and lifestyles of the Nichols College community.

"Many of our fundraisers and food drives are student run; this means that Nichols College students want to make a difference," said Boggio. "Nichols creates leaders who know that we can only be truly successful if we lift others up along the way. The students, faculty, and staff at Nichols College embody the spirit of the holidays and what it means to give back to the community."

British Prime Minister Winston Churchill once said, "We make a living by what we get, but we make a life by what we give."

SGA President Catherine Hoey, a senior from Auburn, echoes this philosophy: "Community service brings people together in a way that normally wouldn't. It brings people together who want to make a difference and have the same core values as you, whether you are the best of friends or complete strangers.

"Whether you donate your time, money, food, clothing, or toys this holiday season, know that you made a difference in someone's life," added Hoey. "To you, a few canned goods may seem like a small contribution, but to the person you are giving them to now has what seems to be a five-star meal."

Ashley Dallaire is a Nichols College senior general business major, concentrating in marketing, business communication, and management.

SPORTS CORRESPONDENT

SPENCER — Auburn High's girls' varsity basketball team opened its season on the road against David Prouty Regional on Wednesday, Dec. 13. Tough defense and relentless effort crashing the boards propelled the Rockets to a 49-25 win.

The Panthers started the game on a quick 6-1 run after two quick 3-pointers by Erin Parenteau and Taylor Wood, but Auburn bounced back with a run of its own, outscoring David Prouty 9-0 to jump ahead, 10-6, going into the second quarter.

From that point the Rockets stalled the Panthers' offense with a brutally effective full-court press. That and their effort on the offensive glass resulted in easy baskets as Auburn didn't trail again in the game.

"Absolutely, we came into this season knowing that our strength would be our defense and our athleticism, so that is what we tried to do, turn our defense into offense," expressed head coach Nicole LePrevost.

Despite dealing with the full-court press, David Prouty was able to crawl back into the game in the second quarter. They won the frame, 7-6, thanks to their best defensive effort.

"Great first half to stay with a team like Auburn is good for us, in the second quarter we played much better defense and a lot better rebounding," explained head coach Dave Woodward. "It [full-court press] is something we obviously work on in practice, but we have a young team. We don't have any seniors and have five freshmen, so it is something we need to work on more in practice."

Prouty's Brooke Pepin scored 6 of her game-high 12 points in the second quarter and it was clear that she was the focal point for the Panthers.

"She will be all year, she will be our focal point of our offense. She is our leader, our captain and our point guard and everything goes through her. Basically how she goes is how we go and unfortunately she has been sick all week so in the second half she was gassed," Woodward expressed.

That fatigue factored into the game as the Rockets' high-tempo defense began to be too much to handle for the Panthers.

"I think the fact that a lot of them weren't even 60 percent, they ran out of gas and that is when Auburn started to get three, four chances at the basket. That is when the game got lost right there," explained Woodward.

Auburn extended its lead to double digits in the third quarter, 29-19.

"I think that being patient for us is really hard because we are a very quick and fired up team, so getting them to slow down and run through an offense has been a challenge of ours and something we will keep working on, but we did all right tonight with that," LePrevost stated.

Continuing their dominance on the glass, Auburn outscored David Prouty, 20-6, to end the game. Giving the Rockets a spark was Michaela Sampson, who scored eight of the 20 points in the quarter for her team.

"I am proud of the whole team for the fourth quarter, but I am especially proud of Mick," LePrevost expressed. "She has a sister who is a junior who just went through ACL surgery yesterday and I think I would be lying if she wasn't playing for her a little bit."

Victoria Murphy led all Auburn scorers with 10 points.

Charles F. Bell, 82

OXFORD – Charles F. Bell, 82, of Allen Avenue, died Sunday, December 17, 2017, at UMass Memorial Medical Center – Memorial Campus in Worcester, after an illness. He is survived by his loving wife of 24 years, Elizabeth M. (Riordan) Bell of Oxford; two daughters, Robin S. Bell and Karen L. Bell, both of Oxford; a sister, Nancy Girouard and her husband Raymond of Auburn; a brother, Ernest Bell and his wife June of Dudley; a brother-in-law, Francis J. Riordan of Oxford; and many nephews and nieces. He was predeceased by his first wife, Suzanne R. (Davidson) Bell of Oxford, who died in 1990. offered by New Hope, which provides both domestic abuse and sexual assault services. New Hope provides a 24-hour hotline, education and outreach services, court advocates and prevention workshops, among many other activities in Southbridge and nearby towns. New Hope approaches the difficult issues of domestic abuse and sexual violence with an “empowerment model,” which gives victims and their families many options and much information so that they can decide how to navigate a troubling situation. Germain remarked that there is no one script for how assault and abuse should be handled. While many people don’t understand why an abused spouse or partner might stay in a household, Germain says that the empowerment model allows clients to utilize services to the extent they find helpful and in a time frame that they control. The services are also all-inclusive. Germain remarks that domestic violence is not restricted to women and can defy gender expectations. Services, such as support groups or counseling, are also available to the family of someone impacted by domestic abuse. Often those who witness a problem are also very distraught to see their loved ones suffer and need advice as well. If you or someone you know has suffered from domestic abuse or sexual violence and you need advice, you can call New Hope’s hotline at 1-800-323-HOPE (1-800-323-4673).
