Putnam High basketball ready to run

Putnam High's Sebastian Ramos drives to the hoop against Wheeler on Monday night at Putnam High School.

BY CHARLIE LENTZ
VILLAGER EDITOR

PUTNAM — Putnam High coach Shawn Deary lost a lot of basketball experience to last June's high school graduation so he wasn't expecting a lot of depth on his roster. But with the return of a pair of savvy playmakers, the emergence of a key player from last season's junior varsity, and the addition of a pair of seniors who didn't play last season but came out for the team for their final year of high school — he has a deeper rotation and a brighter outlook.

"When I came into this season I thought it was going to be a rebuilding year," Deary said. "Instead we ended up with a deep bench with a lot of raw talent and a lot of athletic ability. So I'm just using that to my advantage."

The Clippers opened the season on Monday night at Putnam High with a 62-35 victory over Wheeler High.

Senior guard Connor Holloman and junior Sebastian Ramos both return for the Clippers. Both started last season and each can run the point. Ramos scored a game-high 13 points in the season-opening win over Wheeler. Ramos expects the Clippers to excel in the transition game.

"I think we're going to be very focused on pushing the ball this year. Defense is key this year," Ramos said. "I think we're perfectly made for pushing the ball. Everyone's quick on the team. Everyone can run. I think it's going to be a good year."

Ramos has been starting since his freshman season and feels at home as the team's floor general.

"I feel like I should take charge of the team. I know what the coaches expect. I know what the team expects, I know what the school expects," Ramos said. "I feel like it's a tradition here and I'm ready to take the lead."

Coach Deary said Ramos is a veteran and smart playmaker.

"I'm expecting him to lead the team by example," Deary said. "He's got a lot of experience. He's a good kid. He works all year on the game. He loves it. I expect there will be games when he drops a lot of points and there'll be games where they'll key on him and that's where Ty (Harris) and Mitchel (Barylski) and all those other kids will come in handy."

Deary expects to run an up-tempo brand of basketball.

"The philosophy is that we are pretty deep, we're young, we're going to use that young bench and we're going to really push the ball in transition and then trap — press," Deary said.

Junior center Tyion Harris played primarily on the junior varsity last season but he's expected to be a key addition to the varsity this season. At 6-foot-4, Harris brings athleticism and height to the paint.

"He was with us last year as a sophomore on the jayvee, definitely has the raw ability to play well. We've just got to keep him moving in the right direction. He played AAU all summer to work on his game. He's come a long way," Deary said. "He's a junior so we want to keep him developing and working all the way through. He jumps through the roof so that helps."

Ramos expects to feed Harris in the post this season.

"As the season goes along we're going to give him the ball, teach him some moves, he's going to help the team a lot," Ramos said.

Holloman returns to the starting lineup and can score from the outside but is also adept at penetrating to the hoop. Holloman tallied 10 points in the win over Wheeler.

"He's our swingman. He can play our point guard but he went to the forward position because he's strong inside. He's tough," Deary said.

Senior guard Mitchel Barylski and senior guard Hunter Touchette did not come out for the team last season but have joined the varsity and both are expected to make an impact. Barylski has been a nice addition to the starting lineup.

"(Barylski) did not play last season, took the season off. He's very athletic. Good vision for the court, can shoot the ball so he's a great asset to have," Deary said.

Touchette can handle the ball and will be counted on to add a lift off of the bench.

"Hunter was our spark tonight. He did a great job. He's another one that didn't play last year," Deary said.

Freshman forward Colby Livingston was named a starter after impressing coach Deary with his basketball acumen in the preseason. Livingston scored eight points in the win over Wheeler.

"(Livingston) doesn't make mistakes. He knows where to be on the court. He knows where to look with the ball. He uses everybody well," Deary said. "When we started putting in our press (in practice) as a freshman he was single-handedly breaking our press with the right pass so that's what earned him that starting spot."

Senior guard Aiden Ciquera returns to the roster and is expected to be a three-point threat off the bench. Ciquera knocked down a pair of treys in the season-opening win over Wheeler.

"Aiden has a good court presence. He can shoot the ball. Hopefully he'll continue doing that well for us," Deary said.

Senior guard Scott Davagian is expected to be a valuable sixth man.

"Scott's always given us great minutes, always hits some big threes. He's our bench player for the reason that he's a spark," Deary said. "When he comes in he can really add a big dimension."

Barylski scored seven points in the Wheeler. Harris and Davagian each added six points. Clayton Carini led Wheeler with 12 points. Putnam is scheduled to play Ellis Tech at 6 p.m. on Tuesday, Dec. 26, in the opening round of the Clipper Classic basketball tournament at Putnam High School. Killingly High will face Tourtellotte at 4 p.m. on Dec. 26. The boys championship game of the Classic is set for 6 p.m. on Wednesday, Dec. 27.

Coach Deary lost a lot of experience from last season's team but has been pleasantly surprised with the depth of his roster this season. Ramos expects to make use of the Clippers' talent.

"If we get off on the right foot, we keep rolling, we're going to have a fun year," Ramos said.

The Clippers got off on the right foot against Wheeler on Monday night. Deary hopes they can keep it rolling through the Clipper Classic and the rest of the season.

"I really want to start the season with the high tempo, the push, and make sure that these kids are buying in early," said Deary, in his 10th season. "I've been really working these guys up and down the floor in practice to get them in condition to run all game long."

DAYVILLE — Killingly football coach Chad Neal is one of three finalists who have been nominated by the Walter Camp Football Foundation as the 2017 Coach of the Year. Killingly senior halfback Spencer Lockwood is one of three finalists who have been nominated for the 2017 Player of the Year by the Walter Camp Foundation. A Class M All-State selection as a junior, Lockwood finished his high school career with 7,315 rushing yards.

The winners of Walter Camp Coach of the Year and Player of the Year will be named as part of the foundation's 51st annual weekend festivities. The Walter Camp Football Foundation will host its 11th High School "Breakfast of Champions," on Saturday, Jan. 13 at The Omni New Haven Hotel at Yale. The four Connecticut high school 2017 state champions – Darien (Class LL), Daniel Hand of Madison (Class L), Killingly High (Class M) and St. Joseph of Trumbull (Class S) – will be recognized. Woodstock Academy's Olivia Perry drives to the hoop as Plainfield's Chloe LaPierre, center, and Madison Kelley, left, defend on Tuesday night at Alumni Fieldhouse in Woodstock.

Woodstock Academy girls off to fast start

BY CHARLIE LENTZ
VILLAGER EDITOR

WOODSTOCK — Woodstock Academy was one shot away from being undefeated through its first four games — falling to RHAM after the Sachems sank a bucket with six seconds left — so coach Will Fleeton will take a 3-1 record to start the season.

"That was a very good team we played up at RHAM. It was a scrap all the way to the end. They score with six seconds on the clock to win the game. I can't hang my head over that. My kids played phenomenal," Fleeton said. "We're 3-1 to start. We're obviously looking to make the state playoffs — and more."

The Centaurs earned their third win on Tuesday night at Alumni Fieldhouse, defeating Plainfield High 63-33. Fleeton will use his patented pressure defense to create offense and appears to have the talent for another winning season.

"Defense is everything. Since I got here that was the first thing that we tried take care of, we made it important to the kids, spent a lot of time on it," said Fleeton, in his third season. "That's our objective. We're going to defend every night. That's the only thing I can guarantee in this game."

Senior forward Jamie Woods led the Centaurs with a game-high 18 points against Plainfield. Although Woods is just 5-foot-7 she has a solid post game and plays bigger than her size, has a soft touch, and has a knack for getting to the bucket.

"She has a quick first step. She's a decent ballhandler so she can get to the space she wants on the floor, very soft hands, shoots with both hands over the shoulder," Fleeton said. "Has developed a jump shot, so that makes her a dual threat."

Junior forward Heather Converse is 5-foot-9 and is imposing on the boards — many of her buckets coming on putbacks — and is solid defensively in the lane. Converse tallied 10 points in the win over Plainfield.

"She just plays big," said Fleeton of Converse. "It's well known now that our defense is the key and she's the rim-stopper. She's the protector, she's the help-rotator, she's the rebound-gatherer. She does all of the dirty of the work but yet still gets a little bit of daylight on the offensive end."

Senior guard Kali Dingui can run the offense and score. All of Fleeton's guards are expected to be multifaceted.

"We don't have point guards at Woodstock. (Digui) is a combo guard. She's coming off of knee surgery two years ago. Last year was kind of a feeling-out process," Fleeton said. "She looks a little more comfortable out there this year. Good defender, good shooter, good ballhandler."

Senior forward Olivia Perry is a captain and a versatile contributor.

"Olivia brings a little bit of everything. Olivia plays all five spots on the floor depending on the situation," Fleeton said. "Sometimes even the point guard, per se. A utility player, whatever we need, Olivia Perry gives."

Senior guard Mackenzie Cayer is a captain and scored seven points in the win over Plainfield. Junior guard Mackenzie Eaton tallied eight points against Plainfield and will be expected to score from the outside.

"(Eaton) is the shooter of the bunch but she just hasn't found her rhythm yet," Fleeton said. "She's putting up plenty of shots, just trying to find her groove because she's the zone-breaker of the bunch."

Senior forward Ciri Miller comes off the bench and is a solid rebounder, battles underneath and is a good defender. Sophomore forward Katie Papp (ankle) and senior guard Madison Brennan (heel) are recovering from injuries but both are expected back soon.

"I expect them back any minute, day-to-day type thing," Fleeton said.

Fleeton needs all his personnel on the bench because with his pressure defense he expects his players to be durable and stay in top condition.

"I need them all to play at the pace and defend like we want to defend," Fleeton said. "We only have 10 on the roster."

RHAM 34, WOODSTOCK 32

HEBRON — Woods led the Centaurs with 15 points and Cayer added eight points for Woodstock in the girls basketball loss to the Sachems on Dec. 16. RHAM lifted its record to 3-0.

WOODSTOCK 74, FITCH 34

WOODSTOCK — Woods scored 16 points, Perry had 15, Dingui scored 14 points and Converse added 11 on Dec. 14 for Woodstock.

WOODSTOCK 33, MONTVILLE 24

WOODSTOCK — Woods scored 14 points to lead the Centaurs on Dec. 13. Cayer added six points for Woodstock.

Date set for 4th annual February Freeze 5K

POMFRET — Pomfret Community School has scheduled its fourth annual February Freeze 5K Run/Walk for 1 p.m. on Saturday, Feb. 3. The event is the largest fundraiser for the PCS eighth grade class spring trip to Washington, D.C. The race course winds over three loops on the campus of Pomfret School, located on Route 169 in Pomfret.

The eighth grade trip to Washington is a tradition that started 41 years ago — the first trip was in 1976 — in honor of the United States bicentennial celebration. Since then, countless PCS students have visited the Capitol, museums and National Monuments that make Washington D.C. so unique. For many, it serves as a rite of passage as it is often the first time they have travelled without their parents. Michael Galligan, assistant principal at Pomfret Community School, has been organizing the trip for the past 17 years.

"The Washington D.C. trip is such an important learning experience for all Pomfret children in eighth grade," Galligan said. "I have been going on the trip for 17 years and each year it is still memorable. It takes a village to make sure we offer this opportunity to the children in Pomfret."

The idea for the February Freeze was conceived four years ago by Pomfret residents, Monique Wolanin and Kathleen Johnson. Both runners themselves, they saw the potential of getting the community together for a fun, healthy event — which at the same time could raise money for all Pomfret Community School eighth graders. The event has grown — attracting more runners, sponsors and spectators. This year approximately 200 people are expected to participate. New for this year is a shorter Fun Run for children from preschool to fourth grade for whom the 5K distance is still a little too far.

Pomfret School has been a sponsor of the race since its inaugural event, in addition to donating the use of its campus and Lodge. The course consists of three loops and winds through the Pomfret School campus past brick buildings and along the quad with a downhill finish to Parsons Lodge. Finishers are rewarded with hot chocolate and homemade baked goods by the warm fire in Parsons Lodge. The Kids Fun Run is scheduled to begin at 12:40 p.m. The 5K Run/Walk event is chip-timed and is scheduled to begin at 1 p.m. All proceeds go to the eighth grade Washington D.C. trip. In the event of inclement weather on Feb. 3, the race will be rescheduled for the following day, Sunday, Feb. 4.

Participants should check in on race day at the Pomfret School's Parsons Lodge, 398 Pomfret Street (Route 169), in Pomfret. Registration cost is $25 for individual participants, $75 for a family (up to five family members). Participants are asked to register for the run/walk by Jan 17. Register online at lightboxreg.com/february_freeze_2018. All February Freeze information including sponsorship and the purchasing of signs that will be displayed on the race course can be found on the website: www.pomfretcommunityschool.org/februaryfreeze. Rhea Roseland Roy McCarthy

NORTH GROSVENORDALE - Rhea Roseland Roy McCarthy

Rhea would not want you to take time from your busy day to read this description of her life as she would describe herself as just an ordinary person. However, anyone that knew her would tell you that she was far from ordinary or average. Rhea was a private, humble, kind, stoic, open-minded, and generous woman who will be remembered for telling you she was "fine" throughout her three-year battle with cancer and thanking every nurse, family member, and friend that visited, tucked her in, or provided her with words of encouragement or chocolate.

Rhea R. McCarthy left her earthly home on the snowy morning of December to join her parents, family, and friends for the holidays. Rhea was born in New York City on April 17, 1942 to William and Marie Roy and the youngest of three sisters. Her family lived for a short time in Putnam, and eventually settled in Webster, Massachusetts. After graduating from St. Louis, she attended nursing school at Memorial Hospital in Worcester, Massachusetts. Her passion for helping others lead her to enlist in the US Army in order to care for soldiers and civilians as an operating room nurse during the Tet Offensive of the Vietnam War. Rhea continued to serve in the US Army and eventually retired as a Lieutenant Colonel in 2002.

Rhea spent her career as an OR nurse at Hubbard Regional Hospital in Webster and eventually retired from Day Kimball Hospital in Putnam. She was well respected by her colleagues and patients and could be described as genuine, dedicated, and witty.

Rhea married Kenneth McCarthy of Canadaigua, New York. Although they parted ways, their friendship lasted their lifetimes. Rhea spent most of her life living in North Grosvenordale, where she raised their two children, Kimberlee and Christopher, as well as, many of their friends. She was a stellar example of responsibility, independence, and resilience. Although her children could be a bit rebellious at times, this was no reflection of her. She was a dedicated mother and she was proud of the people they became.

She loved her home and community. After retirement, she continued to keep herself busy and to share her talents and gifts by serving others. She participated in three mission trips in Africa volunteering as an OR nurse with Mercy Ships. She also traveled to Vietnam twice and provided basic health care at a local clinic with a volunteer organization, Vets with a Mission.

You could also find Rhea attending church services, making meatloaf at the local food pantry, having breakfast with friends, working in the yard, feeding the birds, upcycling, watching something on the history channel, and cherishing time with family. You would not find Rhea eating vegetables, sharing her experiences in Vietnam, gossiping, or asking for help.

She will be missed by her children, her sisters Ruth and Roni, her best friend Tina, and the countless number of people that she impacted in some way.

A Mass will be held at St. Anthony's in Dudley, Massachusetts on Saturday, December 23, at 9:30 am. Please go directly to the church. Military honors after the Mass. Rhea would not want you to spend your money on flowers for her. She would prefer you to make a contribution to one of the many organizations she supported… Mercy Ships, ASPCA, Maryknoll, the Wildlife Federation OR volunteer at a local organization OR do one random act of kindness today. The Shaw-Majercik Funeral Home, 48 School St., Webster, MA has been entrusted with her arrangements. A guest book is available at www.shaw-majercik.com where you may post a condolence or light a candle.

John Thomas Moore, 67

POMFRET -- John Thomas Moore ("JT"), 67, of Pomfret passed away peacefully at home Sunday, December 3, after a six-month battle with cancer.

Born in Lancaster, Pennsylvania in 1950, JT was the son of Irene Brubaker Moore and Floyd Moore. Along with his siblings, he was active throughout his early years in the family poultry business, Moore Farms Inc. and played an active role as a member of 4H Club. JT developed a love for baseball at an early age. He was a loyal Philadelphia Phillies fan attending many games as a young boy, and later, after his move to Boston, he switched his allegiance to the Red Sox.

JT attended Manheim Township Junior and Senior High School in Neffsville Pennsylvania. He graduated cum laude from Middlebury College with a BA and later received an MBA cum laude from Boston University School of Management.

He started his career as a Service Manager at the Filenes Division of Federated Department Stores in Boston. This was punctuated by a stint as a flight attendant on Pan American Airlines international flights. He worked for almost 20 years at Brandeis University as Director of Administrative Coordination and Planning followed by 9 years as a Senior Project Administrator at Management Sciences for Health, a Boston-based international development non-profit organization.

In his mid-fifties, JT chose to pursue his lifelong interest in antiques and began a modest business as a dealer. He was able to bring a discerning eye to a broad and varied range of antiques. He was a frequent presence at antiques auctions where he was constantly expanding his collections, which were more often acquired for his personal enjoyment than for resale.

JT was most at home in the kitchen where he was an assured and confident cook. It gave him great pleasure to feed and entertain his friends, and his ease and skill made everybody happy and comfortable. His delight in entertaining blended nicely with his acquisitions of antique china, silver and linens, which he used without hesitation when he entertained. It was in this milieu that his generous, optimistic and fun-loving spirit shined.

He supported arts and conservation efforts and held a serious and informed appreciation of classical music. He maintained a subscription to the Boston Symphony Orchestra for 40 years. He also supported his alma mater, Middlebury College, for which he held tremendous respect. His experience there afforded many happy memories and lifelong friendships.

He is survived but his loving husband and partner of 30 years, Robert Paladino, who was with him when he passed away, and his two beloved dogs, Otis and Amos who provided constant joy and amusement. He is also survived by four siblings: Charles Moore of Reno, Nevada; Floyd Moore of Pittsburg, Pennsylvania; Joseph Moore and sister in law Judith Moore of Denver, Colorado; Grace Mattes and brother in Law James Mattes of Doylestown, Pennsylvania, and four nieces and nephews.

A memorial service in will be held at 11am on January 13, 2018, at the Pomfret School Clark Chapel, 398 Pomfret Street in Pomfret. Further details will be available through Gilman and Valade Funeral Home at www.GilmanAndValade.com.

Donations in JT's name may be made to the Boston Symphony Orchestra at 301 Massachusetts Avenue, Boston, MA, 02115 or through the BSO Friends Office at 617-638-9276 or online at BSO.org.

Make this the year to budget for charitable giving

Budgets are an important component of personal financing. Without a thorough understanding of the rate of money going in and out of their bank accounts, people cannot accurately assess their potential for spending and saving. Budgets are also handy for paying off debt and planning for the future. Those who budget may find they have more money to devote to leisure or other worthwhile endeavors, such as donating to charity.

Establishing a charity budget makes it possible for people to focus on doing good and helping others. Charitable giving also comes with the beneficial side effect of establishing extra tax deductions for some individuals.

Many people only think of charitable giving at the end of the year, when the holiday season tends to inspire philanthropy. However, many people's end-of-year finances are already stretched thin thanks to holiday shopping and entertaining. As a result, men and women who wait until the end of the year to donate may not be able to be as charitable as they would like. That's why focusing on charity as part of a yearly budget can stretch dollars even further.

Establish a giving level

By examining their finances, people can get a better picture of how much money they have for discretionary spending, including charitable giving. However, income alone may not dictate just how charitable a person can be. For example, according to a McClatchy analysis of U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics, the poorest Americans often donate larger percentages of their incomes than their wealthier counterparts. Generally speaking, the typical amount most people aspire to donate to charity ranges from 3 to 10 percent of taxed income.

To make a charitable giving budget work, consider these tips.

• Make a list of charities that have meaning to you. If you do not have specific choices, select categories, such as politics, education and community, and then go from there.

• Assess your giving ability in dollar value. Be sure charitable giving does not come at the expense of necessary daily living.

• Divide the available funds against the charities selected.

• Set aside specific times of year that you will make the donations so as not to feel burdened at any one time of year.

• Leave an emergency fund for donations that cannot be planned, such as diaster relief or to help someone with medical bills.

• Sign up for recurring payments for yearly giving to take the work out of remembering to give. Other organizations can distribute donations to the kinds of charities you prefer, making giving even more automatic.

Budgeting for charitable giving enables greater year-round control of funds for beneficial purposes.

Fun By The Numbers

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Here's How It Works:
Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!
