Sheriff Lew Evangelidis pictured with Auburn seniors as they enjoy the festivities at the Sheriff's Annual Senior Picnic held on Aug. 17 at SAC Park in Shrewsbury.

SHREWSBURY — Worcester County Sheriff Lew Evangelidis had the distinct pleasure of hosting more than 1,000 senior citizens from throughout Worcester County for the Sheriff's Annual Senior Picnic held on Saturday, Aug. 17 at SAC Park in Shrewsbury. The Sheriff's picnic has become a highly anticipated and beloved annual event for the county's senior community and this year drew a record crowd including an impressive turnout from the town of Auburn.

"As Sheriff, hosting the Senior Picnic is one of the most special days of the year. It's a great honor to give back to our seniors who have given so much to their communities and it is wonderful to see the joy this day brings to so many people," said Evangelidis.

The picnic was sponsored by the Worcester County Reserve Deputy Sheriff's Association including donations by many local businesses and featured a traditional BBQ menu, cash bingo, raffle prizes, complimentary gift bags and music entertainment. More than 250 volunteers, including over 100 members of the Nichols College football team, were also on hand to assist with the high turnout. The Sheriff also provided inmate labor to assist with the set up and break down of the highly attended event.

"We are thrilled it has become such a beloved annual tradition and I am grateful to the team that puts this together and the volunteers that help make this day happen," Said Evangelidis.

Voters to decide on designation of police officials

BY JASON BLEAU
CORRESPONDENT

CHARLTON – It looks like the town of Charlton will seriously consider the possibility of removing at least two police officials from their status as civil service employees, with two items projected for the October annual town meeting warrant to change the status of the chief and lieutenant.

In late July, Selectman David Singer proposed the idea of removing possibly all police officers hired in the foreseeable future from civil service status, designating them as public service employees instead. That idea has since been downsized to only changing the status of the chief and lieutenant. During the Board of Selectmen’s Aug. 27 meeting, Chief Graham Maxfield presented his opinions on the pros and cons of the change, with Town Administrator Robin Craver reading from Maxfield’s prepared statements.

Craver started with the pros, which argued that removing the chief and lieutenant from civil service would allow for the town to have more control in the hiring process.

“It would make it permissible to hire transfers from nonunion civil service agencies who would be otherwise prohibited from applying for a position from the department. We are in effect able to hire any qualified candidate. We are able to promote without going through an exam or an assessment process should the town choose. This would save a lot of time and money. Being able to promote without an exam or assessment process would allow the town to reward people who demonstrate leadership skills in the daily performance of their job versus someone who may simply test well,” Craver read.

On the other hand, the chief’s list of cons noted that the change could risk opening such hires up to accusations of politics and would increase the cost of the town when handling disciplinary measures as well as when working with the union.

“We are able to promote without going through an exam or assessment process should the town choose, which could lend itself to politics. Negotiating with the union to go out of civil service would likely come with a substantial cost. A simple town meeting vote to remove the department from civil service could take decades to accomplish the intended purpose of completely removing the department (from civil service) and disciplinary action against an employee would no longer go to civil service but instead to an arbitrator where the town would be responsible for 50 percent of the cost of the arbitrator,” Craver read.

Chief Maxfield was present for the discussion and said he felt that collective bargaining would lead to the best transition should the town decide to approve removing either the chief or lieutenant from civil service. If approved, the change would be considered special legislative acts and would apply only to future hiring for both positions.

Selectman David Singer said his inspiration for seeking to remove at least the two commanding officer positions from civil service came from a lack of transparency in the assessment center process. While he commended that process, he noted that the town doesn’t get to see any data and is forced to hire base on test scores which don’t take into account personality and other factors important to succeeding in the job.

“I think we, as a town, should have the right to read the actual assessments. You may have someone who tests well but in those notes of the assessment it may point out that the person, while they may have tested higher, may not have been personality wise the best fit for your town. We don’t know that,” Singer said.

Chief Maxfield said his research has shown this is the preferred direction of many towns in the commonwealth. While it does open the door for politics in the hiring process, it also gives the town much more control.

“I think more towns are moving that way because generally the towns want more control over who they hire. Civil service is pretty rigid in the process. The rules are pretty defined,” Chief Maxfield said. “It does lend itself to the politics because it’s the decision of this board, and then an election goes by and another board could feel another way. That’s the only thing to bear in mind.”

Voters will have their chance to decide whether or not to remove either the chief or lieutenant from civil service designation during the October annual town meeting as selectmen have voiced their intention to add two items, one for each position, on the warrant rather than voting on both positions at the same time.

AAA reminds motorists to drive carefully with school back in session

REGION — As the new school year begins, AAA Northeast reminds both motorists and families that extra caution is needed as children make their way to school by walking and riding in areas where they weren’t seen over the summer.

The greatest risk to children isn’t when they’re riding the school bus; it’s approaching or leaving them. Between 2008 and 2017, the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA) reports 264 school-age children were killed in school transportation-related crashes, primarily when they waited at bus stops or crossed streets before boarding or getting off school buses.

cially in school zones, near playgrounds and at bus stops that kids might dart into streets.”

Through its annual School’s Open C Drive Carefully campaign, AAA offers tips to drivers to keep children safe:

Slow down. Speed limits in school zones are reduced for a reason. A pedestrian struck by a vehicle traveling at 25 mph is nearly two-thirds less likely to be killed compared to a pedestrian struck by a vehicle traveling just 10 mph faster.

Come to a complete stop. Research shows more than one-third of drivers roll through stop signs in school zones or neighborhoods.

Look for clues, such as AAA School Safety Patrolters, crossing guards, and school zone signs that indicate children are in the area.

Keep your eyes moving. Scan between parked cars; look for shadows on the ground. Since children can be quick crossing roadways unexpectedly or emerging suddenly between parked cars, understand that taking your eyes off the road for just two seconds doubles your chances of colliding with another car or pedestrian.

On the other hand, parents and guardians should teach school-aged children

Cross at corners, not in mid-block. Use crosswalks if they’re available.

Right on reds can be dangerous; watch for turning vehicles when crossing at corners.

Eliminate electronics such as headphones and cellphones when crossing streets.

AAA Northeast reminds drivers that flashing yellow lights on a school bus means slow down because the bus is preparing to stop. Red flashing lights means stop, including cars in the opposite lane on undivided roads. In Massachusetts, the law requires drivers to stop at least 100 feet behind a school bus and stay stopped until the bus light stops flashing, the extended stop-arm is retracted and the bus begins to move.

“Safe driving habits are important year-round, but extra diligence is required when children are heading to and from school,” Schieldrop added.

AAA Northeast is a not-for-profit auto club with 64 offices in Rhode Island, Massachusetts, Connecticut, New Jersey, New Hampshire and New York, providing more than 5.7 million local AAA members with travel, insurance, finance, and auto-related services.

Alternate funding source sought for LED signs

BY JASON BLEAU
CORRESPONDENT

CHARLTON – Over the past few years, the town of Charlton has invested both time and money in helping to resolve traffic concerns throughout the town, including forming a Civilian Traffic Commission to help lead conversations concerning needed safety improvements and initiatives.

In 2018, the commission succeeded in earning support for four LED stop signs meant to help improve the visibility of signs as commuters approach. The commission is seeking to add two more similar units to the intersection of Brookfield Road and Stafford Street replacing existing standard stop signs in the process.

At the Board of Selectmen’s final August meeting of 2019 Town Administrator Robin Craver detailed the request from the Civilian Traffic Commission which would see money being expended from the Casella donation account, reported to have a balance of over $6,855.

“The cost of these two signs would be approximately $4,500. These blinker sign flashing LED stop signs have a rechargeable solar power battery that displays red lights in the corner of the octagon sign thereby making the sign more visible to motorists,” Craver said.

Selectmen showed unanimous support for the signs and an understanding for their purpose, but it was the funding source that created decision as several selectmen felt the Casella money should be left alone. Selectman Bill Borowski said he would certainly support purchasing the signs, but not with the Casella donation account funds.

“I would happily support this at town meeting or some other payment method, be it free cash or whatever. I do not want to touch that Casella account. I think we’ve had enough problems with it to begin with,” Borowski said.

Selectman Deborah Noble disagreed. Even with the LED signs currently in place she noted that traffic is still dangerous and that adding the new signs sooner rather than later would at least help resolve the increasingly concerning trend.

“Even with the two LED stop signs in a period of about three weeks there were three very bad accidents at that intersection. We need to do something more,” Noble said. “Two sides stop, two sides don’t and it’s just a constant problem.”

Selectmen voted in a 3-2 decision to deny the purchase with Selectmen Borowski, David Singer and Karen Spiewak voting against the proposal on the grounds that they felt the money needed to come from a different source. Selectmen Noble and John McGrath voted in favor of the purchase. The proposal is expected to be on the October annual town meeting warrant.

Hoffman explores Native ‘stone prayers’ for Opacum

BY GUS STEEVES
CORRESPONDENT

STURBRIDGE — As anyone who’s walked our woods knows, they’re laced with stone walls. The vast majority are colonial and American in origin, but a few of them – and many less well known stone structures – belong to our Native ancestors.

Professor Curtiss Hoffman has spent decades identifying, cataloging and studying them, and he calls them “stone prayers.” that’s also the title of his most recent book, and Hoffman will be talking about his research as part of the fundraising Fall for Opacum Dinner Sept. 18 at Sturbridge’s Wight Farm Barn.

“Indians would worship at these [places] or have the custom of, when they passed by, leaving an extra rock at it,” he said. “... For Native people, stone is not dead, not without Being in it. The stone beings are the Grandfathers.”

Often, the places were on high points where water flows in two (or more) directions, typically at the junction of minor watersheds (secondary brooks and creeks). They were mostly places away from Native villages on “ground you could not farm under any circumstances” and frequented by their religious specialists. While many of them are simply stone cairns that grew “haphazardly” as individuals placed rocks over many years, others were built into animal and other shapes (often snakes or turtles). The largest structures were typically intended to rebalance energy after a major “disruption of the order of things,” including violence nearby.

A retired Bridgewater State University anthropology professor, Hoffman calls his interest “cognitive archaeology” – using the symbolism of places to try to understand how their builders thought about the world. It started decades ago in college, where he initially studied Mesopotamian archaeology, which is also laden with animal imagery. That field, he noted, has the benefit of many written documents to aid such interpretation, but Native American research lacks them except from the last couple centuries.

That lack of resources has left the field open to several interpretations over the years. Hoffman said he looked at how the evidence holds up regarding four of them: colonial and American farmers clearing their fields, natural forces, transatlantic voyagers (often attributed to the Vikings or Celts), and Natives. The transatlantic hypothesis was popular particularly in the 1960s-70s, but Hoffman and others who study them have been arguing the monuments are of Native origin since the 1980s. Increasingly, they’ve been researchers of Native backgrounds.

He notes those in this region are “more subtle and humble” than the more famous sites like Cahokia in Illinois or Snake Mound in Ohio, “but often quite large.” One, in Hopkinton, RI, for example, has more than 1000 structures covering 14 acres. In total, he said, he has cataloged more than 5500 of the 40,000-plus sites in the eastern seaboard states, and he believes their frequency in New England stems from “the intensity of occupation” here before the epidemics that wiped out much of the Native population in 1617. Even after colonization, Natives continued to build them, and even had a hand in building more common farm walls – if they’re straight and right-angled, they’re probably European, but if they tend to curve, they’re Native.

The effort began about 2002, when the Narragansett tribe asked him to help protect many such sites from development projects. Initially, the tribe debated doing that, with some members arguing they should let the developers destroy them so the builders would trigger hostile responses from the spirits.

“Little did I realize how large a project it would turn out to be,” Hoffman said.

Tickets ($60 per person) are available until Sept. 8 through Opacum Land Trust at either <https://opacum.bpt.me> or 508-347-9144.

Cornerstone Bank donates to Stuff the Bus Campaign

WORCESTER — Summer is winding down, and students are beginning to prepare for the school year ahead. This can be a financially difficult time for parents having to provide not only new school clothes, but also school supplies. Cornerstone Bank helps students in need by holding its annual “Stuff the Bus” drive to gather backpacks and school supplies for students in the surrounding communities.

From July 31 through Aug. 9, Cornerstone Bank customers and employees generously donated many back to school items to Planting the Seed Foundation of Worcester and the YMCA of Southbridge. The Planting the Seed Foundation will distribute the donated supplies to needy children in Worcester while the YMCA of Southbridge will donate items to children that they service throughout the Southbridge Public School system. These items will help students succeed during the school year—both academically and socially.

“We are happy to be able to support students throughout our community,” stated Cornerstone Bank Chairman and CEO K. Michael Robbins. “Thank you to all of our customers and employees for making this year’s Stuff the Bus drive a success.”

To learn more about Planting the Seed Foundation, visit plantingtheseed.org. To learn more about the YMCA of Southbridge, please visit ymcaofcm.org.

The other most wonderful time of the year

The first day of fall is nearly upon us. Sept. 23 will officially usher in the season when it becomes socially acceptable to drink apple cider and pumpkin flavored coffee, doughnuts, bread...even Spam has apparently gotten in on the act now, although we must personally draw the line there; and burn fall scented candles. Starbucks and Dunkin' Donuts already began spotlighting their fall menus roughly two weeks ago.

Pumpkin enthusiasts beware, however...on the flip side, there are several people who think it is too soon. A survey that posed the question, 'When is it OK to start drinking and eating pumpkin?' responses including the following:

'Right now!'
'First day of fall.'
'I always strive for after Labor Day, but often start on July 12th.'
'I'm waiting until Sept. 1st.'
And our favorite...
'After zucchini season.'

It is true, there are more people in New England who are holding on to every last bit of summer than those looking forward to fall. To those people, we get it. We do live, after all, in a part of the country where the populace has become famous — or is that infamous? — for refusing to swap their flip flops for boots until the first snow fall.

The end of the summer season really isn't so bad, though. With fall comes hearty crock pot recipes, crisp evenings, sweaters, boots, homecoming and Halloween. The closer to Halloween we get, the closer to snow, which means the ski resorts will soon be open for businesses. What could be better?

Perhaps the best part about fall is the foliage. The leaves are already beginning to change, and soon, our little corner of New England will be swarming with tourists fixated on taking in the vibrant reds, yellows, and oranges, cameras in tow. Peak foliage will hit during the last week of September through the first week of October.

The Old Farmer's Almanac predicts a snowier than ever winter, but we're also fine with that. From our perspective, the more powder days Mother Nature provides to keep New England's skiing industry alive, the better.

Within the next several weeks, temperatures will drop drastically, with some hot days still sprinkled in for balance. The good news is that there is still plenty of time to sneak in a few more summer hikes, a few final kayaking sessions on the lake, a few more backyard barbecues, or a day reading out on the hammock before the time will come to break out the flannel again.

So, whether you're still sipping piña coladas or drinking a pumpkin spiced latte and dreaming of Jack O' Lanterns and the smell of wood stoves, we encourage you to savor the moment.

Which voice will you believe?

I was perspiring even though it was bitterly cold. I locked my gaze down the long slope and was stunned by the difference in perspective. From the base of the mountain, the run looked shallow and manageable but from this vantage point ... it seemed nothing short of treacherous. Falling and breaking a leg, or worse, were the thoughts coursing through my mind.

I took a breath, dug in my ski poles and pushed off. Just as in my lessons, I moved cautiously, slaloming from side to side, enjoying the experience. The bright sun, blue sky and white powder created a picturesque and perfect moment. A smile played across my face. I was in Vail, Colo., and somewhat gracefully enjoying a picturesque moment, balanced perfectly on top of my skis.

Then it hit me. I'm inexperienced and potentially in a dangerous situation. I felt the downward momentum increasing. My heart raced. A picture in my mind replaced the beauty before me. As though it was real, I could see the ski patrol in their bright orange clothing, placing me in their stretcher and pulling me down to the base of the mountain to the waiting helicopter and the short flight to the local trauma center.

I visualized the danger so vividly, I began scanning the snow ahead, searching for a place of my choosing to execute a controlled fall and I did.

I laid on the ground as other skiers whisked by, enjoying their day. I took inventory of my limbs and found everything was in working order. I was not paralyzed. Nothing was broken except my confidence and pride. I removed my ski's and spent the next few hours walking down the access road from an 11,000-foot peak.

I never put skis on my feet again.

Fear is a natural emotion that is ingrained into our DNA, and can be useful in some situations but can also be an irrational response to events that are unreal and only imagined. Fear may someday save your life, but more often, this strong emotion will limit your experiences, success and fun.

The late great Zig Ziglar taught us that F.E.A.R. is nothing more than False Evidence Appearing Real. A perceived danger amplified in our minds that pushes us to have an irrational response.

I'd taken ski lessons every year, while visiting slopes in Wisconsin and Michigan. Tall hills to be sure, but nothing like the ski resorts of the Rocky Mountains. I mastered the midwestern slopes with ease and felt assured that I was ready for Vail. Physically and technically I was prepared. Mentally ... not so much.

I allowed doubt in my experience and ability to seize control over my thoughts and destroy my ski trip. I suddenly found myself expecting to fall and did so.

What if I would have expected to make it the bottom of the mountain, safe and sound and feeling the exhilaration of accomplishment and success?

POSITIVELY SPEAKING

By GARY W. MOORE

My vacation was sabotaged. Not by an enemy that decided to steal my enjoyment, but by the voice in my head telling me all the ways I was going to be hurt. The only voice in my head is mine.

Skiing isn't an essential part of my life, but how many important life events or opportunities are destroyed with the same negative self-talk?

My skiing experience was almost 30 years ago. Life has taught me many lessons since then. If I were atop Vail Mountain today, looking down that breath-taking slope, I wouldn't listen to the voice of fear.

What is the voice telling you not to try? What job opportunity is the voice telling you that you are not qualified to take? What risk are you restricting yourself from taking that may be positively life changing?

The voice of truth.

You have the power within you to achieve greatness. Why should others enjoy the fruits of risk- reward? Why shouldn't the thrill of victory be experienced by you? Do you really believe the best of life is reserved for others or is it possible that the only person keeping you from living your dreams is you?

The best of life is only found on the other side of your fear.

Let me share the words of one of my favorite songs by a group called Casting Crowns ...

Oh, what I would do to have
The kind of strength it takes to stand before a giant
With only a sling and a stone.
Surrounded by the sound of a thousand warriors shaking in their armor
Wishing they'd have had the strength to stand.

But the giants calling out my name and he laughs at me
Reminding me of all the times I've tried before and failed
The giant keeps on telling me time and time again
"Boy you'll never win! You'll never win!"

But the voice of truth tells me a different story.
The voice of truth says, "Do not be afraid."

A beautiful song. Wise words.

Where is your mountain? Who or what is your giant?

Will you stand or will you run?

Now ... put down this newspaper and ...

Pick up your sling and stone.

Leaving your job? What happens to your 401(k)?

FINANCIAL FOCUS

DENNIS ANTONOPOULOS

If you're in the early stages of your working life – or even in the not-so-early ones – the chances are pretty good that you will change jobs at some point. When that happens, you'll probably leave a few things behind – but will one of them be your 401(k)?

Of course, you wouldn't really forget about your 401(k). (It does happen, however – over the period from 2004 through 2013, more than 25 million people left at least one 401(k) or similar plan behind when they left their job, according to the U.S. Government Accountability Office.) But you will have to do something with your account.

Essentially, you have four choices:

You can cash out your 401(k). It's your money, but if you take it out before you reach 59 and a half, you will owe federal income taxes, plus any applicable state and local taxes.

Also, you will likely be charged a 10 percent penalty for early withdrawal. Perhaps even more important, if you liquidate your 401(k) when you change jobs, you'll be reducing the amount you'll have left for retirement.

You can leave your 401(k) with your old employer. If your former employer permits it, you can leave your 401(k) intact, even after you move to a different job. This might be appealing to you if you like the investment choices in your account, but you won't be able to make any new contributions. Plus, you won't face any immediate tax consequences.

You can move the money to your new employer's 401(k). You can consolidate your old 401(k) with one offered by your new employer, if allowed. You won't take a tax hit, and you might like your new plan's investment options. And you may find it easier to manage your funds if they're all held in one place.

You can roll your 401(k) into an IRA. You don't need the permission from any employer – old or new – to move your old 401(k) to an IRA. Your money will continue to grow on a tax-deferred basis, and an IRA offers you a virtually unlimited array of investment options – stocks, bonds, mutual funds and so on. You can make either a direct or indirect rollover. With a direct rollover, the administrator of your old 401(k) sends your money directly to the financial provider that holds your rollover IRA. No tax is withheld because you never actually take possession of the money. With an indirect rollover, you're technically withdrawing the money and moving it to the IRA provider yourself. (You've got 60 days to make this transfer.) You will face a withholding of 20% of your account's assets, but you may be able to recover most of this amount when you file your tax return. Still, for the sake of ease of movement and avoidance of all tax issues, a direct rollover may be more advantageous.

Which of these options is right for you? There's no one "right" answer for everyone. You'll have to consider several factors, and you'll certainly want to consult your tax professional before making any decision. But in any case, do whatever you can to preserve – and hopefully grow – your 401(k) assets. You'll need these resources to help fund the retirement lifestyle you want and deserve.

Late Summer Garden Chores

The home garden takes center stage this season. It's harvest time, and a plentiful bounty is the gardener's true reward for months of planning, planting and perseverance. The month of September brings with it more gifts from the garden as well as an important list of garden chores.

Read on for a timely run-down of "must do" garden tasks.

Now is the time to plan spring bulb gardens and purchase bulbs. While most of the planting should wait a few weeks, it will pay off to buy now when supplies are plentiful at area nurseries and greenhouses.

Are your perennials looking a little lackluster? Mums aren't the only fall plant that offers a splash of color and texture to the landscape. Winter pansies, flowering Kale and ornamental cabbage all can be planted now to replace spent annuals. (I once had a beautiful potted pink cabbage plant that survived a couple of snowstorms!)

Want to give your roses a head start on next year? Harden off roses at the end of the month by leaving the final blooms to form fruit, the hips, naturally, rather than "dead heading", or removing the spent blooms.

If houseplants have taken a back seat to the outside garden, now's the time to make it up to them! Inside plants will benefit from monthly liquid fertilizer applications. Keep in mind foliage plants need a fertilizer high in nitrogen.

If your house plants have been outside for the summer, now's the time to bring them back indoors and inspect for insects. As the temperature begins to drop, watch your plants closely in the evening.

Divide, transplant and label perennials. As these plants die back, it is a great time to divide older plants.

If the lawn has not already been fertilized, do so now rather than later

Research has proven that grass fertilized in late summer will not require any similar applications until next May.

Continue to mow regularly, leaving the grass two inches long. If a half inch of water is applied every three days in the absence of heavy rainfall, the lawn will flourish so well as to actually choke out most weeds.

Annual Reminder: Now is the Time to Force Holiday Plants: Poinsettias are hardy holiday plants, and if you were prudent enough to keep your festive poinsettia going throughout the summer, here's how to force it to bloom again in time for the holidays this year. (Using this method with a temperature alteration will ensure your Christmas Cactus also blooms during the yuletide season.)

If want the plants in bloom for the Christmas holiday, they must be kept at about 65 to 70 degrees, and subjected to at least six weeks of 14 hours of total darkness per day (mid to late September). This may be accomplished by placing the potted plant in a closet or unlighted room, or by covering the plant with black cloth, black plastic over a frame or a cardboard box. The plant must then be returned to the light each day and given a minimum of four hours of direct sun, or ten hours of bright light. The application of a 0-10-10

A close call on the Salmon River

With the Labor Day week-end over, fishing pressure on fresh water lakes ponds and the saltwater will be less crowded. It is also the time that fishing picks up, as the waters cool down, making the fish a lot more active during their feeding cycles. Despite negative reports by some anglers fishing on the canal last week, some anglers were reporting great action, catching some impressive fish. These guys follow the action very close and make the trip to the canal almost on a daily basis. Sebile fishing lures are one of the best producing surface plugs, when the fish are feeding on or close to the surface.

One angler shared his technique for catching big fish using an Al Gags rubber jig, with this writer last week. Many anglers fishing the canal for stripers often keep there bait or jig on or close to the bottom, but sometimes this angler insist that moving his bait or jig a few feet off the bottom, works for him. This writer often uses the same Technique on seas bass and other bottom feeding fish.

Fat Nancy's Bait & Tackle in Pulaski revealed the following information. Although there are some salmon in the river, he predicted that some of the best fishing will be in the middle of September and early October. Unfortunately, hundreds of anglers will be on the river at the same time. Taking a walk up or down the river away from the large crowds can be rewarding, giving an angler some piece and quiet, and the chance of landing a large King salmon. Finding small creeks can also hold some large fish and will also provide some great fishing. This week's picture shows an angler with a nice salmon from the Salmon River. Photo courtesy of Fat Nancy's Tackle Shop.

An angler that is fishing in New York's Salmon River needs to be very careful when navigating up or down stream along the river banks or in the water. New York law can have you in trouble with private property owners if you trespass on their property. The private property owners own the property on the river bank and also under the water! Setting foot on the property can get you in trouble with the law. My brother Ken and I navigated a canoe upstream a number of years ago, and stepped out onto a gravel bank to do some fishing.

We were only fishing a few minutes when I saw a gold badge flashing on a person upriver a hundred yards or so away. He slowly worked his way down to us and identified himself as a deputized warden hired by the landowner. After introducing himself, he went on to tell us that we were trespassing on private property.

"Do you realize you are fishing on private property?" "No, sir," I replied.

He went on to tell us about the laws regarding privately owned property. When he was done, I apologized, and we started to retrieve our canoe to go back down river. He pulled out a citation book and questioned us some more about our actions.

I figured it was time to tell him that I was an outdoor writer and always tried to obey all of the fishing regulations. Phew. It worked. He quickly changed his method of questioning, and put his citation book away. "Just do me a favor and write about the laws in New York pertaining to trespassing on private property."

I apologized to him for our ignorance of the law. As we started to climb into the canoe, he gave me one of his cards and asked us if we would like to get a free pass to the property upriver, which was owned by a Senator.

"Yes, sir."

After thanking him, we quickly boarded our canoe and headed back down river to the area we had launched the canoe, and where our fishing party was.

My oldest son, Ralph, Jr., was standing in the water fishing, but was not on private property.

"How come you came back so soon?" he asked.

Planning to have a little fun with him and his buddies, we dreamed up a story about being arrested, and that we needed to meet the officer at a designated place.

"That's what you get for not staying with the fishing party!"

Everyone was ribbing us, but we would have the last laugh. After loading the canoe on our truck, we headed off to the Senators property up stream that has a couple of wardens occupying a small booth for anglers wishing to pay for the right to fish the river. I showed the wardens the card that I had received from one of their other officers.

"Yep," he called us. "You are all set; park your car over there and follow these two other anglers to the fishing site. Have fun."

As my brother Ken and I followed the two anglers, I started laughing out loud about our other fishing buddies we left at the river with my son. We spent the next few hours catching some nice salmon, and laughing about the whole ordeal. It was starting to get dark, so we left the area and headed back to the camp site, thanking the officers for a great day of fishing. My kid was most likely thinking the worst — was my dad locked up? As we entered the camp site, everyone was laughing and having a few beers. After a lecture from my kid, we finally broke the news about where we were, and the great salmon fishing we had.

It was a good thing that I had taken my car because everyone else was not talking to us, and more than likely would have left us there. The good old days. Memories!

Do not forget the Singletary Rod & Gun Club field day this Sunday, Sept. 8. Good food and entertainment is sure to make for a great day in the outdoors.

Wallum Lake Rod & Gun Club will also hold their field day this Sunday, Sept. 8, at there club grounds in Harrisville R.I.! Don't miss it!

Take A kid fishing & Keep Them Rods Bending!

STURBRIDGE — The second annual Running Out Of Summer (ROOS) 5K, co-hosted by Wormtown Milers and RapsCALLion Brewery, took place on Saturday, Aug. 24 at RapsCALLion Brewery in Sturbridge. The race, which started in 2018 and quickly became a local favorite, benefits Second Chance Animal Services, which has locations in Worcester, East Brookfield, North Brookfield, and Springfield. This year, ROOS 5K raised more than $5,000 for Second Chance while also finding homes for shelter puppies.

"We are beyond thrilled that ROOS 5K was once again a resounding success," commented Emma Thibault, ROOS 5K Race Director. "While we are all incredibly happy with the fact that the race netted a $5,000 donation for Second Chance, we are even more excited by the fact that four homeless puppies were adopted by participants on race day."

The puppies, who were all mixed breed and arrived in style on race day in the Second Chance mobile adoption unit, were one of the highlights of the race. Runners and spectators visited with the pups until one by one they were adopted and the mobile adoption unit drove back to the shelter empty.

"Seeing four of our puppies go home to such wonderful families was a highlight of race day," said Lindsay Doray, Director of Development at Second Chance Animal Services. "We are so appreciative of the support from ROOS 5K, and we are already looking forward to partnering with Wormtown Milers and RapsCALLion Brewery in 2020!"

The puppies weren't the only winners on race day. Overall male and female winners were Norman Everett of Auburn, with a time of 18:57 and Kristen Liberty of Thompson, Conn., with a time of 23:11, respectively. Their prize was a customized mug which includes a one-year membership to the RapsCALLion Mug Club. Mr. Everett ran for team Wormtown Milers while Ms. Liberty ran for team November Project Worcester. The largest team award went to Tri-State Running, and the fastest team award went to Wormtown Milers.

The day was bright and sunny, and runners enjoyed the scenic course. After the race, all participants were treated to a free beer, the Running Out Of Summer Saison, specially brewed just for the race. In addition, runners, their families, and their dogs enjoyed live music by Josh Briggs, a live raffle drawing, and pushup challenges by 9Round Worcester — James Street in the brewery.

9Round Worcester — James Street participated as the ROOS 5K Naming Sponsor for the second year in a row. Additional sponsors included JFC Pros and Lindquist's Place as Gold Sponsors; Hometown Bank, Security Engineered Machinery, and Southbridge Credit Union as Silver Sponsors; and Brenda M. ## Walk the remains of Oxford's Huguenot Fort OXFORD — Celebrate the "Settlement of New Oxford" by walking into what remains of the Huguenot Fort on Sunday, Sept. 22 as part of The Last Green Valley's 29th Annual Walktober events.

The Huguenot Fort is one of the oldest and most historically significant sites in the area. A program hosted by members of the Oxford Historical Commission and The Huguenot Memorial Society of Oxford, Inc. will begin at 1:pm in the park-like setting near the Huguenot Monument at 87 Fort Hill Rd., rain or shine. Parking is available on a nearby street with about eight additional spaces designated for handicapped parking directly in front of the Huguenot site.

Come and appreciate the story of people originally from France who came here to live about 333 years ago when this area was the wilderness: trees, open spaces, rivers and abundant wild life. The Huguenots created a way of life for themselves, interacted with the Native Americans who moved along on their long established paths, and met other Europeans who were beginning to move into the area.

Everyone is invited to bring a picnic lunch and a chair earlier in the day, and enjoy the well maintained town property. Questions and comments will be welcome. Learn how the Settlement was created. What was daily life like in the Settlement? How did the Settlement grow and change?

Fire station becomes focus of Public Safety Building Committee

BY JASON BLEAU
CORRESPONDENT

CHARLTON – The proposed public safety building in Charlton is not yet a dead issue, despite being voted down emphatically by taxpayers during a special election in August. While planning for the project will proceed, the results of the vote have led selectmen to request a smaller scale project, one that removes the police department from the proposal.

Despite appropriating $28.5 million for the construction of the proposed 40,800-square-foot facility in May Charlton voters cast a 860-491 vote against the project in early August with some seeing the project as too big while others felt the money would be better spent elsewhere. While the vote served as a serious setback for the initiative, which mainly seeks to provide a successor to the 61-year-old fire headquarters, the Board of Selectmen has instructed the Public Safety Building Committee to try once more at receiving public support by removing the police department from the plans. The Public Safety Building Committee had recommended focusing on the fire department after meeting on August 15, two days after the failed vote.

According to Fire Captain Rob Barton, who spoke during the Aug. 27 meeting of the Board of Selectmen, four options were considered by the committee, including proposing a smaller and cheaper building and building a new fire station while renovating the police station. The committee also considered dropping the police station from the discussion altogether and focusing only on a new fire station.

“For 25 years, we’ve been trying to get a fire station constructed, and pretty much that’s where the public has voiced their concern on social media and in person, that they would support a fire station,” Fire Captain Rob Baron said acting as a member of the Public Safety Building Committee. “We on the Public Safety Building Committee do not think that’s the greatest idea; however, we’re only one vote each. So, the committee decided that we thought it would be best for us to move forward with the fire station and communications center and renovate the police station by freeing up their communications center which would allow them to be able to have some more space.”

Captain Baron said it wasn’t and “ideal situation,” and said he felt the price tag led to “sticker shock.” With no way to reduce the building as originally proposed without compromising its efficiency for the future, the Public Safety Committee knew they had to make significant changes to at least get the fire station project going.

“I think the taxpayers spoke very loud and clear,” Captain Baron said.

While the compromise didn’t sit well with all selectmen, some saw it as a necessary act to at least get the most significant project underway. Selectman John McGrath echoed Captain Baron’s comments that it appears there is more public support for the fire station alone than for a high-priced dual-purpose public safety facility.

“I believe if we move forward with the fire station and the communication addition to the new building that we would be well served by doing that,” McGrath said. “We’ll let the committee get all their numbers and data together, as they’re talking about now.”

Selectman Bill Borowski, who supported the project at the voting booth, seemed to understand that the price tag could have been a huge factor in the negative vote, although he stopped short of calling the compromise a better plan in the long run.

“For right or wrong, I’m dealing with practical realities at the moment, people are much more amenable to a price tag of $10 - $15 million. Now whether we pay for that from a debt exclusion or some sort of incremental revenue it’s still tax money at the end of the day,” Borowski said. “The reality is that it’s not a combined station. That’s just not going to happen. A better plan is to have a combined station right now, but where do we go from here? People want to look at the police station to see what it will cost to make modifications. There’s concerns in town that we don’t have a wholistic capital plan.”

Selectman Debra Noble expressed her opinion that the compromise was not in line with the overall goal of the project, and that it still leaves the police station, which is 28 years old, undersized and in an unsafe location.

“Our current police station is not up to code. It’s nowhere near up to code. It’s an accident waiting to happen. When people are released from custody they have to walk out through the lobby. There are no public restrooms. There’s no privacy,” Noble said. “This bill is going to come due and I understand $28.5 million is a lot of money and I don’t think it was presented well – I’m disappointed about what happened at the poles because this is a public safety issue.”

Noble was joined by Selectman Karen Spiewak in voting against the compromised plan, while Selectmen McGrath and Borowski were joined by Selectman David Singer in approving the smaller-scale plan. While the vote on the new approach to the project was divided selectmen did come together to unanimously agree to purchase the 19.3-acre plot on the Overlook Masonic Home property where the public safety facility was to be built. This would imply the same land would be used for the project even adjusted for a smaller scale. Voters approved the $179,000 purchase in May of last year before an anonymous donor pitched in $100,000 to offset some of the cost to the town.

Saturdays and cheering on the Patriots on Sundays. Most of all, she cherished the time spent with her family and friends, each of them holding a special place in her heart. Extremely proud of her children, Denise will be best remembered as the kind, brave, passionate, loving, and strong person that she was. # The health benefits of carrots

When looking to quell hunger pangs that can pop up between meals, many people reach for snacks. Snacks can be a great way to prevent overeating at mealtime, but such benefits can be negated if people choose the wrong snacks.

Potato chips and sugary packaged baked goods may be readily available inside office vending machines and at convenience stores, but such snacks don't pack the nutritional punch of carrots. Considered a superfood by many people, carrots are a simple snack that can be found at any grocery store and brought along to an office, regardless of whether that office is a traditional office, a work site or anywhere else people spend their workdays.

Vitamins and minerals
Carrots are a great source of various vitamins and minerals. According to the health and wellness information site Healthline®, carrots are great sources of vitamin A, biotin, vitamin K1, potassium, and vitamin B6.

Carrots are rich in beta-carotene, which the body converts into a vitamin A, a nutrient that promotes strong vision and plays a vital role in immune function.

Studies have shown that biotin plays an important role in the body's ability to metabolize fat and protein.

Vitamin K1 plays a vital role in blood coagulation, which is the process of making blood clot. Coagulation enables the blood to plug and heal a wound.

Potassium can help people control their blood pressure, which can benefit their long-term health in various ways.

Finally, vitamin B6 plays a role in converting food into energy, making it an ideal afternoon snack for people who want to quell their hunger pangs and give themselves a needed energy boost.

Carrots and long-term health
Carrots also have been shown to have long-term health benefits. In 2016, the American Institute for Cancer Research added carrots to its list of "Foods that Fight Cancer." The links between carrots and reducing cancer risk are many and include carrots' status as a low-calorie snack. Low-calorie snacks can help people reduce their risk of overweight and obesity, which the AICR notes are a cause of 11 cancers.

Studies, including one published in the European Journal of Nutrition, have linked carrots to lower cholesterol levels. That's a considerable benefit, as high cholesterol is among the most significant risk factors for heart disease.

Carrots have long been touted as helping to improve vision, and that reputation is well-earned. When the beta-carotene in carrots is converted into vitamin A, that vitamin A combines with a protein called opsin to form rhodopsin, which is needed for night and color vision.

When snack time beckons, carrots can help people reap immediate and long-term rewards.

SOME CHANGES ARE HARD, BUT AT LEAST
WE MAKE REPLACING YOUR WINDOWS EASY.

The most hassle-free home improvement project you'll ever have. You won't have to deal with a manufacturer or chase down an installer. We manage the entire process—from building to installation to the warranty—on our windows and patio doors.

Andersen is the window that every homeowner wants. Renewal by Andersen is the full-service replacement window division of Andersen, and our window is engineered to help save you money on your energy bills and make your home more comfortable.

56,950 other MA and Southern NH area homeowners have trusted us. That means we understand the window and patio door problems in this area. And our installers are true craftsmen who will completely and thoroughly clean up after your upgrade is complete.

We won't try to "sell" you on vinyl. Poor-quality vinyl windows can discolor, leak and warp just a few years after they're installed, so we refuse to sell them. Our window's Fibrex® composite material is twice as strong as vinyl.
