Webster gone with the wind

The Massachusetts Emergency Management Agency reported 25 people were left homeless, one was slightly injured, and three buildings need to be demolished, while several others are temporarily uninhabitable.

On Tuesday morning, according to Jennifer Cederberg of the BOS office, the "Webster Tornado Relief" fund was established at the Webster First Federal Credit Union. All monies donated into this fund will go directly toward assisting displaced residents in replacing all that was lost and beginning the process of rebuilding their lives. To make a donation, via cash or check made out to the "Webster Tornado Relief" fund and drop it off with a teller at the bank or, if it is easier to come to the town hall, see Jenn or Courtney in the town administrator's office. The town administrator will be working with other staff to compile a policy on administering these funds and will be ultimately responsible for managing this account. Home items such as clothing, housewares, furniture, etc. to donate, bring them directly to the Salvation Army in Webster, located in the

A local photographer is offering first responders free photography sessions. Katelyn Orsi Photography of Auburn is offering a generous gift to those who serve the public.

Orsi states, "Everyone should be giving back to their community. I try to do as much as I can for my community and others."

This will be the third year in a row that Orsi's photography business is offering this promotion.

"The first year was just for police officers," says Orsi. "It was the second year that I opened it up to all first responders."

Orsi feels it is important to acknowledge those who put their lives on the line to help others.

"Pay it forward is something we should all do. If we did, our society would be a better place."

Katelyn Orsi Photography will be set up in Greenhill Park in Worcester one day of sessions and Old Stone Church in West Boylston for the next. These sessions will be held on

The West Brookfield Congregational Church in 1838

The legacy of Lucy Stone

SUBMITTED BY DAVID FITZGERALD

WEST BROOKFIELD — Last year the West Brookfield Congregational Church celebrated its 300th anniversary. The committee decided that a fitting part of the celebration should be, insofar as was possible, to "remedy the past error of expelling Lucy Stone from the church." Accordingly, at its annual meeting in January, the membership voted unanimously to rescind "the expulsion decree of 1851." Later in the year, a reconciliation ceremony took place; the past mistake was admitted, and the hope expressed that "there will be peace with Lucy Stone's spirit".

The 19th century in the United States was an amazing period, perhaps the greatest period of growth and development in human history. By the century's end in 1900, from a narrow strip along the Atlantic seaboard, the fledgling United States had spread rapidly westward to the Pacific coast, and in what many called "manifest destiny" acquired political control of the entire North American continent between Mexico and Canada. From an estimated 2.5 million at the time of the revolutionary war, the United States' population had grown to 76.1 million. An industrial revolution had occurred, utilizing machinery to make material goods faster, cheaper and in greater quantity than ever before in human history. That revolution had spawned an agricultural revolution also, whereby large scale farms produced crops in the region's best suited for raising them, then transported to the places where they were needed. The industrial revolution had spawned a transportation revolution, most especially the development of the railroad, whereby goods and people were transported farther, faster and in greater quantities than ever before. By 1900, railroad lines linked nearly every city and town in this country. A huge increase in the number of colleges and universities had developed expanding curriculums to include many new fields of study. A revolution in communications enabled the transmittal of information almost instantaneously to almost any part of the country.

Is it any wonder that such a century produced many remarkable people, pioneers in responding to its challenges and opportunities? Lucy Stone was one of those pioneers.

Annual fair will demolish the competition with new events

SPENCER — Though residents dread the end of summer and the imminent return of school and shorter days, the annual Spencer Fair tradition is always there to cheer families up.

Taking place from Aug. 31 through Sept. 3, this year's fair will feature a unique mix of longtime favorites and new events. Returning in 2018 are the demolition derby, giant pumpkin contests, antique tractor display, animal exhibits, and oxen pulls. Competitors will also be burning some rubber and spraying smoke as part of the truck pull event.

Garden tractor pulls, concrete tractor pulls, amateur log sawing, and a new emergency services heat in the demolition derby will add new twists to classic events. Always drawing a big crowd, demolition derbies will take place on Aug. 31 at 7 p.m. and Sept. 2 at 5 p.m.

The fair will also feature several musical attractions, with multi-platinum selling country music star Mark Wills visiting Spencer as the headline performer. In 1998, the Academy of Country Music Awards selected Wills as its top new male vocalist, and he has forged a decorated career in the industry over the past two decades.

Wills has seen every corner of the country throughout his career, and his passion for storytelling has never faltered.

"My focus is on the music delivery to make it my own for the people who listen — so that they can make it their own," Wills said in a statement.

Additional musical acts slated for this year's fair include Ross McGinnes, Tequila Bonfire, Leaf Jumpers, Bad Tickers, Sold Under Sin, Annie Brobst, Dan Candell, Dennis Polisky and Maestro's Men, Ashley Jordan, and Coconut.

Food, carnival rides, children's events, and several contests will also be available to ensure a fun Labor Day weekend for the entire family. As always, the fair's organizers thank all sponsors and vendors for their assistance in making unforgettable memories.

General admission to the fair is $10, though seniors, military personnel, and children ages 7-12 will pay $7. Children under the age of 7 get in free, and a weekend pass costs $25.

For more information on all dates, times, and locations for this year's events at the fairgrounds, visit www.spencerfair.org. Rules for competitions are also posted on the fair's website.

Car Buying Tips

People ask Place: My new car seems so complicated. Why do I have all this technology?

The Right answer: During our recent Classic Cruise we were able to see first hand the many differences in today's cars versus the cars of yesteryear. The new cars had so much more in electronics to increase performance, efficiency, comfort and most importantly safety. The innovations many of us have simply grown to expect in our cars were not available in the 50's, 60's or even 70's. Much of the now standard features were developed in just the last few decades. Federal regulation and of course customer demand have contributed to much of the new technology in the new cars. Even some of the new technology like your cell phone have sparked new tech in your cars. Airbags that were once only in the steering wheel now seem to come from everywhere and can create a complete "canopy" offering protection to passengers in every seating position. Ford even has available inflatable seat belts to provide rear passengers even more security. Anti-lock braking systems, stability control systems, adaptive cruise control, automatic climate control, intermittent wipers, infotainment systems, all-wheel drive, 6 and 10 speed automatic transmissions, power windows and door locks, back up cameras, electronic ignition and fuel injection are just some of the things we have seen in today's cars that weren't in those classic cars we love. In fact, did you know that in early F series pickups a passenger side windshield wiper was an extra cost option. We love those old cars and trucks. They sure are great to admire. Look closely at the new cars and trucks and marvel at the things they can do. The advancements are incredible and much more is coming to improve the next generation of transportation.

Family continues to seek answers

BY KEVIN FLANDERS
NEWS STAFF WRITER

A quarter of a century after the murder of Holly Piirainen, investigators and family members continue to seek answers that might lead to her killer.

On August 5, 1993, 10-year-old Holly disappeared while on vacation with her family at her grandmother's cottage in Sturbridge. The Grafton girl was last seen by her father at approximately 11:45 a.m. that day, when she and her brother were walking in the area of Allen Road and South Shore Road. They were planning to walk a short distance through the neighborhood and play with puppies at a South Shore Road home.

Holly was reported missing by her father, Richard Piirainen, after she did not return by 12:50 p.m. Her father later found one of her sneakers on South Shore Road, but a massive police search of the area failed to locate the girl.

On October 23, 1993, Holly's remains were found by hunters in a wooded area off Five Bridge Road in Brimfield — nearly nine miles from where she disappeared.

Twenty-five years later, Holly's family is holding out hope that a tip from the public will unlock the cold case. Residents who may have information on Holly's disappearance or subsequent murder are asked to contact police. Even a seemingly small or overlooked detail could provide vital information, officials said.

"The Piirainen family has been coping with this tragedy for twenty-five years," said Hampden County District Attorney Anthony Gulluni. "Members of my office and the Massachusetts State Police detectives assigned to the case have never stopped investigating to bring justice to Holly and her family. We continue to ask members of the public who may have any information to please contact us."

Several persons of interest have been investigated in connection with Holly's murder over the years, though no suspects were officially named. In 2012, former Hampden County district attorney Mark Mastroianni announced that recently acquired forensic evidence connected David Pouliot to the investigation. Pouliot, who died in 2003, was never announced as a suspect, and officials would not elaborate on the evidence in question.

Additionally, several possible connections to the 2000 abduction and murder of 16-year-old Molly Bish in Warren were also investigated by police, but no suspects were named.

Anyone with information is asked to contact the Massachusetts State Police Detective Unit assigned to the Hampden County District Attorney's Office at 413-505-5993. You can also utilize the text-a-tip feature by texting the word CRIMES (2-7-4-6-3-7) and typing the word SOLVE into the body of the message, followed by your tip.

Free Shakespeare coming to Webster

Austyn Davis (Celia) and Margaret Clark (Rosalind) get a look at the world from a tree in Shakespeare's "As You Like It," coming to Webster on Aug. 16.

BY GUS STEEVES
TIMES CORRESPONDENT

WEBSTER – More than ever today, it seems people need to get out of their bubbles and learn how other people see things.

That's nothing new, though. Shakespeare saw that centuries ago.

Boston-based Brown Box Theatre is bringing the Bard's version of that message, "As You Like It," to the stage at French River Park Thursday, August 16 at 7:30 p.m. It's free; just bring a chair and picnic.

"When we started, it puzzled me why Rosalind disguised herself as a man. But as we've rehearsed, it no longer does," said Margaret Clark, who plays that heroine. "She's able to change her reality quite literally."

That idea of "transformation and liberation" is what drew Clark and director Kyler Taustin to the classic play. Taustin said he likes it's connection between urban and rural, city and country, exploration and liberty.

"The characters struggle with obligations that come with titles" and need to balance those with personal liberty and how to properly treat other people who aren't of their social class, among other things, he noted.

"I'm really drawn to the idea of acknowledging, respecting and learning from people different from ourselves," he said. "It's the best way to find balance in life."

While some may see Shakespearean theater as "high-brow," it's anything but. Even in the Bard's own era, he appealed to many social classes, with many turns of phrase drawn from and jokes aimed at the common folks.

"They were very much written for the people," Taustin said. "One of our goals is to make the language accessible."

Part of that will involve portraying the characters in ways not in Elizabethan garb, but also without modern technology.

"I hope people are transported outside of daily life and gain a new perspective on the world and their specific lives," Taustin said. "I think that's why Shakespeare has lasted so long."

To Clark, one aspect of the Bard's work that is very modern is how he crosses boundaries.

"It's very contemporary because of the way it deals with gender," Clark said. "The message I get is that gender isn't relevant. You find connections to the people around you."

That works in the play's structure itself, too. To her, Shakespeare's overall "genre-busting" traits are a big part of the playwright's appeal.

"[Rosalind has] a lot of setbacks and she's been described as a tragic character within a comedy," Clark said, noting she also liked playing a "comedic character in a tragedy" in Hamlet. At some point, she added, she'd love to play Iago.

Brown Box Theatre has existed for eight years, largely aimed at bringing Shakespeare (and a few other plays) to free audiences in Massachusetts, Maryland, Delaware and eastern Virginia. Taustin hails from that region, and noted he grew up in an area "that was a cultural void in some ways."

According to the group's website, after college at Emerson (also Clark's alma mater), he wanted to bring theater to his home region. It started with a modern play called "Belly Full of Stones" in 2009, but the second year they took on the Bard's "Twelfth Night" and have toured Shakespeare plays every summer since then. The group is also collaborating with one in Queretaro, Mexico, to "amplify the unheard voice, spanning nations and languages," the site states.

Taustin said this is the farthest west Brown Box has performed in Massachusetts and the tour's second show. It will also hit Easton, Hopkinton, Fall River and Boston this month before traveling to the Delmarva region, but is always looking for new venues.

"When we started, our tour was one week," Taustin said. "Now it's seven weeks across four states."

Tips to beat the heat!

TAKE THE HINT
KAREN TRAINOR

Recent nearly triple digit temperatures found young and old alike literally losing their cool! If the rising mercury puts a damper on your "hot fun in the summertime," read on for a medley of both old (previously shared) and new (recently discovered) tips to help you beat the heat!

Cool down tips for the home: *If you have mini blinds and find that closing them to keep the house cool keeps out too much light, try angling them upwards. This way, the light is reflected up and into the room, but the heat of direct rays are kept away.

*Pulling the shades down in east and west windows during a heat wave can lower an inside temperature as much as 20 degrees, as compared to unshaded windows!

*Using a window air conditioner? To boost its efficiency, use a fan with your a/c to circulate the cool air throughout the home. Fans are best placed on north facing, shaded windows, if possible.

* Never place lamps or TVs near your air conditioning thermostat. The heat from these appliances will cause the air conditioner to run longer.

*Electronics, such as TVs and computers not only emit phantom energy but they produce heat even when shut off. Unplug these devices whenever possible.

*Compact fluorescent lights not only use less energy than incandescent bulbs, but they burn much cooler, preventing an unnecessary source of heat.

Hints to keep cool: *Natural fabrics such as cotton keep you cooler than synthetics. Breathable fabrics such as organic cotton helps to wick moisture away from your body, helping you stay cool and dry. And be sure to wear loose fitting clothes on hot days to allow air to circulate and keep you cool naturally.

*Want sweat free slumber? Sleep on 100% cotton sheets. And swap out synthetic pillows for cooler feather ones. Better yet, switch to a buckwheat pillow, which is the coolest of them all!

*Cool down quick by taking mini baths or showers throughout the day when possible. Tepid water works best to refresh.

*Cool off instantly by placing a cold compress on your forehead or an ice bag on your head or on the back of your neck.

*Drink plenty of chilled, non-alcoholic fluids during a heat wave. Experts advise avoiding caffeinated, sweet, or alcoholic beverages as they act as diuretics and can play havoc with your body temperature.

* On hot summer days, you'll sweat less if you eat foods high in water content, such as fruit and vegetables. Also avoid heavy meals that are harder to digest.

*If you are exercising or are performing physical work during a heat wave, be sure to drink two to four eight ounce glasses of water an hour. When possible choose sports drinks instead.

August Real Estate Market Update

According to Bankrate.com as of 06/10/2018 the rate on a 30 year fixed loan was 4.45% which is up slightly from last month. Homes priced appropriately and staged well are still selling very quickly but the inventory continues to grow. This shows that the local Real Estate market is showing signs of stabilization.

we had 1835 for sale. 12 months ago we had 1792 homes for sale so inventory each month is continuing to creep up. The average days on market is currently 95 days which is a 1.0% increase in days on market from last month. This shows inventory is slightly rising and homes are selling in a similar timeframe to last month. If we look at homes sold over past 12 months compared to the same time for the previous year there is a small increase in sales of 1.9% and a 5.8% increase in average sales price while it is taking 16.7% less time to sell the homes this year than last year in Worcester County. This shows that prices are still rising and homes are still selling quicker than a year ago. Looking at these signs it still shows growth with increases in sales price and sales from 12 months ago, so the market is still strong and it is definitely still a great time to sell a home

I know I always say to ensure the hire a Realtor that understands your local market. When the market starts to change like it is now it is more crucial than ever to ensure you hire someone who understands the economics of Real Estate to ensure your pricing and marketing strategy get you the results that you desire. It makes sense more than ever to interview a few of the top agents in your area to ensure that you hire the best agent for the job.

Harvest and preserve herbs for flavorful meals year-round

MYERS

Add a flavorful boost to any meal with garden-fresh herbs. You'll quickly discover the difference fresh herbs make when preparing any meal or dessert.

Harvest herbs whenever you need them for cooking or garnishing a favorite dish. Adjust the quantity of herbs used to allow for variations in flavor intensity and your family's preference.

In general, you will need two to three times more fresh than dried herbs. So, if the recipe calls for one teaspoon of dried parsley use one tablespoon (three teaspoons) of fresh parsley leaves.

Use a pair of garden scissors or pruners for harvesting. Make your cuts above a set of healthy leaves. The wound will close faster, and the remaining plant will look better. Rinse off the clippings and remove tough stems and any discolored or damaged leaves and start cooking.

Store the extra, unwashed leafy herbs in a vase of water and loosely cover with a plastic bag. Keep basil on the kitchen counter and cold-tolerant herbs like parsley and cilantro in the refrigerator.

Wrap thicker-leaved herbs like sage and thyme in a paper towel, set inside a plastic bag and place in a warmer section of the fridge.

Don't be afraid to keep harvesting. Regular picking encourages new growth for future harvests. Just be sure to leave enough foliage to maintain plant growth. You can harvest as much as 50 to 75% from established annual herbs and one third of perennial herbs at one time.

Clip off leaves and stems before the plant begins flowering to encourage more tender growth. You'll get the greatest concentration of flavor when the plant has formed buds, but before they open. However, don't discard the flowers if you've waited too long. Enjoy the beauty and added flavor of basil, lavender, lovage, monarda, oregano, rosemary, sage, sweet marjoram and thyme blossoms in salads, soups and other beverages.

As the season winds down, consider preserving some of your favorite herbs to use all winter long and to give as gifts.

Drying is one of the easiest ways to preserve your herbal harvest. Collect large amounts of basil, rosemary, marjoram and sage just prior to flowering. Cut the plants back about halfway in the morning after the dew has just dried off the leaves. Rinse—do not soak—the clippings and then remove any damaged or dried leaves.

Gather the herbs into small bundles and secure with a rubber band. As the stems shrink, so does the rubber band. Use a spring-type clothespin to hang the bundles from a clothesline or hanger.

Store the bundled herbs in a warm, dry, airy place out of direct sunlight for drying. Some gardeners cover the drying herbs with a paper bag to keep them clean.

You can also dry herbs in the microwave. Remove the leaves from freshly harvested herbs. Evenly spread two cups of washed herb leaves on a double thickness of paper towel. Microwave on high for four to six minutes, depending on your microwave.

Fully dried herbs will be brittle and rattle when stirred. Store dried herbs in an airtight container for later use. Label the container with the name of the herb and date preserved.

Then add these flavorful additions to your meals throughout the winter. You're sure to savor the flavor and memories these homegrown preserved herbs add to every meal.

Calling all photographers: show your talent in 2019 calendar

The Last Green Valley, Inc. is searching for 13 photos that capture the unique spirit of the National Heritage Corridor. The selected images will appear in the 2019 TLGV Calendar and hang proudly in businesses and homes throughout the National Heritage Corridor and beyond!

Photos must convey the exceptional natural, historic, and cultural resources of The Last Green Valley. We welcome photos of people caring for and enjoying the National Heritage Corridor, but we must have the subject's permission to publish the photo.

The TLGV Calendar is a full 8.5 by 11 inches, printed in color on high quality paper. The back cover includes a map of the National Heritage Corridor with additional information. The 2019

TLGV Calendar will be available through the TLGV online shop, with all proceeds supporting the programs and projects of the nonprofit.

Winners who submitted the photos chosen for each month will be given five copies of the 2019 TLGV Calendar and their photo will be printed with their name and photo title. The photographer selected to illustrate the cover will also be featured in a press release about the calendar, in addition to receiving 10 copies of the 2019 TLGV Calendar.

Each photograph must be in color digital format, sized to 8 x 10 inches, and at least 300 dpi.

Contestants are asked to fill out one form per photo submitted and deliver them via email. There is a limit of three entries per person. Calendar Photo Contest forms are available online at thelastgreenvalley.org. All submissions will become the property of The Last Green Valley, Inc. Submissions are due by email no later than noon on Sept. 14. Send to LyAnn@tlgv.org, subject line "Calendar Photo Contest." For more information, please call 860-774-3300 or send questions to LyAnn@tlgv.org, subject "Calendar Photo Contest."

The Last Green Valley National Heritage Corridor is the last stretch of dark night sky in the coastal sprawl between Boston and Washington, D.C. The Last Green Valley, Inc. works for you in the National Heritage Corridor. Together we can care for it, enjoy it and pass it on!

Hoey recognized as leading financial advisor

WORCESTER — Robert A. Hoey of Auburn, an independent financial advisor affiliated with Commonwealth Financial Network and Hoey Wealth Management in Worcester, achieved Commonwealth Summit Club status for 2018. This distinction recognizes success based on a rank of annual production, as of December 2017, among Commonwealth's network of 1,710 financial advisors.

Commonwealth is the nation's largest privately held register investment advisor.

"I couldn't be more pleased to recognize Robert Hoey for his accomplishments in the past year," said Wayne Bloom, CEO of Commonwealth. "Rob is a valued member of the Commonwealth community, and his commitment to serving his clients and to help them plan for the future puts him in elite company. We enjoyed welcoming Robert Hoey to the Summit Club and to helping build on his success."

Hoey qualified to join others in attending the Commonwealth Summit Club conference in March, was offered an array of educational opportunities and given new perspectives for reaching new levels of success and service excellence.

A live action Clue complete with...US!

And of course I handed off the camera so here are Kim Maschi as successful doctor Sarah Dippity and the birthday husband Keith as butler Jarvis Deedit.

On a dark and stormy night, a group of friends and family got together for merriment, murder, and mayhem. It was my husband Keith's 30th birthday party, and I wanted him to have the most amazing night. I decided on a 1930s Hollywood theme, rated R (because we are all adults and ready to let loose a bit.)

I hired an acting troupe from The Murder Mystery Co. grimprov.com. The actress came with outfits, props, binders, and suspect personalities to make the party a magnificent event. The actress' pseudonym was Mr. Warren Peace, a Hollywood producer, and he was to be murdered! (insert grave music here!)

Mr. Warren Peace invited up all to his mansion for a party and to figure out who wanted him dead. But one guest never made it. Mrs. Peacock who was writing a new script has been shot and killed. It is time for us to get into costume and begin the murder mystery.

Keith, from Oxford, became the Butler Jarvis Deedit, Kelly Craft from Maine became Mary Katen Ashley, assistant to the producer. Mark Cady, from Oxford, became Sleazy McQueen, producer. Lisa Henry, from Worcester, transformed into Cherry Bomb, aspiring actress. Thomas Turcotte from Webster was the amazing detective Peter Ness, but his friends called him P. Ness. Elaine Henry from Webster was Donna Badthing a very prominent actress. Katrina Grandelski from New Hampshire became OohLaLa, the maid. Chris Gilbert from New Hampshire was the rich Mr. Greenspan, banker. Mike Henry from Webster was Professor Purple who continually tried to explain to people just how much of a genius he really was. And I was the very successful Dr. Sarah Dippity. The other guests, Silvia Gilbert, Dawn Moore, Megan Turcotte, Robert Henry, and Cheryll LeBlanc, were all detectives trying to solve the case. We all had a part to play and had to figure out who was the killer by the end of the night.

We all walked around the room on the top floor of the KBC Brewery in Webster. We were pleased to find out that the building we were in used to be a speakeasy! How perfect! We listened to 1930s music and strolled along the twinkling lights with drinks in hand. We each had props and outfits to go with our characters, the moment I put on the doctor's robe I was transformed into a know it all nuisance... not much of a transformation for me.

Keith played his butler part extremely well, I contribute his butler likeness to my constant nagging for him to help clean the house.

Sleazy McQueen sported a baseball cap with long strands of hair in the back, he was an excellent sleaze who had sordid affairs with all the ladies around him. Could he be the killer?

Cherry Bomb was sweet and kind and had nothing but nice things to say about everyone. Detective Peter Ness had many questions and with badge in hand he hounded every character. Donna Badthing was above everyone else and knew it. She threw her boa around and pranced about flaunting her many accomplishments and assets.

Mr. Greenspan sipped his drink at the table and gasp! He fell forward and died! Someone has gone ahead and killed someone else now! The rich banker is now dead and we are all still suspects.

As the doctor of the group I was the one in charge of pronouncing people dead. My binder stated that to do this I gently touched the tip of the corpses nose and say "they are dead".

If you are reading this and have read any of my past columns you know I tend to be dramatic and overly involved. So, when Mr. Greenspan took a sip of his beer and died. First, I tried to pry the beer from his hands, poison or not a free drink is a free drink. But alas he would not give, "rigor mortis has already begun I announced."

Next, I had to gently touch the tip of his nose and declare him dead. Instead, I fondled his nose, flicked it a bit, pushed it to one side and then the other, Chris aka, Mr. Greenspan tried to remain quiet and corpse-like while I drew little circles on his schnoz. Good job Chris. I finally announced he was dead and we all got on with the show.

Kelly, aka Mary Katen Ashley, was the best actress of the group. She was told to be clumsy and cute and she pulled it off with flying colors. She spoke in a mousy voice and tripped over every chair and table. She fumbled her books and stole the show, everyone agrees Kelly, you need to go into improv my dear, you are a shining star!

The maid Oohla La had a big part to play as she was initially framed for poisoning Mr. Greenspan. But Oohla La was not who we thought she was. She was actually an undercover FBI agent! Keith, aka Jarvis Deedit, admitted to having a plan to kill Mr. Warren Peace with Mr. Greenspan but it didn't work! I, the doctor, was apparently in love with Sleazy McQueen and asked him to marry me and of course he said yes. But I was also a marksman and who else would know how to kill someone other than a doctor? Professor Purple had his own reasons for wanting Mrs. Peacock dead, he wanted everyone to think he wrote the script she was working on.

Do you know who the murdered was? Have you guessed correctly? Was it the debonair actress Donna Badthing, was she jealous of Mrs. Peacock's success and angry with Mr. Greenspan? Was it the doctor who was a marksman and having an affair with Sleazy? Was it Sleazy who was sleazing it up with everyone? What about the genius Professor Purple? Could he have murdered so blatantly? Everyone always says the butler did it, but did he? Did Cherry Bomb, aspiring actress, have something to do with this? What about the clumsy Mary Katen Ashley, was her klutziness just as act? Oohla La and detective Peter Ness are law enforcement, but does that mean they are not guilty? Only those at the party know.

We had a champagne toast at the end

Megan and Tom Turcotte sporting their 1930s garb.

Our refreshments were very well themed of the mystery, I toasted to my husband on this very special birthday of his. We ate blood splattered cookies and cake from Jess' Sweets & Treats in Oxford. We danced to the music and drank heavenly beer from the brewery. We were swept away to a different place and time for a few hours and it was amazing. From pearls and boas to blood and poison, the night was a scream!

Who Can Adopt?

Can you provide the guidance, love and stability that a child needs? If you're at least 18 years old, have a stable source of income, and room in your heart, you may be a perfect match to adopt a waiting child. Adoptive parents can be single, married, or partnered; experienced or not; renters or homeowners; LGBTQ singles and couples.

The process to adopt a child from foster care requires training, interviews, and home visits to determine if adoption is right for you, and if so, to help connect you with a child or sibling group that your family will be a good match for.

To learn more about adoption from foster care, call the Massachusetts Adoption Resource Exchange (MARE) at 617-6273 or visit www.mareinc.org.

The sooner you call, the sooner a waiting child will have "a permanent place to call HOME."

Damage ignored, the show goes on best way they can, this time it was to help those in attendance take a break from the chaos and remember that even when times are tough, laughter can lift you up.

The beer show was performed by a group of very talented actors and one musically valuable minstrel, Paul Courchaine. Frank Dixon, from Franklin comes from The King Richards Faire in Carver, where he plays the jester. Bill Forbes from Mapleville, Rhode Island is an actor and joined by his daughter Bryson Michaels from Sutton and his sister Tina Kenney from Norfolk.

"They really put on an awesome show" says Vermette.

Tony Island from Oxford did the catering for the event and made a German feast fit for a King. The feast was complete with potatoes, sauerkraut, sausage, and rich chocolate cupcake. Each course was accompanied by beer tasting of the finest brews from the KBC brewers.

The entire Sherwin family from Oxford came out to enjoy the show. They put on their Viking hats and braved the storms damage to have a good time. The actors sang songs and played games with all in attendance. Michaels was a shining star with her Prinderella story, "Twonce upon a Mime" she stumbles and somehow made the story of Cinderella come to life with funning slurrations. Kenney got everyone at the tables to hoot and holler for their provinces and join in the games. Forbes had everyone laughing with his antics and Dixon was such a grand ole' king.

"We had a wonderful time," says Sergio and Johnna Bacelis of Worcester.

Aimee Jones from Spencer enjoyed the show and bought canned beer from the brewery to bring back home to her husband. The Hefeweizen was a light and airy German Wheat Beer and is canned upon request. The IPA called Grace is robust and strong and a favorite among many. Paired with the desert, the Summer Porter, was crisp and tasty with hints of blueberry.

The tornado that ripped through Webster caused many hearts to break. With buildings gone; lives are displaced, businesses are suffering, and the community is shaken. Those at the KBC Brewery pushed aside their thoughts of damage and chaos and worked hard to put on a show for those who needed a place to go and a reminder that when times get tough, there are people around you who will share a laugh, a smile, and a beer with you.

KIMBERLY MASCHI TIMES CORRESPONDENT

The show must go on, through the tornados wake, KBC Brewery blocked off their damaged area and still held a magnificent show for local residents. The brewery, located off Main Street, behind the police department, suffered damage from the tornado that swept through Webster. Along the French River walk trees were uprooted, fences were shattered, and the beer garden suffered dearly.

"We will rebuild," says owner Brian Kretschmann with fiancé Kelly Vermette. Vermette gently rocks their newborn daughter and is worried about the damage.

"I am so happy we were still able to open," says Vermette. "Everyone is still able to make it to the show." Vermette is referring to the well designed and hilarious "The Beer Show, A Royal Mocktober Feast!" that went on as scheduled Saturday night after the storm. The show is designed to highlight the brewery and the many batches of beer it creates. KBC specializes in German and American style beer and is place where many local residents gather for laughter, music, and comradery. Those who ventured out were thankful for a place to go where they could come together and enjoy some positivity through the destruction. Kretschmann and Vermette are always looking for ways to help their community in the

Definitions of a political entity

In an age of political correctness, we cringe at certain words. We do not wish to offend, or at least some of us don't.

Others just let that freak fly.

But that is for a different essay.

Which is why we read the letters to the editor with a very jaundiced eye. Sure we believe in free speech, but come on. Why should we allow the name calling that sometimes deteriorates to the level of the sandbox? Really? These pages are for thoughtful, approximately intelligent exchange of ideas. We are great with opposing viewpoints. We are not happy with gutter sniping.

When you bring up a letter, talk about the politics, not the letter writer. Make your point, move on. 'Nough said.

But back to the original purpose of the whole thing.

There are debates, real, genuine intent debates, about whether the words 'illegal' or 'undocumented' should be part of the lexicon for the people now in the country improperly.

Yes, they absolutely are here illegally, because they overstayed a visa, crossed a border without the right paperwork, were brought here by parents without the right paperwork, had paperwork lost or stolen, or for whatever reason; they do not have what they need to stay here correctly. And because of that, yes, they are here illegally and obviously without the right paperwork, they are undocumented.

So both terms work.

The argument is over whether one term or the other is more derogatory, and whether one is less dehumanizing.

People, say the advocates of undocumented, cannot be 'illegal'. Their actions might be, but people can't. It is in their eyes, an incorrect term.

But, those who don't like undocumented say it is too 'soft' for those who have come here and are intentionally by definition committing a crime.

Derogatory terms for immigrants isn't new.

FOB: fresh off the boat. Didn't matter from which country, and isn't interesting that someone not wanted could easily be FOBbed off.

WOP: with out papers. That's right, while it was usually associated with people of Italian descent, the derogatory term was originally applied to many groups who arrived without proper documentation, illegal immigrants. But in the earlier days of such migration, paperwork was less important, and in fact, harder to have.

What the country might very well need are a series of Ellis Islands once more. Centralized places where everyone comes through the same place.

We've seen scenes from such historic films as the Godfather, where a small Italian child w-o-p, and in fact ill, is placed in quarantine but eventually is reunited with family. This is in the early 1900s, and we are complaining about it happening now?

History is circular. We don't learn very well from our mistakes. Crossing invisible lines and protecting ourselves from ourselves has been happening since the first cave family decided not to share their campfire.

The words we use to say we don't like how we feel about one another or how someone else feels or thinks hasn't changed much either. Different time, different language, same nonsense.

We become enraged over those who think differently than ourselves, how dare they not understand our way is best? How can't they see what we see? Don't they see it our way?

Apparently, they don't. And we can't see it their way either.

We actually think that is a good thing, we're back to the beginning here: opposing viewpoints is a good thing.

How stale a world it would be without variety.

Opacum Trust: success

To the Editor:
The Southbridge Credit Union Tour Opacum on July 8th was a huge success! We had 190 riders, doubling last year's attendance. With the support of our partners and sponsors, along with all of the riders, we raised $14,000 for land conservation.

Tour Opacum took riders on routes that explored the picturesque countryside and small towns of the Quaboag Hills & Quinebaug Valley, including; Sturbridge, Brimfield, Brookfield, West Brookfield, Southbridge, Holland, Wales, Monson and Palmer. Experiencing the very land and communities that Opacum Land Trust is working to preserve provided riders with a sense of purpose to accompany their fun ride, and the free beer and food provided by Rapsallion Brewery at Hyland Orchard.

Thank you to all of those who participated, volunteered or supported Tour Opacum! Special thanks to Hyland Orchard, Rapsallion Brewery, Southbridge Bicycles, The Sturbridge Tourism Association and our lead sponsor, Southbridge Credit Union!

Mark your calendar for July 7, 2019, for next year's Southbridge Credit Union Tour Opacum!

Local officials push for judicial accountability

BY SENATOR ANNE GOBI, SENATOR RYAN FATTMAN, CHIEF STEVEN WOJNAR, AND JENNIE CAISSIE

Our Constitutional Republic is founded upon the idea that government is of the people, by the people and for the people, not above the people. No one serving in elected or appointed office should be above this standard, including those in our judicial branch.

In the wake of recent tragedies and loss of innocent lives, we believe it is time for meaningful, bipartisan reform in judicial accountability in Massachusetts.

Judges are appointed for life in Massachusetts, and command a position of power and respect. The prestige of their position is reflected in their compensation, benefits, and retirement because the decisions they make carry great consequence, altering the lives of our citizens and society. But to whom much is given, much is required. And what is required today is far different than the process our Founding Fathers established in the Massachusetts Constitution in the 1780s for judicial accountability.

Judicial accountability only exists in two forms, the first of which is extremely rare, and the second of which is surreptitious: (1) impeachment as outlined by the Constitution (2) confidential judicial evaluations that are performed by the Supreme Judicial Court of each judge, shared with them, and then destroyed.

Under the first method of accountability, only three judges have ever been removed from office since the Massachusetts Constitution was enacted in 1780. The last judge removed by the Governor's Council was before the Civil War in 1821. Under the second method of accountability, we simply do not know the consequences for each judge as the process is not salient to the public.

In the near-term, more scrutiny and transparency is required in the judiciary. First, Massachusetts General Law Section 211 must be changed to allow this to happen. Judicial performance evaluations should not be confidential, and only reviewed by a small group of unelected judges. These performance evaluations must be public and available to the Governor's Council, the elected body responsible for vetting and appointing judges, and to elected members of the legislature serving on the Senate and House judiciary committees. This increased transparency on the conduct of life-time appointed judges will provide greater insight into our judicial system.

Second, the Governor's Council should be able to conduct open, transparent, and public hearings reviewing judicial performances.

Finally, there must be a constitutional amendment brought before the legislature to enhance judicial accountability that empowers the Governor's Council to review a trial court judge every five years, and by super majority, be able to unappoint said judge. This process will be lengthy, requiring citizens to collect thousands of signatures, two Constitutional Conventions of the Legislature over a four-year period where 50 members elect to vote affirmatively, and a vote on the ballot by the voters of the Commonwealth. Although arduous, it is a worthy and important endeavor we hope to lead.

Let us be very clear; we do not want to elect judges, nor do we want to encroach upon the founding father's vision of an independent judiciary. We understand the need to have a separate but equal judicial branch. But there must be a healthy balance between independence and accountability.

Are we to believe in a state that boasts of the world's oldest Constitution, that in over 200 years of existence, only three judges have been worthy of criticism so great they were due for removal? Recent tragedies where clear patterns of direct and indirect judicial decision making irrevocably impacted the lives of law enforcement officials and families answer the question: no. Poor judgment as evidenced by poor outcomes, or poor behavior by a life-time appointed official, should not only call into question the opinion of said judge, but also question their very appointment.

Moreover, these efforts are not designed to impede upon the symbiosis of three independent branches of government, but to simply align democratic intentions and parity between officials duly appointed or elected in the Commonwealth. No one should be above the law, and while executive and legislative branches have continued to operate in the same continuum of rules and accountability set out in the original constitution, the judicial branch has not. It's time for that to change.

THANK YOU.

Time to put excess cash to work?

FINANCIAL FOCUS

DENNIS ANTONOPOULOS

You'll always want to base your investment decisions on your own needs and goals. But there may be times when you might consider adjusting your portfolio because of risks and opportunities. Now may be one of those times.

Here's some background: In recent months, the Federal Reserve has raised short-term interest rates several times, and given its generally favorable outlook on the economy, it has indicated it may continue bumping up interest rates gradually over the next year or so. The Fed doesn't control long-term interest rates, but these rates often follow the lead of short-term movements. However, longer-term rates haven't yet risen as much as shorter-term ones, which means the difference between short- and long-term rates is relatively small, historically speaking.

This doesn't mean you should make drastic changes to your portfolio. You still need to stick with the asset allocation that's suitable for your situation, which typically involves owning a certain percentage of growth-oriented vehicles, such as stocks, and a certain percentage of fixed-income securities, such as bonds. However, if you do have space in the fixed-income part of your portfolio, you may find the higher interest rates offered by short-term bonds and certificates of deposit (CDs) to be attractive. To take advantage of this opportunity, though, you will need to have the cash available to invest.

Some people hold too much in cash, waiting for interest rates to rise, or as protection against the risk of a market decline. But holding excess cash involves its own risk - the risk of not investing. So, if you have your cash needs covered, you may want to consider investing any excess cash.

To determine if you are holding excess cash, you'll need to review your entire cash situation. For example, do you have enough cash, or cash equivalents, to create an emergency fund of three to six months' worth of living expenses? This fund can be vital in helping you pay for things like a major car repair or an unexpected medical bill without dipping in to your long-term investments. And, of course, you need enough liquidity to provide for your lifestyle, including your regular spending needs - your mortgage, utilities, groceries and so on. Also, you may want to set aside enough cash for a goal you want to reach in the next year or so, such as a vacation.

But if you have taken care of all these needs and you still have excess cash, you may want to consider putting this cash to work, possibly by investing in short-term fixed-income vehicles now being issued at higher interest rates.

And keep in mind that regardless of where interest rates are going, bonds and other fixed-income investments can offer some key benefits to investors. In addition to providing a source of regular income, these types of investments can help reduce the effects of volatility on your portfolio. While bonds can, and will, fluctuate in value, they typically can provide more stability to your portfolio and tend to behave differently than stocks over time.

After years of historical lows, shorter-term rates now have risen to levels that are more attractive to investors. Take the time to review your situation, perhaps with the help of a financial professional, to determine if taking advantage of these rates may be appropriate for you.

Crossbow hunting fails to make it out of committee again

TRUE

By now most sportsmen are aware of the failed attempt to pass a crossbow bill in Massachusetts, allowing any licensed person to use them for hunting. Although disabled hunters are allowed to use one, it was disappointing that the bill failed to even get it out of committee. There was little hope that it would become law among most hunters in the state, as it required the legislature to back the bill. Many politicians are not hunters and care very little about hunting and fishing regulations, and have very little knowledge about wildlife conservation. Hunting with a crossbow would allow hunters to harvest deer in populated areas. Hunting deer or turkey with a bow needs to be changed from 500 ft. to 300 ft. from an occupied dwelling, and even closer with landowner's permission. Wildlife has learned to adjust to encroachment by humans, and feels safe living within 50 or 100 ft. of homes.

This past week I was involved in a conversation about Mass. Fish & Wildlife and the new appointments that are being made within the agency. Why are so many employees leaving the agency? Many are at that age for retirement and want to enjoy time with their families. That is a good thing. I was also told that many new employees are college graduates that do not fish and hunt? This is not good for the future hunting and fishing public. One of the qualifications should be that the new hires hunt or fish.

New wannabee legislators are circulating their papers for numerous positions throughout the state. It is very important that sportsmen get out to vote for the candidate that will work for you!!! Every year we lose more of our rights to own fire arms and to enjoy the great outdoors. There are less hunting and fishing activities by the younger generation today because of parents' failure to expose their children to the sports.

Are you ready for another hike in your hunting and fishing license? Do not be surprised to see it at next year's renewal of your hunting and fishing license. The average hunter or fisherman has little time to hunt or fish in today's world, and the increase will only deter new hunting or fishing residents of our state from participating.

We cannot afford to lose any more of the hunting and fishing public.

Massachusetts wildlife populations are exploding on all fronts. Turkey populations are out of control in some areas, as well as deer populations. An increase in the daily bag limit is warranted over and above the recent extra hunting days recently approved. Antlerless deer permits are being cut in some zones in Massachusetts and deer hunters are questioning the reason for the cuts. Recent winters have been kind to wildlife with deer and wild turkey thriving. Goose populations are also a continued nuisance, polluting our lakes and ponds annually. The big problem there is the private property providing sanctuaries for the geese during hunting season. No hunting in these areas has allowed the goose populations to get out of control in many areas. The recent increased daily bag limits will not help if they cannot be hunted.

Feeding any waterfowl is against the law, but it is rarely, if at all, enforced. The bottom line is that hunting is the only means of controlling our wildlife populations & keeping them healthy. Just imagine if deer hunters did not harvest more than 10,000 deer annually. Disease and starvation of the animals would be overwhelming, and car & deer collisions would rise dramatically causing death and injury to family members.

Saltwater fishing has slowed on many fronts with Block Island area giving up very few strippers last week according to a Snug Harbor report this past Saturday. Bluefish have started to provide some action for party boats and other small charters. Bluefish are also showing along the beaches and at the Point Judith lighthouse. A few mako sharks are being caught at the Mud Hole with some false albacore showing around the Point Judith lighthouse. Red Top Bait shop reported inconsistent action on strippers with no real blitz. Being there at the right time is the key to all fishing.

BOS states they are very humbled by so many of you that have already come forward to offer assistance and wanted to make sure the proper channels were in place before putting out information. If you have any questions, please feel free to call the Town Administrator's Office at: 508-949-3800 x1041. Please also keep in mind that the Compost Station will be open all week, free of charge, from 2-6 p.m. so that residents can drop off their yard debris. Those at the Webster Town Hall, and all town offices, are confident that we will join together as one community and overcome this terrible event by reaching out to support each other.

The National Weather Service called the tornado a "high-end EF1" with winds of up to 110 mph. It was one of two local tornados as an EF-0 also touched down in nearby Woodstock just before the Webster twister hit. To many residents, the storm came a surprise including Selectman Donald Bourque who was on hand with other town officials for a ribbon cutting when he received the warning of a possible tornado on his phone.

"We thought it was just a storm coming through, but it said 'tornado'. We did the ceremony, the skies started getting dark and we shut the door and started making our way downstairs," Bourque said. The selectman also suffered damage to his business on Main Street, Marchand Insurance, where a window was blown out.

trained in law enforcement, firefighting, and EMT which makes him the perfect guide for the task of teaching all participating officers the benefits and maneuvers of a drone. Officer Crag Gagner of Oxford Police Department heads this training program as the leader of the new drone projects. Gagner has been self-trained and expertly uses the drone that belongs to Oxford PD.

"It is great that all of these officers from varying communities have come to learn firsthand about drones and how they can help their communities," says Gagner.

Drones are being used to help with search and rescue missions. A number of examples and exercises were being set up for the officers to learn from. For example, a doll, about the size of a three-year-old child was dressed in clothing and set-up in the distance of the field in Greenbriar where the hands-on training was taking place. Those operating the drone would raise the machine into the air and look for the doll. There are many programs and attachments to the drone that can help with these real-life scenarios. There is also night a night vision lens that proves its importance with search and rescue in the dark.

Drone on Helipad, when you see a helipad stay away

Officers take turns practicing and asking questions. In one scenario an officer plays the role of someone stuck and in need of water. The drone picks up a bag that has a bottle of water and flies off to deliver this to the person in need. Other scenarios where this would work would be someone lost in deep water and the drone can deliver a life jacket before any responders could reach them in time. The possibilities are endless with this new technology and the officers are excited.

"We always look for ways to help our community and citizens," says Randy McCarthy of the Auburn Police Department.

"Oxford has launched the future of law enforcement search and rescue with drone accessibility," says Oxford PD Chief Anthony Saad. "With Craig Gagner leading, we are helping other communities learn what assets drone can be."

Saad was impressed with how many officers joined Gagner in the training sessions. Uleski from Dart Drones went over many tactics that the drones can follow with different applications and equipment. Officer Mike Daniels from Westborough PD took control of the drone and felt comfortable with the maneuvers. Other officers involved in the drone training were officers George Degenova from Douglas PD, Eugene Kolimaga from Gardner PD, Jeff Noel from Northborough PD, Cliff Luce, Jeff Johnson, and Rich Trainor from Westborough PD. Officers from all over Massachusetts are taking to the skies for their community's service and protection.

Duval helps Oxford rally, but Quabbin wins Auburn Summer League

Nick Ethier photos

The Oxford High summer basketball team fought hard, but came up short in the final of the Auburn Summer League to Quabbin Regional, 52-42.

BY DEAN P. ST. LAURENT
SPORTS CORRESPONDENT

AUBURN — A second half surge by Oxford High, led by their dynamic point guard Alex Duval, came up short in the end as they lost the Auburn Boys' Summer Basketball League championship game, 52-42, to Quabbin Regional on Wednesday, Aug. 1 at Auburn High.

Oxford trailed big, 33-14, going into the second half of play, but toughness and grit showed in the final 20 minutes as the Pirates cut the lead down to as little as four points.

"They are some of the toughest kids I know," explained Oxford summer league head coach Matt Davis. "When kids play for me it is not always easy, I am very demanding and these kids accepted that challenge and then some. That is why we made it to the Championship game. To make it this far it has to do with talent, but also that little extra and these kids have it. Oxford guys have that edge to them and these guys are proof of that."

"We were down 20 and we made it a six-point game with a few minutes to go," Davis added with a smile. "These kids don't give up, when you're missing three-fifths of your starting lineup in the Championship game and your team doesn't care — that's toughness."

A large part of the comeback was Duval's ability to finish at the rim and hit crucial shots when they needed him to do so. Duval scored a game-high 25 points in the contest, but scored 16 of those 25 in the second half. At one point the lefty scored seven straight points to make it a four point game (36-32) with 8:29 to go in the game.

"I can't say enough about that kid," expressed Davis. "Clearly by watching him he is a very talented kid, but that is a kid who I had on my AAU team in sixth grade. Not only did he play on my AAU team, but he was the guy, their main player. He also played up a couple age groups. He played on the 11th grade team when he was in ninth grade, so that is a kid who played against seasoned varsity guys coming into ninth grade. I think that it's clear that he has the ability to dominate."

Oxford not only has a rising star in Duval running the point, but also has the talent and coaching staff to be as successful this coming winter, if not more successful than they were last season.

"I think they can do very well. They are defending SWCL C Champions and I they can go out and do it again," Davis said confidently. "They play a lot of basketball and I think that is important. With basketball you need that court time, and you can't just be a good athlete. You have to have skills and these boys play a lot of basketball."

"They have a great head coach in Coach [Anthony] McDonald, and a great coaching staff," Davis added. "They have Keith Duval and Dave Aldridge. That's a staff right there and I think with the kids' willingness to fight they will have a successful season."

Oxford finished the summer season with a record of 9-4.

Baseball legends enshrined at Hall of Fame

COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. — Over the July 28-29 weekend, some of baseball's all-time best were enshrined in the Hall of Fame. Local photographer Dick McGrath captured the moments that saw Vladimir Guerrero, Trevor Hoffman, Chipper Jones, Jack Morris, Jim Thome and Alan Trammell get inducted into the Hall of Fame, as well as Bob Costas for announcing and Sheldon Ocker for writing.

With Auburn Summer League in limbo, Pappas, DelloStritto step up to keep it alive challenge of taking over the boys' league hoping to make it just as successful.

"I worked together with [Auburn High Athletic Director] Brian Davis and got a whole bunch of phone numbers," Pappas explained following the girls' league championship game on July 26. "Pete DelloStritto was instrumental in helping get the teams. We worked together, I couldn't have done it without him."

DelloStritto, a 24-year resident of Auburn, was appointed as the head official after gaining enough interest from local teams.

"Those that didn't have a place to play said that they were all in," explained DelloStritto before officiating playoff games on July 25. "It was a huge endeavor to pull together in such a short period of time, so we're happy to keep it going. The tradition of Auburn basketball has been going long before myself."

Bob Muir ran the Auburn Summer League for 35 years before giving way to Niedzwiecki, so DelloStritto and others didn't see the league vanishing as a viable option.

"We didn't want this to go away," he said. "We put our heads together and we dug deep."

In all, 10 teams took part at any given time this summer. They included Auburn, David Prouty, Leicester, North Brookfield, Oxford, Quaboag, Millbury, Great Brook Valley, St. Mary's and Wesley. When Quaboag was unable to produce enough players halfway through the season, Quabbin stepped in and took their place.

The finals were then set on July 30 when a pair of quarterfinal games preceded two semifinal contests. First, St. Mary's and Quabbin moved to the semifinals following victories. They then met Oxford and Great Brook Valley, respectively, who reached the semifinals the week prior during their quarterfinal round games.

In the semifinals, Oxford and Quabbin both won to advance to the league championship.

Now that the Auburn Summer League has made it through the year, DelloStritto wants it to stay for good.

"Our hope is to sustain this league and keep it growing as it is an institution in the area," he said.

DelloStritto added that the Auburn Webster Lodge of Elks, Fuller Automotive, Holiday Pizza and Weepin' Willies were four key Auburn sponsors that "banded together to help defray the cost of this league."

DelloStritto also had high praise for Pappas for jumpstarting the league with little time to spare.

"Kristen Pappas stepped up big to run the league," he said. "I was asked to assign officials with Jimmy Riley. Most proud of rallying 10 teams in a short span of time and pulling this together in basically two weeks."

He also thanked Niedzwiecki for "helping pave the way."

Pappas noted that she will run the league again if asked to do so. And if she does, she would like for the league to continue to grow.

"I would like to get 16 teams next year," she said.

AUBURN — The Auburn Boys' Summer Basketball League has been around town for over 35 years but, this summer, it appeared as if it could be coming to an end. Some teams switched to various leagues in Milford and Worcester, while Auburn High winter head coach Andy Niedzwiecki—who had been running the summer program for the past couple years—had taken the job at his alma mater at Sutton High.

The town of Webster showed interest in taking over the summer league, but not enough teams committed in time. With teams still looking for a place to play, but with time dwindling down, a couple Auburn residents took initiative.

After receiving a phone call from Auburn Superintendent Maryellen Brunelle, Kristen Pappas, Director of Recreation and Culture for the town of Auburn, was asked to run the league and keep it inside at Auburn High.

Pappas has run the girls' summer league in Auburn for the past 10 years, and it has blossomed into 15 teams competing, so she took the

Laid Back Competitive Baseball League concludes regular season, gears toward playoffs

Mathew S. Plamondon photos

On the final day of the Laid Back Competitive Baseball League regular season (Sunday, Aug. 5), the Turner's Club Nuts defeated the D.C. Whitecaps, 17-9, as both teams ready themselves for playoff competition.

STURBRIDGE — Now in its seventh season, the Laid Back Competitive Baseball League (LBCBL) has grown to a 10-team league with a full regular season slate of up to 14 games played. And on Sunday, Aug. 5, that regular season came to a close.

Below is the league's history and mission statement, found on the LBCBL website.

"Our History

The Laid Back Competitive Baseball League (LBCBL) was founded in the summer of 2012, by the current Director of Baseball Operations, Cody Mundell. Nearly 6 seasons ago Cody rounded up 5 teams to take part in our very first season. What was his vision you ask? To start his own league, where guys who are still looking to play some baseball can do so in a fun and competitive atmosphere. But most importantly everyone is welcomed!

Over the past few seasons Cody has worked diligently growing this league from the ground up. He has invested countless hours, and money into the league, to give players of all skill levels a place to play a good brand of baseball. We have since reached 10 teams spread across a number of locations in Central Massachusetts including: Sturbridge, Southbridge, Oxford, Shrewsbury, North Brookfield, Dudley & Charlton. Our players are of all skill levels: former professionals, former collegiate players (all different divisions), high school standouts, those who did not stand out in high school, and guys who have never played. Even dad can play! What's most important, is that we all just want to play.

For years we have tried our very best to provide a fun/laid back, but competitive atmosphere. It sounds like it doesn't make sense, but once you play you will understand. We strive to be as affordable and convenient as possible. We typically play all of our games on Saturdays and Sundays in the mornings, and our average player pays roughly $100 to play (can be more depending on team size and uniform purchases). These fees can be reduced by team and league sponsors given by local businesses for marketing opportunities on social media, our league website. Some team sponsors may also have their name put on uniforms. The league encourages all players to try to get sponsors for their team if at all possible.

If you don't want to hang up the spikes, or you don't want to play softball, or you just want to play. Join us! We are always looking for more players/teams!

Our Mission

Moving forward, we hope to continue expanding across the immediate area in locations such as: Spencer, Leicester, Auburn, Millbury, Sutton, Webster, Douglas, Grafton, Northbridge, Uxbridge & Worcester. The deadline for putting a team in for the 2018 season has passed, however we are always taking deposits for our next season. If you are interested in joining the league, please do not hesitate to reach out. Don't forget to ask about getting on our sub list!

Fairly soon, we will be filing to become a 501-c3 non-profit. It will be our mission to work with local communities to help fix up the fields that we are using. A portion of our proceeds will be used to help make the baseball experience the absolute best for our players, while the other portion will be used to help maintain, fix, & restore the baseball fields in the communities we play in. In doing so we hope to build lasting relationships with local little leagues and municipalities for years to come!"

Eight teams have reached the playoffs, and those games start on Saturday, Aug. 11. To check out a game, please see the locations below.

Shrewsbury at Oxford Bomb Squad, 11 a.m. (Horgan Field at Greenbriar Park)

D.C. Whitecaps at The Alliance, 11 a.m. (North Brookfield High School)

Sturbridge Kangaroos at Turner's Club Nuts, 11 a.m. (Turner's Club Field)

Southbridge Spectacles at Lomuscio Trucking, 2 p.m. (Shepherd Hill Regional High School)

LUCY STONE

born in 1818 on Coy's Hill in West Brookfield, and grew up on the family farm there. Farms in New England were at that time largely self-sufficient, and all members of the family were expected to contribute their share in running them. If any family member worked outside the home, that member was expected to turn over his or her earnings to support the farm. At age 16, Lucy went to work as a school teacher in nearby New Braintree, an occupation she continued for the next several years.

Her teaching success undoubtedly contributed to the self-assurance which marked her later career. With that self-assurance came an increasingly independent attitude; she resented being compelled to turn over all her earnings. In fact, she had observed since childhood that her mother, being allowed no money of her own, had secretively begun to save pennies, six and one-half cents per week; occasionally bolstering that sum by selling some of her cheeses to neighbors.

In 1838, an incident occurred which affected the twenty-year-old's later career. She had become a member of the West Brookfield Congregational Church; shortly afterward, she attended a lecture there by abolitionist speaker Abby Kelley. But Kelley had been invited to speak without first having received permission by the Church authorities. When Lucy attended the trial of the deacon who had given the unauthorized invitation, she was chagrined to learn that her vote did not count because she was a woman.

Lucy determined, despite her father's disapproval, thus no financial support, to go to college; she worked for eight years to save the required funds. Her father, finally, agreed to loan her $10, for which she signed a note. In 1843, she was admitted to Oberlin College in Ohio (at that time the only college in the United States open to women). It was there that she met Antoinette Brown (later to become the first female Protestant minister), and became active in the women's rights movement. The group held their meetings in a clearing in the forest.

Upon graduation in 1847, she gave her first speech on women's rights at the Gardner Congregational Church where her brother Bowman was minister. Shortly afterward, she was hired as a paid lecturer by the New England Anti-Slavery Society.

In 1851 Lucy Stone was expelled from membership in the West Brookfield Congregational Church for having "engaged in a course of life evidently inconsistent with her covenant engagement to this Church". This need not surprise us. The Congregational Church was at that time still a decidedly patriarchal institution, tracing its spiritual roots to biblically-based Puritanism. The Bible (King James version) was the product of a highly patriarchal Hebrew society, stretching 2,000 years from Abraham to Jesus, and was still the foundation of Congregational faith. By 1851 the Congregational Church, after a bitter division, had made peace with the abolition issue, formally condemning slavery. But it was not yet prepared to accept the challenge to the patriarchal system that Lucy Stone's public speaking presented.

In 1855 Lucy Stone married Henry Brown Blackwell at the Coy's Hill farm, by mutual agreement keeping her own last name. Henry was the brother of Samuel C. Blackwell, who in 1856 married Lucy's friend Rev. Antoinette Brown, and was, like them, an ardent supporter of both the abolition and women's rights causes. A sister, Elizabeth Blackwell, became the first woman in the country to obtain a medical degree. Marriage, they believed, should be an equal partnership of man and woman, based on mutual respect and affection.

With the passage of the 13th Amendment (abolition of slavery), 14th Amendment (equal rights to emancipated slaves) and 15th Amendment (voting rights to emancipated slaves), Lucy Stone turned her attention increasingly to the issue of women's rights. She and an increasing number of like-minded people saw a similarity between the slavery system (now abolished) and the patriarchal system, which they felt continued to oppress women. In each system, a whole class of human beings was treated with a condescending and patronizing attitude, deprived of freedom and the right to make important decisions, denied the right to vote, deprived of the fruits of their own labor, and in general kept in a state of dependency. How could this be consistent with the national ideal that "all men (presumably including women) are created equal" and "endowed by their creator with the inalienable rights of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness"?

After marriage, Lucy Stone moved with her husband to Dorchester, where she lived for the rest of her life. The 15th Amendment had granted suffrage to emancipated slaves; clearly, women would never have equal rights unless they had the right to vote. She devoted the rest of her life to women's suffrage, becoming one of the most important voices in that cause. She founded the American Woman Suffrage Association, and with her husband's assistance and support, published the "Woman's Journal", which became a respected platform for the woman's cause, known for its fairness and willingness to print divergent views.

By the late 19th century, enormous changes had taken place in the United States. Many of the young people of Lucy Stone's generation had left the farm to pursue better opportunities in the city or in the west. The financial system had developed enormously, and huge business conglomerates now controlled much of the economy. Lucy Stone died in 1893; but the suffragists' mantle was taken up by others, including Henry ad their daughter, Alice Stone Blackwell. With the passage of the 19th Amendment in 1920, woman's suffrage was finally accomplished.
