Dudley prepping for COVID vaccine rollout

BY JASON BLEAU
CORRESPONDENT

DUDLEY – Like many communities, Dudley has seen a significant increase in COVID cases over the last few months, specifically since Thanksgiving. In the weeks leading up to the holiday Dudley recorded only around 27 cases, but in the week prior to Thanksgiving, the numbers in 46 cases and continued to grow from there.

While Dudley saw a dip in cases on Thanksgiving week and the first week of December to 21 and 27 cases, respectively, recorded new cases have not dropped below 39 as of the week of Jan. 21 with several weeks topping 40 and as least two weeks exceeding 60 new cases.

This increase didn't come as a surprise to Town Administrator Jonathan Ruda who said the entire state expected the holidays to bring an increase in COVID numbers. In fact, the increases were in line with the local trend where numerous communities, including neighboring Charlton, also faced highs for recorded new cases of COVID-19.

"Even with the small holiday gatherings order, and the majority of residents adhering to the order, short of local public health orders 'canceling' the holidays or closing businesses and banning religious gatherings, which in my opinion was never an option, increased exposure due to increased traffic from holiday shopping, mailing gifts, etc. was inevitable," Ruda said confirming that in early January active cases of COVID-19 in town reached 145. "Our local numbers are not as bad as some, and better than many, and on a micro-scale, Dudley is an example of why the governor decided to extend the 25 percent capacity ban for an additional week. That said, and thankfully, over the course of the week following New Year's, Dudley's cases once again began to show a decline, and with the new year I think comes a new optimism. The local increase over the holidays provides an actual, local, real example of why it remains critical to follow the guidance and not let down our guard on the eve of benefitting from the widespread testing and vaccinations that will be available."

The promise of vaccines has caused Ruda to activate Dudley's emergency management team to assist the Dudley Board of Health with the impending distribution. While there are still a lot of unknown, Dudley is working to be prepared when new vaccines are available to that citizens can be given access as the year rolls on.

"The first phase of vaccines for first responders and healthcare providers began on Jan. 11, but thanks to some good work done by the fire chief, Dudley's fire, police and EMS have for the most part already received the first of two vaccines and received it ahead of the Commonwealth's schedule. This forward-leaning approach hardens our public safety services and further protects them from the virus to the benefit of Dudley residents. According to the Commonwealth's plan, in phase two, our high-risk seniors age 75 and over, with two or more comorbidities will be vaccinated, along with early childhood educators, K-12, public health, grocery, public works, food, sanitation and agriculture workers and in phase three, the general public will receive the vaccine," Ruda said. "The Commonwealth's plan is to provide for the delivery of vaccinations to the general public by April of this year. In Dudley, our plan is to be ready to provide vaccines, according to the priority set by the Commonwealth, as soon as they are available, and to provide them in a manner that will work for all demographics and physical abilities."

Dudley Fire Chief and Emergency Management Director Dean Kochanowski confirmed he had his COVID-19 vaccine and that his department is working closely with the Board of Health and awaiting news and guidelines from the state to prepare for the next rollout. While the chief said this is like nothing he has ever seen before as a first responder he is confident Dudley will be ready when the vaccines arrive.

"The Board of Health is the lead on this, but emergency management is put into play from an operations standpoint. That's how Dudley has it set up. The Board of Health is working with the state to get the vaccines and we're trying to provide the places where we can distribute it and give the shots. We're working really closely together on this," Kochanowski said. "This is going to be widespread over months, and we're really looking for guidance from the state and federal government because we really can't do anything until they give us the direction to move in and we get the vaccine and the supplies to distribute it. It's probably the big-

A finely detailed life-sized bronze firefighter memorial statue of a kneeling firefighter is the Town of Dudley's stunning tribute to its firefighters. It was installed last summer in front of the fire station at 128 West Main St., and was fabricated from photos in the lost wax method by Richard Devuono of the Bronze-Depot.com under the watchful eye of Chief Dean Kochanowski. ## Oxford selectmen frustrated by Sacarrappa Road delays

BY GUS STEEVES
CORRESPONDENT

OXFORD – Selectmen expressed frustration at the ongoing delays in the Sacarrappa Road project after new DPW Director Jared Duval noted he's still awaiting permits from the Department of Environmental Protection and Army Corps of Engineers. Project design, he said,

"has been complete for some time," and Town Manager Jen Callahan said she intends to put it out to bid soon anyway, aiming to have work begin in July.

Selectman Cheryl Leblanc noted a March 2020 DPW memo had an identical timeline, and she decried the fact "these are the exact same things we heard a year ago," and 18 months ago. She noted it wasn't Duval's fault, saying "shame on the state" for not acting more efficiently.

"I'm so disappointed that this project is not nearly as far along as we were told in the past," she said. "... I think we're just about at the end of our rope ... I fear we'll have to go back to the townspeople for more money, and they aren't going to like that."

Oxford set aside about $800,000 for the work a few years ago, before Callahan became manager. She essentially agreed with Leblanc, noting she's concerned "what the price tag will be." Putting it out to bid will make that clearer, and give her figures to put

Superintendent Steven Lamarche congratulated Shepherd Hill Regional High School seniors Henry Weiland and Serena Veilleux for receiving the Massachusetts Association of School Superintendents Certificate of Academic Excellence Awards. The

Speaking about Henry Weiland first, Superintendent Lamarche said Weiland is an accomplished cross country and track star

For local tax expert, it's about more than numbers

BY KEVIN FLANDERS
STAFF WRITER

LEICESTER – Few people are fluent in tax language; fewer still enjoy the process of making tax-related preparations. But for one local business owner, her mastery of the field has allowed her to help residents navigate an often slippery slope.

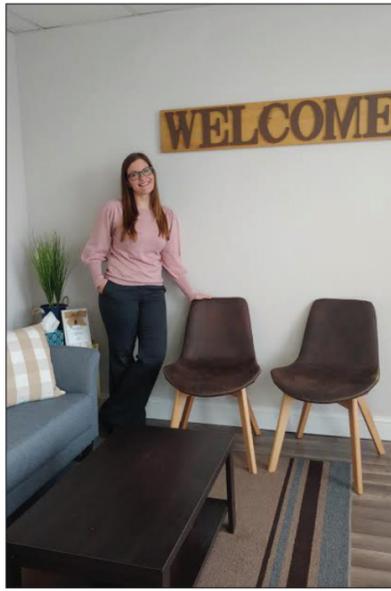

Danielle Perron belongs to a unique cadre of local experts who look forward to the dreaded tax season. Her business, Everyday Business & Tax Solutions, is located in Leicester's Northeast Pizza plaza (1205 Main St.). She has been in operation for more than two years, and she is always eager to assist residents seeking guidance.

"I love tax language, but I surely know that's not the case for everyone," Perron said. "One of my favorite parts of being a tax professional is the opportunity to help taxpayers understand their taxes and what factors into their refund or tax due. [I enjoy] helping them plan for any changes ahead and making them feel confident in knowing how their changes will affect their bottom line."

The business specializes in personal and business tax preparation, payroll services, and bookkeeping. Having served as a tax preparer for ten years, Perron has gained experience across multiple categories that adds to her versatile skill set.

But unlike many specialists in her field, it's not all about the numbers for Perron.

"I value the time and attention spent with clients just as much as the work itself. I wanted to create a space where taxpayers of all levels and complexities would feel comfortable opening up about their individual situations," Perron said. "A lot can change from one year to the next, and having a tax preparer who takes the time to listen can make all the difference in making sure you are getting everything you are

Having earned the designation of Enrolled Agent, Perron is able to practice before the IRS, represent taxpayers facing audits, and prepare returns of all types. # Search underway for new superintendent in Oxford

OXFORD — Oxford Public Schools has begun its search process for a new Superintendent of Schools. The School Committee has contracted with the New England School Development Council (NESDEC) to assist the District throughout the entire search/hiring process. Within the new few weeks, the School Committee intends to appoint a Superintendent Screening Committee to assist in the search process. While the School Committee has the sole authority to appoint the Superintendent, it wishes to have the benefit of input from a Screening Committee made up of various members of the community and schools. The Screening Committee will review applications, interview candidates, and recommend several candidates to the School Committee for further consideration.

The Oxford School Committee seeks community members to serve on the Screening Committee. Interested individuals should be available to attend several evening meetings, including all the candidate interview sessions, and should understand that much of the business of the Screening Committee will require a high degree of confidentiality. Interested parties must be available the following evenings: Thursday, March 4; Tuesday, March 9; and dates to be determined between March 11 - March 22. The search consultant will facilitate a training workshop at the first meeting and will assist in reviewing applications and in the selection of candidates. The interview schedule and questions will be developed.

In subsequent meetings, it is anticipated that the Screening Committee will interview a total of approximately eight to 10 candidates who best meet the profile that has been established for the Superintendent position. At the conclusion of the interviews, the Screening Committee will recommend three to five candidates for further consideration by the Oxford School Committee.

Selecting a new Superintendent of Schools in an important activity for the entire community, and it requires an extraordinary commitment of time and energy. The School Committee would greatly appreciate community participation in the process. Individuals interested in submitting their names for consideration should email the Executive Assistant at hcoffin@oxps.org by Monday, Feb. 1. The email should include your full name, telephone number, and confirmation that you are available during the aforementioned dates. The names of all interested individuals will then be passed along to the School Committee for consideration, with appointments to be made on Feb. 8.

The pandemic of pessimism vs. the opportunities of optimism

"The sky is falling! The end is near!" In a variety of words, we are hearing these dire warnings issued by the talking heads on television and on talk radio, daily. The fear then permeates into the minds and hearts of listeners who then spread to their friends, family, and coworkers. Yes, fear and pessimism can travel just like a virus. Washing your hands and wearing masks won't help. Social distancing will, but it requires far more than staying six feet away. Avoid the carriers of pessimism like the plague.

Pessimism is a tendency to see the worst aspect of things or believe that the worst will happen. Sound familiar? How many people do you know live this way? A pessimistic outlook causes lack of hope or confidence in the future. It's a terrible feeling to live without hope. Even worse, pessimism is a self-fulfilling prophecy. If you live your life believing the worst is coming, your mind and body conspire together to make it so. What you look for, you usually find.

We speak often about optimism and the opportunities for a successful and happy life. But like the typical optimist, I usually avoid pessimism like a nasty virus.

The typical pessimist doesn't realize he or she is a pessimist. They say things like, "I call them the way I see them," or, "I'm a realist." When you believe the worst is coming, what do you think you look for? And when you look at life through pessimistic eyes, everything looks negative. When you see the worst in situations and people, you respond in kind, while creating a negative and unhappy life.

I spent a lot of years in leadership positions and as a CEO. In searching for future leaders, experience and education was always important but took a back seat to attitude and outlook. I always sought out the optimists. I wanted people who saw a successful and bright future at the helm. If they were optimistic about success, they were far more likely to succeed. No, optimism alone will not always win, but an optimistic person with the right experience and training will.

I've mentioned this before, but it's appropriate to mention again. On February 15, 2020, an oncologist told me that I had nine months to a year at the most to live. I was stunned, and asked, "so what's the plan?"

He shrugged and said, "We'll make you as comfortable as we can until the end."

"What are my other options?" I asked.

He looked confused, so

I rephrased the question. "What is our plan to beat this cancer?"

He said firmly, "You have stage four gastric cancer. It's inoperable and unbeatable. You need to get your life in order and enjoy what time you have left."

That type of pessimistic outlook just doesn't compute in my optimistic brain, so I decided to find a doctor more in line with my philosophy. I began my search for an optimistic physician who would fight with me and find a way to extend my life or beat this cancer all-together. I found Dr. Kasi at the University of Iowa, Holden Comprehensive Cancer Center and he said, "We'll explore every option and fight this cancer. There's a new treatment that's a combination of an immunotherapy called Keytruda and chemo that's creating promising results. I like our chances."

I thoroughly checked out his education and background and realized I had found the best physician for the job and he was an optimist. I'm past the nine-month death prediction and I'll fly by the year. I promise you I'll be writing this column for years to come.

If you think optimism isn't important, think about this. If I were a pessimist, I would have accepted my first doctor's death proclamation and gone home to die. But the eternal optimist inside me screamed, "No way!" I searched and found a way, and today, I'm still living my life fully and making plans for the five-year anniversary party of my death proclamation and I fully expect to attend ... and you are invited!

No. Being an optimist will not cure cancer but being an optimist will push you to not give up. Your optimism will search for a positive outcome. Being optimistic doesn't always mean you'll find a solution, but it will give you a dramatically better chance than pessimism.

I'm roughly four weeks away from my projected "death day" and I believe I'm healthier now than I was a year ago. And that's not just optimism. My blood tests and scans agree.

So, what about you? There is a cure for the "Pandemic of Pessimism" and it's the choice to become an optimist. What is your picture of a happy and successful future? Believe the best is yet to come and go to work to make it so.

I'm optimistic that 2021 will be my best year ever. What about you?

Will you join me?

Managing a difficult insect pest on houseplants

A sticky substance on plant leaves, plant stands, and the floor are often the first clue alerting gardeners to a problem. If a closer look reveals bumps on the upper and lower surface of leaves and stems, it means scale insects have moved in to dine on your houseplants. Severe infestations can cause leaf yellowing, stunting and dieback of the plant.

If you have battled these insects, you know they can be challenging to control. Arm yourself with an understanding of their lifecycle and be persistent to successfully manage these pests.

Scale insects have needle-like mouthparts that allow them to pierce the leaf and stem surfaces. They suck plant sap through a tube-like structure just as if they were drinking from a straw. These are one of several insects that secrete drops of a clear, sticky substance, called honeydew, as they feed. A black fungus known as sooty mold may grow on the honeydew. It does not directly harm the plant, but it looks bad. In severe cases, sooty mold can prevent sunlight from reaching the leaves, causing them to yellow. Adult scale insects form coverings that protect them from adverse environmental conditions and most chemical controls. Eggs hatch under this protective covering and the immature scale, called crawlers, emerge looking for a place to feed. Once settled, the crawler continues to grow, shedding layers of skin. These layers of shed skin, or waxy layers, form their protective covering.

Isolate infected plants as soon as you discover the problem. This will reduce the risk of this pest spreading to your other plants.

You can remove the adult scales with a toothpick, tweezers, or an old toothbrush. Repeat every few weeks until you have this pest under control. This may be sufficient to control small populations, but if you miss even one adult the problem persists.

The crawler stage is the most susceptible to chemical control. You will need a hand lens or magnifying glass to see these short-lived crawlers. Insecticides and washing small plants with a plantsafe soapy water solution can help manage small populations. Cover the pot and soil to prevent any scale knocked off during the bath from crawling back onto the plant.

Increase your chance of success with the help of an organic insecticide like Summit Year-Round Spray Oil (SummitResponsibleSolutions.com). This lightweight oil suffocates and controls all stages of the scale insect, including the adult and eggs housed under the protective covering. Repeat applications are needed to get this insect under control.

This product is safe for people and pets while harmful to this and other houseplant pests. As always read and follow label directions for the most effective results.

Clean the pot, saucers, plant stands and the area around infected plants to remove any honeydew and unseen crawlers. This along with proper control will reduce the risk of these insects infesting treated and nearby plants.

Continue to monitor all your plants for scale and other insects each time you water. It is much easier to manage small populations than larger infestations on more plants.

into the budget or capital plan, but they might have to adjust the actual cost later with change orders to fulfill whatever DEP or the Corps require.

Chair Dennis Lamarche said, if necessary, Oxford could “derail another project in town to make sure this gets done” by using Chapter 90 funds to make up any difference.

In other business, the board put off deciding on whether to give the police chief formal authority to handle an officer Roy Aquafresca’s request to transfer to Millbury. Leblanc and Meghan Troiano requested an executive session to discuss the issue, but Lamarche refused to schedule one.

While everyone seemed to agree they feel Chief Tony Saad can handle the issue – which they couldn’t speak in much detail about – Leblanc and Troiano both noted they’d just received the background information that day. Although they said they had read it, they wanted more information, with Leblanc noting it is unusual for an officer to reach out directly to the selectmen in such a case. Both argued their decision “has implications” because Oxford still uses civil service and Leblanc said she didn’t think it was “as black-and-white as it’s being portrayed to be.”

Noting “we appoint but we do not oversee,” Lamarche said he felt this was “interfering” and did not recall the board getting involved in similar transfers before. He said he didn’t have any more information, but they could speak with the chief and Aquafresca. Troiano already had spoken to the chief.

Selectmen also approved changes to the Harwood Scholarship Fund that will open eligibility to any Oxford student, whether they attend public or private high school. Recipients need to be seniors already accepted to a college who meet financial and grade-point limits and are going into an allied health field, but Troiano said the changed rules will allow the board to choose someone who meets four of the five criteria if no applicant meets all five. It still has a $1,200 maximum dependent on how much is in the account any given year; this year, the award will be $1,000.

gest undertaking we’ve had to do since I became chief in Dudley.”

Dudley Health Agent Jamie Terry says the town has also partnered with Harrington Hospital during the initial rollout of the vaccine. She confirmed what many have already stated, that the rollout with be a phased approach and Dudley specifically will be utilizing a vaccine registration form to help organize and prioritize who will get the vaccine and when.

“This list will be used to assure that every resident who is interested in receiving vaccine will be given the opportunity to get one as soon as they are eligible. The Town of Dudley is reliant on the release and delivery of the vaccine from the Commonwealth to proceed with distribution. As the vaccination is released to the Town, those signed-up to receive it will be notified,” said Terry, who went on to compliment the town of Dudley for being proactive and diligent in its responses to the changing climate surrounding the pandemic.

“This has certainly been an incredibly long and demanding emergency response and has been felt by every single citizen and staff member in Town,” Terry added. “I am excited to be at the stage of working as part of the team to bring the vaccinations home to Dudley.”

Details about the COVID vaccine can be found by visiting mass.gov/covid-19-vaccine.

served as co-president of A Better Hill, a new equity group at Shepherd Hill. Weiland is also class treasurer and has been nominated for the Air Force Academy.

“Henry represents our district and Shepherd Hill with distinction. As a student Henry has put forth a palpable, prodigious effort to experience and learn from all that we have to offer our students academically and through other available activities within Shepherd Hill,” Superintendent Lamarche said. “In turn, through his dedication and commitment to his experiences, family and community he quietly and unassumingly leads with confidence and mature convictions. Henry never backs down from an academic challenge. He gives every academic study his all to deepen his knowledge and aptitude.”

The superintendent then recognized Class of 2021 senior Serena Veilleux, an academic powerhouse at Shepherd Hill that Lamarche called an accomplished musician and mathematician who has led numerous clubs in addition to tutoring her fellow students and serving as class president for two years. She has been a member of the National Honor Society, Envirothon, student council and the mathematics team and maintains the highest GPA in her class.

“Serena is an established Shepherd Hill High School student who has consistently and continuously exhibited her potential to be everything she wants to be,” Superintendent Lamarche said. “Serena sets goals for herself and has taken the opportunity to reach new heights and try new things during her high school experience as she prepares for graduation and what is next. Serena is an academic force who is self-aware. She recognized her interest in high level mathematics at an early age and sought out greater knowledge from her family of engineers. Along with her exceptional aptitude Serena identifies the importance of one’s emotional health and wellbeing. Serena maintains the highest GPA in the class of 2021 and received a perfect score on the mathematics SAT. While Serena’s academic interests are heavily weighed to the studies of mathematics and sciences, she’s leaves nothing on the table in all areas of learning.”

The final award presented of the evening was the Principals Awards chosen by Shepherd Hill Principal William Chaplin. The Class of 2021 honoree was Michaela M. Cluett, a School Committee Student Representative and Shepherd Hill athlete. Cluett has served in leadership roles on student council, National Honor Society, and as a member of the softball team. She has also served as captain of the school’s women’s soccer team where she played keeper. Finally, she has served as secretary for the class of 2021. Principal Chaplin called the decision to honor Cluett one of the easiest of his five years with Shepherd Hill Regional High School.

“If you look up student leadership in the encyclopedia there’s a picture of Michaela Cluett there,” Chaplin said also recognizing Cluett as a go-to student for him professionally as she has served as a principal’s advisor for four years. “She’s a person who is strong academically, but her leadership qualities and her task management are going to provide her unlimited possibility throughout her life.”

While the students were all honored through an online meeting all are expected to be honored in person before graduation in June.

Cross Country Championships. The students qualified by running sub-10 minutes miles.

The top four St. Joseph School female runners are: (4) Hannah Watson – Grade 7, (3) Leah Boudreau – Grade 6, (2) Samantha Keller – Grade 8, and (1) Molly Hachigian – Grade 5. The top five St. Joseph School male runners are: (5) Adam Podgorny – Grade 7, (4) Jack Keller – Grade 5, (3) Ryan Gruppiso –

Grade 5, (2) Dale Boudreau – Grade 8, and (1) Dominik Gielarowicz – Grade 8.

Also competing for St. Joseph School were eighth grade students Krystian Kowalczyk and Justin Dooner. Congratulations to eighth grade students Dale Boudreau and Dominik Gielarowicz for finishing Top 10 overall for the two-mile-long course competition. The students completed their run for the New England Virtual Middle School Cross Country Championships at the Blackstone River Greenway Trail in Uxbridge. The team is coached by

St. Joseph School Math and Science Instructor Jeffrey Gruppiso. The cross-country team began its season when students returned for in-person learning this past September. Typically, the fall sport at SJS is soccer. However, due to the pandemic, the school had to cancel the soccer season. The cross-country team was a great success, with over 30 students participating in the program! They continue to train throughout the winter and look forward to running again in the spring.

How valuable is your antique painting?

We often find antique paintings in the New England estates that we handle. Prices vary greatly, as some paintings are worth little while others can be quite valuable. This column will offer tips to determine if that painting on your wall will help you with your retirement fund.

The first thing you should do is check to see if what you have is an actual painting. Prints can often look like paintings to the naked eye. If you check your piece with a magnifying glass, you may find dots, the © copyright mark and other indications that it is just a print. You may also see a number such as 246/500 signed in pencil along with the artist name. These markings are seen on limited edition prints or AP (artist proof) prints. They have some value, but typically are not as valuable as an original painting. There are exceptions though. Nearly 20 years ago, we sold a group of prints that were signed by Andy Warhol. They brought around $500 then and may be worth even more if they were auctioned today.

If you are certain you have a painting, there are other things you can check for or you can ask someone more knowledgeable to help you check it. Look at the painting detail. Do the details, such as hands in a portrait or items in the background of a scene, look like they are painted well? Try to estimate the age by examining the frame. If it is in an antique gold leaf frame, the painting could very well have been done in the 19th century. Also examine what material it was painted on. If the painting is on canvas, turn it around and check to see if the canvas has the discoloration that you would expect with an older painting. Paintings on canvas are typically more valuable than those painted on board. Oil paintings typically bring more than watercolors or pastels.

The subject matter also makes a difference in value. An artist may be well known for their seascapes, but they could have also painted portraits or landscapes. The paintings that they specialized in are typically more valuable. Painting size is also important. Some painting appraisals are based on the price per square inch. Condition is another important factor. Holes, tears and repairs will detract from value. The provenance (definition according to Merriam Webster: “the history of ownership of a valued object or work of art or literature”) is important with paintings, as with other antiques. We sold an abstract painting by a French artist at one of our auctions. The winning bidder asked for the family name from the estate who consigned it so that he could track the provenance of the painting and prove it was original.

Lastly, look for the name of the artist and see if it is dated. When you have the artist name you can look it up in Davenport’s Art Reference and Price Guide or an online database. Paintings that we found in local estates have brought five figures at auction. There are plenty more in this area that could bring six or seven figures. If you have a valuable painting, you can sell it and always replace the space on the wall with a reasonably priced limited-edition print.

Our current online auction features paintings by well-known equestrian artist Fay Moore from her estate. Bidding ends Feb. 17. We will soon be running our next auction of antique, vintage and more recent toy vehicles and trains. We continue to accept quality consignments of gold jewelry, sterling silver, paintings, coins, and better collectibles such as 1960s and earlier comic books and baseball cards for that sale. Keep watching www.centralmassauctions.com for more details on upcoming events.

Facts are stubborn things

John Adams was right when he said "Facts are stubborn things." It's pretty funny, albeit disturbing, to sit and listen to what some individuals believe to be true, not based on facts, rather hearsay. We've become a society where facts just don't seem to hold much weight anymore.

The sky is blue, grass is green, milk is good for your bones, helmets prevent head injuries in accidents, a cow has two eyes, and George Washington was our first President. All of these things we know to be true because we've either seen it with our own eyes, or trust the documents of history. Our grandparents tell us stories of days gone by about other family members and the way things were, and we sit and listen intently and enthusiastically, and while we take in this information, we know it to be true.

We can dig through old newspaper archives, old and current court documents, valid witness testimony, police reports, judges' orders, and we accept this information as fact. This isn't to say that certain things ought not to be questioned; however, when facts upon facts upon facts are staring you dead in the eye and you still believe them not to be true, well, that's simply dumbfounding.

We know that surgeons wear masks to prevent infection. We know that vitamin C boosts our immune systems. We know what elements make up oxygen and water. We know that Ibuprofen is an anti-inflammatory. We know that too much alcohol can hurt our livers, we know that plants need sunlight and water to grow. We know all of this to be factual, because of science.

So now, when scientists express how important mask wearing is during a pandemic to prevent the spread of a deadly virus (a practice done even in 1919), we have some individuals who just brush it off. It would be humorous if it wasn't so disturbing. The fact is, based on science, that proper masks prevent the spread of airborne viruses, just like sunblock can prevent a sunburn. Why is one scientifically proven technique widely accepted and the other not? Well, a sunburn has never been politicized. Science has been saving lives and keeping our parents, friends and family members alive for longer, since the dawn of time.

Enter the ever interesting topic of conspiracy theories. A conspiracy theory is an explanation for an event or situation that invokes conspiracy by sinister and powerful groups, often in political motivation when other explanations are based on actual, proven facts.

Such theories have been around forever. They are nothing more than fairytales. Recently, psychologists have begun to unravel why certain individuals are more likely to believe in conspiracy theories and what attributes about them, make them so gullible.

Experts have surmised that characteristics of those people who are likely to believe in conspiracy theories include distrust of others, low agreeability and Machiavellianism (when a person is so focused on their own interests, they will manipulate, deceive, and exploit others to achieve their goals.)

Low agreeability is typically defined as someone who is not very kind, nor dependable or cooperative with others. People more susceptible to conspiracy theories are more likely to have lower levels of analytic thinking.

When a person who believes in nonsense, is presented with demonstrable, thorough, proven, hard facts, they are often responded to with even further out there thinking, and it is noticeable that there is very little critical thinking.

Further it has been discovered that conspiracy theories make a person feel special. Some individuals who need to feel unique but can't any other way, may fall prey. Conspiracy theories rely on 'secret information' which can give those believers a false sense of belonging.

It has been discovered that those individuals also are narcissists with a grandiose idea of the self and a touch of paranoia. Further, those who fall prey are likely more alienated, powerless and socially isolated.

Remember, conspiracy theories are brought about by people, not actual facts. Take note that you cannot argue with those who believe in conspiracy because those beliefs are not rational.

The simple answer here is to not ignore the facts — wear your sunscreen, wear your mask, drink water, eat your vegetables, have some fun, laugh and be kind to one another.

Don't accept the grace of God in vain

Saint Paul warns the first Christians in Corinth to be careful that you "Don't accept the grace of God in vain."

BEYOND THE PEWS

By FR. LUKE A. VERONIS
SAINTS
WEBSTER

What does that mean? How can one accept the grace of God in vain? Is this warning for a person who says they believe in God and yet doesn't live in communion with Him? Is this a warning for those who go to Church each week and then walk out of church into the world unchanged, acting like everyone else? Does this mean calling ourselves Christians and yet not trying to live our lives according to the ways of our faith, by loving God and loving our neighbor, including even our enemies?

"Don't accept the grace of God in vain." It's a harsh warning, challenging us to look at ourselves and warning us not to waste the gifts that God gives us.

Jesus shares a relevant story to these words in the Parable of the Talents. A master had three servants to whom he gave different gifts according to their ability. To one he gave five talents, or large sums of money. To another he gives two talents. To a third he gives one. Each according to their ability. When the first returns after having doubled his gift, he is praised as a good and faithful servant. The second one receives the same praise even though he increased his original gift by two, specifically because he also doubled what was given to him. We could say that these two servants received "the grace of God" to a certain degree in their lives, and then increased their gift from God. They put forth effort and commitment, combining their faith with God's grace and mercy to do something positive with what they were given.

This goes in line with the teaching that "to every person who has something, even more will be given, but the person who has nothing, even the little that he has will be taken away from him" (Mt 25:29). The scholar William Barclay says, "If a person has a talent and exercises it, he or she is progressively able to do more with it. But, if one has a talent and fails to exercise it, they will inevitably lose it."

This is what we see with the third servant. He received one talent and does nothing with it. Instead, he chooses to complain about the Master and his gift. He found excuses to justify his own laziness, even accusing the master of things untrue. He was not a self-reflective person, who tried to look honestly at himself. He wasn't sincere in his self-evaluation. Instead, he took from the master, and lived a self-centered life. He accepted the grace of God in vain. And when the day of accounting came, he simply made excuses.

This story should lead each of us to look at our own lives. We all have been given different and unique gifts from God throughout our lives. Spiritual gifts. Material gifts. Emotional gifts. Think about the gifts and talents each of us have received in our lives. What have we done with them? How have we increased them for the glory of God?

In my own life, I often think of the special blessings God has given me. Next week I will celebrate my 56th birthday. Birthdays are always a time when I reflect on my life and think about the countless ways God has enriched my life. Of course, some of the greatest blessings have been in the many rich and deep relationships I've experienced. One day before my birthday my parents celebrate their 62nd anniversary. The example of my parents loving each other for so long and living a full life of service to God and in dedication to the world around them has always inspired me. My loving relationship with my parents gave me a rock-solid foundation upon which I started my life, and which has strengthened me throughout my life.

Then, over the past two weeks, I celebrated the birthday of two of my four children, which makes me think of how blessed I have been with my wife and children. Over this same time period, I've also celebrated the birthdays of my brother and my mother-in-law, which reminds me of my extended family. I can't overstate the gift and blessing of a Christ-centered, solid family that has given me a strong foundation and support throughout my life. Yet as I reflect on the love of my parents and that of my beloved wife and children and on to my extended family, I then realize I have a much greater family unit which extends far beyond, to the universal church family I have — the Body of Christ that begins here in Webster and expands into the global church in Albania, in Mexico, in Africa, and throughout the world. I can only say God has richly given me so much through the vast relationships of my life in the Church, as well as with all my friends in the world. This is what makes life so meaningful and rich!

As I reflect on these cherished relationships, I ask myself what have I done with this "gift" God has graced me with? Well, throughout my life I've seen and come to understand that the purpose in life is to cultivate and spread such loving relationships with others. The key to a meaningful, joyful, blessed life comes in loving relationships because such relationships give us a small taste of the ultimate, eternal relationship we can have with God. They give us a taste of the kingdom of God. So, I've tried to share this gift and spread this gift with others. The grace-filled gift of healthy relationships — of loving, cherishing, valuing, and respecting others — I've tried to develop here in our church and with all the people I meet in life.

We don't receive gifts to keep them to ourselves. God doesn't give us His grace to simply bless us. God blesses us so that we can bless others. God gives to us so that we can share with others. God fills us with His love so that we can love others. God forgives us so that we can forgive others. By giving away God's gifts and talents, they only abound more.

Don't accept the grace of God in vain. We can avoid this great temptation by learning to share His grace, share His blessings, share the talents He gives us with others, and thus watch them increase in our lives.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Oxford's electric supplier

To the Editor:

A few years ago, Oxford contracted with Nextera to be the residential and commercial electricity supplier. If you had National Grid as your supplier, you were automatically switched to Nextera unless you filled out a form given by the Town to opt-out. If you were already with a different supplier, you would not be included in the program.

In November, I contacted my then supplier, Think Energy, to notify them that I was cancelling and signing with Constellation. I thought that everything was taken care of; was I wrong. My December bill showed National Grid as my supplier. Evidently, my contract with Think Energy closed in November, and National Grid took over before Constellation.

In December, I also received an e-mail from Constellation saying that my contract with them was cancelled. I called them to find out who cancelled it, and was told it was my utility company. I then contacted National Grid who said they did not cancel and their information showed Constellation was going to be my supplier in January.

Taking it one step further, I contacted the Massachusetts DPU and stated what happened. I was told that if National Grid was my supplier in between the changeover, then I was automatically enrolled with the supplier the Town of Oxford contracted with, namely Nextera. I was told that I must contact them and opt-out (I had sent an opt-out notice that I had received from the Town earlier; evidently, it was never received).

Between my calls to Constellation, National Grid, the DPU, and Nextera, I was on the phone for well over an hour, an aggravation I did not need.

Oxford residents, be forewarned, if you change suppliers and there is even a one month delay where National Grid becomes your supplier, you will automatically be enrolled with Nextera, and need to call them to opt-out.

I place the blame on the Town of Oxford, the Massachusetts DPU, and National Grid, for contracting such a plan with Nextera.

The parties involved know full well that it takes at least one or two billing cycles to complete a changeover, and there should have been a grace period allowed where National Grid can be the supplier be it one or two months, before Nextera automatically takes over, and they not only take over but cancel the contract with your new supplier.

I asked National Grid that a block be placed on my account so no one other than myself can trigger a change.

Keep your vehicle clear of snow

We have not experienced much snow yet this season; however, it is inevitable that we will. During previous storms, many vehicles were operating with large amounts of snow still on them. This can be dangerous for the driver and other travelers. I wanted to remind people of the importance of taking this one additional safety step before travelling.

A few laws on the books can address this situation. Massachusetts General Laws Chapter 90 Section 13 is the law which addresses "impeded" operation. Drivers are not allowed to have anything on or about their vehicle which may interfere with the safe operation of the vehicle. This can directly pertain to the removal of snow an ice from windshields. Even though it is not specifically stated in this law, there may be circumstances where it can apply to snow on vehicle hoods, roof tops, or trunks. Massachusetts General Laws Chapter 85 Section 36 addresses the subject of unsecured or unsafe loads transported on the roadways. Flying snow or debris from a vehicle traveling down the road may apply under these circumstances. Both laws carry civil fines and decisions will be made by an officer on a case-by-case basis. As another reminder, your vehicle's license plates must also be clearly visible and cleared of snow and debris. It is a separate violation of the law to have an obstructed number plate.

The danger lies in not removing this snow in a prompt manner. If it is left in place, it tends to melt and re-freeze, which creates an ice sheet. When traveling at higher speeds, such as on a highway, the wind can move under this ice and send it flying off the vehicle. It could then land on or around another vehicle traveling along the road. The results of this can be very serious. Despite the damage this may cause, it could have even greater consequences should this land on another vehicle's windshield. The driver may be unable to see and this could result in an accident. If there is a crash involved, the fact that the snow/ice was not removed prior to the trip could be considered as a negligent act on the part of that driver. Therefore, this person may bear some responsibility for the accident. Please take a few extra minutes to completely remove the snow from your vehicle. This simple act could prevent an accident and possibly save a life, even your own.

As the pandemic continues and cases rise, we ask everyone to stay safe and continue to take the necessary precautions to protect yourselves. The work of the Town Officials, particularly our Administrator and most importantly, the Board of Health officials, is greatly appreciated. The rules regarding this virus seem to change constantly, and more pressure is placed on local governments to respond, all with limited resources. We continue to serve the people of Dudley and work with the community to improve the quality of life for everyone. I thank the men and women from my department for their continued dedicated service to the Town during these trying times. Thanks also go out to the many Police Officers, Fire and Emergency Services members, public works, health care, government and all other "essential" personnel for their continued hard work and service. We greatly appreciate the support we receive from our community.

Thanks again for your questions and comments. Please send them to me at the Dudley Police Department, 71 West Main St., Dudley, MA 01571 or email at swojnar@dudleypolice.com. # With ultra-low rates, should you still invest in bonds?

If you've been investing for many years and you've owned bonds, you've seen some pretty big changes on your financial statements. In 2000, the average yield on a 10-year U.S. Treasury security was about 6 percent; in 2010, it had dropped to slightly over 3 percent, and for most of 2020, it was less than 1 percent. That's an enormous difference, and it may lead you to this question: With yields so low on bonds, why should you even consider them?

Of course, while the 10-year Treasury note is an important benchmark, it doesn't represent the returns on any bonds you could purchase. Typically, longer-term bonds, such as those that mature in 20 or 30 years, pay higher rates to account for inflation and to reward you for locking up your money for many years. But the same downward trend can be seen in these longer-term bonds, too – in 2020, the average 30-year Treasury bond yield was only slightly above 1.5 percent.

Among other things, these numbers mean that investors of 10 or 20 years ago could have gotten some reasonably good income from investment-grade bonds. But today, the picture is different. (Higher-yield bonds, sometimes known as "junk" bonds, can offer more income but carry a higher risk of default.)

Nonetheless, while rates are low now, you may be able to employ a

strategy that can help you in any interest-rate environment. You can build a bond "ladder" of individual bonds that mature on different dates. When market interest rates are low, you'll still have your longer-term bonds earning higher yields (and long-term yields, while fluctuating, are expected to rise in the future). When interest rates rise, your maturing bonds can be reinvested at these new, higher levels. Be sure you evaluate whether a bond ladder and the securities held within it are consistent with your investment objectives, risk tolerance and financial circumstances.

Furthermore, bonds can provide you with other benefits. For one thing, they can help diversify your portfolio, especially if it's heavily weighted toward stocks. Also, stock and bond prices often (although not always) move in opposite directions, so if the stock market goes through a down period, the value of your bonds may rise. And bonds are usually less volatile than stocks, so they can have a "calming" effect on your portfolio. Plus, if you hold your bonds until maturity, you will get your entire principal back (providing the bond issuer doesn't default, which is generally unlikely if you own investment-grade bonds), so bond ownership gives you a chance to preserve capital while still investing.

But if the primary reason you have owned bonds is because of the income they offer, you may have to look elsewhere during periods of ultra-low interest rates. For example, you could invest in dividend-paying stocks. Some stocks have long track records of increasing dividends, year after year, giving you a potential source of rising income. (Keep in mind, though, that dividends can be increased, decreased or eliminated at any time.) Be aware, though, that stocks are subject to greater risks and market movements than bonds.

Ultimately, while bonds may not provide the income they did a few years ago, they can have a place in a long-term investment strategy. Consider how they might fit into yours.

Anglers take to the ice

The old saying: if you do not like the weather in New England, just wait a day or two. Fishermen have been waiting for some safe ice, and it has finally happened. Numerous small ponds were safe this past weekend, but it was safe in some areas and not so safe in others. Caution still needs to be practiced as not all areas of the lakes and ponds are frozen equally. The Uxbridge Rod & Gun Club had a few anglers catching some recently stocked trout this past Saturday, with Steve Bedard of Uxbridge landing a real impressive rainbow trout, as this week's picture shows.

Not all sections of the pond were safe, but anglers concentrated on the safe areas to fish. While some anglers were fishing Steve Bedard was busy cooking breakfast prior to his big catch. Waffles and eggs were great, according to all in attendance. Steve loves to cook, and does a pig roast for the club every year!

This past week, I visited Jerry's Bait & Tackle shop in Milford to get the latest information on fishing conditions in other parts of the state. One angler that I spoke with did not want to be identified, but he did reveal some great information on his success fishing for Northern Pike in the Western part of the state the week before. Trophy fishing for pike can be a bit on the pricey side when it comes to purchasing live bait, as I quickly found out. You want to catch big fish, you need to use large bait! Six- and seven-inch bait fish cost the angler $5 each, while the four-inch bait cost $3 each! He was just glad to get them, as bait fish that size are not easy to find.

I asked the angler if he had any pictures of his fish from the prior week of fishing, and he was quick to show me one fish that was a monster Northern Pike. I asked him if he would allow me to use it for my next column? Sorry, I do not want people following me to my favorite fishing hole! I can understand, as one local angler that has some great fishing spots for Northern Pike had that happen to him. He found anglers parked down the road from his house, waiting for him to leave, and they would attempt to follow him to his fishing spot that morning.

He was smart enough to notice he was being followed, and managed to lose them on some of the back roads, prior to arriving at his destination. Deer hunters are also reluctant to disclose their trophy deer hunting spots for the same reason, and have gone through similar experiences. Is this what fishing and hunting is coming to? It also happens on the ocean. It makes reporting on trophy fish and deer success a lot harder. Oh, well! It is the world we live in today! I do not need to worry about anyone trying to follow me my hot spots, as they have been fished out by commercial druggers.

Dog owners need to keep their pets close to home and under their control at all times. The threat of losing them to predators is extremely high this time of year, and the other threat is to have them fall through thin ice. In the last few weeks, dog owners have had their pets fall through thin ice, but were lucky that they were rescued in time. Numerous deer are also falling through thin ice as they attempt to cross local ponds and lakes.

Even when you are taking walks with your dog at this time of year, they should be kept on a leash when walking near ponds and lakes. A few years back, I was taking my dogs Molly and Twig for a walk along the banks of the Uxbridge Rod & Gun Club, when my wife's beagle Molly spotted a couple of mallard ducks flying by. As soon as she spotted them, she started to chase them by sight.

Not watching where she was going, the ducks banked to the right over the pond. She followed them and found herself under a thin layer of ice.

I quickly jumped into the water that, thankfully, was not too deep. I could see her swimming under the coating of ice (about an inch), and I managed to break the ice and grab her collar. I threw her towards the shore as my walking buddy looked on. This happened prior to my wife's passing, and I knew that if I had gone home without her, my life would be hell! She suffered no ill effects from the ordeal, and I was lucky the water was not too deep.

Talking to young family members about the dangers of thin ice cannot be stressed enough at this time of year. They need adult supervision at all times, and some adults need to be supervised by their children!

Bringing in your dogs to a warm place during extremely cold weather should be practiced, and there outdoor living quarters need to be clean, dry, with plenty of straw! They also need plenty of water at this time of year with plenty of high protein food.

The Massachusetts late Canada Goose hunting reopened on Jan. 15 in the Central District, and will remain open until Feb. 15, with a five-bird daily limit. Fortunately, the fields are absent of snow having numerous geese frequenting them on a daily basis. Unfortunately, most fields are now frozen making food for the geese hard to get, and some fields that do have food and numerous geese in them, are off limits to hunting. Rivers should provide some great hunting opportunities to harvest a few geese before the season ends on Feb. 15.

The 2020 black bear season in Massachusetts was a record year, with 325 bears harvested! The September season had 236 bear harvested, and the November season had five.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Apologies to the Dudley Democratic Town Committee

To the Editor:
My apologies for drawing the Dudley Democratic Town Committee into a confrontation with itself, but it's actually you that has made my point, and quite nicely. The quote that I referenced on Jan. 8 was not taken out of context, it was a salient point in your original letter. It was then reinforced in last week's response, "our letter expressed views about the roots of the current polarization of our nation." Indeed it did. Your views, which are every bit as polarized and recalcitrant as those seen in your opponent. Each side is intractable. A product of their own hyperbolic echo chamber. Agitation sells, we are all being played. Political media has become a perpetual motion machine that is now deriving a profit from "fact checking" the very information that its parent company is being paid to disseminate. That's not editorial oversight, it's an additional revenue stream. None of this is going away. Understanding the corporate media cabal is an essential component of informed political discourse. Activist scribes aligning themselves with the ruling class have always been the nemesis of a free press. See them for what they are. Seek out independent content providers. Especially those that you disagree with. Before they are all silenced.

Who Can Adopt?

Can you provide the guidance, love and stability that a child needs? If you're at least 18 years old, have a stable source of income, and room in your heart, you may be a perfect match to adopt a waiting child. Adoptive parents can be single, married, or partnered; experienced or not; renters or homeowners; LGBTQ singles and couples.

The process to adopt a child from foster care requires training, interviews, and home visits to determine if adoption is right for you, and if so, to help connect you with a child or sibling group that your family will be a good match for.

To learn more about adoption from foster care, call the Massachusetts Adoption Resource Exchange (MARE) at 617-964-6273 or visit www.mare-inc.org. The sooner you call, the sooner a waiting child will have a permanent place to call home.

Planning a Therapeutic Backyard Garden

If you plan to have a spring or summer garden, these winter days likely find you plotting out a planting strategy. If your garden inspiration includes growing health promoting plants, read on. From flowers and herbs to vegetables and wild plants, nature provides a wide variety of natural healers that aid in everything from taming a tummy ache to fighting off a fever blister. Here are some garden favorites that offer the bonus of being beneficial health aids. Note: Information is offered for general interest only and should not be taken as health advice. Contact your physician before ingesting or applying any herbs or plants.

TAKE THE HINT
KAREN TRAINOR

Here’s a recipe for Marigold Balm from Old Schoolhouse magazine’s Homestead Newsletter: You will need: 1/2 cup dried calendula petals (available in bulk at a health food store or from your garden), one ounce beeswax, 1/2 cup olive oil, a sterile tin to hold your finished project Place the petals and oil into an oven proof dish. Preheat the oven to 200 degrees. Place the oil and herbs into the oven, then turn it off and leave for three to four hours. Remove from oven to cool for an hour or so on the counter. Once cool, strain out the herbs with cheesecloth. Add the beeswax to the remaining oil and put back into the oven (or you can use a microwave for this part). Heat just until the beeswax is almost melted. Stir until it is completely melted and combined. Pour into your prepared tins and let sit 15-20 minutes until cool. Makes two tins of balm, about two ounces each.

Many backyard gardeners grow tomatoes, and the season’s first ripe, red tomato on the vine is a summer pleasure worth waiting all year for! Whether they are in a vegetable plot, container garden, or upside down planter, tomatoes are not only delicious and nutritious, they also offer an array of health benefits. In fact, it’s been well publicized that tomatoes are rich in lycopene, a powerful antioxidant. But did you know the tomato is one of the top five food sources of vitamin C, vitamin A, vitamin E, potassium and fiber? Tomatoes are also excellent sources of phytochemicals, polyphenols and carotenoids. And research shows tomatoes an aid in lowering blood pressure. According to an Israeli study, adding tomatoes to a diet can reduce systolic blood pressure by 10 points and diastolic pressure by four points. The secret weapon once again, is the tomato’s high concentration of lycopene. The delicious dosage? About four whole tomatoes daily, which is easy during peak season. Off season, use chopped and canned garden tomatoes in chili, tomato sauces and soups to reach your daily dose.

The pansy is a common, easy to grow flower. With their colorful “faces” a plot of pansies add personality to a garden or window box, but the ancient, edible flower is also a valuable detoxifying and anti-inflammatory agent. In addition, its been claimed the pansy is also helpful in treating eczema, asthma and allergies. Pansies grown without pesticides can be enjoyed in their natural state, simply washed and tossed in a salad or cold drink, or the flowers may be made into a healthful tincture or tea. To make a pansy poultice for external skin application to treat eczema and impetigo, simply add two tablespoons of pansy petals to two cups boiling water. Allow to steep for about 20 minutes and cool. Soak clean cloth in mixture and apply to skin.

Growing garlic? The health virtues of garlic have been touted for generations. Here are a couple of garlic remedies to try:

*The book, “The Healing Power of Garlic,” suggests garlic nose drops can kill the viruses that cause cold or flu. Here are the book’s instructions on concocting the drops: Crush some garlic to obtain juice, and add ten parts water and mix well. Apply as you would regular nose drops. *According to a home remedy promoted by generations past, if you place a clove of garlic on each side of the mouth between the teeth and cheek, a cold will disappear within a day. It’s worth a try!

Tea Tonic Natural teas are used to treat many maladies. If you are growing these herbs, you already have the ingredients for some healthful healers!

*Fever Treatment Tea: Some Native American tribes treated a low grade fever with sage, as in this old time recipe. As a bonus, the dried peppermint supplies the tea with a soothing, cooling effect. To do: Pour one cup boiling water over two teaspoons dried, edible sage and one teaspoon dried peppermint. Steep. Strain, and sweeten with honey if desired. Slowly sip up to three cups a day.

*Cold Sore Cure: Drinking sage tea can prevent and treat fever blisters and cold sores. To do: Pour one cup boiling water over edible sage leaves and a small piece of ginger root (or substitute ginger powder). Steep, cook and drink two to three cups of hot sage tea everyday to get rid of fever blisters.

*Shoo Flu: One of peppermint’s claims to fame is that it can alleviate the chills and aid with symptoms of fever and the flu. Try drinking a cup or two of strong peppermint tea made from fresh leaves to relieve cold and flu complaints

Dudley offering notification of COVID vaccination clinics

DUDLEY — The Town of Dudley is announcing that beginning on Jan. 22, Dudley residents will have the ability to go to dudleyma.gov to complete a brief form to be notified when a local COVID-19 Vaccination Clinic becomes available for residents, business owners and employees.

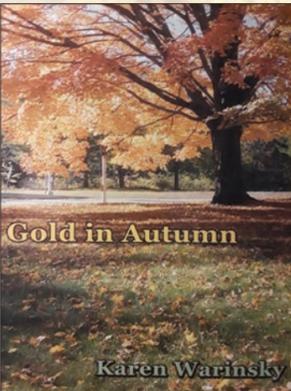

As the vaccination becomes available, in accordance with the Commonwealth of Massachusetts' Phased COVID-19 Distribution Plan, enrollees will be contacted by the Dudley Board of Health and provided with the date, place and time to receive the vaccines. Residents that do not have the ability to access the Internet are encouraged to first ask for assistance from family members, caregivers or friends who will be able to go to dudleyma.gov and complete the form on their behalf. The entire online process takes approximately five minutes.

Additionally, a vaccination phone number has been established to enable residents that are unable to complete the online form to receive assistance from a Dudley Board of Health Assistant to complete the form over the phone. The vaccination phone number is (508) 949 8036. Residents that call the vaccination phone number for assistance can expect to be asked to leave a message and to receive a callback within five business days. Because of the volume of local vaccination requests that the Town is expecting, online form submission at dudleyma.gov is strongly encouraged. The Town recognizes that members of the community may have difficulty in traveling to receive vaccinations, and different methods of delivering the vaccines locally are being developed through a cooperative effort between health care providers, the board of health and the Dudley Fire Department Emergency Management Division. The Town of Dudley does not have the ability to purchase additional vaccines or expedite the process. The phased approach which is being followed across the State has been developed by medical and health professionals at the Massachusetts Department of Public Health (DPH) to best deliver the vaccine in a coordinated effort across the Commonwealth.

PUBLIC NOTICE

RIGHT OF WAY MAINTENANCE

As required by Massachusetts General Law Chapter 132B, National Grid (New England Power and/or Massachusetts Electric Company) hereby gives notice that it intends to selectively apply herbicides along specific transmission line rights-of-way in 2021.

The selective use of herbicides to manage vegetation along rights-of-way is done within the context of an Integrated Vegetation Management (IVM) program consisting of mechanical, chemical, natural and cultural components. In right-of-way vegetation management the pest or target is vegetation (primarily tall growing) that will cause outages and safety issues. National Grid's IVM program encourages natural controls by promoting low growing plant communities that resist invasion by target vegetation. The selective use of herbicides and mechanical controls are the direct techniques used to control target vegetation and help establish and maintain natural controls.

Rodeo, and possibly one of the following herbicides, Arsenal or Arsenal Powerline, will be applied directly to the surface of stumps immediately after target vegetation is cut (Cut Stump Treatment). Garlon 4 or Garlon 4 Ultra will be applied selectively to the stems of target vegetation using hand-held equipment (Basal Treatment and Dormant stem treatment). Krenite S or Rodeo, mixed with Escort XP, and one of the following herbicides, Arsenal or Arsenal Powerline, or Milestone will be applied selectively to the foliage of target vegetation using hand-held equipment (Foliar Treatment). Applications shall not commence more than ten days before nor conclude more than ten days after the following treatment periods. The herbicide mixes and additional information about rights of way management in Massachusetts can be found here: <https://www.mass.gov/rights-of-way-vegetation-management>

Municipalities that have rights-of-way scheduled for herbicide treatments in 2021:

Oxford

Municipalities that have rights-of-way that were treated in 2020 but may require some touch-up work in 2021:

Webster

Treatment Periods

February 1, 2021 – May 30, 2021	May 30, 2021 - Oct 16, 2021	Oct 16, 2021 – Dec 31, 2021
CST	Foliar	CST
Basal	CST	Basal
Dormant Stem	Basal	Dormant Stem
