

Selectmen approve land trust donation

BY JASON BLEAU
STONEBRIDGE CORRESPONDENT

DUDLEY - Add another 25 acres to the Dudley Conservation Land Trust courtesy of a donation made recently by residents Diana and Roger LeBlanc.

Selectmen were informed of the donation during their meeting on June 2 when the LeBlancs and Conservation Land Trust President Paul Wieloch appeared to seek conservation restrictions on the property now that it is being transferred to the town. Conservation restrictions are limitations put on the property in order to prevent it from being misused or altered beyond the expectations of the donating parties or the town. Such restrictions can include limits on logging, clearing of hiking trails or even bringing pets to the property.

The 25 acres donated by the LeBlancs is located directly adjacent to Wieloch Woods, a 70-acre parcel Paul Wieloch himself donated to the Dudley Conservation Land Trust in 2015. Wieloch said the Conservation Land Trust needed selectmen to approve the conservation restrictions after the state revue of the proposal.

“(Conservation restrictions) are kind of like a set of rules for the property for trails, no trails, hunting and no hunting, dogs and no dogs and all kinds of items like that,” Wieloch said. “We own the land on the corner of Fabyan Road and West Main Street, what we call the Bateman property. At some point we have access there and we have the option of putting a little parking area there.”

Roger LeBlanc delved a little more into the specifics of the conservation restrictions saying they want to preserve a piece of land that is home to significant wildlife in the town of Dudley while also allowing locals a chance to enjoy a scenic part of the town.

“We discussed hiking trails for families. We didn’t want dogs and other animals to disturb wildlife. We just want it to be a place where families can go and enjoy it the way it’s always been. We purchased it about 30 years ago and we’ve taken good care of it. There’s a lot of wildlife on it and it’s just a really nice place with some beautiful landscapes and a nice little brook that runs through it. It harbors a lot of wildlife for Dudley,” LeBlanc said.

One question posed by selectmen is who would enforce these restrictions on the and. Wieloch said the Conservation Commission would be charged with that responsibility.

“They are going to hold the conservation restriction, so it would be that commission that would enforce it,” Wieloch explained. “They’re the ones who would make sure we’re doing what we need to be doing with the property.”

Selectmen approved the conservation restrictions unanimously to effectively preserve the land for future generations to enjoy.

Capturing beauty in her travels

A writer, a photographer, and an adventurer, Sara Heil brings her spirit and life to the Oxford Public Library for artist of the month. Heil has captured her many trips and journeys through the wilderness with her camera.

“My family and I went across country for a month,” says Heil.

“We explored Sequoia National Park in California, Colorado Hot Springs, Arkansas, Kentucky, Virginia and more. We were in a trailer and drove across the country, three weeks out and one week back” says Heil as she recalls where each one of her unique photographs were taken.

“Death Valley in California, was where I took my favorite picture,” says Heil as she points to a picture of rolling hills with a vacant and vast road. The route gives the desire to keep on driving. The photograph that catches everyone’s eye is of Mesa Verde National Park in Colorado.

“This was a scary photo to take. I was 5,000 feet up and it was a straight drop down. The people there lived in the side of a mountain. It was amazing to see.”

Heil remembers every exciting detail that goes with each picture. There were many visitors to Heil’s exhibit. Her grandfather and grandmother, Bob and Elaine Miner, from Brookfield gaze upon each photograph with pride. It was hard for anyone to choose their

Jason Burdett wants the community to have trust in the Oxford police department

“I want my officers to be relied on and there to be 100% trust between residents and officers.” With strong conviction and stronger background, it is easy to see why Burdett was promoted to sergeant of the Oxford Police Department.

The Dudley Charlton Regional School District bid farewell to their leader of the last four years June 27 with a bitter-sweet tribute to Gregg Desto.

After 18 years in the district, Desto, who was promoted to Superintendent in 2014, left Dudley at the beginning of July to take a position in as the principal of Auburn Middle School. On June 27 the Dudley Charlton Regional School Committee concluded Desto’s final meeting at the head of the table with a reading of a short biography of his time with Dudley and the statement that he will be a hard pair of shoes to fill.

Ford added as new library trustee

BY JASON BLEAU
TIMES CORRESPONDENT

DUDLEY – The Pearle L. Crawford Library Board of Trustees has added a new member with the departure of trustee Nota Cavic, who left the board earlier this year after five years of service.

Late last month the trustees interviewed and voted to appoint a new addition to the board, and on July 2 trustee Patricia Korch brought the name to selectmen for their vote of approval.

“At the June 26 meeting of the trustees it was voted by majority to appoint Stefani Ford as a library trustee to fill the seat vacated by Nora Cavic,” Korch told selectmen.

According to the Pearle L. Crawford Memorial Library website Ford’s seat will be up for election in 2020. Ford was touted as an “impressive young woman” and selectmen seemed to agree unanimously approving her appointment effective immediately.

Ford addressed selectmen during the meeting and expressed excitement in filling her new role and offering something to a community with which she has a lifelong history.

“I’ve lived in Dudley my whole life. I’ve always been interested in getting involved in the town. I’ve always used the library as a resource so it’s something that’s very close to what I’m interested in,” Ford said. “I wanted to get involved there to help everybody realize that the library is a very important resource for our town that we should be using. I though my skills that I’ve attained so far would help the board”

Selectmen echoed Korch’s sentiments calling Ford an “impressive” candidate. Several selectmen also acknowledged that Ford is a volunteering member of the younger community of Dudley and expressed hope that the trend of youthful perspectives to town boards and commissions will continue.

“It’s good to see another generation stepping up and volunteering around the town,” Selectman Kerry Cyganiewicz said.

His fellow Selectman John Marsi added to this saying, “We post these openings we have and she stepped up. I appreciate it. The library is an important part of our town and an asset. It’s important to have people who care about it.”

Before moving on with the Board of Selectmen meeting Patricia Korch

Car Buying Tips

People ask Place: My new car seems so complicated. Why do I have all this technology?

The Right answer: During our recent Classic Cruise we were able to see first hand the many differences in today's cars versus the cars of yesteryear. The new cars had so much more in electronics to increase performance, efficiency, comfort and most importantly safety. The innovations many of us have simply grown to expect in our cars were not available in the 50's, 60's or even 70's. Much of the now standard features were developed in just the last few decades. Federal regulation and of course customer demand have contributed to much of the new technology in the new cars. Even some of the new technology like your cell phone have sparked new tech in your cars. Airbags that were once only in the steering wheel now seem to come from everywhere and can create a complete "canopy" offering protection to passengers in every seating position. Ford even has available inflatable seat belts to provide rear passengers even more security. Anti-lock braking systems, stability control systems, adaptive cruise control, automatic climate control, intermittent wipers, infotainment systems, all-wheel drive, 6 and 10 speed automatic transmissions, power windows and door locks, back up cameras, electronic ignition and fuel injection are just some of the things we have seen in today's cars that weren't in those classic cars we love. In fact, did you know that in early F series pickups a passenger side windshield wiper was an extra cost option. We love those old cars and trucks. They sure are great to admire. Look closely at the new cars and trucks and marvel at the things they can do. The advancements are incredible and much more is coming to improve the next generation of transportation.

Duo return to Webster for concert at French River Park

Webster based folk troubadours Mark Mandeville & Rianne Richards and their studio band will perform Wednesday July 25 at 6 pm at French River Park during the Summer Concert Series. This concert has been made possible through a grant by the Webster Cultural Council. The Farmers Market will begin at 5:30 p.m. followed by music at 6.

Local favorites Mandeville & Richards have recently returned from their ninth annual Massachusetts Walking Tour in which they performed 11 free community concerts. This year the troupe paddled along the Connecticut River and hiked their way through the Pioneer Valley. Each summer since 2010 they have organized the "Massachusetts Walking Tour" where they hike the roads and trails of the Commonwealth, more than 100 miles in less than two weeks, in support of the arts in local communities along the way. Each evening they stop over in yet another Massachusetts town, putting on a free concert there, along with local performers and fellow artists who accompany them on their journey. These annual two-week treks also raise awareness of the trails and greenways in Massachusetts, using music to make important connections. In the fall of 2017 Mandeville and Richards received official recognition before congress and were added to the congressional record by Senator Ed Markey for their efforts in the community through the Massachusetts Walking Tour.

The exhibit incorporates posters about indigenous people in other parts of the world. In addition to admiring the interesting graphics, it is also a chance to learn a bit of history and culture of other people. The posters are from a collection of more than 6,800 posters belonging to Lewis. Lewis has been collecting political posters for 20 years and has been staging exhibits around Massachusetts for the past 15 years. Lewis attributes his love for the posters and creating exhibits, to his background as

LEFEBVRE TO BE HONORED FOR WORK WITH YOUTH

The Boys & Girls Club of Webster Dudley will be holding the 2018 Helping Hands Award dinner ceremony at Point Breeze Restaurant in Webster on Thursday Sept. 6. John Lefebvre will be honored as the recipient of this award. Family and friends are welcome to join in a wonderful ceremony and dinner in honor of John.

John has been on the Board of Directors since 1973 and is a past president. In addition, he was a member of the club from 1960-68 (and a club mentor/member from 1969 until he joined the board in 1973). He has stayed dedicated and supportive to the club since the 1960s through his tireless commitment to ensure the club thrives.

On June 24 the basketball court was dedicated as the John E. Lefebvre Helping Hands Court. John was duly surprised by the honor.

Tickets are $35 and information is available on the club's website.

July Real Estate Market Update

REALTOR'S REPORT

JAMES BLACK

According to Bankrate.com as of 06/10/2018 the rate on a 30 year fixed loan was 4.37% which is down slightly from last month. We are continuing to see a very hot Real Estate Market. We have seen a change in the market over the last month or two. Inventory has been creeping up which is probably stemming from the rising values and sellers realizing they can get a number they could not get before. I have had several calls in the last couple months from sellers deciding to sell just because they saw what we had sold another home similar to theirs for a price they couldn't believe. This tells me even though we still see multiple offers on homes in many areas and price ranges that our market is slowing and moving towards stabilization. Today we have 1835 single family homes for sale in Worcester County compared to 6 months ago where we had 1315 single homes for sale. However, 12 months ago we had 1784 homes for sale so inventory is slightly higher than where it was last year. The average days on market is currently 95 days which is a 3.3% increase in days on market from last month. This shows inventory is slightly rising and homes are staying on the market a little longer which again shows a shift in our market. If we look at homes sold over past 12 months compared to the same time for the previous year there is a small increase in sales of 0.2% and a 5.6% increase in average sales price while it is taking 16.3% less time to sell the homes this year than last year in Worcester County. This shows that prices are still rising and homes are still selling quicker than a year ago. This shows that the change in the market is just happening because it is only affecting the current inventory but has not shown up in past sales data yet. It is important to hire a Realtor familiar with your market especially in a market that is changing almost by the day. The biggest challenge right now is that the trend has been to price ahead of the market in an increasing market and now that we don't have that same market we need to have more consideration around pricing to ensure our homes do not sit on the market. The right agent will ensure you get the most money for the house in the shortest amount of time. This market is still a beauty competition and you need to get your home in the best shape possible to get the most money but you may not be able to price higher ahead of the market or your home will be left behind while other homes sell.

Quinebaug Lodge presents a check to local nonprofit Our Bright Future

Submitted by Bro. Vincenzo Jimmy Falzone

On May 7, the Quinebaug Lodge in Southbridge presented a check for $250 to a local non-profit organization called Our Bright Future Inc.

On the third Sunday of every month from September to June Quinebaug lodge serves up breakfast for our members and the public is invited. This year Quinebaug Lodge Brethren voted to designate recipients our Breakfast Charity Fund to a local nonprofit. Our Bright Future was selected due to its community service with young children. Our Bright Future is an afterschool enrichment program that tries to empower youth and develop bright leaders through sports training, guidance and academics. It is located at West Street Elementary school in Southbridge.

This non-profit organization serve both boys and girls in grades 2 through 5. Some of the programs offered are sports training, homework help, literacy, arts, crafts and introduction to robotics. Through local donations they were able to purchase three Lego Mindstorm Core EV3 kits. Three to five students were able to work on each kit. Students were able to utilize their critical thinking skills, listening, and team work skills. Once these programs were complete, they found a direct correlation and an increase in grades. The Founder of this program is Kwasi Acheampong who serves as president. The program initially started as a sports program but grew very quickly into the above programs today. All programs are completely free because the students who usually need the programs the most, usually cannot afford it. Visit their website at ourbrightfutureinc.org and you will be very impressed, as was I.

cess to years of hard work and dedication to the badge.

Burdett is currently the midnight shift sergeant. In the Oxford Police Department there is one chief, one lieutenant, and three sergeants. Burdett is responsible for four officers below him, and he will be an influence on the new recruits coming from the academy.

Burdett leads by example, "I want to make a good impression on the younger cops."

The community showed their acceptance and pride in Burdett's promotion on the Oxford Police Departments Facebook page. Hundreds of likes and numerous comments congratulating the new sergeant filled the comments section of the announcement of Burdett's promotion. Burdett took to the page to share how thankful he was for the support he received.

"Good Morning friends, I want to take a moment to thank everyone for the support you have given me for my recent promotion. I am truly humbled and grateful to be a police officer, and grateful for all of your support. My door is always open here at the station to help any of you any way I can. Thank you, Jason Burdett (the new Sgt.)."

Burdett says all the support from Facebook was unexpected, "it was nice to get positive feedback."

Burdett is a family man with many goals and aspirations, for his future as sergeant, and at home. He found love with fellow officer Jen, also from Oxford Police Department. They were married and have four children. Taylor, Natalie, Payton and Aria. Burdett's family means the world to him, he works hard to make the world a better place for them and for all families.

Letterboxing Adventure: follow the rabbit into the briar

From wildlife to rickety bridges, the possibilities are endless.

KIMBERLY MASCHI
TIMES CORRESPONDENT

What is Letterboxing? Letterboxing is a scavenger hunt where the clues lead you through a hike into nature. At the end of your adventure you will find a box with a notebook, pen, handmade rubber stamp, and ink pad. What you bring with you is your own rubber stamp that represents you and a notebook. You ink your unique stamp into the notebook with a written note about your journey. You then take the provided stamp and log it into your notebook. It is a great opportunity to get outdoors with a purpose. With this Letterboxing adventure, you will also learn things on the way. As always, be safe, bring water, clip out this article to take with you, and spray yourself with bug spray. Our journey starts in Oxford. Venture into the briar off Main Street. Don't be blue, you can find it if you follow the color of the sun. Drive slowly over the three mounds and park on your left. Enter the trail that has a small boulder at the entrance. Follow the path between two tiny mountains and past the yellow gate. Be prepared to follow the rabbit deep into adventure. Follow the path and enter into the meadow, this is your first fork in the road. Stay right to continue your search for the letterbox. You can go for a short journey left and see the one very lonely Christmas tree. When you venture right walk along the winterberry bushes. Keep to the right and cross over the bridge. Take a break and enjoy the view. Beavers and otters are scurrying and swimming around you, they even built a new dam where you can see the schools of fish in the shallow water. When you have had your fill of wonderment forge on into the rocky way. There sits a small bench where you can sit and listen to the duets of frogs and watch the geese and their young floating along the stream. Here you can also view the osprey nest in the distance. The nest was erected in July of 2010. Ospreys visited in 2014 and 2015 but decided not to stay. Right now, in 2018, the nest is full with a beautiful family. Check out the live camera from the town of Oxford website. Keep walking until you come to another fork in the road, the right way is the best way. Look into the distance, the water, the swamp and you can see the stags tree. A large tree stripped of bark and imitating a stag's antlers. This long journey has more to come, stay straight until you come upon the stacked rafts. Stay to the right and you will come to the winding bridge. Be careful on this very fun and twisting and turning bridge. Thank you to Troop 338 for this magnificently magical bridge! When you jump off the end of the bridge look deep into the woods to see the witches hut. Don't worry, the witch only ventures from her hut late at night. Keep to the right and cross over the gnarly roots. Follow the path down and keep the trench on your right. Keep your eyes open, the rabbit is near. On your right, you will see a blue marker in the tree and below it is the rabbit stump. The rabbit holds the prize! Write about your adventure and include your stamp. Congratulations! You found a Letterbox and your hiking adventures have been logged with all the others. Be safe on your journey back and look for new Letterboxing adventures in Stonebridge Press newspapers. New adventures await!

members and those present recalling Desto's time as a school leader in different facilities throughout the district before taking the highest position and helping lead the schools through the last four years. "You were indeed the best fit for Dudley-Charlton and while we applaud the reasons behind your decision to move on the Auburn and back among student about whom you care so deeply, please know that we'll cherish our time with you and we'll miss you dearly," Aucoin concluded. In April Desto announced his departure saying he would like to spend more time being a father to his young son and the lesser responsibilities of running Auburn High School would allow him that luxury. It was a decision he didn't take lightly, but one he called a tremendously personal choice and one of the hardest of his life. Desto addressed the School Committee one final time praising the hard work that has gone into the last few years to help the district progress to new heights. "You've probably all spent too many minutes, maybe too maybe hours listening to me speak over the years, but what we do here is really hard. We disagree a lot and we don't take it personally. I just want to say that in all the years I've been here since 2000 with the School Committee and my fellow administrators I never once felt like anybody didn't do what they did while thinking if it was best for the kids. I think everyone's heart has been in the right place at the right time and I think that's an amazing thing to be able to say," Desto said to the committee members. "It's going to carry forward. I'm happy with the situation. The state of the district is good. The timing was just right for me as a father to do what I need to do. Hey, who knows? Maybe someday in some capacity I'll be back. Maybe I'll join this table one of these years. I do plan to continue to live here. I'm very grateful for the opportunity you gave me. I'm happy to say that together we did a good job and you will all continue to do a great job going forward." Desto has been responsible for seeing the Dudley Charlton Regional School District through some of its more tumultuous years in recent memory specifically through budget concerns that led to a successful Proposition 2 ½ override from both Charlton and Dudley earlier this year. He has also helped the district maintain a presence on social media. A humble man, Desto said none of his accomplishments were just his own and that many people throughout the district helped make these goals realities. Upon closing his final meeting as superintendent, the School Committee gave Desto a round of applause and a standing ovation.

Friday's Child

Aaliyah
Age 3

Hi! My name is Aaliyah and I enjoy watching Sesame Street!

Aaliyah is an engaging three-year-old girl of Caucasian/Guyanese descent. Aaliyah really likes music and dancing. She will often mimic dance moves she sees in different videos. Aaliyah also likes playing outside and watching Sesame Street. She particularly loves Elmo!

Aaliyah is diagnosed with Autism Spectrum Disorder and she also has global developmental delays. She is able to follow verbal and visual commands, and she can also problem-solve very well. Aaliyah currently attends four days of school. Aaliyah's teachers report she has done well during the school day and her ability to communicate through a picture book has greatly increased since the start of the school year.

Aaliyah's permanent placement should be calm and highly structured. Aaliyah requires a significant amount of attention and care, so a two-parent household with no other children would be best. Due to her diagnosis of Autism Spectrum Disorder, families should familiarize themselves with this diagnosis and how it affects children. Aaliyah is legally free for adoption, and once a placement is identified her foster mother is willing to stay involved in Aaliyah's life.

Who Can Adopt?

Can you provide the guidance, love and stability that a child needs? If you're at least 18 years old, have a stable source of income, and room in your heart, you may be a perfect match to adopt a waiting child. Adoptive parents can be single, married, or partnered; experienced or not; renters or homeowners; LGBTQ singles and couples.

The process to adopt a child from foster care requires training, interviews, and home visits to determine if adoption is right for you, and if so, to help connect you with a child or sibling group that your family will be a good match for.

To learn more about adoption from foster care, call the Massachusetts Adoption Resource Exchange (MARE) at 617-6273 or visit www.mareinc.org.

The sooner you call, the sooner a waiting child will have "a permanent place to call HOME."

It was a real shoe in of a fundraiser

The Student Council loaded the truck with the their efforts

The Oxford High School sophomore Student Council members, Susannah Lambert, Peyton Coonan, Molly Cook and Sarah Kersting-Mumm made great strides in helping others while helping their own graduating class of 2020 by collecting lightly used or new shoes. The Student Council contacted Fund2orgs.com and set off on their shoes collection journey under the advisory of Ms. Castingway. The Student Council raised money for their class and helped other fulfill a purpose, a job, and a livelihood.

“It felt wasteful to only do a fundraising event for ourselves, it was a great opportunity to do something for others at the same time,” says president of the Student Council Lambert.

Lambert was excited to begin this fundraising event, it meant a lot to her to help others all while doing her duty to help her own class. The Student Council put shoe collection bins at multiple locations all over town including the Oxford High School library.

“Lots of kids brought shoes to school with them,” says Sarah Flemming-Mumm, secretary for the Student Council. Bags and bags started to fill the library and more were on the way.

“We want to thank Mr. Gordon Cook at Carl’s Diner for putting a bin at his restaurant, it was a huge help.”

The Worcester Brave Hearts also helped to donate shoes to the cause and 100 pairs were donated by the First Congregational Church of Dudley.

“We had bags and bags of shoes,” says Kersting-Mumm.

At the end of the fundraiser, they had accepted 3,025 pairs of shoes which equals $1,210 that will go to the sophomore class events.

The shoes were collected by Funds2Orgs and will be given to developing countries for residents to sell in order to help their families and community.

“These used and new shoes help support the economy in developing countries,” says Kersting-Mumm. The community got together and helped the class do something good and help them fund their future events.

The Sophomore class will be hosting many events to continue their journey in supporting their fieldtrips, prom, and graduation.

“We will be at the Fall Festival selling meatball subs and apple cider,” says Lambert.

There will also be a Home Run Derby with a pie eating contest.

EDITORIAL

Taking the heat

The week five journalists were killed by a single gunman in Maryland, we had already written our editorial; perhaps a frivolous piece because we were pressed for time due to early deadlines coming up on a holiday and...the tragedy happened on a Thursday. But we felt it. We all felt it. It was not a Happy Fourth of July for us. It drives home just how important this job is. And while we are small, and very community oriented, and weekly not daily, and we struggle with having enough writers to cover events, and we appreciate and value the help of citizen-volunteer-public relations people who provide us with information and photos when we can't get everywhere, it just underlines how very important it is that local newspapers survive. Do we make mistakes? Yes. We do. And we try to own up to them as quickly as we can and rectify them when possible. We miss stories, we miss important events, we miss meetings, we know; we know. You are 'preaching to the choir' here. But as we read through the heartbreaking news about the Capital Gazette and the people hurt and killed, it sounded just like any of the people who work here at Stonebridge Press. Writers, editors, sports people, advertising people. The fellow who opened fire had a grudge against the newspaper itself. Felt he had been wronged by something printed. And just kept nagging about it. It kept nagging him too apparently. Even taking it to court, where he lost. He was considered a "crank" of sorts, though some took him seriously enough to talk to police about him. And we can relate. We've had more than one threat at one or two of our newspapers in the past. Had a side mirror broken on a car, though no 'proof' as to how that happened and by whom except it did come in the middle of rancorous local political haranguing. Editors try very hard to stay neutral in the middle of local political "stuff." That's why it has been a policy, at least by this editor, not to endorse candidates. We think anyone with enough chutzpah to run deserves a shot. And we have always said if it came through in the letters to the editor bashing us or praising us, it is all good; because it means at least they took the time to actually read us and have an opinion about it. So we tip our hats and bow our heads in mutual sorrow with the folks at Capital Gazette, and with due respect if you remember Charlie Hedbo, and a couple of television anchors a few years ago shot right on the air as they were reporting, by a disgruntled fellow employee. Perhaps not as dangerous as journalist of our acquaintance who left his home in Egypt under death threats for his work attempting to write there; but that's a story for a different time and a different atmosphere. And thank you President Trump for the recognition of allowing the flags to fly half-staff on July 3 in their honor.

VIEWPOINT

Hope, Patience and Prayer

“Rejoice in hope; be patient in tribulation; continue steadfast in prayer.” (Romans 12:12)

BEYOND THE PEWS
• • • • •
FR. LUKE A. VERONIS
STS. CONSTANTINE AND HELEN GREEK ORTHODOX CHURCH,
WEBSTER

Every one repeat that - “Rejoice in hope; be patient in tribulation; continue steadfast in prayer.”

This advice from St. Paul to the Christians in Rome during some very challenging times in the first century offers a great model for our own Christian life of today. Never give up! Persevere and struggle on! Trust in God and know that He is with you. And every day talk to Him in prayer!

Let’s take a closer look at these three disciplines we are called to cultivate in our lives – hope; patience; prayer.

First, followers of Jesus Christ always people of hope. No matter what the grim circumstances around us, no matter how dark the world appears, no matter how it may seem that evil prevails, we are people of HOPE. And we will daily rejoice in the hope that God instills in us.

Why do we have hope? Because we know that God is with us; that God knows our situation; that God is not a distant God who stays absent from our world, but He is the One who entered this world precisely to experience our human existence and to conquer the evil and darkness and sin that surrounds us. He is the God who came to live among us, and to show us the path of peace, the path that leads back to Him. So we always have hope, no matter what the circumstance and no matter how the world around us may look.

Don’t get discouraged by the politics of the day! Don’t get overwhelmed by the illnesses we hear about every day! Don’t despair about the violence and uncertainty in our world! These may all present great challenges, and the future may seem grim, but we have a God that is greater than any challenge and danger we face, and thus, we live in hope. “If God is with us,” the Apostle Paul proclaims, “then who can be against us!”

We always have reason to HOPE; as followers of Jesus Christ, we ARE people of HOPE, and we share our contagious, joyous HOPE with all those around us!

“Rejoice in hope; be patient in tribulation; continue steadfast in prayer.”

Along with hope, followers of Jesus Christ are called to always persevere with patience in the midst of any and every tribulation we may face. Whatever challenges life may bring, whatever struggles we may face, whatever sudden tragedies may overwhelm us, we stay steadfast and patient in the midst of them.

Remember, God never promises that we will face no tragedies or struggles or great tribulation in our lives. NO. Instead, He promises us something better – that in the midst of everything life brings, “I will be with you always.” He promised that in the midst of our great struggle, He will give us His lasting and eternal peace. He is with us and He promised, “In Me, you may have peace. In the world you will have tribulation, but do not be afraid, for I have overcome the world.” (John 16:33)

Thus, we patiently wait. As we read history, and learn about the lives of countless saints, we quickly realize that the saints, the most faithful followers of Jesus, did not have easy lives. In fact, quite the opposite; many suffered as martyrs and died at young ages. Yet they never despaired and they never gave up. Their patience helped them stay faithful until the end.

Our patience comes from the fact that we know God is ultimately in control of world history. Nothing can happen outside of His will. And we know that the safest place to be is in the will of God. Therefore, we patiently wait. Saint James tells us to “Count it all joy when you face various trials, knowing that the testing of your faith produces patience.” Patience is waiting on the Lord, waiting for God and knowing that He will have the final word. The final victory is ultimately His, so we wait patiently, trusting in Him!

“Rejoice in hope; be patient in tribulation; continue steadfast in prayer.”

Of course, we don’t patiently wait without doing anything. In our patience, we continue steadfast in prayer. To pray means to constantly communicate with God and to keep our connection with Him alive. Prayer is our lifeline to the source of ultimate living. In Christ is our hope, our faith, our life and very being. He is the source of all that is good and pure and holy and right and eternal. As we stay connected to Him, we cannot but stay hopeful, positive, and filled with joy and light.

To pray, however, to pray in a disciplined manner, doesn’t come easy. There are so many distractions all around us, clamoring for our attention and time. We wake up and immediately turn to our phones and start filling our minds with the news of the day. We go throughout the day busy, running from one thing to another. We fill every moment of the day with our self-centered pursuits, and push God to the side, often forgetting about Him for the entire day. And then by the end of the day, we are exhausted and fall right into bed without turning to Him and ending the day in dialogue with our Lord. It isn’t easy to develop a serious discipline of prayer, and to stay in communion with God. Yet, that is our call. That is our lifeline to all that is truly good.

“Rejoice in hope; be patient in tribulation; continue steadfast in prayer.”

Here is the model that the Apostle Paul offers to all of us. Let each of us strive to live by it – with HOPE, PATIENCE and PRAYER, each and every day!

Lights are out... now what?

CHIEF’S CORNER

STEVE WOJNAR

A power outage in Webster earlier in the week provided an opportunity to remind drivers about an important issue. This power loss occurred during a prime driving period, between 3 and 5 pm along Route 12 and 193 (Thompson Road). This caused the traffic lights at Routes 12 and 16 as well as the intersection of Lake Street and Thompson Road not to function. These are very busy locations. When traffic signals are not working, the actions of drivers at these intersections is very important. What is the proper procedure to observe in these instances?

The Commonwealth of Massachusetts Department of Transportation driver's manual outlines the proper procedures to follow at all traffic signals. This is a good resource to use if you have specific questions for many motor vehicle laws. It can be found on line at www.mass.gov/rmv/dmanual/chapter4.pdf. Lights that are not functioning properly could be alternately flashing red and yellow colors. In these instances, the red light is the same as a stop sign and the yellow signal will allow you to proceed through the intersection with caution. If the light is not working at all, such as during a power outage, the intersection is to be treated as though it is a stop in all directions. Drivers should be prepared to stop and proceed through when it is safe to do so.

This is a concern for many people. In various locations, such as along West Main Street in Dudley, some local drivers assume the main street traffic has the “right of way” and do not stop. It is always wise to treat these situations with extra caution. If all vehicles chose to proceed through without stopping, serious accidents could occur. It is even more important under these circumstances to watch for other vehicles and pedestrians that could be in these locations. By taking some simple precautions, you could prevent accidents and serious injuries.

Thanks again for your questions and comments. Please send them to me at the Dudley Police Department, 71 West Main St., Dudley, MA 01571 or email at swojnar@dudleypolice.com.

To my son

YOUR TURN
• • • • •
SUBMITTED BY A MOTHER

Today's day should be a beautiful day for you my son because you are starting a new adult chapter of your life. For which you worked really hard for in a unique way for all the years you have spent in school. But seeing you sad, fills my heart with pain and sorrow.

Do not worry about the fact that they did not notice you in school, where you did so much. Do not worry about the people, whose gaze is short and reaches places that are superficial. I do not understand only one thing – why they picked you as the best student in school? They put you on a pedestal and then hid you behind the curtain. This was caused by jealous and hatred which are the most hideous qualities that the human being can accept in relation to the other person. You cannot say loud that among distinguishable students is an immigrant, who came here with his family a few years ago and is amongst those distinguishable ones who were born here. They do not know son, that when you were just three you were solving math problems from the third grade in elementary school. That after three months you learned the English language and you were the best reading and best spoken student in the English language in kindergarten. These are your teacher's words.

They do not know, that after three years of learning you were part of the small group of the best students in New England. They forgot what you did for the school, spending all your time for them, costing you most of your free time and time that you could have spent with us your parents, which I'm not going to lie I sometimes was jealous and mad. We always explained to you that if someone needs your help you cannot deny them, you throw everything and you go help the other person, you leave your matters because that is a human's obligation, a human who has not only a body but a soul which makes them a real person and not just a living creature. You took our lessons and our culture to heart, even when a tiring discrimination attacks were done on our family.

I appealed my lessons saying that if we are being destroyed for being immigrants, that no one, even the ones who stand to protect the law, do not want to help, than you should not help people, whose relatives, friends, neighbors, do everything to discourage us from living here. But the next day when I got more air into my lungs, I apologized and again I said- do what your heart tells you.

Today, however, it is hard for me to find that for all the goodness and help to others, for a distinctive attitude, for achievement in school, they have forgotten to mention a word about you. I admired you often that you could talk to people you do not know, who were decades older than you, you helped them and you helped us adults believe that the young generation is not isolated from the elderly and still have respect for them and interest in them. You were also admired by some teachers who have said very nice words about your work in a letter about you. This should re-open the faith of the faithful, that all is not lost yet, that perhaps humanity can be saved in people. Seeing how much time you devoted to others I was proud of you because, despite the difficult life here in this town Dudley, you could work for the inhabitants of this town and be proud that the hearts of these people were open to you. It is a pity, son, that so few people, so few people, so few people around us....

Instead of exterminating evil, it is better to spread the good.

Our experiences in this town are tragic ones, they are all the more tragic, that they tried to destroy not only us adults but all our family and in particular you. Today my heart with great gratitude opens to one public person who, as the only one saw the unfounded accusations toward you, the fact that you breathe not your air, stopped the process of destroying you. Thanks to this you could stand very high, probably of the highest rank among your peers, so do not grieve, and do not regret it because the future will show the value of each of us. The person who stopped the unlawful process of destroying the young child at the time will have our lifelong gratitude. We believe that goodness and justice, which she gave to you will return to her in double the amount.

Son, even our enemy shook your hand and said that it was a great pleasure to meet such a young man as you are – be very proud of it because we are very proud of you. What do these words mean to those who worked to destroy you? No one will know until they go through it themselves.

Be happy and be thankful for the fact that you met some people on your path, for whom there is nothing more important than a reliable assessment of the value and treating everyone as equal regardless of the origin. Be happy with it and take your education to the future, so that no one can ever say that you were doing something wrong, that you can always keep your head high to look around and spill your love around you, turning the black of this world into the most beautiful colors of summer.

Today, I am sorry once again that I have forced you out from the sunshine of our life and brought you to a country which was supposed to mean equality, freedom and the highest good and it turned out that the greatest evil was waiting for us, with whom we stayed and continue to stay alone; with the exception of the mentioned person.

I am sorry that I was ignorant and my information about this world was false.

I am sorry that as a mother I was not able to make the right choices. I still believed that always after the storm comes peace and that one day we will receive it. Let us keep our minds closed, let us open our hearts and bring out the evil with the good.

And one more thing son, remember, for all life remember that the fox was right, a friend of a little prince saying-I quote- “you see better with the heart, the most important things are invisible to the eye”. (“Little Prince” Antoine’a de Saint-Exupéry).

Let this thought conceal and guide you throughout your life and we will carry you in our hearts with pride along with those for whom goodness, morality and justice are the highest qualities of men, higher than connections, arrangements and money.

Help protect vulnerable family members from scam artists

FINANCIAL FOCUS

DENNIS ANTONOPOULOS

If you have older family members whose cognitive functions or decision-making abilities have declined, or who are lonely or recently widowed, you might need to help protect them against financial scams. What steps should you take?

First of all, try to gain a good sense of their overall financial activity. Look for red flags, such as a reluctance to discuss money matters, consistently unpaid bills, unexplained withdrawals, mysterious wire transfers or a sudden need to purchase large quantities of gift cards. And watch out for new “best friends” or caretakers who show an unusual interest in your loved one’s finances.

Whether or not you’ve observed any of these activities, you can help your elderly family members by making these moves:

Have checks (such as Social Security payments) directly deposited. You can help your family members avoid a lot of potential trouble by having their checks deposited directly into their bank accounts.

Seek permission to become a joint account owner. By becoming a joint account owner on your elderly family members’ checking and savings accounts, you can review statements for suspicious activity. Of course, your loved ones may be initially reluctant to add your name, but if you have a good relationship with them, you should be able to explain the benefits.

Shred bank statements, credit card offers and notices of lottery or sweepstakes winnings. One of the most useful gifts you can give to your elderly family members may be a shredder. Encourage them to use it to shred old bank statements, credit card offers and other financial documents.

Get on a “do not call” list. Telephone scammers are persistent and devious. By registering your family members’ house and cell phones at www.donotcall.gov, you may be able to reduce their exposure to unwanted calls.

Obtain power of attorney. By creating a power of attorney, your loved ones can designate you or another trusted relative or friend to assist with their finances now – for day-to-day assistance and protection from scammers – and later, should they become incapacitated. Again, you will need to employ some sensitivity when discussing this issue.

Check references of caretakers. As mentioned above, some caretakers are, unfortunately, dishonest. Before you hire one, check out this person’s references. And even when you do, be careful – scam artists have been known to use accomplices as references, so you will need to be thorough in your research and questions.

Get to know your family members’ financial advisors. If possible, become acquainted with your older family members’ financial advisors. Any reputable advisor will welcome a connection with their clients’ loved ones. And if you are involved in any estate plans, this multi-generational relationship will prove beneficial for everyone.

Ask to meet any new “friends” they have met online. When someone is lonely, they become vulnerable to online friendships. Sometimes, these new friends make promises of meeting, but never show – and then they suddenly need money for one reason or another.

It can be challenging to guard against all threats posed by the scammers of the world. But by staying alert and taking the appropriate preventive actions, you may be able to help safeguard your loved ones’ financial security.

“We go out Letterboxing and that is when Sara takes a lot of pictures, when she is out in nature,” says Lynn.

Letterboxing is this hobby where people who love to hike and explore, create boxes, and hide them wherever they like. At Atlasquest.com people sign up and give hints and clues to where their boxes are hidden. You can create your own box and hide it as well. In each box, and with each hiker or family of hikers there is a handmade rubber stamp. When you find the letterbox, you take the stamp provided and add it into your log book, you then take your stamp and add it into the secret box with a note. This is a wonderful hobby to get everyone outdoors and exploring. There are boxes hidden everywhere and scavenger hunt like clues to find them. The Heil family loves to venture into the great unknown and luckily, they have Sara to capture amazing images and bring them home.

Sarah is also a published writer and her story called Strings is a tale of connected souls on multiple levels from; love to friendship, hostility and death. Heil has multiple talents and is a mentor to all young girls and a beacon of hope for the future of teenagers and young women.

Rallying Cherry Valley Post 443 takes American Legion game from Main South

LEICESTER — Chris Kustigian's three-run double in the bottom of the fifth inning helped Cherry Valley Post 443's American Legion baseball team secure a close 5-4 come-from-behind win against Main South Post 341 on Thursday, July 5 at Rochdale Field.

"He's a freshman, he a little fire pot," praised Cherry Valley manager Jim Stephens of Kustigian. "He is a very good ball player."

A leadoff double by Jason Panient in the fifth inning is what got Cherry Valley rolling, as they trailed 3-2 and were in need of some offense. After two walks in three at-bats, Post 443 was able to load the bases with one out — a prime scoring opportunity that youngster Kustigian took advantage of. Kustigian was patient at the plate, drawing a long at-bat until he finally muscled a fast-ball into the right-center gap for the aforementioned bases-clearing double. This gave Cherry Valley a 5-3 lead late.

Post 443's other run support came from Tyrus Garvin, who was on the mound for Cherry Valley and hitting in the No. 8 spot. Garvin hit an RBI single in the home half of the second inning and also recorded an RBI when Michael Bordeaux scored from third in the fourth inning when reaching base via an error.

"We couldn't hit early in the game and then we manufactured a run," explained Stephens. "The bottom of the order did a good job, then the top came up and Jason [Panient] hit that double and we were able to clear the bases on that one play."

Garvin pitched five solid innings for Cherry Valley, allowing three runs — all coming in the fourth inning that was sparked by an error that gave Main South momentum. Garvin tallied seven strikeouts in his night of work.

Panient came in relief and pitched two innings, allowing one run on just one hit. He struggled early in his outing, walking two batters and hitting another to load the bases in the sixth, but Stephens relied on his pitcher to get out of trouble.

"He is a gutsy kid," Stephens expressed about Panient. "We didn't have anybody else hot at the time. He has a fresh arm; he has come in relief a couple times for us. He came in and closed the last couple games for us and it has been good. He is a gamer he is one of the older kids. I have faith in him."

Panient did just that after allowing an RBI single with the bases loaded to make it a 5-4 game, as he retired five of the last six batters he faced.

It wasn't just the solid pitching that got the job done for Cherry Valley. Defensively, Evan Fritze leapt high in the air to snap a potential extra-base hit and Joel Erickson showed his range at second base to chase down a hard-hit grounder, backhand it and send an accurate throw to first for an out.

"They played well, even that last play with a runner on first, if that ball gets down you never know what happens," explained Stephens. "The defense played good, there was a huge play to second earlier in the game, I thought it was base hit to right field, but Erickson made a great play on that one. That could've changed the game."

Cherry Valley is now an impressive 9-7 as the regular season winds down, while

Slow start hurts Sturbridge Post 109 in American Legion loss to Grafton Hill

SPORTS CORRESPONDENT

STURBRIDGE — Properly executed, the fundamentals of the game of baseball can lead to a team not only winning games, but also having a winning season. Not properly executed, however, the fundamentals of the game can lead to missed opportunities and can turn potential wins into devastating losses.

The Sturbridge Post 109 American Legion baseball team was painfully reminded about what happens when a team does not play a fundamentally sound game when it faced Grafton Hill Post 323 on Saturday, July 7 at Tantasqua Regional.

Post 109 made two errors and starting pitcher Spencer Cipro walked a pair of Hillers in the top of the first inning and all four base-runners ended up scoring to allow Post 323 to jump out to a four-run lead en route to a 12-2 victory in a game that was shortened to five innings because of the 10-run Legion mercy rule.

Grafton Hill improved to 15-5 with the win, while Post 109 dropped to 6-14 with the loss.

“Fundamentals killed us again. The first inning was the killer; they scored four runs on one hit,” Sturbridge manager Jim Rosseel said. “It would have been a whole different game if they didn’t score the four runs in the first inning. And what made it worse was we didn’t answer their four runs with any of our own.

“It would have been a different game if we scored a run or two to answer them, but we didn’t come back with an answer and that hurt us,” Rosseel continued. “If you answer back with a run or two, you’re telling the other team you’re still in it; that you’re not just going to pack up and go home.”

Sturbridge cut the Grafton Hill lead down to 4-2 with a pair of runs in the bottom of the second inning, but it was almost too little, too late.

“We did score two in the second, but it should have been three,” Rosseel said, “and we needed to score those two in the first.”

Koebke and Wetherbee both scored when Post 109’s next batter, Deven Kingman, doubled to right field. Kingman attempted to go to third on the hit, but was cut down for the first out of the inning on an accurate relay throw from Grafton Hill shortstop Mike Breen to Holbrook, who slapped the tag on Kingman for the out.

Post 323 answered Sturbridge’s pair of second-inning runs with three in the top of the third on a pair of singles and a triple, pushing its lead to 7-2.

Grafton Hill sewed up the victory with a five-run top of the fifth inning, the runs scoring on two doubles, three singles, two walks and a sacrifice fly.

Rosseel was disappointed by the loss, but he feels, because his team is young, that they will continue to improve, not only this season, but next season as well.

“We’re right there; we’re very close to being a really good team,” Rosseel said. “I’m frustrated with the way we are losing games, but I’m optimistic because the majority of our kids are coming back next year and when they do they’ll have a season of American Legion baseball under their belts. The struggles they’re going through this year are only going to help them — and us — going forward.

“I projected that next year is really going to be our year and I’m sticking with my projection, but it leaves a bad taste in your stomach when you give away all the games we’ve given away this year. We’re 6-14, but we could easily be 11-9,” Rosseel concluded.

Sturbridge's Patrick Wilbur watches as he sends a base hit to the outfield.

Natural pain relief is as close as your garden

Busy schedules, over indulging, and strenuous summer activities can lead to sore muscles, indigestion and headaches. When searching for pain relief, look no further than your own garden or your local farmer's market. These five foods fresh from the garden – or pot – are packed with super pain-relieving and anti-inflammatory power.

Mint
Infuse mint into your tea or ice water to refresh and rejuvenate, so you're ready for more summer fun. Mint also helps relieve headaches and general aches and pain. Grow this vigorous perennial herb in a container so it won't overtake your other plants. Then at the end of the season, root a few cuttings to start new plants to grow indoors. All you need is a sunny window, quality potting mix and regular watering.

Hot Peppers
Capsaicin, the spicy element in chili, jalapeno, habanero and cayenne peppers, is a great pain-fighting tool and is often used in topical creams to help treat backaches, arthritis and muscle pain. Hot peppers are ready to harvest when they are fully colored. Ask friends to share their harvest or purchase hot peppers at your local farmer's market if your garden is lacking this plant. Be sure to purchase extra hot peppers to dry and enjoy year-round. Then add these tasty and pain-relieving plants to your garden next summer. Plant them after the soil and air warm, at the same time you plant sweet peppers and tomatoes.

Cherries
Manage muscle pain and inflammation with sour cherries. They are loaded with disease fighting chemicals and antioxidants. Plus, they help fight inflammation and relieve pain. Purchase plenty of cherries to juice, dry and preserve so you can enjoy their health benefits all year long. And consider planting a sour cherry tree in your backyard. Montmorency is the most popular sour cherry tree, needing only 700 hours of air temperatures between 34 and 45 degrees to initiate flowering for fruit development. New hardier dwarf introductions from the University of Saskatchewan can be grown in colder regions including zone 2. Although it takes several years for cherry plants to start producing fruit, you'll enjoy watching your tree grow into maturity and bear its first crop. Just make sure to cover the plants with netting so the birds don't eat your harvest.

Ginger
Grow ginger in a pot outdoors or sunny window along side your other indoor plants. Ginger helps reduce inflammation and combat migraines, muscle pain, arthritis and post workout or post-gardening soreness. All this and it helps fight nausea so common during a summer filled with barbecues and celebrations. Although it's a tropical plant, you can find plants or rhizomes (the part you eat) online. Or join other enthusiastic gardeners who have had success rooting the rhizomes they have purchased at the grocery store to start new plants.

Sage
Harvest a few sage leaves, add hot water and brew a bit of sore throat relief. Sage tea has long been used to soothe scratchy and irritated throats and showed positive results in a 2006 clinical trial. Grow this herb in the garden or container. It thrives in a sunny spot with well-drained soil. Harvest leaves as needed throughout the season. Regular harvesting encourages more growth for future harvests. You can remove as much as one third of the plant at one time for preserving.

So next time you're feeling a bit of pain, look to the garden for a bit of relief. Even the simple act of tending your garden and harvesting produce can elevate your mood, lower your blood pressure and start you on the road to feeling better.

To Raise Creative Kids—Let Them Play

(NAPS)
Fostering a child’s courage to express creativity is perhaps one of the most important goals that parents can set for themselves.
Understanding Creativity
Often, when people think of creativity, they think of the arts, but it starts with play early in life and leads to other things as children grow. It’s through play that children begin to develop their creative muscles, whether with blocks, dolls or action figures. Beyond play, kids may find creativity in the way they play sports, clean their room, prepare their food or do their school-work.
According to experts at The Genius of Play™, a national movement to raise awareness about play’s critical role in child development and encourage more play in children’s lives, creativity can help build confidence, flexibility, individuality and mental agility, and even contribute to better physical health.
Expert Advice
Dr. Erik Fisher, Ph.D. and The Genius of Play

Enhance your children’s creativity by encouraging them to try new things.

expert, believes the best way to foster children’s creativity is to encourage them to try things and not feel afraid to fail. Failure itself is an amazing learning experience as it helps children develop tenacity and perseverance, which are some of the most important skills they’ll need later in life. At the same time, parents should be aware of their own emotions, attitudes and beliefs and be willing to create with their child. Many times, parents want their kids to “fit in” and don’t realize they’re stifling creativity. To help ensure that creativity is part of your child’s play routine, Dr. Fisher suggests:

• Don’t focus on just the arts. Play has a key role in helping develop children’s creative muscles. As children develop creativity in one area, it often extends to other areas.

• Help your kids stretch their creativity muscles and yours by experimenting with many different kinds of toys and playful activities. Trying new things lets kids discover what they like and explore their own talents.
• Observe and appreciate your children’s uniqueness and celebrate how they do things differently.
• There’s no better way to dry up creativity than with criticism. Try to find constructive ways to give feedback and seek ways to be positive.
• Help your child see failure through play as a learning experience, not a time to quit.

‘Hamilton’ Inspires Youth In Foster Care

(NAPS)
A generous donor recently opened up the worlds of theater, music and history to a group of deserving young people, especially picked for their passion and involvement in performing arts.
The Kids
Treehouse gives youth in foster care a childhood and a future. The nonprofit has increased the extended graduation rate for youth in its program to 89 percent. Nationwide, less than 50 percent of youth in foster care earn diplomas.
Shayla, a high school junior who wants to pursue a career in theater, was overjoyed to learn about the tickets.
“I screamed. I started crying. I was on the ground hyperventilating,” she said. “I couldn’t even say thank you because I couldn’t breathe.”
The Show
The musical would prove to be everything Shayla hoped.
“The sets were beautiful, the costumes were gorgeous and the actors did an amazing job,” she said.
“Hamilton” is based on the story of the nation’s founding fathers and has one of Broadway’s most diverse casts. The national tour for 2018 will perform in 20 cities around the country.
The play’s creator, Lin-Manuel Miranda, cast white historical figures—including Alexander Hamilton and Thomas Jefferson—with African-American, Latino and Asian-American actors. This decision has inspired young theatergoers across the country, including Treehouse youth.
“The best part for me was that Chris, my student, could envision himself playing a number of amazing characters,” said Mary Iannuzzi, Treehouse Education Specialist.
The Organization
Treehouse is based in Washington, operates statewide and provides guidance to organizations serving youth in foster care all over the country.

This Second Career Keeps You Rolling!

The fun, adventure and health advantages of selling electric bicycles can be easier to achieve than many people realize.
(NAPS)
By 2020, one in three Americans will be over age 50. If you or someone you care about expects to be among them, there’s something you may want to consider—and it’s electric.
An electric bike, that is. In fact, a whole shop full of them. Owning an electric bicycle store is an increasingly popular second or third career for many.
There are several good reasons:
1. The electric bicycle industry is booming. It’s expected to grow 60 percent worldwide by 2025. Pedego, the No. 1 electric bike company in the U.S., has helped more than 100 career want-to-be entrepreneurs open a store.
2. The bikes practically sell themselves. You just have to create an environment where it’s fun and easy to buy.
3. Owning a Pedego store is both enjoyable and fulfilling. People who own a store say it’s surprisingly good to see the smiles on customers’ faces or hear how riding an electric bicycle has changed their lives by expanding their social circles, helping them get fit or ditching their cars for green transportation.
4. The stores are NOT franchises. They’re independently owned and operated. You’re the boss—but you’re not alone. The company offers dealer support and services at no charge and there are no licensing or royalty fees.
5. Opening a Pedego store can be good for your health and happiness as well as your pocket. The store owners tend to be a fit bunch thanks to all the bicycling. Plus, it’s a great way to meet people and have fun. While some retirees find their worlds shrinking as work relationships trail off, electric bike dealers develop new friendships with the customers who join them for group rides.

Entertaining ways to prevent summer learning loss

Summer vacation presents an opportunity for students to enjoy an extended break from the classroom. While this respite from routine may be a welcome change to youngsters, teachers frequently lament that valuable educational lessons seem to be forgotten each summer. Educators then face tougher hurdles when students return to school in the fall.

Such a phenomenon is dubbed “summer learning loss,” but it can occur during any extended break from school. Scholars have realized for some time that students’ rate of academic development declines during summer vacation. Oxford Learning, a tutoring and education training group, offers these eye-opening statistics.

- Over the summer, students tend to lose 2.6 months of math skills and two months of reading skills.

- Summer learning loss can be seen in students as young as six.

- It can take up to two months from the first day of school to get students’ brain development back on course.

Summer learning loss, sometimes called “brain drain,” can be prevented. Proponents of year-round schooling at The National Association for Year-Round Education recommend a more balanced school year, where summer vacation lasts only 30 days and other school breaks are lengthened. In this scenario, the school year would still last about 180 days, but without the lengthy breaks.

Parents may prefer the status quo, and those who do can take several steps to prevent summer learning loss from affecting their children.

- Encourage more reading.

CAPTION: Reading is one of the best ways to keep young minds fresh during summer vacations.

Schools recommend summer reading lists, but students should also learn to read for pleasure. Research from the National Literary Trust indicates reading for pleasure can improve reading attainment and writing, as well as one’s general knowledge. Children can bring books to the beach that they can read between frolicking sessions in the waves.

- Enjoy family game nights. Games can be customized to highlight certain skills that require reinforcement. For example, math-centered games that require counting or addition can strengthen generalized math skills. Problem-solving board games may help children become better critical thinkers.

- Make vacations educational. Add travel to historical sites or other places of interest to help history come alive. When visiting new towns and cities, read the placards that explain important moments in history that took place in each town or city, making sure to include some thought-provoking areas of interest on your itinerary.

- Look for science moments. Trips to the seaside, parks and much more present myriad opportunities to learn about science. Children can stage their own experiments with items they find in nature, such as learning about tides, wind and water flow by sailing homemade boats.

- Teach kids through daily tasks. Barbecuing, making a cake, building a raised garden bed, seeding the lawn — each of these moments present educational opportunities for parents who want to keep their kids’ minds sharp during summer.

Children need not fall victim to summer learning loss when their days are filled with edu-

Keep Kids Busy With A Summertime PLAYlist

(NAPS)
When school’s out, it’s up to parents and caregivers to keep kids busy. Instead of waiting to hear the dreaded “I’m bored,” families can be prepared with fun activities to ensure children are playing and learning all vacation long.

According to experts at The Genius of PlayTM, a national movement to encourage more play in children’s lives, research shows that play is not only critical to healthy child development—it’s an important teaching tool. Through play, kids build physical skills, improve cognitive abilities, learn communication and social skills, process and express emotions, and increase creativity.

Meredith Sinclair, author and The Genius of Play Ambassador, suggests writing activities on popsicle sticks and placing them in a play jar to create a PLAYlist of fun ideas. Whenever children are bored or need inspiration, encourage them to select from the play jar to stir up their creativity.

To help get your PLAYlist started, Sinclair recommends the following activities:

- Grow a garden—A fun, educational way to let kids get dirty is by having them start their very own vegetable garden. They’ll love planting the seeds to watch them grow. They’ll also be learning a sense of responsibility and getting a confidence boost by being proud of what has blossomed under their care.
- Camping—No need to go far. Gather all the camping essentials, such as flashlights, sleeping bags, s’more ingredients and a pop-up tent, head to the living room or the backyard and set up camp for the night.
- Rock art—Whether used as decorations or to leave kind messages around the neighborhood, rock art is a trendy and easy craft. Have kids collect rocks of various shapes and sizes, and once the rocks are clean, use acrylic paint to decorate them.
- Make a movie—Nurture your children’s inner filmmakers by encouraging them to create their own movie using a smartphone/tablet, some of their toys to play the characters and crafts for scenery. Once the movie is finished, gather the family and some popcorn to have a viewing party and admire your children’s creativity.

Encourage your kids to express themselves with arts and crafts when school is out.

- DIY T-shirts—Have children play clothing designer for the day. Let them personalize a T-shirt with craft supplies such as tie-dye, puff paints, sequins, iron-on patches and anything else they might like.
