SOUTHBRIDGE WOMAN CHARGED IN CONNECTION TO INCIDENT

NEWS STAFF WRITER

STURBRIDGE — The Walmart on Charlton Road was still closed as of press time due to smoke and fire damage after Southbridge resident Maiya Cruz allegedly set three separate fires in the building on Sept. 27.

Auburn Police arrested Cruz as a result of an arrest warrant obtained by the Sturbridge Police in Sept. 28 at 9:15 p.m., and was later arraigned at the Dudley District Court. According to Lt. Earl Dessert of the Sturbridge Fire Department, the fire was determined to be deliberately set.

Cruz was charged with three counts of burning of building contents, three counts of destruction of property over $250, as well as disorderly conduct and disturbing the peace.

On Tuesday, Sept. 27 at approximately 5:25 p.m., Sturbridge police and fire personnel arrived at the Walmart after the jewelry section was reported to be on fire. It was determined that three separate fires had been set through-

Flutist Allison Hughes and guitarist Joseph Van Doran met at the Hartt School and are now both pursuing their masters in Flute Performance and Music, respectively. Both students have performed as soloists as well as in chambers and orchestras, while also performing in master classes.

Olivia Richman spoke with the talented musicians after their JEL show. To learn more about the performers visit Facebook.com/DuoAlterity and find them on Instagram. They can be contacted by duoalterity@gmail.com.

Both accomplished musicians and current master's students at the Hartt School, Allison Hughes and Joseph Van Doran hope to make performing together as Duo Alterity a full-time career.

Allison Hughes: "I had a family friend whose daughter played the flute who said I could have a flute if I ever needed one. And I knew other people who played the flute. I ended up picking it in fourth grade."

What did you like about it?

Hughes: "I didn't really know until about high school. It was the sound. The versatility of the sound. You can play in a duo, an orchestra and a

Calling all writers

NEW GROUP FORMED AT JEL

BY OLIVIA RICHMAN
NEWS STAFF WRITER

SOUTHBRIDGE — A new group is forming at the Jacob Edwards Library. A handful of residents have formed a writing group for anyone interested in sharing their work, sharing their ideas and receiving feedback. The relaxed group is for all types of writing styles and all types of writers.

Often thought of as a solo activity, the writing group is a chance for people to share work and ideas that may otherwise have never seen the light. It's a chance to inspire yourself and other writers, said Lynette Carron.

"The social aspect is great," he explained. "I thought it was really informative and enjoyable. We all had something in common — we love to write. We shared ideas and techniques with each other. It's something new. It keeps you from getting stale. You see new perspectives from everyone. It makes writing fun."

Carron herself starting writing only a year ago. As she began to read up on ways to improve her writing skills she saw in numerous articles that critiquing is a great tool. She found that people could point out things that were confusing or missing that she otherwise wouldn't have caught on her own.

She went to the JEL to find out if there was a group and was referred to the Joshua Hyde Library and other STURBRIDGE — For the first time, the Festival Of (Giving) Trees committee is hosting a fundraising event to benefit three agencies dedicated to preventing and curing cancer. The do-not-miss event is Thursday, Oct. 6 at 6 p.m. at Kahula in Sturbridge. Bring friends and family to a nice buffet dinner and presentation/reading by professional medium Gary McKinstry for just $40 per person.

In recognition of Breast Cancer Awareness Month (and Halloween), the Festival of (Giving) Trees committee felt it was the perfect time to debut their first fundraiser, giving attendees the chance to donate to some important causes and maybe even hear from a family member or friend who passed on to the other side.

"The first time I saw Gary do a presentation was about 15 years ago," said Chair Janet Garon. "I'm not sure if I believe in this stuff, but he's just amazing. He just seems to be right on. He's a lot of fun."

And with a huge following in the area (and nation), Garon knows McKinstry will be a hit. Whether you believe in what McKinstry does or not, it's sure to entertain and at make some skeptics curious. It's not every day you see people reconnect with someone

‘Something for everyone’ at upcoming book sale

BY OLIVIA RICHMAN
NEWS STAFF WRITER

STURBRIDGE — Looking for some good books to read? The Joshua Hyde Library’s Fall Bag of Books Sale is coming on Saturday, Oct. 15.

From 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., the library is holding one of their most popular book sales, where shoppers can fill a bag with gently used books for just $3. Taking place at the same time as the Harvest Fest, the Bag of Books Sale is always a huge hit.

Throughout the year the Joshua Hyde Library collects gently used books. Some of the books are taken out of circulation at libraries, but most of them are donated from library patrons and town residents. The collection is huge, taking over the library’s entire basement and out onto the lawn near the Town Common.

“We have everything that could be found in the library,” said Friends of the Joshua Hyde Library volunteer Jane Zavistoski. “There’s something for everyone.”

The books are separated by genre, including nonfiction – biographies, history, health, sports and cook books — and fiction. There’s also a large amount of young adult and children’s books. There’s even CDs.

The Joshua Hyde Library provides the bags. Last year their fall sale went very well, said Zavistoski. The sale made the Friends around $700, “which is a lot of books when you think that it’s only $3 for a whole bag of books.” They even ran out of children’s books by the end of the day.

The money goes back to the Friends, who pay for the extra programs at the library that the town budget does not cover. This includes the Summer Reading Program, museum passes and adult and children’s programs throughout the year, like concerts, speakers and other fun events.

“It’s absolutely important for the library to have more than books,” said Zavistoski. “It’s all for the community. It’s a real treasure for the people in this town.”

The book sale doesn’t only benefit the library however. According to Zavistoski, it’s a great opportunity for residents to get some great deals on books. Many new hardcover books can be $20 or more. At the Bag of Books Sale, patrons can purchase a bag of hardcover books (a bag can fit three or more) for just $3.

“It’s a really good deal if you’re into reading,” said Zavistoski. “You can really stock up for the winter. As a grandmother, I also appreciate the children’s books. I always encourage my grandchildren to read.”

Fundraiser benefits men’s church group

BY OLIVIA RICHMAN
NEWS STAFF WRITER

CHARLTON — Roast pork, mashed potatoes, mixed vegetables and a homemade dessert — it’s the Men’s Fellowship Pork Roast Dinner.

On Monday, Oct. 10, at 5:30 p.m., at the Charlton City United Methodist Church (74 Stafford St.), for just $10, the Men’s Fellowship is inviting family and friends to come enjoy a delicious, home-cooked meal.

The Men’s Fellowship hosts these dinners to raise money for the group. Their goal is to send five to seven teenage youths to local summer camps each year, in hopes of keeping the kids inspired and pick up where the adult church members left off.

Each dinner usually raises around $400 to $500, which is almost the amount it takes to send one youth to camp. According to Men’s Fellowship member and one of the cooks, Norman Ellis, the cost of summer camp keeps rising. In hopes of keeping up with the costs and reaching their goal, the Men’s Fellowship holds a total of six dinners a year, three in the spring and three in the fall.

up in church and do a short presentation on what they’ve learned and done. The parents also appreciate it. Some of them ordinarily wouldn’t be able to attend camps if it wasn’t for us, because of the cost.”

Ellis joined the Men’s Fellowship for not only the fellowship, but because he believed in their cause and believed in what they do for not only the youth, but for the community. During the year, the Men’s Fellowship also supports church members and local organizations in different ways, including paying for heat for some needy families.

Not to say the fellowship part isn’t another perk. Members of the Men’s Fellowship get together the morning of the dinner to prepare. According to Ellis, it’s a different group of guys each time, a “great mix of people at each dinner.”

Starting at 8 a.m., the members start slicing vegetables, mashing potatoes and setting up the roasters. A few people start setting tables a bit later. During the dinner itself, church youth work with the member to serve dinner.

“The food is always good quality food, prepared correctly,” said Ellis. “And the homemade dessert is usually something to be there for.”

this and other upcoming dinners or to make reservations (tickets are also available at the door) call 508-248-7379.

WSU names golf simulator after late Sturbridge resident

‘EVERYONE JUST KNOWS WHAT A GREAT GUY HE WAS’

BY OLIVIA RICHMAN
NEWS STAFF WRITER

WORCESTER — Friends, family and members of Worcester State University gathered earlier in September to dedicate a golf simulator in the university's brand new Wellness Center to the late Richard R. Korzec, a Sturbridge resident and “cherished member of the WSU Facilities Department who served as head coach of the golf team for 14 years,” said Renae Claffey, assistant to the President for Campus Communications.

Korzec's wife, Ann Veneziano-Korzec, who also works at Worcester State, said the dedication was “overwhelming in a positive way.” When her husband passed away four and a half years ago, Ann had written an e-mail to the entire campus, thanking them for every kind word, deed, donation and any type of support.

Said Veneziano-Korzec: “At the end, I asked them to stop me when they saw me on campus to tell me Rich stories. I really wanted to keep his spirit alive on campus and in my heart.”

It became quickly apparent that staff at WSU had also wanted to keep Richard's spirit alive on campus. A press release from Claffey states: “Korzec was so beloved by his family, friends, and co-workers that a group called ‘Friends of Richard Everywhere,’ or Team FORE, successfully raised more than $55,000 to name a golf simulator in his honor.”

The funds were raised with “no trouble,” she stated, adding: “Everyone just knows what a great guy he was.”

A cherished member of WSU and head coach of the school's golf team, Richard Korzec “was known for his sense of humor and his ability to make people smile.”

According to Veneziano-Korzec, when the multi-million dollar Wellness Center project had just begun construction, the school had reached out to faculty and asked what their wish for the Wellness Center was. Richard had said: “If I could shoot for the stars, I'd have a golf simulator for the golf team,” not knowing it would ever come to be. He never thought it'd be named after him, said Veneziano-Korzec.

Having coached the university's golf team and taught golf courses in the health sciences department, Korzec was an avid golfer himself. He was an athletic person in his younger years, said Veneziano-Korzec, but sports took a back seat when they started raising a family.

“He had a unique sense of humor that touched lives of everyone he met,” continued Veneziano-Korzec. “He was known for his sense of humor and his ability to make people smile.”

After being diagnosed with cancer, Korzec passed away at 54 in April 2012. A family always involved with charitable donations, Korzec's wife and three children established the Richard Korzec Memorial Fund, which makes donations on an ongoing basis to numerous charities in Korzec's honor. The golf simulator is just another way for Korzec to continue helping others.

Said Veneziano-Korzec: “On behalf of our family, we acknowledge this dedication with humility and a full heart.”

NEWS BRIEF

CASA Project hires new executive director

WORCESTER — The Board of Directors of the CASA Project of Worcester County is very excited to announce the appointment of Robb Zarges, PhD as their new executive director.

Dr. Zarges joins CASA having had 24 years of previous nonprofit management experience, 10 of which were as an Executive Director. He was Executive Director of Straight Ahead Ministries, Inc. for Worcester and New England Director. Dr. Zarges was Executive Director for Bridge Over Troubled Waters, Inc., Boston. Additionally, he is an adjunct Professor at Clark University. Dr. Zarges has a PhD in Organizational Leadership.

CASA is a financially stable, well-respected, non-profit human service corporation committed to abused and neglected children in the care of Worcester County Juvenile Court.

And since 1981, we have provided court advocacy for abused and neglected children by recruiting, training and supervising volunteer Court Appointed Special Advocates/Guardians ad Litem (CASA/GALs) who are appointed by a judge to serve one child or sibling group at a time.

In 2015, less than half of the above children in the court system in Worcester County received a CASA advocate. There are not enough trained volunteers. The board and staff have committed to double the number of children served by 2020 by ensuring a sufficient core of trained and supervised CASA advocates are available for all children in need of a court-appointed advocate.

Child abuse and neglect exists in many forms throughout all the communities of Worcester County; it is not limited by geography, race or socio-economic conditions. CASA Advocates serve in all five Worcester County courthouses where these cases are heard: Fitchburg, Leominster, Worcester, Dudley and Milford.

The CASA Project is in the midst of a transformation, growing from an organization powered by a network of dedicated volunteers to a mature, mission-driven and outward-facing organization that will be a partner and leader across Worcester County's human service sector. Dr. Zarges, as our new Executive Director, joins at a very important time for the organization.

Dr. Zarges started as Executive Director effective Aug. 29, 2016.

For more information regarding CASA Project, Inc. visit www.casa-worcestercounty.org.

BRIMFIELD — Women (and a few men) were excited to dress up in their favorite glamorous period pieces for a Victorian tea party at the Brimfield Town Hall, hosted by the Brimfield Library and Brimfield Senior Center. On Friday, Sept. 30 Friends of the Brimfield Senior Center served tea, sandwiches, scones and other goodies to the large crowd.

“I am hoping that this is the first of many inter-generational events combining the library, senior center and maybe even the school,” said Senior Center Director Eva Pittsinger. “I’d like to see more events like this in our town.”

Mrs. Gordon, a middle class housewife from 1908, discussed stories from her time and different fashion trends.

Senior Center director Eva Pittsinger helped serve tea.

Council on Aging board members Diane and Gus deMiranda were excited by the turnout. Said Gus: “This is great! We have a really active council considering the size of the town.”

The tea party interested more people than the Brimfield Library and Senior Center could have imagined. The Town Hall was full of dressed up ladies and gentlemen.

The Victorian tea party was a great opportunity to dress up and have fun with friends.

Marianne Germain said her late husband and her were Civil War re-enactors.

Mrs. Gordon told the intrigued audience about the mannerisms expected at early 1900 tea parties.

‘The best of the best’

LOCAL CHEERLEADER CHOSEN FOR ELITE TEAM

BY OLIVIA RICHMAN
NEWS STAFF WRITER

CHARLTON — Dudley Middle School student and Charlton-Dudley Rams cheerleader Abigail Peters was one of 14 cheerleaders in Central Massachusetts to make it onto the brand new Elite 14 team.

While most cheer teams “you sign up and you’re on, the Elite 14 had two tryouts for 7th and 8th grade boys and girls in Central Massachusetts on Aug. 25 and Aug. 27. Abigail found out on Aug. 29.

“The e-mail started off with, ‘Thank you for trying out.’ I was nervous. My heart had started to sink,” said Abigail’s mother, Ann Peters. “At the bottom it said, ‘Congratulations,’ and, ‘Welcome to the team.’ I am so proud of her all around. Everything she does, she’s just amazing.”

The Elite 14 team competes only once per year, at cheerleading nationals in Florida. That’s if they make it through local, state and regionals. Having the Elite 14 is new to Central Massachusetts, said Peters. A cheer coach for the Charlton-Dudley Rams, Peters recalls the Central Massachusetts Coordinator saying she had “exciting news” — she was going to start an Elite 14 team in the area.

“It’s remarkable to have an elite team,” said Peters. “It’s the best of the best. It’s a whole different level of competition and skill. I’m so excited to see it.”

Abigail went to her first practice on Sept. 17 and said it was “so much fun.” The girls were nice and the coaches were awesome, she recalled. She also noticed that the routines had required a lot more skill than her Rams performances, including tosses and flips.

Having moved from Webster to Dudley, Abigail had been on a level three cheer team and was the only cheerleader on the Rams with any former experience. Still, the 13-year-old was nervous at the Elite 14 tryout.

“But my mom and grandparents really support me a lot. I was really nervous but they really cheered me up,” said Abigail. “The choreographer had also put together routines that were fairly easy. He did a really good job making it simple, while still showing letting us show off the skills we needed.”

When Abigail saw the e-mail she was “just so happy.” She’s been cheering for the past three years. But it’s her 10th year dancing.

“I started dancing to be with my friends. I was able to do it with the people I loved,” said Abigail. “I love the costumes – you have to love the costumes. I also love being on stage and performing. I love the rush. I love knowing you did something good and it was fun. I can’t explain it.”

Soon, Abigail was dancing on a competitive level and she started to not find it to be as fun as it was previously. She said she still loved dance, but she didn’t like competing against her best friends.

“Dance is year-round, three to four days a week,” said Peters. “She wanted to do the school play but she couldn’t because of dance. She wanted to play an instrument. She couldn’t. It was dance or nothing. That’s all you could do. At least with cheerleading, she can still do dance, but not on a competitive level.”

Abigail described herself as someone who loves to keep busy. Outside of cheer and dance, the Honor Roll student enjoys field hockey, playing the alto saxophone and bas clarinet and teaching acrobatics to children. She also loves reading.

She said: “I like that it takes me to different places and I can be anywhere I want in the world without even leaving my room.”

All of the girls on the Elite 14 team are also busy fundraising. Each must raise $1,500, which includes paying for the gym rental space in Shrewsbury, their choreography, their plane ticket and room and board.

The people value the history here and preserve it'

LONDERGAN BRINGS KNOWLEDGE AND WRITINGS TO BRIMFIELD

BY OLIVIA RICHMAN
NEWS STAFF WRITER

BRIMFIELD — Writer and colonial historian Ed Londergan visited the Brimfield Senior Center on Thursday, Sept. 15, to discuss his popular book series and interesting facts about the area back in the late 1600's.

While living in West Brookfield with his wife 30 years ago, Londergan went to a breakfast place that had a placemat about the Ambush & The Siege of Brookfield.

"It lit me on fire," he said. "I started doing research over the years, picking up things here and there. What's neat about this area is that the people value the history here and preserve it."

With a passion for writing and history, Londergan kept the large crowd at the Brimfield Senior Center engaged, entertained and curious, earning his series some new fans.

Olivia Richman sat down with Londergan to find out more about his continuing series and some interesting things he's found out about the area's history over the years. Londergan's books are available on Amazon. Londergan may be contacted directly at 413-436-7901, or ed.londergan@gmail.com.

How did your first book, 'The Devil's Elbow,' come to be?

"I started doing research and learning more, visiting places. I read 50-60 books. In 2008, I picked up a notebook and started writing. I really have never stopped. Once that was done I realized I could continue the story. I wrote 'The Long Journey Home,' which covers the second half of the two main character's lives. I realized I could bring it up to current day. In the new book a retired college professor is telling his family's story."

What got you interested in history?

"I'm the co-president of the Quaboag Historical Society. I'm the member of the West Brookfield Historical Commission. I've been interested in history since I was a little kid. I would read historically oriented books from the first grade onward. What I really love about it is that you're not only learning, but you can use your imagination. You can understand and imagine what it was like in those days. To go in Foster Hill in West Brookfield and imagine that this was where Ayres Tavern was. This is how big it was. This is where the Native Americans were before the ambush. You can just imagine..."

What year does "The Devil's Elbow" take place?

"From 1650 to 1675. I was focusing on the first settlement that happened here — the Quaboag plantation settlement."

As I learned more about the Ambush & The Siege and the everyday life that people went through ... I was picturing how it was to live in those days."

What about that time in history appeals to you? What about it is interesting to you?

"How difficult it was. How you could be punished for just about anything. Fornication and adultery were rampant. They really just didn't stop. These people were just horrible. You go through historical records — they were being tried for those things everywhere. The fine was 10 lashes, for men and women."

It's interesting because people think of those times as very religious and strict, against fornication and the like.

"I started reading more and more. It was all over the place that people were being punished for adultery. Often times it was a single guy and a married woman or good old-fashioned fornication between two unmarried people. There were a lot of young marriages too. Sarah Kent got married at 14. How old are you?"

I'm 25.

"You would have been married 11 years and had three or four kids. Try that on for size! It's finding out the little details about these families that interested me. The Kent family only had twins. There was four sets of twins. That kind of stuff is amazing. I love trivia."

You said during your presentation that they didn't shower or brush their teeth, which really got a strong reaction from the crowd!

"That's what they were used to. That's what they knew. Seeing the Native Americans brush their teeth with a birch twig and sand, it was foreign to them. It really was."

Honestly, it sounds like the settlers were the "savage" ones!

"It was the Native American way of life. They were doing it right. The impact the settlers had on their way of life was horrific. They destroyed the culture. They were forcing them to try and act like the English, wear our clothes and believe our religion. Then they just took the land. They didn't even ask. They destroyed all the resources. They destroyed an entire way of life. They didn't view it that way but that's what the result was."

"The day that my publisher for 'The Devil's Elbow' told me she was publishing the book was the happiest day of my entire life," said Warren resident Ed Londergan.

It sounds like you have a very negative view of the settlers.

"They were much different than I originally envisioned. The more research I did, the more I realized it wasn't all with the best of intentions. They weren't malicious but their way of life and their beliefs contrasted so strongly with the Indians, the affect was just immediate and far-reaching. It was startling."

You said they were very strict.

"They were. Everything was done for the glory of God. If you read any of their letters, they refer to God, Jesus Christ, seven or eight times. It was absolutely amazing. I don't have a negative view. It was just different. I was thinking back to the grade school stories and high school history stories about pilgrims and their freedom of religion, hard-working people. But you lift up the covers and you see the everyday life and it was different than that."

How did it feel to have your first book published?

"The day that my publisher for 'The Devil's Elbow' told me she was publishing the book was the happiest day of my entire life. I'm thinking of finding a new publisher for the next one. It's a long process and I have fans that are clamoring for this. I may have to self publish. History is my major interest, but I have started writing about the business world, which I have a lot of experience with. I will do one on public speaking, too."

How does it feel to have fans that are this excited about the next book in your series?

"It's amazing. It's absolutely amazing to me. I still find it hard to believe. My wife and I go to Salem Cross Inn every Friday night. We were married there. We renewed our vows there. I was having dinner there one night. This woman came in and said, 'You're the author. I have to tell you the 'Devil's Elbow' is one of the best books I've ever read.' I was flabbergasted. It's amazing to have people tell me I'm their favorite author. I have a group of women who are demanding I start the third book. It's like putting your child out into the world. You don't know if people will like it or not. You get some bad reviews. What I have learned, I do have a good ability to tell a story."

How do you like giving speeches at libraries, senior centers and other places across the state?

"I enjoy them. I like telling people about the history and talking about my books. I love sharing the information. I love teaching."

What's next for you?

"My new book in the series — it will hopefully soon. Fans are saying it has to be by the Asparagus Festival, next May. It has to be out. It gives me something to shoot for."

NEWS BRIEF

Early voting announced in Southbridge

SOUTHBRIDGE — We are excited to announce that all registered voters will be able to vote before Election Day for the first time ever in Massachusetts.

Early voting will begin on Oct. 24 and continue through Nov. 4. Prior to the enactment of this new law, the only way a registered voter was allowed to vote prior to Election Day was through absentee voting. Although absentee voting will still be available for registered voters who qualify, only those who will be absent from their city or town on Election Day, or have a disability that prevents them from going to the polls, or have a religious belief preventing the same, are legally allowed to vote by absentee ballot.

Unlike absentee voting, early voting is for every registered voter. Registered voters do not need an excuse or reason to vote early. Regardless of whether a voter wants to take advantage of early voting, vote absentee or vote on Election Day, the first step is making sure you are registered. To check to see if you are registered to vote, and to find information on how to register to vote, you may visit the Secretary of the Commonwealth's website: www.sec.state.ma.us/ele. If you need to register to vote, you may do it online by visiting: www.RegisterToVoteMA.com. All you need is a license or an I.D. issued by the Registry of Motor Vehicles to apply online. To be eligible to vote in the November 8th State Election, you must register to vote or make any necessary changes to your voter registration by Oct. 19.

Early voting can be done in person or by mail. In Southbridge, early voting can be done in person at Town Hall, 41 Elm Street during the following dates and times:

Monday, Oct. 24 to Wednesday, Oct. 26: 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Thursday, Oct. 27: 8 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Friday, Oct. 28: 8 a.m. to Noon

Saturday, Oct. 29: 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Monday, Oct. 31 to Wednesday, Nov. 2: 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Thursday Nov. 3 : 8 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Friday, Nov. 4: 9 a.m. to Noon

For public convenience, Southbridge has also decided to offer weekend hours on Saturday, Oct. 29, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Also, registered voters have the option to request an early voting ballot through the mail. Simply fill out an application and mail it to Town Clerk's Office, 41 Elm St., Southbridge, MA 01550. You can find the application on the Secretary of the Commonwealth's website: <http://www.sec.state.ma.us/ele>.

Please note, however, once a voter has cast an early voting ballot, the voter may no longer vote at the polls on Election Day.

For the first time in Massachusetts, the first choice all voters will make is which day to vote. Early voting will make the most fundamental right of our citizens more convenient than ever to exercise. We encourage all of our citizens to exercise that right and take advantage of the opportunity to vote on their schedules.

Friday's Child

Rene is an eleven-year old boy of Hispanic descent who can speak both Spanish and English. Rene is described as bright, engaging and curious. He does well with support and affection and is motivated by praise. Rene loves to play video games, go outside and go to the park. He is both active and athletic and enjoys playing sports like basketball. Rene has been working on expressing his needs and his feelings and has been making progress. He will need a family that can give him nurturing support.

Legally freed for adoption, it will be important to Rene for a future family to help him maintain quarterly visits with his siblings. Families will also need to be open to post-adoption visits with his birth mother. The ideal family for Rene would have no children or older children and would allow Rene to have his own room

Have you ever considered adopting a child or sibling group from foster care? Learn more about adoption from foster care at "The Adoption Option" on Sunday, October 2, 2016 from 9 - 11 a.m. at Jordan's Furniture, 50 Walker's Brook Drive, Reading, MA 01867. Prospective adoptive parents, including those new to foster care adoption, are invited. Families new to the process will have the opportunity to attend an orientation to the adoption process and speak with social workers and experienced adoptive parents who can help answer questions. Waiting children and their social workers will also be in attendance. Birthday perspective

MINOR

It all started with a random phone call last week. I was enjoying some post-dinnertime goofing around with the kids when the phone buzzed in my pocket from an undisclosed phone number. Normally, I don't answer phone calls from phone numbers I don't recognize. I've been called by telemarketers too many times. I'm sure many of you can understand. If it's important, they always leave a message, anyway.

This time though, I thought, "Why not?" It was from an area code I recognized, and I did have a new phone that didn't yet have all my contacts, so I answered it. After the pleasantries, the conversation went a little like this.

"Hi Adam! My name is (I actually forgot her name)! I'm calling from Eastern Connecticut State University, and we are catching up with all our alumni to update their contact information."

I immediately felt a donation request coming, so I became tempted to end the conversation right there, but I let her do her spiel and we confirmed address and e-mail information.

"I see you graduated in 2005," she said.

"Yes, I can't believe it's already been 11 years since I left."

"Have you come back at all since then?"

"Maybe a couple of times. I've driven by a lot. The campus looks a whole lot different now then it did back then. A lot less parking, and a lot more residential space."

She laughed. "What was your major?"

"Communications."

"Did you end up getting a job in your field?"

I smiled, remembering the years spent at that school, with all my fellow students telling me I would never use a "Communications" degree after switching from an Elementary Education focus in my freshman year. I heard the horror stories of graduates getting out and struggling to get any sort of work using their degree. Even my dean was non-committal about his confidence in my future prospects.

"I did, actually," I said, as the conversation continued. "I got a job about four months after I graduated as a reporter and I haven't looked back since. Here we are, 11 years later, and I'm the managing editor."

"That's awesome!" she excitedly said, which jarred me. She seemed sincere, even though I didn't know her.

The phrase "11 years later" actually had me taken aback quite a bit as well. As I celebrate my 33rd birthday this week, I suddenly realized that I have now spent an entire third of my life in the field of journalism. That's a significant portion of my life. I let out a sigh of realization as it hit me. She seemed to notice.

"Time flies, doesn't it?" she asked.

"It will for you, too," I said. She was a Communications major, as well.

As the conversation ended, we wished each other well, but before she hung up, she just had to do it.

"Would you consider making a donation to the Alumni Association?"

DISTRICT GOVERNORS VISIT ROTARY

STURBRIDGE — The Sturbridge Rotary Club was visited recently by Pat and Skip Doyle, Co-District Governors for Rotary District 7910. The Co-District Governors are visiting each of the 51 clubs in District 7910 to deliver their message for the current Rotary year of July 1 through June 30. Prior to the member meeting where open dialogue was exchanged, the governors met with the Club officers and committee chairs to review their strategic plans for the year. The Doyles have a long and successful history with Rotary and are well known by many of the members throughout the District. Stand up to Big Tobacco

To the Editor:

As the school year begins, let's be aware that youth are being targeted by the tobacco industry. Big Tobacco is sweet-talking our kids with products that are sweet, cheap, and easy to get. Fruit and candy flavors in little cigars, chewing tobacco, hookahs, electronic cigarettes and e-liquids attract youth and contain varying amounts of nicotine that can lead to nicotine addiction.

The tobacco industry has been producing these tobacco products using the same flavor chemicals found in candy and soft drink products like Life Savers, Jolly Ranchers and Kool Aid. Yet they are not harmless. The tobacco industry is using these flavors to attract youth to products that are highly addictive because they contain nicotine.

In fact, the U.S. Surgeon General found that flavorings in smokeless tobacco products are part of a "graduation strategy" that encourages new users to start with flavored products with lower levels of nicotine and work their way up to more addictive products.

What can you do? Make sure young people know that these tobacco products contain nicotine and are not harmless. This is the time when youth are learning new and important information; as concerned adults, let's make sure they learn that flavored tobacco products contain nicotine.

For more information and to learn how you can take action, visit GetOutraged.org or contact Tina Grosowsky or 508-856-5067. Big Tobacco is trying to sweet talk our kids into a lifetime of tobacco addiction.

'We look forward to serving the community again'

To the Editor:

Liberty Tax Service in Southbridge was one of the many victims of the sox-alarm fire on Main Street on Aug. 28.

We would like to thank the Southbridge fire chief and police chief for allowing us to go into the building to get important files out. Firemen escorted our staff into the building giving us 4 minutes to get whatever we could. Everything was damaged but our main concern was the files with our customers' sensitive information.

We would like to assure our valued and loyal customers that we were able to get those files and all their records are safe.

We would also like to thank CEO of Liberty Tax Service John Hewitt, Angela Ianni and Brittany Allen for their amazing support during this stressful time. They were able to send us many different supplies to help us get back on our feet.

We were able to find another office, and in three short weeks were able to open our office again. The new office is located at 331 Main St. It is right across the street from the old office. We are open and able to continue work as normal. Please feel free to call our office at 508-765-1120. Tax school classes have also resumed.

We appreciate again all the help we received. We look forward to serving the community again.

Vote for smart investment moves

The presidential election is little more than a month away. Like all elections, this one has generated considerable interest, and, as a citizen, you may well be following it closely. But as an investor, how much should you be concerned about the outcome?

Probably not as much as you might think. Historically, the financial markets have done well – and done poorly – under both Democratic and Republican administrations. Also, many factors affecting investment performance have little or nothing to do with the occupant of the White House. Consequently, no one can claim, with any certainty, that one candidate is going to be "better for the markets" than another one.

Still, this isn't to say that any given presidential administration will have no effect at all on investors. For example, a president could propose changes to the laws governing investments, and if Congress passes those laws, investors could be affected.

But in looking at the broader picture, there's not much evidence that

a particular president is going to affect the overall return of your investment portfolio. As mentioned above, many factors – corporate earnings, interest rates, foreign affairs, even natural disasters – can and will influence the financial markets. But in evaluating a president's potential effect on your investments, you also need to consider something else: Our political system does not readily accommodate radical restructuring of any kind. So it's difficult for any president to implement huge policy shifts – and that's actually good for the financial markets, which, by their nature, dislike uncertainty, chaos and big changes.

The bottom line? From your viewpoint as an investor, don't worry too much about what happens in November. Instead, follow these investment strategies:

Stay invested. If you stop investing when the market is down in an effort to cut your losses, you may miss the opportunity to participate in the next

When is Social Security income taxable?

MONEY
JASON
MAIN

Your Social Security income could be taxed. That may seem unfair, or unfathomable. Regardless of how you feel about it, it is a possibility.

Seniors have had to contend with this possibility since 1984. Social Security benefits became taxable above certain yearly income thresholds in that year. Frustratingly for retirees, these income thresholds have been left at the same levels for 32 years.

Those frozen income limits have exposed many more people to the tax over time. In 1984, just 8 percent of Social Security recipients had total incomes high enough to trigger the tax. In contrast, the Social Security Administration estimates that 52 percent of households receiving benefits in 2015 had to claim some of those benefits as taxable income.

Only part of your Social Security income may be taxable, not all of it. Two factors come into play here: your filing status and your combined income.

Social Security defines your combined income as the sum of your adjusted gross income, any non-taxable interest earned, and 50 percent of your Social Security benefit income. (Your combined income is actually a form of modified adjusted gross income, or MAGI.)

Single filers with a combined income from $25,000-$34,000 and joint filers with combined incomes from $32,000-$44,000 may have up to 50 percent of their Social Security benefits taxed.

Single filers whose combined income tops $34,000 and joint filers with combined incomes above $44,000 may see up to 85 percent of their Social Security benefits taxed.

What if you are married and file separately? No income threshold applies. Your benefits will likely be taxed no matter how much you earn or how much Social Security you receive.

You may be able to estimate these taxes in advance. You can use an online calculator (a Google search will lead you to a few such tools), or the worksheet in IRS Publication 915.

You can even have these taxes withheld from your Social Security income. You can choose either 7 percent, 10 percent, 15 percent, or 25 percent withholding per payment. Another alternative is to make estimated tax payments per quarter, like a business owner does.

Did you know that 13 states also tax Social Security payments? North Dakota, Minnesota, West Virginia, and Vermont use the exact same formula as the federal government to calculate the degree to which your Social Security benefits may be taxable. Nine other states use more lenient formulas: Colorado, Connecticut, Kansas, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, New Mexico, North Dakota, Rhode Island, and Utah.

What can you do if it appears your benefits will be taxed? You could explore a few options to try and lessen or avoid the tax hit, but keep in mind that if your combined income is far greater than the $34,000 single filer and $44,000 joint filer thresholds, your chances of averting tax on Social Security income are slim. If your combined income is reasonably near the respective upper threshold, though, some moves might help.

If you have a number of income-generating investments, you could opt to try and revise your portfolio, so that less income and tax-exempt interest are produced annually.

A charitable IRA gift may be a good idea. You can make one if you are 70 1/2 or older in the year of the donation. You can endow a qualified charity with as much as $100,000 in a single year this way. The amount of the gift may be used to fully or partly satisfy your Required Minimum Distribution (RMD), and the amount will not be counted in your adjusted gross income.

You could withdraw more retirement income from Roth accounts. Distributions from Roth IRAs and Roth workplace retirement plan accounts are tax-exempt as long as you are age 59 1/2 or older and have held the account for at least five tax years.

Will the income limits linked to taxation of Social Security benefits ever be raised? Retirees can only hope so, but with more baby boomers becoming eligible for Social Security, the IRS and the Treasury stand to receive greater tax revenue with the current limits in place.

The silver lining of infertility

I imagine that headline immediately sparks a “WTF?” reaction from some people, so let me say from the outset that I’ll explain it in a little while.

We’ve all occasionally seen stories talking about the decades-long decline in male sperm count and number of children, especially in the West. Several nations today have fallen below “replacement levels,” meaning their birth rates are lower than death rates, so their population is growing only from immigration. (The world’s population as whole, though, is still growing, albeit more slowly than when we were young.)

The decline is often attributed to improved economic conditions and education, and with them, expanding knowledge and use of contraceptives. Those certainly do play a role, but I suspect a far more serious factor is the long-term, global, uncontrolled experiment industrial society has been conducting on ourselves and the rest of Nature for decades now.

By that, I mean our exposure to small, constant doses of the more than 70,000 manmade chemicals we’ve released into the ecosystem, the vast majority of which have never been tested for reproductive toxicity alone or in combination. Many of those that have been tested are toxins; for example, the Physicians for Social Responsibility website lists the following, which are frequently found in common household products: benzene, formaldehyde, styrene (yes, as in those take-out containers), several garden pesticides, phthalates, and the now-notorious BPA. Add those to the higher-than-normal radiation levels Earth has had since 1945 from nuclear testing and accidents, and it should not be a surprise our fertility is falling.

With most Americans having well over 100 chemicals that didn’t exist in our grandparents’ era permanently in our bodies, we’ve been waging a decades-long chemical, biological and nuclear war on ourselves, and we’re losing, slowly. The most notable casualties aren’t the living, however — they’re the ones who will never live at all.

Unfortunately, chemical exposure is only barely — if at all — mentioned in mainstream sources that discuss childbirth and causes of infertility. Babycenter.com, for example, cites it only in relation to men, alongside various medical conditions, hormonal issues, long-distance biking, STDs, and drug, tobacco and high alcohol use. For women, they list many of the same, plus thyroid issues, caffeine use (more than 300mg/day, approx. two cups of coffee) and “significant” over/underweight status.

Gradually, we’ve been learning that some chemicals can cause many of the health concerns that underlie infertility. Termed endocrine disrupters, they often have the biggest effect in tiny doses at critical periods of development in utero, during infancy, and during puberty. Because they mimic or interfere with our natural hormones at times those hormones are most important, they alter the normal path of development.

We’ve seen it happen with many animals, causing fish with sexual features of both sexes for example, and common sense says the contamination is doing the same thing to humans, since the hormones in use are nearly identical across Nature.

I’ve been thinking about this because I’ve been coming to the conclusion that Maureen and I are effectively infertile. According to babycenter.com, unprotected sex results in conception in the first cycle 30 percent of the time and within one year, 85 percent of the time. As I understand it, the medical definition of “infertile” is more than a year; for us, it’s been longer. The website also notes the duration changes at age 35, when it drops to six months, and we’re both in our 40s.

I know age is a factor, as are our lifelong chemical exposures, probably my dad’s exposure to Agent Orange in Vietnam, and probably Maureen’s near-fatal car accident in 1986. Combined, I’m a little sad, but I’m not really surprised. Looking back, part of me knew already, since a previous girlfriend and I tried to have a child without success 10-12 years ago.

With all that, what’s the silver lining? Well, infertility has what we could call a “negative positive” — we’re not adding to the resource depletion and pollution caused by population growth, and might opt to adopt a child who already needs a good home. We can focus time and energy that would go to childcare on public issues, on learning new things, and on exploring our world. It also has an admittedly hedonistic positive: sex is more fun without having to worry about such things.

In the long run, though, we as a society need to address the contamination problem fast — if it’s even possible to do so by now. While Maureen and I are at best lukewarm about having kids anyway, the fact it’s our choice is very different from pollution that makes such a choice impossible for millions of people.

History of auctions

While auction bidders are entering bids on their smart phone they may not be aware that they are taking part in an event whose history dates back as far as Ancient Greece in 500 BC.

A sourcebook on the Fordham University website states that Marcus Aurelius didn’t have any money to pay his soldiers during his rule from 161 to 180 AD. He sold his imperial furniture and decorations in the Forum of Trajan. The National Auctioneers Association reports that Rome was the first “nation” to license auctioneers. The “Magister Auctionarium” drove a stake into the ground to start the auction.

When the Pilgrims arrived in America they used auctions to sell “crops, imports, livestock, tools, slaves and entire farms.” Candles were used at auctions in the 1700’s. If you were the high bidder on an item when the candle burnt out and the flame died you won the bidding. By the mid-1700’s auctions were often held at taverns. Elaborate and detailed catalogs were created to auction works of art. George Washington was an avid auction buyer.

During the Civil War colonels were the only people allowed to auction war plunder. Auctioneers today now hold the honorary title of Colonel. The first auctioneer school in the United States was opened in 1906. Many auctioneers were needed to liquidate assets during the Great Depression. Over the years, auctions continued to be a preferred method to liquidate business assets, to sell personal property from estates and to sell valuable objects of all kinds.

The Internet has changed the way most businesses operate and auctions are no exception. eBay was founded in 1995 and offers a way to auction items online. There are many other platforms now available for both online sellers and buyers. When we recently ran an auction with an important collection of radios we took advantage of modern technology but also used some tried and true methods. A scribe entered winning bidder figures into a PC that was networked into other computers used by clerks. The clerks used the computers to check people in and cash them out at the end of the sale. Some bidders had called us prior to the auction and left absentee bids. Our staff also handled telephone bids from bidders who couldn’t attend in person. We had a speakerphone so bidders across the country could hear my bid calling while they bid on the radios with their personal computers or smart phones. Despite all of the modern technology, the auction had an old fashioned feel for those who attended. The client had a catered barbeque and the auction took place under a tent on his lawn. Modern technology is great but I’m sure those who were able to attend and bid live under the tent found that it was well worth the drive to attend in person and be a part of the event.

The preview for a Worcester online moving sale of a doctor’s home takes place on Oct. 8. Our September radio auction generated over $200,000 in sales and drew bidders from as far away as Minnesota and Texas. We will be offering the second session of the radios on Nov. 13 in Carlisle. See www.centralmassauctions.com for more information on these and other events.

Sleep: More important than you think

I wish I could take back all those naps I protested as a child. As an adult I feel like I need more sleep than I ever thought possible. Maybe it’s being a working mom with a busy family, but it is more likely associated with not living as healthy of a lifestyle as I could be.

Growing up I used to hear the phrase, “beauty sleep,” but I never thought much of it. But that phrase actually has a good amount of merit to it. Sleep is crucial to living a healthy life. Some better known benefits are, for starters, you’ll be a generally happier person, your body takes this time to repair daily damage done to your cells and tissues, you will maintain an improved memory, your body has a stronger chance of building up defenses against disease, your skin will appear much healthier, and the list goes on.

Most people don’t get enough sleep at night. The average adult requires anywhere from 7-9 hours of sleep a night, and the average child and adolescent should get about 10 hours. I am sure we have all had the occasional day or two we haven’t slept nearly enough. My senior year during finals I lived off of coffee and power naps, when my children were infants I was sure I would never sleep more than 2 hours in a row ever again, then there are the nights that sleep just won’t come, no matter how many sheep you count.

The body does some amazing things while it sleeps. And without sleep or not enough sleep your body starts to slow down due to lack of rest.

What happens if you don’t get enough sleep?

• The battles of the hormones! Extra cortisol

(a stress hormone) is released when you lack sleep. Cortisol attacks your skin collagen and in larger amounts helps to create dull skin tone, fine lines and wrinkles, elasticity, and dark circles.

• You get sick! Without enough rest your body can’t build up immunities to help keep you from getting sick — most commonly, diabetes and heart disease.

• You start to lose your mind! You become increasingly forgetful, you can’t think straight, and you are more apt to making bad judgment calls.

What if sleep is just not in the schedule?

• Go ahead, sleep late tomorrow. Knowing there is an end to the madness when your body just can’t shut down actually helps re-energize you enough to make it through.

• Avoid alcohol and carbs, these actually cause rapid drowsiness and cause your body to run even slower than it already is. Keep to the vitamin and protein packed meals and snacks.

• Exercise actually doesn’t make you more worn out, well it might for the first few minutes, instead it gets the heart rate up, the blood pumping, and a more energized you.

How can I get sleep?

• Give up the evening caffeine. Keep the coffee for the morning, avoid the dinner soda, and no more snacking before bed.

• Stick to a schedule. Keeping a routine that allows you to wind down before bed.

• Put down that phone or tablet. I know you are probably thinking “but it helps me become sleepier!” It doesn’t, I promise. Not only does it fuel your brain to keep going even after your eyes close, the actual light penetrates your retina signaling your brain not to shut down.

• Drink some warm tea. Decaffeinated preferably. The warmth will settle your belly and the process if sipping tea is very relaxing.

So do yourself a favor. Get some more sleep, rest more, don’t feel guilty about feeling lazy. Typically if you feel a certain way, your body is trying to tell you something.

processor and rice it. Roast it. What is your favorite way to prepare cauliflower?

This weeks tip: Did you know sleep helps you lose weight and build muscle?

Advice from a Pro: “Cardio first for a few weeks before starting any exercise routine. This was you prepare your body and lessen your chances for muscle injury.” -TCFB, gym goer rally – and the early stages of a rally are typically when the biggest gains occur.

Diversify. By spreading your dollars among an array of investments, such as stocks, bonds and other investments, you can help reduce the possibility of your portfolio taking a big hit if a market downturn primarily affected just one type of financial asset. Keep in mind though, that diversification can’t guarantee profits or protect against all losses.

Stay within your risk tolerance. Investing always involves risk, but you’ll probably be more successful (and less stressed out) if you don’t stray beyond your individual risk tolerance. At the same time, if you invest too conservatively, you might not achieve the growth potential you need to reach your goals. So you will need to strike an appropriate balance.

Forget about chasing “hot” stocks. Many so-called “experts” encourage people to invest in today’s “hot” stocks. But by the time you hear about them, these stocks – if they were ever “hot” to begin with – have probably already cooled off. More importantly, they might not have been suitable for your needs, anyway. In any case, there’s really no “short cut” to investment success.

Elections – and even presidents – come and go. But when you “vote” for solid investment moves, you can help yourself make progress toward your financial goals.

Waste not, want not: Tips to save money

The old depression era adage “use it up, wear it out, make it do or do without” rings true today, as the stalled economy has almost everyone tightening their financial belts.

The most simple (and painless) way to boost the family budget is cutting down on household waste. While statistics show the average household has a long way to go when it comes to conserving the basic necessities, a renewed awareness and a little effort can have a huge “payback” — proving the conservation of food, water and fuel is good for the pocketbook as well as the planet!

***

Food Facts: According to a study done by the USDA, Americans waste almost 27 percent of all the food produced in the U.S. each year. In fact, the average household throws away more than 1.25 pounds of food each day, a 50 percent increase since 1974. That means the average family of four is currently losing approximately $590 worth of food each year! Ready to do something about it? Read on for some suggestions:

***

Live by the list: Research reveals grocery shopping without a list can account for spending 20 percent more than planned. The study also shows impulse buying occurs on almost than 60 percent of all supermarket trips! Whether you jot down your pantry needs on paper or use a shopping list app, this first step can nip food waste in the bud!

***

Soup it up: Most of us are guilty of throwing out the ends of chopped vegetables, or carrot tops, celery leaves, and stems from herbs and such, but the truth is these throwaways are full of flavor. Make it a habit to toss veggie odds and ends into ziplock bags and store the freezer. Do the same for vegetables that are starting to wilt. When you have enough for stock, simply boil up and strain as a base for homemade soups and stews.

***

Daily bread: Think before you fling out that stale bagel, bread heel, or bag of post cookout hot dog rolls. Allow bread to dry out, and then periodically whirl them in the blender to create flavorful bread crumbs. Add Italian or other seasonings to vary the tastes. You’ll never have to buy breadcrumbs again.

***

Freeze food costs: If you are a single person household or can’t consume a loaf of bread before it goes stale, why not freeze the loaf upon purchase and defrost slices on a daily basis? Ditto for bakery items such as rolls and donuts (raised freeze better than cake donuts). Keep baked goods in the freezer and take out as much as you need each morning.

***

Loose is less: Buying fruits, vegetables, hot dogs and deli meats loose, rather than by the bag or pound, eliminates waste. As a bonus, you often end up with fresher foods.

***

Chow challenge: Want to test your culinary creativity while cutting down on food waste and costs? Plan a “grocery free shopping week” every other month. Skip the weekly shopping trip and vow to make meals using only pantry, fridge and freezer foods on hand. This not only encourages creativity in the kitchen but it can be a fun family challenge.

***

Water Works: Saving our natural resources is an important effort that all ages can participate in. The Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) promotes water efficiency year round, and offers these “water waster” solutions:

***

Locate a leak: Leaky faucets that drip at the rate of one drip per second can waste more than 3,000 gallons of water each year, but it’s not always easy to gauge whether or not you have a leak. Here’s an easy test: If you’re unsure if you have a leak, read your water meter before and after a two-hour period when no water is being used. If the meter does not read exactly the same, you probably have a leak.

***

Toilet trouble: According to the American Water Works Association, toilets account for 45 percent of all indoor water use in an average household. It is estimated that 20 percent of all toilets leak - and that translates into 200 gallons of water wasted every day! To tell if your toilet has a leak, place a drop of food coloring in the tank and wait a half hour. If the color shows in the bowl without flushing, you have a leak.

***

Tub tip: Did you know full bath tub requires about 70 gallons of water, while taking a five-minute shower uses 10 to 25 gallons? If you must take a bath, be sure to stopper the drain immediately and adjust the temperature as you fill the tub to prevent waste.

***

Tap the savings: The average bathroom faucet flows at a rate of two gallons per minute. But the simple act of turning off the tap while brushing your teeth in the morning and at bedtime can save up to 8 gallons of water per day, which equals 240 gallons a month!

***

Offset pump prices: With gasoline prices unpredictable, most of us have practiced the basics of fuel conservation, from eliminating the junk in our trunk and properly inflating tires to avoiding high speeds and jack rabbit starts. Just in case you haven’t heard, here are a few more suggestions to cut your fuel costs down to size:

Filter Fix: Want to improve your gas mileage by as much as 10 percent? Check your air filter. Statistics show nearly one in every four cars needs their air filter replaced.

***

Always align: Did you know poor alignment not only wears your tires out faster, but it forces your engine to work harder? Proper aligning of tires can cut up to 10 percent of gas usage.

***

Idle debate: The big debate continues. At what point is it more efficient to turn off the ignition rather than let the engine idle? According to car experts, here’s a rule of thumb: For most vehicles the energy balance will be positive if you shut off the car for more than 20 seconds. You’ll realize even more fuel savings if you are running the air conditioning while idling.

NEWS BRIEF

CASA Project seeks volunteers

The CASA Project, a non-profit organization celebrating its 35th anniversary this year, seeks CASA (Court Appointed Special Advocates) volunteer guardians ad litem to help abused children find safe, permanent homes as quickly as possible.

CASA GALs fact-find and submit court reports to the Worcester County Juvenile Court. CASA GALs also advocate for needed educational, medical, and mental/behavioral health services while the child is in the care of the state. A CASA volunteer works with one child or sibling group at a time. All of the children are victims, and 70 percent are under 12 years old. Approximately 40 percent of CASA’s children are under 6 years old. Both men and women are needed. CASA takes about 6-10 hours per month, and most activities are done at the CASA volunteer’s convenience. CASA provides free volunteer training classes. CASA also provides professional guidance and support for every CASA GAL volunteer. If you can find two hours per week to help, The CASA Project needs you. Call The CASA Project at 508-757-9877 or visit our website: www.casaworcester.org or email us at volunteers@thecasaproject.org.

Psychic event to benefit Festival of (Giving) Trees

TREES

who has crossed over. The night will also feature numerous raffles and door prizes.

"This is the first time we've done a fundraiser outside of our main event," said Garon. "We are trying to expand recognition of our agencies and make the fundraising more ongoing. It will make people aware of the festival and make donations."

Same as the Festival of (Giving) Trees, the McKinstry fundraiser will benefit three agencies: The Cancer Center at Harrington Hospital, the Massachusetts Breast Cancer Coalition and the Silent Spring Institute.

The committee has been supporting the Cancer Center for 19 years, as long as the Festival has existed. Said Garon: "It's right here in Southbridge. It's a state of the art cancer facility where you get more personalized treatment. They're a smaller place but they have top notch equipment."

But the Festival of (Giving) Trees mostly focuses on the prevention of cancer, something many organizations and fundraisers often look over. The Massachusetts Breast Cancer Coalition, located in Newton, are doing some "really good things" in the area of cancer prevention, hoping to stop cancer before it starts.

Silent Spring is an advocacy group that "watches law makers to check for any legislation that needs to be filed or focus on laws that need to be strengthened," said Garon. "They're really there for us."

One of the Festival's goals is to prevent cancer. They often target younger people, hoping to make everyone aware of what they're putting in or onto their bodies and understanding the affects of what they're doing, whether it be makeup, sunscreen or pesticides.

"Many are fighting the cure and we would like to see a cure, too," said Garon. "But we want to stop it before it starts. We are looking at preventative measures the best we can and our educational programs usually reflect that."

A look back at Southbridge's volleyball victory

SOUTHBRIDGE — In last week's edition of the Southbridge News, a story regarding Southbridge High's varsity volleyball victory versus Oxford High — the Pioneers' first of the season — was printed. Let's revisit that match one more time in the form of pictures.

With Krystal Vargas watching, Lanye Cosme of Southbridge makes a pass versus Oxford.

Southbridge's Kayralis Rubero returns a serve versus Oxford.

Pioneer girls' soccer drops decision to Oxford

SOUTHBRIDGE — The Southbridge High girls' varsity soccer team showed plenty of fight when they hosted Oxford High on Monday, Oct. 3, but the Pioneers dropped a 7-2 decision to the Pirates.

Oxford jumped out to a 3-0 lead before Southbridge scored 12 minutes before halftime to make it a two-goal game at the break. On the scoring play, junior Julitza Delgado dribbled into the left-hand side of the 18-yard box, cut toward the center and unleashed a shot that found the back of the net.

The Pirates scored the next four goals of the second half, but the Pioneers gained the last goal in the 65th minute. Junior Justyce Bell sent a long pass down the length of the field, and Delgado tracked it down. Delgado then took a couple of touches, maneuvering past Oxford keeper Madisyn Morris before shooting into the open net.

Southbridge keeper Tatyana Rosario, a senior, kept her team in the game behind 20 saves.

Southbridge's Justyce Bell clears the ball out of her team's defensive zone.

Southbridge's Aryenis Rivera focuses on the ball before booting it down the field.

Southbridge's Julitza Delgado hustles after a loose ball kicked onto Oxford's end of the field.

Paola Rodriguez of Southbridge rears back and launches a serve over the net.

Southbridge's Nashari Feliciano bumps the ball while returning a serve.

ATHLETE of the WEEK

Matt Pecore

The Bay Path Regional linebacker was part of a defense that held David Prouty Regional's offense to a single touchdown in the Minutemen's 34-6 victory on Sept. 30. Pecore, also a fullback, carried the ball 11 times for 117 yards and three touchdowns. In addition, he fulfilled his blocking duties, which helped teammate Pat Dyer, a tailback, carry 16 times for 136 yards, a touchdown and a two-point conversion rush.

Rams' volleyball rallies to take exhilarating five-set win with Wachusett

Shepherd Hill's Emily Dabrowski leaps in an attempt to block a shot heading over the net.

BY NICK ETHIER
SPORTS STAFF WRITER

DUDLEY — Competing in the Midland Wachusett League A Division, perhaps the top league in all of Central Mass., there are no easy matches for the Shepherd Hill Regional varsity volleyball team. With that being said, head coach Tom Caffelle hopes for his team to compete night in and night out, and that was no different when the Rams hosted Wachusett Regional on Tuesday, Sept. 27. “We’re in a very tough league with a lot of good teams so we knew this was going to be a dogfight, but we’ve been playing better and we figured if we gave it our best shot we’d compete. That’s our goal is always to compete,” he said. And a high compete level can oftentimes produce victories, which was exactly the case as Shepherd Hill outlasted the Mountaineers, 3-2. Set scores were 25-23, 17-25, 17-25, 25-18, 16-14. Senior Kyra Foss — who played an integral part in the Rams’ victory — was quick to mention that this win was a little more special than the others. “This was the best win I’ve ever had at Shepherd Hill,” she said. “I don’t even know how to feel. Every year we always get killed by them in three sets.” The first set started strong for the Rams when Federica Mozzarelli provided six straight service points — she finished with 12 in total — as they jumped out to a 7-2 lead. Shepherd Hill maintained its lead until Wachusett rallied to pull ahead, 23-22. But the Rams scored the set’s final three points to win a close one, 25-23. “I was proud of them because we fell behind in that set and then we came back,” said Caffelle, who last served as the team’s coach in 2013 before returning this fall. The Mountaineers gained leads of 5-0 and 6-0 in the second and third sets, respectively, and never trailed as they gained control of the match, 2-1. And Wachusett took a 13-10 lead in set No. 4 before they were unable to get the ball back over the net. Now trailing, 13-11, Foss stepped to the line to serve for the Rams. Eight straight service points later — she finished with a team-high 16 — and The Hill took a 19-13 lead before finishing off the 25-18 set victory courtesy of an ace from Ingrid Lindstrom. “Every time I hit it I just say, ‘This is going over,’ and hopefully it does,” Foss explained about her serving prowess, adding that she keeps her mindset simple to not over-complicate the matter.

Now down to the deciding fifth set, which plays to 15 points (win by two), Wachusett surged ahead, 11-7. But the Rams were able to rally again and saw the set tied at 14-14. They took a 15-14 lead when Lindstrom’s long hit was un-returnable, and they won the match a point later when a long rally finished with the Mountaineers hitting the ball into the net. “I was really proud of the way in the fourth and even the fifth set how we fell behind early and we hung in there,” said Caffelle. “We always talk about the next point being the important point. There’s no three-point play in volleyball — you have to earn them one at a time.

“Today was the fruit of our labor in the sense that we were able to come back and win a set and come back and win a match,” he added. With the Rams’ record now at 5-4, they hope for more improvement and production. “I think they realize that we have to work hard every day to improve. By improving every day, it allows us to compete,” Caffelle explained, adding that the services of volunteer assistant Tony Wong-Li has been a big help. “The goal is to compete, and that’s why I told them after the game that this is a great win, but we have to try to be even better tomorrow.” Should Shepherd Hill get better tomorrow and every day moving forward, a spot in the district tournament — 10 or more wins in the 20-match regular season is the qualifier — can be achieved. “I’m looking forward to hopefully making it to districts because we haven’t done that in a long time,” Foss concluded.

Shepherd Hill's Kyra Foss sets the ball for teammate Hailey Delphia (22).

Sydney Campbell of Shepherd Hill digs out a serve hit her way.

With her back turned to the net, Mackenzie Jacome of Shepherd Hill returns the ball back to Wachusett's side.

Federica Mozzarelli of Shepherd Hill launches one of her 12 service points versus Wachusett.

Challenged by head coach, Bay Path’s defense helps top David Prouty

BY NICK ETHIER
SPORTS STAFF WRITER

SPENCER — After the Bay Path Regional varsity football team lost a 44-13 decision to Blackstone Valley Tech on Sept. 24, head coach Matt Fall challenged his defense. The message didn’t seem to be delivered when David Prouty Regional’s Darrell Beer scored a 22-yard rushing touchdown in the first minute when the Minutemen and Panthers squared off on Friday evening, Sept. 30, at a rain-soaked Eugene R. Hurley Athletic Field. But in the end Bay Path’s ‘D’ proved to be up to the task, holding Prouty scoreless the rest of the way en route to a 34-6 victory.

“The first thing you want to think is, ‘Here we go again,’ but the mistake that was made on that play was an easy fix. They figured it out,” Fall said. “As far as that challenge...I’m going to add on to that challenge a little bit this week, but I’m happy with how they responded after a tough loss last week.”

Fall is keeping the exact message between he and the defense private.

“Our defensive line stepped up a lot this week,” said Bay Path’s Matt Pecore, a member of the linebacker unit. “Our linebackers, we finally got together. We did some good work this week.”

Pecore also played fullback and was a vital force on the offensive end. He carried the ball 11 times for 117 yards and 3 touchdowns while also setting up blocks for tailback Pat Dyer (16 carries, 136 yards, TD, two-point conversion).

It didn’t hurt that Pecore cherishes playing in what most would call poor playing conditions.

“This is my favorite weather, ever since Dudley/Charlton,” he said of learning to play the game in AYF.

Pecore was quick to mention the standout performances of the linemen and Dyer as well.

“Thanks to my linemen I had great yards and great carries this week, and so did my tailback Pat Dyer,” he said. “He follows behind me and I’ll get him yards no matter what.”

Fall also praised the play of the linemen, Pecore and Dyer.

“I have to give props to the offensive line tonight,” he began. “After last week they really worked hard this week. Our offensive line coach, Tony Salvaggio, got them rocking this week, and obviously that hard work pays off.”

In regard to Pecore, Fall said, “Pecore is a downhill runner and he’s a bruiser back. He’s going to get you those tough yards.”

And Fall noted that Dyer is “a football kid. He has a very good football mind. He really just enjoys the game — all conditions, all weather. He’s just one of those kids that you like to coach because he loves the game genuinely.”

Dyer tied the score at 6-6 midway through the second quarter on a 48-yard run. On the play he lowered his shoulder and broke a pair of would-be Prouty tacklers before finding the end zone. The Minutemen took the lead at 7-6 thanks to Ben Paquette’s extra point kick and were quick to add more points.

Just a minute later — following a successful onside kick — Pecore scored from 22 yards out on a run up the gut that also saw him break a couple of tackles.

The score remained 13-6 at halftime, but Bay Path found the end zone nearing the end of the third quarter to up the advantage to 21-6. Pecore scored on a 9-yard jaunt up the middle, diving into the end zone to elude a defender. Dyer added the two-point conversion rush.

Then, with 7:56 to play, Pecore broke a shoestring tackle to score from 23 yards out, and Paquette kicked the extra point to make it 28-6.

The Minutemen — who improved to 2-2 — scored their final points with 4:19 to go when John Oloughlin made the most of his only carry, a 54-yard score, which included spinning 360 degrees to break a tackle.

David Prouty, meanwhile, lost their first game of the season after starting 3-0.

“We have to get better,” said head coach Nate Orzech, noting that their victories were shootouts. “We can’t keep giving up 35, 40 points a game or we’re not going to win any games.”

Orzech also mentioned the stellar play of Bay Path, stating, “They did an awesome job. They came out and they played better than us and they deserve everything that they got.”

It didn’t help the Panthers’ cause that starting quarterback Kyle Driscoll injured an ankle during the second quarter. As a result, both Joe Thebeau and Evan Fritze split the quarterbacking duties before giving way to Jason Anderson in the fourth period.

“That’s completely on us. We didn’t have our kids prepared. They have not had enough reps,” Orzech said of Thebeau and Fritze taking over under center. “Those kids did a nice job with the amount of reps that they had.”

Beer was Prouty’s most productive offensive player, finishing with 143 rushing yards and the TD on 20 carries, while Anthony Barrett made multiple tackles on the defensive side of the ball.

The Bay Path defense points in the direction of David Prouty’s side of the field after the Minutemen grabbed a fumble committed by the Panthers.

Bay Path’s Travis Gillespie hauls in a pass but is pushed out of bounds by David Prouty defender Cameron Dubey.

Bretana's shutout gives Uxbridge boys' soccer marquee win over Tantasqua

Tantasqua's Patrick Kenyan dribbles the ball during a 1-0 loss at Uxbridge last Wednesday, Sept. 28. The defeat was the Warriors' first setback of the 2016 season.

UXBRIDGE — Coming into a matchup of two of the best high school boys' soccer programs in the Southern Worcester County League (SWCL), the Uxbridge Spartans, at 5-0-3 on the year, were still looking for that signature win. With fellow unbeaten Tantasqua Regional (5-0-1) coming to town on Wednesday, Sept. 28, the opportunity had arrived.

"This was the game that mattered," Spartans head coach Tony Spagnuolo said. "They're Division 1 and these guys were pretty excited."

When all was said and done, Uxbridge would ride a 25th minute goal from Alexander McCall, and a jaw-dropping 26 saves from keeper Andrew Bretana to a huge 1-0 win to stay unbeaten, and on top of the SWCL B Division.

Bretana was phenomenal throughout the game, coming up big time and time again. Tantasqua controlled possession far more than Uxbridge did, and that led to Bretana being peppered for the majority of the afternoon, but he proved up to the task.

"We just could not buy a goal, and hey, sometimes that happens," Tantasqua head coach Matt Guertin said after his team's first loss of 2016. "They didn't have much offense going — I think they had two shots in the first half — but one went in."

After the Warriors dominated the pace through the first 20 minutes of the game, the Spartans got a bounce to go their way. The resulting bounce found the foot of senior Ryan Morais, who chipped a nice touch to McCall, who fired the shot past Tantasqua keeper Colton Pelicane (2 saves) for the 1-0 lead.

"They have probably a better team than us," Spagnuolo noted, "but today we squeaked one in and they couldn't get it back. That's the game of soccer."

It would not be for a lack of effort on the Warriors' part, though. For nearly the remaining 55 minutes of play, the visitors poured it on, getting chance after chance to get the equalizer. At each turn, Bretana was there to make a great save, or a shot would go just wide or high, leaving Guertin and the Warriors frustrated with the end result.

"We possessed the ball great, their goalie just made some great saves," Guertin said. "They played very well defensively too, though, I'll give them that."

For much of the final 20 minutes of play, the Warriors pushed into Uxbridge territory as the Spartans frantically defended their one-goal advantage. As time wound down, Tantasqua's urgency grew, but so too did Bretana's play in net, and despite Herculean offensive efforts, the Warriors never got one past the junior keeper.

Now at 5-1-1, Tantasqua now has some tough games in front of them for the coming week as they travel to Nashoba Regional on Oct. 8, then to Wachusett Regional on Oct. 10 before hosting Grafton High on Oct. 12.

"We've just got to get stronger and better as the season goes along, we'll just go and keep working on it," Guertin concluded.

The upstart Spartans, now sporting a 6-0-3 record, will host Blackstone-Millville Regional Oct. 8 before heading to rival Northbridge High on Oct. 10 before facing Leicester High on Oct. 12.

"I've always maintained that I'm just a facilitator, they play the game, and they really earned this one," Spagnuolo said in conclusion.

Tantasqua's Dan Rickson pushes the ball during a Warriors' rush in the opening minutes versus Uxbridge.

Tantasqua's Dylan Cave looks up the field for an open teammate to pass the ball to during a 1-0 loss at Uxbridge.

Defenseman Hunter Ramsland of Tantasqua throws the ball in during the second half at Uxbridge.

Rockets' football wins again, this time versus Warriors

AUBURN — The Auburn High varsity football team scored first versus Tantasqua Regional and never looked back, as the Rockets won for the fourth time in as many tries on Friday evening, Sept. 30 at Memorial Field. The final score was 35-12.

Auburn has scored 30 or more points in all four contests, while the Warriors dropped to 1-3.

The Rockets' Steve Saucier rushed for two scores and threw for another — which John Pignataro hauled in — and the running back tandem of Manny Rosario and Andrew Savage both found pay dirt in the third quarter to account for Auburn's touchdowns. Jadon Latino was 5 for 5 on extra point tries.

For Tantasqua, Colin Eliason (8 of 16, 81 yards) threw a first quarter touchdown pass to Cody Robert, and Eliason scored a fourth quarter rushing touchdown. Joe Degnan rushed for 95 yards and caught 60 more in defeat.

Tantasqua's Joe Degnan sheds Auburn defender Zukoda Igwenagu while carrying the ball.

Isaiah Cid of Tantasqua finds open running room to carry the football.

Tantasqua's Isaiah Cid reaches up and out in an attempt to catch the football.

Mike Farland of Tantasqua surrounds his arms near the incoming football.

Tantasqua's Colin Eliason launches a deep pass down the field.
