Day Kimball ends talks with PMH

PUTNAM — Day Kimball Healthcare's Board of Directors announced on Nov. 15 that discussions with a potential strategic partner, Prospect Medical Holdings, have closed without an agreement. In August DKH had announced a letter of intent for a strategic partnership with PMH.

"Both Day Kimball Healthcare and Prospect Medical Holdings worked diligently over the last several months to reach an agreement that would meet each party's critical requirements for a potential partnership," said Janice Thurlow, DKH Board of Directors interim chair.

"Unfortunately, we were not able to reach an agreement in which both sides could meet their respective needs. It's not unusual for these types of negotiations to conclude without an agreement." "We are immediately resuming discussions with other potential future partners, many of whom have indicated continued interest in exploring a partnership with Day Kimball Healthcare," added Paul Beaudoin, DKH CFO and interim CEO. "The board, hospital leadership and staff all remain focused on achieving clinical, operational, organizational and financial goals. Additionally, many new initiatives are currently underway, which will improve and expand clinical services for our community, strengthen our position in the market and improve our financial health and stability," said Joseph Adiletta, DKH interim president.

Sister act at the QVSC Holiday Bazaar

BY KAREN BUTERA
FOR THE VILLAGER

BROOKLYN — The Quinebaug Valley Senior Center held its annual Holiday Bazaar in Nov. 16. Most everything that was sold was benefitted the center. Among the crafters was Sister Lesley Despathy of the Daughters of the Holy Spirit religious order — selling jewelry to benefit Danielson’s St. James School. “The center serves 10 of the local towns. This fundraiser helps to pay for the programs offered at the Senior Center. We also have other fundraisers. Our Grandma’s Attic is set up all the time and anyone can purchase items or donate items,” said Linda Lamoureux, Director of the Senior Center. “We also have dinners. We are privately funded through towns and are run by an army of volunteers.” Sister Despathy said she has basically retired but she never stopped working. She worked as a teacher and principal and then in finance. Now most of her time is spent making jewelry. Her love of making jewelry started four years ago when a local second hand book store, Pourings and Passages opened in Danielson. The book store’s main goal was to help St. James School. She really enjoyed visiting the store to see what was available. They had books for all ages. “People would ask the owner if they were going to carry jewelry. People kept asking so I thought I would give it a try to help the school,” said Despathy. “I am still in finance for the Daughters of the Holy Spirit but I also decided to make my own jewelry. Sometimes I get inspired and will just make what I see in my mind.” In the beginning of this journey into jewelry making, one of the sisters received jewelry supplies from a relative. Despathy was the recipient of the items. She started to make pieces with the items that were given to her. The items sold quickly and when they sold she purchased her own supplies. “I am able to get a grant twice a year from the Daughters of the Holy Spirit for the materials. If I didn’t receive the grants, I wouldn’t be able to purchase the supplies,” she said. She enjoys making jewelry and all of the proceeds go to the school. She tries to help them out as much as possible with her endeavors. You may have seen her at many of the local fairs and holiday bazaars throughout the year. She plans to be at fairs every other week through the middle of December. With her prices below $5 — her necklaces, bracelets and earrings are a best sellers.

DAYVILLE —A Veterans Day tribute was held at Westview Health Care Center on Nov. 11. Many staff members, volunteers, and relatives of Westview associates received praise for their military service. Therapeutic Recreation Director Louise Taylor along with Assistant Therapeutic Recreation Director Vicki Ericson and their dispatch of volunteers coordinated the event.

The presentation of colors was made by members of the Albert J. Breault Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 1523 and members of their Ladies Auxiliary. Post 1523’s Chaplain Gerry Salvas offered a prayer to open the ceremony. The Pledge of Allegiance is then recited by all.

Val Rogers, a former United Service Organization performer, guided those who participated through Star-Spangled Banner. Post 1523 member and former Connecticut State Representative Danny Rovero presented each of Westview’s veterans with American flag. Post 1523’s color guard consisting of Chaplain Salvas, James Mahoney, and Charles “Chuck” Mahoney, flourishing flags and rifles. The Ladies Auxiliary Unit—comprised of Lisa Salisbury, Jahala Beaupre, Aldea Boucher, Lorraine Lacroix, and Theresa Villareal gave each veteran a poppy flower lapel pin and a handwritten thank you note. Jahala Beaupre read an original poem conveying deep gratitude and respect for those who protect this great nation. Michael Palladino—a member of Westview’s dietary staff—played Taps. A benediction was read and the battery of the Putnam VFW Post marched out. Rogers and Bil Groth led a sing-a-long session straight out of the American songbook.

Pomfret Congregational Church installs prayer box

POMFRET —First Congregational Church of Pomfret has installed a “Prayer Mailbox” in front of the church. The mailbox, which is labeled with the words “Your Cares... Our Prayers”, is located by the center stairs at the front of the church. Have a need, a care, a concern, or something you want others to join with you in praying about? Write it on a slip of paper or use one of the blank cards located with the mailbox and drop it in the securely locked box. Prayer requests may be submitted anonymously or if you would like someone to be in touch with you about your request, you may include contact information. All prayer concerns placed in the mailbox will be kept in confidence.

“We believe God sees, God knows, and God cares about everything that touches our lives,” said Rev. Thomas Crumb, Pastor of First Congregational Church. “Though God’s ways are mysterious and God’s answers to prayer vary between ‘yes’, ‘no’, and ‘wait’, we firmly believe prayer makes a difference. We look forward to serving our community through prayer. We have been blessed, and we want to extend the benefit of those blessings to embrace the cares and concerns of our neighbors around us.”

Garza is in Tourtellotte spotlight

Mariana Garza

THOMPSON — The Tourtellotte Memorial High School Spotlight Student is Mariana Garza. Each month, Tourtellotte Memorial High School's Student Spirit Association recognizes a student who has demonstrated outstanding achievement, character, leadership, attitude, and/or contributions to the school and community. Garza was nominated by her fellow classmates: Alexis Elkinson, Lindsey Worster, Kaylee Tackson, and Gracen vander Swaagh. In Garza's nominations, she is described as "the sweetest, most kind girl I have ever met." Her nominators also describe her as the "most friendly" and "overall an amazing person." Garza is also said to put a smile on everyone's face. One nominator described Garza as being, "the most friendly, most fun student around." "Knowing that there are people supporting me every day of my life and knowing that they believe in me and my dreams, this makes me give my best in everything I do, to make them proud and also so that I can feel satisfied and happy with what I've done and so that every day I can be one step closer to achieving my goals," Garza said. Garza is an exchange student from Mexico who decided to come to Tourtellotte for her junior year. She traveled to Thompson for the opportunity to have a memorable school year, meeting new people and learning about a different culture. At Tourtellotte, Garza is involved in the Junior Achievement program. She describes Junior Achievement as "helping kids learn things about entrepreneurship, helping them to prepare for the real world in a fun way." Garza was also part of Tourtellotte's soccer team. "The soccer team was the best decision I could have made at the beginning of the year," Garza said. Garza also helps coach kids soccer. After this school year, she plans to go back to Mexico where she hopes to attend college and start her own small business with the help of her father. Once she finishes college, Garza hopes to grow her business by "spreading environmental awareness and making people more conscious about the products they buy." Garza's accomplishments include winning two ballet scholarships to Point Park University. She also won the Integra Mullier award which is given to one student in each graduating class in several high schools in Mexico, recognizing effort in academic and personal development. "I feel very grateful for having the opportunity to share this year with all of them. Everyone is so special to me, and I appreciate how kind everyone is with me and that I feel so welcome, thanks to them. I want to thank them so much for giving me the opportunity to feel part of this awesome school community," Garza said.

St. Joseph School students participated in Catholic School Week Nov. 3 through Nov. 8.

THOMPSON —St. Joseph School marked a variety of events during the week of November 3 in celebration of Catholic Schools Week throughout all diocesan schools in New England. Each day during the week had its own unique theme along with special events that were celebrated by the entire SJS community. On Monday, Nov. 4, students and teachers dressed in 1980s attire and danced the afternoon away to songs from the decade. Tuesday, Nov. 5, gave the community the opportunity to don their favorite pajamas while students worked collectively on a scavenger hunt as well as enjoying each other's company during an afternoon Ice Cream Social. Wednesday, Nov. 6, was dedicated in honor of America as all wore red, white, and blue colors for the day. The older students partnered up with their younger counterparts as we visited the adjacent cemetery to locate names of past veterans. The names of those who served our nation were honored during an afternoon prayer service led by the SJS school choir. November 7 was Vocation Day, so students dressed in a fashion style on what they want to be when they grow up. Dave Marchetti visited in the morning, bringing some of his special pet friends such as turtles, reptiles, as well as "Eve the Hedge Hog." Students were also treated to an afternoon presentation by two parents who talked about their careers as a photographer and a surgical nurse respectively. David Sizemore, Principal of SJS, put on his wife's judicial robe and discussed her career as a Superior Court Judge. Finally, the week concluded on Friday, Nov. 8, with students and teachers wearing their favorite sports team clothing with the faculty and staff being treated to a special luncheon of appreciation. "Catholic Schools Week is always a special time for SJS," said Sizemore.

"To mark one week of the year to celebrate what makes us who we are as a community is important and something all members of the SJS community annually look forward to." Sizemore thanked members of the faculty and staff who served on the Catholic Schools Week committee for organizing such a great multitude of activities. Special recognition goes out to Nicole Ruoppo, SJS middle school teacher, who created the song list for the 80s dance, the eighth graders, who scooped ice cream at the Ice Cream Social, Rick Lepore, SJS Choir Director, who led the choir during the special prayer service for veterans, Kate Guertin and Summer Slanda, SJS parents, who volunteered their time and talents to share their career experiences, as well as to a myriad of parents and grandparents who served as proctors for lunch and recess. Upcoming events include "Breakfast with Santa" on Sunday, Dec. 8 from 8:30 a.m. to 11:30

The sounds of silence

In a whisper, I asked for the menu. In a whisper I urged my grandson to get in his car seat. In a whisper I queried friends, who came for an overnight visit, how they like their coffee. With a bad case of laryngitis, I’ve been moving through the world with a small, raspy voice that annoys, alarms and occasionally softens how people regard me. It also has turned me into a listener rather than a talker, with some interesting results.

Much of how we are perceived is based on physical attributes. As a woman, I know how it feels to be noticed even evaluated by men. At one point in life it can be interesting. At another, not much. By aging, we take on a veil of invisibility that a superhero would admire. Not speaking loudly enough to be easily heard, became a disability that kept me at home one day when I needed something because I didn’t want to go to the supermarket and croak like a frog. Parents and teachers know that whispering is often a fine way to get children’s attention or defuse a disagreement. My whispers led people to whisper in response, which occasionally created an odd intimacy between myself and strangers. Quiet responses lead more often to agreement than argument, although I have to be in close range to be heard. When people called out to me, I answered them, but they didn’t hear me and they were mildly annoyed. I wasn’t ignoring them; I just wasn’t loud enough.

When we toured Sicily, our guide told us that it is deemed rude to speak at the dining table when food is on the table. One can chat between courses, which can take time as dishes are prepared on the spot, but there is no conversation while one is actually eating. He believed the practice developed because Sicilians lived with great privation and they honored the food they had by focusing on it.

In contrast, conversation was the core part of dinner when I was growing up and we continued the practice with our own children. Everyone was expected to have something to contribute. I know one family where the children were required to recite poetry before they were given dessert. Sounds a bit harsh to me, but my parents argued about politics at dinner so vigorously that my friends thought they didn’t like each other.

By not talking as much, I heard people exclaim about the brilliant sunsets we’ve been seeing and complain about the early darkness that makes us want to be at home wearing our slippers. I’ve overheard concerns about politics and the environment as well as comments about Tom Brady and football in general. We like to talk about real estate, various restaurants and who is sick or getting better. I listened to a bagger at the supermarket flirt with a cute cashier. I heard a sharp exchange between a long-married couple and a fair amount of gossip.

About half the people I encountered recoiled when they heard my raspy voice. The other portion expressed concern. My image of myself changed as being unable to talk, I felt less confident and more of an introvert. I think my hearing improved as I listened better in the stillness. I couldn’t sing hymns at church, but I could hear the fine voices of others, whom I had never noticed before.

I don’t recommend a bout of laryngitis as a way to change perspective, but it is refreshing to stop once in a while and listen rather than talk.

Thanks to those who voted in Woodstock

Last week on Election Day, I volunteered for a shift waving to folks as they arrived and then left the polls. The inconsistent drizzle was predicted, but the occasional sun was welcomed. Thanks to those who waved back, gave a thumbs up, or paused for some brief moments of conversation.

Kudos to all who participated in Woodstock’s election – all 1,843! You were 34 percent of all registered voters in town who found the time to get to the town hall in the 14 hours it was open for voting. Thank you for participating in our electoral process.

It is no small matter to offer up one’s time to help our town government - especially with everyone’s lives stuck in high gear. It is even more significant to offer our neighbors

No fan of Trump

I have not spoken out directly about the impeachment proceedings. Do I want to see Trump impeached? No – I’d rather see him removed by an election. Having said that, do I believe he has committed impeachable crimes? Certainly. The Ukraine issue of bribery is being proven by many, highly credible witnesses. He has clearly been violating the emoluments clause by earning millions from businesses he still owns and directs. Whether he is intimidating witnesses is arguable according to a number of constitutional lawyers, but I think he is doing just that in the impeachment proceedings.

There is another issue of bribery that attorney Richard Painter, who served as the chief White House ethics lawyer in the George W. Bush administration has put forth. Trump has directed throwing buckets of money to 3 or 4 Senators who are having trouble raising money for their re-election. This is felony bribery because they will be jurors in any impeachment trial in the Senate.

And just how honorable is Trump? I hate clichés, but “birds of a feather flock together.” Look just how many of Trump’s associates and appointees are involved in scandals, indictments and convictions. No other President in my life-time has incurred so much filth onto his administration or legacy. Oh yes, he has admitted to fraud twice with the Trump University and the Trump Foundation.

And let’s look at Trump’s religious values that so many evangelicals claim match theirs. Is he really a serious Christian? He does not and has not been a church-goer. Unless you define the Unholy Church of Golf as being a regular religious experience. And look who he has selected as the head of the Faith and Opportunity Initiative – Paula White. She heads one of these mega-churches that preaches that if you believe in Jesus you will get rich. This is the antithesis of what Jesus taught. The Bible says twice, “It is easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle, than for a rich man to enter into the kingdom of God.” How appropriate that Trump is enamored of the leader a cult that says that greed and the love of money are good.

And don’t tell me that Trump is responsible for the current economic situation. Look at the data. He inherited a six-year, straight-a choice on the ballot and keep the two-party system energized. Thank you to all who ran for office. And thank you to all who serve on the various municipal boards, committees and commissions, elected or appointed.

As we dashed in and out of the town hall on November 5th to cast our votes, there were eight poll workers preparing the voting place, maintaining organization and accuracy, and reporting the outcome. Some of those folks arrived at 5 a.m. and remained until after 10 p.m. They deserve not only our thanks but also a very loud and enthusiastic “Well done!”

CHARLENE PERKINS CUTLER

line economic upswing brought about by what Obama instituted. Obama inherited a Republican-created recession and turned it around. Trump is merely enjoying the momentum of Obama’s efforts.

And don’t tell me that Trump’s tax cut has helped the economy. It only helped the super-rich and large corporations. Trickle-down has not and does not work. The rich keep their money and do not invest it in areas which help the average person. The corporations did not invest in productivity but bought back shares and gave dividends. None of which helped the economy.

And to what outcome? A trillion dollars in debt this year. The same amount the tax cut gave away. So much for the party of fiscal responsibility. So whose side is Trump on? Not the average person’s.

And let’s look at how Trump views his job. Several weeks ago he said, “I am in the entertainment business.” Direct quote. Great – he has admitted that his job as the President is just a show. He has admitted that the Presidency is not his main job but a sideline to his continuing the running of his other businesses - that it is just another reality show.

And for those who say it doesn’t matter that Trump mumbles, slurs his words, utters incoherent sentences, drifts off point and constantly falls back on the same mantra of fake news, I feel it is critically important. We need and deserve our President to be articulate, to display clear-headedness and to show he understands the complexities of a modern world.

And to those who voted for Trump because he was a Washington outsider. Let’s face it. He came into office with no knowledge how government works, how complicated foreign policies are and how the economy works. He is showing his abysmal ignorance with a ruinous trade war, his obsession with short-term gains, his vilification of the free press, his insulting our allies, his intimidating anyone who disagrees with him and his refusal to listen to advice from experienced and honest people. It has been like hiring a six-year old to drive you into Boston during rush hour.

Why close the Day Camp at Crystal Pond?

The taxpayers of Eastford and Woodstock voted to buy 134 acres on Crystal Pond, offering swimming and boating access, and forest trails, to the citizens of both towns — 17 years ago. The Nahaco Park Commission (renamed the Crystal Pond Park Commission in the last few years) was charged with running the park. The Commission is independent from both towns. For 16 years, from 2003 until 20019 — the park has hosted the Day Camp at Crystal Pond, providing an old-fashioned Day Camp with swimming, team games, arts and crafts, and special occasions, from 8:30 a.m. until 3:30 p.m. for five weeks during the summer — for Eastford and Woodstock kids, primarily, and their classmates. The counselors in training, and the counselors and swim instructors, were usually town teenagers or young adults, too.

Recently, The Crystal Pond Park Commission decided to “suspend indefinitely” the Day Camp. Why? The Day Camp is the best thing the Commission has ever done. The Chairman of the Commission, Chris Mayhew, mentioned “liability” — that day-to-day operations and “other variables” created situations “that put our campers at risk.” What? As someone who has been involved with the Day Camp from the first wonderful year — and all the years following, I am wondering what happened all of a sudden, between years 15 and 16? I had four grandchildren at the Day Camp in 2019. They, and their parents, were not aware of any greater, exponential risk. What is Mr. Mayhew referring to? “Decreased enrollment” was another issue, according to Mr. Mayhew. Yes, I suspect Day Camp enrollments have been going down over recent years. In our area, the Day Camp scene has grown, with Audubon, The two YMCA opportunities (Woodstock and Putnam), 4H in Pomfret. As wonderful as all of these other programs are, none offers the town-oriented, old-fashioned day camp that the Day Camp at Crystal Pond offered — swimming, team sports, arts and crafts — just old-fashioned fun! I believe the numbers this year were at about 40 campers per week. Wow — 40 campers per week, local youngsters playing, sharing, laughing together! Who would want to lose that? “Financial stress,” alleges Mr. Mayhew. From what I understand, the camp lost a small amount of money in 2019 — much less than in some other seasons. In the past, the Park Commission and the Day Camp worked together: if the Day Camp made money, that money went into materials and supplies that benefited the Camp — docks, kayaks, canoes — whatever the Day Camp needed; if there were a loss, the Commission fronted it, feeling that the recreation and education offered to local youngsters were worth the cost.

I know how much work it is to be a Commission member for Nahaco, or as it is now called, Cyrstal Pond Park. I did it for more than a dozen years. It will be much

Retirement plan limits for 2020

INVESTMENT
ADVISER

As we continue to discuss important changes that might affect your unique planning strategy, this week we will focus on recent changes released by the Internal Revenue Service. On November 6, 2019, the IRS announced cost-of-living adjustments that affect contribution limits for retirement plans and retirement accounts in 2020. It’s important to know any changes that might affect you, so that you can work with your financial advisor to realign your strategic financial plan if necessary. At Weiss, Hale & Zahansky Strategic Wealth Advisors, we know how important it is to stay on top of all the latest changes so that we can help our clients work toward achieving their long-term financial life goals.

IRA contribution limits: The maximum amount you can contribute to a traditional IRA or a Roth IRA in 2020 is $6,000 (or 100% of your earned income, if less), unchanged from 2019. The maximum catch-up contribution for those age 50 or older remains at $1,000. You can contribute to both a traditional IRA and a Roth IRA in 2020, but your total contributions can’t exceed these annual limits.

Traditional IRA income limits: If you are not covered by an employer retirement plan, your contributions to a traditional IRA are generally fully tax deductible. For those who are covered by an employer plan, the income limits for determining the deductibility of traditional IRA contributions in 2020 have increased. If your filing status is single or head of household, you can fully deduct your IRA contribution up to $6,000 ($7,000 if you are age 50 or older) in 2020 if your modified adjusted gross income (MAGI) is $65,000 or less (up from $64,000 in 2019). If you’re married and filing a joint return, you can fully deduct up to $6,000 ($7,000 if you are age 50 or older) in 2020 if your MAGI is $104,000 or less (up from $103,000 in 2019).

If you’re not covered by an employer plan but your spouse is, and you file a joint return, your deduction is limited if your MAGI is $196,000 to $206,000 (up from $193,000 to $203,000 in 2019), and eliminated if your MAGI exceeds $206,000 (up from $203,000 in 2019).

Roth IRA income limits: The income limits for determining how much you can contribute to a Roth IRA have also increased for 2020. If your filing status is single or head of household, you can contribute the full $6,000 ($7,000 if you are age 50 or older) to a Roth IRA if your MAGI is $124,000 or less (up from $122,000 in 2019). And if you’re married and filing a joint return, you can make a full contribution if your MAGI is $196,000 or less (up from $193,000 in 2019). (Again, contributions can’t exceed 100% of your earned income.)

Employer retirement plans: Most of the significant employer retirement plan limits for 2020 have also increased. The maximum amount you can contribute (your “elective deferrals”) to a 401(k) plan is $19,500 in 2020 (up from $19,000 in 2019). This limit also applies to 403(b) and 457(b) plans, as well as the Federal Thrift Plan. If you’re age 50 or older, you can also make catch-up contributions of up to $6,500 to these plans in 2020 (up from $6,000 in 2019). (Special catch-up limits apply to certain participants in 403(b) and 457(b) plans.)

If you participate in more than one retirement plan, your total elective deferrals can’t exceed the annual limit ($19,500 in 2020 plus any applicable catch-up con-

Fence viewers were elected during Colonial era

Since we had elections for town officials this month, I thought that I'd say a little about a few different ones that were elected in Connecticut towns during the colonial period. For example, there was the tithingman. According to the Merrimam-Webster online dictionary he was "a: an elected local official having the functions of a peace officer in various American colonies (as Maryland and in New England). b : an annually elected official chosen in New England towns until well into the 19th century and charged primarily with preserving order in church during divine service and enforcing the observance of the Sabbath." I have visions of him going around the meetinghouse giving whispering worshipers cold stares and admonishing unruly children. Of course, that's only my own vision, which may or may not be quite accurate. Another definition lists the individual as collecting the tithes to the church, which every individual was required to pay for the support of the minister and the meetinghouse.

Another early elected official in Killingly was the fence viewer. According to Wikipedia "A Fence Viewer is a town or city official who administers fence laws by inspecting new fences and settles disputes arising from trespass by livestock that have escaped enclosure. The office of Fence Viewer is one of the oldest appointments in New England. The office emigrated along with New England pioneers to the Midwest as well, where the office still exists."

Each year several men in various parts of town were elected to the position of brander, which is fairly self-explanatory. I have not formally checked the all the land records to confirm occupations, but most men seemed to be the local blacksmiths. Killingly's brand was a reverse K, but then each man had his own brand.

This time of year I would be remiss if I did not speak about the Mayflower and the founding of the Plymouth Colony in 1620. How many of you learned about The Mayflower Compact in school? I did, but went to several sources to refresh my memory. This

"Compact" or contract was signed by 41 of the 101 passengers aboard the ship. All the signees were male, but the list did include both masters and servants. Keep in mind that not all the passengers were seeking religious freedom.

Indeed, that group had spent a number of years in Leiden, Holland, which, in matters of religion, was more liberal than England. However, changing circumstances were causing them to leave. Some of the passengers were Adventurers/Strangers working for investors in England; others were tradesmen; some were even servants. In his work Mayflower Nathaniel Philbrick stated that even though the groups were not getting along well on board the ship, the "Strangers recognized that the only way for the settlement to succeed financially was if everyone worked together...Before they landed, it was essential that they all sign a formal and binding agreement of some sort" (p. 40).

Philbrick then referred to the Mayflower Compact as "the document many consider to mark the beginning of what would one day be called the United States." In a letter to Pilgrim members of his congregation who were leaving Leiden, Philbrick noted that Pastor John Robinson reminded them that with so many who were not of their faith among the future settlers, they would "need to create a government based on civil consent rather than divine decree" (p. 41). For the greater good of the endeavor, passengers would not leave the Mayflower until such an agreement had been signed. Low on food and water, their very lives would be at stake.

Anchored in the sheltered harbor at present-day Provincetown, the Mayflower passengers were greatly relieved to finally see land after an arduous Atlantic crossing that had occurred much later in the season and had lasted much longer than anticipated. Thus on November 11, 1620 (old Julian calendar date) those males who were physically able signed the Mayflower Compact. Philbrick noted, "Only nine adult males did not sign the contract—some had been hired as seamen for only a year, while others were probably too sick to put pen to paper" (p. 43). Following is the Mayflower Compact:

"In the name of God, Amen. We, whose names are underwritten, the Loyal Subjects of our dread Sovereign Lord King James, by the Grace of God, of Great Britain, France, and Ireland, King, defender of the Faith, etc.:

Having undertaken, for the Glory of God, and advancements of the Christian faith, and the honor of our King and Country, a voyage to plant the first colony in the Northern parts of Virginia; do by these presents, solemnly and mutually, in the presence of God, and one another; covenant and combine ourselves together into a civil body politic; for our better ordering, and preservation and furtherance of the ends aforesaid; and by virtue hereof to enact, constitute, and frame, such just and equal laws, ordinances, acts, constitutions, and offices, from time to time, as shall be thought most meet and convenient for the general good of the colony; unto which we promise all due submission and obedience." (www.history.com/topics/colonial-america/mayflower-compact)

One additional detail needed to be attended to before they disembarked. Who would be their governor? The men voted for John Carver, who "had played a central role in organizing the voyage...Carver was, according to one account, 'a gentleman of singular piety, rare humility,...' He was also wealthy and had contributed much of his personal estate to the congregation in Leiden and to this voyage. He and his wife Katherine, who had buried two children in Leiden, had brought five servants on the Mayflower, one of whom was the death-defying John Howland" (p.42). I'll write more about John Carver, John Howland, and other Mayflower passengers in next week's column.

Do you have Mayflower ancestors? If so, feel free to contact me so I can mention them in the November 29th column.

My addiction is out of control

POSITIVELY
MOORE

I'll confess here and now. I have an addiction. It has come and gone through the years. It began at a shockingly young and innocent age, fed by a pusher named Carlos. I was too young.

I've moved from periods of control into others of rampant need and reckless desire. Lately, it has almost taken over my life. This addiction has been compounded through the years by access to pictures I see but know I should avoid. Yet, when they appear on my phone, I'm unable to turn away.

My wife is aware and worried. Even though she knows, I still find myself hiding, then when I'm sure she's not watching, I pull out my phone, go to a certain page and pull up the pictures that send me into uncontrollable urges.

Yes, it's embarrassing. She doesn't approve but she's learned that trying to force me to stop only intensifies my desire for more. The harder I try to end this nightmare, the more my addiction seems to dig its vicious claws into my soul.

I've successfully hidden this from my kids, but to finally come clean and get my life back in control, I'm afraid my darkest secret must be told.

I'm addicted to BPTS. It isn't listed as a narcotic nor controlled substance but should be. There are no support groups that I can find that will help me throw this vicious monkey from my back. I'm exploring how to adopt and use the traditional "twelve-step" programs to save myself before irreversible damage finally ruins my life. It begins with admitting who I am and what demon has seized control over me. So please don't think less of me ... don't judge me ... but ...

My name is Gary. I'm addicted to BPTS ... Breaded Pork Tenderloin Sandwiches.

There. I said it and I can't take it back. My addiction was originally fed by a man named Carlos, masquerading as a restaurateur, but has boiled over, largely due to a Facebook page titled "Pursuing Pork Tenderloin Sandwiches." It has taken over my life. The salacious and revealing pictures of the bare, golden brown breading, wrapped around a large and expansive but tender and succulent piece of pork, seductively laid out on the soft bottom of a bun with the top shamelessly removed. Often the only thing covering this salacious piece of flesh is a single dill pickle slice, perfectly placed to only tantalize your taste buds and drive your addiction into near animalistic desires. No, this page isn't a support group but a meeting point where others who share my addiction gather to share pictures, talk about the places they go to feed their desires and feed the monster that has taken over their life. We, are all who gather there, addicted to BPTS.

It's not her fault, but it didn't help that I married an Iowa girl. The Hawk Eye state takes their pork production seriously and they've adopted the unofficial slogan, "We sell no swine before it's time." Yes, Iowa is the Epicenter and pork pusher to the world.

As I scan this Facebook page, I learn that this deadly addiction is spreading worldwide but most of the pusher sites, masquerading as restaurants are in the Midwest. My wife, Arlene is from Waterloo, Iowa. When we plan our trips back to her hometown it always includes a trip to Newton's, a former Jewelry store, turned pusher of my addiction. Apparently, the profits of pushing pork eclipse the money to be made selling diamonds and gold. But not just there ... wherever you are, from this Facebook offering, you'll find someone, somewhere, in someplace, willing to service your needs.

I'm reaching out for help. I've tried blocking the page from my phone, but to do so, it takes a real desire to stop. I know I should. My brain says, "Stop," but my body trembles and I break out in perspiration at the thought of never tasting a BPTS again. I know I'm not alone, but that realization only tries to tell me, "It's okay. Keep looking at these pictures. Keep eating. Others are doing it. Why not me?"

Please stop me before I eat again.

My name is Gary. I'm addicted to BPTS.

DAY CAMP

easier, of course, if the Commission is responsible only for the buildings on site. But what a loss it is not to have the Day Camp! I have had grand kids involved for years, and six of them were looking forward to going in 2020!

Mr. Mayhew says "swimming" and "Disc Golf" may be enjoyed by all, every day in the summer, now that there will be no Day Camp. Wait — how does CPP fund itself? It will have to rent out for weekends, maybe some weekdays, for weddings family reunions, and other groups. Local folks will not be able to use the park then. Disc golf — well — some people really enjoy it, I have been told. I guess that some local folks go to play, but I bet most players are from out of town. Certainly the advertising has gone out to wider audiences. That's fine but it is not a benefit to local children and families. Churches and businesses — as Mr. Mayhew urges, may rent for a "day out," but on those occasions, other local folks probably will not be welcomed to the park either.

Mr. Mayhew also mentions renting the cabin by the lake, which the Commission has renovated recently. But — if someone rents that — will they want all of the rest of us on the beach swimming, or at the lagoon fishing while they are "vacationing"?

Crystal Pond Park was purchased by the citizens of Eastford and Woodstock. It is managed by an independent board with representatives from both of our towns. Members of that Commission may find that procedures at the park need to be modified from time to time. However those Commission members owe complete reports to their townspeople — not the generalities that Mr. Mayhew offered recently. Folks who are interested should be able to read the "End of Year" report from the Day Camp, and see the financials from the commission illustrating the "financial stress" alluded to. The work of the commission can be demanding; public service is demanding. However the townspeople and taxpayers of Eastford and Woodstock should have more transparency than the CPPC has so far offered. I urge the commission to hold an open meeting for townspeople, where commission members explain their choices and townspeople explain their best hopes for Crystal Pond Park. If that happens, we will all win!

tributions). Deferrals to 401(k) plans, 403(b) plans, and SIMPLE plans are included in this aggregate limit, but deferrals to Section 457(b) plans are not. For example, if you participate in both a 403(b) plan and a 457(b) plan, you can defer the full dollar limit to each plan — a total of $39,000 in 2020 (plus any catch-up contributions).

The amount you can contribute to a SIMPLE IRA or SIMPLE 401(k) is $13,500 in 2020 (up from $13,000 in 2019), and the catch-up limit for those age 50 or older remains at $3,000.

Note: Contributions can't exceed 100% of your income. The maximum amount that can be allocated to your account in a defined contribution plan (for example, a 401(k) plan or profit-sharing plan) in 2020 is $57,000 (up from $56,000 in 2019) plus age 50 catch-up contributions. (This includes both your contributions and your employer's contributions. Special rules apply if your employer sponsors more than one retirement plan.)

Finally, the maximum amount of compensation that can be taken into account in determining benefits for most plans in 2020 is $285,000 (up from $280,000 in 2019), and the dollar threshold for determining highly compensated employees (when 2020 is the look-back year) is $130,000 (up from $125,000 when 2019 is the look-back year).

Flexer cited by conservation league

Clancy is Day Kimball employee of the month

PUTNAM — State Senator Mae Flexer (D – 29th District: Brooklyn, Killingly, Putnam, Thompson) scored a 100 on the 2019 Connecticut League of Conservation Voters annual Environmental Scorecard, reflecting the senator's effectiveness in leading passage of, and voting for, pro-environment legislation affecting Connecticut and its 3.5 million citizens. Sen. Flexer was additionally named one of the CTLCV's "Environmental Champions."

"To receive this score and to be named for an 'Environmental Champion' for the fourth time is a true honor," said Flexer. "I'm thankful to the CTLCV for the close attention it pays toward major environmental issues in our state. I appreciate being recognized for my work opposing the proposed gas power plant in Killingly, and fighting against undermining of the Environmental Protection Act. This recognition only gives me further courage and inspiration to continue fighting for clean air, water and environments for everyone living in Connecticut."

The CTLCV notes in the introduction to its report that democratic majorities in the House and Senate had a major impact on passing pro-environment legislation and on killing anti-environmental bills.

"The 2019 Legislative Session delivered many wins for the environment, including significant investment in offshore wind, the electrification of the state fleet, the passage of the State Water Plan, and much more," the report says. "Because of our work during the last elections, we broke the split in the State Senate and sent a new pro-environment majority into Hartford. These new and returning champions were largely able to kill bad environmental bills like rollbacks to the Environmental Protection Act, automatic permits from the Department of Energy and Environmental Protection (DEEP) after 90 days, and the revocation of DEEP's enforcement tools. Many of these anti-environment proposals never even saw a vote. As a result, the vast majority of bills we scored were pro-environment proposals. This led to higher scores overall, evidence for the strong support for the environment within our legislature."

The CTLCV grading scale ranges from 0-to-100 percent, and is based on how legislators vote on key environmental bills during the committee period of session and on the House and Senate floor.

The final score is an average of their votes on specific pro-environment bills the CTLCV has picked. Absences and abstentions are not factored into the CTLCV's grading system.

The legislative priorities included in CTLCV's scorecard covers a wide, diverse range of environmental concerns. The CTLCV seeks the counsel of other environmental groups, advocates and stakeholders to determine their priorities. CTLCV's legislative victories this session includes: Offshore Wind legislation; Plastic Bag Ban; State Water Plan; Fracking Waste Ban; Solar Net-Metering.

PUTNAM — Allison Clancy, registered nurse for Day Kimball Hospital's inpatient behavioral health unit, was named employee of the month for October by Day Kimball Healthcare. Clancy began working for DKH in November 2017. In her role, she is responsible for assisting in the treatment of and providing therapeutic support to patients in acute mental health crisis.

"Allison is very deserving of this recognition and I am proud of her and the department. She goes above and beyond when caring for patients and assisting her colleagues and is a pleasure to work with. Allison is kind and courteous to our patients and is a great role model in the behavioral health department," said Clancy's supervisor, Peter Neal, Ph.D., LPC, director of behavioral health, Day Kimball Healthcare.

"I feel humbled. I work with such an amazing group of individuals that are always inspiring me to strive to become a better nurse," Clancy said. "I enjoy being a small part of trying to end the stigma surrounding mental illness. It's rewarding to make a positive impact on people and help them get their lives back on track. I like to help them feel human and not broken by showing them they have the potential to do wonderful things with their lives, even when they can't see it for themselves yet."

Clancy earned her associate's degree in nursing from the Community College of Rhode Island. In her spare time, she works as a veterinary technician at a local clinic and when the opportunity arises, Clancy enjoys caring for orphaned newborn puppies.

Clancy was born at Day Kimball Hospital and has resided in Northeast Connecticut her entire life. She currently lives with her boyfriend and their three dogs, three cats, and three bunnies.

Buttermore to speak at vets coffeehouse

DANIELSON — The guest speaker at the Danielson Veterans Coffeehouse on Nov. 26 will be Lita Buttermore from the Eastern Connecticut Transportation Consortium, Inc. Buttermore is an eight-year U.S. Marine veteran.

Due to the identified lack of transportation coordination, and understanding of transportation services, here in Eastern Connecticut, the ECTC receives funds from the Federal Transit Administration to help address these issues — helping senior citizens and people with disabilities navigate transportation options to stay connected to their community whether it be attending a family function, shopping, getting to a medical appointment or work. Transportation is the link to these services which allows a person to remain independent. ECTC's mobility program works toward maximizing resources of services such as public transit, senior transportation, volunteers, non-profits and taxi services, and offers free vouchers for travel.

The Eastern Connecticut Transportation Consortium is a private non-profit 501(c)3 agency incorporated in 1992. It was formed through a partnership between the Southeastern Connecticut Council of Governments, Frank Loomis Palmer Fund and Bodenwein Public Benevolent Foundation.

The purpose of ECTC is to promote the coordination and consolidation of paratransit services for persons of low income, elderly, physically and mentally disabled individuals in Southeastern Connecticut.

ECTC utilizes a diverse means of coordination to meet the needs of human service agencies. Attempts are made to group an agency's needs with other agencies that may provide transportation in the same general vicinity or to the same client group. This enables agencies to offer additional services to clients without greatly affecting their current transportation services.

ECTC also makes its vehicles and drivers available for contracting to human service agencies. This may help agencies that only need use of a vehicle on a part-time basis by reducing the costs through the sharing of operating expenses with other agencies. This coordination process helps to achieve higher levels of efficiency in the use of public and private funds.

The coffeehouse is open to veterans only and is held every week at the Killingly Community Center, 185 Broad St., Danielson at 9 a.m.

Killingly one step closer to Class M playoffs

BY CHARLIE LENTZ
VILLAGER EDITOR

DAYVILLE — Home is where the heart is — it’s also where the wins are for Killingly High. The last time Killingly lost a football game at home was on Dec. 7, 2015 in the Class M state semifinals — Killingly has won 25 straight home games since that loss to Brookfield High four years ago. The Red Hawks likely gained a berth in the upcoming Class M playoffs with a 48-7 win over East Lyme last Friday night.

“I don’t know if this clinches anything but it puts us a step closer. I’m not positive. There’s still a lot of things that could play out but this helps us quite a bit,” said Killingly coach Chad Neal. “This puts us in a lot better position than if we had lost it.”

Now Killingly will focus on trying to knock off New London in the final game of its regular season and hope for some help on Thanksgiving Day so it can attain a top-two seeding in the state playoffs — ensuring two home games in the postseason, assuming the Red Hawks can win in the opening round.

Coach Neal is well aware of the value of playing at home. Killingly has played in the state semifinals the past four seasons — staying at home in 2015 (Brookfield), going on the road in 2016 (a loss at Hillhouse High of New Haven), staying home in 2017 (defeating Berlin en route to a state championship), and going on the road last season (a loss at St. Joseph of Trumbull).

“A home field advantage is key in the playoffs. In the past four years when we’ve been in the playoffs — two of the years in the semifinals we’ve been on the road. The first year was new to us, against Brookfield, so that was an experience because that was new. But we knew what it was like going to Hillhouse and know what it was like going to St. Joe’s — compared to having that home game against Berlin. To our advantage, playing on the natural grass, it’s helpful,” Neal said. “We have a great following here and the atmosphere’s tremendous. (Athletic director) Kevin Marcoux does a tremendous job with the whole atmosphere — kids like that. They buy into that and they play hard.”

Killingly was ranked No. 3 in Class M following last weekend’s games. A win over New London this Friday night might help push the Red Hawks (8-1) into a top-two seeding. Rockville (8-0) is currently ranked No. 1 in Class M and Waterford (8-1) sits at No. 2. Waterford travels to East Lyme on Thanksgiving Day and a Waterford loss to the Vikings would certainly help Killingly’s chances.

Killingly manhandled East Lyme last Friday — racing to a 20-0 lead in the first quarter on a 23-yard touchdown toss from senior quarterback Jacob Nurse to senior Josh Heaney and a pair of touchdown runs from senior Jackson Lopes.

Lopes carried the ball just six times but finished with four touchdown runs (a pair of one-yard touchdowns runs along with scoring totes of 11 and 16 yards). Lopes knows how important it is to finish out the regular season with a win over New London so the Red Hawks can hopefully have a chance to stay at home for the first two rounds of the state tourney.

“We understand that’s it a big game. We need to have this one in order to get two home games. It’s a big advantage to us. We’ve got a great fan base, they really come out with a big crowd,” Lopes said. “When you play at home you just get comfortable because it’s your environment. You have your routine. You have your rituals that you have before the game. It’s just easier to play.”

Nurse was efficient against East Lyme, completing 4-of-5 passes for 90 yards and two touchdowns. Like Lopes, Nurse is well aware of the importance of beating New London this Friday night and then hopefully staying at home for the first two rounds of the playoffs.

“It’s very important. And it’ll be extra special, it’s Senior Night. We’d really love to win this one,” Nurse said. “We’ve got to clean up the mistakes and we’ve just got to play our best football. I feel really confident with the guys we have around us and what we can do as a team.”

Sophomore tailback Jack Sharpe finished with 146 yards on 20 carries against East Lyme. Sharpe fumbled with 2:12 left in the second quarter — setting up the Vikings on a short field on Killingly’s 35-yard line and leading to East Lyme’s only touchdown — a 24-yard scoring reception by Owen Robbins. Sharpe knows the Red Hawks must minimize mistakes from here on out.

“We turned the ball over a little bit too much and we’re working on it,” Sharpe said. “Ball security’s everything. I’ve just got to make sure going through the hole I keep two hands on it and I’ll be fine.”

Senior Kameron Crowe scored on a 63-yard reception and also returned an interception 78 yards for a touchdown against the Vikings. Senior defensive tackle Connor Leduc intercepted East Lyme quarterback Noah Perry at the Vikings 27-yard line late in the first quarter and returned it 26 yards to the 1-yard line — setting up a one-yard touchdown run from Lopes with 2:10 left in the first quarter that helped push Killingly’s lead to 20-0 over East Lyme (5-4).

Killingly can take nothing for granted this Friday night at home against New London (4-4). Last season New London edged Killingly 25-24 on Owen George’s 45-yard touchdown pass to Francisco Pratts with just 23 seconds left in the game. It was Killingly’s only loss in the regular season.

“I’ll tell you what, New London hits. They hit. They’re physical and they’ve got a lot of speed,” Neal said. “They’re a tough team. Our kids are going to be ready. We remember last year. It’s going to be Senior Night. We’ve just got to come to play. If we come to play for 48 minutes I think we can do some good things.”

Killingly is scheduled to play host to the Whalers this Friday, Nov. 22, with kickoff set for 6:30 p.m. The Red Hawks will try to push their winning streak at Killingly High School to 26 games — and then hope for two more at home this December.

Charlie Lentz may be reached at (860) 928-1818, ext. 110, or by e-mail at charlie@villager-newspapers.com.

Woodstock advances to state semifinals

BY CHARLIE LENTZ

WOODSTOCK — Woodstock Academy's volleyball players can be a superstitious bunch. Perhaps they knew good fortune was sitting on top of the net in a tight fourth set against Joel Barlow in the second round of the Class L state volleyball tournament. Diana Gonzalez slapped a serve that hit the top of the mesh — paused for a moment — then crawled over for an ace. It was her signature serve in eighth-seeded Woodstock's 3-1 win over ninth-seeded Joel Barlow on Nov. 14 at Alumni Fieldhouse.

The Centaurs followed their win over Joel Barlow by knocking off top-seeded and previously unbeaten Bristol Eastern 3-2 in the quarterfinals on Nov. 16 — propelling Woodstock to the state semifinals against fifth-seeded Guilford.

Gonzalez kept the momentum in the Centaurs favor with her killer serve against Joel Barlow.

"It did not feel good when it left my hand," Gonzalez said. "I expected that it wouldn't go over."

She was wrong — Gonzalez's net-crawler came at an opportune time for the Centaurs — in the midst of five straight points on serve for Gonzalez — transforming an 18-17 deficit into a 22-18 lead en route to a 25-23 win in the decisive fourth set — locking up the match for the Centaurs. Set scores were 25-19, 16-25, 28-26, 25-23.

Gonzalez got the serve in the fourth set with the Centaurs trailing 18-17. She proceeded to help the Centaurs turn a one-point deficit into a 22-18 lead.

"I was really stressed out. I was trying to calm myself down, taking deep breaths, if I mess up it would give (Joel Barlow) more confidence and hope," said Gonzalez, a senior, who finished with six points on serve including four aces.

Senior outside hitter Paula Hernandez watched with a smile as Gonzalez's serve slunk over the net to give Woodstock a 21-18 lead in the fourth set.

"We're very superstitious and after that it was like 'Man, we have it. We have it in the bag,'" said Hernandez with a grin.

Gonzalez and coach Adam Bottone exchanged smiles after her killer serve.

"We refer to that as the best serve in volleyball. Back in the day you used to not be able to hit the net at all," Bottone said. "Now it can hit the net and drop over. Sometimes you're lucky. It's good to have the luck on your side for once, definitely a good omen. Barlow made a push to come back. They pressured us. We came through when it mattered."

Bottone said Gonzalez stayed in the moment and delivered — with Woodstock notching five-straight points on her serve in the fourth set.

"That's huge. You're talking about a person who comes in whose only job is to serve — a really pressure situation," Bottone said. "Every time she went back to serve she took a deep breath, she just made solid contact where she needed to and the ball went over. It was a beautiful thing to see, seeing a senior who doesn't get to play a lot step back there and throw in some nice float serves and get us where we needed to be."

The game against the Falcons on Nov. 14 was a rematch of last season's Class L state championship match — won by Joel Barlow in five sets. Bottone said the win was important because it advanced the Centaurs in this season's state tourney — trumping any satisfaction with avenging last season's loss in the title game.

"We talked about it before the game — let's not dwell on last year. We're a completely different team than we were last year, different pieces to the puzzle — so as long we just are intentional about the things that we need to do then we'll be OK," Bottone said. "I'm always happy to see them win and it seems to be a battle with us and Barlow now. It's definitely sweet when you can avenge that loss for sure."

In last season's championship match against Joel Barlow the Centaurs led two sets to none before fading and dropping the last three sets. In the rematch on Nov. 14 with the sets tied at one apiece, Woodstock and Joel Barlow were locked in a tight battle in the pivotal third set — with the score tied at 22-22, 23-23, 24-24, 25-25, and 26-26. Woodstock didn't fade this time, winning the third set 28-26.

"I feel like that would have decided our emotions if we would have lost (the third set) and that's a really bad thing," Hernandez said. "Winning that third set — they say in Puerto Rico whomever wins that set wins the last one. We've been working so much to get here. It's a lot of mental work. I feel like we deserved to win."

Coach Bottone said his Centaurs have been focusing on the mental side and it showed when they hung tough in the third set.

"We talk a lot about the mental aspect of the game, the mental toughness," Bottone said. "I got to thinking as a coach I talk a lot about the aspect, the mental part of the game, but I really don't help them with how to practice it. We talked about it the past couple of days and we started doing visualization before games and practices. We talk about just controlling our breath and just staying at a level plane with intensity."

Hernandez said the Centaurs took positive thoughts onto the volleyball court.

"We came with a mindset of winning, but you never know how you're going to feel to be honest," Hernandez said. "

Hernandez finished with 17 kills and 33 digs. Sophomore Aurissa Boardman notched 10 kills. The loss ended Joel Barlow's season at 16-5.

Give her 1,000 tries and Gonzalez would likely have a hard time duplicating her signature serve against Joel Barlow. Sometimes good fortune sits on top of the net — giving momentum a shove in the right direction.

"I was so relieved," Gonzalez said. "When it went over it just felt awesome."

WOODSTOCK 3, BRISTOL EASTERN 2

BRISTOL — Paula Hernandez had 19 kills and made 43 digs to lead the eighth-seeded Centaurs past No. 1 seed Bristol Eastern in the Class L semifinals at Bristol Eastern High on Nov. 16. Set scores were 25-19, 23-25, 25-23, 26-28, 15-13. Woodstock's Paige Audet

Woodstock was scheduled to face fifth-seeded Guilford (19-3) in the state semifinals on Nov. 20. The winner of the match between Woodstock and Guilford will face the winner of the match between second-seeded Avon (19-1) and No. 3 RHAM (18-1). Waterford defeats Woodstock Academy

WOODSTOCK — Woodstock Academy could not finish enough drives against Waterford High last Saturday and that helped finish off the Centaurs 26-15 at Bentley Athletic Complex. The Lancers negated Woodstock's running game — allowing quarterback Ethan Davis to scramble for 83 yards — but giving up just 15 total rushing yards to the rest of Woodstock's ball carriers.

"They're tough defensively. They take away certain things," said Woodstock coach Sean Saucier. "Just trying to play the chess match of figuring out what's there and what to try to take advantage of."

While Davis ran for 83 yards on 10 carries — much of that yardage came as he scrambled under pressure. The Lancers sacked Davis four times and harassed him most of the afternoon. Davis completed 20-of-37 passes for 193 yards and was intercepted twice.

"They had pressure on the quarterback so I think that made things difficult for Ethan," Saucier said. "That was the difference."

The Centaurs inability to find the end zone started early on when Waterford inexplicably did not punt on fourth-and-one from its own 10-yard line with 4:57 left in the first quarter. The Lancers attempted a pass, which fell incomplete, giving Woodstock the football on Waterford's 10-yard line. From the 10, the Centaurs gained zero yardage on a run and two incomplete passes and set-led for a 27-yard field goal from Aidan Morin.

The Lancers took the lead for good on a six-play 61-yard drive, capped by Trey Brennan's four-yard touchdown run with 11:20 left in the second quarter. Waterford pushed its lead to 12-3 after Jackson Harshberger intercepted Davis at the Centaurs 37-yard line and returned it to the 22. Three plays later Waterford quarterback Ryan Bakken connected with Mike Vincent on an eight-yard touchdown pass to push the Lancers lead to 12-3 with 7:43 left in the second quarter.

On its ensuing possession following Vincent's eight-yard touchdown, Woodstock drove 62 yards in 12 plays to Waterford's 13-yard line — but the march was thwarted when Davis was intercepted in the end zone by Waterford's Christian Hightower with 2:06 remaining in the first half. The Lancers took a 12-3 lead into halftime.

To open the second half Waterford drove 56 yards in 14 plays to push its lead to 16 points. Vincent capped the march with 25-yard touchdown reception and Sam Menders booted the point after for a 19-3 lead with 7:02 left in the third quarter.

Woodstock drove for its first touchdown early in the fourth quarter — moving 51 yards in 10 plays. Senior running back Ian Welz capped the drive with a three-yard run and the Centaurs trailed 19-9 with 11:29 left in the fourth quarter.

Following Welz's score Waterford drove 51 yards in 10 plays — with Harshberger rushing in from the 9-yard line and Menders kicking the extra point to push the Lancers margin to 26-9 with 7:56 left in the fourth quarter. Woodstock's Nick Bedard scored on a five-yard run with 1:09 remaining — capping a 10-play 70-yard march — pulling the Centaurs within 26-15 and completing the scoring.

East Lyme did not dominate Woodstock — the Centaurs amassed 16 first downs to 14 for Waterford and threw for 193 yards to just 105 yards for the Lancers. But Woodstock's inability to finish drives and the lack of a running game was too much to overcome.

"I expected a good game. I'm just a little disappointed with certain things we couldn't execute," Saucier said. "We played tough. We played to the end."

The win lifted Waterford's record to 8-1. The Lancers complete their regular season at East Lyme on Thanksgiving day. Woodstock's record fell to 6-3. The Centaurs final game of the season is scheduled for 11 a.m. on Saturday, Nov. 23, at CREC co-op (6-3) in Enfield.

"We want to get that seventh win. We definitely want to go to CREC and end the season on a high note," Saucier said. "We'll regroup. Meet on Monday and make the last week a good one. Fight to the last day and end on a great note."

Last Saturday's game against Waterford marked the last home game for Woodstock's seniors — Welz, Bedard, Travis White, Luis Miranda, Aidan Morin, Daniel Suitum, Nick Bessette, J.J. Bain, Seth Libby, and Zachary Bertram. They are all part of team that this season posted Woodstock Academy's first winning season since the school reinstituted football in 2006.

"We've been together the whole time, as long as I've been here they've been here," Saucier said. "They're awesome kids to be around every day. They work hard. They're humble. They're just great kids to coach."

Bedard finished with seven catches for 77 yards against Waterford. A win against CREC on Saturday would lift the Centaurs record to 7-3, which sounds a lot better to Bedard than a 6-4 mark.

"Next week we go into CREC and finish off the season 7-3. For us seniors that'll be huge for us," Bedard said. "To have a winning season — my last year playing here — that's pretty big."

OBITUARIES

Heather A. Mongeau, 41

P R E S T O N - Heather Anne Mongeau, 41, of Preston passed away November 13, 2019 at Backus Hospital in Norwich. She was born to Frederick Mongeau and Marion (Colvin) Morissette on July 5, 1978. She left this earth after a long and courageous battle with cancer.

She lived to line-dance, where she met the love of her life, Kurt. She also loved to crochet and there still has not been a puzzle made that could stump her. She often used her love of crafting to make heart-felt gifts for those she loved. There was nothing more important to Heather than spending time with her family.

Heather is survived by her fiancé, Kurt Terpe, her mother, Marion Morissette, her father and step mother, Frederick Mongeau and Gail Bunnell, her brothers, Christopher Mongeau and his wife Jessica, Justin Morissette, and Seth Morissette and his wife Erin, her sister Megan Morissette, and her step brother Kyle Herindeen and his wife Bonnie. She will also be truly missed by many aunts, uncles, nieces, nephews, cousins, and friends. The family would like to send their many thanks to the amazing staff at Backus Hospital who lovingly cared for Heather in her final days.

Family and friends are invited to pay their respects on Thursday, November 21, 2019 from 6 to 8PM for calling hours at Cummings Gagne Funeral Home, 82 Cliff Street in Norwich. A service will be held on Saturday, November 23, 2019 at 10AM at St. James Episcopal Church, 95 Route 2A in Preston. A reception will follow at the Poquetanuck Fire Dept., 87 Route 2A in Preston, where she was a Social Member. In lieu of flowers, donations can be made to The Hole in the Wall Gang Camp, a remarkable place where Heather was able to "raise a little hell" and make life-long memories as a child.

Kathleen A. Gaboury, 68

STURBRIDGE - Kathleen A. (Arsenault) Gaboury, 68, of Shepard Rd., passed away on Saturday, Nov. 16th, in her home after a long illness.

Gaboury and his wife Annette of Southbridge; her daughter, Amy Jordan and her companion Brian Malz of Ludlow; her three brothers, Daniel Arsenault of Maine, Kenneth Arsenault of Southbridge and John Baylies of Charlton; her two sisters, Marie Jaccheo of Danielson, CT and Bernadette Coughlin of Danielson, CT; her three grandchildren, Leo Gaboury Jr., Alexander Gaboury and Bryce Gaboury; and nieces and nephews. Kathleen also leaves her grand-dogs, Skylar, Zander, Nala, Bronco and Brutus. She was predeceased by her brother David Arsenault. Kathleen was born in Webster the daughter of the late Leo and Helen (Donnellan) Gaboury.

Kathleen was an avid cook and especially loved to bake. She loved going to the casino and loved to shop. One of her favorite places to visit was Old Orchard Beach, ME. She also enjoyed traveling to Orlando, FL and Disney World with her family. She loved the holidays and most of all Christmas. Kathleen's greatest joy and purpose was taking care of her grandchildren and nieces and nephews.

A funeral Mass for Kathleen will be held on Thursday, Nov. 21st, at 10:00am in St. Anne's Church, 16 Church St., Sturbridge. Burial will be private. There are no calling hours.

Prepare a delicious turkey for your Thanksgiving dinner table

While there are no laws governing which dishes must appear on Thanksgiving dinner tables, for many the fourth Thursday of November simply would not be complete without turkey. Turkey can be cooked in various ways, but roasting might be the most popular method used by Thanksgiving celebrants.

This recipe for “Herb-Roasted Turkey” from Yolanda Banks’ “Cooking for Your Man” (Broadway Books) produces a mouth-watering bird that’s sure to make a lasting impression this Thanksgiving.

HERB-ROASTED TURKEY

SERVES 10

- 12 tablespoons (11/2 sticks) unsalted butter, softened
- 1/4 cup packed fresh flat-leaf parsley leaves, chopped, plus 4 whole sprigs
- 1 large sprig fresh rosemary, leaves chopped, plus 2 whole sprigs
- 1 tablespoon chopped fresh thyme, plus 4 whole sprigs
- 15 leaves fresh sage, chopped, plus 3 whole leaves
- 3/4 teaspoon kosher salt, plus more for the turkey
- 1/2 teaspoon freshly ground black pepper, plus more for the turkey

- 1 15-pound turkey
 - 1 lemon, quartered
 - 8 shallots, peeled and halved
 - 1 head garlic, cloves separated and peeled
 - 4 cups low-sodium chicken broth or stock
 - 2/3 cup dry white wine
 - 3 tablespoons all-purpose flour
1. In a small bowl, combine the butter, chopped parsley, chopped rosemary, chopped thyme, chopped sage, salt, and pepper, and mix well.

2. Position a rack in the bottom third of the oven and preheat the oven to 450 F. Sprinkle the main cavity of the turkey with salt and pepper. Place the whole sprigs of parsley, rosemary and thyme and the sage leaves into the cavity. Add the lemon, 4 shallot halves and half of the garlic cloves.

3. Starting at the neck end, carefully slide a hand between the skin and the breast meat to loosen the skin. Spread

3 tablespoons of the herb butter over the breast meat under the skin. Tuck the wing tips under the skin, and tie the legs together to hold the shape. Season the turkey generously all over with salt and pepper.

4. Place the turkey on a wire rack set in a large roasting pan. Rub 4 tablespoons of the herb butter over the turkey. Roast about 30 minutes, until golden brown, and reduce the heat to 350 F. Baste the turkey with 1/2 cup of the broth. Cover only the breast area with a sheet of heavy-duty aluminum foil. Scatter the remaining shallots and garlic cloves in the pan around the turkey.

5. Continue to roast the turkey for about 1 1/2 hours, basting with 1/2 cup of broth every 30 minutes. Remove the foil from the turkey breast. Continue to roast the turkey, basting with pan juices every 20 minutes, about 1 hour longer, until it’s golden brown and a thermometer inserted into the thickest part of the thigh registers 165 F. Transfer the turkey to a platter and brush with 1 tablespoon of the herb butter. Tent it loosely with foil and let it rest for 20 minutes before carving.

6. Using a slotted spoon, transfer the shallots and garlic from the roasting pan to a plate. Transfer the pan juices to a medium bowl, then skim off and discard the fat. Set the pan over two burners on medium-high heat. Deglaze the pan with the wine and 1 cup of chicken broth, scraping up any browned bits. Bring the sauce to a boil, reduce the heat to medium, and cook until it’s reduced by half, about 4 minutes. Pour the sauce into a large measuring glass. Add the degreased pan juices, and broth, if necessary, to equal 3 cups of liquid.

7. Blend the flour into the remaining herb butter until combined. Pour the broth mixture into a medium saucepan and bring to a boil. Gradually whisk in the herb-butter mixture. Add any accumulated juices from the turkey platter and boil until the gravy thickens enough to coat a spoon, whisking occasionally, about 6 minutes. Add the remaining shallots and garlic to the gravy and simmer for 1 minute. Taste and adjust the seasonings, if necessary. Serve the turkey with the gravy.

What to do with Thanksgiving leftovers

Holiday hosts toil for hours to create lavish meals everyone will enjoy. It’s not uncommon for Thanksgiving tables to be covered with more food than guests can conceivably (and comfortably) consume. Leftovers are the norm, but without a plan for what to do with leftovers, food can spoil or end up in the trash.

Here are some delicious and waste-conscious ways to put Thanksgiving or other holiday meal leftovers to use.

WRAP IT UP PROMPTLY

Even though you may want to sit around and chat with guests when the meal is finished, leaving food out at room temperature for too long can create a breeding ground for microbes that may lead to food spoilage and sickness. With a few helping hands, all foods can be packaged away in no time, ensuring that drumsticks or stuffing can safely be served another day.

COLLECT CONTAINERS

Be sure to have reusable food storage containers, zip-top bags, foil, and plastic wrap at the ready. Before all of the food is put away, encourage guests to make their own doggie bags.

PLAN WITH OTHER MEALS IN MIND

Shop for and prepare holiday fare with a nod toward what can be used in subsequent meals. Turkey is a versatile ingredient that can be made into everything from breakfast burritos to casseroles. Turn potatoes and sausage stuffing into latke patties that can be whipped up for breakfast or lunch. Sweet potatoes, squash and pumpkin can be mashed and reworked into batters for quick breads, pancakes and even doughnuts. Spoon leftover cranberry sauce over hot oatmeal in the morning or use it as a substitute for grape jelly in PB&J sandwiches. Try grinding up stale biscuits to make a breading for turkey slices and turn them into fried cutlets.

TAKE CARE OF THE NEEDY

Find out which organizations accept food donations. Even if you cannot donate previously prepared foods, if you have surplus packaged, boxed or canned items, you can bring them to food pantries and soup kitchens to help others.

ORGANIZE A POST-HOLIDAY POT LUCK

Turn leftovers into an opportunity to fraternize with friends or relatives who couldn’t make it to Thanksgiving dinner. Pool your leftover resources and enjoy the fruits of everyone’s labor. A pot luck can be a great place to gather after shopping Plaid Friday sales in the community.

Thanksgiving leftovers can provide a few extra delicious meals when hosts plan ahead.
