

North Oxford sewer rates rise

BY GUS STEEVES
CORRESPONDENT

OXFORD – After continuing their public hearing so residents of the affected area could be directly notified, selectmen unanimously approved a proposed sewer rate hike for North Oxford last month.

The plan calls for boosting last year’s rate of $10.98 per 1,000 gallons to $12.35 for the sewer service area between the high school and the northern town line.

Residents in South Oxford, where a separate system exists, will see no change in their rate of $16.86.

DPW Director Sean Divoll said the hike is needed to address issues surrounding “inflow-infiltration,” which has increased the quantity flowing through the system. That, in turn, means higher costs for transport through Auburn to the Upper Blackstone Treatment Plant, which also charges for treating it.

The idea of delaying the hearing came from Selectman John Saad, who argued that nobody had shown up at its previous session in early June and few people read the legal ads. He requested the town send notices directly to the roughly 400 customers. It did so, but just one person attended the continuation to express concerns.

Richard Neiland objected to the fact the town charges for all water used, noting some towns give breaks for uses that do not end up in the sewer system, such as pools and irrigation. He said his last quarterly bill showed 22,000 gallons at a cost of $241.56; the new rate would hike it to $271.70.

“What are they changing drastically to go that high?” he asked.

That’s when Divoll noted the town does have a “deduct meter” program, by which residents measure their exterior use. Oxford provides the meters for free, but homeowners need a licensed plumber to install them. He also explained the “I-I” issues.

“We have a plan in place to address that inflow-infiltration,” he said. “... We think the sewers along Route 20 are to blame for this.”

He said the department has already put a camera through those sewer lines to locate leak points, and will do dye-and/or smoke-testing to see where others might be. He said he’s met with state Department of Transportation officials on including sewer main upgrades as part of the state’s Route 20 project; the design work is done, all Oxford needs is a source of funds for the roughly $3 million the work needs.

Town Manager Jen Callahan said she’s working with affected businesses to calculate the economic impact of their sewer plan as part of their appeal for state aid.

“If we had a funding source, we could open bids tomorrow,” Divoll said.

The two largest areas served by that part of the sewer system are Plymouth Village and the Thayer Pond condo complex, with several other homes and businesses on Route 20, 56 and some side streets.

Divoll said he’d like to see the town create a sewer stabilization fund “to protect the ratepayers” by providing a source of funds for projects other than rate hikes. At present, if projects aren’t paid by rate hikes, by law they default to the general taxpayers, many of whom aren’t served by sewers.

In other business, Callahan announced Oxford will be getting a state Historical Commission grant for preservation of the Library, as well as a Stanton Foundation grant of $198,875 to build the new dog park. She also recently appointed Tom Purcell to be the town’s new health agent by contract (rather than an employee), and signed Oxford on to the national opioid lawsuit. Selectmen also approved a host agreement with True Roots Marketing, which plans to open an adult-use cannabis facility.

Pan Mass Challenge Rider Barry Davis accepts a donation. Davis rode a stationary bike in the drive through of Dunkin’ Donuts in Dudley, collecting $800 over two days.

Dudley where he has sought donations with great success for nearly ten years. Davis also makes yearly stops to Park n’ Shop in Dudley and Auburn as well as other Dunkin’ Donuts restaurants in the area. Over the course of two days outside the Dudley venue Davis raised $800 for the cause and is continuing to fundraise right up until the bike ride begins in early August.

Davis said he continues to ride to this day, even while not living in the region, to remember those he has lost. His hope is that one day, when he is unable to ride, he will see news of a cure for cancer finally being discovered and he will know he played a small part in helping that effort.

“I do it because my mom and my wife passed away, but it’s embedded almost in my DNA. I’ve got to do it. It’s just something that’s contagious. Once you do it and you have a reason, especially the loss of a loved one, you come back,” Davis said. “To me it’s memories and honoring my love ones lost, but hopefully someday if I may be in a walking chair somewhere unable to ride and get to the PMC and I can’t do it I know that the cure for cancer was found. That’s what keeps me going.”

Davis will join thousands of cyclists from across the commonwealth and beyond next month when the Pan-Mass Challenge kicks off on Aug. 4. The ride will take cyclists across any of 12 different routes ranging from 25 to 192 miles all to help support an organization looking to end cancer once and for all.

“It’s an honor to be the superintendent here, and we work hard – it’s a ‘we’ that goes all through the district,” Goguen said, noting “a turnaround district is a heavy lift” requiring many changes that encourage collaboration and communication. “... We have moved the needle, and there is more movement to be had.”
Despite that, two Webster Education Association representatives attended to express concerns about various issues in the system. Ellen Jeffers and Linda Millett said a survey of their union’s members found two major concerns: safety and communication, particularly between staff and administration.
Reading from a prepared text, Millett said there have been “many conflicts” over contract compliance that have led to grievances recently, while the teachers hadn’t had any in the previous 10 years.

“The lack of knowledge of current laws in the contract have resulted in further conflicts, which have involved our members,” she said.
Among them, she cited the dismissal of a non-professional-status teacher without an evaluation, not meeting contract timelines for evaluations, issues with staff reductions and transfers, giving coaching posts to outside folks while not interviewing internal applicants, and “haphazard” scheduling of professional development that has caused teachers to miss key trainings because they were at other key trainings. Millett also said “teachers frequently do not feel safe in their classrooms or schools,” in part because of a lack of follow-up ALICE training and out-of-date crisis team lists.
Business Manager Monique Pierangeli read a letter responding to those concerns. She said it was signed by all of the administrators and praised Goguen for “effective leadership, promoting shared responsibility and professional collaboration” and setting “high expectations.”

She agreed the district has “struggled,” but has been working on staffing issues, safety and fulfilling the contract, noting “teachers’ feedback drove ongoing professional development.”
“First and foremost, you’re teachers,” Napierata said afterward. “You’re teachers, and I would be interested in you revising the list and presenting it from a student-first perspective, and talk about the students, and talk about what the teachers and staff in our schools can do to make the schools a better place for students, because it’s not always about the teacher. And I’m a teacher, so I’m one of you. I go to work every day for the students, and if there’s a problem, the solution is also going to be student-centered.”
She noted the union letter didn’t indicate when some of these issues occurred or what the administration’s response was. Regarding the coaching issue, she said the committee “shared that concern” and worked with the union and administration to change the policy.
Seddiki said most of the union’s items weren’t new. She attributed some of them to the fact that change is happening and that’s “disruptive to everybody.” To her, the goal is to improve communication “in a more collaborative way.”

Going off her letter, Jeffers said the contract calls for three meetings per year with the superintendent, but alleged they haven’t happened. Goguen said they have, and suggested doing it twice per month.

School District bids farewell to Nash

BY JASON BLEAU
CORRESPONDENT

DUDLEY/CHARLTON – With a new permanent superintendent set to that the reins and lead the Dudley Charlton Regional School District into the future, the school committee took a moment to honor the woman that has led the district over the last year in her final meeting on June 29.

Dr. Kristine Nash was named the interim superintendent of the district in June of 2016 after the departure of Gregg Desto who departed for a new job in the Auburn School District, a decision partially made to allow him more time to be a father. Nash stepped into the job knowing she would only lead the district for a short time, but in those twelve months she helped the district endure another difficult budget season while also using her knowledge and experience to help the district look deep into the future and continue previous work towards examining reorganization and capital improvement plans that would help the district operate more efficiently.

The school committee took time out of their June 29 meetings, putting business on hold, to celebrate Dr. Nash’s time with the district while committee chair Pauline Aucoin summed up the boards feelings with one simple statement, “Thank you for contributing with all of us to make this district a better place.”

Dr. Nash was humbled by the show of support and appreciation saying she truly enjoyed her time working with the district.

“You never know what to expect when you come into a district and you hope that you can make some difference in a short period of time. Hopefully, I did some things that puts the district in a better place as we move forward,” Dr. Nash said.

She added that the last year has been a quick one, moving maybe too fast, but called that a testament to the hard work being done by everyone that makes the district operate.

“I really commend the work that everyone has done and the dedication. I’ve worked with a lot of committees and you don’t always see that. Everyone has put the effort in to improve the district and that to me makes my job so much easier,” Dr. Nash said.

In March of this year the School Committee chose Steven Lamarche as the new Superintendent picking him from a pool of four candidates for the job. Lamarche was to officially take over on July 1 after serving as the superintendent of Bourne schools since 2010. He previously worked in the town of Webster for five years.

Job description for Assistant Super finalized

BY JASON BLEAU
CORRESPONDENT

DUDLEY/CHARLTON – With a new superintendent taking over the Dudley Charlton Regional School District on July 1, another position also needs to be filled — the superintendent’s right hand man or woman.

The school committee looked over and finalized the new job description for the district’s Assistant Super for Teaching and Learning position on June 26, a position that will lead the district in the case of the superintendent’s absence.

In one of her final contributions as interim superintendent, Dr. Kristine Nash explained some alterations made to the job descriptions before the school committee made a decision on the document. She said the focus was to have the responsibilities more focused on leadership concerning curriculum, instruction, assessment, and professional development while also solidifying the position’s authority just beneath the superintendent.

“We melded the content from both job descriptions. Where there was replication, we eliminated in particular around all of the bullets for the job responsibilities. We also changed the position title, just inverting it to ‘Teaching and Learning’ instead of ‘Learning and Teaching.’ We did add language that indicates the assistant superintendent would be in charge of the district in the absence of the superintendent,” Dr. Nash said.

Incoming superintendent Steven Lamarche was reportedly consulted to some capacity about the job description.

Lamarche will play a significant role in filling the position as the main hiring body. Dr. Nash recommended that the district post the job description with the intent to receive applications throughout July and fill the post by the start of the school year.

“Realistically, my sense would be that if you’re filling it you’re probably going hope to have someone to be able to start the year. It depends. If it’s an internal person you run the risk of having to fill their position and it could be near the end of the summer and if it’s an external hire they usually have to give some kind of notice. There will be a transition, I’m sure,” Dr. Nash said.

The district has up to $120,000 budgeted for the Assistant Super for Teaching and Learning position. Dr. Nash recommended that the salary be considered a negotiable figure during the hiring allowing for a pool of qualified applicants seeking either career advancement or a larger paycheck.

Estimate for cooling tower higher than expected

BY JASON BLEAU
CORRESPONDENT

DUDLEY – Dudley Middle School is one step closer to receiving a new cooling tower to help better regulate the temperature of the building especially in regard to heat; however, the new purchase will cost the district a little more than expected.

The Dudley Charlton Regional School District made the move to invest in a new cooling tower for the Dudley Middle School earlier this year, sending out requests for quotes on the purchase. However, the district’s Director of Finance and Operations, Richard Mathieu, had some new updates for the school committee at the end of June that revealed the investment may be bigger than originally anticipated.

“We did receive quotations in. The lowest responsible responsive bidder was Renaud HVAC & Controls, Inc. out of Sutton, Ma. The cost of the tower with installation all-in will be $83,000, so a little bit higher than we anticipated,” Mathieu said.

This new update isn’t exactly a surprise. Mathieu said the added cost could be the result of several factors, but that the most important thins to remember is that the bidding process is much different as this was a state contract.

“We’re a little further into the production season. The initial quotes were from about a month or so ago. They weren’t actual quotes, they were from the back of the envelope saying ‘oh, it could be this type of number,’” Mathieu said. “When you do this particular bid process you follow the state contract so it’s the state contract price plus a percentage. So, this process wasn’t the same as a open bid.”

Even with the added cost Mathieu isn’t concerned. He felt that the district would still end up right where they wanted to be with the investment and that the cooling tower would be a valuable new addition to help with the comfort level of the interior heat of the school. The school committee showed little to no opposition to the new price.

Delle-Chiaie presided over the special occasion sharing some history about the transcontinental railroad and its significance to American history. Delle-Chiaie called the stamp unveiling a special moment to be a part of as it not only showcased a tribute to history, but also drew attention to a hidden gem in the heart of Webster, the Railroad Museum.

“What’s more American than the transcontinental railroad stamp? Connecting the east to the west. What and historic event,” Delle-Chiaie said during a short ceremony to unveil the stamp. “Today, we have a moment to share that connects America. When that golden spike went in it changed America. That was 1869. Today it’s still alive – What a way to take the postal service and connect it with the community.”

The limited-edition stamps are being made available at all local post offices while supplies last and those in attendance at the event were able to purchase a strip before everyone else. Before the stamp was revealed, Senator Ryan Fattman took a moment to present Bill Radcliffe, the President of the Railfan Club, with a special citation from both the House of Representatives and Senate acknowledging the occasion. State Representatives Joe Mckenna and Peter Durant were also in attendance. Radcliffe was given the honor of unveiling the stamp along with Malcolm Montague Davis whose great grandfather was present for the hammering of the golden spike.

Dominic Delle-Chiaie complimented the stamps design as one done with pride in its significance.

The ceremony was closed out with Dominic Delle-Chiaie reenacting the hammering of the spike. Three versions of the stamp have been made, two depicting classic locomotives and a third, smaller stamp depicting the golden spike. All three stamps are colored with a mix of gold, red, white and blue.

“This is a stamp that they really took their time to make,” Delle-Chiaie said. “They were very thorough, and they did a fantastic job. This is history, the golden spike connecting the east and the west. What better day can we get? It’s amazing. I get chills talking about it.”

The new commemorative 150th anniversary transcontinental railroad stamps will remain available for a limited time at local post offices throughout the region while supplies last and are sure to be a must have for any collector or those interested in celebrating a piece of American history.

Malcolm Montague Davis, whose great grandfather was present for the hammering of the golden spike, and Providence & Worcester Railfan Club President Bill Radcliffe unveil the commemorative stamp for the 150th anniversary of the transcontinental railroad.

Hi! My name is Damon and I have a good sense of humor!

Damon is a loving and affectionate thirteen-year-old boy of African American and Lebanese descent. He can seem shy when you first meet him, but Damon thoroughly enjoys the company of others once he warms up and feels comfortable. Damon’s favorite activity right now is playing video games but he is open to trying new things! He used to play flag football and enjoyed that very much. Damon would benefit from a supportive family that could expose him to different types of activities outside of the house. Damon is in the fifth grade this academic year and his teachers report he has great relationships with other students!

Damon is legally free for adoption and would thrive in a home with at least one male caretaker. Damon has the potential to be most successful in a family that can provide him structure, routine and predictability. Any interested family should also be willing to allow Damon to have ongoing contact with his maternal grandparents as they are extremely important to him.

At 17, I still had not successfully had a physical relationship with a girl, and the social and hormonal pressures were intense.

The '70's was a decade of a lot of moral "freedom", which basically amounted to "intimacy" being talked about in magazines, on TV and shown in movies with unprecedented frequency and verisimilitude.

Nowadays, it's commonplace to see graphic love scenes on TV, but back then it was new and electrifying to see people "making whoopee" in films without a fast cut to a scene of waves breaking on a shore, or logs burning in a fire-place, a euphemistic device brilliantly parodied in the comedy "Top Secret."

All this to say that sex was always top of mind for me back then. And my anxieties about it, about my performance, about the possible consequences, were also top of mind, and worrisome.

To ease the discomfort, I sought out someone who I knew was a marijuana user, with whom I also desired to have a fling. This girl was more than happy to get me "high".

(Marijuana was, of course, illegal back then. I don't know where she got her stash, but her older brother is a likely possibility. I recall months later trying on his leather jacket and finding inside the pockets two enormous plastic bags of pot.)

The effects of smoking were immediate. I was no longer nervous about anything. I was friendly, clever and amusing, untroubled by the possibility of rejection. I felt like the charming fellow I could never comfortably be in "normal life," but felt myself capable of being.

A few hours later, of course, I was back to my old confused, introverted self... but also ravenously hungry.

Pot became a staple in my life for many years, and it all started by "solving" my problem of anxiety over getting intimate. After a while, nervousness about sex was no longer my problem. Quite the opposite: irresponsibility about sex became my problem.

Today's medicos undoubtedly recommend drugs to teens for similar anxieties. Today's marijuana, as well as today's psych meds, are far more powerful and addictive than anything I would have been exposed to in 1977, so I am concerned about the 17 year olds of 2019 who might be as nervous about life as I was.

Here's the thing—drugs are a quick fix. They aren't based on or supportive of rationality. They don't cure anything. They are simply substances that affect the body in various ways, some of which can be pleasant, but always with a price.

Any pain diminished by drugs inevitably returns. Drugs rob your body of nutrients and, in many cases, can interrupt normal body function enough to make you ill or even do you in.

Pot smokers, back in my youth, were typified by the comedy of Cheech and Chong, (the Key and Peele of my day) who became famous with slapstick movies about stoners getting into ridiculous situations fueled by "Thai stick", "Panama Red" and other species of weed. (I recall them as hilarious, however, I don't think I'd feel the same about them if I watched one today; you never see any of their titles on "Best Comedy" film lists.)

Pot smoking was seen as unserious and innocent, nothing to get too worked

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

‘Santa’ Bernie’s should examine the causes of student loan debt

To the Editor:

Presidential candidate Bernie Sanders Claus recently announced a plan that would cancel all college student loan debt. Guess those college kids were still writing their letters to Santa. Little did they know that the Postal Service was delivering them to Vermont and not the North Pole. Santa Bernie's plan would eliminate $1.6 trillion of debt in all. Now, that is a Jolly Old Elf to be sure.

Why is it that no one ever asks the question "Why is college so expensive?" That question might be too tough for Santa Bernie.

College is so expensive for a number of reasons. Today's students are not getting room service delivery of five-star restaurant quality meals. They probably don't have both a hot tub and jacuzzi in every room, and the concierge service is likely only spotty at best. Still, the tuition and fees would leave one to wonder.

Two things jump out. First of all, there are people making big money on college campuses, and they don't even teach a class. According the Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland (2016), "Most private college presidents are paid in the $100,000–$500,000 range, although a fairly large number of presidents make between $500,000 and $1,000,000. Some are paid more than $1,000,000 per year. The median pay is $301,153, and the mean is $377,261, both of which are well into the 99th percentile of compensation for wage earners in the United States."

Think the state colleges and universities in the Commonwealth have been able to hold the line? Dream on. "The state's top paid worker for the 2016 calendar year was UMass head basketball coach Derek Kellogg, who took home $1.06 million. He was followed by UMass chancellor and senior vice president of health sciences Michael Collins, who took home $938,000. UMass President Marty Meehan earned $593,000. Other chancellors, deans and UMass officials also top the salary list."

If that wasn't bad enough, we have a boom in the number of college administrators on campuses. The New England Center for Investigative reporting found that "The number of non-academic administrative and professional employees at U.S. colleges and universities has more than doubled in the last 25 years, vastly outpacing the growth in the number of students or faculty, according to an analysis of federal figures." That might not be so bad, but for the fact that these folks are not making minimum wage, far from it, and they rarely if ever venture into the classroom.

What we have are institutions of higher education that are top heavy with expensive staffs far removed from what most would assume to be the business of a college – imparting knowledge to the students, the customers. This business model doesn't work in the "real" world. But because colleges have convinced both themselves and the public (students included) that education is worth any price, the cost continues to inflate beyond reason.

Now Santa Bernie comes along and says forget about repaying student loans. That can only be a big green light to colleges to keep doing what they are doing and, heck, why not increase already bloated salaries and add more non-essential staff.

At some point, we have to stop the madness and take a hard look at what's really happening. Any chance Santa Bernie might announce a plan for that? Nah, not in his life time.

THANK YOU,
RICHARD CLARK
DUDLEY

Life events can lead you to see a financial advisor

Over the years, you'll experience many personal and professional milestones. Each of these can be satisfying, but they may also bring challenges – especially financial ones. That's why you may want to seek the guidance of a financial professional. Here are some of the key life events you may encounter, along with the help a financial advisor can provide:

New job – When you start a new job, especially if it's your first "career-type" one, you may find that you have several questions about planning for your financial future, including your retirement. You may have questions about how much you should contribute to your employer-sponsored retirement plan. What investments should you choose? When should you increase your contributions or adjust your investment mix? A financial advisor can recommend an investment strategy that's appropriate for your goals, risk tolerance and time horizon.

Marriage – Newlyweds often discover they bring different financial habits to a marriage. For example, one spouse may be more of a saver, while the other is more prone to spending. And this holds true for investment styles – one spouse might be more risk-averse, while the other is more aggressive. A financial advisor can help recommend ways for you and your spouse to find some common ground in your saving and investment strategies, enabling you to move forward toward your mutual goals.

New child – When you have a child, you will need to consider a variety of financial issues. Will you be able to help the child someday go to college? And what might happen to your child, or children, if you were no longer around? A financial advisor can present you with some college-savings options, such as an education savings plan, as well as ways to protect your family, such as life insurance.

Career change – You may change jobs several times, and each time you do, you'll need to make some choices about your employer-sponsored retirement plan. Should you move it to your new employer's plan, if transfers are allowed? Or, if permitted, should you keep the assets in your old employer's plan? Or perhaps you should roll over the money into an IRA? A financial advisor can help you explore these options to determine which one is most appropriate for your needs.

Death of a spouse – Obviously, the death of a spouse is a huge emotional blow, but it does not have to be a financial one – especially if you've prepared by having the correct beneficiary named on retirement accounts and life insurance policies. Your financial advisor can help ensure you have taken these steps.

Retirement – Even after you retire, you'll have some important investment decisions to make. For one thing, you'll need to establish a suitable withdrawal strategy so you don't deplete your retirement accounts too soon. Also, you still need to balance your investment mix in a way that provides at least enough growth potential to keep you ahead of inflation. Again, a financial advisor can help you in these areas.

No matter where you are on your journey through life, you will need to address important financial and investment questions, but you don't have to go it alone – a financial professional can help you find the answers you need.

A discussion of roadside debris

Trash and debris along the roadways are always a concern. I was recently asked a question about plastic and glass left on the roads after a vehicle crash. Who is responsible for cleaning this debris, and where does liability lie if a vehicle runs over it and it causes damage?

This is certainly a challenging question, and these must be judged on a case by case basis. In all instances, the immediate priority to consider has two parts: Is the object in the travel portion of the road, and does it cause a hazard? Generally, when a crash takes place on a public way, if the police respond and a tow truck is utilized, the company will clean any debris and remove it along with the vehicle. However, in many instances, police may or may not respond to a crash, particularly if it is of a minor nature. Even minor crashes can result in glass, plastic, or metal on the road. Certainly, any large items should be taken away by the parties in those instances. The government's role regarding debris removal, generally focuses on two main factors. Did they have knowledge of the debris as causing a safety hazard and was it removed within a reasonable time? Much of the debris or trash is often moved to the side of the road, out of the travel lanes. If it is not brought to anyone's attention, it may only be picked up during the normal course of business.

One of the challenges to road debris is finding the source. People may not be aware of something falling off their vehicle or they could intentionally leave something behind. One law that can be applied in some cases is Massachusetts General Laws Chapter 266, Section 35 entitled "Throwing or Dropping Objects onto Any Way." It states in part, "Whoever willfully or negligently drops, throws or otherwise releases any object, missile or other article onto any way...so that the lives or safety of the public may be endangered..." Even though this section generally applies to act of the throwing of objects such as bottles, rocks, snowballs, etc., it may be applicable when it comes to intentionally leaving debris on the roadway. It can apply if, the act in any way, endangers the lives or safety of the public. This will once again be determined on a case by case basis. People in violation of this law could be punished by a fine of up to $100 and/or up to one year in prison.

Whenever debris is deposited on the road, it can be dangerous. People may be injured by flying objects. Property, including cars, can also be damaged. Road debris is particularly dangerous for those riding motorcycles and bicycles. Always be aware of loose objects on or about your vehicle. If something does go into the street, clean it up. If you spot hazardous objects on the road, make a call to ensure it can be addressed promptly. Residents may not be aware of the large amount of road miles in their community. Dudley, for example, has 83 miles of roads. That is a large area to cover. Public assistance is always important toward addressing problems and preventing accidents and injuries. Finally, it helps to keep our community clean.

The joys(?) of boat ownership

So, you want to buy a boat? Buying your own boat to fish from can be exciting but expensive. As the old saying goes, “The happiest two days of owning a boat are when you buy it and when you sell it.” Another saying is “A boat is a big hole in the water that you keep pouring money into.” They are both true, but they can also provide a family with a lot of fun on the water, and fishing from your own boat can also be exciting and rewarding. Before you purchase a boat, you need to have a person that knows about boats with you before you put down your hard earned cash. What size boat do you want and can afford. Purchasing a big boat that needs a slip requires finding a slip first, as they are in high demand. Slip fees are also very costly, and the price is set by the feet of the craft , and vary depending on the location. Purchasing a boat that can be trailered in the 18-to-28-foot range requires a vehicle that has the power to safely transport it to and from your home.

Trailering your boat will require you to purchase insurance for both the boat and your trailer. Purchasing “SeaTow” or similar insurance will be necessary to provide help on the water in case you break down. Taking a course in navigation is extremely important. and having a (GPS) Global positioning system , or similar device is recommended for safe navigation on the water. Radar is another device that is extremely important especially when a fog banks moves in. The ocean is no place for armatures in a boat especially when the fog moves in.

Taking a Coast Guard Safety Course prior to purchasing a boat is highly recommended. Trailering a boat on the roads today is insane and extremely dangerous. If you decide to purchase your own boat and trailer it, be prepared to put up with a lot of “idiots” on the road and at the boat ramp. Keeping a cool head and driving safely will keep you and your family safe, and will give you many enjoyable days on the water. Always keep you VISA GOLD card available in case of emergencies. Good luck.

Striper fishing has been hot one day and poor the next. Being there at the right time and fishing with the proper bait or lures is important. A lot of bait fish are moving in and out of hot spots daily with a huge concentration of squid this year on the Cape. On angler reported being covered with squid ink even though he was not using squid. Bass were full of squid and were coughing them up when caught by anglers. Fluke & seabass fishing is holding their own, but no big bites reached this writers desk.

My brother Ken & his Wife visited the Quabbin Res. last week and caught a couple of lake trout and one bass. The second picture shows Ken with a nice lake trout. Although the fishing was slow they had a great time. Fishing the Quabbin anytime of the year is always a great day in the outdoors. The $25 fee for admittance and use of a boat and motor with a tank of gas is a real bargain. Bear hunting can be dangerous, but exciting for some people and Janet Harper of Douglas loves the thrill of the hunt. As stated in last weeks column Janet & her husband Phil hunt all over the country and beyond, and they have plenty of mounts to prove there success hanging in there man cave and there woman’s cave. Nice Bear.

up about. Overzealous educational films of prior decades which preached marijuana was a one-way ticket to insanity were rightly seen as exaggerated and inaccurate, playing on parental fears with laughably unrealistic situations.

A casual attitude about pot was partly the reaction to the obvious falseness of these “authoritative” films.

Marijuana didn’t destroy me. It didn’t turn me into a maniac, or ruin my life. But it didn’t assist me in navigating the many challenges of life. In fact, it got in the way of me controlling my life.

Although I had innumerable stupid misadventures, the worst thing that happened to me as a result of marijuana was that eventually I did not care what I took into my body to feel better.

THAT opened the door to some very serious drugs which absolutely could have destroyed me and very nearly did.

That may be the most dangerous facet of smoking pot, one that is ignored today in the current wave of legalized weed; if smoking or eating pot to solve one’s problems is acceptable, why stop there?

I don’t have the hard statistics to hand, but I reckon most people that, like me, eventually turned to harder drugs to satisfy their pain or their boredom began it all by smoking pot.

Smoking pot was, for me, a surrender to something, a giving up on a problem, not a victory. It was an expression of throwing my hands up and saying, “I can’t figure it out—I’ll just be numb.”

Once started down this road, I found it hard to resist other drugs that had equal promise to numb or to “enlighten”. And those drugs being toxic, the more I took, the less physical energy I had to face and conquer my problems on my own.

Eventually I got to the point many drug users get to where a partnership of sorts with chemicals becomes a stated reality. “I can’t be who I really am without them, therefore I won’t even try.”

It had all begun with trying to solve my nervousness with pot. That opened the door to a myriad of other dangerous solutions that stalled out my creativity and blunted my perceptions for a long time.

(By the way, when my nervousness came back, it was much worse than before. So much for the marijuana “cure”.)

I eventually of course did straighten myself out and left the druggie life behind forever, but that’s a story for another day.

You may be wondering why I am taking up this topic now, so many years later. I suppose it’s a response to the rising number of pro-marijuana ads in places where it is legal, with their promises of health, happiness, inspiration or delight, (free delivery!) just a mouse click or a text away.

Marijuana is legal now in Massachusetts and in many other places in America. I’m not necessarily offended by this, as I consider sending people to jail or prison isn’t a good solution and degrades people faster than pot.

But the lies about pot smoking are offensive to me. Claims about it being medicinal, the inference of the now ubiquitous “green cross” symbol, are falsehoods on the level of the timeworn “snake oil salesmen”.

Claims about pot making one more tranquil, or more creative, or more productive are all spurious; they may sound good, but close inspection will prove them invalid.

The tranquility, creative spirit or increased productivity one may achieve with pot will not last, and in its place will follow the same obstacle one was originally trying to handle, only now bigger and more difficult to confront.

With any drug, eventually, the human body adjusts to the toxicity and balances itself, creating a tolerance. More and more of the drug is required to have the same effect. More and more, stronger and stronger, oftener and oftener, one needs to continually increase just to keep up. This isn’t news.

Many addicts today take a variety of drugs just to get the effect they used to achieve with small doses of just one.

That’s the way it always goes. Anyone saying otherwise, as did the doctors who dispensed millions of prescriptions of opioids to unwitting patients, making them addicts, is either lying or catastrophically ignorant. Either way, it’s criminal.

There are safe, non-drug methods to deal with nervousness, pain, boredom, or any of the unpleasantnesses of life.

Marijuana does not provide all the answers to the pain, disappointments and confusions of life, no matter how trendy the billboards.

You’re not fooled. You know. Jim Meskimen is an entertainer. Go to www.drugfreeworld.org

Garden Tour offers new sights to explore

CORRESPONDENT

DUDLEY – Dudley’s third Inspiration Garden Tour is on the horizon, continuing a successful modern tradition to showcase the hidden beauty of summer throughout the town. But this year, the tour is expanding by not only showcasing the gardens of Dudley but a neighboring community as well.

Slated to take place on July 20, the Inspiration Garden Tour was put together by the Dudley Woman’s Club and has become something of a modern tradition with two successful events in 2016 and 2017 before taking a year off to build in the product making it a biannual event. Maryellen Huck, a representative of the Dudley Woman’s Club, appeared before the Dudley Board of Selectmen on July 1 to seek a waiver to allow for increased parking on Center Road during the event as registration will take place at the Black Tavern. In the process she previewed the upcoming garden showcase and revealing that the 2019 edition will be bigger and brighter than ever before.

“This is our third garden tour and we attract people from all over the region and even

Boston to come out and see the beauty of Dudley,” Huck said. “In the past, we’ve had about fifty people come to the garden tour and a bunch of us went to the Woodstock Garden Tour last summer and they had 200 people. This is just kind of an insurance policy on our part to hopefully have enough room and that’s why we would need Center Road.”

While previous events have specifically focused on the gardens of Dudley, a second community id being added for this year increasing the length of the tour and the different kinds of gardens that spectators will get to enjoy.

“We have four private gardens in Dudley and the garden hosts are just great. They open up their hidden gardens to our tourists. We moved to Charlton this year too, so we have three gardens in Charlton,” Huck told selectmen.

Dudley Woman’s Board President Andrea Kane detailed the cost of the event, $20 for preregistration and $25 the day of the tour, with all funds helping support different programs hosted by the Dudley Woman’s Club over the course of the year.

“The Dudley Women’s Club is a volunteer organization. We make donations to scholarships and a variety of causes. This facilitates some of those donations,” Kane said.

Those who attend the tour will receive a map and list of the gardens they can visit between the two host communities. The event is scheduled for 10 a.m. until 3 p.m. on July 20. More information about the Inspiration Garden Tour can be found at www.dudleywomensclub.org.

Cherry Valley Legion rallies, then deals Shrewsbury its first loss

SPORTS CORRESPONDENT

WORCESTER — Chris Kustigian's two-out, three-run double highlighted a five-run seventh inning for Cherry Valley Post 443, which rallied from a two-run, sixth-inning deficit to defeat previously unbeaten Shrewsbury Post 397, 7-4, in an American Legion baseball game at Holy Cross's Hanover Insurance Park on Tuesday, July 2.

Cherry Valley improved to 9-4 with the win. Shrewsbury, which lost a second game that same night (8-6 to Milford Post 59), went into its three-day Fourth of July hiatus with a record of 8-2.

Post 443 trailed, 4-2, when it came up to bat in the top of the seventh inning. The frame didn't start well for the visitors as Edgar Lopez grounded out to third base for out No. 1. Evan Brindisi then got the rally started by working his way on base via a walk. He went to second base when Mike Bordeaux (two hits, RBI) singled to left field. Ryan Berry then struck out (for out No. 2) and unknowingly set the stage for Cherry Valley's comeback for the ages.

Post 443 manager Jim Stephens then sent pinch-hitter Matt Kustigian (Chris's younger brother) to the plate and he pulled Cherry Valley to within a run, 4-3, when he lined a solid single to center field, scoring Brindisi and moving Bordeaux to second.

Dan Mero then tied the game, 4-4, Bordeaux scampering home on Mero's single to center field. Matt Kustigian, who moved to second on Mero's hit, advanced to third when Tyrus Garvin reached on a Shrewsbury error, a play that also moved Mero to second.

That set the stage for Chris Kustigian (single, double, three RBI), who launched the ball into the alley between left and center field, the ball one-hopping the fence and scoring Matt Kustigian, Garvin and Mero to put Cherry Valley ahead, 7-4.

"I've got a lot of young kids on this team and the biggest thing I'm trying to teach them is being focused on every at-bat," Stephens said. "You have to work on your pitch. You have to hit your pitch. You have to look for your pitch. But, before all of that, you have to know what your pitch is.

"Chris, at times, likes the high pitch.

We've worked really hard on him laying off of those pitches," Stephens continued. "Chris did a good job of being disciplined in that at-bat because [Shrewsbury pitcher Mike Bean] started him off with some high pitches. But Chris has consistently worked hard to improve his approach at the plate. He's to the point now where he's chasing pitches he can hit."

Bean took a no-hitter and a 1-0 lead to the mound with him to start the fifth inning, but Post 443 wiped out both in the span of three batters. Lopez led off with a booming double to the corner in left field, went to third base on a sacrifice bunt by Brindisi and then scored to tie the game, 1-1, on an RBI single to left field by Bordeaux.

Cherry Valley took a 2-1 lead in the top of the sixth inning, Garvin reaching on an error with two outs and then scoring from first base when Chris Kustigian's single to center field got under the glove of Shrewsbury's Tyler Hopping and rolled all the way to the wall.

Shrewsbury, however, scored three runs in the bottom of the sixth to take that fateful 4-2 lead to the top of the seventh.

Post 443 once again got a solid pitching performance out of right-hander Aidan Gilman. Gilman pitched into the seventh inning, allowing Shrewsbury four runs on eight hits. He struck out five and walked four.

"Aidan gave me way more than I expected tonight," Stephens said. "He's been dealing with some soreness and hadn't pitched in eight or nine days. I sent him home [on June 28] and told him to get some rest.

"He texted me at one point and all the text said was, 'I want Shrewsbury on Tuesday,'" Stephens explained. "I didn't respond to his text so over the weekend he sent me about 10 more texts asking if he was pitching tonight. I never tell kids until the day of the game that they're pitching, but I knew he was pitching this game over the weekend just from all the texts he sent me. I knew he was ready."

Aidan Gilman of Cherry Valley tries to fire a fastball past a Shrewsbury batter.

Cherry Valley's Mike Bordeaux slides safely into home plate for a run.

Late rally not enough for Sturbridge in loss to Northborough

Sturbridge second baseman Nolan Kingman gets a nice hop as he sees the ball into his glove.

BY NICK ETHIER
SPORTS STAFF WRITER

NORTHBOROUGH — After the Sturbridge Post 109 and the Northborough Post 234 American Legion baseball teams both scored a pair of runs in the first inning at Memorial Field on Tuesday, July 2, it appeared as if both squad would be held scoreless in the second frame.

Sturbridge went down in 1-2-3 fashion — all outs were recorded in the 1-3 variety with pitcher Dylan Connors fielding the ball and throwing over to first baseman Jack Choate — and Northborough had its first two batters retired. But

Post 109 pitcher Pat Wilbur hit a batter and walked the next before Connors reached base when his hot-shot to third baseman Deven Kingman got underneath his glove, loading the bases.

Choate (2-for-3) followed with a two-run double to left field. The hit, the eventual game winner, was an oddity, as a large tree with its trunk behind the left field fence had many branches overhanging onto the field. Sturbridge’s Avery Wetherbee backtracked to near the wall, looking to make the catch, but the ball hit a few leaves and came down without the catch being made.

“That was the game, right there,” Sturbridge manager Jim Rosseel said of those four at-bats, particularly of the error. “We should have been out of that inning.”

To compound the problem, Northborough’s Jeff Lamothe hit a seeing-eye single to center field, which fell in safely just out of the reach of a diving Colin Eliason to drive in two more.

Now trailing, 6-2, Post 109 didn’t threaten again until the sixth inning. By that point it was too little, too late, as Sturbridge lost a 6-3 decision.

“We kind of got deflated a little,” said Rosseel. “We should have had the same enthusiasm — we didn’t.”

“We should have answered in the third,” continued Rosseel, whose team instead only left one runner stranded on base. “At least with one [run], it’s an answer. Anything’s an answer.”

Post 109 tried to finally answer in the sixth inning when they loaded the bases with one out. But Colby Jacobs’ hard-hit shot up the middle was snagged by Connors, who threw home for the force out. Eliason then popped out to second base to end the threat.

Sturbridge did score in the seventh when Sean Clark (2-for-4) went to right field for an opposite field homer off Connors. Wetherbee then walked and Nate Carty was hit by a pitch (he got hit in all three of his plate appearances), but Roger Leland ended the game when his well-struck grounder went directly to the shortstop, who started a 6-4-3 double play.

The loss dropped Post 109 to 7-8, while Post 234 evened its record to 7-7.

Despite the loss, Rosseel noted that his club can play with anyone. His example included an eight-inning, 6-4 victory versus Milford Post 59, one of the top teams in the Zone.

“We can compete with anyone,” said Rosseel. “Shrewsbury’s the only team that’s legitimately beat us.”

Sturbridge picked up its first two runs on a Leland RBI single and a Mick Sullivan RBI groundout, while Northborough answered with a two-run homer down the left-field line off the bat of Connors.

Connors earned the victory with a complete game effort, with only one of his runs allowed being earned. He struck out four, walked two, hit four batters and surrendered five hits.

Wilbur also pitched a complete game five-hitter for Sturbridge, allowing two earned runs while striking out three, walking three and hitting two.

Sturbridge's Roger Leland positions himself at first base in an attempt to pick off a Northborough base runner.

Sturbridge's Mick Sullivan bends away from an inside pitch.

Oxford puts it all together to dispatch Douglas

Oxford's Anthony Purretta swings away at the Douglas offering.

BY KEN POWERS
SPORTS CORRESPONDENT

OXFORD — Dante Purretta and Ryan Parr each had a pair of singles and Jake Leone added an RBI triple as Oxford defeated Douglas, 12-1, in Game 1 of a Paul N. Johnson (PNJ) League Senior Ruth doubleheader played Sunday, July 7 at Oxford High.

Oxford, which swept the double-header by winning the second game 5-1, improved its record to 8-9. Douglas wound up 8-10. Game 1 was halted after five innings due to the league's mercy rule.

"The team that you saw today, that's the team that started out 4-0," Oxford coach Jimmy Purretta said. "It's been a tale of two seasons. It's all or nothing with us. In some games we're hitting a bunch and we're pitching well. In other games we're making foolish mistakes and making errors and that all spills over negatively to our hitting and pitching. That's not what happened today. Today we got good pitching and good hitting and — for the most part — played good defense."

In the Game 1 win Oxford had four players — Purretta, Evan Bond, Ben Grniet and Sawyer MacPherson — drive in two runs each. Also singling for Oxford in the eight-hit attack were Bond, Aidan Fahey and Jarod Mosley.

Dante Purretta also picked up the complete-game win on the mound for Oxford, allowing six hits while walking three and striking out five.

"Dante is pitching strong; he's getting stronger every game," said coach Purretta, Dante's father. "Dante was playing in college so we've had to build everything back up for him after the layoff at the end of his college season. We've been trying to build everything back up to full guns and he showed today he's back at full guns."

Oxford took control of Game 1 in the second inning, jumping out to a 9-0 lead. The first nine Oxford batters of the inning reached base and all nine scored. The first two runs were scored on bases-loaded walks and the next two on Douglas errors. Runs Nos. 5 and 6 were scored on a single to left-center field by Bond, while runs Nos. 7 and 8 were scored on a single to right field by Dante Purretta. The ninth run of the inning was scored on a sacrifice fly by Parr.

"We were opportunistic, we were alive and we were aggressive at the plate," Jimmy Purretta said. "We put the ball in play and made them make plays. We had a lot of base hits [five] in the inning. We had a lot of key hits by a lot of guys. That's what did it for us. It was a complete team effort."

Oxford increased its lead to 10-0 in the fourth inning, Anthony Purretta — Dante's younger brother — working a two-out walk, stealing second and then coming home on Leone's three-bagger to right-center field.

Douglas scored its lone run of the game in the bottom of the fourth inning, cutting the Oxford lead to 10-1 when, with one out, Tyler Crandall tripled to left-center field and then came home on a two-out single to left field by David Prosser (two hits).

Oxford extended its lead to 12-1 in the top of the fifth, Parr leading off the inning with a single to right-center field and advancing to second when the next batter, Mosley, reached on a Douglas error. Both players then scored when the third batter of the inning, Grniet, singled to right field.

"The second inning was tough, but those things happen. You have games that get ahead of you and this was one of those games," said Tim Brosnahan, who co-coaches the Douglas team with Dennis Crandall.

Douglas finished with six hits including triples by Devon Paine (two hits) and Tyler Crandall.

"That's one thing about these guys; they always battle at the plate," Brosnahan said. "They bring a good mentality with them when they're at the plate."

Oxford's Jeremy Rodriguez fields the ball and then throws it over to first base.

Dante Purretta of Oxford follows through after releasing a pitch.

Dudley Beach to close at dusk daily

CORRESPONDENT

DUDLEY – After previously debating the 2019 hours for the town beach, selectmen have decided to keep the status quo allowing for a more fluid closing time to allow every citizen a chance to access the beach this season.

Selectmen began a minor debate about whether or not specific closing hours should be set for the beach in June with the citizens-only luxury to be officially opened for the summer this month. On July 1, Town Administrator Jonathan Ruda revisited the debate recommending that the town shift from previous years and stick to a set closing time for the property.

“What we’re looking for is enforcement. So, we’re looking to set a time for the police chief to have his officers enforce that the beach is closed, not so much the lifeguards. My suggestion is it’s open at 7 a.m., posted whether or not a lifeguard is or isn’t on duty, and to close at 7 p.m. and that sets some sort of framework for enforcement,” Ruda said.

In June, several selectmen showed concern with putting specific closing hours on the beach as it would do an injustice to the citizens of Dudley who work later hours and may get out before the sun sets, but not before 7 p.m., leaving them unable to enjoy the property at their leisure. The beach is specifically designated as a Dudley-only beach for use only by town residents and police have worked hard to enforce those regulations over recent years. The town administrator saw the placement of specific hours as a way to allow police a set time to begin enforcing the beach as closed for the day.

Police Chief Steve Wojnar didn’t seem to have a preference as to when the beach should be handled saying his officers will follow the lead of the selectmen. However, he did acknowledge that his office has heard concerns about limiting the beaches use by closing before sunset.

“The only issue we ran into a few times was is people wanted to go there on summer nights it stays light until about 8:15 p.m. or 8:30 p.m., but if (the board) wants 7 a.m. to 7 p.m., I’m fine with it,” Wojnar said.

Selectman Steve Sullivan repeated his concerns from previous meetings that closing the beach at a specific time would limit it’s use for those with later work hours. He recommended the town stick to the same standard they have utilized in past years, closing as darkness sets in.

“I think we worked well by using the dusk standard,” said Sullivan. “That’s my only fear is for someone who works late and comes from a greater distance and it’s 80 degrees and 7:01 p.m.”

Other selectmen also noted that changing the closing to a specific time would facilitate the need to invest in new signs for the beach.

Selectmen approved setting the operating hours of the town beach from 7 a.m. until dusk, keeping with past years and setting the expectations of enforcement for the 2019 summer season.

The Dudley town beach will retain the same opening and closing policies it has embraced the past few years.

Garden Herbs: Proper Picking & Preserving

Herbs not only bring essence and beauty to the landscape, they also provide an element of enchantment to a garden. Whether you grow herbs for their unique flavors, medicinal value, or just for the pure pleasure of it - the humble herb adds spice to any garden plot! Read on for some harvesting and preserving tips, plus few recipes to spotlight your fresh snipped herbs.

Harvesting Herbs

While snipping herbs daily for kitchen use is a common practice, the act of fully harvesting herbs regularly is also important to ensure new growth. For best flavor, cut or snip herbs in the morning, after the dew has evaporated from the leaves but before the midday sun heats the plant.

Most annual plants can be harvested twice during the planting season. Cut plants back to about five inches above the ground and feed after cutting. Annual herbs can be harvested until frost.

Perennial herbs may be harvested once during the first year and up to three times each season after the initial growth year. Harvest up to 75 percent of the top growth in late spring and another quarter in late summer. Stop harvesting about one month before the frost date. Late pruning could encourage tender growth that cannot harden-off before winter.

Flowering herbs should be harvested when the buds are apparent or when flowers are just opening. This is when their oil concentration is at its peak.

Preserving Herbs While herbs for cooking should be used fresh for optimal quality and flavor, a zealous growing season can necessitate preserving the herbal plants. There are several methods to “keep” herbs for later use. Freezing: This is the easiest method to preserve herbs that are to be used in cooking. Herbs should be cut fresh and rinsed briefly in cold water. Chop herbs and spread out on a cookie sheet to freeze. Once frozen, transfer to a zip lock freezer bag. Another popular way to freeze herbs for uses in soups and other dishes that require liquid is to place pinches of herbs in water filled ice cube trays. Freeze and pack them into a zip lock freezer bag. Don't refreeze herbs after thawing. Drying: Drying is the traditional method of herb preservation. There are also several methods to dry herbs for later use. Air Drying: If the herbs are clean, do not wet them. Otherwise, rinse, shake off the excess water, and spread the herbs out to dry on paper towels or dishcloths until all surface moisture has evaporated. Remove any dead or damaged foliage. Then, tie the stems into small bundles with twine or string and hang them upside down in a warm, dry, airy place out of the sun. Be sure to make small, loose bundles and allow for good air circulation around each bunch. Dry indoors as sun and dew moisture can discolor and ruin the quality of many herbs. Hang and dry in the kitchen or even a garage or shed. Note: Some herbs, such as basil and mints may mold if not dried quickly. An alternative to hanging herbs to dry in bunches is to spread the herbs out on window screens. Suspend the screens over sawhorses or the backs of chairs. Turn the leaves often to ensure even drying. To air dry herbs with seeds, tie the herbs in small bundles and suspend inside a paper bag with holes punched in the sides. Suspend the bag in a dark area with good air circulation. Collect the seeds when they are dry, and store in rigid light-proof containers. Oven Drying: Traditional kitchen stoves can also be used to dry herbs.

TAKE THE HINT
KAREN TRAINOR

Spread the herbs on cookie sheets and dry at the lowest temperature. Home food dehydrators also do an excellent job of drying herbs. Follow the directions provided with the dehydrator. Herbs are sufficiently dry when they are brittle and crumble easily.

When the leaves are dry, separate them from their stems and package the leaves in rigid containers with tight fitting lids. Glass or hard plastic are best, although zip-lock plastic freezer bags can be used. To preserve full flavor, avoid crushing the leaves until you are ready to use them. Store dried herbs in a cool, dry place away from sunlight, moisture, and heat. Many herbs ca keep for a year if stored properly.

Herbal Recipes Below are some simple, yet delicious recipes that showcase the flavor of freshly picked garden herbs.

Growing blueberries in honor of National Blueberry Month

It's time to celebrate. July is National blueberry month so enjoy some of these nutritious berries and consider growing a few plants in your landscape.

Don't let a lack of space or poor soil stop you from growing blueberries. Simply plant a few blueberries in containers and enjoy their spring blooms, fall color and tasty and nutritional fruit for snacking, baking and including in healthful meals.

Blueberries prefer moist well-drained acidic soil. Most of us don't have this type of soil. We can, however, create the ideal conditions with a quality potting mix. Or make your own with a combination of sphagnum moss, pine bark and rice hulls or perlite for drainage. Incorporate a slow release fertilizer at planting to provide needed nutrients for six to eight weeks.

GARDEN MOMENTS

Grow one blueberry in a five-gallon pot with drainage holes. You only need one plant to have fruit but growing two blueberry plants more than doubles the harvest. Plus, you'll have more flowers and colorful fall foliage to brighten your patio, deck or balcony.

Select a blueberry suited to your growing region or one of the compact blueberry cultivars like Top Hat, Jelly Bean, Blueberry Glaze, and Peach Sorbet. Perpetua is not only compact but produces both a summer and fall crop.

Place your container in a sunny location. Check soil moisture in your container gardens daily. Water thoroughly and often enough to keep the soil slightly moist but not soggy wet.

Dress up the container and keep the roots cool and moist with mulch. Cover the soil surface with shredded leaves, evergreen needles, or shredded bark.

Birds are the biggest pest of blueberries. Simply cover the plants with netting as the fruit begins to develop to protect your harvest from hungry birds. This is a much easier task when dealing with a couple of potted plants versus a large in-ground planting.

You will need to provide a bit of winter protection if your winters are cold. Place your potted blueberries in a sheltered location and cover the container with woodchips to insulate the roots. Or sink the container in a vacant spot in the garden. You can also store your plants in an unheated garage for winter. Just be sure to water the plants anytime the soil is thawed and dry.

And even if you don't get a big harvest – the flowers and fall color make great additions to any landscape. Visit MelindaMyers.

The agreement specifies that the town receive $12,500 per megawatt DC based not upon actual generation of electricity, but instead the capability of the panel. So, if one panel is capable of generating one megawatt DC the town received $12,500 for the placement of that piece of equipment on the property. The change to the agreement would simply decrease the number of maximum power production, thus lowering the financial commitment of the company.

However, one question that remained to be answered was how far back Dudley would go in reducing the financial commitment of Dudley Solar LLC. Selectmen decided that rather than making the amendment retroactive to 2017 when the agreement was signed that it would instead apply to June 12 to the present as the town only received the request last month. Town Administrator Ruda called this a good deal for Dudley as it means the town has made more money than expected as Dudley Solar LLC hasn't been producing the 2,600 kilowatts agreed upon in 2017 and instead has been underproducing, thus paying the town for a capacity they could not reach.

“The town did not lose but only gain on the payment to date and the contract provides for the same terms should Dudley Solar LLC increase the amount of equipment on the land,” Ruda said. “It is the capacity to generate rather than the meter generation that determines the amount under this contract.”

Selectman Steve Sullivan took the time to ensure that there were no misconceptions about the change being made, especially after recent meetings have seen members of the public speak out against the change for fear that a solar energy producer was trying to back out of its commitment to the town.

“A lot of things were said at the last meeting wondering why the amount was lower than was projected. There was a lot of conjecture, a lot of speculation from people in the crowd, people from our board. You figure that the original amount was based on what was provided in the original agreement. The fact that there not generating as much has nothing to do with rain, their dialing back of manufacturing capability, and they're not trying to generate less power to make less money. Their total operating capacity just did not reach what was anticipated and their looking to adjust the amount slightly downward,” Sullivan said.

Selectmen approved the amendment to the agreement, but not without one citizen asking if that vote should be decided by the public rather than the board of selectmen specifically as it effects revenue. The town attorney was present and confirmed that the Board of Selectmen had the power to approve the amendment without a town meeting vote. Selectmen did confirm the new agreement will be in effect retroactively to June 12.

Dolores Alberta Lee, 88

WEBSTER-Dolores Alberta (Carpenter) Lee, 88 passed away on July 03, 2019, after a seven-year battle with Vascular Dementia.

She was born in Lynn, MA, to Ernest Avery Carpenter and Aurora (St. Cyr) Carpenter. She was the oldest of three children: Dolores, Leo, and Ernest. Dolores grew up in Lynn and enjoyed her large extended family. She married Charles Kenneth Chaplain in 1950 and lived in Lynn. Dolores was forever grateful for the four children from this marriage: Diane (Chaplain) Shelley of Holden, MA; Charlene (Chaplain) Sheehan of Lynn, MA; Sharon (Chaplain) Paddleford formerly of Caribou, ME; and Kenneth Wayne Chaplain of Southbridge, MA.

Dolores later met her "one true love" Frank Atkins Lee when she was a single mother and he a patron at the diner where she was employed as a waitress. They went on to marry, living in Peabody and Lynn before moving to Webster, MA in 1971. Frank and Dolores added two more children to the family: Tracey (Lee) Martin of Webster, MA and Jay Lee of Sturbridge, MA. Dolores was a stay-at-home mom for some years then entered the work force again when she and her husband managed the Globe Texaco Truck Stop on Route 20 in Worcester in the 1970s. She later worked in several mills and shoe factories in Webster. She was also the business manager for her husband's owner/operator Truck and Bus businesses. After retirement, Frank said he wanted to show Dolores the beautiful country he traveled over the years. Their RV trip was short-lived when they visited Mexico City Beach, FL and fell in love with a two bedroom home complete with white sand, palm trees, gulf breezes, and a breathtakingly unobstructed view of the Gulf of Mexico. After Frank's death in October 2003, Dolores sold their little piece of paradise and returned to Webster full-time. She enjoyed spending time with her now adult children and sneaking off to the casinos and scratching lottery tickets for a little fun. In 2012, she had a stroke and was diagnosed with Vascular Dementia which worsened over the years. She was cared for in her home by her daughters Sharon and Tracey for the last seven years. She was pre-deceased by Sharon (2014) who was also her best friend. Additionally, she was pre-deceased by her parents, her husband Frank, brother Leo, step-son Frank, and her grandson Zack Zalewski of Groveland, MA.

She leaves behind 12 grandchildren, 13 great-grandchildren, and one great grandchild (as well as a much larger network of grandchildren who have blended into the family over the years), sons-in-law Mark Shelley, Milton Paddleford Sr., and Ray Martin, daughters-in-law Bertha Chaplain and Phyllis Lee as well as nieces and nephews from the "Carpenter" and "Taylor" families.

Dolores will be remembered for her sage advice, sense of humor, sense of duty, and her responses to "I love you!"

The family would like to thank many agencies who provided advice, guidance, care and love during these last years; most importantly the devoted and compassionate staff led by Joe and Lisa Rizzo at Accord Adult Day in Webster. This gratitude extends to all involved in her care, including but not limited to Dr. Sharma, Tri-Valley, Inc., Alzheimer's Support Network, the former staff at the TCU in Webster, Katie Brown from Visiting Angels, Overlook Post-Acute Rehab Unit, Overlook VNA and Overlook Dementia Care and Hospice for their unceasingly compassionate care.

In lieu of flowers, donations can be made to Tri-Valley Caregiver Support Program, 10 Mill St. Dudley, MA 01571.

Funeral Services were Tuesday, July 9, 2019 at 10 AM in the ROBERT J. MILLER FUNERAL HOME and LAKE CHAPEL, 366 School St., Webster, interment will be t 2:30 PM at the Massachusetts Veterans' Cemetery, Connery Ave in Bourne, next to her beloved husband Frank at 2:30 PM.

Calling Hours were Monday, July 8, 2019 from 5-7PM in the Funeral Home.

In lieu of flowers, Memorial Contributions may be made to: Tri-Valley Caregiver Support Program, 10 Mill ST., Dudley, MA. 01571.
