NHS students walk out to support Parkland school

Roughly 250 Northbridge High School students participated in the nation-wide walk out on March 14 to support both the current students attending Marjorie Stoneman Douglas High School as well as the 17 victims from the school shooting one month ago. Over 2500 schools nation-wide took part in this walk out.

The NHS walk out was organized by Isabelle Croteau and Madison Ireland. Both young women introduced why the event was organized and then read off brief but powerful biographies for each of the 17 victims. It was not political in nature. Nothing was said about guns nor gun control. It was only to try to prevent this type of thing from happening at NHS. They urged students and staff to speak up if they think someone may be planning something. There was a two minute moment of silence during which one could hear a pin drop. Finally, students were invited to sign a banner that read, "Northbridge High School stands with Parkland School" which will be sent to Marjorie Stoneman Douglas HS. There was a Northbridge police officer in attendance to assure students' safety. Due to the weather the walk out was held in the field house, which was really the only negative thing people had to say about the event.

They sold orange t-shirts that said "enough is enough" on the back for $10 where proceeds will be given back to NHS to help students in the building.

Croteau told the crowd, "we've grown up with the threat of school shootings looming over us. This is a problem that impacts our generation and we're finally old enough to say that we're fed up with it... we want to be safe here at school, we want to go home to our families at the end of the day. Being proactive, learning the warning signs, speaking up... are all ways you can make a difference. This is history in the making and you are all a part of it".

Clean-up planned of Manchaug Pond and watershed

In a celebration of the arrival of spring, volunteers are invited to join members and friends of the Manchaug Pond Foundation in the annual spring clean-up event of Manchaug Pond.

The effort is scheduled to take place Saturday, April 28 from 9:00 a.m. to noon with volunteers meeting at the state public access boat ramp on Torrey Road in Sutton. Volunteers will hit the pavement with trash bags in hand to clean the roadsides, shoreline, and boat ramp - all areas within the Manchaug Pond watershed. Good company, refreshments, trash bags, and rubber gloves will be provided. Rain date will be Sunday, April 29.

The Manchaug Pond Foundation's educational events look to improve the water quality of the picturesque 380 acre community lake, which lies within Douglas and Sutton, though

State Senate candidate Merolli vows to reject dark money

WEBSTER — Tom Merolli, Democratic candidate for State Senate in the Worcester and Norfolk district, announced Saturday night he would reject advertisements on behalf of his campaign from organizations that do not disclose their donors.

Speaking during a campaign event at Kretschmann Brewing Company to a crowd of more than 60 attendees, Tom challenged incumbent Republican State Senator Ryan Fattman to take the same pledge in order to keep dark money out of the race.

"In 2012, then-Senator Scott Brown and future Senator Elizabeth Warren took a bipartisan pledge for the people of Massachusetts," Tom said. "They agreed to pay a penalty if a dark money group advertised for their campaign, either on their behalf or attacking their opponent.

"Wide swathes of voters from both parties and independents agree that there is too much money in politics. Many polls show as much as 84 percent of voters believe that money has too much influence over political campaigns.

"I am challenging Senator Fattman to take this same pledge with me. The voice of the people cannot be replaced with that of dark money donors."

The event Saturday night was also attended by Worcester County Clerk of Courts Dennis McManus.

"I've gotten to know Tom just recently by going to all these [Democratic town] caucuses and he's a great quality guy," McManus said. "He will do a great job as a State Senator."

Following the event, Tom

Celebrating 95 Years Of Outstanding Service To Our Customers

Car Buying Tips

Customers ask place: When is the best time to buy a Car or Truck?

The RIGHT answer: (PART 3) The NO TIME LIKE THE PRESENT theory. Almost every day is a good day to buy a new car or truck. We know that most new cars have rebates from the manufacturer. They may also have special finance terms or some combination of both. This theory is based on the fact that if you are trading your car, its value is at its highest right now. Depreciation is always eating away at the value of a used car. The other aspect to consider is the factory incentives when buying a new car. Incentives can be a volatile thing and can change at the drop of a hat. Manufacturers like Ford watch the markets very closely. They adjust their strategies based on sales and production targets in an effort keep the factories moving. As inventory levels, market share and consumer demand change the rebates and incentives change. A strong economy and low inventory might mean fewer rebates. High inventory or the desire to gain market share might mean higher rebates. In any case what we know today is how a vehicle is priced. If a customer finds a vehicle that fits their needs and the numbers make sense then buy now. Waiting could cost you more. Our current economy appears to be at a turning point. If the rebates go down or stay the same and your trade has lost more value your cost to buy will have gone up. Let us here at Place Motor show you how to take advantage of the current incentives and get the most for your trade. Let us show you why we are the Right Place to buy a Ford since 1923.

Volunteers needed for annual Earth Day clean up

The Blackstone River Watershed Association (BRWA) is sponsoring its annual Earth Day River Cleanup on Saturday, April 14 from 1:00p.m. – 3:00p.m. and in partnership with the Volunteers-In-Parks program of the Blackstone Heritage Corridor. Towns included are Auburn, Millbury, Grafton, Upton, Sutton, Northbridge, Uxbridge, Douglas, Hopedale, Mendon, Millville, and Blackstone.

Make a difference by volunteering just a few hours of your time to clean up trash and various debris that pollute our waterways along rivers, streams, ponds, wetlands, and shorelines. This is a wonderful opportunity to show how much you care about the natural environment in our own backyard. If you are a scout troop, church group, business, Lions Club, school group, individual or family, we need your help. This project also meets community service requirements for many organizations.

Join us to continue the campaign to make the Blackstone River Watershed a cleaner, healthier place for us to enjoy!

Pre-register now for the BRWA

Earth Day Cleanup online at www.thebrwa.org. If you know of any local sites that need cleaning you can tell us when you pre-register. If you have any questions, call us at 508-278-5200 or email us at info@thebrwa.org.

Towns are organized into five regions with a coordinator for each region. Coordinators will contact volunteers with full details. On the day of the clean-up, we will also have a central coordination site at Blackstone Valley Technical High School, 65 Pleasant Street, Upton.

Should you itemize your deductions?

Itemizing deductions can take some work, but it may pay off. Doing so for home mortgage interest, out-of-pocket medical expenses, certain taxes and charitable contributions makes sense (in most cases) when the total of allowable deductions exceeds the standard deduction. For 2017 returns, the standard deduction is $12,700 if you're married and filing a joint return and $6,350 when you're single. Call us for a complete review of deductible expenses.

Should we be concerned about home appraisals?

BLACK

With an appreciating market we should be worrying most about appraisal issues. However most of the time when we put our home up for sale, we tend to worry most about marketing the home properly to get a buyer and then making sure we get through the home inspection process without having to make any large repairs or having a sale fall apart due to the needed repairs scaring off the buyer. You can take care of the marketing piece by hiring an agent with a proven track record of selling homes in your area. You can also get a pre-inspection on your home with a licensed home inspector and make all the necessary repairs that came up as to not have surprises later on. The only thing I would caution on a pre-inspection is that there is a good chance the next inspector will find something the first inspector missed. So be prepared to possibly still be making other repairs.

If you made all the necessary repairs and staged your home properly, a buyer in our current market with extremely low inventory will be willing to pay a premium to get a near perfect house. However, the bank appraiser needs to typically show homes that bracket your home as in one home is priced higher because it is superior and one is priced lower because it is inferior. When you are in an appreciating market and you have the best home in your area then you are most likely selling for a price higher than any other recent sales. You will want to ensure that you or your agent supply the appraiser with a list of all the big improvements you have made recently that will impact value, this way the appraiser can make adjustments to justify the higher market price. You will also want to arm yourself with information about all the comparable homes in the neighborhood so you can share information about condition and the setup of those homes which may not be readily available to the appraiser and what makes them inferior to your home so it makes the appraisers job easier coming up with the proper value for your home. Keep in mind you are not persuading the appraiser to come up with an inflated value for your home, but providing information that will help them come up with market value which may or may not be the price you are hoping for. This appraisal is performed based on the opinion of this appraiser of the market value of the home and whether they consider the market to be stable or appreciating. I find some appraisers agree we are in an appreciating market while others think we are in a stable market. This will affect whether they make time adjustments for comparable homes that sold 6 months ago while the market was lower or assume no appreciation in price. The appraisal is a huge piece of the sale process and the importance of it cannot be discounted. The other thing to keep in mind is that depending on the type of appraisal being done they will also possibly look at the condition of the home. There are standards in condition these appraisers are looking at but the interpretation can be different from one appraiser to the next. I have had appraisals take 10 minutes or an hour depending on the appraiser and type of loan the buyer is getting. Some loans require there is no peeling paint, and any other safety concerns are required to be addressed. Most loans require flooring in all rooms and the appraiser to give an opinion on age of roof and if it has some life left before it needs to be replaced. Some banks and loans require all utilities to be activated and working while others don't so this will be important to know before the appraiser visits the home. These are all items that are there to protect the banks investment in the home because if the buyer is putting down 5% of the purchase price then the bank is giving 95% and wants to protect their investment. If you know there are safety issues already it may make sense to proactively make those repairs. Many times the Realtor you hire can give you suggestions on repairs to make proactively that could possibly come up an appraisal as to not cause any issues down the road.

Tags for Tails
benefits animals in disasters

DOUGLAS – Got Stuff? Have you started your spring cleaning? Do you have a move planned and need a great tax-deductible cause to donate your stuff to? Do you consider yourself a guru at holding benefit-yard sales?

The Central Massachusetts Disaster Animal Response Team (CMDART) will hold its seventh annual "Tags for Tails" yard sale, Saturday, June 2, 7 a.m.-5 p.m. (rain or shine) at the Douglas Fire Department and Highway Barn Lawn on Rte. 16, Douglas. As in years past, the team will begin to take donated items from April 9 until noon on May 30. If there is a severe rain prediction, sale will be held June 3.

CMDART is known for having "a cut above" just your normal yard sale, says JoAnn Griffin, president and team lead of CMDART. "Not only does the community help provide us with some very nice stuff, we also help promote disaster preparedness at the same time."

CMDART is in need of people who can assist the collection, organizing and pricing of items prior to the event and helping the day of if possible. Also, if you are having a yard sale and want to make a small contribution to the team, it is greatly appreciated. Community service certificates can be issued to students willing to help from collection and handling of items up to helping the day of the event.

Disasters, including fires, winter storms and other incidents are increasing. CMDART needs funds to maintain the mission of helping our communities to plan, prepare and respond when animals are affected by disasters. The proceeds of this sale help to fund some basic costs to manage our disaster response trailers, help sponsor disaster trainings, to purchase public prevention education materials and more.

Please note: NO ITEMS ARE TO BE DROPPED AT THE DOUGLAS FIRE STATION and please do not call the fire station with questions.

CMDART is an independent, private, non-profit 501 (c) 3 tax-exempt charity. Items donated should be priced with a reasonable value on them as this will help us greatly. Receipts for donations will be offered if requested. To donate items or to volunteer to assist the sale call (508) 803-1989 to let CMDART know that you have items to contribute or willingness to help. Calls will be returned with a time and location to drop your items. Limited pickup service is available within a reasonable distance of Douglas for a $20 donation.

Items CMDART can accept:

Small items of furniture (end tables, lamps, framed pictures) in good, clean condition, books, CDs, jewelry, linens in nice condition, toys and games, tools (old and new), household items, healthy plants (perennials especially appreciated), dishes, pet related items are especially appreciated and seasonal items. Specialty crafts appreciated. Clothing, if clean, pressed and sorted by size and gender. CMDART is also accepting gift cards for silent auction or to help gather more items.

Items CMDART can NOT accept:

Electronics (computers, printers, TVs), bedding, large pieces of exercise equipment, large appliances, no children's furniture, and hazardous materials such as paint and fertilizer. Limited Christmas items. No pet or other perishable food.

Want to volunteer with us?

Are you interested in taking a course to become a CMDART volunteer? Contact membership@cmdart.org or sign up for an introductory course. CMDART is an independent, charitable, non-profit, tax-exempt 501(c)3 organization. We provide information, training, support, supplies and personnel to help plan, prepare and respond to aid animals affected by man-made or natural disasters. CMDART serves the local and regional communities of Central Massachusetts and particularly Worcester County. Animals affected by disaster can include small and large animals such as pets, livestock, and exotics. CMDART aids communities that seek to comply with the Pets Evacuation and Transportation Standards Act (PETS Act), which requires that household pets and service animals be included in local and state planning.

Go to our Facebook page or website www.cmdart.org for more information.

Got Weeds? Invasive plant expert to speak at Metacomet annual meeting

DOUGLAS — The Metacomet Land Trust will host guest speaker Michael Bald, owner and founder of Got Weeds? of Royalton, VT at its annual meeting to be held on Sunday, April 8 at 2 p.m. at the Douglas Municipal Center at 29 Depot St.

Struggling with the inexorable march of invasive plant species invading your garden, stone walls and open space? Curious to know their origins and what can realistically be done about them? We invite the public, outdoor organizations and land trusts to join us.

Bald founded his company, Got Weeds? in early 2011 to offer non-chemical weed management options to landowners in central Vermont and beyond. His focus is on long-term site stewardship, soil health, and native plant diversity. Bald seeks to integrate the worlds of invasive species, youth education, organic farming and soil health, and sustainable operations.

Bald holds a BS in biology from the University of Notre Dame, spent four years with the Army Corps of Engineers, and nine years working for the US Forest Service in Vermont. Got Weeds? has offered manual and mechanical weed control alternatives for over eight growing seasons. Bald seeks to inform communities of potential economic uses for invasive species, empowering them to broaden management efforts and employ local people.

A brief business meeting will be held at 1:30 p.m. for land trust members and light refreshments will be offered. A silent auction featuring unique items highlighting our natural environment and creative artists will also be open for bids during the event.

Kid’s Fair planned Saturday

The theme for the 19th snnual Kids Fair on March 24 from 10 a.m. to noon is “Passport to Healthy Communities” held at the Whitin Community Center.

Families with young children are invited to a FREE fun morning of interactive informational booths, engaging movement activities, free healthy snacks and give-aways. Again this year, children will be issued a passport and encouraged to travel throughout the Whitin Community Center.

Exhibitors will place stamps on the passports after children play at their space. Upon receiving a minimum of six stamps, passports can be submitted into the door prize drawings. The prizes this year are BICYCLES! A shout out goes to our generous sponsors for donating a great selection of various size bikes; special thanks to Milford Bicycle, Northbridge/Uxbridge/Douglas M.O.M.’s Club and TREK STOP Bicycles.

Specific activities families can anticipate are an Eggstravaganza Egg Hunt, hosted by the Whitin Community Center, a Teddy Bear Clinic, Northbridge Fire Department’s Freddie the Fire Truck, West Hill Dam Forest Rangers, Trek Stop Bikes, a Teddy Bear Clinic, a StoryWalk featuring “The Busy Body Book, free snacks prepared by The Green Plate, and many other service providers for young families.

Parents and caregivers of young children will also receive family-friendly educational information about resources in our community.

Beginning Bridges CFCE is a strength-based agency and values that parents are the experts on their child. We look to support the relationships surrounding care of children, so that they may reach full developmental potential. Beginning Bridges CFCE looks to partner with and support the community resources available to provide families with the tools necessary to lead self-sufficient, contributory and satisfying lives.

Some of the ways we do this are free learning opportunities such as playgroups, early literacy hours, music and movement, The Ages & Stages Developmental Questionnaire and parent education.

Established in 1926, Marianapolis is one of the oldest independent Catholic schools in New England.

Congressman McGovern speaks to NHS juniors & seniors

Congressman James P. McGovern (D), the representative from District 2 in Massachusetts, visited Northbridge High School to talk to juniors & seniors about the state of Congress and the role of government as well as answer their many questions.
Roughly 75 percent of the time was spent answering approximately 15 different questions around school violence, gun control and the walk out that is planned for NHS for March 14 at 10. The Congressman stressed that he would like there to be more debate and discussion in Congress over having background checks before people are allowed to buy guns and to not allow some of those who have mental illness nor are on watch lists access to buying weapons either. Students also asked how he felt about euthanasia, DACA, NASA, marijuana usage (both recreational and medicinal) and illegal immigration.
Jackie Puda, junior, said that she really “liked having him come in and talk to us...it was also eye opening to hear what is actually going on in our government.”

Added classmate Cassandra Follis, “it was very educational having him come talk with us upperclassmen.”
Andrew Kinney, age 18, stated, “he pushed his political agenda a little too much and thought he could’ve talked less about political issues and more about governmental process.”
Dylan Marra, age 19, said it was a great opportunity to hear a Congressman speak, but wanted a Republican counterpart to give both sides of the debate.
Some students expressed that they wanted to bring in a Republican to speak too. However, the social studies department reached out to the offices of other national/state leaders that represent the students such as Elizabeth Warren, Ed Markey and Charlie Baker, however none offered to come speak to the students. McGovern’s visit was advertised weeks before he came.
Finally, it was not about bringing in a particular party, but rather giving students a chance to hear directly from someone who makes decisions on their behalf in Washington as well as letting

Douglas High School names February students

Douglas High School is proud to announce our February Students of the Month.
Matt Rhody is a junior at the high school. His strong work ethic and performance in the classroom has impressed his teachers. He brings insight into class discussions and is respectful of the opinions of others. Outside of school, Matt enjoys video games and writing. Matt looks at school as a job and states, you go in, you do your work, and you achieve to the best of your abilities. One of his favorite sayings is “Do whatever you need to do, and do whatever you need to do well.”
Christin Walcek is a sophomore at DHS. She is a role model for our students. Her hard work and dedication to her studies is admirable. Christin was one of the driving forces behind a student campaign to have a History Club instituted at the high school. When in school, Christin most enjoys English and history class. She tries to be a better student every day and hopes to help others when she can. Outside of school, she enjoys running and listening to music. Looking towards the future, Christin hopes to be the best student she can for the rest of high school and to attend a college where she can study to be a high school teacher.

Latest antique and auction news

It has been several weeks since my last update on antique related news and there is much to report. There have been some great finds as well as interesting auction news.

Those of you who read this column regularly know that I'm always interested in learning how auction houses and antique shops create more interest in antiques with people in their 20s and 30s. Some New York auction houses have found creative ways to promote their sales. Freeman's Auction house hosts special evening events according to a recent Architectural Digest article. They hold "collector's auctions" where items typically sell for under $1,000. Even some of the largest auction houses are offering pieces with $5,000 or less estimates, trying to encourage younger buyers to begin collecting or to purchase items to decorate their homes. The convenience of online bidding appeals to millennials. Evening auctions and a cash bar have also proven to be popular.

In other auction news, there

ANTIQUES, COLLECTIBLES

are some extremely valuable items heading to the auction block. A Rolex Cosmograph Daytona reference 6265, in white gold will soon be auctioned, according to Esquire Magazine. It was created in 1970 and nicknamed the Unicorn. The owner swore that he would never sell it, but has since relented. All of the money raised by the sale will benefit the Children Action foundation, which works with children around the world on areas like healthcare access and suicide prevention.

In a previous column, I reported on seven baseball cards that were found in a Myrtle Beach, South Carolina area estate. They were discovered in a crumpled, brown paper bag and estimated to be worth over $1 million. The heirs recently discovered an eighth card according to the San Jose Mercury News. The rare Ty Cobb tobacco premium card was produced between 1909 and 1911. It has been appraised at $250,000.

Celebrity related auctions are also making the news. The South African Times Live reports that some of Russell Crowe's personal property will be sold at his "Art of Divorce" auction. As his divorce from Danielle Spencer is nearly final, they have decided to part with many of their belongings. Items include artwork, luxury watches, vehicles and film memorabilia. Some of the more interesting and bizarre items being offered are full size model horses and a functional Roman chariot from the movie set of Gladiator.

If you'd like something a little faster than a chariot, a 1967 Lamborghini that belonged to Paul McCartney will soon be going to auction. The UK Sunday Times reports that the former Beatle's 1967 Lamborghini 400GT 2+2 Coupé will be sold at the same time as cars that belonged to Rod Stewart and Nick Mason, the former Pink Floyd drummer. Only 247 of the 1967 Lamborghini 400GT 2+2 Coupés were built. The auction estimate is £400,000-500,000 (approximately $557,000 to nearly $700,000 U.S.) When McCartney wrote "Drive My Car" in 1965, I'm sure he didn't expect it to might sell for over half a million in 2018.

Details of some online auctions will be coming shortly. See www.centralmassauctions.com for details on this and other events.

Local actress taking part in production

GRAFTON — Apple Tree Arts presents Disney's "101 Dalmatians Kids," featuring actors in grades two to five on March 23 and 24, 7 p.m. at Grafton Middle School, 22 Providence Road in Grafton. Admission is $10 for adults; $8 for seniors and students and free for children four years old and younger. Tickets will be sold at the door.

Torynn Giunta of Douglas is acting in the production.

Based on the animated film, the show features one of Disney's most famous villain's Cruella De Vil, Roger and Anita, owners of two beautiful Dalmatians Pongo and Perdita and their litter of puppies. Roger's and Anita's peaceful family life is shattered when Cruella steals the puppies to make a fur coat. Fortunately, Cruella and her fumbling henchman are no match for the dogs of London who come to the rescue of the adorable puppies.

"It's one of the classic Disney shows that people have grown up enjoying," explained director and producer Lisa Scarlett, theatre arts director. "Often, they have fond memories of reading the story to their children who have watched the film, too. The young actors like portraying animals they can identify with like the Dalmatian puppies," Scarlett said.

The 33 cast members are from Douglas, Grafton, Millbury and Sutton. Actors include: Samantha Boloz, Briana Bosland, Caroline Chaisson, Caroline Fisher, Torynn Giunta, TJ Hartnett, Emma Hillman, Meghan Hogan, Sarah Hogan, Caelan Lavery, Elizabeth Lentz, Nick Lentz, Natalie Leonard, Jillian Magill, Olivia Marrone, Audrey Murdock, Katie Nadeau, Cooper Often, Kaitlyn Randell, Elizabeth Reid-Eriksen, Charlotte Robinson, Dylan Rowe, Jenna Rowe, Clare Shaw, Marley Shaw, Carly Simpson, Colin Spinney, Madeline Spinney, Ryan St. Angelo, Madeline Taylor and Anna Woodbury.

Several individuals are working with Scarlett. Ashely Scarlett is the music director. Ron Burke is responsible for set design, Ian Scarlett is managing the lights and Garrett Pizzillo is doing sound. Kelsey Sidman and Madie Geoffroy are assisting the directors.

Parents are volunteering in many different ways. Maria Murdock, Garciela Vargas-Baker and Liz Spinney are creating and organizing the costumes. Carrie Hogan and Laura Often are assisting with props and scenery. Ticket sales, star grams, the marquee and refreshments are being handled by several parents.

Founded in 1989, Apple Tree Arts is a nonprofit 501 (c) 3 organization that has grown to serve over 1,500 children and adults annually with early childhood music classes, group keyboard lessons, private music and voice instruction, ensembles and theatre arts programs. The school provides a wide range of performances, special community musical and theatre arts events year-round. For more information, visit www.appletree-arts.org

Ireland stated, "we are absolutely honored to be here today."

Superintendent of Northbridge Schools, Dr. Catherine Stickney stated, "Once again, the students of Northbridge came together to demonstrate that strong sense of spirit and support for those in need. We are so proud and impressed that the group, especially Belle Croteau, was willing to work with the administration to organize and plan a powerful, respectful event. Our students are the future of this country. Their ability to develop their 'voice' to stand up for what they believe is right is vital to the success of our future. Any way that we can foster that sense of respectful independence should be valued and supported."

After the fact Croteau said, "I'm so happy with the way the walkout turned out. We had over 150 students participate and to see NHS come together in support of Parkland was amazing. This is an issue that directly impacts us as high schoolers. We want to be safe at school. We want to honor those students and teachers who died tragic and needless deaths. We will continue to campaign for change, this isn't the end. Enough is enough, we won't be quiet anymore."

Ajilee Millette, junior, said, "It was good, peaceful and respectful. I was down there for those people and I don't believe in the gun restriction."

Added Jordyn Mahoney, junior, "to me it was about the respect of all the kids and adults that lost their lives during the terrific shooting."

Classmate Violet Ekstrom stated, "I participated in the walk out for a variety of reasons. We sit in history class almost every day and learn about what people did to create change. Students are being shot in their history classes and other courses while trying to get an education and the least I can do is stand up for those people. Woman's suffragists didn't let others stop them from creating change and now woman can vote today. We may not be the voters but we have a voice and this walk out was a memorial to the 17 students who died and a demonstration to our government that we care. Whether you agree with gun control or not something has to be done and I won't stand by silently while students are threatened."

Added classmate Kiana Schotanus, "if something actually comes out of the walkout then I'll be happy."

Freshman Sara Pholman, stated that she participated because, "I am not afraid to stand up for others and say 'enough is enough'."

Sophia Swartz, 9th grade, said, "we have a voice and we will use it."

Principal William Bishop and Assistant Principal Timothy McCormick released a joint statement, "While some school events across the country moved towards political commentary on the Second Amendment, the event at Northbridge High School remembered and honored the 17 victims from Parkland, FL. The program stressed the importance of being proactive, supporting one another and being inclusive. NHS administration are impressed with all the students that attended, and hope this leads to more dialogue identifying how we might all work collectively to make our schools safer."

Roughly 250 students attended the walkout

Winter is changing...

In the background story of Game of Thrones, is the concept that the fear of winter isn't what we think of as a few months of bad weather; no, George RR Martin in his fiendish way has invented a world that has a years long winter.

THAT is the fear that winter is coming.

We'd hate to have Martin's nightmares.

They must be fierce.

The world of GOT has mild years, where yes there are climates that get mild, snowy periods, but not the in depth horrifying winters the world fears. Then, every few years and with no real way to measure the distance between apparently (sometimes the distances between the winters are longer than others), the cold and winter hits with a vengeance...and hangs on for several years. Not months, years.

So, ouch.

We look at our New England weather patterns for the last, oh, five years or so and wonder of Mr. Martin is chuckling in his magnificent beard at us.

Is he prescient?

To be real, this changing weather pattern is probably scientifically explained by changing gulf streams and wind patterns and the way the air moves over the depleted north polar cap and etc. We did hear the colder air coming down from the north is affected by that.

The moniker "global warming" is a misnomer, it should be relabeled as "climate change" to better explain that, yes some places do get warmer (polar ice caps are melting), but other places are impacted differently (colder winters).

And the high tides, scrubbing away the beaches? Well, if you melt an ice cap and release that water, it raises a water level; then you whip up a storm...

So climate change does affect edges of continents differently than interiors.

It affects droughts resulting in more fires.

It affects how and where rain falls, or doesn't fall; affecting where crops grow...or don't.

We are not buying in to the concept the whole thing is human error, because these things happen whether humans are here or not. Certainly we as humans have affected the world with what we do; but we aren't the only, and end all, cause of everything. Nor can we stop what is already in motion.

The most elementary of science has taught us how tough it is to stop something already in motion; or to reverse a combination; or to separate a mixture. Often it can't be done at all. We can try not to make it worse, do some things to slow our own roll as it were, and take responsibility for what we can; and truth be told we need to look more closely at our own human foibles and say to those of us who are insisting on living in dangerous conditions like the edges of oceans and flood plains and river deltas and islands and ask whether that sense of responsibility shouldn't be mandatory for some situations.

Don't let people move back to those places. They'll only flood out again. Don't spend more money there. Move. Let Mother Nature have it back.

Because she's going to win.

Title I: successful review

To the Editor:

I am pleased to report that the Douglas Public Schools has successfully completed its Title I program review.

Every six years, each school district in the Commonwealth is scheduled for a coordinated program review of state and federal programs. Districts receiving Title I funds undergo a Title I program review in the same year they are scheduled for a coordinated program review.

The Title I program review is a regular, systematic examination of a local school district's administration and implementation of the Title I, Part A grant program.

The Title I program review, in conjunction with other state and federal program reviews, aims to ensure that all children in Massachusetts have a fair, equal, and significant opportunity to obtain a high-quality education. The review provides evidence that Title I programs and policies exhibit a focus on improving student academic achievement and ensures district compliance with statutory and regulatory requirements. In addition, the review is a means of holding school districts accountable for appropriate use of resources. By informing the Massachusetts Department of Elementary and Secondary Education of local activities and needs, the program review also allows the state to identify both effective delivery models and technical assistance needs.

The program review encompasses the following areas for a total of 24 topics:

- Fiscal procedures
- Parent/guardian communications
- Program design and evaluation
- Data collection and management
- Opportunity and equal educational access

After compiling and submitting the required documents, we have just been notified of the Department of Elementary and Secondary Education's findings. In an email from Simone Lynch, director of Federal Grant programs, it was noted that Douglas successfully completed the requirements for the 24 topic areas required and that there are no follow-up actions necessary.

This is a testament to the success of our Title I program. Putting together all the materials for submission of the program review is a labor intensive process and I would like to thank our Title I staff: Laura Cordani, Cynthia Taudel, Martha McDonald, Kim Bari, and Lisa Lafortune for all of their assistance with this process.

Andolina: about Boy Scouts

To the Editor

My name is Bryce Andolina and I am a Boy Scout in Troop 25 in Uxbridge. I'm working on my communication merit badge and I need to send a letter to the editor. I'm going to tell you about Boy Scouts.

Boy Scouts is a boy run troop with adults to guide us. You have to be at least 11 to join. Boy Scouts ends for you when you turn 18. We go camping and hiking and we also go canoeing. Yawgoog is a Boy Scout camp where my troop goes for 7 days and you also work on earning merit badges. We went hiking up Mount Monadnock. At the campout, we cook and we get to use axes, hatchets and knives. We use them to cut wood for the fire. We even like to camp in the snow. We will be going white water rafting and also ziplining.

I like Boy Scouts because I can hang out with my friends and make new friend. I like to go camping because it's always fun. I learned how to tie knots and use an axe, hatchet and knife responsibly. I also like to go canoeing we also got to clean up the Saco River. We also do a ton of community service.

If you want to know more about joining Scouts we meet on Wednesdays from 6:30 to 8:00 at Our Lady of the Valley school.

Fire Museum: thanks for support

To the Editor:

The Uxbridge Antique Fire Museum Association would like to thank our businesses throughout the Blackstone Valley and all of its good citizens for their support and generosity at our Feb. 17 fundraiser. You helped make it a success!

This fundraising event will help the Uxbridge Antique Fire Museum Association reach our goal in restoring a 1937 Maxim Pumper Uxbridge Engine 1.

A special thank you to the Commander and staff of the Veterans of Foreign Wars for their support and use of their hall; Uxbridge First Night for their expertise in preparing a fine meal; and to Representative Patrick Maloney for his generosity and support.

We wish everyone well, and a safe and fabulous 2018!
Thank you once again.

The Presidency

Because we live in such tumultuous political times, it's easy to believe today's intense public focus on the Trump presidency is something new — an obsession like none we've ever seen before. Yet to one degree or another, the president has always been at the center of the public's attention.

This is because he or she is the central actor in American government. The sheer complexity of our system, with its three branches, separation of powers and competing centers of power, demands someone who can make it work.

So we have high expectations for the president in this country. We want him or her to run the government efficiently and effectively, to work hard to resolve our problems, lead the world, inspire the nation, console us in times of disaster, serve as an example for young people, represent the national interest, and in a sense, carry our hopes and desires for the country on his or her shoulders.

Which is why, no matter who's president, there is enormous public curiosity about every detail of his life and actions. When I was in Congress, the subject would come up whenever I was back home in the district, at formal public meetings and in casual conversations. People wanted to know about his family, his personal characteristics, his strengths and failings, and what he was doing to make the country work.

This fascination is exacerbated by the news media, which focuses attention on the president and much less on Congress, a body that by its nature is diffuse and complicated.

Presidents are both ordinary and extraordinary. They have all the strengths, vulnerabilities and limitations of the rest of us. They may be perceptive, politically astute, even wise, but they all make mistakes — the interning of Japanese-Americans under Franklin Roosevelt, Ronald Reagan's dereliction of duty in Iran-Contra, the handling of the Vietnam War under LBJ.

Yet there's also something out of the ordinary about the people who become president. You have to be driven by ambition to seek the office in the first place, as well as highly competitive and disciplined in both thought and speech. The most effective presidents are unusually persuasive. The greatest among them have a real connection to the American people, a sense of high moral purpose and the ability to summon Americans to reach toward that purpose.

Because as unremittingly difficult as the job is, in many ways the toughest

Time for financial 'spring cleaning'

ANTONOPOULOS

The days are longer and the temperatures are warmer — so it must be spring. For many of us, that means it's time for some spring cleaning. But why stop with sprucing up your living space? This year, consider extending the "spring cleaning" concept to your financial environment, too.

How can you tidy your finances? Here are some suggestions:

"De-clutter" your portfolio. As you go through your home during your spring cleaning rounds, you may notice that you've acquired a lot of duplicate objects — do you really need five mops? — or at least some things you can no longer use, like a computer that hasn't worked since 2010. You can create some valuable space by getting rid of these items. And the same principle can apply to your investment portfolio, because over the years you may well have acquired duplicate investments that aren't really helping you move toward your goals. You may also own some investments, which, while initially fitting in to your overall strategy, no longer do so. You could be better off by selling your "redundant" investments and using the proceeds to purchase new ones that will provide more value.

Get organized. During your spring cleaning, one of your key goals may be to get organized. So you might want to rearrange the tools in your garage or establish a new filing system in your home office. Proper organization is also important to investors — and it goes beyond having your brokerage and 401(k) statements in nice neat piles. For example, you may have established IRAs with different financial services companies. By moving them to one provider, you may save some fees and reduce your paperwork, but, more important, you may find that such a move actually helps you better manage your investments. You'll know exactly where your money is going, and it could be easier to follow a single investment strategy. Also, with all your IRAs in one place, it will be much easier for you to manage the required minimum distributions you must start taking when you turn 70-1/2. (These distributions are not required for Roth IRAs.)

Protect your family's financial future. When cleaning up this spring, you may notice areas of concern around protecting your home — perhaps there's a crack in your window, or your fence is damaged or part of your chimney is crumbling. Your financial independence — and that of your family — also needs protection. Is your life insurance sufficient to pay for your mortgage, college for your kids and perhaps some retirement funds for your spouse? Do you have disability insurance that can provide you with some income if you become ill or injured and can't work for a while? Have you considered the high costs of long-term care, such as an extended nursing home stay? A financial professional can help you determine if your insurance coverage is adequate for all these needs.

Consider putting these spring cleaning suggestions to work. They may help you keep your financial house in good shape for all the seasons yet to arrive.

AND PASS THE POPCORN

It’s Movie Night at the Uxbridge Senior Center! Starting in March, seniors and friends can enjoy watching a movie together in the comfort of the senior center. Each month on the second Tuesday, a movie will be playing from 6:30 to 8:30. The first films have been selected by our resident expert, Rick Lewis and movie enthusiast, Cathy Thornton.

On April 10, come see “It’s a Mad, Mad, Mad, Mad World” with its all-star cast. May 8 features Hitchcock’s “Rear Window,” starring James Stewart and Grace Kelly. “Dead Men Don’t Wear Plaid,” starring Steve Martin and featuring a host of stars in cameo appearances, will be shown on June 12.

Transportation may be available for some of these Movie Nights, if there is sufficient interest with reservations required in advance. Check in with the Uxbridge Senior Center at 508-278-8622 regarding van availability. Refreshments will be provided by the Uxbridge Elderly Connection. Suggestions for films for July and beyond are encouraged; otherwise, Lewis and Thornton will continue aiming to select movies folks will enjoy.

Sure you can watch a movie on TV at home, but how much more fun to see it with friends.

The many virtues of trees

Spring has officially sprung and trees, both big and small, are coming alive with long anticipated buds of color. But the promise of lush, green foliage is just one benefit of planting trees. Hot on the heels of Earth Day and Arbor Day, this column will celebrate the many virtues of trees — from showy shrubs to towering timbers!

Hedge against fuel costs: The Center for Urban Forest Research proclaimed planting a tree can have a significant impact on lowering energy use. It claims: “If you plant a tree today on the west side of your home, in five years your energy bills should be 3% less. In 15 years, the savings will be nearly 12%.”

Plant and pocket savings: Want trees to trim more of your fuel fees? According to expert landscapers, just three trees, properly placed around a house, can save between $100 and $250 annually in cooling and heating costs! That’s because shading that blocks summertime sun on the east, south and west sides of a house, but not cool breezes, is an effective way to keep your house cooler. For quickest results, opt for fast growing varieties.

Proper placement: If you use an air conditioner, plant trees or shrubs specifically to shade air conditioning units, but be sure not to block the airflow. It’s common sense that an air conditioning unit operating in the shade uses less electricity than one in the sun.

Chill out: Need more convincing? Consider this fact: Daytime air temperatures can be three to nine degrees cooler in tree-shaded neighborhoods. In fact, the U.S. Department of Agriculture estimates the net cooling effect of a young, healthy tree is equivalent to 10 room-size air conditioners operating 20 hours a day!

Tree Timing: Did you know trees can be used to time crop planting? The American Indians passed this reliable tip on to European colonists, and many farmers still rely on it today: Tender crops should not be planted until the leaves on an oak tree are as big as a squirrel’s ear (about an inch or so long).

Hike house value: “In one eye opening study from the Arbor National Mortgage & American Forests, 83% of realtors believe that mature trees have a “strong or moderate impact” on the salability of homes listed for under $150,000; on homes over $250,000, this perception increases to 98%!

Tree Rx: Did you know just looking at trees can reap health benefits? According to medical studies, recovery rates among hospitalized patients are often quicker when their rooms view a landscaped area compared to patients with non-landscaped views.

TAKE THE HINT

Breathe easier: Trees absorb harmful pollutants and small particles from the air which could irritate sensitive lungs. Plus, trees give off oxygen. A mature leafy tree can produce as much oxygen in one season as 10 people inhale in a year!

Tree planting tip: It can be difficult to successfully take cuttings from trees or shrubs to root and plant. Here is an option that ups your chances the cutting will take: Take a small potato, make a small hole, and place your shrub cutting inside. Immediately plant, potato and all, either in the ground or in a pot.

Planting pointers: Waiting until the fall to plant encourages good root development. Nurseries often slash prices on perennials and shrubs at the end of the summer, so planting then will reward you with healthy plants on the cheap!

Forest Facts:
*One mighty oak tree may have up to 400 species of plants and animals living on it.
* Trees provide us with thousands of products that go way beyond wood and paper: Items derived from trees include: toothpaste, chewing gum, suntan lotion, paint, film, crayons, perfumes, soap, paper, shatterproof glass, cork, dyes, drugs, syrup, and more.

*It takes approximately 17 to 24 trees to make one ton of paper.

Spring brings out the stocking trucks... and dreams of new pups

Trout stocking trucks are rolling throughout the central district. Wallum Lake in Douglas received an allotment of trout last week along with Comet, Lake Quinsigamond, & Webster. For a daily list of trout stockings go to mass.gov/trout web page. A reminder that Wallum Lake does not open to any fishing until Saturday April 14!!!! Every year some angler fails to abide by the regulations, and they end up with a hefty fine.

This is the time of year to purchase a new hunting partner for the fall hunting season. Purchasing a new hunting partner and family pet needs a lot of thought before making the decision to place a deposit on a possible 15 year commitment. Finding a reputable breeder of the dog you are interested in is the first thing that needs to be addressed. The purchase price is not cheap for a pedigree dog. Be sure to look at the pedigree papers and ask for references. Never pay up front for the dog. A deposit and receipt are very important. If you are looking to purchase a Labrador retriever, you will need to get references as hip dysplasia is common in the breed. The disease usually does not show up until the dog becomes about 6 months old. This crippling disease can be very costly to correct and often leaves the dog with a life time of health problems. With the cost of veterinary bills today it can drain the bank, and leave you without a hunting partner.

Another thing to remember is that Labrador retrievers are very destructive in your home if left unattended. Crate training your pup early is essential in restoring law and order in your home while you are away. Be sure that your new pet is veterinarian approved, has had all necessary shots, and is healthy when you bring it home.

OUTDOORS

Ask to see the parents of the new pup that you are about to purchase. Remember a litter of puppies are real cute, and can steal you heart if you are a dog lover, but you need to think it over before making a decision. If the breeder is selling show dogs and you are looking for a hunting dog, you should look elsewhere. Be sure to stay away from pet shops that often buy their pups from puppy mills. Some top quality hunting bird dogs that are extremely popular in the area include the pointing class like English pointers, German short-hair pointers, and Brittany spaniels. Brittany spaniels are a very versatile dog that will hunt upland birds, and are a great water dog for retrieving ducks and geese. They are also a lot smaller dog than the other bird dogs mentioned.

If you have the time to train and take your new dog out for daily walks and a run in fields daily, you should go ahead and purchase a new dog, but if you have little time to spend with your new dog, it is best to wait until you have more time. It is not fair to the dog when you leave them in your home or kennel all day, which can lead to constant barking. Leaving a dog in an outside kennel barking all day is also not fair to your neighbors. It is a great way to spoil a good neighbor relationship!! This week's pictures show a German short haired pointer pup, and my wife's beagle Molly. Unfortunately, Molly has not found a rabbit to chase, but has taken up pheasant hunting, and chasing geese.

With all of the electronics available to train your dog, Tri-Tronics seems to be the best product for your money. Tri-Tronics recently joined the Garmin Company, which was a leader in all other types of electronics of navigation, that included marine, car, map updates, Ralph's own little rabbit hunter Molly, a beagle, hasn't had much luck finding rabbits, so has taken to baying at geese and other fowl instead.

working on some new regulations that would expand turkey hunting opportunities. Extending the hunting seasons, hours, and bag limits are being considered. With the high population of wild turkeys in Massachusetts, it should be a sensible move.

The Mass Fish & Wildlife Board will hold their annual meeting for the 2018-19 waterfowl season on April 7 at 7:00 pm. at the MFW headquarters in Westborough. It is the same time that the board will also discuss the extended season for archery deer hunting in zones 10-14. The waterfowl meeting to set new regulations was normally done in August. If waterfowl hunters want to have input into the 2018-19 regulations you should attend the April 7, meeting. Check out the Board of Fish & Wildlife agenda on the website for more information .

Senate passes pair of bills aimed at protecting animals

BOSTON — Senator Anne M. Gobi (D-Spencer) has announced the Massachusetts Senate passed a pair of bills designed to protect the health, safety and well-being of animals while also addressing the sale and treatment of dogs and cats. The first piece of legislation, S.1155, An Act relative to protecting puppies and kittens, ensures that puppies and kittens are bred and sold in safe and healthy environments and strengthens the Massachusetts “Puppy Lemon Law” to give pet owners more options if they unknowingly purchase a sick pet. The second bill, S.2332, An Act to Protect Animal Welfare and Safety in Cities and Towns (PAWS II), expands on the existing law and enhances humane treatment of animals, increases the role of mandated reporters, and punishes those who engage in animal cruelty.

“Pets are important family members and making sure there are laws in place that protect people from unscrupulous sellers and to also make sure that any abusers are dealt with properly are important measures to take,” said Senator Gobi.

“Pet owners deserve protection when they unknowingly purchase a sick animal that requires expensive veterinary care,” said Senate President Harriette L. Chandler (D-Worcester). “Animals depend on their owners, and we must repay that trust by ensuring that animals are treated with respect and compassion. This legislation updates our animal protection laws by setting reasonable standards for breeding, and provides more options to protect animals and consumers.”

The first bill, S.1155, applies safety and breeding standards to protect pets and pet owners and outlines a process for a veterinarian to declare an animal suffering from a significant adverse health condition “unfit for sale.” To protect pet owners who unknowingly purchase a sick pet, the bill details remedies available to buyers of animals declared unfit for sale, including exchange of the animal or a refund and reimbursement for reasonable veterinary fees. In addition, this legislation regulates commercial breeders and pet shops to further protect the health and safety of animals, prohibiting pet shops from selling dogs or cats originating at or purchased from breeders that are not properly licensed or have committed certain violations of the Animal Welfare Act and requiring pet shops to maintain certain compliance records and conspicuously post identifying information for the animal and the breeder.

The second bill, S.2332, encompasses several key components recommended by the Animal Cruelty and Protection Task Force which was constituted under the original PAWS act, with task force members including the Massachusetts District Attorneys’ Association, State Police, Attorney General’s office, the Animal Rescue League of Boston, veterinarians, the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, and others. Their provisions will help ensure that animals are treated humanely and that those who engage in animal cruelty are adequately punished. The bill also includes legislation originally filed by Senator Gobi outlawing breed discrimination by homeowners insurance providers.

Both bills will now go to the House of Representatives for consideration.

Massachusetts Senate passes social media privacy protections

BOSTON – The Massachusetts Senate unanimously passed S.2320, An Act relative to social media privacy protection. Supported by Senator Anne Gobi (D-Spencer), the bill aims to protect the personal social media accounts of students and employees across the Commonwealth

Specifically, the legislation prevents employers and schools from requesting and requiring access to the personal social media accounts of applicants, employees, and students as a condition of acceptance, employment, or participation in school activities.

“Social media has become both a blessing and a curse,” said Senator Gobi, “It is important that the laws evolve to reflect growing areas of online presence.”

“As social media users reveal more and more about themselves, it is important that we enact privacy protections,” said Senate President Harriette L. Chandler (D-Worcester). “While users must remain aware of how much information they divulge, it is also imperative that privacy protections be implemented and enforced to ensure that information contained on a social media account is not abused.”

More than 25 states have already enacted legislation addressing this issue, and bills on this topic are pending in many other jurisdictions. This is the third session in which the Senate has voted favorably on this bill.

The legislation now goes to the House of Representatives for consideration.

part is persuasion: trying to build support for one’s goals. We talk about the president as being the most powerful person in the world, but over the decades I’ve been struck by how often presidents talk about the limitations on their power. Looking out from the White House, what they see are opposition and constraints.

Which may be why every president seeks to expand the power of the office, usually with some degree of success. This is not all bad — presidents do need power to get things done. But this trend has diminished the role of Congress and, fundamentally, of representative government. President Nixon had some 300 people on his staff; presidents these days may have as many as 2000.

This has allowed the president to insulate himself. Presidents are hard to reach today. They don’t want to be scrutinized on policy, and far too often, Congress has played along. The presidential press conference has also faded in importance. Presidents rarely have to answer questions in a free-wheeling give and take session with journalists or other politicians.

And so it’s harder to understand why the president does what he does now, why he makes the choices he does. Presidents need oversight and scrutiny, they need a Congress that will press them and insist on consultation. They get very little of that pressure today. Don’t get me wrong: I favor a strong president, but I also favor a strong Congress. And these days, we have a Congress marked by passivity and inability to exercise its constitutional responsibilities.

I’m equally impressed by the responsibility we have as citizens in choosing our leaders. We get what and whom we choose. Presidents really do make a difference in our lives. No choice as a citizen is more important.

Reduced services could raise havoc for commuters

BY KEVIN FLANDERS
NEWS STAFF WRITER

Proposed cuts in bus services across the Route 9 corridor are causing unease for residents who rely on public transportation to get to work.

The Worcester Regional Transit Authority has proposed reduced services for several of its bus routes, while others have been slated for elimination to save money. Among the proposals is an option to cut all bus services west of East Brookfield District Court. The proposal would also reduce services along WRTA Route 33 to one bus every two hours.

For several residents in Brookfield and West Brookfield, an elimination of bus services would prevent them from getting to work. Others rely on the service to visit family and friends, while many residents use the WRTA to reach colleges, hospitals, courts, and events in Worcester.

“I know one person who commutes on the WRTA bus from Brookfield to a Worcester college, and this person would potentially need to move,” said Brookfield Selectman Clarence Snyder. “The Route 9 corridor needs more transportation alternatives, not less.”

As the Senate Chair of the Regional Transportation Authority Caucus, Senator Anne Gobi is advocating along with other caucus members for full funding for bus services. This request is in accordance with a 2014 transportation finance law which established a funding schedule for the regional transportation authorities.

Governor Charlie Baker

allocated $80,400,000 this year for regional transportation authorities, which represents level funding. The Senate request for $88,000,000 supported by Gobi and her colleagues would restore what the House and Senate implemented in the 2014 transportation reform act.

“I am aware of the difficulties all 15 regional transit authorities across the state are facing, especially the areas served by the WRTA,” Gobi said. “The lack of reliable public transportation adds to the isolation of people and deprives them of access to basic needs such as healthcare and employment opportunities.”

The proposed cuts in bus services would not only impact individuals who rely on public transportation, officials said, but they would also hurt municipal economies.

Selectmen in Brookfield and West Brookfield are concerned that if bus routes west of the courthouse in East Brookfield are eliminated, several employees and visitors to their towns would have no means of reaching them.

As part of its proposed cuts, the WRTA is also considering an elimination of weekend bus services, which would prevent many residents from getting to church and recreation activities. Meanwhile, the potential elimination of WRTA Route 40, also known as the Hub Loop, is causing additional concerns. Several other bus routes, though preserved by the proposals, would see dramatically reduced daily service.

“Any curtailment of WRTA service on the Route 9 corridor will have an impact on the regional economy,” Snyder said. All proposals must be voted on by the WRTA advisory board and wouldn’t take effect until the summer. Prior to the vote, residents will have an opportunity to weigh in on the proposals during a series of public hearings. A meeting will be held on April 3 at 6 p.m. at Spencer Town Hall, while Brookfield residents will have a chance to share their concerns on April 12 at 6:30 p.m. at Brookfield Congregational Church.

Several local and regional officials were also planning to attend a rally in Worcester on March 20 to demonstrate their opposition to any cuts in service.

Deaths in West Brookfield ruled homicides

BY KEVIN FLANDERS
NEWS STAFF WRITER

WEST BROOKFIELD – Police continue to seek the public’s help as they investigate the homicides of a mother and her three young children last week.

At about 3:30 p.m. on March 1, police were called to 10 Old Warren Road. Inside the house, officers discovered the bodies of homeowner Sara Bermudez, age 38, and her three children, Madison, age 8, James, age 6, and Michael, age 2.

Investigators did not initially confirm multiple reports that the bodies were found burned. However, District Attorney Joseph Early said police are seeking information from anyone who has seen a discarded plastic yellow fuel can. Investigators said a yellow diesel can appears to be missing from the home, and they are requesting assistance from anyone in the area with home or business surveillance cameras.

“State Police detectives assigned to the Worcester County District Attorney’s Office, along with West Brookfield Police, are leading the investigation,” District Attorney Early said. “It is very early in this investigation.”

Early would not confirm by press time if police were searching for a specific suspect, though investigators asked area residents to be vigilant. Police declined to comment on the investigation, referring all inquiries to the District Attorney’s office. Investigators remained at the scene overnight and throughout the day on March 2, with a heavy police presence visible across town.

Already heartbroken following the deaths of three Quaboag Regional High School students in a car accident this past fall, the Warren-West Brookfield school community is once again coming together to grieve. School officials confirmed that two of the victims were West Brookfield Elementary School students, and grief counseling has been made available at the school.

Counselors from surrounding school districts were also brought in to assist as well.

“I was informed by the West Brookfield Police of a tragedy involving two West Brookfield Elementary School students,” stated Quaboag Public Schools Superintendent Brett Kustigian on the night of the tragedy. “I am in constant communication with the police and will provide information as it becomes available.”

School officials in West Brookfield are asking parents to ensure that their children get the extra help they need in coping with this tragedy. Similar to the triple-fatality car wreck this past fall, classmates of the victims will take a long time to heal.

“This has been a very difficult time for our school community,” said WBES Principal Colleen Mucha, whose school saw an increased police presence last Friday to help kids feel safer. “So many community members and School Committee members offered extra hands and hugs. Our teachers rode the buses to and from school with our students, and the entire Quaboag community has been wonderful.”

Added Kustigian, “If your child is affected by this tragedy in any way, I strongly encourage you to take advantage of the expert resources in our schools. My thoughts and prayers are with the Quaboag community.”

Residents and local leaders alike are also supporting first responders, who have seen multiple youth fatalities in recent months in a typically quiet rural community.

“Just a horrendous tragedy. The towns of West Brookfield, Warren and the Quaboag School District have had to endure so much and have opened their hearts to comfort the families,” Senator Anne Gobi told Stonebridge Press. “I am also grateful to the police, fire, EMS and all first responders. They are the ones who have had the unenviable task of being the first on the scene and witnessing what no one wants to. They too need our support and thanks.”

Anyone with information on the homicides is asked to call the State Police tip line at 508-820-2121.

The featured BVAA artist of the month of April at Alternatives Gallery is Elizabeth Havens. Her whimsical paintings and cards will be for sale. Elizabeth was our top seller at our pop-up gallery in Grafton Center last fall. She will be available April 7 and April 14 from 10 a.m.-3 p.m. at the gallery to do pet portraits while you wait. Bring an expressive photo of your pet and watch her magic. A matted 5x7 portrait of your pet is $20. This is what Elizabeth has to say about her paintings.

“I love painting pet portraits because animals have always been a fun subject of mine. Painting quickly keeps my watercolors fresh and loose. I never draw first as I find painting with a brush makes me get it right the first time. I love putting smiles on my customers faces when they see their pet portrait and the likeness and expressions of their pet.”

The Gallery is open on Saturdays, as mentioned, with small workshops being offered, most are free. See our web page BVAA.ORG for the schedule of events.

At our gallery at the Milford Local access TV we have a collection of “Spring Joy.” Our featured artist there is Lisa Shea, who has shared her cyanotype collection. Light and shadow. Blue and white. Welcome to the world of cyanotypes! Lisa Shea is the featured artist at the Milford TV Station at 138 South Main St. in Milford for the months of March and April, and her show celebrates this historic photographic process.

Cyanotypes are a parallel development with the traditional silver halide path of photography. The cyanotype’s combination of light-reactive chemicals ammonium iron citrate and potassium ferricyanide was first discovered in 1842. Anna Atkins made the process famous by authoring books of seaweed images. To create a cyanotype one lays an object onto painted paper, lets the sun shine, and then rinses off the paper. One is left with a shadow imprint of the item.

Usually in cyanotypes the aim is for the background painted surface to be as smoothly covered as possible. This allows the rich blue color, caused by the sunlight, to stand out against the white of the shadow. Lisa enjoys working with bicycle gears, ferns, and other objects.

In these situations, she aims to coat the surface – whether it’s corrugated or flat – with a fairly even layer of paint. She likes some texture in it, but she strives to have that texture become a background for the objects she is presenting.

There is another style of cyanotype Lisa creates where the paint itself becomes the feature. In these cases, she splashes, drips, and wriggles the paint to create designs with it. As that paint exposes to the sun, it creates its own work of art. An occasional shadow adds another layer of meaning to the final artwork.

Lisa finds cyanotypes to be mindful, meditative, and a palpable connection to the cycles of the world around us.

To learn more, and to find out how to make your own cyanotypes, come on out to the reception for the cyanotype feature, and the spring show in general, on Thursday, April 26 from 6-8 p.m. All are welcome!

This year’s collaboration with the Worcester Writers Collaboration and the Sutton Writers Group has led to an Art and Poetry exhibition. It was exhibited at the Worcester Central Library for the month of February and is now moved to the Blackstone Library.

It will be next exhibited at the Millbury Banes and Nobles, April 1-8.

For any questions on our multiple events see our web page at BVAA.ORG or email us at info@bvaa.org.

Shepherd Hill falls to Taconic in Division 2 state semifinals

BY KEN POWERS
SPORTS CORRESPONDENT

WORCESTER — The Shepherd Hill Regional boys' varsity basketball team's bid to advance to the Division 2 state final came up just short, the Rams losing their state semifinal against Taconic High of Pittsfield, 58-55, Wednesday, March 14 at Worcester State University.

The key to the Braves' victory was their ability to out-rebound and out-quick Shepherd Hill — two of the Rams' strengths all season.

"They killed us with their rebounding, especially their offensive rebounding. We gave them too many chances," Shepherd Hill head coach Mike Byrnes said. "I'd love to get a look at the stat sheet and see how many field goals they attempted versus how many we attempted. They got so many more shots than we did."

Byrnes said Taconic's quickness negated the Rams' height advantage.

"Their quickness definitely hurt our transition game. We usually score a lot in transition, but their quickness took that away," Byrnes said. "They were great; they played good defense and they slowed us down. I've been saying all year, when we get slowed down it takes the air out of the ball for us."

Shepherd Hill (19-7) led only three times in the game: at 3-0 just 44 seconds in on a 3-pointer by junior Cody Adams (11 points), 6-3 on a second straight 3-pointer by Adams with 5:14 left in the period, and 31-28 with 3:46 left in the first half.

The Rams trailed, 28-27, with 4:30 left in the second quarter but surged ahead of the Braves on a thunderous dunk by senior Jason O'Regan (a team-high 16 points) and a slashing drive through the lane by junior David Bilis.

Taconic (17-7), however, closed the first half by outscoring the Rams, 7-1, to take a 35-32 lead into the third quarter.

Shepherd Hill got to within one point of tying the game three times in the second half, the last being 53-52 with 3:49 to play on Adams' third trey of the game, this one coming out of the left corner.

With 1:53 to play Shepherd Hill had a chance to take the lead, 54-53, but a dunk attempt by senior Kenny Flynn (14 points) was partially blocked by Taconic's Mohammed Sanogo. The Rams and their fans called for a goaltending call on the play, but to no avail.

Taconic extended its lead to 56-52 with 49.6 seconds to play on three free throws by Robert McCown. O'Regan answered with a lay-in with 32.9 seconds to go to pull the Rams to within two, 56-54, but McCown scored a layup off an inbound play with 21.6 seconds left to push the Braves' lead back to four, 58-54.

Shepherd Hill senior Danny Cavic scored the Rams' final point of the season with three-tenths of a second to play on a free throw. Cavic (11 points) was fouled while attempting a 3-pointer.

Despite the bitter disappointment of not being able to play its way into the state final, Byrnes and O'Regan looked back on the season that had just concluded.

"At the beginning of the season I knew we were going to be good, but I didn't know we were going to be this good," O'Regan said. "I think as time went on the team jelled together. We spent more time together off the court, taking care of each other off the court as well as on the court. We just glued together. The chemistry came together and offensively and defensively we played better."

Byrnes called it a "great season."

"It was a heck of a year. If you told me before the year that we were going to win the Clark Tournament and win districts and lose in the state semifinal, I'd have told you that you were crazy," Byrnes said. "Right now we're not happy because we wanted to move on and play for the state title, but it was definitely a great season."

Taconic then lost to Tech Boston three days later in the Division 2 state championship game.

Jason O'Regan of Shepherd Hill stares out at the court as his stellar career comes to a close following the Rams' 58-55 setback in the Division 2 state semifinals to Taconic.

Shepherd Hill's Danny Cavic appears to get fouled by a Taconic player while grabbing the ball.

Kenny Flynn of Shepherd Hill finishes off a dunk in front of Taconic's defense.

Shepherd Hill's Cody Adams sizes up a 3-pointer from the corner, with the Ram Squad cheering on the attempt.

Patrick J. Mawn Jr. 49

NORTHBRIDGE- Patrick J. Mawn Jr. 49, of Mendon St. Blackstone, passed away on St. Patrick's Day, Sat. March 17, 2018, at his home after being stricken ill. He is survived by his 2 children Chloe S. Mawn of Northbridge, and Wesley A. Mawn of Douglas; his father Patrick J. Mawn Sr. of Whitinsville; his companion Marlene Saucier of Blackstone, with whom he lived; 2 brothers, Sean M. Mawn and his wife Holly of Northbridge, and Danny B. Mawn and his wife Stephanie of Whitinsville; a sister Erin M. Mawn and her fiancé Sean Madore of Webster; his former wife Heather M. McKeon Mawn of Douglas, and numerous nephews, nieces, aunts, uncles, cousins, and close friends. He was predeceased by an infant brother Kevin Mawn, and he was son of the late Kathleen (Wynn) Mawn. Patrick was born in Winchester, MA on September 23, 1968, and lived in Northbridge most of his life. He owned and operated P.J. Mawn Excavating Inc., working mostly out of Boston and the South Shore, which he loved. He also spent some time in Jupiter FL., working construction and chartering yachts. A graduate of Northbridge High School, Class of 1986, he was fun loving, generous to a fault, and would help anyone in need. He enjoyed the ocean, being outside, working, music, and his trips to Ireland. Family was most important to Patrick especially spending time with his children, and going out to lunch with his father. His Funeral will be held from Jackman Funeral Home, 12 Spring St. Whitinsville on Fri. March 23 at 10 AM in St. Patrick's Church, 1 Cross St., Whitinsville. Burial will follow in St. Patrick's Cemetery. Calling hours at the funeral home are Thurs. March 22 from 4-8 PM. To continue Patrick's legacy memorial donations may be made to the Patrick J. Mawn Jr. Memorial Fund, c/o Webster First Federal Credit Union, 1298 Providence Rd., Whitinsville, MA 01588 To leave a condolence message for the family please visit: www.Jackmanfuneralhomes.com

Master gardeners to share secrets of saving seeds

STURBRIDGE — Have you ever wondered how to save your own seeds from the plants you grow year after year? At the annual Old Sturbridge Village Garden Symposium on April 7, participants will discover the joys, benefits, and techniques of seed saving. Expert gardeners will explain which plants are best adapted for this practice, and uncover the secrets - and value - of preserving heirloom varieties. The keynote address will be delivered by Hannah Traggis, senior horticulturist at the Massachusetts Horticultural Society's Elm Bank. In her talk "Seeds: The Powerhouse of Civilization," she will describe the case for and cultural importance of saving open pollinated seeds. Gretel Anspach, a retired Raytheon engineer and master gardener, will present "Seed Saving 101," a primer for beginning and experienced gardeners with tips and techniques for collecting and preserving seeds from a wide variety of vegetables, flowers, and herbs. Other workshops during the day-long symposium will cover topics such as "19th-century Seed Saving" and "Collecting and Saving Seeds from Fruits." The Symposium begins at 9:00 am on Saturday, April 7, and costs $50 for the day, or $40 for OSV members. An optional boxed lunch may be purchased for an additional $15. To register, visit www.osv.org/savedseeds or call 508-347-0290.

OBITUARIES

Mary Almasian, 96

WEBSTER- Mary Almasian, 96, formerly of Whitinsville, MA died Monday, March 12th at the Webster Manor Nursing Home in Webster MA after a short illness. Mary is survived by her sister, Rosalie (Honey) Schweinfurth, two nieces, Christine Benn and Lori Frederick, Christine's son Alec Jordan and Lori's daughter Lilliana Tomanini, all of Colorado Springs, CO. Mary is predeceased by three siblings, Walter, Archie Almasian and Sarah Twomey of Whitinsville, MA.

Mary was born in Whitinsville on 2-22-22 (five deuces, one of her favorite saying) to the late Bedros and Martha (Maboyan) Almasian. Mary lived most of her life in Whitinsville, MA before moving to Webster, MA in 2016 to live with Rex and Margie Henderson.

Mary was a graduate of Northbridge High School in 1940. She was a member of the Armenian Apostolic Church and Senior Center in Whitinsville. She worked at Whitin Machine Works in Whitinsville for forty years.

Mary was a kind, giving person who loved to laugh. She was a very independent woman who spent many years taking great care of her family as a wonderful cook for all. She loved bingo, the casino and Friday night poker games with the girls. She loved to watch the New England Patriots and was an avid golf fan.

The family would like to thank Margie and Rex Henderson of Webster, Kathy Blash of North Oxford, MA and Sharon O'Neil of Leominster, MA for extending their care and kindness to Mary. We would also like to thank Webster Manor, 2nd Floor Nurses Station for their love and wonderful care of Mary, resident of room "222", with a special thanks to Passion and Sharon the hospice nurse. Mary was the life of the party (especially in the bingo hall) at Webster Manor and will be sadly missed.

Mary's funeral will be held at the Armenian Apostolic Church, Whitinsville, Friday, March 16 at 11AM. Calling Hours, at Carr Funeral Home, are Friday, March 16 from 9-10:30AM. Burial will be in Pine Grove Cemetery. In lieu of flowers, memorial donations may be made to the Armenian Apostolic Church, 315 Church St., Whitinsville, MA 01588. To leave a condolence for the family, please visit www.carrfuneralhome.com

Philip R. Delongchamp, 64

SPENCER: Philip R. Delongchamp, 64, of 39 Clark St., died Tuesday, March 13 at UMASS-Memorial Lake Ave., after being stricken ill earlier at his home.

He leaves his brother, Gerard E. Delongchamp and his wife Mary Lou of Auburn, nephews Daniel G. Delongchamp and his wife Therese of Worcester, Jon-Michael Delongchamp and his wife Rachelle of Holden, and Timothy J. Delongchamp and his wife Bonnie of Blackstone; eight great nephews and nieces: Hannah, Ryan, Luke, Josephine, Sarah, Lilah, Frances and Gerard.

He was born in Worcester, the son of the late Emery A. Delongchamp and his mother Germaine E. (Buignet) Delongchamp, who recently died this past September.

He graduated from David Prouty High School in 1971 and Assumption College in 1975. After graduation, he joined the Augustinians of the Assumption, the Catholic brotherhood that founded Assumption College. After spending two years with the Augustinians, Phil began his teaching career in several private Catholic high schools including St. Mary's High School in Worcester. He then returned to teach in his hometown of Spencer in 1997 at Knox Trail Junior High School as well as David Prouty High School.

"Mr. D" as his students knew him, was remembered as saying, "I see each child as a gift, and one thing I've done since I started teaching is I've kept a record of every single student's birthday. On that day, I pray for them and I wish them a positive thought. It's my commitment to them. I always see this profession as a vocation for me."

"I give of myself to my students," Mr. D said. "I want them to know I'm here to help them find their gift to the world. I don't care what subject you teach – that's just your vehicle to reach the students."

During the 2008-09 school year, Phil was the recipient of the Teacher of the Year award sponsored by the Wal-Mart Supercenter in Leicester. For years, Wal-Mart stores across the country have recognized teachers and donated checks in the amount of $1,000 to the teachers' schools. Nominations for the award, according to Mr. D, came from students or parents who sent letters to Wal-Mart. Also, in 2010, Phil was honored as "Teacher of the Month" by WSRS Radio.

He was a member of St. Anne-St. Patrick Parish where he regularly lectured and served as a Eucharistic Minister. Last week, he was commissioned as a Lay Assumptionist.

Phil's funeral was held on Saturday, March 17 with a Funeral Mass at 10 a.m. in St. Anne-St. Patrick Church, 16 Church St., Fiskdale. Friends & family attending are asked to go directly to the church. Burial followed in Mary, Queen of the Rosary Cemetery, Spencer. Calling hours at the J. HENRI MORIN & SON FUNERAL HOME, 23 Maple Terr., Spencer were Friday, March 16 from 4 to 7 p.m. in the funeral home.

In lieu of flowers, memorial contributions may be made to The Assumptionists, 330 Market St., Brighton, MA 02135 or to the The Philip R. Delongchamp Memorial Scholarship Fund c/o D.P.H.S Permanent Scholarship Fund. P.O. Box 172, Spencer, MA 01562.

Why Should You List and Sell Before the Spring?

- There will never be a better time to move-up—not only are property prices rising, but so are mortgage rates.
- Buyers aren't 'Just Looking'—winter buyers are motivated and ready to move on a property they're interested, don't lose this market.
- Lower Inventory means less competition—less houses, but a high volume of buyers, means that your house is a hot commodity, especially if it has desirable features.
- You may receive an offer closer to asking price—while you may have less competition, buyers may have more. If they have their heart set on your home, they'll be more likely to make offers closer to your asking price.
