COMIC CON AT FIRST FRIDAYS BACK TO BACK

PUTNAM — Shannon and Greg Haney spend a family night out with their daughter, Anna, and son, Austion, at First Fridays downtown street festival on Sept. 6. The theme of the evening was Comic Con and many youngsters dressed as their favorite comic book characters.

DANIELSON — Quinebaug Valley's Stephen Scrapchansky stretches to tackle Woodstock Academy's Luis Miranda in a pre-season scrimmage at Ellis Tech's football field on Sept. 6. The high school football season begins on Friday, Sept. 13. Killingly High, Woodstock Academy, and Quinebaug Valley are all in action this weekend. Previews begin on page B-1 of The Villager sports section.

Opposition to ash landfill expansion in Putnam

Neighbors United continued its fight this past week against the proposed expansion of the incinerator ash landfill on River Road. Representatives from the organization voiced concerns prior to the Wetlands commission's public hearing on the matter in the middle school auditorium on Sept. 11.

PNU group coordinator
Delia Fey, whose River Road property abuts a parcel that Wheelabrator Inc. plans to purchase to help allow the expansion, addressed supporters on the steps of the middle school. She was joined by fellow River Road resident Melissa Morin in denouncing the plan.

Fey addressed the gathering by warning that "Putnam is well on its way to becoming the dumping ground of Connecticut."

We, the members of Putnam Neighbors United, and other local residents who care about the environment, are here tonight for the third month to ask the Inland Wetlands Commission to stop the madness," Fey said. "For the past 21 years residents of West Putnam have watched with dismay and disgust as a pyramid of ash has risen from former open spaces off River Road. We were told it would be an ash landfill, but nothing was filled except our eastern horizon. Now Wheelabrator Inc. wants to triple the size of this unnatural terrain feature, which will eventually become the highest point in town.'

Fey said the expansion is shortsighted.

"After that Wheelabrator will finally leave and the money they give the town will dry up for good. But Mount Trashmore, as West Putnam residents call the dump, will remain forever. Forever. It can never be repurposed or even reforested, as the plastic liner might be pierced and leak the toxins within. Even nuclear waste has a half-life, but the heavy metals entombed in the mountain of ash will never degrade because mercury, lead, nickel and other poisonous elements never break down," Fey said. "Wheelabrator will argue that as long as we incinerate our trash, something has to be done with the ash. True

Sweet success for cupcake duo

BY KAREN BUTERA FOR THE VILLAGEER

PUTNAM — Cupcakes - who can resist the sweet frosted treat of a delicious mini cake? Four bites and your sweet tooth is satisfied. They got a boost in their rise to fame in the year 2000 when two gals in a popular TV show "Sex and the City" picked up a few at New York City's Magnolia Bakery. Then, in 2003, "Sprinkles" of New York was born, making cupcakes even more popular.

For those who say the cupcake craze is dead — Jennifer McKinney and Lisa Coderre, owners of Colossal Cupcake of Woodstock, would say otherwise. These best friends met at work.

We clicked and became friends right away," said Coderre.

McKinney had a thought. "One rainy day at work I said to Lisa — wouldn't it be nice if we could be at home baking today," McKinney said.

They decided to give it a try. It was a long road ahead. When they first decided to give it a go, the Cottage Laws in Connecticut had not yet been passed. While waiting for the laws to pass, they practiced making cupcakes and frosting - trying to perfect their recipes. They would get together at McKinney's home and

The school boasts over 100 students and over 25 faculty and staff supporting educational levels serving grades Pre-Kindergarten to Grade Eight. Its student body comes from all over the greater northeast Connecticut region of the quiet corner as well as in neighboring communities in Massachusetts and Rhode Island. The school offers faith based education where Catholic values are taught and all faiths are welcomed.

The new learning center is dedicated to Bishop Vincent Hines, who was instrumental in developing and enhancing catholic education in the Norwich Diocese. As explained by Principal David Sizemore, Bishop Hines led the Norwich Diocese from 1960 to 1975 and he was "a leading force in Catholic education" in Connecticut. The learning center is intended to be a "celebration of education," said Lindsay Lehmann, Chair of the Parent School Connection. 'More than a race, this community event attracts individuals of all ages and levels of ability, along with a host of community volunteers that make it happen," said Kristen Willis, DKH Director of Development. This year's Walk & Race Ambassador was Rich Mineo, from Woodstock. Mineo was diagnosed with follicular b-cell lymphoma in the spring of 2016 and has since been a frequent visitor at DKH. His treatment plan consisted of two years of immunotherapy which he completed in August 2018.

With the expectation of needing more treatment down the road, Mineo knows first-hand how important it is to keep cancer treatment in our community. He is committed to supporting the NECT Cancer Fund to help DKH in its mission to ensure that everyone in our community has access to critical cancer related health services regardless of their financial circumstances.

'I couldn't be prouder or more humbled to have been selected as this year's ambassador and to be participating in this event with so many supporters," said Mineo. "Being able to be treated at Day Kimball, close to home, was very important to me and the care I received was exceptional. I will do whatever I can do to help ensure that other patients and their families facing a cancer diagnosis have the resources to access the same great care at our community hospital that was afforded to me.'

Since its inception, the annual Walk & Race has raised over $1.3 million dollars for the NECT Cancer Fund to help provide residents of Northeast Connecticut who are fighting cancer with financial assistance for their medical care.

Volunteers spruce up camp in Pomfret

POMFRET — Volunteers spruced up the Windham County 4-H Foundation camp property in Pomfret on Aug. 28. By the end of the day, five huge dead trees were safely removed and chipped, two recently re-sided cabins were stained, two new entry gates were installed and post holes were dug for new fencing to be installed at the horse barn area. Another crew did some weeding and mulching around the lodge, leaving the lodge ready for fall renters to enjoy the improved landscape.

Volunteers from Eversource brought along bucket trucks, chain saws, augers, rakes and paint brushes and went to work on Aug. 28. Employees from Eversource, Amica, The Hartford, and Farm Credit East, Other World volunteers and students from the University of Connecticut, Pomfret School and Marianapolis Prep have also donated their time on other community work days this year.

Eversource has partnered with the Foundation for almost a decade through their community service program. The Foundation thanked all volunteers for the hundreds of hours of labor they have given to help keep the grounds and buildings at the 4-H Outdoor Center clean, updated and safe for our campers and renters.

Woodstock Little League results

WOODSTOCK — Woodstock Little League fall ball results are as follows. Killingly defeated Woodstock 6-5 in Junior Division play in the fall season opener for both teams on Sept. 7. Despite solid pitching from Eli Smith (3IP, 4H, 1R, 5K) and Dominic Dennett (2IP, 1H, 1R, 3K), Woodstock found itself down 2-1 entering the bottom of the 5th inning. Dominick Tocci was able to draw a one out walk in the 5th, advancing to second on Luke Senosk's two out walk. Cameron Fulone then laced a two out single to score Tocci and tie the game 2-2. Fulone would shut down the Killingly offense in the top of the 6th inning, retiring the side in order, striking out two.

In the bottom of the sixth inning, Josh Beaudreau led off the inning with a base hit. Riley O'Brien followed with a double to the gap in right center, scoring Beaudreau all the way from first and giving Woodstock a 3-2 lead. Dominic Dennett and Zach Renaud would both work walks to load the bases. With John Stone at the plate and two outs, a wild pitch would enable O'Brien to display his speed and scamper home to make the score 4-2. Stone would end up working a walk to re-load the bases with two outs. Luke Senosk would follow with a terrific at bat, fouling off a couple pitches before working a full count walk to drive in Dennett to make the score 5-2. The top of the 7th did not go as planned for the Woodstock nine, as the Killingly offense took advantage of a couple walks and miscues by the Woodstock defense to go along with some timely hits to score four runs to take the 6-5 lead. Woodstock would go down in order in the bottom of the 7th to end the game. Killingly is now 1-0 on the season, while Woodstock is 0-1. Next up for Woodstock is a Friday night game on Sept. 13 in Plainfield Baseball Minors Woodstock River 13, Mansfield 8 Dogs Brayden Bottone pitched 3 2/3 innings, had 9 strike outs, and got the win for Woodstock. Davis Jette had 2 strikeouts in relief. Leading the way offensively for Woodstock were Brayden Bottone, Declan Ferguson, and Carsen Peters all with a single. Roan Donovan scored 3 runs, while Davis Jette, Brayden Bottone, James Silva, and Sam Greene all scored 2 runs each, and Jax Golden and Declan Ferguson each scored a run. Wareham. This is something all members of CAP get a chance to try.

"Within 90 days of joining they get to fly with a certified pilot that works with youngsters," said Wareham, who signed up when he was13 years old. "It changes you for life. This a labor of love."

Civil Air Patrol is now an auxiliary branch of the U.S. Air Force and is funded by them. After a public law was passed by U.S. Congress, and President Harry S. Truman signed it, CAP was then incorporated as a non-profit organization of volunteers. Today they are involved in three main missions, the Cadet Program, Emergency Services (ES) and Aerospace Education.

One of their missions is to aid search and rescue and find the lost, keeping the Homeland safe. "When a plane goes down and is lost, 90 percent of them are found by CAP," said Wareham. "Once a search-and-rescue aircraft finds something, a team is sent out on the ground to do search and rescue."

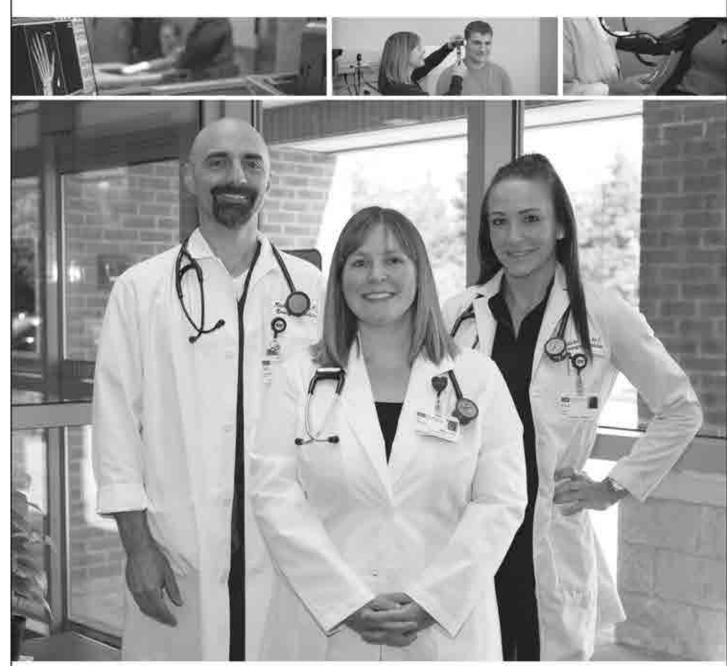

Bryce Dietz has three children involved in CAP. He became involved when he saw positive changes in them.

"They have learned discipline and leadership skills. It helps with strong character development. They are always looking for ways to help out in the communities," Dietz said. "There is a Squadron down in Florida that is helping out because of the hurricane that just went by the coast."

On the evening of Sept, 5 the current basic training flight- Bravo Flight moved up to advanced flight- Alpha Flight. Daniel Heffernan relinquished command of Bravo Flight to Hayden Coburn and he became the new Bravo Flight Sergeant. Tzietel Dietz earned the fifth achievement Lindbergh Award that same evening, and Cadet 2nd Lieutenant Logan Wareham earned ninth achievement, a stepping stone to 1st Lieutenant. This group of 28 CAP members meet weekly on Thursday evenings and it is something all of the kids look forward to.

Today adults and cadets are as dedicated as the original members were. For more information visit their Facebook page at Danielson Cadet Squadron Ct 074 or just show up on a Thursday evening at 6:30 p.m. at 135 Airport Road.

Eastern ranked highly among state schools

WILLIMANTIC — Eastern Connecticut State University is again the highest ranked institution among Connecticut's four state universities in this year's U.S. News and World Report's edition of "Best Colleges." The 2020 rankings were released on Sept. 9.

The North Region includes colleges and universities from New England, New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware and Maryland, and is known as the most competitive among the four regions that make up the U.S. News and World Report ranking system.

Regional universities such as Eastern are ranked based on 15 criteria that include peer assessment, graduation and retention rates, class size, faculty resources, admissions selectivity, financial resources and alumni giving.

'Given the uncertain times facing the higher education community, I am delighted to see Eastern achieving its highest ranking ever," said Eastern President Elsa Nunez. "This is a testament to our commitment to high standards and the faculty and staff's focus on providing students with personal attention. If it were easy, would everyone really be doing it?

I find it fascinating how the most successful people I know are rarely the most talented. It doesn't matter ... whether it's business, inter-personal relationships, the arts, sports ... the people who achieve the greatest heights all share a single quality that propels them above others. It's not talent, intelligence or luck. It's not knowing the right people or being in the right place at the right time. What is it that the successful have that others do not? Persistence. Successful people simply do not quit. They don't give up. I've told the story before, but it's appropriate to do so again.

author of three successful books. To begin writing a book isn't hard, but completing the task is monumental. There are thousands of people out there that have a book in their head and heart. They began writing with passion but at some point, early in the writing process, they stop. Starting and completing a book project of eighty thousand words or so is a monumental task that few ever complete. Why do they stop? They do not have the persistence to finish. Now let's look at the very few who do finish. Writing the book, as difficult as it is, is easier than getting published. My first book, Playing with the Enemy, was rejected seventy-four times by publishers. It was the seventy-fifth that took a chance on an inexperienced and unknown author and Playing with the Enemy became a surprise hit. A surprise to everyone but me. I knew if I could get it published, the book would resonate with audiences. That

What would happen if you didn't quit? How many talented baseball players left their dreams of major league stardom behind because they gave up too soon? How many artists or musicians stopped short of the coming success they could have enjoyed? How many marriages end in divorce because one or both parties in the relationship just decide to give up? In each case, they didn't have the persistence to see it through to a successful end.

Is persistence the only quality needed to succeed? Of course not, but it is the most important. Who really thinks Johnny Cash or Bob Dylan had a great singing voice? They had talent to be sure but I'm certain I can find someone within five miles of my home with a better voice.

So, if persistence is most important. where and how do I get it?

Persistence is driven by your belief system. If you believe you have talent or ability, that belief drives your success. If you don't believe, sell yourself! Face it, if you think you don't have a chance, why would you try?

It's rarely the most talented that achieve the pinnacle of success. Of course, talent matters, but ability is something that can be achieved through dogged determination. Sticking with your dream and driving to greater heights through practice, study and a passionate drive that always ask the question: If others can reach the top and achieve their dreams, why not

My dad had a simple statement that is applicable. If I were to ask him why most people don't succeed, he'd respond, "It's easier not to ..." Apply that as the answer to almost any question. Why aren't you disciplined? It's easier not to be. Why weren't you on time? It's easier not to be. Why didn't you stay and work on your marriage? It's easier not to work on it. Why won't you quit smoking? It's easier not to quit. Why aren't you a good student? It's easier not to get good grades. Why didn't you get that promotion? It's easier not to get it. Why are you not financially successful? It's easier not to be. Why didn't you finish that book you were writing? It's easier not to finish.

Apply that answer to almost any question of success or achievement and it is almost always true. It is easier not to succeed. Success takes persistent hard work. It takes the attitude that screams that you will not be denied the success you desire. It requires that dogged persistence that says, yes, it's easier to quit, but you are willing to stick to the task at hand and pay the price for success. As the old adage proclaims, "If it were easy, everyone would be doing it!"

The truth is, if you dig in and not quit, you will find the only resistance is you. If you chisel away the resistance, you will find a clearer path to your success.

Take the road less traveled. The vast majority will always say, "It's easier not to." In a world dominated by those unwilling to pay the price, success is there for the taking for those who do.

It's never too late. Why not you?

Opinion and commentary from the Quiet Corner

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

DeLuca responds to critic

My reply to Louise Davis (Letters to the editor, Sept. 6): First off, "Mad Max" Waters and the squad got what they deserved with their comments coming back to bite them and I don't feel bad for any one of them. Perhaps Ilhan Omar's saying about 911: "It's only something that some people did" sits well with you? How many good American people did she insult with that "open mouth, insert foot" comment?" So Louise, it seems that I'm not the only "open mouth, insert foot" person out there now does it, and maybe that's what they're also best at? And in case you didn't know this, Omar also declined to address a report finding that "the highest level of terrorist group recruitment has taken place in her Congressional district." Perhaps Mad Max telling people to harass Trump supporters and being pictured with the leader of antifa is also fine in your eyes, and can you please tell me why I should even think that Alexandria Ocasio-Cortez should be taken seriously? And speaking of AOC, she's refused to condemn recent antifa attacks and has actually worked to help raise money to bail these mask wearing cowards out of jail. Or maybe you also think that America should really become the land of the freebie as these Democrats (both men and woman) hoping to become President are promising? You (and others) may look up to these people as role models or people who should be respected — but I certainly don't, and I never will. And if you (or anybody else) say that's disrespectful or insulting — I could care less! Do you remember JFK saying: "Ask not what this country and do for you, but ask what you can do for this country?' He must be spinning in his grave in disgust at what the Democratic party has now become. You mention me being "oblivious to the fact" that "I've insulted people" (now "particularly women"), which is a response that has now become repetitive and old. And from the replies I've received, it appears that the only people with thin skin seem to be living in Woodstock.

Joly endorses George

Fellow Residents of the Town of Killingly: Let it be known that I endorse Mrs. Patricia George for our 2019 Republican Town Council Candidate At-Large. The following reasons explain why I consider her to be our best candidate. Patti stays current with our town issues. She reads the Town Council Meeting Minutes and often chooses to discuss various issues in a public forum on the radio. Her agenda is, "Do what's best for our town and our residents." She doesn't have a political agenda that promotes local or state politicians. She is an advocate for taxpayers, students, veterans, and our Constitutional Rights. I've known Patti on a personal level for over 25 years. I know her to be thoughtful, compassionate, and approachable. She listens to others, considers all possibilities, and has the ability to come to reasonable conclusions. I also know Patti as a political wealth of knowledge. Over the years I have learned much from discussing local, state, and world politics with Patti. Everyone, please join me in voting for Patricia George for Republican Town Council Candidate At-Large. Let's Make Killingly Great Again! Patti will serve us well!

Ruhlemann supports Farrow

I am writing to encourage every voter in Killingly to vote for Doug Farrow for The Killingly Board of Education. Doug is running for re-election and deserves your vote. He has many years experience teaching so he actually knows what is required in a classroom. He is a fiscal conservative and works hard to ensure our schools get what they need without wasteful spending. He is an extremely dedicated hard working individual who cares deeply about our community. There was a lot of controversy this past year over the school mascot. Those of you who attended the meetings know that Doug was the voice of reason. He wanted to put the matter of changing the name Redman out for a referendum so that the citizens of Killingly would have a voice in the matter. At that meeting he was told that the decision was not one for the citizens of Killingly but an issue that would be decided by the Board of Education. As you know the decision was then left to the Nipmuc Tribe from Massachusetts. We need individuals like Doug on the Board of Education to speak for the students and the schools but also to speak for the parents and the citizens of Killingly.

Deception in Woodstock budget

RICHARDSON

Over the last several months I have mentioned several times in letters-to-the-editor or guest columns in The Villager that during 2018 it appeared that $74,195 went missing from a Woodstock general fund account. Background: for the last several years the Woodstock Board of Education (BOE) has run a self-funded health insurance program to cover BOE employees. In the spring of 2016 the Board of Finance (BOF) and BOE established a reserve fund, as part of the general fund, to mitigate against any unforeseen downside liabilities that might affect either the BOE or town finances. This reserve was funded by surpluses in the education budget. This reserve quickly reached a funding level of over $800,000 — only took two years. The policy allowed the funds in this "reserve" account to only be used to covered unanticipated health insurance expenses. In 2018 the BOE decided to terminate the self-funded program and switch to a conventional premium based insurance in coordination with the state of Connecticut effective July 1, 2018. The reserve is to be kept open until all claims and potential liabilities are closed out and then will revert to the undesignated General Fund; seems simple enough. In December 2018 during the annual audit review with the BOF it was noted that the reserve fund was down by a little over $116,000. Roughly $42,000 of that was to cover an increase in claims and other liabilities over the previous year. The remaining $74,195 was unexplained. What makes this particularly interesting is that on June 12 of 2018 the BOE had come to the BOF claiming that the BOE budget for 2018 was facing a $160,000-plus deficit, and with only 18 days remaining in the fiscal year, and needed extraordinary measures to cover the shortfall. Their proposal was to use about $22,000 in "surpluses" in the health insurance budget line for 2018 – remember only 18 days left in the year at this point – and to take some funds from the BOE non-lapsing account, which are funds from previous year(s) surpluses, and in addition wanted the BOF to approve the use of an additional $110,000 from the aforementioned "Healthcare Reserve" account. The BOF told them the use of the surplus in the health insurance line was part of their budget and they could do what they please with those funds – pursuant to CGS 10-222. The use of non-lapsing funds for operational expenses was against the agreed upon policy. As for the $110,000 from the have changed. reserve account, there were problems on at least two levels: first those funds were set aside only to ance liabilities; second, authorized spending for the 2018 fiscal year was already at the Prop 46 spending limit so no further spending to relocate, travel extencould be authorized and any spending beyond what had been authorized in the 2018 budget (passed by referendum in May 2017) would be a violation of CGS 10-222. This last point was later confirmed by the town attorney. All of this became moot when the next day, June need to adjust your estimates 13, the BOE discovered, and reported in their monthly meeting, that there was no deficit and they, in fact, expected a $160,000-plus surplus! By September when the books were affect your finally closed they reported that the surplus had gone down to $30,336 which they wanted transferred to the non-lapsing account. So we have a $30,336 surplus but took $74,195 out of the reserve fund without explanation. Confusing? Apparently a bit confusing to the auditors too as they seemed to have completely missed it. During the December 11 audit review there was a lengthy discussion for different amounts. of the issue concluding with an agreement by the auditor that it appeared that through a series of transactions we had effectively moved $30,336 from the reserve account to the non-lapsing account which could be a significant legal issue. He noted during the discussion that this was something he and the town tion your investment deciattorney would need to discuss – of note; the town attorney was present for this entire discussion. You can watch this on video at the town website under Finance, video's – starts about 25 minutes in, you can fast forward. The misallocation of some $30,336 of taxpayers' money in violation of CGS 10-248a which reports about stock market allows for the transfer only of "surplus" funds is only one part of the story and perhaps the least disconcerting. The cover up: in January at the BOF meeting (also on video) I pointed out that If that's the case, you might not only is there the issue of the $30,336 that want to revisit your risk tol-

Have you checked your retirement plan lately

FINANCIAL Focus JIM ZAHANSKY INVESTMENT ADVISER

Planning for retirement can seem far away, but it's not as far as you think. It's generally a good idea to review your employer-sponsored retirement savings plan at least once each year and when major life changes occur to make sure it is still representative of all your needs and goals. If you haven't given your retirement strategy a thorough review within the last 12 months, or if you don't have a plan in general, now may be a good time to sit with your financial advisor and look it over/ develop one. As part of our Plan Well. Invest Well. Live Well.TM process, keeping up with your retirement plan, as well as other goals you have, may help you stay focused and your assets aligned.

Have you experienced any life changes? Since your last retirement plan review, have you experienced any major life changes? For example, did you get married or divorced, buy or sell a house, have a baby, or send a child to college? Perhaps you or your spouse changed jobs, received a promotion, or left the workforce entirely. Has someone in your family experienced a change in health? Or maybe you inherited a sum of money that has had a material impact on your net worth. Any of these situations can affect both your current and future financial situation and should be considered as you review your retirement savings needs.

In addition, your annual review is a good time to examine the beneficiary designations on your plan account to make sure they reflect your current wishes. This is particularly true if your marital situation has changed. With most employer-sponsored plans, your spouse is automatically your plan beneficiary unless he or she waives that right in writing.

Say, for example, you would like your children to remain as primary beneficiaries on your retirement plan. KILLINGLY In that case, your spouse would need to waive his or her right to the assets in writ-

Killingly Alumni Athletic Association honors history

The Killingly High School Alumni Athletic Association will enshrine this vear's Sports Hall of Fame inductees on Thursday, Oct. 24, 2019 at the Banquet Center of the Mansion at Bald Hill in Woodstock. The Sports Hall of Fame was established in 2013. This year's honorees each will be recognized with a plaque to be placed in the Hall of Fame Hallway at Killingly High School.

Inductees include members of football, basketball, baseball, and track teams in addition to a sports broadcaster. Two teams will also be inducted. Several members of Killingly's outstanding football teams from the early 1950's, including the 1952 undefeated team, the first in the school's history, are being honored. Among them will be twin brothers, Bruce and Bradley Howard (KHS Class of 1953), co-captains of that football team and members of the track team. They went on went on to become two-sport lettermen at "Ivy League" Columbia, a Division I level college, participating in both football and wrestling while there. A third member of the undefeated 1952 team who will be recognized is Dr. Paul Poirier who earned 10 varsity letters while playing three sports at Killingly High School. His collegiate career was shortened due to a fractured leg. Poirier passed away August 18, 2019 at his home in Naples, Fla. at age 82.

Representing basketball will be Killingly High School's leading male basketball scorer Shane Gibson (1,879 career points). After attending Sacred Heart University Gibson played for the Halifax Hurricanes of NBL Canada. On June 14, 2016, the Hurricanes won the 2016 NBL Canada Finals over the London Lightning, four games to three. On Aug. 10, 2017, Gibson joined AEK Larnaca of the Cypriot Division A. Currently he is with the Cibona Zagreb.

This year's inductees also include the only professional broadcaster to be recognized, Kyle Rickey (Killingly High School class of '97). Killingly High School girls basketball is represented by Trisha Griffiths, a member of the 1987/88 State Championship Team. Griffiths also held several records in track and field, was an All-State and All New England candidate and All ECC in three sports.

Another All State, All Conference Redgal slated to be inducted is Val Heroux Sandberg (class of '86) who was outstanding in track. Not only did Heroux establish records within the class M division, she also established Shot Put and Javelin records at the State Open Championships.

Jen Privee, an outstanding competitor in track and cross country, set 11 school records, was named All ECC three times, All State twice, and was the first Redgal Cross Country All State recipient in 1991. She earned a Track/ Cross Country scholarship to Bryant University.

Three-sport letterman Bob Oatley is also an inductee into the 2019 Killingly Sports Hall of Fame is. During his four years as a Redman student athlete, he earned nine varsity letters and was All ECC in Baseball and Football, playing quarterback in football and shortstop on the Baseball team. Following his graduation from UConn, Oatley served his Country during the Vietnam War.

Two teams are also being inducted into the Hall of Fame including "the 1957/58 basketball team that finished the regular season undefeated and went KILLINGLY AT 300 MARGARET WEAVER on to play in the state championship finals. They were 18-0 during the regular season and finished the year 20-1, losing only in the state final. The team was led by Captain Mike Castagna who is the first 1000point scorer in KHS basketball history. Back then the state did not have division classifications, as that final game had the eventual two best teams in the whole state square off. The 1969/70 Wrestling Team will also be inducted. It was founded by the head coach at that time, Art Palumbo (1968/69) and then Coach Edwin Tetreault in 1970. It had amassed 26 straight victories in dual matches as the beginning of the remarkable wrestling team's legacy, so to establish that foundation of success that still thrives today nearly 50 seasons later. The first captain of that team, Freshman Bruce Manning, served all four of his years as the captain, a varsity phenom leading the squad in several categories along with an outstanding group of grapplers including the Labelle boys, Dave and Frank, Ken Davis, Hall of Famer Bill Pakulis, former KHS Head coach Howard Moody, David Whizzer" White, the Shippee brothers, Tony and Jimmy, the Malarky brothers. Bruce and Robert, and so many more. Rich Bowen, Killingly's current head wrestling coach, who this past season earned his 600th career win, will present the inductees' plaque to the teams captains including Manning and Howard Moody. Bowen took over for Moody back in the late 1980's as Moody was head coach taking over when Ed Tetreault had retired. That fact brings a tremendous connection linking those legendary memories of continued success. The basketball and wrestling teams at KHS have always provided an outstanding energy the last 50 seasons with students packing the gym for games and matches helping to transition the school community year from the fall sports season to the spring sports season with an energy that was infectious.'

The Governor becomes a believer

BEYOND THE PEWS JOHN HANSON

The scene was unsettling. The well dressed and usually dignified Elymas groped frantically at the air, screaming, "Somebody, give me your hand; I can't see!" He was undoubtedly shocked at his sudden calamity. How could this be happening? He was used to commanding a great deal of respect. After all, he was an advisor to Sergius Paulus Sergius, who was proconsul of Cyprus (the highest Roman official on the island) about A.D. 45-46. But now he felt so helpless and rattled to his core.

Evidently Elymas had worked his way into political power using magic and sorcery, but he called himself a man of God. This incident proved that his faith was not in the real God. He was religious, but God was not on his side. He was politically correct and socially adept, but spritually bankrupt. And, when a couple of politically weak, socially rejected missionaries by the names of Paul and Barnabas were summoned to come share their faith with this important politician, his in-house prophet was invited to join the event.

A plethora of Biblical and historical accounts demonstrate that God will often move on the hearts of believers, causing them to seek Him and the way of life that will set them free. The Governor was about to embark on a life-changing journey of faith and the enemy of his soul used a fake preacher to attempt to sabotage that conversion experience. Satan often uses people or cultures to shame or intimidate other people who are interested in finding out more about God. Paul and Barnabas spoke the truth, but Elymas "withstood them. Elymas means "sorcerer" in Greek. His given name was Bar-jesus. He was in the battle of his life, trying to preserve his man-invented religion and his political influence, but his magic is about to meet its match.

Some may be tacken back by this story in Acts chapter 13 and consider it rude or extreme. But, because a soul was hanging in the balance, God used Paul to put this magician in his place. Here is how Scripture records the confron-

Saul, also known as Paul, was filled with the Holy Spirit, and he looked the sorcerer in the eye. Then he said, "You son of the devil, full of every sort of deceit and fraud, and enemy of all that is good! Will you never stop perverting the true ways of the Lord? Watch now, for the Lord has laid his hand of punishment upon you, and you will be struck blind. You will not see the sunlight for some time." Instantly mist and darkness came over the man's eyes, and he began groping around begging for someone to take his hand and lead him. When the governor saw what had happened, he became a believer, for he was astonished at the teaching about the Lord. (Acts 13:9-12 NLT)

In contrast to a world system that is becoming more hostile toward truth-speakers, there are still many people who God is calling to true faith - including people who are politically and financially influential. That is why it is so important that those who call themselves Christians today are as genuine in their faith and practice as Paul and Barbabas were. We need Christian leaders who teach what Jesus taught without being intimidated by fake believers who have rewritten tenants of faith to adapt to their preferred theology and way of life. In recent years there have been stories similar to the one recorded in Acts, proving that God is still interested in souls and that he will even reach for governors who are willing to appears to have been transferred to the non-lapsing account in error, but an additional $44,000-plus is unexplained and needs to be accounted for. The BOF agreed we needed to get to the bottom of this and suggested sending a letter to the BOE requesting an explanation and supporting information. I was asked to draft the letter for the Chairman. The letter was drafted and sent to him two days later. The February meeting was cancelled due to weather so on March 5 I raised the question of where the issue stood (last video available). The Chair reported that he had decided to turn the issue over to the town attorney and the auditor instead of sending the letter and was awaiting their response. On March 12 I spoke directly to the town attorney who was present for the BOF meeting that night. He told me that he had tried to contact the auditor but had not heard back from him. The following day I sent an email to the town treasurer, copied to the first selectman, and BOF chair suggesting the treasurer contact the auditor and "prod" him to respond the town attorney. The First Selectman sent a note back saying he agreed and had asked the town attorney to reach out again. Follow-ups in March, April, and early May all got the same response - nothing. Finally on May 29, after nearly six months, I sent another request for any information from the auditors or town attorney. The treasurer said she would check with the auditors. Almost immediately thereafter I received an email from the First Selectman saying that unless the BOF made a specific request from/to the auditor or I personally agreed to pay for additional accounting time no further action would be taken – of note, the First Selectman had by this time announced he would not to run again. Not willing to accept this, and with advice from a colleague, I submitted an

FOIA request for all transactions related to the insurance account. I received that information a few days later. It only took a few minutes to see what had happened; first, there was no surplus in the healthcare account, in fact, the data showed a $44,326 deficit from the budget including the weekly employee contributions; and second, that an additional $29,867 had been used to create a false surplus that appears to have been the bulk of the basis for the transfer to the non-lapsing account in September 2018 - as was suspected and agreed to by the town auditor in the December review. The deficit in the healthcare account could have legitimately been covered by the reserve account once the BOE budget had been fully spent but then there couldn't have been a surplus to transfer to the non-lapsing account as is allowed under CGS 10-248a as the BOE budget was then in deficit. The real questions here are: why didn't the auditors pick up on all this and at least make a note as to an irregularity? They certainly knew after the December audit review as evidenced by the video recording. Why didn't the BOF follow up in January, as agreed, saving the town hundreds if not thousands of dollars in auditor and legal expense? Why did the First Selectman try to bury the whole thing six months after agreeing that it needed to be investigated and resolved? Will the BOF take corrective action to claw back the $30,336 improperly, and in violation of state statute, transferred to the non-lapsing account? If you live in Woodstock, this is your money and how it is being managed. If you do not speak up it will not change and town officials will continue to dodge their responsibilities. Remember this for next year's budget. The opinions expressed are mine and may not reflect those of the Woodstock Board of Finance.

enough, but this little neighborhood of Putnam has already absorbed 9 million tons of ash. To ask the neighborhood to be burdened with another 17 million tons, the total quantity spread up to 300 feet deep over 128 acres, is simply too much. The state of Connecticut DEEP and legislature need to either find another location or get right to work on alternative disposal methods.'

Fey said the site is ill-suited for ash disposal and was a bad idea in the first

"If a survey of Connecticut had been done 25 years ago to find the most appropriate site for this monstrosity, West Putnam certainly wouldn't have topped the list. The Quinebaug River, flowing heart of the Last Green Valley, runs close by. The aquifer that feeds the river is barely 20 feet below the surface. The expansion will swallow up 7.23 acres of wetlands, burying them under hundreds of feet of ash. 1,476 feet of a stream and three vernal pools will be swallowed up," Fey said. "Yes, there are alternatives to this environment-destroying nonsense. In many European countries, where environmental standards are typically more stringent than ours, better recycling and household hazardous waste collection remove many of the toxic materials from the trash to begin with. That makes the ash waste cleaner, so bottom ash is often used as landscaping backfill or as concrete filler. The much more toxic fly ash, scrubbed from the incinerator chimneys in far less volume, is safely buried deep in salt mines.'

Fey said a better plan is needed and the quality of life for Putnam residents

"As long as Putnam agrees to be the dumping ground of Connecticut, our state politicians will have no incentive to come up with innovative ways to deal with this potentially toxic waste.

If they won't — or can't — do that, they need to find a better-suited place for the next 30 years of Connecticut's incinerator waste ash. That won't be easy, because even poor communities aren't lining up to take the stuff," Fey said. "But nevertheless, we have had enough. West Putnam has put up with two municipal landfills and this latest atrocity, the Wheelabrator ash landfill, over the past century. Our environment, quality of life and property values have suffered as a result. Now they want to turn yet another chunk of West Putnam into an eternal brownfield. Enough. We have done more than our part. Now it's time for the state and the CT DEEP to do theirs: find a better way or find another place.'

Fey said the fight would continue on to the Zoning Commission, the state Department of Energy and Environmental Protection and the Army Corps of Engineers, all which have jurisdiction over parts of the proj-

Risk tolerance refers to how well you can ride out fluctuations in the value of your investments while pursuing your long-term goals. An assessment of your risk tolerance considers, among other factors, your investment time horizon, your accumulation goal, and assets you may have outside of your plan.

If your time horizon is decades or you have a lot of assets outside of your plan, your investment risk tolerance might be higher than someone who is less than 10 vears from retirement or has little other

There are many tools available to help you evaluate your risk tolerance. These are typically questionnaires that ask about your personal financial situation and your opinions on various investing scenarios. After answering the questions, you will likely be assigned a risk-tolerance ranking, such as conservative, moderate, or aggressive. In addition, suggested asset allocations are often provided for consideration.

Is your asset allocation still on track? Once you have assessed your current situation related to life changes, retirement income needs, and your risk tolerance, a good next step is to revisit your asset

Is your investment mix still appropriate? Should you aim for a higher or lower percentage of aggressive investments, such as stocks?

For example, if you've determined that you will probably need to accumulate more than you originally estimated, you can strive for this new goal by increasing your contribution dollars, striving for a higher return, or both. To strive for a higher return, you might consider investing a larger portion of your money in stocks. Alternatively, if you determined that you do indeed have a hard time sleeping at night when the stock market is volatile, you may want to consider investing a larger portion of your portfolio in less risky asset classes, such as bonds and cash.

Regaining your balance: If you've concluded through your review that your original asset allocation is still appropriate for your needs, but your portfolio has strayed off track due to market performance, there are two ways to "rebalance" your portfolio.

The quickest way is to sell investments that are over-weighted and invest the proceeds in underweighted assets until you hit your target. It is best to meet with a professional financial advisor to discover a rebalancing strategy that is right for you. At Weiss, Hale & Zahansky, our unique and strategic Plan Well. Invest Well. Live Well.TM process is tailored to your unique goals, time horizon, and risk tolerance.

Revisit your plan rules and features: Finally, an annual review would not be complete without a fresh look at your employer-sponsored plan documents. Check those documents to make sure you fully understand how your plan works, and to see if there are any additional plan features that can help you better pursue your retirement savings

Also consider how much you're contributing in relation to plan maximums. Could you add a little more each pay period? If you increase your contribution by just a percentage point or two. you may not even notice the difference in your paycheck. But over time, that small amount can potentially add up through the magic of compounding.

A little maintenance goes a long way: Although it's generally not necessary to monitor your employer-sponsored retirement plan on a daily, or even monthly, basis, it's important to take a look at least once a year to account for any changes in your life. You'll also want to make sure you're taking full advantage of the opportunities offered with your plan, if they make sense for you. With a little annual maintenance and guidance from your financial advisor, you can help keep your plan on track. Planning ahead for retirement may put you ahead of the curve so you can Live Well.TM while supporting your financial and life goals. If you don't have a retirement plan, its never too late to start. Getting ahead can give you advantage so you can use the time and money you earned to travel, spend time with family, or take up a new hobby. The time is yours – just make sure you're prepared.

try out different flavors. Their frosting was always made with butter cream and not a shortening, such as Crisco.

Finally, on Oct. 1, 2018 the law was passed. This law enables home based food businesses to operate from their home kitchen. The new law addresses concerns on safety through license and inspection requirements and it enabled only food products that are less likely to spoil to qualify. Safeguards are in place in other areas as well.

"We had to submit our frosting to a laboratory and pay for it to be tested since we use real butter in our recipe," said McKinney. "We needed to determine the shelf life of the product. From there we needed to apply to the Town for permission. We also needed liability insurance and to take a food safety training course."

With the passage of the Cottage Law, the women were able to use McKinney's in-law apartment as a bakery, after having it inspected.

They make a perfect pair. They both love to bake while Coderre frosts and colors the cupcakes and McKinney enjoys the decorating process by using gum paste.

"We make cupcakes to order. We have had orders for holidays, baby showers, birthday parties and weddings. Our busiest time is Christmas and Valentine's day," Coderre said. They are fine with the part time scheduling since they still have other jobs. Much of their business comes from word of mouth. They will soon be celebrating their two-year anniversary. Their rainy day project turned into a successful business.

Say hello to revamped Quinebaug Valley

PUTNAM — Joe Asermelly knows the drill. The Quinebaug Valley Pride coach has to meld his co-op football team from students who hail from three separate schools — Putnam High, Tourtellotte Memorial, and Ellis Tech. Asermelly's challenge begins with introductions when training camp arrives every August.

"It takes us a week for our players to learn each other names," said Asermelly with a grin. "A lot of times they know each other's numbers before they know their names never mind to learn to play together. And so what you see going into my season is that this usually gels, and gels in time. And I think we'll have a successful season. I'm very confident we're going to put a winning season together this

After introductions are completed the work begins each afternoon — but only after players from Putnam High and Thompson's Tourtellotte Memorial travel to Ellis Tech's campus in Danielson for prac-

"We have an incredibly unique challenge I don't think the other schools can truly appreciate," said Asermelly, in his eighth season.

The Pride finished 5-5 last season and lost a slew of starters via graduation — including most of the offensive and defensive lines, along with threeyear starting quarterback Josh Dodd, receivers Jamie Talbot, Jeff Reed, Adrian Casiano,

BY CHARLIE LENTZ

WOODSTOCK — After playing an independent football schedule last season Woodstock Academy returns to the Eastern Connecticut Conference. The Centaurs will likely have an uphill battle in their quest for their first winning campaign since the school reinstituted varsity football in 2006.

"We've got a grind. We know what the ECC's about," said Woodstock coach Sean Saucier, in his third season. "We're trying to get there, be physically and mentally tough, and not fear an opponent. That's really what we're working on.

Two seasons ago in 2017 Woodstock played four ECC teams: Montville, Griswold, Plainfield and Killingly and lost by a combined total of 189-31. The last ECC victory for Woodstock came on on Sept. 27, 2014 against St. Bernard-Norwich Tech cooperative. Since it became a varsity program in 2006, the Centaurs have registered a 23-109 record. Over the last 13 seasons Woodstock has not had a winning season or achieved a .500 season, getting closest in both 2016 and 2017 with 4-6 to Windham. The ECC teams on the Centaurs' schedule this season include Ledyard, Windham, Plainfield, Stonington, Bacon Academy, and Waterford. Woodstock went 1-9 last season as an independent.

Last season in its only game against an ECC school, Woodstock fell 47-0

"It's certainly a grind schedule but we had some grind last year too — Amherst, Mass., is a real quality program, so was Capital Prep. We didn't necessarily shy away from games and I think that's going to help us now that we're back in the league," Saucier said.

Despite the rugged ECC schedule coach Saucier believes the Centaurs are capable of a successful season. Much of Woodstock's offensive fortunes will hinge on sophomore quarterback Ethan Davis, who has moved up from the "froshmore" team.

"He spent the summer in the weight room, grew a few inches, he's our guy. Just a great kid. He's coachable. He's learning and he's an athlete so he makes plays," said Saucier of Davis.

Junior running back Gavin Savoie and senior Ian Welz will carry much of the load in the backfield.

"Gavin and Ian Welz will split carries," Saucier said. "Our offensive line, we need to shore up a few things but (Welz and Savoie) are both dynamic perhaps Woodstock's speediest player and a scoring threat as either a runner or receiver.

Aidan Moran gives Woodstock a solid placekicker.

"He's probably the fastest guy on the field most of the time and he's just a great athlete," Saucier said.

Bedard and senior receiver Luis Miranda give Davis some reliable tar-

"We've got a lot of options out there," Saucier said. The Centaurs were shut out twice last season and failed to score over 10 points in three other contests. Saucier said they have to register more digits on the scoreboard this season. "I think we're going to have to put up points. I think we can be more balanced and not get one-dimensional. I think we can do that," Saucier said.

The Centaurs have a reliable placekicker in senior Aidan Morin, who showed a strong leg in the preseason.

"It's awesome. He came out for football this year for the first time ever, soccer player who wanted to try football," Saucier said.

On the defensive side of the football Woodstock will be led by senior middle linebacker Travis White. Among the other players counted on defensively will be senior J.J. Bain and Miranda at outside linebacker, and Bedard at cornerback.

Woodstock is scheduled to open the season on the road at Ledyard High on Friday, Sept. 13, with kickoff set for 6 p.m. at Bill Mignault Field. Despite the tough season that likely lies ahead, Saucier said the program is moving in the right direction.

"My first year here there were about 50 kids in the program, last year 60, this vear we're at 75. So there's just a lot of enthusiasm. We've got something it's nice to be part of. And so I think a lot more kids want to be part of it," Saucier said. "After coming off a 1-9 campaign it was a little surprising to see the numbers but I'm really happy about it."

New challenges for Killingly this season

BY CHARLIE LENTZ

DAYVILLE — Success has been a proverbial double-edged sword for the Killingly High football team. Killingly has made four straight trips to the semifinals of the Class M state playoffs winning the state title in 2017 while finishing with a perfect 13-0 record. But one result not listed among the team's 43 wins and six losses over the last four seasons is the impact that domination has had on traditional rivals in the Eastern Connecticut Conference who have opted to duck Killingly rather than risk more beat-downs.

Local rivals Plainfield High, Windham, and Griswold have opted off of Killingly's schedule. In order to replace those defectors — Killingly will travel far and wide, venturing across the border to Rhode Island for the season opener and making a 200-mile round trip to the southwestern corner of the state to face Brookfield High in late October — in between those opponents Killingly will also play host to schedule newcomers Capital Prep and Berlin. Coach Chad Neal looked forward to game planning against the newcomers.

"It does add some excitement just because it's like preparing for a state playoff game every week," Neal said. 'You've got to do your research. You've got to get out there and see these teams and make some phone calls and really work — nothing that we haven't done before — we're on the road a lot as coaches getting as much film as possible on these teams, it will continue. It's exciting in a sense to play these teams because you're not familiar with them so it adds to that excitement.

Although Neal said Killingly's student enrollment would have classified the team in Class S for the state playoffs this season, they are once again in Class M. They have also been reclassified to the Large Division of the ECC. Neal accepted those changes rather than face

"We were moved up in the ECC, we're in the Large Division. We're an S-size school numbers-wise but we got moved to M because of the success modifier, making the playoff semifinals the last few years," said Neal, in his 16th season. "When you're good you're going to get those tougher matchups. You're going to get moved up, I'd rather be in this situation than another.'

Yet he lamented the loss of those rivalry games — while acknowledging the situation is part of the price of win-

"It is disappointing in the sense that we always played those teams and never ducked anybody on our schedule. For the kids those rivalries are important — Killingly/Plainfield, Killingly/ Windham, Killingly/Griswold — you get a great crowd for those games. The kids get excited. They know each other and it is rivalry," Neal said. "If you go back over the last 10 years we're probably .500 against those teams. It goes in cycles." This season's cycle at Killingly High includes a cast of characters who will take over at many of the team's skill positions. Among the graduation losses were at quarterback (Luke Desaulnier), in the offensive backfield (Nsaiah Harriet and Derek Turner), in the receiving corps (Josh Montpelier, Tyler Cournoyer), at tight end (Quinn Gervasio), and at linebacker (Matt Phelan). Coach Neal said their replacements are battle-tested and will be

"I think these guys are up to it. I think we've got the guys with experience back there that can play," Neal said. "All of them have played in big spots for us. They're ready to play

Senior Jacob Nurse backed up Desaulnier the past two seasons and will take over at quarterback. Neal has confidence Nurse is ready to lead the

"We're very excited about Jacob. I felt like any other year where you don't have a Luke Desaulnier in front of you, (Nurse) is right there to start. Unfortunately, he had to wait his turn," Neal said. "He's a solid quarterback."

Among the running backs returning to the roster are senior tailback Jackson Lopes, senior fullback Jonathan Creswell and sophomore Jack Sharpe. Lopes has breakaway speed and will likely get plenty of carries. Sophomore Nate Keefe will take over at tight end. Senior receiver Josh Heaney is back. The key returnees on the offensive line are seniors Justin Maiato, Ben Morin, Johnathan Rodriguez and junior Jacob Galarza. Galarza and Rodriguez will also see double duty on the defensive Phelan was a captain and perhaps the heart and soul of Killingly's defense at linebacker last season and he will be tough to replace. Among those projected to help fill Phelan's cleats at linebacker are Sharpe, Cresswell, Krowe, along with juniors Chris Jax, Mason Smith and Cooper Morissette.

"We've got some guys there. The interior linebackers are going to have to step up for us," Neal said.

The secondary will likely include Heaney and junior Sam DeRonsle at the corners and Lopes returns at safety.

Last season Killingly reached the semifinals of the Class M state tourney and fell 52-7 to eventual state champion St. Joseph of Trumbull — the loss ended Killingly's season at 10-2. In 2017 Killingly finished with a perfect record of 13-0 and defeated Joel Barlow of Redding 41-14 in the state championship game. In 2016 Killingly went 10-2 and reached the semifinals, falling 49-28 to Hillhouse High of New Haven. Killingly went 10-2 in 2015 and fell to Brookfield 34-13 in the state semis. The coach said his key players are up to the task of continuing the winning tradition.

"I think they realize that the guys who came before them held them accountable and it's now their turn to hold their teammates accountable," Neal said. "Accountability means doing it the right way and finding ways to win the right way.'

Killingly will try to find its path to victory one game at a time. Killingly opens the season on the road at Cumberland, R.I., on Friday, Sept. 13.

'I don't like to look too far ahead. If we can play each week, and be 1-0 each week, and prepare each week for that opponent — and don't look ahead I think we can have another successful season," Neal said.

Another price of all those wins over the past four seasons is the target those 43 victories have placed on their collective backs. Payback will undoubtedly be sought by all those that they have vanguished in recent history. Perhaps success is a double-edged sword that's OK with coach Neal — there's plenty of fight left in Killingly.

'That's what we talk about a lot — is not being complacent," Neal said. "We can't be on the defensive. We've still got to be on the offensive and treat it like that. If you just sit back and be complacent they're going to take their shots. You've got to be hungry all the time."

Sam Williams — and featured halfback Matt Fitzpatrick.

The coach knows the offense will be a work in progress and has put the football in the hands of sophomore quarterback Mike Merrill.

We have all the confidence in the world in Mike Merrill. He brings good legs and a good poise to the table. He's got a good strong arm. He's got to work on his decision-making, like any young quarterback, Asermelly said. "But he's learning the offense. We're expanding the offense around him because he's a promising young talent."

Among the receivers expected to be Merrill's primary targets are junior D'Andre Therecka and senior Anthony

"D'Andre Therecka is a great slot receiver, got some of the best hands I've coached. And certainly Anthony Navedo has big-play ability written all over him," Asermelly said.

Sophomore running back Lee Schiavetti is expected to get plenty of carries.

"I think Lee Schiavetti's going to have a pretty big role, more of a true tailback style than what we've played in the past recently," Asermelly said. 'He's a sophomore, talented kid. So we're happy to coach these guys up, get the experience that they need, and ultimately see them become successful football players.'

The line, on both sides of the ball, will also be a work in progress. Only one starter, senior

Jay Brinson, returns to the pit. 'There's only way to get experience. You've got to go out there and make mistakes and learn from them," Asermelly

The coach has recruited a number of players who have never played football in high school and among the newcomers is senior Stephen Scrapchansky.

"So happy that Scrappy decided to play football his senior year. He's going to be a one-and-done senior but I see him as an X-factor. I see him as having really big potential in the return game as well," Asermelly said. "Winning field position is one of those undervalued things. I think we can win in the special teams area with good returns and good strong legs."

Another first-year recruit is senior Jack Merrill, the quarterback's older brother.

"He's never played. Right now he's getting outside linebacker/defensive end work," said Asermelly of Jack Merrill. 'So certainly he brings a lot of speed to the defense that we're happy about. Across the board, special teams, he's got a strong leg. And occasionally offensively he could develop into a nice receiver. And obviously with his younger brother being the quarterback we're hoping to develop that chemistry.'

Defensively, senior middle linebacker Colby Pedersen is expected to be one of the stalwarts.

"We need (Pedersen) just to fix some of the mistakes that our young players are making," Aseremelly said. The Pride open the season

Customer Review ***

I've had a lot of work done in my home over the years but have never met such caring people as those who work for Renewal by Andersen. Everyone acted professionally throughout the process and never missed anything on the installation. The supervisor kept me informed and was as nice to me as he was to his crew. I highly recommend Renewal by Andersen windows. The windows are the best that I've ever seen.
