THOMPSON — Throughout the year the Community Fire Department hosts a variety of fundraisers, not only to raise money for new equipment, but to bring the community together. Their most recent fundraiser was their Chicken BBQ, on Saturday, April 28.

The buffet included chicken, baked potatoes, green beans, pasta with sauce, salad and dessert, and tables were provided so people could enjoy their meal at the fire department, socializing with other Thompson residents and the fire department staff.

Captain of the Fire Police and Honorary Chief Rocky Navarro estimated that the event raised around $2,000. This money goes towards fire gear and equipment for the fire trucks. When you consider that dressing up a single firefighter in proper gear costs at least $3,000, it's easy to see why these fundraisers are very important to the department.

Firefighters and a group of women from the support team gathered at the fire station a night before the BBQ, washing the potatoes and preparing foods for the big event. On the day of the BBQ, the team arrived at 7 a.m., and didn't leave until 9 p.m. that night.

It's a lot of work, but to the firefighters it's all worth it.

According to Navarro, the fire department receives only $48,000 a year from the town, an amount that leaves them unable to operate optimally. It's the fundraisers that truly keep the department going, and Navarro is grateful for the support of the community.

"We see a lot of people at these dinners," he said. "And they're from all over, not just Thompson. The people from this area are great. Every time we have a fundraiser they come and support us."

The fire department is very important to the town's safety.

"We love seeing all the people," said Pat Johnson and Marge Lafontaine, part of the fire department's support team. "We love talking to everyone."

But it's also a department that's near and dear to Navarro's heart. He has been a part of the station since he was 16, over 55 years ago.

He started as junior firefighter and worked his way up the ranks, following in his father's footsteps.

"It's in my blood," he said. "My father used to be a firefighter. He would take me here on Sunday afternoons. I'd sit in the trucks and he'd show me around."

The Chicken BBQ has been going on for the past four years. And the fire department has continued thinking up new dinners for the community. In May there is a Boot Drive, then there's the Italian Spaghetti & Meatballs night on June 9. In August they do a roast beef sandwich dinner followed by meatball grinders in September.

PUTNAM — First Fridays are back. This year, Putnam’s First Friday downtown street festival events are themed “Milltown Mosaics,” celebrating the Quiet Corner’s diversity throughout its history. Friday, May 4 was an ode to “Polish-American Heritage,” featuring live music, fun food, a variety of vendors, and creative crafts. This First Friday event also introduced “First Fridays Fairy Fest,” which “welcomed the fairies back to Putnam” with fairy-themed vendors, desserts and face painting.

Troop 21 sets benefit

BY OLIVIA RICHMAN
NEWS STAFF WRITER

PUTNAM — Fishing. Swimming. Making s'mores over a campfire. If you want to help send a boy to summer camp, join Boy Scout Troop 21 at their annual BBQ fundraiser, May 19 from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Putnam.

An ode to how community-oriented Putnam can be, many of the tickets were purchased and then donated to Daily Bread recipients, TEEG members and nuns in town.

It's a great lesson for the Boy Scouts themselves, said Boys Scouts Leader John Ryan, who are always being taught that they are members of the community and should give back to the community that so often supports them.

Every dime raised at the Chicken BBQ will be going towards the Boy Scout's summer camp fund.

Each summer, Boy Scout Troop 21 heads to a camp in Plymouth, Conn., between July 22 and July 28. With over 25 merit badges available, it's a very big part of the Boy Scout experience.

But it's $415 per kid, said Ryan. This is a cost many families cannot afford.

"It's not easy to come by these days," Ryan said. "And we're trying to make sure the parents aren't stuck. We have a policy in our troop: We will not turn a kid away for financial reasons. We will not do it."

Living in tents surrounded by a lake, the boys participate in swimming programs, nature programs and wilderness programs. They fish, practice archery and even have a climbing wall.

"The idea is to get them away from home, get them out in nature," said Ryan. "We want them to see that there's more than just the streets here in Putnam."

Throughout the summer camp, the boys learn to be leaders, and learn how to work together.

But it's also a great way for the kids to have fun.

Ryan has been a Scout Leader for 32 years now, and he's still looking forward to summer camp. He hasn't missed it since 1980.

"I love seeing them have fun out in nature," he said. "A few years back, we even had a bear come through our campsite while we were all asleep! Kids these days just don't get outside enough. They don't get enough fresh air. They don't get enough exercise. There's not enough of that anymore."

For just $12 you get half a chicken, a whole baked potato, a roll, corn on the cob and coffee. Choose to dine in with friends and family, or get it to-go. For more information call Ryan at (860) 928-724 to reserve a spot.

contributed to a successful festival this year."

The KHS music department students may be passionate, but so are the instructors, including Carnaroli. Having played the sax and sang in choir himself in high school, he said he is "fortunate" to teach students about something he loves to do.

In fact, he is so dedicated to his teaching, Carnaroli even made a bet with the students: If the choirs won superior scores back to back he would shave his beard into mutton chops.

"I saw that as an opportunity to motivate some of my students," he said. "To my joy and excitement, both choirs received superior ratings, which was unbelievable. I wore those mutton chops at the park all day Saturday."

The four-day trip started on a Thursday, with the students rehearsing at their hotel. Friday was the competition, and then the rewards ceremony. Friday night they were also treated to a performance of Verdi's Requiem at Hershey Theater. Then on Saturday, they spent the whole day at Hershey Park, "just having fun, celebrating, riding roller coasters and taking a tour of the factory." Sunday was a travel day, heading back to Killingly.

But to the students' surprise, it didn't end there.

According to Carnaroli, there was a fire and police escort through town upon their arrival. There were parents lining the sidewalks, and residents waving and cheering from their homes.

"I'm glad we were able to share this experience with our parents and community," he said. "We are all so proud of our students. This experience was not only memorable for all, but we are confident that this group has firmly established a tradition of excellence to shape the character of our music department moving forward."

The KHS music department has scheduled a concert for Tuesday, May 22, at 7 p.m., in the school's auditorium. The "Spring Collage Concert" combines all of the high school ensembles department's talent show acts.

Local students honored at videography contest

DANIELSON — Quinebaug Middle College students including Matt Lavallee from Brooklyn; Brittany Williams from Pomfret, Maxwell Underwood from Brooklyn, Maxwell Dionne from Putnam and Josh Tirrell from Putnam have taken first place in the Viewer's Choice category at the fourth Annual Eastern Advanced Manufacturing Alliance (EAMA) Video Challenge and Film Festival.

Annually, high schools across eastern Connecticut partner with local manufacturers to produce a video that will educate students and communities about how manufacturing companies are changing through the use of technology, new skills and systems. Eleven high school teams participated in the 2018 challenge.

"It is important for students to be able to explore the options available to them after high school," said QMC Interim Principal Mary Kay Knox. "The manufacturing field is diverse and exciting, plus it offers students the opportunity to earn a lucrative salary doing hands-on work. We are very fortunate that QVCC has a fantastic manufacturing program that our students can access, and a strong connection to EAMA."

In collaboration with local manufacturer Siri Wire located in Danielson, 11 QMC students produced the winning film. Student participants were senior

"Working with Siri Wire, and in particular having the opportunity to talk to Maintenance Manager Tim Bollinger about his career, has made me aware that the local manufacturing community is very friendly and willing to mentor students who have an interest in manufacturing careers," said Careau. "A day in a manufacturing operation beats a day in the office."

"[This project] made me aware of the possibilities of owning a small manufacturing company," said Cordello. "This is something I might start working towards."

Honor Society grows at Tourtellotte Memorial

THOMPSON — Tourtellotte Memorial High School lauded the work of seven new inductees of the Thompson chapter of the National Honor Society on April 25, congratulating students for their work ethic, commitment, and talents. The students included Alyzeah Rocha, Channing Boss, Spencer Fulone, Jonathon Bickelhaupt, Daniel Langlois, Amanda Bogoslofski and Lauren Ramos. The group was inducted into the Honor Society at TMHS during an evening ceremony, followed by a reception at the school’s media center.

“Please don’t deprive the world of your gifts. We may be in the ‘quiet corner,’ but I beg of you - don’t be quiet. It might sound strange to hear that from a teacher or an assistant principal, but the world cannot afford for people of your caliber to be quiet and keep your gifts to yourselves,” said Assistant Principal Ian Polun, who served as the guest speaker of the ceremony. “Being in the National Honor Society isn’t just about having the qualities of scholarship, leadership, service, and character. It is about using those qualities to improve the lives of the people around you.”

This year’s TMHS chapter of the Honor Society now includes more than 20 students. The TMHS chapter of the Honor Society is a legacy that dates back to the 1920s, when the school first opened.

“You are the ones we will count on to tell our story and sing our song. Thank you again, and congratulations to the new inductees,” Polun said.

QVCC Foundation awards scholarships

DANIELSON — On May 2 at Quinebaug Valley Community College 90 local students, including 27 from area high schools, were awarded a total of $110,000 in scholarship money by the QVCC Foundation. Four newly funded scholarships were presented for the first time: Louise Brown Memorial Scholarship, Dr. Ellis A. & Shirley L. Hagstrom Memorial Scholarship, John J. Sarnowski Memorial Scholarship, and the Sommer Family Scholarship.

“Scholarship Night not only reflects the stellar achievements of QVCC students but also the amazing generosity of many donors who are helping to transform lives in Northeastern Connecticut,” said QVCC President Carlee Drummer.

Many donors were in attendance to present their scholarships, including 1978 graduate Dr. Lynn Pasquerella and her husband, John Kuchle, professor emeritus of biology, who traveled from Washington, DC, where she serves as president of the Association of American Colleges & Universities.

“I can’t imagine a better example to represent the best aspects of a community college education than the QVCC Foundation’s 28th annual Scholarship Night,” said Monique Wolanin, director of institutional advancement. “To be able to observe bright, hardworking students receive their scholarships from individuals and business who believe in the importance of education is very inspirational.”

In addition to the current QVCC students, a record number of high school students were scholarship recipients. Leading the way was Ellis Tech, with 11 recipients, followed by 6 from Killingly High School and 5 from Woodstock Academy. All will be enrolling at QVCC in the fall.

“I am very proud of our local students and so appreciative of the opportunity to work at QVCC ,” said Wolanin. “Were we experience daily the support our community has for our college.”

On good footing

Just put one foot in front of the other. Left. Right. Left. Keep your eyes on the ground especially when there are loose stones or sand. Pay very close attention to directions. There is no one to come and get you if you get lost. Don't turn an ankle or slip over the side. These were my thoughts for part of the thirty plus hours I spent hiking in the Luberon in Provence with seven other women. We covered more than 50 miles in eight days. It was chilly in the morning, hot in the afternoon and satisfying at the end of every day.

We hiked up the walls of steep valleys, crossed the tops of sharp ridges and wended our way back down twisty paths, that often dated to pre-Roman times. The landscape was lush, called garrigue, a mix of pine, evergreen oak, boxwood, broom and aromatic herbs that released their sent as we brushed past. The famous lavender fields were greening up and the truffle plantations, oak trees surrounded with electric fences, were nestled in thick, green grass. Limestone terraces in improbably high places are the only vestiges of long forgotten shepherds and farmers, who tromped along the same trails moving their animals and goods to markets down below. I felt a kinship with them, except they were certainly more sure footed.

After an hour or so hiking, we would fall into a comfortable pace and walk in near silence. Each person had her own style of head gear, hiking shoes and back pack. I carried two water bottles on the outside of my pack and one large, insulated bottle inside. It was always enough. A visit to a local podiatrist before I left cured me of persistent pain in my right foot, so I could let my mind drift. Freed from every connection to daily life, I could reflect on the past, recall with surprising clarity things I thought I had forgotten and then, as one of two people in charge of reading directions, pop back to the moment and discern what path to follow. The process was remarkably liberating.

We walked for several miles beside a high stone wall. It was the Plague Wall or Mur de la Peste, a 300-year-old construction project to protect the Provence of the Popes from disease. Built in 1721, it had been guarded around the clock by 800 men. A carving of a doctor wearing a mask shaped like a beak that was filled with herbs to ward off the plaque marked the boundaries. Seems people have always been using walls to try to protect themselves. The only time we met other hikers was at this point. Two French students were happy to share our lunch and chat a bit. A similar conversation could have happened three centuries before.

Part of the area we covered was made famous by the late author, Peter Mayle. Our group, half of whom are librarians, had reread Mayle's famous books about the trials of living in Provence as an ex-pat. Mayle was so successful that he had to move from Menerbes, as fans flocked to his home. Innkeepers in nearby Bonnieux credited him with revitalizing small towns in the area with stories of the romance of living abroad and reveling in fine wine and food. Occasionally a vintage Jaguar or a red convertible could be seen inching through the narrow roads with an older couple staring straight ahead at their destiny. The lure of the Provencal life was palpable on many levels.

The town of Gordes was the first place we read plaques commemorating the heroism of the resistance during WWII. Because the area is isolated and complex, it was a place to bedevil the German army. On a bright spring morning it was hard to imagine that only seven decades earlier the tranquil area had been the site of bloodshed and cruelty. In an ancient place human history is revealed as a cycle of good and bad played out over and over again.

A road trip on foot offers time to get to know one's fellow travelers. Everyone has a tale to tell about their parents, their husbands, their work and their dreams. It is a time to focus on putting one foot carefully in front of the other while enjoying the freedom and the satisfaction of doing something difficult and rewarding.

Support Woodsock farmland

To the editor:
In the best interest of Woodstock, please vote to support the use of Woodstock Farmland Preservation funds to protect the development rights to 129 actively-farmed acres at Valleyside Farm, located at the bottom of Child Hill Rd. As a resident of Woodstock, it is also in YOUR best interest.

You live in Woodstock and are familiar with the character of our town. Spend a minute thinking of places you have driven past where now you miss the view that used to be so enjoyable...before development happened. Similarly, drive past Valleyside and really look at the broad expanse and rise of the land that might be lost without protection. 129 acres! Note too, the activity, the condition of the farm. This farm is large enough for sustainability, very progressive in practices and shows ongoing signs of planning for a successful future.

This action is endorsed by The Woodstock

Conservation Commission, the Agriculture Commission, the Board of Selectmen and the Board of Finance. The State's Farmland money pays most; the Town's share for this purchase is $140,000, which is already available in the dedicated Farmland Acquisition Fund, built up over time by the town - so this referendum is not asking for money, it is asking for release of existing money that can only be used for projects such as this. The land remains as private property and pays taxes just as it does now.

Present Value for the project is much less than future costs and irreplaceable losses. With the protection of the farmland for agricultural use, we will forever "own" the view.

The referendum is Tuesday, May 15, noon to 8PM. No excuses, please. We don't want to be "A Day Late and An Acre Short."

WOODY DURST
WEST WOODSTOCK

Preserve Woodstock farmland

To the editor:
I encourage Woodstock residents to vote YES at the May 15th town referendum to protect 129 acres of important farmland on Child Hill Road owned by the Young family. Through the purchase of development rights, the fertile soil on this active dairy farm (87% is classified as prime soil or soil of state and local importance) will be protected against development in perpetuity. The land will remain privately owned and on the tax rolls. Preserving farmland keeps taxes down. On the average, for every $1 in tax revenue, farmland uses only 36 cents in services, whereas residential property requires $1.15 in town services. The Town's share of this purchase does not impact the budget; it is available in the Open-Space Fund and may only be used for projects like this.

I applaud the Board of Selectmen and the members of the Open Space Land Acquisition and Farmland Preservation Committee for continuing to work with local farmers to maintain Woodstock's agricultural traditions. Not only are their thoughtful efforts benefitting our agricultural viability, but they are also enhancing wildlife diversity by preventing fragmentation of important habitats.

My family has deep roots in Woodstock and I am blessed to have grown up in these rolling hills of forest and farmlands. I greatly appreciate the families like the Youngs who help keep it that way and the support of the Woodstock voters who recognize the importance of our farming heritage and our wildlife resources to future generations.

DALE MAY HAMPTON

For Woodstock farmland preservation

When you as a Woodstock voter go to the referendum on May 15th, you will have a wonderful opportunity to support local agriculture. Valleyside Farm on Child Hill Road is a 129-acre farm. It is actively used for farming, and has been for many generations. The Town can purchase the development rights of the land.

What does this mean? It means that the farm can continue to be used for farming, but that non-agricultural development cannot be done, even if the land is sold at a future time.

Why do it? Because protecting farmland in Woodstock and maintaining our town's rural character are ongoing efforts by the Town, involving the coordinated work of various municipal agencies. For example, Woodstock's Planning & Zoning Commission supports agriculture, keeping it a priority when it updated the Plan of Conservation and Development (a municipal planning document it oversees), promoting it of value when zoning and subdivision regulations are used to guide growth and development, and working collaboratively with the Agriculture Commission (in fact, the PZC was involved in the Commission's creation).

Will it cost money? Yes; $140,000. Woodstock has an Open Space Land Acquisition and Farmland Preservation account. The money is there. This is a good use of that money.

Will it increase my taxes? No. Extra town money is not needed. The money spent by the Town will leverage additional money from the state. The Department of Agriculture already has signed on with its support.

Will it cause tax revenue to decrease? No. The farm remains on the tax rolls, and any agricultural expansion or accessory use can be added to the tax rolls.

Will it cost the Town more money after the development rights are purchased? No. The Town will contribute to owning the development rights, but the land will remain owned by the Young family. As landowners, they will continue to maintain the land, not the Town. In fact, the Town will save money because farmland does not require many municipal services. Land developed for other purposes tends to require more municipal services than it generates in tax revenue. So, preserving farmland makes economic sense.

Who is doing this? They Young family deserves a big thank you. They recognized the opportunity and the Town has worked with them.

When to do it? Now. Your vote of "yes" will move the process forward so that the development rights can be purchased. Fifteen other local farms have had their development rights purchased, and they remain active farmland. As time goes on, farms face pressure to sell land. Once the land is sold and developed, its farmland potential is gone.

As Chair of Woodstock's Planning And Zoning Commission, I had the opportunity with my fellow Commissioners to review officially the Valleyside Farm proposal. The Commission gave a favorable recommendation to the Town to support this effort, voting unanimously of all Commissioners present.

On May 15th, please join in me in voting "yes" to support local agriculture.

JEFFREY A. GORDON, M.D.
WOODSTOCK

Save Woodstock's farmland

a development would.

From what I understand, Valleyside farm has been in the same Woodstock family for eleven generations. It is part of the unique fabric of the wonderful, still rural farming community that makes Woodstock so special.

There will be a referendum on this proposal on May 15th from noon to 8 p.m. Please attend and vote for this wise Woodstock opportunity.

She prayed

Five rambunctious children, a below average income, a husband who worked the swing shift, a small house, harsh winters and the wild decade of the 1960s did not deter her. She was determined to raise her kids up in the way they should go. She succeeded in helping them all survive their school years without the complications of drugs, alcohol or unwanted pregnancies. At all five attended Christian Colleges and became involved in ministry.

BEYOND THE PEWS
JOHN HANSON

of them adored her. I was one of those children, so I know her secret. In a quiet cemetery in Eastern Montana is a grave-stone bearing the name of my mother and the words "She Prayed." We put it there over thirty years ago. It was the best way to summarize her life. She prayed and then she governed her children with the help of the One to whom she prayed. Our family was not perfect. Her children were not always obedient. Her resources were limited, and she died before her 56th birthday. But her life is still impacting many people, because she prayed.

The Bible gives many examples of powerful women who understood their power to change the world by praying, and then walking through the doors God opened for them. Queen Esther, Hannah, and Mary, the mother of Jesus are just a few of the most notable examples. These women changed history, but not because they were angry or because they set out to be heroic. They lived in societies that didn't value women as much as they should have, but that did not keep them from changing their world. Their secret was not that they took on the world in order to gain their rights, but that they prayed and then let God use them to make things right in the world.

Most readers never met my mother, but you have known someone like her who understood the power of prayer. When the two forces of motherhood and prayer are combined, the results are incredible and outlast the mothers who allow for that combination. I think my mother understood that prayer is not powerful because of the people who pray; prayer is powerful because it is a primary means through which God has chosen to operate in our world. People who pray according to God's will, loose His will on earth.

The good news is that even people who were never blessed with a praying mother, can become a praying mother, or a praying friend, or a praying aunt... God can change your world through your prayers. This Mothers' Day would be a great day to tell some woman what her prayers have meant to you. It would also be a great day for mothers to let God make them strong and impact their family for decades to come, by doing the most powerful thing they can do—pray. People will most likely notice, but if they don't, heaven will no doubt record: "she prayed."

Danielson funeral home on National Register of Historic Places

If you’ve been near Danielson recently, perhaps you’ve seen the work that is being done on the roof of the Gagnon-Costello funeral home. The building is of unusual architecture for this area, which is one reason why I feel called to write about it. First of all it is one of the few brick residences in Killingly. Secondly, according to the historic survey done by Bruce Clouette and Matthew Roth in 1981 “it is a well-detailed example of the Second Empire style (of architecture with) the mansard roof with dormers, the bracketed cornice, and the predominant round-arched window shape”.

The building was constructed by contractor and mason George J. Clark in 1870. Articles in the Windham County Transcript for that year speak of the progress. “We notice that loads of bricks are gathering near the lot of Mr. George Clark, corner of Reynolds and Broad St., which indicates that a residence may be built there this season.” (WCT 4/14/1870). The July 21st Transcript wrote of the commencement of the dwelling. “New Houses — Mr. George Clark is preparing the cellar for his new brick house...It will be a fine structure, if completed according to the plans made by Mr. A. Truesdell.” “Mr. George J. Clark’s new brick house, on the corner of Broad and Reynolds Street is admired by everybody. The French roof is now being put on and the whole building has a solid and elegant look”. (WCT 11/17/1870).

His home was just one of a number of masonry projects that Clark was undertaking during this same year. “A fine brick walk has recently been put down in front of the stores of Messrs. P. Johnson and S. A. Ballou.

Mr. George J. Clark did the work. Some prefer the brick walk to the concrete”. (WCT 7/28/1870).

“The New School House-- Progress is being made toward the erection of the school house. Messrs. John Kelley and J. Wilcox, of this town, have contracted to grade the lot and will commence work immediately. The foundation for the tower, which it was necessary to lay before the frost went deep into the ground, is now being laid. Mr. George J. Clark is overseeing the work on the foundation alluded to.” (WCT 12/22/1870). (This school would have been the combined Killingly Grammar School/ High School, which once stood on High Street. For those of you who are new to the area, that is how School Street in Danielson acquired its name. I remember the long stairs that once went from that street to the upper level behind the present courthouse.)

The Gagnon-Costello Funeral Home is listed on the National Register of Historic Places as part of the Broad Street-Davis Park Historic District, which was accepted in December 1998. “The Danielson Broad Street-Davis Park Historic District detailed and well-preserved examples of Victorian architecture and for its historical associations with institutions and people important in the development of Danielson.” (Application for formation of the district). The district includes 75 additional structures on Broad, Academy, Reynolds, Spring, and Main Street and also includes Davis Park with its historic bandstand.

The legal notice accompanying the Danielson Main Street Historic District stated the following: “The National Register of Historic Places is the official list of historic places recognized by the Federal Government as worthy of preservation for their significance in American history, architecture, archaeology, engineering and culture... Listing does not mean that the Federal Government wants to acquire the property” or place restrictions on the use of colors, materials, etc. on the property. In some instances federal money may be available for renovations, etc.

Research shows that the earliest inclusion on the National Register from Killingly was in 1978 when the Daniels Village Archaeological site, is significant for the architectural qualities of its buildings, many of which are richly which is located in the northern portion of Killingly on the Five Mile River, was placed on the Register. The Lower Elliotville Mill (Peepthead Mill) was listed on the National Register in April 1982. Prior to the Broad Street District, the Dayville Historic District was established in August 1988, and both the former Killingly High School on Broad Street and Danielson Main Street (from approximately Water to Spring Street) were listed on the National Register in 1992. Old Westfield Cemetery was included in 2010; Temple Beth Israel (Preservation Society), in 2013. The Quinebaug Mill-Quebec Square National Register District (1985) is considered to be in both Brooklyn and Killingly. In addition, the Cady-Copp Cottage on Putnam Heights (formerly Killingly Hill) was placed on the National Register in September 2001.

The internet listing from Wikipedia gave 85 buildings and sites in Windham County. If you do not live in Killingly and are interested in seeing which buildings in your town have been included on the National Register, that site provides a quick summary.

Killingly Historical Society member Glenna Bruno knows I love music so brought a songbook of old time hits entitled Songs of the Gilded Age to the Center for me to browse through. I loved the fact that many contained explanations of the origins of the songs. Do you remember Meet Me in St. Louis, Louis? The words were written by Andrew B. Sterling. “In New York, in a Broadway café, Sterling heard an order for a St. Louis Beer called out to the bartender, whose name was Louis—‘Another Louis, Louis!’ The rhythm of the words intrigued him and gave him and gave him the idea for a timely song for the Louisiana Purchase Exposition in St. Louis in 1904. This song, sung by the millions who attended the fair, was adopted as the official song of the famous exposition. It had a great revival in 1944 when it was featured as the title song in the motion picture starring Judy Garland.” The music for the song was composed by Kerry Mills.

Did you know that the original “flower of my heart” was not sweet Adeline? The music to “‘Sweet Adeline’ (You’re the Flower of My Heart, Sweet Adeline) was composed in 1896 by Harry Armstrong, then eighteen and working in a jewelry store in Boston; the words were written later by Richard H. Gerard, a postal clerk in New York. It was originally called Down Home in Old New England and the line ‘You’re the flower of my heart’ ended with the name ‘Sweet Rosalie,’ which proved quite unsingable. A poster announcing Adelina Patti’s farewell tour suggested the change of the name to Adeline. The song, thus changed, was then introduced by the Quaker City Four at Hammerstein’s Victoria Theatre with tremendous success. It is still a favorite song of all harmonizers.”

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Honoring David Hosmer

To the editor:

To the Woodstock community: All too often in our current political environment the work of our citizen volunteers becomes lost in the events of the day. I am writing today to call attention to the efforts of one such citizen, David Hosmer. David has worked tirelessly on Woodstock’s Board of Finance for 20 years, many years as its chairman. It is undoubtedly due of David Hosmer’s attention to detail and knowledge of our budgets that Woodstock is in the fine fiscal health it is today.

Please join us in honoring David Hosmer’s commitment to the community and his contributions

Putnam cleanup needs to expand

To the editor:

Every year Putnam Beautification Day takes place, and, every year I see the same result. Putnam proper gets a cleanup, and nowhere else. The outlying roads are left littered by the slobs who don’t care what our homes and roads look like so calling it a cleanup or beautification is one huge stretch, if you ask me,

I have lived here over 40 years and every year is the same. Cleanup is selective and unfair to rural people. You can go on any local road here and see the road trash dumped there with little effort to pick up.

I suppose the justification would be a lack of to Woodstock both on the Board of Finance and the Bungay fire department by joining us at Sweet Evalina’s on May 23rd from 5 to 7 pm. Show your appreciation of Dave’s longstanding and selfless efforts by stopping by for even for a few minutes to thank and wish him well in the next phase of his life. The event is jointly sponsored by Woodstock’s Republican and Democratic town committees.

Submitted by David Fortin and Glen Lessig on behalf of the Republican and Democratic Town committees.

Reader disappointed with state vote on Electoral College

To the editor:

I was disappointed to hear that Connecticut’s Senate voted to commit the state’s electoral votes to whichever presidential candidate wins the nation’s popular vote. In the last election, Hillary Clinton won the majority of votes in less than 500 of the country’s 3,007 counties. This confirms the brilliance of our founding fathers when they established our representative republic and the Electoral College. They didn’t want a few densely-populated urban centers to cancel out the wishes of voters in smaller cities, towns and rural areas in the rest of the nation.

Connecticut’s electoral votes should be committed based on the wishes of the state’s voters – not the voters of Los Angeles and Nassau Counties. The flawed policies of our legislature will continue until citizens remove from office all of the Democrat and Republican politicians who supported this bill that ignores the wisdom of the Founding Fathers and silences the voices of Connecticut voters.

JAMES F. LEONARD

(Editor’s note: process would not go into effect unless a majority of states in Electoral College vote for it. Only 10 ten states have voted for this.)

Another reader for farm preservation

To the editor:

Woodstock Voters: Mark your calendars to vote – Tuesday, May 15 beginning at noon - to keep Child Hill Road looking like the historic byway that it has been since our town was founded in 1686. We have the opportunity to do this by making sure those beautiful farmland acres at Valleyside Farm will never turn into that other kind of a view...of a subdivision.

The State of Connecticut wants farmland to be preserved from development, and to remain in agricultural use, just like we in Woodstock do. The State knows that farms are where our food comes from! Yes, we need housing for our families, but a working farm, like this one, successful and award-winning, is not the place. So the State has built a fund to help preserve farmland use; their funds will cover about 2/3 of what it will take on Child Hill Road. This PDR program encourages the Purchase of the Development Rights; the land stays on the tax rolls just as it is now, ownership of the land remains with the farmer, and agriculture uses continue just as they do now, but houses, “the final crop” do not “grow” there, ever.

The Woodstock money needed to achieve this preservation goal comes from a fund the Town has built up over a period of years for exclusive use when an opportunity like this presents itself (named, not surprisingly The Farmland Preservation Fund). From it, $140,000 will be allocated.

The opportunity to keep this land in agricultural use has been endorsed by the Planning and Zoning Commission, on which I serve, through determination that it is in conformity with the Woodstock Plan Of Conservation (retention of what we have and value) as well as Development (which directs new projects to non-agricultural land): the POCD.

We who live in Woodstock want our town to retain its rural, agricultural look and functions. Vote on May 15 to keep these 129 farm acres in active farming use; your vote works to keep Woodstock looking like the rural community we have all selected as the best place in Connecticut to live and to raise our families.

Although I am a member of the Woodstock Planning and Zoning Commission, I am representing my personal views here and not those of the Commission.

Tax-advantaged ways to save for college

In the college savings game, all strategies aren’t created equal. The best savings vehicles offer special tax advantages if the funds are used to pay for college. Tax-advantaged strategies are important because over time, you can potentially accumulate more money with a tax-advantaged investment compared to a taxable investment. Ideally, though, you’ll want to choose a savings vehicle that offers you the best combination of tax advantages, financial aid benefits, and flexibility, while meeting your overall investment needs.

Planning Well includes considering the detailed next steps that fits your financial needs and goals. It is important to know the advantages of each savings vehicle.

There are two types of 529 plans--college savings plans and prepaid tuition plans. Though each is governed under Section 529 of the Internal Revenue Code (hence the name “529” plans), college savings plans, and prepaid tuition plans are very different college savings vehicles.

529 plans: college savings plans
A 529 college savings plan is a tax-advantaged college savings vehicle that lets you save money for college in an individual investment account. Some plans let you enroll directly, while others require that you go through a financial professional.

The details of college savings plans vary by state, but the basics are the same. You’ll need to fill out an application, where you’ll name a beneficiary and select one or more of the plan’s investment portfolios to which your contributions will be allocated. Also, you’ll typically be required to make an initial minimum contribution, which must be in cash.

529 college savings plans offer a unique combination of features that no other college savings vehicle can match. The federal tax advantages is tax deferred growth on contributions and completely tax-free if the money is used to pay the beneficiary’s qualified education expenses.

Another benefit are high contribution limits. Most savings

Starting Your Own Business

Those starting new businesses should know that the simplest form of business is a “sole proprietorship,” which is not a legal entity and simply refers to a person who owns a business and is personally responsible for its debts. While this popular business form is easy and inexpensive to set up, the owner of a sole proprietorship remains personally liable for all the business’s debts. A “corporation” is separate from its owner, which means that, with some exceptions, its shareholders are shielded from personal liability. The “limited liability company” (LLC), which also protects its members from personal liability, is not required to adhere to corporate formalities such as annual meetings, recording meeting minutes, electing directors, and issuing stock certificates.

HINT: While a corporation is subject to double taxation (profits are taxed both at the corporate level and when distributed to shareholders), a limited liability company (LLC) enjoys pass-through taxation, which is similar to a partnership or sole proprietorship.

Starting a business always begins with an idea. But entrepreneurs must be savvy about devising business plans, securing small business loans, and making any number of critical moves that can make or break an organization. If you have legal questions about starting a business and would like assistance, please call

Sole Proprietorship or Limited Liability Company, which structure should you choose

As a business owner, you may be operating a Sole Proprietorship or Limited Liability Company. The choice of legal business structure is something important to understand and, in some cases, should be revisited and even changed.

The factors to consider with regard to business entity structure are multi-leveled. At the time of your retirement, is your goal to sell to a third party outside the company, or sell to your employees, or to gift to family, or liquidate? What type of shield do you need to set up against personal liability? Which structure results in the optimal tax planning?

Among the many business structures to choose are the: (a) Sole Proprietorship; (b) C Corporation; (c) S Corporation; (d) Partnership; (e) Limited Partnership; (f) Limited Liability Partnership; and (g) Limited Liability Company. The liability protection differs; while the Sole Proprietorship offers no liability protection, forming a Corporation or Limited Liability Company provides liability protection to the shareholders or members.

JURIST'S JOURNAL

KATHLEEN M. CERRONE
BORNER, SMITH, ALEMAN, HERZOG & CERRONE LLC

In addition to the formation of the entity, the organizers choose how the entity will be taxed. C Corporations are distinct from all other entity forms in that they have their own entity-level tax, in addition to a tax on the dividends paid to shareholders. This results in the dreaded "double tax."

Some C Corporations can avoid this tax scenario by using year-end bonuses that lower the corporate revenue that would have been taxed as corporate income to zero. The double tax is also avoided when the organizers of a company choose to form entities that are taxed as "flow-through" entities, meaning that the revenue of the company flows through to the individual members or shareholders, who pay income tax on their share of the revenue at each person's individual tax rate. S Corporation flow their revenue through for taxation in that way.

The Internal Revenue Service allows taxpayers to determine the taxation of their entities. Organizers can use Form 8832 to choose the structure of taxation. If not overridden by Form 8832, the taxation either matches the entity, or, in some cases does not. For example, an LLC that fails to elect a taxation structure is taxed as a partnership and single-owner LLCs are taxed as "disregarded entities," meaning that all profits and losses are taxed to the individual member.

Given the choices available from the Internal Revenue Service, for most people, the LLC is the single best entity choice because it offers liability protection, allows for the election to be taxed as any other entity, is the most flexible as far as ownership choices, and can be a "disregarded entity" if a single owner wishes to be taxed directly.

Induction of Arc Board Members for 2018-2019

WOODSTOCK — The Arc Quinebaug Valley celebrated an evening of gratitude at their Annual Meeting and Awards Night at The Mansion at Bald Hill Conference Center on May 4. In attendance were over 160 family members, friends, community supporters, Arc Board Members, staff and people who receive services in their many programs that support individuals with intellectual, developmental and other life-affecting disabilities.

The theme of the event represented innovation. Funding cutbacks in the human services realm continue, however, The Arc makes it a priority to be innovative in achieving goals.

“We do the best we can with what we have. When we don’t have what we need and change must occur, we still do the best we can. We think of new ideas, get creative, and provide meaningful programs and services for the people we support,” said Arc Executive Director Susan Desrosiers.

For over 66 years, The Arc has been a life-line for individuals with life-affecting disabilities and their families.

“Our success at The Arc is not possible without the hard work and efforts from the staff, as well as the support of our amazing Board of Directors, community businesses and individuals.” Said Desrosiers.

Receiving awards that evening included Kerry Laconto for the Spirit Award, Chastity Walsh for the Dove Award for her advocacy efforts and Jennifer Ricci for a Special Appreciation Award for all her hard work at The Arc. Judy Daviau received The Norma Cassettari Award for her commitment and dedication to the mission of The Arc. Achievement Awards were given to Kristina Maioriello, Nicksa Diaz, Adam Jordan, Patty Parker and David Isa. Crystal Goddette was presented the Everett O’Keefe Award. Although not present at the event, Philip Godin received the Ronald D. Johnson Memorial Award and Shawn Smith received the Self Advocacy Award. From the community, The Community Cafe was awarded the Community Partnership Award for their partnership with The Arc. Employer Awards were given to The Shire Café and Tunk City Revival Art Studio for providing opportunities for individuals with disabilities to participate in a work environment. Tom Fiorentino, President of The Arc Connecticut, was not present at the event, but received a Special Recognition Award for his strong leadership and advocacy work in promoting the rights of individuals with intellectual and developmental disabilities. Earl Rosebrooks was presented with the Gardner Johnson Memorial Award for being a strong advocate for The Arc and a continuous major sponsor of The Arc’s Golf Tournament.

Day Kimball honors volunteers

PUTNAM — Day Kimball Healthcare recognized its more than 130 adult volunteers, who donated more than 20,000 hours this past year, with an appreciation luncheon on April 13. The luncheon was held at the Connecticut National Golf Club in Putnam where volunteers enjoyed food, raffles and laughter after receiving thanks from DKH Volunteer Services Coordinator Janet Johnson, DKH VP of Human Resources Jeffrey Corrigan, DKH Chief Medical Officer and VP, Medical Affairs and Quality Dr. John Graham, DKH Chief Nursing Officer and VP, Patient Services John O’Keefe, DKH Executive Director of DKH at Home Renee Smith, and DKH President & CEO Anne Diamond.

“Year after year, I am struck by what an amazing gift our volunteers give every day by choosing to share their precious time helping others,” said Janet Johnson, volunteer services coordinator. “And their time is just part of their many gifts. Our volunteers also give their skills, empathy, kindness and energy, and so much more. I am so grateful from the bottom of my heart for all that they give and everything they do for our staff and families.”

“Volunteering is a very special calling, a special gift that one gives of themselves to patients, staff and our community. They make a huge difference in the way DKH provides care to our patients and their families, and they will never know how deeply they have touched the lives of our patients. We are so grateful for their service,” said DKH President and CEO Anne Diamond.

During the program, 81 volunteers were awarded pins for significant amounts of hours given, ranging from 100 hours to 17,000 hours. The 17,000 hour achievement was celebrated by Roger Franklin of Putnam, who volunteers regularly in the DKH volunteer department as well as with DKH at Home’s Hospice and Palliative Care department, and serves as chair of the DKH Friends of Hospice Committee.

Eight volunteers received awards for dedicating years of service to Day Kimball of 10 years or more over the years. Award recipients were Elysia Bates, Yvette Brissette, Rosanne Gonyer, Susan Langman, and Paula West, each who celebrated 10 years of service; David Carter who celebrated 15 years of service; Carolynn Mann who celebrated 20 years of service; and Rilla Anderson who celebrated 25 years of service.

Day Kimball Healthcare adult volunteers can serve in 27 different departments throughout the entire organization assisting in many ways, including escorting patients and visitors; running errands, delivering newspapers, cards, flowers, and medications; providing clerical assistance in offices, and more. Hospice volunteers offer respite to the patient’s caregiver; provide transportation for patients and family members; run errands or grocery shop; plant gardens; offer massage, reflexology or healing touch; take photos; make decorative pins to commemorate loved ones; and fundraise for special needs of the patients. ## Alyssa Arends winner of the First Fridays poster contest

PUTNAM — The First Fridays Committee and the Putnam Arts Council named Woodstock Academy sophomore Alyssa Arends winner of the First Fridays poster contest. Arends interpretation of the 2018 theme, Mill Town Mosaics: The Quiet Corner’s Cultural Heritage will serve as the cover art for the First Fridays program.

This season’s poster contest challenged participants to celebrate the six chosen cultures that make up the mosaic of northeast Connecticut: Polish-American, African-American, French Canadian-American, Greek-American, Native-American and Scandinavian-American. Over a dozen artists participated, including adults and students.

“It was a difficult choice. We had so many beautiful works of art, using different mediums and capturing the essence of the theme in various ways. But there can only be one winner and Alyssa’s piece was extremely thoughtful and creative, and captured the theme perfectly,” said Putnam Arts Council president, Karen Osbrey.

Arends, from Brooklyn, is a tutor at Woodstock Academy’s writing center and she is very excited to take more writing electives in her junior year. She also enjoys art classes, having already participated in Music Tech 1 and Art 1. Recreationally, she swims for the Hale YMCA swim team, and when she’s not at practices or maintaining her High Honors status, she loves to read, write, and sketch.

Her drawing will grace the cover of the go-to-guide for the 2018 season. The program includes a brief history of the annual event, vendor information, volunteer opportunities, as well as an overview of what to expect for the upcoming season.

KILLINGLY CENTRAL SCHOOL CELEBRATES EARTH DAY

DAYVILLE — Killingly Central School was the recipient of a $3,000 grant funded through the Captain Planet Foundation and celebrated Earth Day on April 27. As part of the grant, employees helped to construct five planting boxes and work with our students to fill them with soil and to plant flowers. This grant will provide many learning opportunities for our students to experience first-hand caring for a vegetable and flower garden. The ultimate goal is to teach children about ecology and conserving our natural resources in a fun, hands-on, enthusiastic manner. As part of the grant, a cooking cart stocked with kitchen equipment and utensils were supplied as well as the five planting cedar boxes, soil, seeds, and fertilizer. Additionally, lesson plans that are aligned with the Next Generation Science Standards were also provided. These supplies and lessons will support students with experiencing a hands-on, practical learning opportunity.

KCS’s garden project has been in the making for the last few years. Mrs. Rucki had previously constructed a protective wired fence for the perimeter of the area. The initial garden was supported by the URI Cooperative Extension, and recognizes KCS’s garden as part of their school garden initiative.

locals, it’s not surprising how charitable Thompson residents are when it comes to helping their neighbors.

“If I can help somebody, I’m more than willing to help them. And everyone here feels the same way,” Auger stated.

Working up to a few days a week, the thrift store volunteers are all very passionate about helping people, which is what St. Joseph’s Church “is all about.”

But it’s not only about helping others. For many volunteers, it’s also about getting the chance to socialize with different people from the community.

“I love the people,” added Auger. “You meet people who come weekly. We chit chat. That’s really what it’s all about.”

St. Joseph’s Thrift Store is committed to bettering lives in the community. And it’s apparent how much the people involved truly care. The store is decorated for each season, and during the holidays, certain holiday-related items are put on display. It’s that kind

Quiet Corner Film Festival at Killingly High

KILLINGLY — The Quiet Corner Film Festival will screen 10 to 15 selected short films of eight minutes or less, made by Connecticut high-schoolers at Killingly High School on Thursday, May 17. Doors open at 6 p.m. and the event is free to the public.

On the big night, guests will have the chance to walk the red carpet before the screenings, and get their photo taken by the paparazzi in front of the selected films’ posters and the giant QCFF logo wall. During intermission, refreshments and snacks will be served, and guests will have the opportunity to visit the booths and mingle with filmmakers and QCFF alumni.

After the screenings, everyone submits their ballot for the audience favorite award and returns to the auditorium for the award ceremony. Prizes and scholarships will be awarded to the winners.

Last year, 2017’s Best Picture was awarded to Thayne Hutchins from Woodstock Academy. Thayne’s film “To Read Without Eyes” is a comedy about two students who make an interesting discovery about reading. All of the past selections are available to watch again on the website here: 2017, 2016, 2014.

The Quiet Corner Film Festival has given Connecticut high-school filmmakers an opportunity to showcase their work on the big screen, as well as the chance to be awarded prizes like equipment and scholarships since 2014. ## Flexer leads passage of bill for popular vote

DANIELSON — State Senator Mae Flexer (D-Danielson) led Senate Passage on May 5 of a bill that will ensure every vote for the President of the United State counts. In a 21-14 vote, the Senate Democrats stood with more than 70 percent of Connecticut residents who agree the president should be elected by the national popular vote and led final passage of a bill that allows Connecticut to join the National Popular Vote Interstate Compact. The bill received bipartisan support with two Republican Senators voting in favor.

“Every person in the United States has the right to an equal voice in our how country is governed, and enacting a national popular vote ensures that right is upheld,” said Flexer, Co-Chair of the Government Administration and Elections Committee. “Electing your president should be no different than electing your state senator: the person with the most votes wins. The Electoral College is antiquated and nonsensical and has changed the course of history by altering the results of elections. The Electoral College was specifically designed so that there would be a disconnect between the votes of the people and the election of our president. It is long past time for the voices of Connecticut and all of our nation’s voters to be protected with a national popular vote.”

Under the National Popular Vote Interstate Compact, once it goes into effect the states therein choose to allocate their electoral votes to the candidate who garners the most popular votes in all 50 states and the District of Columbia.

“The Electoral College is an outdated relic of the past,” said Senate President Pro Tempore Martin M. Looney (D-New Haven). “The direct election of the president by popular vote is now critical to the essence of our democracy. I fully reject the notion that the citizens of America, in the year 2018, cannot be trusted to directly elect their president as they do for every other office.”

“The winner of the national popular vote should win the presidency,” said Senate Majority Leader Bob Duff (D-Norwalk). “By joining the National Popular Vote Interstate Compact, we can move our nation one step closer to truly honoring the will of the voters.”

The compact takes effect only when enough states sign on to guarantee that the national popular vote winner wins the presidency. This means that states with a combined total of 270 electoral votes—a majority of the Electoral College—must join the compact for it to take effect.

To date, 10 states and the District of Columbia possessing 165 electoral votes have approved the interstate compact, which represent 61 percent of the 270 electoral votes necessary to activate it. Connecticut’s neighboring states—New York, Massachusetts, and Rhode Island—have passed this bill.

The 11 jurisdictions which have already enacted this legislation are physically, politically and geographically diverse: they include four small jurisdictions, three medium-size states, and four large states.

The state-by-state, winner-take-all method of awarding electoral votes is not set out in the United States Constitution. It was not debated at the Constitutional Convention, nor was it discussed in the Federalist Papers. The Founding Fathers did not design the system of allocating electoral votes currently used in most states. Rather, the Founding Fathers established the Electoral College and explicitly left allocation of those electoral votes to state legislators in Article II of the U.S. Constitution without any instructions on how states should use it. The winner-take-all rule was used by only three states in the nation’s first presidential election in 1789 (all of which abandoned it by 1800).

A study of the evolution of the Electoral College notes that, during the 1787 Constitutional Convention, the delegates said they “distrusted the passions of the people,” and particularly distrusted the ability of average voters to choose a president in a national election. The result was the creation of the Electoral College, a system that at that time gave each state a number of electors based on the size of its Congressional delegation. Because there were no political parties back then, it was assumed that electors would use their best judgment to select a president. The concept was that the electors would filter the “passions of the people” and provide a check on the public in case they made a poor choice for president.

Flexer celebrates gender pay equity bill

DANIELSON — Democrats in the State Senate today led final legislative passage (35-1) of HB 5591, An Act Concerning Pay Equity. Under this bill, employers would be prohibited from asking prospective employees about their previous wages, as evidence shows women disproportionately carry lower salaries from one job to the next.

“Pay inequity is a very serious problem across our country and in our state. We’ve heard a lot in recent years about the disparity in pay with women earning on average 80 cents for every dollar that men earn,” State Senator Mae Flexer (D-Danielson) said. “But I also want to emphasize how it’s significantly worse for black women and Latina women, who earn 59 cents and 48 cents respectively for every dollar that a white man earns. That means they have to work twice as many hours to earn the same as a man. These statistics are completely unacceptable, and I’m so glad that Connecticut is catching up with Massachusetts by passing this equal pay bill. Also, having a law like this is important to Connecticut’s economy because it’s the kind of policy that keeps young people in our state by showing them we are a place that puts fairness at the forefront. This bill is going to go a long way toward not just addressing pay inequity, but also making Connecticut a place where people want to live a family.”

On average, unfair pay costs each working woman in Connecticut more than $10,000 every year. According to the National Women’s Law Center, women in Connecticut – on average – have to work until age 70 to earn what a man makes by the time he is 60.

The Senate Democrats originally introduced the legislation as a cornerstone of their Democratic Values agenda in order to help employees who take leave for pregnancy and other parental-related leave, is pleased the bill passed. The bill, which previously passed the House 139-9, now heads to Governor Dannel P. Malloy’s desk for his signature or veto.

Centaurs clinch tourney berth with win over Putnam

BY CHARLIE LENTZ
VILLAGER EDITOR

WOODSTOCK — Woodstock Academy’s baseball team had reason to celebrate after defeating Putnam High 10-3 on Monday at Bentley Athletic Complex. The victory gave the Centaurs their eighth win, qualifying them for the Class L state tournament.

“The kids are happy. One of our goals this year was to make states,” said coach Brian Murphy. “Today they made it.”

Coach Brian Murphy was pleased that the Centaurs lifted their record to 8-7, but said it would not affect the way the team approaches the final five games of the regular season.

“We’re the type of team, we’ve got to work hard. We’ve still got a couple things we’ve got to clean up,” Murphy said. “We’re getting better each week. It’s the mental part of the game now hopefully we can get a little better at. We’re going after every game. We want to win every game. And when the states come, they come. This is a process of building a program here at Woodstock and I think we’re on our way.”

Woodstock junior Luke Mathewson picked up the win in relief on May 7, going four and two-thirds innings against Putnam, striking out seven, walking none, allowing one hit and no runs. Ben Holden started and went two innings, striking out one, walking two, giving up two hits and three runs, two earned. Woodstock trailed 2-0 going into the bottom of the second inning but rallied for four runs in the frame.

“You know what? The kids have been bouncing back all year. The Killingly game (a 6-5 win on May 2), Waterford we were behind (a 4-2 win on May 4), these kids aren’t giving up and that’s what I tell them. Win every inning. Never give up in a game. Give me everything you have. And that’s what they’re doing right now,” Murphy said.

The Centaurs got a lift from sophomore center fielder Jake Black, who was called up from the junior varsity. Against Putnam, Black went 2-for-3 with a double and drove in three runs.

“Actually I got called up a couple games ago. I was surprised I started that game,” Black said. “I think it’s definitely a lot harder hitting these guys than jayvee, so I think you go up with the mindset to just try and put the ball in play and good things will happen with you.”

Woodstock's Jake Black is out at second base as Putnam's Kobie Bates applies the tag Monday in Woodstock.

Black also is one of the top players for Woodstock’s hockey team and his talent seems to carry over from the ice to the baseball diamond. Murphy took a chance by calling him up to the varsity.

“We moved some things around. You’re always looking for the right formula. It’s just like the major leagues sometimes, they bring kids up. Look at the Yankees now, and who they brought up, and it’s working for them. We do the same thing. I’ve got to see these kids because that’s our future,” Murphy said. “Jake’s playing center field for us now. We called him up last week. He’s had a couple big games. He’s a competitor. We’re trying to get him to protect that outer half of the plate and today he did. That hand-eye coordination is great. He’s got it.”

Kobie Bates took the loss, going two and one-third innings, striking out one, walking five, allowing four hits and six runs, five earned. The loss dropped Putnam’s record to 5-7. Woodstock is next scheduled to travel to St. Bernard on Saturday, May 12.

The victory over Putnam on May 7 was Woodstock’s third win over teams from the Quiet Corner in a span of 10 days. The Centaurs topped Ellis Tech 11-1 on April 28 and defeated Killingly High 6-5 on May 2. Coach Murphy said the local battles are good for the game.

“A lot of these guys know each other. There’s a competitive rivalry. I’m just glad we got all three,” Murphy said. “You see the parents here. You see other baseball fans. I’ve got friends coming to the game. I think that’s great for baseball. It’s all about the kids. It’s about a competitive game. And both teams played very hard.”

Putnam Clippers look to clean up their act

BY CHARLIE LENTZ

Putnam High's Cole Davagian pitches against Killingly High last Saturday, May 5, at Murphy Park.

PUTNAM — Two key errors opened the door to six unearned runs in Putnam High’s 12-1 loss to Killingly High last Saturday. The Clippers have to clean up their fielding if they want to keep the door open for a trip to the Class S state tournament.

“We just have to minimize our errors,” said coach Chris Hehir. “The pitching rotation is key.”

Cole Davagian took the loss for Putnam, going four and two-thirds innings, walking four, allowing seven hits and was charged six earned runs. Kobie Bates pitched one-third of an inning, striking out one and allowing one hit. Putnam had been hurt by the lack of innings from senior Mitchel Barylski, who missed two and half weeks of pitching duty with some tightness in his right forearm.

“(Barylski) is slowly getting back into it but I’ve been relying on Cole Davagian today, he hasn’t pitched that much. Kobie Bates came in today, he hasn’t pitched at all this year,” Hehir said. “But we’ve just got to minimize errors. Cole was doing great on the mound. A couple key errors really killed us. That’s our season so far. We have a young outfield.”

And yet Hehir understood his youthful underclassmen have been thrown to the fire. Among the freshmen who started against Killingly on May 5 were Colby Livingston, Nate Barylski, John Carita, and Jack Lomax.

“Honestly it’s a lot of pressure for these freshmen to be playing at the varsity level. They’re playing at a higher level and they’ve been doing great. We’ve just got to keep on pounding away and do some fielding and minimize their errors,” Hehir said.

The five-inning loss to Killingly dropped Putnam’s record to 5-6. The Clippers need wins. But coach Hehir said they have to start playing better defense. Hitting hasn’t been a problem for the Clippers. Putnam rapped out six hits in the five-inning loss to Killingly, and several sharp liners off Clippers’ bats found the gloves of Redmen.

“We’re putting the bat on the ball. But fielding, communication is a key. We’ve a lost couple games so far this year just due to errors,” Hehir said. “We’ve got to stop making errors in the outfield.”

Scott Davagian doubled home Putnam’s lone run in the third inning. John Carita went 2-for-2 for the Clippers. Barylski was behind the plate at catcher against Killingly high but coach Hehir expected him back on the mound.

“We’re just giving him some more time off,” Hehir said. “He’s expected back at Dodd Stadium against Parish Hill.”

Putnam is next scheduled to travel to Bacon Academy on Tuesday, May 14.

“We’re playing a bunch of good teams down the road,” Hehir said. “If we just keep on putting the bat on the ball and minimize errors we’ll be OK.”

Tourtellotte Tigers in rebuilding phase

Tourtellotte freshman Lindsey Houghton pitches against Wheeler on May 3.

BY CHARLIE LENTZ
VILLAGER EDITOR

THOMPSON — The good thing about winning only three of its first 12 games for Tourtellotte Memorial is likely not having to worry about qualifying for the Class S state tournament. The Tigers can concentrate on improving their chances for next season. Coach Dawn Menoche is experimenting with her lineup with an eye toward the future. “Made a lot of switches today,” said Menoche after a 16-5 win over Wheeler on May 3. “Making a lot of changes.” Freshman pitcher Lindsey Houghton and sophomore catcher Steph Daly formed a battery for the first time this season in Tourtellotte’s win over Wheeler on May 3 at Beausoleil Field. It was Daly’s first start behind the plate and she is the third catcher Menoche has used this season, along with Kerrigan LaCasse and Jolie Wilber. “Steph Daly decided yesterday in practice that she wanted to try catching,” Menoche said. “So I put her behind the plate and she did a great job in practice. Steph was a surprise because she showed no interest in catching before yesterday.” Daly passed her test against Wheeler with flying colors and will likely stick as the Tigers backstop. But Daly had been the Tigers third baseman, so Menoche put senior Michaela Godzik at third base. And Wilber moved from catcher to right field. “Daly’s going to be our catcher for the rest of the season,” Menoche said. “With her behind the plate it gives the pitchers a lot more confidence too, because we’ve been suffering with the passed ball this year.” Houghton is one of three pitchers that form the the core of Tourtellotte’s rotation, along with Godzik and junior Amanda Bogoslofski. “I don’t really have a starting pitcher,” Menoche said. “I have three.” Houghton scattered 10 hits over seven innings in the complete-game win against Wheeler, struck out four, walked one, and allowed three earned runs. Houghton didn’t expect to get much time in the circle in her freshman season. “I thought I was going to be benched for a lot of the season, maybe play the outfield for a couple of innings,” Houghton said. But she’s adapted with a confident outlook when she gets the call to start. “Just stay calm and focus with your team,” Houghton said. “And make sure they’re confident in me and I’m confident in them.” Coach Menoche said Houghton pitched a few games for the Tigers at the beginning of the season but then missed a week and has to be eased back into the rotation. “(Houghton) is accurate. She’s consistent,” Menoche said. “She doesn’t have the speed. She doesn’t have a lot of stuff. She’s got a pretty good changeup. So I’m just getting her more experience, it’s a different pace in high school. And she has to field the ball too. We’ll work on it. I’m glad to have her for the next three years.” Houghton and Daly will likely give the Tigers some consistency over the coming years. “We’ll have them together for a couple more years, which is nice,” Menoche said. Bogoslofski has spent most of the season in centerfielder but she’s also increased her pitching load of late. Coach Menoche said she’s a capable hurler as well. “(Bogoslofski) didn’t really want to pitch much this year and then a couple games ago she said ‘Coach, I’ll give it another shot.’ In a pinch she’s pitched a couple games for us so far,” Menoche said. Against Wheeler, Bogoslofski went 5-for-5 at the plate with one RBI and scored five runs. Amber Dickson finished 2-for-5 with an RBI and two runs. Brianna Loffredo went 2-for-4 with three RBI and scored three runs. Houghton went 2-for-3 with two RBIs and scored two runs. Kendra Perez took the loss for Wheeler, going three innings, allowing nine runs on eight hits, striking out six and walking one. Perez went 3-for-4 at the plate. Julia Ahern finished 2-for-4 with a double and one RBI for the Lions (2-8). Tourtellotte is next scheduled to play host to Norwich Tech for a doubleheader on Saturday, May 12, with the first game scheduled to begin at 11 a.m. at Beausoleil Field. Don’t be surprised if Menoche fills out a different lineup card on Saturday. “I haven’t had the same lineup in two games in a row so far this year,” Menoche said. “I’ve been trying to mix things up and I think today gave them a lot of confidence in the positions they were in. And the moves that we made really will build on the rest of the season.”

Killingly needs wins for tourney berth

BY CHARLIE LENTZ
VILLAGER EDITOR

PUTNAM — Time is running out on the Killingly Redmen but they bought themselves some hope with a 12-1 victory over Putnam High last Saturday at Murphy Park. Through 15 games Killingly’s record was 4-11. Killingly needed to win four of its last five games to guarantee a berth in the Class M state tournament. Although the Redmen might qualify with less than eight wins if not enough teams reach that plateau to fill out the 32-team tourney bracket. But Killingly stayed in the tourney hunt with the win over the Clippers on May 5. Coach Todd Meadows will take the victory but was more pleased that it was an error-free game for the Redmen. “We need every win. Just to play good baseball for a change is nice to see,” Meadows said. “I’m not worried about the wins right now. We’ve just got to play better baseball. And today we put together a full effort, offensively, defensively, and pitching was good.” Ethan Preston picked up the complete-game victory, striking out one, walking none, and scattering six hits. “He threw strikes. He attacked the zone. And we played defense for him,” said Meadows of Preston’s performance. Killingly’s infield defense handled 11 chances flawlessly.

“If we can make the routine plays we will be a good team. And if we don’t, the team that’s been out there, that’s what we’ve been showing,” Meadows said. “You have to play fundamental baseball and if you can do that you’ll be competitive.” Hunter Yaworski socked a two-run homer for Killingly. Brett Dexter went 2-for-2 with a walk. T.J. Chitmanotham knocked a two-run single. Dylan George doubled home two runs for the Redmen. “We were a little bit more aggressive at the plate, I think a little bit more confidence,” Meadows said. “We maximized our efforts and went out there and hit the ball hard and that’s what we did. I think this is going to give us a lot of confidence. It’s been a while since we won a game. Just to get the ‘W’, and not go home with our heads down, it’s a positive. So it’s a positive day and hopefully the kids take that to next week because it’s very important.” Killingly is next scheduled to play host to Waterford on Tuesday, May 15. “I still believe that we can make it to the tournament and compete at that level,” Meadows said.

Centaurs keep moving forward as tourney nears

Naomi Rivard scores for the Centaurs in the fifth inning as Waterford catcher Alyson Sanford takes the throw at home on May 4 in Woodstock.

BY CHARLIE LENTZ
VILLAGER EDITOR

WOODSTOCK — The softball competition in the Eastern Connecticut Conference is a gauntlet. Woodstock Academy ran into just such a test in an 8-1 loss to Waterford on May 4 at Bentley Athletic Complex. But survival in the ECC should harden the Centaurs when the Class L state tournament arrives.

“The one lucky thing is, if you can make it through the ECC and get into states, you have a good chance on any given day of making a run because of the teams we play,” Gerum said. “The ECC does very well when we play the other top teams in the state. I like that we’re in the mix. If you can make the state tournament you always have a chance on being in games because of our schedule.”

The schedule will be a challenge down the homestretch.

“The back half of our schedule is actually our toughest piece. We’re playing a lot of top teams,” Gerum said. “We picked up some shoreline teams that are at the top of that league. We play some of the top teams in our league over the next couple of weeks. The schedule doesn’t get any easier.”

Rachel Miller picked up the win for the Lancers against Woodstock, going six innings, striking out one, walking none, scattering six hits and giving up one run. Lili Stoddard went one inning, striking out one and allowing no hits and no runs. The win lifted Waterford’s record to 7-6. Madison Nott went 3-for-4 with a triple and four RBIs. Cassidy Susi finished 3-for-3. The Lancers are typical of the high level of competition in the ECC.

“We have so many good teams in this league with great coaching,” Gerum said. “Waterford is a great example today. We have a gauntlet of a schedule. People don’t have any idea of what we have to see day in and day out. There was a time when we couldn’t even stay on the field with these teams. So being in games and being able to compete with them is huge for us.”

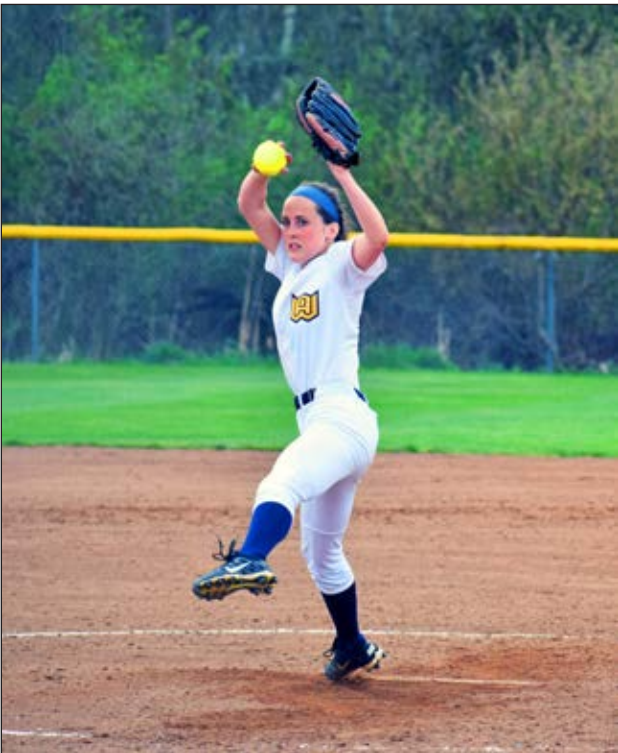

Coach Gerum hopes to fine tune his team as the regular season winds down.

“For us really it’s about taking what we’re doing well, we’re making routine plays, we’re putting the ball in play. Now we’ve got to hit the ball a little better, a little harder,” Gerum said. “We’ve got to get back on getting the hands on top of the ball and driving it hard like Waterford did to us today.”

And the coach looked for improvement in the field as well.

“Defensively we’re making all the routine plays but we’re still not stealing outs. We had a chance today where we could have snagged some balls and made some plays at home and this could have been a different game. And we’re not coming up with those plays,” Gerum said. “We had some tough fly balls, you’d hope some of your great outfielders would get an out on a couple and they didn’t get them.

Woodstock’s Hannah Wotton pitches against Waterford last Friday.

Earlier in the season we threw some girls out at home. Today we were a little off on any play we had to the plate. We’ve got to sharpen up. We’ve got to take where we are, which is very good, we’re competing with all these teams, and we’ve just got to sharpen up.”

The loss to Waterford likely eliminated the Centaurs from any chance of winning the ECC Medium division title.

“After losing this game we’re probably out of the hunt for the division title. We would have had to win out just to have a chance,” Gerum said. “Now let’s just keep trying to get better (for the state tourney), let’s keep playing this tough schedule. See if we can knock some off and prepare ourselves for the tournament and relax and have fun.”

Hannah Wotton took the loss against Waterford, going six innings, walking one, allowing 12 hits and eight runs. Megan Preston pitched one inning for the Centaurs, striking out one, walking one, allowing one hit and no runs. Hannah Burgess singled home the Centaurs lone run in the fifth inning. Heather Converse went 2-for-2 with a walk for Woodstock.

The loss dropped Woodstock’s record to 7-5. The Centaurs are next scheduled to travel to Valley Regional on Friday, May 11.

“We want to grab a couple more wins. We want to play in the state tournament. I think playing against these teams is going to better prepare us for making a little run in one of the tournaments,” Gerum said. “You always want to be better at the end of the year than you were at the beginning. That’s the ultimate goal. We just keep moving forward.”

Preston is Centaurs Swiss Army knife

BY CHARLIE LENTZ
VILLAGER EDITOR

WOODSTOCK — Eric Preston is usually stationed behind the plate catching for Woodstock Academy, unless he’s called to duty at shortstop, as he was against Killingly High on May 2. But if the situation demands he’s another key component of the Centaurs.

“He’s my bullpen,” said coach Brian Murphy. “I told him about relief. I told him we had some tired arms. We’ve got some sore arms. He said ‘Coach, give me the ball.’”

Preston moved from shortstop to the pitcher’s mound in the top of the sixth inning when Woodstock trailed Killingly 5-3.

He held the Redmen hitless and struck out four over the final two innings and the Centaurs rallied with a pair of runs in the bottom of the sixth — then added one run in the bottom of the seventh for a 6-5 victory over Killingly at Bentley Athletic Complex.

“Just throw strikes and hope for the best,” said Preston of his mindset.

Killingly took the lead with a five-run fourth inning with the help of Tyler Cournoyer’s two-run single and T.J. Chitmanotham’s run-scoring single. But Woodstock rallied.

“I’m extremely proud of them. We were down 5-0. We lost a tough ballgame yesterday (a 7-6 loss to New London on May 1). They could have buried their heads but they didn’t. They fought,” Murphy said. “I’ll tell you what, no matter where we go this year, that made my year. They showed heart and they showed determination.”

Preston got the win in two innings of work, walking two and fanning four. Luke Mathewson started and went five innings for Woodstock, striking out nine, allowing eight hits, walking two and giving up five runs, four earned. Preston entered in the top of the sixth with Woodstock trailing 5-3.

“I’m very proud how the team handled being down 5-0,” Preston said. “We battled back and it paid off in the end.”

Trailing 5-3 in the bottom of the sixth, Woodstock tallied two runs with the help of a run-scoring sacrifice fly from Peter Spada and an RBI-grounder from Nathan John to tie at 5-5. The Centaurs pushed across the winning run in the bottom of the seventh when Cam Lotter walked, moved to second base on a sacrifice bunt from Zack Ellsworth, and scored on an error.

“Hey, the baseball gods were on our side today. Killingly has a nice team,” Murphy said. “We needed a win. That one there we really needed.”

For Woodstock: Preston went 2-for-3 at the plate with a walk. Spada finished 1-for-1 with a sacrifice fly and two RBIs. Doug Newton went 1-for-1 with two walks, one RBI, and scored two runs.

Killingly reliever Dylan George took the loss, going one and one-third innings, walking two, allowing no hits and one unearned run. Tyler Cournoyer went 3-for-4 with two RBIs for Killingly. T.J. Chitmanotham and Evan Zanaukas each went 2-for-4 for the Redmen. The loss dropped Killingly’s record to 3-9. Killingly is next scheduled to play host to Stonington on Tuesday, May 15.

The win lifted Woodstock’s record to 6-7. Eight wins are needed to guarantee a berth in the state tournament.

“We’ve got to take them one at a time,” Murphy said. “We look too far ahead, then things don’t happen. So we’ll go one game at a time. We’ll battle each inning and hopefully we’ll get there.”

Woodstock is next scheduled to travel to St. Bernard for a 10 a.m. start on Saturday, May 12 — the Centaurs will bring their bullpen along.

“We turned things around from where we started,” Preston said. “I think we’ll be better from here on out. I think we should be fine.”

Putnam pitching stretched thin for stretch drive

BY CHARLIE LENTZ
VILLAGER EDITOR

WOODSTOCK — Putnam High coach Chris Hehir spends much of his time figuring out how to stretch his pitching rotation on a baseball roster that includes just a dozen players. The situation has been complicated by the midseason stretch when senior Mitchel Barylski missed over two weeks with a sore arm. The wheels turn when Hehir ponders how to employ his pitchers.

“The numbers are going through my head,” Hehir said. “I’m just trying to strategize who’s going to pitch for who. I’ve still got Parish Hill. I’ve got Tourtellotte coming up. The pitching count and the pitching staff. That’s my bread and butter. I’ve got to keep a close eye on it, don’t want to overpitch somebody.”

The effects of worn down staff were evident in a 10-3 loss to Woodstock Academy

Monday at Bentley Athletic Complex.

“Twelve players and five freshmen,” Hehir said. “It’s never easy. We’ll just button down tomorrow and move on for the next game.”

Junior Kobie Bates spends most of his time at second base but got his first start against Woodstock. Bates lasted two and one-third innings, struck out one, walked five, gave up four hits and six runs, five earned. Woodstock nicked Bates for four runs in the bottom of the second to turn a 2-0 deficit into a 4-2 lead.

“It was his first time starting. He threw an inning for me last week. I just strategized that he could get me through a couple innings, we just fell apart in that (second inning),” Hehir said.

Senior Scott Davagian started the game at short-stop but was summoned to the mound in the third inning and finished up, going three and two-thirds innings, striking out two, walking none, allowing six hits and four runs, two earned. Hehir has to be prudent when he uses Davagian, along with Barylski, he is one of his top starters.

“Scott (Davagian) got 60 pitches today so he’s good for two days rest,” Hehir said. “I’ve got him for Thursday (against Tourtellotte).”

The win lifted Woodstock’s record to 8-7. The loss dropped Putnam’s record to 5-7. Eight wins are needed to guarantee a berth in the Class S state tournament. The Clippers are next scheduled to play at Bacon Academy on Monday, May 14. Hehir will continue to try and stretch his pitching staff.

“My ultimate goal now is just to win eight and make states.

Killingly Redmen fall to Centaurs

BY CHARLIE LENTZ
VILLAGER EDITOR

WOODSTOCK — Killingly High had too many what-ifs rather than key base hits. After building a 5-0 lead against Woodstock Academy on May 2 — the Redmen’s bats went silent — going hitless over the final two innings as the Centaurs rallied for a 6-5 win.

The Redmen couldn’t answer after Woodstock rallied for three runs in the fourth inning and then tied it at 5-5 with two runs in the bottom of the sixth inning.

“We started thinking. We started getting nervous because the score started getting closer,” said Killingly coach Todd Meadows said. “Until we can get over that, and learn just to relax and stay within ourselves, we’ll win. But we beat ourselves all the time. It’s just frustrating.”

The Redmen were hoping to keep the momentum going from a 4-3 win over Ellis Tech two days earlier on April 30, when Jacob Tarryk’s two-run single in the seventh inning gave Killingly a comeback win.

“We can’t put two together. We can’t get on a winning streak,” Meadows said. “We’re just not consistent enough hitting, defensively, pitching, everything, base running.”

Against Woodstock, Killingly couldn’t keep the momentum from its five-run fourth-inning rally, fueled by Tyler Cournoyer’s two-run double and T.J. Chitmanotham’s RBI-single.

“We just sat on it,” Meadows said. “We didn’t finish. We had opportunities to score. We just didn’t do it.”

Cournoyer was a bright spot for Killingly at the plate, he went 3-for-4 with two RBIs for Killingly. Chitmanotham and Evan Zanauskas each went 2-for-4 for the Redmen.

Reliever Dylan George took the loss, going one and one-third innings, walking two, allowing no hits and one unearned run. Jacob Nurse started and went three-plus innings for Killingly, striking out three, walking three, allowing four hits and three runs. Cole Lavigne went two-thirds of an inning, striking out one, allowing three hits and one run. Austin Dionne pitched one and one-third innings, walking two, allowing two runs on two hits. Coach Meadows has been juggling his young hurlers and limiting their pitch counts.

“We’ve got three sophomores that are starters. We try to take care of them. We’re not going to let them go too much,” Meadows said.

Woodstock’s Eric Preston got the win in two innings of work, walking two, striking out four, and allowing no runs. Luke Mathewson started and went five innings for Woodstock, striking out nine, allowing eight hits, walking two and giving up five runs, four earned. Preston went 2-for-3 with a walk. Peter Spada finished 1-for-1 with a sacrifice fly and two RBIs. Doug Newton went 1-for-1 with two walks, one RBI, and scored two runs for the Centaurs. The win lifted Woodstock’s record to 6-7. Woodstock is next scheduled to travel to St. Bernard for a 10 a.m. start on Saturday, May 12.

Killingly is next scheduled to play host to Stonington on Tuesday, May 15. The Redmen needed five wins over their last eight games to guarantee a berth in the state tournament.

“Every at-bat counts now,” said Killingly coach Todd Meadows. “It’s like tournament time for us. We’ve got to win five out of eight games. Are we capable of doing it? Definitely. Will we do it? I’m not sure. It just depends on some of our older kids. We need some more leadership.”

Luva Mead Hoar, 96

Luva Mead Hoar, 96 of Brimfield, Massachusetts, passed away on April 13, 2018, after a brief illness. Luva was born in Quinebaug, Connecticut on October 16, 1921, the daughter of Earle Benjamin Mead and Cecelia Ellen Gaboury. Her father was a farmer, millwright, and carpenter. Growing up in the depths of the Great Depression of the 1930s in the Quinebaug section of Thompson, CT, even as a child Luva was determined “to make an impact” with her life. She decided a teacher would be the way to do it. With a loan of $50 from a family member, she was able to enter Willimantic State Teachers’ College (now Eastern Connecticut State University), Class of 1942, and begin a long career as an educator and public servant.

Luva began her career in Middle Haddam, CT, teaching fifth and sixth graders in a two room schoolhouse. She taught there for four years, before taking a short hiatus to marry Marc Baker and have two children, Jonathan and Pamela. During that time she also taught in an adult literacy program. After five of six years she returned to teaching, first in East Hampton and later in Portland, where she began 22 years of teaching children in second grade and kindergarten. She also worked for some time as a speech therapist in the Portland School System. Her first husband passed away in 1969. Luva married Col. John L. Hoar in 1974 and retired from teaching in 1977.

During those years Luva also led and active civic life, which she continued after her retirement from teaching. In Portland, she was involved with the Democratic Town Committee, the Historical Society, the Portland Land Trust, and the Long-Range Capital Planning Commission. She served on the Library Building Committee for the new Portland Public Library, served as Chairman of the Library Board and helped with the Friends of the Library.

In 1994 Luva was named Middlesex County Distinguished Citizen of the Year.

Her public service extended outside of Portland as well. From 1955 to 1980, she served on the Board of Directors of the Eastern Connecticut State University Alumni Association, including two terms as president, from 1966 to 1969 and 1973 to 1975. She had been a member of the Board of Directors of the ECSU Foundation since 1975 and served as president from 1981 to 1983. She received the Distinguished Alumni Award in 1984, the ECSU Presidential Medal for Service to the University in 1989 and the ECSU Foundation Distinguished Donor Award in 2009. At the state-wide level, Luva devoted a great deal of her time and energy to the whole Connecticut State University System. On its Board of Trustees from 1975 to 1995, she served on many of its committees and eight search committees for campus presidents and executive officers. Luva also was a member of the Standing Advisory Committee of the Board of Governors for Higher Education. In 1985, the Hartford Courant recognized Luva as the driving force behind volunteer efforts to help more of Connecticut’s students afford a college education. The next year, she established the Luva Mead Hoar Endowed Scholarship at Eastern; it is presented to a junior or senior who has demonstrated commitment to the community as well as to the University.

In 2001, the University recognized and thanked Luva for her years of service and unstinting support of Eastern and education in Connecticut by naming one of the then newest residence halls on campus Luva Mead Hall.

Luva’s service in all of these areas arose from her belief in the ordinary citizen as the foundation of society. She worked to maximize the opportunities for individual citizens to learn, to act, and to participate fully in a public life and society in which she never lost faith. Her legacy is those many students, readers, and citizens who benefited from her commitment to public service and her belief in the “common man.” She would want you all to know that in her last days, her confidence in you and in the world you help to build remained unshaken.

Luva was predeceased by husband Marc Baker (1969), her son Jonathan (2002), and husband General John L. Hoar, as well as seven brothers and sisters. She is survived by her sisters Phyllis Tarullo and Cynthia Champion, her daughter Pamela Engberg and son-in-law Jim Engberg, her stepchildren Jackie and husband Joseph Lovett, Paul and wife Kathy Hoar, Elizabeth Doherty, Margaret and husband Mike Eck, Ann Adams, and Marilyn and husband Keith Emery, as well as many nieces, nephews and grandchildren.

In lieu of flowerets, memorial donations may be directed to the Luva Mead Hoar Endowed Scholarship at Eastern (see <http://www.easternct.edu> or call Joe McGann at (860) 465-4514) with the checks made out to the ECSU Foundation, or to the Portland Public Library (<http://portlandlibraryct.org/GettingInvolved/Donations.aspx> or (860) 342-6770).

Calling hours will be from 10 to 11 AM on Saturday, May 19, 2018 at the Portland Memorial Funeral Home, 231 Main Street, Portland, CT, followed by interment at Center cemetery, 55 fairway Drive, Portland, Ct. Guests are invited to a reception at the clubhouse at Quarry Ridge Golf Course, 9 Rose Hill Road, Portland, following the burial.

The 411 on Mother's Day flowers

Mother's Day is an annual holiday that honors motherhood and provides an opportunity for men, women and children to show their mothers how much they appreciate them.

The tradition of Mother's Day in the United States dates back more than a century to 1908, when West Virginia native Anna Jarvis held a memorial service to honor her mother, who had passed away three years earlier, and all mothers in Grafton, West Virginia. Mother's Day would ultimately become a national holiday in the United States in 1914, thanks in large part to Jarvis' campaigning. As Jarvis, who never married and never had children of her own, grew old, she criticized Mother's Day as overly commercial, even trying to have it removed from the calendar. Those efforts failed, and Mother's Day remains popular now, more than 100 years after the idea for it was conceived.

While Mother's Day traditions have changed since Jarvis first proposed the holiday, many people feel it's customary to give mothers gifts on Mother's Day, when moms take the day off from chores and relax with their families. Flowers make for popular Mother's Day gifts, and well-wishers who want to give the special women in their lives flowers this year can consider a host of varieties.

CARNATIONS

Carnations are popular Mother's Day flowers, perhaps because they are available in a number of colors. That means it's highly likely sons, daughters, husbands and others gifting moms this Mother's Day can find some carnations in Mom's favorite color. Ask your florist about what each carnation color symbolizes, as each has its own unique meaning. Pink carnations, for example, are believed to symbolize a mother's love.

ROSES

Few mothers can resist roses, making them one of the more popular flowers come Mother's Day. Roses are symbolic of love and make the perfect floral gift for mothers who like traditional flowers. If you want to spice things up, order a bouquet made up of roses of various colors.

DAFFODILS

Yellow is synonymous with spring, and daffodils can highlight the season in which Mother's Day takes place while also providing a cheerful look that's perfect for Mother's Day floral bouquets. Daffodils can be given on their own or added to mixed bouquets. Daffodils also last quite a while when cared for correctly, giving moms more than just a few days to enjoy their bouquets.

FREESIA

Like daffodils, freesia are long-lasting, meaning mothers will still be enjoying them long after Mother's Day has come and gone. The inviting fragrance of freesia makes bouquets of these flowers popular choices for Mother's Day gifts. Freesia also come in many colors, proving Mother's Day gift givers a greater chance of finding flowers their mothers will love.
