Auburn exploring citizen remote participation

BY GUS STEEVES
NEWS CORRESPONDENT

AUBURN — Selectmen are looking to broaden public access to their meetings by live-streaming them and giving citizens the chance to participate remotely over the Internet.

The idea was originally proposed months ago by Selectman Tristan Laliberte, and he and Lionel Berthiaume brought back preliminary findings from their research into it last week.

Laliberte said they experimented with streaming things in the selectmen's chamber from various angles using an iPad via his personal Facebook page, and believe they're ready to try recording a meeting or part of one on it. Once done, they plan to send it to the rest of the board so everyone will know what it looks like; that won't actually be live-streamed.

If selectmen like what they see, the next step is to actually broadcast live, similar to what the cable channel now does, they said. After that, they'll figure out how to achieve the true goal: enabling remote participation by citizens in real time.

"If it's going to happen, we're going to do it in very small baby steps," Berthiaume said.

He noted they still need to research which social media network would be the best to use for such a purpose.

Town Manager Julie Jacobson said she reached out to a dozen towns that live-stream meetings and found that none of them use Facebook because the service offers no way of blocking comments. Generally, they use other platforms; some do it on their town website.

"The law has not caught up with the technology," she observed, adding she feels the town needs a written policy on how social media can be used, by whom, and whether it can be used for dialogue.

One concern she and Chair Doreen Goodrich had was the fact such livestreams and the discussions they might spark need to be monitored and archived as public records. Jacobson said the town has software that archives material on its own Facebook page; she's not sure if it can do so with video, but expects it can.

Laliberte said he spoke to the Attorney General's Office and found out they have no issue with

Fire department undertakes new training

BY GUS STEEVES
NEWS CORRESPONDENT

AUBURN – The fire department is undergoing a few changes, as Chief Steven Coleman told selectmen last week.

First off, it recently became the first department in Massachusetts to have all firefighters complete training in fire ground survival techniques, with Coleman crediting two members – Lt. Adam Rivers and Firefighter Stephen Lemieux – for running that program. He noted they donated around 100 hours each teaching it and building and painting the various props the class uses on top of taking the courses necessary to teach it.

"Their passion for training and education is second to none, and that was evident throughout this process," he said.

What's at issue is helping firefighters prevent and/or deal with one of the more feared incidents on a fire scene: the Mayday call, when they find themselves trapped and in imminent danger. As the International Association of Firefighters website notes, "It's not a matter of if the Mayday happens, it's when!"

"Firefighters don't plan to be lost, disoriented, injured or trapped during a structure fire or emergency incident," the site states. "But fires are unpredictable, volatile and ruthless – and they will not go according to your plans. What a firefighter knows about a fire before entering a blazing building may radically change within minutes once inside the structure."

The techniques needed to get out of such situations became particularly important in light of the 1999 Worcester Cold Storage fire, where six firefighters lost their lives inside the building, and similar incidents in later years. One such incident occurred in Oxford last January, when two Auburn firefighters providing mutual aid called a Mayday because they'd become disoriented by the smoky darkness. They were able to escape unharmed, and the resulting "near-miss"

Oxford fire highlights woodstove safety

BY GUS STEEVES
STONEBRIDGE CORRESPONDENT

A couple weeks ago, fire crews from several area towns responded to a Sacarrappa Road, Oxford, fire that killed an elderly woman. Shortly thereafter, the Fire Marshal's investigation found the cause to be the wood stove used for heat.

While that doesn't happen too often, state data from 2016 shows wood stoves, chimneys and fireplaces caused 565 fires. Most of them were due to built-up creosote in the chimney.

"We ultimately don't have many problems with wood stoves as long as people clean the chimney and take care of them," said Auburn Deputy Chief Glenn Johnson. "You should inspect the chimney and stove each time before you burn" and clean them thoroughly at least once a year.

Often, he added, the problem comes from using types of wood that aren't recommended. Although it's common and fairly cheap, pine is the key issue; burning pine creates creosote in large quantities. The hardwoods like oak do as well, but are safe if properly aged (a year or more is recommended), while they're potentially dangerous when "green" (newly-cut).

According to the Nationwide Insurance website, the real risk is when "a modern, airtight stove [is] damped allowing people to comment live, but he didn't ask them about archiving such comments. He's talking to the high school about getting students involved, with the hope they can monitor the stream during meetings. If not, setting it up would only take "20 seconds" at the beginning of a meeting.

The idea of using remote participation this way – for citizen access – doesn't seem to be in the law right now. Several years ago, the open meeting law changed to allow certain forms of remote participation by board members, if their city/town council or selectmen allow it for the town government as a whole, but not many communities have chosen to take that route. Among other things, the law requires a quorum of the board to be present, including whomever chairs the meeting.

The board voted unanimously (Dan Carpenter was absent) to move forward with this project, and also to pursue the unrelated "Complete Streets" program. Jacobson described the latter as a governor's initiative to help towns get money for road projects, noting the application process is "very difficult" and "takes several months to go through."

DPW Director Bill Coyle said he sees it as a chance to "improve the infrastructure of our roadway network" for cars, bikes and pedestrians. If the state Department of Transportation scores Auburn's proposed program an 80 or higher, the town will get up to $50,000 to develop a "prioritization plan," he said. That, in turn, could lead to future grants of up to $400,000 for specific projects.

As he understands it, the Complete Streets projects "could move separately and be part of existing projects" by making some "relatively simple" changes to the latter.

He noted, however, that he doesn't think it'll be usable to bring existing private roads up to code so they can be accepted as public. In recent years, Auburn has been accepting several such roads that were built to Planning Board standards but the formal acceptance process simply hadn't been completed; he said he believes there are "probably still a handful remaining."

Car Buying Tips

Customers ask place: When is the best time to buy a Car or Truck?

The RIGHT answer: (Part 2) There are some times of the year that seem better than others. I already spoke about the end of the year. Another good time is toward the end of winter going into spring. We all know about the Presidents Day sales in February. Customers, dealers and manufacturers all are beginning to feel a little stir crazy from the long cold days of January and early February. As this holiday comes along there is a bit more excitement and a strong desire on the dealer and manufacturer to get selling for the spring and summer markets. Usually this is also a time in which the manufacturers step up their advertising and incentives to support this goal. The model year changeover is a good time to buy. This is normally the September, October time frame. Incentives on the current model year are usually strong and inventories are still pretty good as the new model year is beginning to show up. Dealers will be making room for the next years vehicles and starting to trim inventories approaching the year end and holiday seasons. At Place Motor we will always do our best to save our customers as much as possible whenever you decide to buy. We will lay out all your options for you to see and make your best decision. We want the time you choose to be the right time to buy your new car or truck.

Singletary holds successful ice derby

Despite hunting to glean the population, coyotes continue to be a problem.

Dan Southwick with a near state record pike this past weekend. The fish measured 45.5 inches had a 24.5 girth and weighed in at 20 lbs. 5 oz.! The fish was quickly released after a photo shoot. Nice Job.

Concern over unsafe ice on local ponds after the recent rain were dismissed by many anglers that wanted to fish this past weekend. Caution needed to be used along the shoreline, but many ponds still had a good five inches of ice on them this past weekend, although it was not good back ice. Area ponds had numerous anglers enjoying the warm weather and some family ice fishing. The Singletary Rod & Gun Club held their annual ice fishing derby this past Sunday under cloudy skies and a few rain showers, but that did not stop a large group of members from fishing for trout. After enjoying a huge breakfast buffet, anglers headed out to the pond to set up their ice fishing tilts, and it was not long before trout were being hauled out of the water and onto the ice. Joe Vigeant and his 9-year old son enjoyed the day ice fishing at Singletary Rod & Gun. Their picture will run next week due to a computer glitch.

Fishing was slow during the early hours, but if you were determined to catch a trout, patience brought rewards. I decided to cut a few new holes with my power auger, and then proceeded to fish them, when a long time friend, Jerry Leclaire asked to fish one of my recently cut holes. No problem!!! He dropped the jig to the bottom and immediately hooked into a nice fish. After a few minutes of fighting the fish he landed a nice rainbow trout. 17 3/4" to be exact. It took first place in the trout derby!!! This writer failed to catch a single trout. That's the way it goes!!

A few hours later the smell of venison and sausage being cooked filled the air, and had some anglers taking a break to sample some of the great barbecue meats that were being cooked and shared by members. The attendance was smaller than last year, but everyone had a good time. There are a lot less ice fishing derbies this year locally, but for the few that are planned there should be plenty of ice if the cold weather that was predicted for this week materialized.

The Great Outdoors

Ralph True

The good news for Massachusetts bow hunters this coming fall is the added two weeks of deer hunting in zones 10 through 15, and with the passage of a bill very near to allow cross bows for hunting by everyone in 2018 that wants one. Only permanently disabled hunters were allowed to possess one for hunting. A final push to allow bow hunting on Sundays in Massachusetts would be the icing on the cake if it was approved, but for now we will appreciate what the Division of Mass Fish & Wildlife has accomplished this year.

A recent discussion at a local tackle shop by area sportsmen about the possibility of Massachusetts joining forces with other states that have a suspension registry of violators licenses of Fish & Game Laws, could soon become reality. It is a good way to deter hunters and fishermen from violating fish and game laws.

Mass Fish & Wildlife is also making some new regulations for wildlife management areas in reference to the general public using the management area to exercise their dogs. It is required that dog owners keep their dogs on leash at all times, but they also need to pick up their dogs' feces during the visits to the area, if a new regulation is passed. Trails along the WMW are becoming an eyesore, and the feces is also contaminating the trails. Hunters using their dogs during hunting season would be exempt.

Coyote populations continue to grow in the valley, despite efforts of local hunters. One local hunter has harvested more than 15 coyote this year, and they just keep on coming. Sitting in a tree stand for hours waiting for the right moment to take a shot requires a lot of patience, and hot coffee. Hunters may be successful in reducing a population in one area, only to find even more coyotes the following year. One state decided to take a large tract of land a few years ago, and remove as many of them as possible only to find that they had as many, or even more, the following year. They seem to know when their populations are down, and have larger litters of pups to fill the void.

The Providence Boat Show will open their doors on Feb. 2, starting at noon till 9 p.m. The show will run three days. Don't miss it. Check it out on the web site for more information.

December Existing Home Sales Dropped

REALTOR'S REPORT

JAMES BLACK

Nationally existing home sales dropped 3.6% to 5.57 million from November to December but increased by 1.1% year over year. This is not a sign of the economy weakening. It is exactly the opposite. The lack of inventory is causing a lowering of home sales. The sale in 2017were up 1.1% as well over 2016. This continues to show us that the Real Estate Market is alive and well. In Worcester County, sales dropped by 5.8% from November to December to 710 sales. Then from December 2016 to December 2017 it increased by 3.2%. This shows our local market is tracking with the national market in their trends.

There is one concern with this drop in sales in December. If the inventory is dropping causing buyers who are ready willing and able to not be able to find a home because the sellers of those homes fear selling their home because there is no inventory. Most likely what will happen is this lack of inventory and high demand will continue to increase prices which the Average Sale Price of a Single Family Home in Worcester County already went up $16,150 or 5.5 % over the last 12 months. This will then cause sellers who could not sell or would not sell due to prices to decide to sell their homes. This will eventually increase the inventory and hopefully balance the market out.

I suggest consulting with a local Realtor to find out what the inventory looks like in your area and how that will affect you purchase and sale of a home. Because in most markets, selling a home is the easy part and the most difficult part is deciding what to do once it sells as inventory of homes for sale as well as rental homes are minimal. Many sellers are deciding to either rent temporarily or live with family until they can find another home to buy.

Gifts from loved ones serving in the armed forces

ANTIQUES, COLLECTIBLES & ESTATES

WAYNE TUISKULA

Members of the military may be serving half way across the world from their families, but their families are often on their minds. Many send gifts to family members back home to let them know they are thinking of them.

During the 18th and 19th century, many of the sailors were whalers or worked on merchant ships but there were also military personnel on the high seas. During their free time, sailors carved scrimshaw, typically using whales' teeth or walruses' tusks. Britannica states that examples date back to the 17th century. The craft peaked from 1830-50. Along with the impressive works depicting ships in battle and other nautical and historical scenes, there were many smaller functional pieces that were carved. Scrimshaw.com lists pie crimpers, thimbles and corn huskers as some of the more common items made from scrimshaw. They could be gifted when the sailors returned home. Prices for large pieces have sold for tens of thousands of dollars. New regulations to protect selling illegal elephant and rhino ivory may impact older scrimshaw sales and prices.

Love tokens are coins that have been engraved and were often given to a loved one. Others engraved these coins, but sailors with free time at sea were some of the practitioners of this art. An article by Robyn Einhorn on the Smithsonian website states that the practice may have started in 13th century England with the bending of coins. A bent coin was returned after a favor and the bent coin became a "token of your pledge" when you offered something in return for the favor. I typically see love tokens carved into mid to late 19th century coins. I've seen engraving range from peoples' initials and simple drawings to highly detailed engravings of ships. Some are single coins, but several of them can be used to create a bracelet or other pieces of jewelry. We sold a love token bracelet with several intricately engraved dimes that brought over $500.

Soldiers on land also created works of art during their free time and created trench art. Trench art was made by those serving in earlier wars, but World War I seems to be the peak of the artform. Artillery shell casings and smaller shell casings were often used to craft these pieces. A hammer and nail were often the tools to create these works. The large artillery shells were sometimes turned into vases. Many had intricate designs of animals and flowers. Others were crafted to look like tanks or cannons. Some pieces of trench art are worth hundreds of dollars.

During World War II and more recent wars, military personnel would often buy pieces to send home or deliver to loved ones when they returned. Satin pillow cases were sold at many of the military bases. Many had "mother", "sweetheart" or "sister" printed on them for their intended recipients. "Sweetheart pins" were other gift items that were purchased by armed forces personnel. Some pins were produced in mother of pearl and some in 10 karat gold, but for the most part, they were made from relatively inexpensive materials. They may sometimes be found in flea markets and antique shops at very reasonable prices. We sold some small cases of sweetheart pins in our January auction, with cases selling in the $300 range.

I'll be teaching my Evaluating your Antiques class at Bay Path Evening School on March 5. Some sales and events are being planned. Keep checking www.centralmassauctions.com for details.

way down, produc[ing] a flue temperature in the 100-200° Fahrenheit range," as is common when people want to keep the stove running at night. "These comparatively low temperatures do not sufficiently carry all of the noncombustible gases into the atmosphere. Instead, they condense long the walls of the stovepipe and chimney as creosote," which is itself highly flammable.

Sometimes, issues occur from where the stove itself is placed. State building codes define how far one has to be from the wall, floor and other surfaces, and flammable materials like paper need to be kept as far from one as possible, since the radiant heat can ignite them under some circumstances.

The construction of the chimney is an important factor.

"Never, under any circumstances, should an unlined, single-brick chimney be used for a wood stove" because they're "prone to deterioration," Nationwide states. A double-layer brick chimney can be used "after checking carefully for cracked mortar or loose or missing bricks," and metal chimney sleeves (layers inserted in the brick chimney) can be used if they're designed specifically for wood stoves, the site states.

In 1980, the do-it-yourself classic Mother Earth News ran a long piece on wood stove safety, most of which is still valid today. Its editors (unnamed) note a key factor is selecting the right size of stove for the space you're trying to heat. Both "overheated" – a too-small stove forced to run beyond its limits – and "underfired" stoves can pose hazards.

"It is possible for an overheated firebox to ignite walls or other flammable materials that are beyond the 'safe' perimeter. (Did you know, for example, that sustained temperatures of slightly over 200F can actually cause wood to combust spontaneously?)," it states. For the large stoves, owners often try to reduce heat using the damper "a technique that reduces efficiency, makes more smoke and forms creosote rapidly."

There's a lot more at www.motherearthnews.com.

Johnson noted wood stove owners need to make sure all of their stove parts are in good condition. If "anything abnormal" exists – corrosion holes, damage to cast iron parts, discoloration – that could indicate a dangerous situation. Additionally, he said, every homeowner (woodstove or otherwise) should make sure carbon monoxide, smoke detectors and fire extinguishers are working properly.

FIRE DEPARTMENT

investigation, reported to the Oxford selectmen last fall, identified a variety of issues including mis-set radio frequencies, low staff numbers and an inexperienced on-scene commander.

The idea of survival training aims to reduce those risks, since it addresses both what the individuals in the building should do and what those outside should do, the IAFF site states.

"The chief never misses an opportunity to continue training," Selectman Doreen Goodrich said before telling Rivers and Lemieux, "I appreciate what you do every day."

To expand fire services, the selectmen unanimously approved applying for three FEMA grants. The largest, at just under $342,000 with a town match of $17,097, will replace 45 portable radios; Coleman said the matching funds are already in next year's capital budget.

The second seeks $38,000 to buy a turnout gear washing machine and extractor; it has a $1,900 local match. He said that's aimed at reducing the danger of cancer that comes from the exposure to various toxins such gear routinely gets contaminated with from hazmat and fire scenes. The department recently bought every firefighter a second set of turnout gear so they'll have a backup in case one needs cleaning.

The third grant is a regional one with nine other departments to replace an old thermal imaging camera for $20,000, with a $1,000 match. Coleman said he'll see if a smaller department wants their old camera after the selectmen declare it surplus.

Coleman also announced a few staff changes. Two firefighters with more than 40 years' experience – Don Contois and Gary Almstrom – are retiring. The former started as an auxiliary in 1976, became a call firefighter in 1979 and advanced to career in 2001; the latter has been a call member since 1978, Coleman said, noting they've served under five of the town's six chiefs.

"You've seen so much, been through so much…and served under different chiefs, but never forgot what you're here for: serving the people of the town of Auburn," Goodrich told them, describing them as "such fixtures and community members."

Ken Holstrom, himself a retired firefighter, agreed, saying, "You'll miss it for a while, but we'll miss you more."

Lionel Berthiaume, who was also a firefighter, recalled often doing shifts with Contois, whom he nicknamed "Ducky," but only occasionally working with Almstrom. Both were "always, always teaching us things," and sometimes getting a few laughs out of it.

"This is one of the best departments in the world because these guys make you feel at home," he said.

In response, Contois said being a career firefighter "was my dream," and when the chief called him in 2000 to offer him the job, his wife was willing to find ways around the pay cut it entailed to let him do it.

"Thank you to the town of Auburn for letting me live my dream" and supporting the needs of the department, he said.

Contois is being replaced by Thomas Briggs, who was sworn in at that meeting by Town Clerk Deb Gremo. Coleman said it's rare to get a new firefighter with as much experience as Briggs has – he was most recently a lieutenant in Sutton, a firefighter at Worcester Airport, and is a member of the district's technical rescue team.

The selectmen also unanimously voted to accept a long list of gifts to the department, most of them in memory of former Water Department director Richard "Doc" Weagle, who died Dec. 31.

She loved traveling to Maine and to Cape Cod. She also enjoyed the occasional lucky junket to Foxwoods with her sister and brother-in-law. Though not popular with everyone in her extended family, Susan and her son were fervent fans of the New York Yankees. She would often be seen wearing her Yankees' cap.

Susan forever touched all those who came to know her. We hope she is now at peace.

Her funeral was held at 11 a.m. on Sat. Feb 3, 2018 in St. Denis Church, 23 Manchaug St. Douglas. Calling hours at Jackman Funeral Home, 7 Mechanic St. Douglas were Sat. Feb. 3 from 9 to 10:30 am. Memorial donations in her memory may be made to St. Jude's Children's Hospital, 501 St. Jude Place, Memphis, TN 38105, the American Cancer Society, Box 22478, Oklahoma City, OK 73123 or to a charity of one's choice. Joy Ride

Yeah….not so much.

If these were our little darlings, we'd take no prisoners. They would be out there themselves, with rakes and shovels and buying the sod themselves to replace this destruction.

See, the Dudley Youth Soccer is a non-profit bunch that just wants to teach younger kids the sport, and through the goodness of the town of Dudley, was given leave to improve this empty field to use as part of their program.

It sits right near the road and right on the Quinebaug line. You drive right by it if you drive down 131, but you might not pay a lot of attention to it.

They put a lot of effort into it in the last couple of years, did a lot of "invisible" work; drainage, adding a sprinkler system, reseeding, and then left it alone so the seed would take and the field would be in good shape for THIS year.

Until a few nights ago.

When this happened.

And no one heard it. No one saw it. No one knows anything.

But someone does.

The irrigation might be broken under that frozen dirt, can't tell yet. But for sure the nicely seeded field is wrecked.

Organizers have said they might be able to have it "rolled" flat, but the ruts may or may not need to be reseeded or sodded.

In any case, the field won't be ready for play.

Because somebody old enough to drive decided to "play" instead.

This is just mean.

We hope they bragged to someone about it so police can be told and their little butts can be smacked hard by Johnny Law. Then we hope the rest of us step up and donate to get this place back so the kids can have it back again. The vandalism may well cost the Youth Soccer thousands of dollars to repair.

Can anyone help? Are there landscapers, home warehousers, DIYers out there, who can donate time, materials, and knowledge, and get these kids back on their fields? And a fence installed so this can't happen again?

Because obviously, the older "kids" out there have no couth and have no sense of responsibility. No respect for the belongings of others, no idea what might the cost be to anyone else for their decisions.

It may be indicative of yet another book out there, this one about "adulting" and that Americans are raising a generation or two of people who don't know how to be adults. Haven't been taught, and don't want to learn.

We shudder to think if they in turn become parents themselves…what then becomes of those children…the children of non-adulting adults?

They most likely do donuts in soccer fields and call it joy riding.

Valentine's Day sentiments on a budget

Take the Hint

Karen Trainor

No other day of the year symbolizes love and romance as does Valentine's Day. Through the ages, many cultures have paid annual homage to the "holiday of the heart." From pagan days of love lotteries to St. Valentine's untimely imprisonment, the longtime observance of February 14 is steeped in tradition and lore.

In this country, Valentine's Day is second only to Christmas as the most celebrated day of the year. As a stroll down any department store aisle will attest, candy, flowers and especially cards are all used to convey messages of love and desire. In celebration of the most romantic day of the year, here are some ideas and suggestions to make your V-Day a little less commercial and a little more special.

Gifts from the Heart

If you have more love than money this year, don't fret. These ideas are sky high on the romance quota scale.

How I Love Thee...For hundreds of years, lovers have best expressed their love for one another through love letters. What could be more romantic than a handwritten poem? Sit down and write a love letter to your Valentine. It doesn't have to rhyme, since the words are heartfelt and express your feelings. Write the verse on parchment paper with a felt tipped or calligraphy pen.

If you're not creative, don't worry. Research the internet and copy a classic love poem or letter that declares your emotions. Tuck the love poem under a pillow or in a pocket to be unexpectedly discovered by your spouse. Better yet, mail your love letter for an air of mystery!

Stamp of Approval: Looking for a novel way to send your valentines? Why not surprise your sweetheart with an envelope stamped with your photo? And yes, these are USPS approved stamps! Www.Photostamp.com offers a service that allows you to instantly upload your favorite photo, choose a design and order a page or more of the USPS stamps. They're definitely pricier, but these are not your average first class stamps! A sheet of 20 photo stamps will set you back about $22, and quantity discounts are available. Most local post offices now sell photo stamp kits.

Love from Loveland: Want to add a special touch to your valentine greetings? Since 1946 the Loveland, Colorado post office has been sharing its unique name with romantics everywhere via its free Valentine's Day re-mailing program. Your sweetheart is sure to be surprised to find his or her valentine card stamped with the official Loveland Colorado cache and stamp! To do, simply mail your pre-stamped, pre-addressed envelopes (envelopes should each have 50¢ postage; postcards should have appropriate postage), add extra stamps/postage for heavier/odd shaped valentines, mail in a large stamped envelope to: Postmaster; Valentine Re-mailing; 446 E. 29th St.; Loveland, CO 80538. But you'd better hurry, deadlines for delivery by V-Day must be received by February 7. If not, there's always next year!

Recipe for Love: If you really want to set your sweetie's heart aflame this V-Day, why not whip up a red hot dessert? Cherries Jubilee is a romantic classic that'll have your partner heating up as fast as the flaming dish. Best of all, it's easy!

Cherries Jubilee

Ingredients: 16 oz. can pitted dark sweet cherries; one quarter cup rum; one quarter cup brandy; 3/4 red currant jelly; vanilla ice cream.

Directions: Drain the can of cherries; reserve one quarter cup of syrup. Mix this syrup with the rum. Pour over cherries and chill for at least an hour. Meanwhile, melt jelly in a saucepan over low heat. Add the cherry mixture to the jelly. Cook, stirring constantly to a simmer. Heat the brandy in another saucepan until warmed. Pour brandy slowly over cherry mixture and ignite immediately. Spoon cherries and sauce over a small bowl of or glass of vanilla ice cream.

The Feng Shui Way: If you're looking to snag yourself a sweetheart this Valentine's Day, here are some Feng Shui tips to point Cupid's arrow your way.

According to the ancient practice of Feng Shui, the secret to romantic success can be found in the southwest region of your bedroom. Nurture and cultivate peace and love in that area to attract a partner. Feng Shui practitioners suggest placing a vase of fresh flowers or a painting of flowers in that corner (avoid flowers with thorns or prickly leaves). To further entice romance, try putting a pair of duck decoys in the area or a photo of two ducks. Even a couple of rubber ducky toys will do. Crystals are often successful in luring a mate, and rose quartz is famed for attracting love. Why not place a crystal in that corner as extra insurance!

Experts in the practice claim negative energy and bad "chi" will drive away any romantic prospects. They advise removing all electronic devices in the southwest area, as well as any mirrors there.

Flower Power: Did you know nearly 200 million roses were produced for Valentine's Day last year! If you're a lucky recipient of Valentine's Day flowers, you'll want to keep them fresh as long as possible. Here's how to treat fresh flowers displayed in a vase: Mix two tablespoons of white vinegar and two tablespoons of sugar in a quart of water. Also, be sure to remove dead flowers as these give off gases which affect the others. And never display flowers next to fruit as fruits emit a gas which prematurely ages flowers. Here are a few more tips to keep your V-Day flowers fresher longer:

* Dirty vases shorten the life of cut flowers so be sure to soak questionable vases overnight in bleach to remove bacteria before displaying flowers.

* To revive drooping tulips or roses, wrap tightly in newspaper and put into water up to their necks. Leave overnight. For a quicker fix, cut a little off the stems, wrap in paper, and plunge stems into boiling water for approximately ten seconds, then put into deep cold water.

*A pinch of sugar or an aspirin dropped into vase water works just as well as the substance found in a floral extender packet.

*Keep fresh flowers away from direct sunlight and heat. Don't leave flowers in warm rooms overnight. Keep flowers in a cool spot (65 to 72° Fahrenheit), and extend their life by putting them in the coldest room in the house while you are asleep.

Put a trusted 'Quarterback' on your financial team

Financial Focus

Dennis Antonopoulos

On February 4, the eyes of most of the country – and much of the rest of the world – will be on Minneapolis, site of the most-watched football game in the U.S. As a fan, you can admire the way quarterbacks in the Big Game direct their teams. But as an investor, you can learn something from the big game by putting together your own team to help you achieve your financial goals – and you may find it helpful to have your own "quarterback."

Who should be on your team? Your financial strategy will involve investments, taxes and estate planning, so you will likely need a financial advisor, a tax professional and an attorney. Ideally, your financial advisor – the individual with the broadest view of your financial situation – should serve as the quarterback of this team. And, just as a quarterback on a football team must communicate clearly with his teammmates, so will your financial quarterback need to maintain consistent contact with the other team members.

Let's look at a couple of basic examples as to how this communication might work.

First, suppose you are self-employed and contribute to a Simplified Employee Pension (SEP) IRA. Because your contributions are made with pre-tax dollars, the more you put in, the lower your taxable income. (In 2018, the maximum amount you can contribute is $55,000.) Your financial advisor can recommend investments you can choose from to help fund your SEP IRA. Yet you will want your financial advisor to share all your SEP IRA information with your tax professional. When it's near tax-filing time, your tax professional can then let you and your financial advisor know how much room you still have to contribute to your SEP IRA for the year, and how much you need to add to potentially push yourself into a lower tax bracket.

Now, let's consider the connection between your financial advisor and your attorney – specifically, your attorney handling your estate planning arrangements. It's essential that you and your financial advisor provide your attorney with a list of all your financial assets – IRAs, 401(k)s, investments held in brokerage accounts, insurance policies and so on. Your attorney will need this information when preparing your important legal documents, such as your will and living trust – after all, a key part of your estate plan is who gets what. But it's imperative that you and your financial advisor convey some often-overlooked details that can make a big difference in the disposition of your estate. For example, your financial advisor might suggest that you review the beneficiary designations on your IRA, 401(k) and life insurance policies to make sure these designations are still accurate in light of changes in your life – new spouse, new children and others. These designations are meaningful and can even supersede the instructions you might leave in your will or living trust. Consequently, it's important for you and your financial advisor to share this information with your attorney.

It can be challenging to meet all your financial objectives. But with the right team in place, and a quarterback to help lead it, you can keep moving toward those goals – and you might cut down on the "fumbles" along the way.

Edward Jones, its employees and financial advisors are not estate planners and cannot provide tax or legal advice. You should consult your estate-planning attorney or qualified tax advisor regarding your situation.

This article was written by Edward Jones for use by your local Edward Jones Financial Advisor. Please contact Dennis Antonopoulos, your local Edward Jones Advisor at 5 Albert Street, Auburn, MA 01501 Tel: 508-832-5385 or dennis.antonopoulos@edwardjones.com.

Undefeated Auburn boys, Grafton girls track teams win SWCL championships

BY NICK ETHIER
SPORTS STAFF WRITER

NORTHBRIDGE — Veterans Memorial Field House at Northbridge High hosted the Southern Worcester County League (SWCL) indoor track championships while Tantasqua Regional — the normal site for the SWCL meet — was underdoing renovations. The meet pitting the 12 SWCL schools took place on Wednesday, Jan. 24, where undefeated Auburn High and Grafton High won the boys' and girls' titles, respectively.

Auburn hockey honored for 50th anniversary of state title, then current Rockets skate past Marlborough

AUBURN — It was quite an evening at the Horgan Arena on Saturday, Jan. 27. First, Auburn High's 1967-68 ice hockey team, then known as the Dandies, was honored and remembered for the 50th anniversary of their Division 1 state championship. Then, the current Rockets took the ice and took on Marlborough High. Auburn edged the Panthers, 2-1, improving to 8-5-1 in the process.

Minutemen punch ticket to districts with thrilling, come-from-behind win over Southbridge

CHARLTON — On Wednesday, Jan. 24, Kody Sandgren's game-winning basket with 20 seconds to play capped a fourth quarter rally and lifted the Bay Path Regional boys' varsity basketball team past Southbridge High, 62-60, and into the Central Mass. Division 4 tournament for the first time in five years.

"That's been our goal from the beginning of the year; to qualify for districts," Bay Path head coach Al Greenough said after his team improved to 10-3. "We didn't know how long — how many games — it was going to take us to get there, but as the season began we were confident we would get there. I'm really happy for the kids. We're in the postseason because they're always willing to go out and give 100 percent every night."

Sandgren (11 points) pulled the Minutemen to within a point, 60-59, when he made a free throw with 1:16 to play. Almost a minute later, after both teams had several chances to score, Greenough called timeout to draw up a play.

Pat Dyer, the Minutemen's senior point guard, took the inbounds pass, dribbled to the right side and dropped the ball into Sandgren, who had posted up about six feet from the basket. Sandgren gathered in Dyer's bounce pass, collected himself, spun to the inside and banked the ball off the glass and into the basket, giving Bay Path a 61-60 lead.

"It's a play that we run a lot in practice; the kids are very familiar with it," Greenough said. "In that situation, when they're going to have to use their heads and get everything together in a key moment of the game I like to call a play that they run a lot. As a coach when you draw up a play, especially at the end of the game, and the kids listen and go out and run it the right way and execute and score, it's a great feeling."

Cory Cotton, after a Southbridge miss and a foul, hit one of two free throws with 6.8 seconds to play to account for the 62-60 final. Caiden Ellis added 9 points to the winning cause, while Drew Paulhus chipped in with 7.

It is fitting that Cotton scored the final point of the game; he kept Bay Path in it in the second quarter when Southbridge was on the verge of running away with it, leading 27-14 with 2:30 left in the first half.

Behind Cotton's three 3-pointers in the final 2:12 of the half — he had five of his seven 3's and 15 of his game-high 28 points in the first 16 minutes of the game — the Minutemen trailed by just five, 31-26, as play headed into the third quarter. The Minutemen hit nine shots from the field against Southbridge in the first half; eight were from beyond the arc.

"That's what they do," Southbridge head coach Victor Colon said. "They always had at least one kid in the corner wide open, ready to take the 3. We tried to rotate to make sure there was no open man like that, but our rotation was off and there wasn't much else we could do."

The Pioneers dropped to 6-7 overall with the loss. More importantly however, they are now 1-1 against Division 4 teams, having beaten Lenox High earlier in the year. Southbridge plays its final Division 4 game on Feb. 5, against the Sizer School (home at 6:30 p.m.). Because of the Sullivan Rule, a team only has to have a .500 record against teams that compete in their division if they play 70 percent or more of their total games against higher division opponents.

Southbridge would qualify for districts should they beat Sizer, while they had the opportunity to do so versus Bay Path.

"A trip to the playoffs was on the line for both sides," Colon said. "Whoever won the game was going to make districts."

Once Bay Path got back into the game in the late stages of the second half, they stayed in it, never trailing by more than seven in the second half and leading three times in the third quarter. Their only lead in the fourth quarter was at the end.

Southbridge was led in scoring by Justin Reyes, who scored 21 points, Jared Figueroa (14), Elian Aponte (10) and Chris Reyes (9).

Potent Millbury too much for Rockets to contain

AUBURN — Playing against Millbury High, a team that hasn't lost a game inside the Southern Worcester County League in multiple years, the Auburn High girls' varsity basketball team knew it was in for a tough task when the two sides matched up on Friday, Jan. 26. And in the end the Woolies were too much for the Rockets, who lost a 63-19 decision. Auburn's record is now 3-12.

Rockets boys' basketball gives plenty of effort, but falls short versus Bellingham

BY DEAN P. ST. LAURENT
SPORTS CORRESPONDENT

AUBURN — The effort and fight were there for the Auburn High boys' varsity basketball team in its game will Bellingham High on Monday, Jan. 29, but in the end not enough offensive execution was had as the Rockets fell short, 46-36.

"I love the effort from our guys, it has been great the last five or six games or so," head coach Andrew Niedzwiecki praised. "We are grinding and we are a team that needs to grind, so as long as we keep doing that I think we are going to be in it up until the end. We are 7-8 now, we have to win three more to get in and hopefully we can get there.

"Bellingham is a very good team, they're very well coached, they run their sets very well, they play defense very well. They gave us fits, so we had some bad possessions and then we had some good ones and we missed some shots, too," Niedzwiecki added.

The Rockets got off to a very slow as they fell behind, 13-4, in the first quarter, but good defense and the aforementioned effort kept the game within reach.

"If you're a basketball purest you really liked that game because it was two teams working hard, defending well and both teams had to make good offensive plays to score," Niedzwiecki explained.

Going into the second quarter the pace of the game was similar to the opening quarter, featuring intense defense and both offenses having to work for their points. Bellingham still kept control for much of the quarter, but within the last couple minutes of the half the Rockets began to show some life offensively. Auburn scored seven of its nine points during the span to trail, 25-13, at the half.

Coming out of the half it was clear what the go-to tactic was going to be offensively for the Rockets, which was getting the ball inside to big man Matty Backlin. Working his way through double teams the whole game, Backlin was finally able to get into a groove and his effort was a huge reason for his success. The senior forward scored 10 of his 14 points in the third, including two and-ones and a couple hard earned layups off of offensive rebounds.

"Matty is great in the post. In the first half he struggled a little bit because they were doubling him, but in the second half they weren't doubling him as much so he had a little bit more freedom, but he is definitely a guy we want to get the ball inside to. He made a few good plays and had a couple good kick outs," Niedzwiecki said.

Although Auburn was very cold shooting the basketball, the Rockets displayed what has been working for them all year, maximum hustle and effort, despite the loss.

"I just love the effort of our team right now, we are trying to play hard and we are trying to do the right things. We just have to keep it up for the rest of the season," Niedzwiecki expressed in high spirits.

The Rockets have five games remaining and have to win three of them in order to cash their ticket to the playoffs and Niedzwiecki expressed all they have to do is execute.

"We have to execute our stuff a little bit better, we fall asleep every once in a while, kind of because we have some young guys out there at times that are playing a lot of minutes that they wouldn't normally play, so I think that plays a part to. I think you lose a little mental focus when they get tired, but we have to just execute," he concluded.
