

Historical Museum seeking Auburn Achievers

AUBURN — The Auburn Historical Museum is collecting information on notable people from Auburn. We are looking for anyone who ran a business, worked on a farm, taught school, managed a family while holding down a job or wrote a book. Maybe you starred in a middle school play or sold Girl Scout cookies.

Have you a relative who was a blacksmith, or a shoemaker or a housewife in the last century? We are collecting stories about the people of Auburn, what they did, what they accomplished and how they managed during difficult times. Or great times, or any times! In short, we want to compile a theme book on what people in Auburn have done. It doesn't have to be anything incredible, like being the CEO of IBM, or a famous movie star, or a professional baseball player, or the author of a popular book. (Though all of those things have been done by people raised in Auburn.) It can be a story about getting home through a blizzard, raising 12 children while managing a farm, being a shoemaker and a selectman at the same time. Maybe you are a gifted photographer and want to share your photos with us. Have you written a poem, or found a diary your grandmother kept? These are all part of Auburn's history and need to be shared and preserved.

Please help us compile our book by sharing your stories, and your family stories. Come by the museum any Tuesday or Saturday between 9:30 a.m. and 12:30 p.m., or email us at auburnmuseum@verizon.net. We look forward to hearing from you!

QCC's Respiratory Care program receives credentialing success award

WORCESTER — Quinsigamond Community College's Respiratory Care Program has received the distinguished Registered Respiratory Therapist (RRT) Credentialing Success Award from the Commission on Accreditation for Respiratory Care (CoARC). The College has joined a select group of programs that received this national recognition based on a high-level performance of key accreditation metrics.

"The students of QCC have labored diligently to strive for excellence in this respected profession by earning the highly-desirable, Registered Respiratory Therapist credential. I am thrilled with their success and demonstration of skillfulness in their chosen profession," said Professor Emerita Karen Kaletski Dufault.

This award is presented as part of CoARC's continued efforts to value the RRT credential as a standard of professional achievement. The CoARC views the RRT credential as a measure of a program's success in inspiring its graduates to achieve their highest educational and professional aspirations.

To earn this prestigious award, programs were required to have three or more years of outcome data, hold accreditation without a progress report, document RRT credentialing success of 90 percent or above, and meet or exceed core thresholds for the Therapist Multiple Choice (TMC) examination high cut score and retention. QCC had a three-year (2017 – 2019) average of 100% of students who achieved the high cut score. The CoARC threshold for retention is 70% and QCC had a 96% retention rate for the same 3-year average (2017-2019).

"This is the first time that the program has achieved this recognition and it could not have been done without the leadership of Karen Dufault, who was the previous program coordinator/director until she retired in 2020," said Assistant Professor of Respiratory Care, Keith Hirst.

He added that Amy Hogan, current director of clinical education, along with all the current and past clinical instructors, clinical sites, and Advisory Board members, QCC administration, and graduates of the program also played a large role in this award.

"Over this same time frame we had 100% job placement rate within six months of graduation, as well as 100% employer and graduate satisfaction rates," Mr. Hirst said.

Bay Path alumna, LPN to RN grad has a wide perspective

CHARLTON — Over ten years, Danielle Southall-Scotto, formerly of Southbridge, now of Brooklyn, Conn., rose through the ranks, from a resident care assistant to wellness nurse, from Licensed Practical Nurse (LPN) floor nurse in a subacute rehabilitation unit in a skilled nursing facility to now, a Registered Nurse (RN)!

When she reflects on that time, she admits it was difficult, but she is also extremely grateful. It is a time of immense pride in her own tenacity toward earning her Associate in Science in Nursing (ASN) degree from Excelsior College with a 3.0 GPA. For Danielle to make the transition from LPN to RN, she completed the ASN and took the NCLEX-RN, the National Council Licensure Examination for RN licensure.

Her knowledge and compassion helped her lead through the challenges of navigating the year of COVID-19, working full-time at the Milford Regional Physician Group in Northbridge, MA and completing all her course work including taking a two-part test that is a clinical examination also known as CPNE. "Goal-directed, hardworking, compassionate, dedicated...all these words describe Danielle," said Gretheline Bolandrina, DHA, MSN Ed, RN, CRRN Academy Director at Bay Path Practical Nursing Academy. "Danielle graduated at Bay Path Practical Nursing Academy in 2017, was the recipient of the Academic Excellence Award and was inducted to the National Technical Honor Society."

Southall-Scotto completed her secondary education in 2007 at Bay Path Regional Vocational Technical High School with honors, National Honor Society.

"The Excelsior College's program is essentially a self-taught program," said Southall-Scotto.

"I am grateful to Bay Path for helping to lay a foundation for me to complete this, without a good foundation I would have never made it through," she concludes.

As a practical nursing student at Bay Path Practical Nursing Academy, Danielle was a member of the Mock Code Team. She competed in the SkillsUSA Medical Math category and won a gold medal in District, a gold medal in state, and a bronze medal at the national competition in Louisville, Kentucky. According to Southall-Scotto, she plans on continuing with her academic progression and earns her Bachelor of Science in Nursing (BSN) degree "after working as an RN for a little while."

Old Home Day returns to Charlton in 2021

BY JASON BLEAU
CORRESPONDENT

CHARLTON – A local tradition returns to cap off the summer in the town of Charlton in 2021. After a year-long hiatus due to the COVID-19 pandemic, Old Home Days is set to return on Monday, Sept. 6, Labor Day Monday, with a weekend of fun planned leading up to the big day.

In addition to activities on the Town Common all weekend, the annual fireworks display will be lit off once more on Saturday, Sept. 5 with a rain day of Sunday, Sept. 6. Labor Day Monday is the big day however with a slew of activities for all to look forward to on a day designed to celebrate the spirit of community.

Monday, Sept. 6 will start with the yearly Soap Box Derby at 7 a.m., one of the oldest traditions of Charlton's Old Home Day. Entry forms are available on the Town of Charlton website. A road race will then take off at 9 a.m. from the town common which. Volunteers are being sought out for the Soap Box Derby and Road Race and interested parties can contact Kathleen Walker at kwalker4@mac.com. Music will be held all day with rising country star and Charlton native Liam Coleman taking the stage as well as the Shepherd Hill Vocalists, Lee Irish Step Dancers, and the Bad New Jazz Band & Blue Orchestra. The Singing Trooper will also perform at 2:30 p.m. that afternoon.

At 2 p.m. is one of the biggest events of the afternoon, the community awards ceremony recognizing individuals, groups and businesses who have contributed to Charlton and were nominated by their peers. Old Home Day concludes with the annual parade kicking off from The Overlook at 3:30 p.m. The day will also include a variety of other community activities including pony rides, train rides, and the Scottish Highland Games.

Old Home Day will also celebrate the artistic side of Charlton with the annual Art Show going hybrid in 2021. The Charlton Cultural Council's Old Home Day Art Show with all fees waived for 2021. Artwork will be on display in the Town Hall throughout Labor Day. Applications for the Art Show are due by Monday, Aug. 23, and can be found on the Charlton Cultural Council Facebook Page.

Old Sturbridge Village Communications Department expands

Lex Piccione and Christine Freitas

STURBRIDGE — Earlier this summer, Old Sturbridge Village (OSV) added two new hires to their newly restructured Marketing department in an effort to centralize communications and content production at the museum. Lex Piccione was hired as Lead Designer and Christine Freitas for a newly created position, Director of Communications and Content.

While a lot of organizations have been forced to downsize over the past year, Old Sturbridge Village has continued to grow and expand on their programs and educational resources. This has given the Village the opportunity to bring in new talent and promote already existing talent within the organization. The divisions of program and interpretation, museum education, collections, and research have also added staff to support the mission of the Village.

“We set out to expand the capacity of the existing Marketing department at OSV earlier this year in an effort to streamline and manage messaging and communications across all departments at the Village,” said Christine Tieri, Chief Marketing Officer.

Lex Piccione was an obvious and strong choice for the museum. She comes to the Village after spending six years as a Graphic Designer for the Boston Children’s Museum. Originally from Killingly, Conn., she earned a Bachelor of Fine Arts from the School of the Museum of Fine Arts (SNFA) and Tufts University. She spent a semester abroad at the Studio Art Center International in Florence Italy and also has a Master of Fine Arts from the Academy of Art University in San Francisco.

She has a wealth of experience designing for similar audiences.

“Design has a big part to play in broadening the demographics of visitorship because it will be up to us how content is perceived and viewed by potential visitors,” says Piccione. “I learned about accessibility and inclusive design at Boston Children’s Museum, and I plan to use this knowledge to help Old Sturbridge Village in their ongoing efforts. Even now, I am applying these skills to many different design initiatives.”

When asked what excites her about her new position, Piccione says, “The unique challenge that the Village faces with design is trying to keep the ambience and integrity of the 1830s while using modern technology (computers/digital printers) and catering to modern and diverse audiences.”

Already in her time here she has capitalized on the extensive collection of historical resources available at the museum, including using actual fabric swatches to design labels for jams and jellies in our retail shop.

Tieri’s vision also includes rallying all visitor, donor, member, and educational communications through one channel for consistency and to maintain a strong brand identity. To help her manage that initiative, she brought on Christine Freitas in a newly created position, Director of Communication and Content.

Freitas has a background in educational publishing and content marketing at publishers, including Thomson Learning (now Cengage), Pearson, Pioneer Valley Books, and most recently, the non-profit Center for Responsive Schools. With a B.A. in Journalism/Mass Communications from St. Bonaventure University, she has a strong record of managing high-performing content, design, and production teams for over 20 years.

She says, “Working for the museum embodies all of the favorite parts of my past experiences and I’m excited at the prospect of the museum actually doing some of their own publications.”

When asked about the challenges she sees in her new position, she is excited about organizing and streamlining processes for efficiency, accuracy, and consistency, especially with a newly formed team. “I’m particularly excited about creating new ways for visitors to experience the museum, whether it’s an expansion of Virtual Village or the in-person experience. I’d also like to one day see researchers and fellows create and publish content using our collections, resource library, and historians as a resource. It’s a way to expand our reach and brand to new audiences and to refresh the stories of the past.”

About Old Sturbridge Village

Old Sturbridge Village, first opened to the public in 1946, is one of the country’s oldest living history museums, celebrating life in early New England from 1790-1840 and the largest in New England. Each year, more than 250,000 visitors interact with costumed historians, experience up-close demonstrations of early American trades, and meet heritage breed farm animals. Situated on 200 scenic acres, the Village is a collection of more than 40 historic buildings -- including homes, meetinghouses, trade shops, working farms, restaurants, shops, and three water-powered mills.

Located just off the Massachusetts Turnpike and Routes I-84 and 20 in Sturbridge, Mass., Old Sturbridge Village is open year-round, but days and hours vary seasonally. For details, visit <https://www.osv.org/plan-your-visit/>.

Old Sturbridge Village is also the managing partner of Coggeshall Farm Museum in Bristol, R.I. Members at OSV receive reciprocal membership at Coggeshall Farm Museum.

Charlton launches Municipal Services Survey

CORRESPONDENT

CHARLTON – The town of Charlton is seeking input from members of the public through a Municipal Services Survey that could help determine potential adjustments to services and Town Hall hours in the near future.

The survey, currently available on the town’s Web site, seeks the public’s opinions on a variety of items mostly relating to the Town Hall and its hours of operation. Selectmen discussed the possibility of changing Town Hall hours earlier this year following complaints about holiday closures on Thursdays. Currently the Town Hall operates on a four-day week as part of a test trial initiated several years ago to explore cost savings if the building was closed on Fridays. Selectmen began discussing whether or not to return to a five-day week initiating the survey to gauge whether or not the Town Hall as a whole should be open on Fridays or if only certain departments need to be opened an extra day.

After asking if the user is a Charlton citizen and if they are a contractor or non-resident that conducts business in town regularly, the survey is then comprised of numerous questions asking public opinion on Town Hall services. These include the offices the citizens use the most, whether they use remote or in-person services more, and which virtual services citizens have utilized in the past. Several questions also pertain to the time of day citizens are most likely to use the Town Hall and on which current day and time of operation they are most likely to visit. Finally, the survey asks if citizens would like to have the hours changed, potentially back to the 2014 five-day work week. The survey results will assist selectmen in determining how to move forward with increasing availability to town services. Citizens can take the Municipal Services Survey by visiting www.townofcharlton.net and clicking the link under the “News Flash” section on the home page.

Dean’s list honors announced at Tufts University

MEDFORD/SOMERVILLE — Tufts University recently announced the dean’s list for the Spring 2021 semester.

Among students earning dean’s list honors is Brendan Kelleher of Auburn, class of 2021.

Dean’s list honors at Tufts University require a semester grade point average of 3.4 or greater.

Tufts University, located on campuses in Boston, Medford/Somerville and Grafton, Massachusetts, and in Talloires, France, is recognized among the premier research universities in the United States. Tufts enjoys a global reputation for academic excellence and for the preparation of students as leaders in a wide range of professions. A growing number of innovative teaching and research initiatives span all Tufts campuses, and collaboration among the faculty and students in the undergraduate, graduate and professional programs across the university’s schools is widely encouraged.

PET of the WEEK

Looking for a new adventure buddy? A court jester? A couch companion? A playful pal? A loving friend? Check out this handsome boy who is up for adoption! A sweetheart with a side of silliness and the biggest goofiest teddy bear you'll ever meet! What more could you ask for? Meet Joey, 3+ year male, the joyous jovial jubilant jokester who is still waiting for his forever family. Could it be you?! This giant goofball is looking for an experienced dog owner to call his own. Joey has the best butt wiggle and will always show you just how happy he is to see you! He is happiest when he has a toy to wrestle with and could entertain himself for hours. Spending time with people is just as good as playtime for Joey! Joey will jump up to sit with you, and is not shy about getting comfy right in your lap. He loves to play and romp around with female dogs. He prefers to be the only boy, and we think Joey would be happiest in an adult-only home as the only animal, to be the center of attention, or with a canine sister! But no feline friends for this boy! He would love a yard to play in, preferably fenced but not a requirement! If you are looking for a playful buddy to hang out with, please email adopt@baypathhumane.org

OBITUARIES

Albert J. “Al” Sante, 91

A U B U R N / GRAFTON – Albert J. “Al” Sante, 91, passed away peacefully on Wednesday, July 21, 2021 at Rose Monahan Hospice Home. He was predeceased by his beloved wife of 49 years, Elizabeth “Betsy” (Butler) Sante, in 2017. He leaves his daughters, Susan Cass, her husband Richard and their children, Riley and Tyler, of North Grafton; and Ellen Dubs, her husband Jon and their daughter Grace, of South Grafton; his niece, Joanne Fiore-Stutzman, of West Palm Beach, FL. Along with Betsy, and his parents, the late Dominic and Grace (DiPasquale) Sante, Al was predeceased by his siblings: Daniel P. Sante (Gertrude) and Anna Sante-Fiore (Joseph). Al was born, raised and educated in Buffalo, New York. He was a graduate of the University of Buffalo, where he received his Bachelor’s degree in Biology. Al proudly served in the United States Navy from 1953 until 1956. Al returned to Buffalo after his naval service where he met and married the love of his life, Betsy. In 1970 they moved to Massachusetts, settling in Auburn – the town they would call home for over 40 years. Al dedicated over 30 years of his career working at Crucible Steel, retiring in 1991 as Merchandising Sales Manager. In 2014, Al and Betsy moved to South Grafton. Al was renowned among his friends and family as a handyman and problem solver. He took great pride in his Auburn home, remodeling and upgrading it several times. He did everything from plumbing and electrical work to cabinetry and flooring. His other interests included cars, jazz and big band music, annual trips to Myrtle Beach, playing golf and Thursday night Poker games with longtime Auburn friends. He was also a member of the Knights of Columbus in Auburn. In later years, he enjoyed watching baseball, football, and golf on TV with his family. In lieu of flowers, memorial donations may be made to the National Parkinson’s Foundation, 200 SE 1st St., Suite 800, Miami, FL 33131 (www.parkinson.org). Funeral services will be held privately at Britton-Wallace Funeral Home in Auburn. Al will be laid to rest with his beloved Betsy in Hillside Cemetery. To leave a note of condolence for his family, or to share a fond memory of Al, please visit www.brittonfuneralhomes.com

Assessments to be held for police lieutenant’s position

BY JASON BLEAU CORRESPONDENT

CHARLTON – In February of this year, Charlton hired Dan Dowd as the new Chief of Police, leaving a vacancy for Police Lieutenant in the department. Selectmen immediately decided that an assessment center would be utilized to fill the post, and now it appears that process is moving forward next month. During a meeting with selectmen in July, Town Administrator Andrew Golas provided an update on the assessment center, confirming it is on schedule for Sept. 10, with the town embracing a familiar partnership to fill the vacancy. “The department is working with Public Safety Consultant who is the prior consultant to fill the chief’s role the last time it was open. We’re familiar with them, and the officers that are qualified to take the assessment have been notified of the assessment date,” said Golas. Four officers within the Charlton Police Department qualify for the position, the minimum number required before opening the process up to lower-level officers according to Golas. “I believe our requirement is that it had to be at least sergeant level or above, but if not enough sergeants were interested in taking the test, then we’d have to open it up to the full patrolmen,” said Golas. The assessment center will see applicants tested by Public Safety Consultants who will bring a single candidate they deem most qualified for the job to the Board of Selectmen. While officers had previously acknowledged the grueling nature of the assessment center selectmen concluded it would also provide the most qualified candidate for the job. In February, selectmen had also given the okay to both Chief Dowd and Town Administrator Golas to proceed with hiring processes for any position, such as sergeant, left vacant from a promotion to lieutenant through the assessment center within the recommendations and requirements of Civil Service. This could include utilizing an assessment center to fill the vacancies down the line.

Friday’s Child

Hi! My name is Trey’von and I am very affectionate!

Trey’von is a playful boy of Hispanic descent. He can be shy when meeting new people, but once he is comfortable, he is affectionate and easily engaged. Trey’von enjoys playing age-appropriate games, watching movies, playing outside, and coloring. Trey’von does extremely well in a structured environment with clear and consistent boundaries, both at home and in school.

Trey’von is legally freed for adoption and can be placed in any type of family with or without other children. Trey’von has bi-monthly visits with his birth mother until an adoption is finalized, then the visits will decrease to two visits per year.

Trey’von Age 9

Trey’von will also need to maintain three visits per year with his sibling.

Who Can Adopt?

Can you provide the guidance, love and stability that a child needs? If you’re at least 18 years old, have a stable source of income, and room in your heart, you may be a perfect match to adopt a waiting child. Adoptive parents can be single, married, or partnered; experienced or not; renters or homeowners; LGBTQ singles and couples.

The process to adopt a child from foster care requires training, interviews, and home visits to determine if adoption is right for you, and if so, to help connect you with a child or sibling group that your family will be a good match for.

To learn more about adoption from foster care, call the Massachusetts Adoption Resource Exchange (MARE) at 617-964-6273 or visit www.ma-reinc.org. The sooner you call, the sooner a waiting child will have a permanent place to call home.

QCC's Early Childhood Education Lab School to reopen this fall

WORCESTER — The Children's School: Quinsigamond Community College's Early Childhood Education Lab School will reopen its doors in Fall 2021. The school is currently enrolling children for the 2021-2022 academic year, under the leadership of new Director Kristen Fuller.

"After careful review by our Administration and the QCC Board of Trustees, we made the decision to renew our commitment to the Children's School: Early Childhood Education Lab School and the opportunities it affords our students and the young children in our community," said QCC President Luis G. Pedraja, Ph.D.

The Children's School: Early Childhood Education Lab School serves as a lab/training site for students majoring in Early Childhood Education and is an integral part of the program. It provides supervised student participation and field placement experience for Early Childhood Education Associate Degree students.

"I am very excited to have joined a team of dedicated professionals and to have children return to the QCC campus," Ms. Fuller said.

"The School was established as a resource for QCC students, but has become a true model of collaboration and commitment to top-notch, high-quality education and care of children between the ages of two years, nine months to five years," Ms. Fuller said, adding that the School will have a daily capacity of 28 children.

The Children's School: Early Childhood Education Lab School was the first center granted the highest level on the Massachusetts Quality Rating and Improvement System (QRIS). The QRIS is a method used to assess, improve, and communicate the level of quality in early child care, early child care education, and after-school settings.

Olympic trivia

It's nice to have a distraction from the rollercoaster that was 2020, with the summer Olympics plastered all over television and social media. Watching athletes from all over the globe show off what they've been training for shows us all what can be possible when we set a goal.

With that said, we thought it would be interesting to share some Olympic trivia.

In 1998, Surya Bonaly, a figure skater from France fell during the winter games in Nagano. Since she knew she lost a chance to medal, she decided to do a move that had been banned since 1976. She did a backflip and landed on the blade of one skate. No one has attempted the trick since then, making her Olympic performance, one to remember.

From 1912 through 1954, individuals could earn medals for art, as long as it was inspired by a sport of some kind. The art could include painting, literature, sculpture or music. Eventually, this was tossed out, as most professional artists sell their work to earn a living.

In 2002, during the Winter Olympics, speed skater Steven Bradbury of Australia was racing in the 1,000 meter short track finals and was lagging behind. During the race, the leaders crashed into each other, leaving Bradbury far enough behind to avoid the collision. He was able to skate by and win gold.

The first modern Olympic Marathon (26.2-mile road race) took place in 1904. Most of the runners had never run that far before. One competitor showed up to the start line in dress pants. Fourteen out of the 32 racers were able to finish. One racer, Fred Lorz who won, actually jumped in a car for 11 miles of it due to a cramp. Another runner, Felix Carvajal ate a rotten apple halfway through and stopped to take a nap. He finished fourth. The gold officially was given to Thomas Hicks who was carried over the finish line having hallucinations that he had 20 more miles to go.

During the summer of 1992, the Lithuanian basketball team did not have enough money to compete in the Summer Olympics due to the collapse of the Soviet Union. Coming to the rescue and offering aid to the team was, unexpectedly and, frankly, bizarrely, the Grateful Dead, the rock band with a legendary reputation for imbibing, shall we say, 'illicit substances.' Beyond donating money to make the trip possible, the band allowed the team to sell Grateful Dead merchandise. The team competed in tie-dyed uniforms, and took bronze.

In 1984, McDonald's offered free food every time an American won a medal. During those summer games, the Soviet Union boycotted the games, leaving many open spaces for medals available. This ended up costing the fast food chain a significant amount of money.

True sportsmanship was shown during the Winter Olympics in 2006, held in Torino, Italy, when skier Sara Renner broke her ski pole halfway through an event. Bjornar Haakensmoen, the Norwegian ski coach handed her a spare. The Canadians went on to win silver, while the Norwegians took fourth. To show gratitude the Canadians gifted Haakensmoen with five tons of maple syrup. Both governments waived import duties.

The medals for the Tokyo Olympics are made from recycled electronics to include cameras, smartphones and laptops.

The McDonald's in the Olympic Village is free for all athletes and coaches; however, in 2016 in Rio, McDonald's capped the amount of items that could be ordered at one time to 20.

From 1900-1920, Tug of War was an Olympic sport, with Great Britain winning the most medals and the USA coming in a close second.

In 1936, two Japanese pole vaulters, who were friends had to compete against each other to decide who took silver and who took bronze. The requested that they share the honors, but were told no. Shuhei Nishida and Sueo Oe had their medals cut in half and fused together, into the medals of friendship.

In 2012, women were finally allowed to compete in boxing. Since 1991, anytime a new event is introduced to the games, women must be included.

Dr. Spock, a well known pediatrician and author, won Olympic Gold as part of the 1924 U.S. rowing team.

OPINION/COMMENTARY

Guide to Harvesting Your Backyard Crop

It's harvest time and backyard gardeners everywhere are anticipating the well earned fruits of their labor. From plucking peppers to cutting cauliflower, proper harvesting ensures optimum flavor and nutrients from your home garden. Read on for the ways to up the odds of culling "the cream of the crop" from common vegetable and fruit plants.

Experts say the most important rule at harvest time is to pick vegetables daily. Plucking them as soon as they ripen not only offers superior taste, but this practice encourages plant production. Simply stated, harvesting on the day that the produce ripens can help you yield more from your seasonal crop. Furthermore, gardeners should be aware that some vegetables are best harvested when they appear premature. Examples include summer squash, zucchini and green beans, all vegetables can become tough and lose flavor when they are allowed to sit on the vine too long. Seed company Burpee offers expert advice on harvesting common fruits and vegetables:

Herbs. Pinch or cut back herbs frequently to keep them producing more stems and leaves (the parts we eat) and to keep them from blooming, which changes the flavor. If that means you have surplus thyme or oregano, dry it in a brown paper bag. Basil, especially, needs frequent pinching back to keep it bushy and productive. At some point in July or August everybody has too much basil, which is why the Italians invented pesto (find many recipes on the internet).

Tomatoes. There is a huge range of tomato varieties. Many kinds are red when ripe, but some are orange, yellow, striped or even green. Learn what to expect from your variety and monitor the plant closely as its due date nears. Generally, a tomato is fully ripe when it releases easily from the stem. If you misjudge a bit it's no tragedy, because tomatoes will ripen somewhat after picking. But they develop the fullest sweet flavor if they ripen in the sun on the vine. Once you have picked the first few tomatoes of a particular variety, you will get a feel for what a ripe one will look and taste like. Some tomatoes are "determinate" types, which will stop bearing after a few weeks. Most are "indeterminate" kinds, which will keep flowering and setting fruit until killed by frost, although colder weather will slow production. It's a good idea to pick your green tomatoes a week or so before your area's average first frost date. The more mature ones will ripen indoors if they are stored at room temperature, wrapped in newspaper so they don't touch. Or make fried green tomatoes.

Peppers. Peppers are mature and ready to eat when full-sized but still green. If left on the vine longer, they will change color to red, orange, yellow or brown, depending on the variety, and will deepen in flavor and become less crisp in texture. Hot peppers left to change color will get hotter. So whether you pick at the green stage or later will depend on the variety and what you plan to use the pepper for. As with tomatoes, the first few you pick will teach you to gauge ripeness.

Lettuce. It's important to pick lettuce before hot weather encourages the plant to "bolt," or develop a flower stalk, which makes the leaves taste bitter. With leaf lettuce and many other greens, you can "cut and come again" while the leaves are young and tender, no more than five inches long. Use scissors to cut the largest leaves individually from the plants. When the smaller leaves get big enough, harvest those. You may be able to come back to a plant two, three or four times, a few days apart, before it gives up in the summer heat. To prolong the lettuce harvest, look for bolt-resistant varieties and sow seeds several times at two-week intervals. A tent of shade cloth or translucent row cover -- or a site in part shade -- also may delay bolting in hot climates. In late summer, sow green seeds again for a fall crop.

Green beans. Green beans are an easy vegetable to harvest. Pick the pods when they are a little shy of their maximum size, to be sure that they are tender, with immature seeds. If you delay, the seeds will mature and harden and the pod will become tough. Don't pick green beans in the morning when the dew is still on the vines; wait until they are fully dry to avoid spreading disease. Be sure to keep up with regular picking to encourage the vine to keep flowering and producing pods.

Peas. For garden peas, pick a test pod and open it when the seeds have begun to swell inside. You're looking for peas that are round but still tender. Pick peas just before you are ready to shell and cook them. For snow peas and sugar snaps, taste a pod when it nears full size. You want a crisp, crunchy, fresh-tasting pod, in which the seeds have started developing but are nowhere near round. Pods left too long on the vine get tough and stringy.

Cantaloupes, muskmelons and honeydews: Harvesting melons can be tricky, even for melon farmers. You can thump the melon and listen for a dull, hollow sound or sniff it to see if it smells sweet. A ripe cantaloupe or muskmelon will begin to have a tan or yellowish color beneath the corky «netting» on its skin. A honeydew will feel smooth, not hairy. Cut the stem rather than breaking the fruit off, which creates a wound that invites the fruit to rot. Let the fruit ripen for another day or two at room temperature before cutting into it.

Watermelons. When the spot beneath the melon, where it sits on the ground, turns yellowish, rather than white or green, the melon is close to ripe. The rind also gets tougher, so test it with your thumbnail to how easily it dents. For old-fashioned full-sized watermelons, the traditional ripeness test is to thump and listen for a dull, hollow sound, but this may not work as well with the smaller «ice-box» varieties. Ultimately, you'll have to cut one open and decide if its ripe, and use that as a standard for the rest of the crop.

Cucumbers. Check the seed packet to see how large your variety of cucumber will get and how long that is expected to take. But bear in mind that you can pick cucumbers at any stage, depending on what you want to use them for. Smaller ones will be more tender, with thinner skins and few or immature seeds. Too-old cucumbers get dry and woody. Like melons, cucumbers should be cut from the vine, not pulled.

Sweet corn. Timing is everything with sweet corn. The kernels begin to lose sweetness and flavor the instant the ear is picked, so the great advantage of growing your own is so you can wait until the last minute. The traditional rule was to get the pot of water boiling to cook the corn and then go out and pick it. Sweet corn is ready to eat when you can feel full, rounded kernels beneath the husk; the silk at the top of the ear is drying out; and a squished kernel produces a milky sap.

Root vegetables. Read the seed packet to see how long it should take before you start checking to see if your variety of carrots, beets, turnips, radishes or parsnips is ready for harvest. When it's about time, loosen the soil gently and pull one up to see how big it is. Root vegetables are more tender and delicate in flavor if eaten younger and smaller; as they get older and larger, they get tougher, woodier and more pungent. If that's okay with you, you can store some root crops right in the cold ground after the tops die. Spread a thick layer of leaves, straw or other mulch to keep the ground from freezing so you can still dig them up, and you may be able to harvest carrots, turnips or parsnips.

Who should own a 529 plan?

FINANCIAL FOCUS
DENNIS ANTONOPOULOS

If you have young children (or grandchildren), you may be thinking of ways to save for their future educational needs. You might consider a 529 plan, which offers tax advantages and other benefits. But a 529 plan also brings with it a key question: Who should be the owner?

You could choose to own the 529 plan yourself and name a child or grandchild as the beneficiary. And as the owner, you're free to name another family member as a beneficiary if the original one chooses not to use the 529 plan assets for qualified educational purposes. You can also designate a successor owner, so that the assets won't have to go through probate if you pass away.

As an alternative, you could establish a custodial account (commonly called UGMA or UTMA). In a custodial account, the 529 plan is owned by the minor child, who is also the beneficiary, and the child gains full control of the account once he or she is of legal age (usually 18 or 21). Until the child reaches this age, you, as custodian, control the account and you can designate a successor custodian to step in if you become incapacitated or pass away. Generally, the beneficiary cannot be changed unless the child passes away.

The end results of a custodial 529 plan are similar to those of a traditional, parent-owned plan. The ownership model won't affect the amount accumulated in the plan, and the custodial and traditional arrangements will have the same impact on the beneficiary's eligibility for need-based financial aid. In both a custodial 529 plan and a traditional 529 plan, the assets are reported as parental assets on the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA). A maximum of 5.64% of parental assets are looked at for financial aid calculations, compared to 20% of student assets.

So, which is preferable – a traditional or custodial 529 plan? There's no one right answer. But keep a few points in mind:

Taxes – If you move UGMA/UTMA assets into a custodial 529 plan, you could incur taxes. Before making this decision, consult with your tax advisor.

Beneficiary's control of assets – Upon reaching 18 or 21, a child gains control of a custodial 529 account and can use the assets for any purpose. If the money isn't used for qualified educational expenses, the child will incur taxes and penalties.

Grandparent ownership – Grandparents can choose to own a traditional 529 plan account or open a custodial 529 plan account for a grandchild. A grandparent-owned 529 plan's distributions could hurt a student's eligibility for need-based federal financial aid, but distributions from a custodial 529 plan account are not reported on the FAFSA. However, if you're a grandparent, and you're considering opening either type of 529 account, you might want to check with a school's financial aid office well before the money is needed.

Think carefully before deciding on the ownership of a 529 plan and get the help you need from your tax professional and financial advisor. A 529 plan can be a valuable tool, so you'll want to maximize its benefits.

Adventures with Molly

By Ralph W. True, Sr.

Planet earth is under attack on all fronts again. Wildfires in the West and floods in other parts of the country, along with mud slides, are extremely devastating to the people and wild-life, in the areas. Not to forget to mention tornadoes that are ripping apart whole towns in their path. Now we need to deal with a new Delta variant of Covid-19. Will life ever get back to normal? Whatever that is! Finally, my little 13-inch beagle Molly has opened up on rabbits, and had the longest drive of her life in my backyard this past Sunday afternoon. She started to bark in the backyard, ly opened the gate and she shot out of the gate entrance like a bullet. She was quickly vocal as she ran towards the rabbit that quickly disappeared into the brush. Soon she was barking and yodeling as she trailed the elusive rabbit. The rabbits seem to have as much fun as the beagle, as they try to outsmart the dog.

This week's second picture shows my beagle Molly after a great hunt on a cotton tail rabbit.

I could hardly believe what my ears were hearing. For years, this writer had owned beagles that I ran on snowshoe hare a couple of times a week at the Douglas state forest with a couple of friends. Back in the day we had a half dozen dogs or more chasing and driving rabbits for hours. Rabbit populations are exploding throughout the valley and show no signs of slowing down. Maybe the Blackstone Valley Beagle Club could once again have their members hunting rabbits and owning beagles like we once did back in the day. Unfortunately, there are very few snowshoe hare to run the dogs on, but cottontail are still a lot of fun to hunt and train the beagles on. This week's picture shows the happy beagle Molly. Every dog had a different bark. Some yodeled, some squeaked, some had a distinct bark, so that every dog owner could identify his dog. Hopefully, Molly will continue to improve before the hunting season. Maybe just maybe, she will continue to be vocal and hunt down a few pheasant for me to harvest, as beagles are great for hunting both rabbits and pheasant. Hunting season is not far away! I know I am rushing it! Captain Mel True, Jr. had a party of anglers enjoyed a day of fishing on his boat "Fish Net Charters" last week. The four anglers landed their limit of stripers, but not before releasing 30- & 40-pound fish because they were too large or too small. Then they limited out on large seabass, and finally finished catching a good number of huge bluefish. Sounds like they had a good day. Freshwater bass fishing also remained strong this past week with this week's photo showing an angler with a 5.5-pound beauty. One local angler reported catching 16 largemouth bass last week at a small pond in Uxbridge, while fishing from his kayak. The largest was three and a half pounds! Numerous small-mouth bass were also reported last week. The Uxbridge Rod & Gun Club will hold another Chicken Bar-B Q this Sunday along with another archery shoot which is open to the public. Come on down. Take A Kid fishing & Keep Them Rods Bending!

Positively Speaking

Benjamin Franklin said, "... nothing can be said to be certain, except death and taxes."

He wasn't the originator of the phrase, but he certainly helped to cement it as a mainstream idiom here in America.

I've begun to feel that the idiom isn't precisely true. Sure, death comes to us all, and we all must pay taxes. To me, it makes more sense to say, "nothing is certain, except loss and taxes."

All of us deal with loss in our lifetimes. Coping with a loss is never easy. Loss comes in many forms and all shapes and sizes.

Some people can go through life not losing much at all, and others sometimes lose everything.

Zig Ziglar said, "It's not what happens to you; it's how you handle what happens to you that will make the difference..." Two brothers had an alcoholic father. One brother became a happy, successful person, and when asked why he said, "I had no choice; my father was an alcoholic." The other brother became a miserable alcoholic, and when asked why he said, "I had no choice; my father was an alcoholic."

The brothers had the same experience but created different narratives.

When I was younger, I met a beautiful girl. I don't believe in love at first sight, but this was the closest thing to it. It was a short relationship, only seven months.

POSITIVELY
SPEAKING
MOORE

She left me abruptly after telling me many times that she loved me. I felt as if my whole world was ending. I became bitter and hostile for a time, and despite my positive upbringing, it was the first time I'd lost something that had such profound meaning. My reaction made things much worse. I created a narrative in my mind that became a destructive thought pattern that brought even more heartache; I allowed it to fester, nourished it, and it became my personality for a time.

My father, Gary W. Moore, the founder of this column, lost a business that he poured into his heart and soul. He built a business from scratch that sold state-of-the-art water filtration systems. He had a factory, sales teams, and offices around the country. His offices in New Orleans had become his most profitable. The future seemed bright; little did he know that loss was knocking at his door.

It all started when his business partner embezzled several hundred thousand dollars. Then the managers of his most profitable sales offices in Louisiana made counterfeit water filters, selling them, keeping the money, bypassing the inventory process. Sales slumped, lawsuits were filed. Then came Hurricane Katrina; it destroyed all of his offices in New Orleans. The business had collapsed. Through all of this, he was determined to recover. Limping along, barely surviving, the housing collapse of 2008 brought it to an end.

He could have become negative. He could have positioned himself as a victim. He could have given up, and nobody would've blamed him.

He did the opposite and seamlessly moved into a new career as an author. He convinced himself that he would succeed, that it would only be a matter of time before his books would sell. It wasn't long, and his books were selling. An Oscar-winning producer optioned his first book, and his second book was adapted into a screenplay by a different Oscar-winning producer! What are the odds? Did it have anything to do with the narrative he created in his mind?

Gary passed away on July 14. It was a terrible loss for the whole family. He was our anchor.

For the past several years, I spoke to my father daily. We have written screenplays together and started what we think will be a very successful business.

As I move forward without him, sometimes the thoughts creep in, "I can't do this, I wasn't meant to succeed, my business will be an utter failure without my dad."

Observing my father and studying how other successful people cope with loss, I know enough to kill those thoughts right as they manifest. I am instead telling myself what my father would have said to himself if he were in my position, "I can do this; I was born to win; the business will be wildly successful!"

Create your own backyard paradise

You don't need a plane ticket, tank full of gas or train ride to enjoy a bit of paradise. Create your own in a small alcove, large patio, or deck in your own backyard.

Start by visualizing what paradise looks and feels like to you. A table and chair surrounded by beautiful plants makes a wonderful space to relax, read a book and enjoy some alone time. For some, it means a patio or deck filled with colorful planters and surrounded by ornamental grasses, vine covered trellises, flowering shrubs, and evergreens. These will help define the space, provide privacy, mask unwanted noise, and provide a great space for entertaining.

Don't let a lack of space, patio, or deck stop you from building a backyard getaway. Look for those underutilized areas. Perhaps it is a back corner of the yard, space next to the garage, side yard or a spot under a big shade tree. A vine covered arbor, piece of indoor-outdoor carpet and a few planters can turn any space into a backyard retreat.

Once you identify the space and desired function, think about the ambience you want to create. For a tropical escape, include leafy plants like elephant ears and bananas in pots, wicker furniture, a water feature and colorful flowers like begonias, hibiscus, and mandevilla. Don't overlook hardy perennials. Plants like big leaf hostas, variegated Solomon's seal, crocosmia, cassia and others help create the look and feel of the tropics. Continue this theme by using bamboo, wicker, and wood for any needed screening.

If it is a visit to the Mediterranean you prefer, include stonework, planters with silver foliage plants like dusty miller, and sage and a few evergreens. Use upright junipers and grapevines trained on arbors for screening. An urn or topiary make an attractive focal point. Fill the garden space with herbs, blue oat grass, calendula, salvia, and alliums.

For a casual visit to England, craft yourself a cottage garden. Construct a narrow path leading through an archway at the entrance to your secret garden. Create an informal collection of flowers, herbs, and medicinal plants. Use a birdbath, piece of garden art or water feature as your focal point.

If it's the north woods you prefer, make a firepit the focal point, add some rustic furnishings and complete the scene with native plants. Or let your personality shine with a colorful bistro set, garden art, and flowers of orange, red, and yellow.

As your vision comes into focus, it is time to start putting your ideas on paper. A simple sketch will help you define the space, arrange the plants, and identify the appropriate furnishings and building materials. It is much easier to move items on paper than once they are set into the ground.

Always contact your local underground utility locating service at least three business days in advance. It's free and as easy as calling 811 or filing an online request. They will contact all the appropriate companies who will mark the location of their underground utilities in the designated work area. This reduces the risk of injury and inconvenience of accidentally knocking out power, cable, or other utilities as you enhance your landscape.

Because this important step is often overlooked, August 11th has become National 811 Day. It's a reminder to include this important step when undertaking any landscape project, large or small. And remind others to do the same.

Once complete, you'll simply be able to step out your back door and enjoy your slice of paradise.

Local students inducted into National Society of Leadership and Success

MANCHESTER, New Hampshire — Local Saint Anselm College students, including Marc Durocher of Auburn, have been accepted into Sigma Alpha Pi, a national society of leadership and success, for the 2020-2021 academic year.

Membership in Sigma Alpha Pi is by invitation based on criteria determined by local chapter leaders. Students are selected by their college for membership based on their academic standing and/or leadership potential. Candidacy is a nationally recognized achievement of honorable distinction providing students with an opportunity to build their leadership skills, network with other successful students, and stand out as valued candidates to graduate schools and employers.

Sigma Alpha Pi was founded with the sole purpose of creating lasting positive change by encouraging community action, volunteerism and strong leadership. It is the largest collegiate leadership honor society in the United States with 722 chapters and more than 1.3 million members nationwide. The Saint Anselm College Society Chapter was established in 2016.

ABOUT SAINT ANSELM COLLEGE: Founded in 1889, Saint Anselm College is a nationally-ranked four-year liberal arts college providing a 21st century education in the Catholic, Benedictine tradition. Located in the greater Boston region in southern New Hampshire, Saint Anselm is well known for its strong liberal arts curriculum, the New Hampshire Institute of Politics, commitment to inclusiveness, a highly successful nursing program, and a legacy of community service.

Coleman Picard of Auburn named to University of Hartford's Dean's List

WEST HARTFORD, Conn. — The University of Hartford is pleased to announce Coleman Picard of Auburn has been named to its Dean's List for Spring 2021.

Spread across seven dynamic schools and colleges, the University of Hartford has been guiding the purpose and passion of students for over six decades. On our 350-acre campus alongside Connecticut's capital city, approximately 4,600 undergraduate and 2,000 graduate students representing 49 states and 47 countries come together for a common purpose: to collaborate across different disciplines, diversify perspectives, and broaden worldviews. We're a four-year private university focused on advancing the public good through meaningful connections within our communities. Our unique approach to comprehensive education gives us the critical perspectives that lead to impactful change, regionally and beyond. With degree programs spanning the arts, humanities, business, engineering and technology, education, and health professions, we focus on doing the work that matters. Fun By The Numbers

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

MIRACULOUS PRAYER TO THE HOLY SPIRIT

Holy Spirit, you who makes me see everything and shows me the way to reach my ideal, you who gives me the divine gift to forgive and forget all the wrong that is done to me, and you who are in all instances of my life with me. I, in this short dialogue, want to thank you for everything, and affirm once more that I never want to be separated from you no matter how great the material desires may be. I want to be with you and my loved ones in your perpetual glory. Amen

Welcome to our 3rd Annual Summer Scramble!

We've decided to change it up for Summer and instead of a crossword puzzle, we've created a scramble. We hope you'll enjoy this challenging puzzle! Please find the answers (business names) on the ABC's of SUMMER on page 2. We will unscramble for you and announce a winner of a $25 Gift Card to an ABC Business in the August 27th issue. Please mail to ABC's of Summer Scramble, P. O. Box 90, Southbridge, MA 01550 or take a pic and email to jsima@stonebridgepress.news by August 18. Good luck!

Hitchcock Academy presents Seventh Annual Sip and Stars fundraiser

BRIMFIELD — For the seventh year in a row, Hitchcock Academy, with generous support from Country Bank and B.T.'s Smokehouse, presents summer's best opportunity to make a wish on a shooting star. For either of two nights, Wednesday, Aug. 11 or Thursday, Aug. 12 from 6 to 10 p.m., viewers can enjoy libations from Brimfield Winery and Rapsallion Brewery while watching the summer's best star show under the wide open sky at the Brimfield Winery Field on Route 20 in Brimfield.

Each admission ticket includes a full pour of wine or beer and a laser guided tour of the night sky by Geoff and Kim McClean, who are the Lead Night Sky Rangers with The Last Green Valley. The McClean's will bring telescopes for up close viewing of the meteors as well as providing a Wi-Fi transceiver option allowing guests to use their cell phones to see the display in real time just as it appears through telescope lens. All Sip and Stars guests have to do is follow this exact link: <http://192.168.0.116:7094> to connect. No password required. Aug. 11 and 12 are peak gazing opportunities for the annual Perseid Meteor shower, which have been known to show 50 to 100 meteors per hour. In the early hours before sunset crowds can enjoy music by James Paul on Wednesday or by Kitchen Jam on Thursday. Stargazers are invited to pack a picnic supper, or they have the option to splurge from B.T.'s Smokehouse food truck, which will be serving both nights. No outside alcoholic beverages will be allowed.

This is the second year the Hitchcock Academy summer benefit, which combines the local area's favorite beverages with a guided tour of the season's best natural nighttime light show, will span two nights. Tickets are $25 for patrons 21 and over; under 21 tickets are $10 and are available at www.hitchcockacademy.org under the Events section. Bring a blanket. Set up a chair. Don't forget the bug spray and a flashlight.

Hitchcock Academy Executive Director Cindy Skowrya noted in the case of overcast skies or a rain interruption, an astronomy demonstration will take place under the covered pavilion and there will be live music to enjoy. Skowrya urges people to get their tickets in advance as there is, "no guarantee of ticket availability at the door." She also said that summer's best chance to enjoy fresh air, good company, great music, and the beauty of the night sky would not be possible without the generous support of B.T.'s Smokehouse, Country Bank, Brimfield Winery and Rapsallion Brewery. Sip and Stars checks off all the boxes for a summertime ritual while supporting the goals of a great community organization.
