

The handy man can

My father never fails to amaze me. There is nothing in this world (at least not that I know of) that the man cannot fix. He is the most creative, innovative and inventive handyman I know.

Which would lead you to believe that I naturally inherited this trait, being the heir to his bloodline.

Well...not so much.

I'm glad I have a job that doesn't require me to repair, fix or tend to things, because I wouldn't last long. As a homeowner, don't get me wrong, I've picked up some things over the past few years, but I have a long way to go.

It's amazing how many things just decide to randomly fall apart around the house. A screen door currently sits in two pieces in my mudroom, awaiting replacement. That same mudroom, mind you, remains incomplete itself, still needing drywall and a variety of other things. The floors show their age, with the various dents and stains that three decades of wear and tear would show. Some may say it adds character — at least, that's what I like to say. The deck needs repairing...and don't get me started on that back yard.

When we moved in to our house more than two years ago now, the very same house I grew up in, my wife and I were forced to be handier that we were used to. Appliance purchases were made, the entire house was repainted, a kitchen was completely redone — it was a crash course in all things home ownership.

Unlike my father, who can figure out any project just by looking at it (he has an engine in his garage that he built from scratch — I think it might be his super power), I am more of a “read the instruction manual” kind of guy. My father was more than happy to show me things growing up, and he did...many times, but I never took to it like my brother did. My brother was the handy one, too. I was the artsy one. I preferred drawing pictures over building Legos. I enjoyed sports, while my brother loved cars.

This past summer, I took the initiative in completing a small landscaping project in my front yard, repurposing an old tree stump that was quite the eyesore, and instead, making it the centerpiece, surrounding it with mulch and various flowers, bordering it with bricks that have been laying around for years, giving it a nice vintage feel. It's not the classiest presentation you'll ever see, but I was happy with it, a small notch in my handy man's belt. It looked better than it did before. It was no construction project, but I'll take it.

As the calendar nears February, and the days of spring grow closer and closer, my brain is beginning to think of the projects that will be at the top of the agenda once the weather warms. Maybe that deck will finally get done after years of talking about it. Maybe that bathroom floor will finally get replaced. Maybe the basement will finally be finished. Maybe the garage will finally get re-organized.

Thank goodness my father lives next door.

Willardson hits the ground running

RECAPS FIRST MONTH ON THE JOB

BY JASON BLEAU
NEWS STAFF WRITER

WEBSTER — Town Administrator Doug Willardson has gotten off to a quick start, so it seems, judging by his latest report to the Board of Selectmen on Jan. 9.

During his personal report, which the town administrator provides at every Board of Selectmen meeting, Willardson laid out how he has spent his first month in the position learning how Webster can progress forward and preparing to the upcoming budget discussions that will likely dominate the next few months of his job. The new town administrator split his report into several areas of focus, laying out how he has worked to address each one since starting his new job on Dec. 12.

The first of these was public health and safety, where Willardson said he put a focus on learning from other area law enforcement and public safety agencies to tackle the persistent opioid epidemic in Webster.

“I reached out to the Worcester Department of Health to see how they have dealt with the opioid crisis and other substance abuse problems,” Willardson told selectmen. “I also contacted the state to ask what resources we have available to us.”

Willardson said he would be working with Harrington Hospital, which has a campus in Webster, and other agencies, to create a task force for a “coordinated response” to the issue. Exactly who will be part of that task force has yet to be discussed in full.

BOS approves lease for solar farm

CONTRACT ‘LOOKS GOOD’ FOR RESIDENTS

BY JASON BLEAU
NEWS STAFF WRITER

OXFORD — Oxford is preparing to sign a lease for the latest solar farm looking to call the town home.

Selectmen addressed the document during their Jan. 10 meeting, where Town Manager Brian Palaia explained that the solar farm would be developed on town property east of Industrial Park East. The parcel was evaluated several years ago and a vote was taken that allowed it to be leased for a solar park or farm, leading to Citizens Energy being named the winning bidder in that process.

“They proposed a lease revenue to the town of $160,000 a year. We've spent the last year or so negotiating the lease,” Palaia explained to selectmen. “There were some complications because Massachusetts is changing the regulatory process of dealing with the solar credits so things have sort of been up in the air as we worked through those issues, but we finally got to a point where we have a finalized lease.”

Palaia explained the lease will last for 20 years and would allow Citizens Energy to bring in their equipment, set it up, and go about their business. Should they decide to relocate after the lease is up the town will have a decommissioning bond in place that will require the company to restore the property to SPENCER — An early morning car crash on Jan. 22 took the life of the driver and injured a passenger after the vehicle they were traveling in slammed into a tree in Spencer.

Police report that the accident occurred at 5 a.m. on Sunday, Jan. 22, when a 2004 Ford Mustang traveling north on Greenville Street in Spencer left the roadway for unknown reasons. The Mustang struck a tree on the passenger side, causing significant damage to the vehicle and forcing Spencer emergency responders to utilize extrication equipment to remove both occupants from the vehicle after arriving on scene.

Police reported a single fatality as a result of the incident. Joe Elias, a 23-year-old Webster native, was pronounced dead at the scene due to injuries sustained from the accident. A passenger, Kyla Olsen,

Six trees to be removed along Dresser Hill Road

DUDLEY — It might not be the project they expected, but officials in Dudley have thrown their support behind a minor Department of Transportation (DOT) project that they believe will benefit the safety of commuters in the town. Dudley Highway Superintendent Daniel Gion spoke with selectmen on Jan. 9 during a public hearing concerning the project and explained that DOT has petitioned the town to remove six trees from Route 31, better known as Dresser Hill Road. “This project they're doing along route 31 is to enhance the visibility for motorists. Originally the project was going to remove and straighten out some curves in that roadway along with some additional signage, installing additional guardrails and removing some trees and brush. It's my understanding that the project has been cut back severely with the money going to different parts of the state, but the one thing that stayed the same is that we remove these trees,” Gion said.

Selectmen approved the plan seeing it as a much needed safety improvement for that roadway as the trees in question are considered sight hazards. Gion said all the trees are healthy, but pose a risk to motorists on the heavily traveled roadway, which is a main thoroughway between Dudley and Charlton.

“The first section of trees to come down is on the southern portion of the entrance of hickory

Town honors Winn Residential employees for contributions

BY JASON BLEAU
NEWS STAFF WRITER

WEBSTER — Webster's finest joined the Board of Selectmen on Jan. 9 in presenting a proclamation to Winn Residential representatives Denise Incutto and Leanne Chalifoux, for their contributions to several yearly town-wide events, many involving volunteers and employees of Webster emergency response units.

Webster Police Lt. Michael Shaw was the first to offer his praise to both Incutto and Chalifoux for their undying support of several programs organized by the Webster Police, Fire and EMS over the last few years. Shaw said the pair, through their employment at Winn Residential, have been essential to helping find success with the town's Winter Wonderland event and National Night Out, both events that inspire a sense of community between Webster emergency responders and townsfolk.

"Four years ago, when I got promoted to lieutenant we started working together, and one of the things we developed was a pretty good partnership doing some things at the village and getting some programs under way, sports camps and whatnot, and really focusing on that and essentially cleaning that place up," Shaw said, mentioning North Village on Village Way in Webster, which is operated through Winn Residential. "In that time that partnership has branched out to the fire department and the Webster EMS. They've been instrumental for the last couple of years working with the town."

Shaw said both Incutto and Chalifoux have donated their time and energy to make several town events "something to look forward to" as emergency responders have worked to establish programs and events that allow them to better connect with the public in Webster.

"They've given their own time and they give us resources from Winn Residential. This is long overdue. The town owes them a sincere debt of gratitude for what they've done," said Shaw. "They are an integral part of these events and what they do is the essence of community involvement. Those events have become so town wide we couldn't do it without the fire department, DPW, help from the school, and no way could we do it without Wynn Residential."

Selectman Donald Bourque read the proclamation before the public noting that it recognized both Incutto and Chalifoux for their continued support to the town of Webster. Bourque said the partnership has certainly contributed to the success of several community events and that their support deserves to be commended.

"Their commitment to this community is most appreciated by not only its residents, but also it's partners, whereas through their tireless efforts the town of Webster has seen in annual events such as Winter Wonderland and National Night Out not only bring the resident of Webster together, but also brings together numerous agencies to work together and create a positive a meaningful experience to the town of Webster," Bourque read.

Chalifoux was the only one of the two ladies who spoke following the presentation of the proclamation. She said they were humbled by the recognition and look forward to continuing that partnership for years to come.

"It's a honor to be able to be a part of working with the police department and fire department," said Chalifoux. "It's been an awesome journey and we hope to continue it. Winn takes pride in their properties and that's what they're all about is community service - It's about getting into the community and working and we hope to continue that."

Center of Hope receives $25K donation

GIFT COURTESY OF FAMILY OF COH FOUNDERS

Jim Howard from the Center Of Hope holds up a check from Lawrence and Bonnie Spinelli for $25,000.

BY OLIVIA RICHMAN
NEWS STAFF WRITER

SOUTHBRIIDGE — On Dec. 21, the Center of Hope received a check for $25,000 from Lawrence Spinelli, the son of the Center of Hope's founders. The emotional donation will help fund the Center's various programs that continue to make a huge impact on the community.

"It's nice that the founders of the organization are still giving to us, even 60 years later," said Director Cindy

Howard. "My first reaction to any kind of significant money is immediately emotional. That's a lot of money to give to us. We are so grateful. It helps us to provide services, especially unfunded services, for the community."

According to Howard, Lawrence restricted some of the funds to be used towards the Southbridge Day Rehabilitation Program, the program that his brother John participated in. The rest of the money could be used however the COH saw fit, where they feel it's most needed.

When asked where they would be using the money, Howard said they are contemplating a few different choices. One of their ideas is to work on the big commercial kitchen they are putting together. It will not only offer more opportunities for employment by providing kitchen positions, but help give program members various skills they'd need to get jobs within the community.

The COH also hopes to use some of the funds to support their large Special Olympics program and their Christmas gift-giving program for needy families.

"The Spinellis understand the need for the Center of Hope very well, since they did have a family member with a disability," said Howard. "They had John during a time when doctors told parents to leave their children with disabilities in institutions. They wanted people to understand that it wasn't the right thing to do. Back then they wanted folks to understand that they were 'no less precious,' that it's important to start looking at the whole disability community differently."

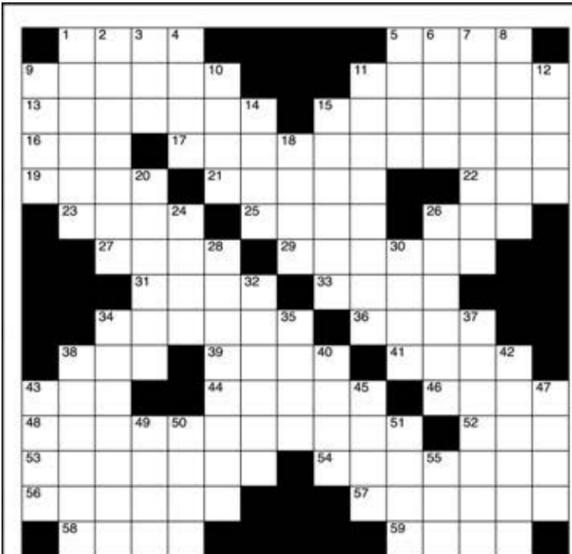

Anthony and Urcela Spinelli founded the Center of Hope in 1956. They were instrumental in getting the agency off the ground, said Howard. Their son, John, had intellectual disabilities and worked at Dexter Russell for many years.

In the last several years, the Center of Hope has served John in their program after the man retired. John unfortunately passed away a month ago.

"We are so grateful that there are families in our area that still consider our services so important," said Howard. "Without them we can't run some of our programs. It really makes a difference."

The Center of Hope has received a few other significant donations in the last couple of months, including one from the Dick Hoyt Foundation and the Herman Becker Charitable Foundation.

Friday’s Child

Anthony, who prefers to be called “AJ,” is an twelve-year-old boy of Caucasian descent. Anyone who knows AJ knows he is an avid coin collector. He also likes Pokemon cards, electronic games, sports and reading. He is a smart, straight forward child who appreciates knowing what is going on and what to expect. He refers to himself as an organizer because he always likes to have a plan! AJ enjoys going to school and reports his favorite subject to be math. Not only does he excel academically, he is able to have very insightful questions and he is willing to search for information when he lacks the knowledge on a specific topic. AJ receives support from an Individualized Educational Plan in order to help him with emotional support in school.

When asked what type of family AJ wants, he reports he wants a mom and a dad who are nice and have animals. He does very well with males and hopes to have a strong male role model in his life soon. It is recommended that AJ is the youngest or only child in the home.

Who Can Adopt?

Can you provide the guidance, love and stability that a child needs? If you’re at least 18 years old, have a stable source of income, and room in your heart, you may be a perfect match to adopt a waiting child. Adoptive parents can be single, married, or partnered; experienced or not; renters or homeowners; LGBTQ singles and couples.

The process to adopt a child from foster care requires training, interviews, and home visits to determine if adoption is right for you, and if so, to help connect you with a child or sibling group that will be a good match.

To learn more about adoption from foster care, call the Massachusetts Adoption Resource Exchange (MARE) at 617-54-ADOPT (617-542-3678) or visit www.mareinc.org. The sooner you call, the sooner a waiting child will have “a permanent place to call HOME.”

Nichols to host talk with author

DUDLEY — Nichols College will host a talk by Michael E. Neagle, Ph.D., assistant professor of history at Nichols, on his new book, "America's Forgotten Colony: Cuba's Isle of Pines," at 3:45 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 2.

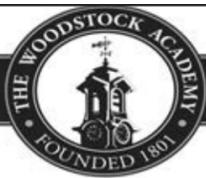

As diplomatic relations between the United States and Cuba thaw, the book (published in December 2016 by Cambridge University Press) examines private U.S. citizens' experiences on Cuba's Isle of Pines to show how American influence adapted and endured in republican-era Cuba (1902-58).

Professor Neagle's work has appeared in America in the World (Cambridge, 2013), A Companion to Woodrow Wilson, The Journal of the Gilded Age and Progressive Era; and Latino America: A State-By-State Encyclopedia. He has won grants from the Society for Historians of American Foreign Relations, the Tinker Foundation, the University of Connecticut Humanities Institute, and the University of Connecticut Center for Latin American and Caribbean Studies. Professor Neagle earned a bachelor's degree in history from the College of the Holy Cross and master's and Ph.D. degrees in history from the University of Connecticut.

The event, which is free and open to the public, will be held in the Conant Library on the Nichols campus, 123 Center Road. It is sponsored by The Robert C. Fischer Institute for Policy and Culture at Nichols College. Copies of the book will be available for purchase and signing.

The Fischer Institute gives opportunities outside the classroom for students to think critically and participate in the dialogue of worldwide contemporary issues and ideas across disciplines and cultures. Events are held throughout the academic year; most are open to the public.

NICHOLS COLLEGE STUDENTS ATTEND INAUGURATION

DUDLEY — Nichols College students and faculty were in Washington, D.C., to witness the inauguration of the 45th President of the United States, as part of a two-week program through The Washington Center's Presidential Inauguration Academic Seminar.

In addition to watching Donald J. Trump be sworn in as president, the 23 Nichols students—led by Assistant Professor of History Erika Cornelius Smith, Ph.D., and Psychology Professor Brian McCoy, Ed.D. — engaged with political players and media experts, gained access to important organizations and institutions (such as the U.S. Capitol building) throughout Washington, D.C.

Offering the program, which ran Jan. 8-21, 2017, to students seemed like the perfect opportunity to build on the civic leadership movement at Nichols, according to Professor Smith.

"Students in my political science courses last fall were frustrated by the rhetoric of the presidential campaigns, and our class conversations often turned into discussions of how we can rise above partisan disagreements to create real change and address many of the critical issues through bipartisan cooperation," she said. "At Nichols College, we try to provide students with opportunities to demonstrate leadership in campus organizations, on athletic teams, or in their professional business fields. Civic leadership and civic engagement is another form of leadership where Nichols students are uniquely prepared to offer their talents."

During the two-week Washington Center program, students focused on a different policy issue with speakers and panelists who had competing views on the subject. Visiting speakers were national political figures, journalists, and issue experts and scholars. Topics included: an election post mortem, immigration, race and equality, national security and foreign relations, the economy, and climate change. Students visited government agencies, embassies, think tanks, and other organizations around Washington, D.C., to further their exposure to various points of view on the transfer of presidential power.

The experiential learning opportunity — for which the students received academic credit — melded psychology and political science curricula to engender an interdisciplinary conversation about power, dissent, political discourse, and reconciliation. The students were challenged to elevate their critical thinking above the noise of the current political discourse and become part of a generation of leaders with the power to pursue bipartisan cooperation. They gained communication and critical thinking skills, and learned about ethics and personal accountability, civic and social engagement, and the importance of teamwork.

"It's important to listen to and connect with people who have different beliefs, backgrounds, and experiences other than your own," said Timothy Born of Millbury, a junior majoring in management and human resource management. "Especially regarding politics to help elevate the political discourse we have in this country. This program has given us skills and lessons we'll be carrying with us for many years to come."

Senior general business major Isabella St. Francis of Webster, Mass., said: "Nichols has allowed me to participate in an experience of a lifetime. The broadening sense of community and collaboration our group has participated in—including the National Day of Service on Martin Luther King Jr. Day in Washington, D.C. — will have a lasting positive effect on our future endeavors."

Students also learned how to approach a question or a problem from the perspective of multiple stakeholders; and to listen to, evaluate, and build consensus for a variety of viewpoints, solutions, or proposals for a particular problem.

"We have bright, thoughtful, creative students on our campus who could share their insights and ideas with their local communities," said Professor McCoy. "If we can't attract and equip these types of energetic, talented individuals into public service, we will have serious problems in the future in our American democracy."

In February, the students will present to the campus community on their experience in Washington, D.C.

The Washington Center is an independent, non-profit organization that provides college students challenging opportunities to work and learn in the nation's capital for academic credit. Over 300 students from 60 colleges and universities from across the country participated in this 9th annual Presidential Inauguration Academic Seminar.

Drug crisis, budget at top of TA priorities few years in regards to the town administrator position has been fiscal responsibility, something Willardson appears to be taking very seriously by immediately working to make sure the town is where it needs to be with free cash.

“Our free cash has been submitted to the Department of Revenue for FY2015. We expect certification probably the week of January 23rd. They’re currently busy with some tax certification processes, but we think we can get it by then,” Willardson told selectmen. “For the Fiscal Year (FY) 2015 audit, the same balance sheet was sent to them and we expect a similar completion date sometime in mid to late January. The FY 2016 free cash our goal is to have the balance sheet to the Department of Revenue by Feb. 15. Once the auditor gets that he can start his fieldwork. There will be some delay because of prior commitment he already has so we expect the FY 2016 audit to be completed in the spring.”

Willardson has also gotten a start on the FY 2018 budget process, sending out requests to different department in the Town Hall for requests concerning the 2018 spending plan to be reviewed later this month or in early February. He also said he will be looking at the current budget “line by line” and that the town is now in the process of analyzing health insurance options.

The last topics he discussed were economic development and infrastructure in Webster. Willardson noted he had met with the town’s development staff team and he plans to continue those meetings to discuss different projects for the town.

“On top of that we’re going to add a pre-application meeting where residents or developers, if they have a project, can come in and speak to appropriate parties and get the information before they start working on their project and filling out the application,” Willardson explained. “It’s kind of like a concierge program so people who want to develop something here in town will have all the information they need up front.”

On top of that, Willardson is working on developing a new Capital Improvement Plan for the town of Webster, one he said will involve capital improvement needs from all departments. He added that he has received a list from the town’s insurance carrier of the town’s insurable assets, which will help him and other create a replacement schedule to keep those assets up to date.

Selectmen move ahead with solar farm proposal its previous state before they moved in. Palaia also noted there is the possibility Oxford taxpayers could get some benefit from this project besides the obvious tax dollars the company would pay to the town.

“In their bid they had offered to develop a program to offer a certain amount of the credits that they generate from the solar farm back to Oxford households,” Palaia said. “Because of the uncertainty with the regulatory program we weren’t able to work out all of the uncertainties for how that will work, but we’ll be able to do that once Massachusetts defines what the regulatory program will be.”

Palaia clarified for selectmen that the profits the town would reap from the lease would not go into “new growth” in the budget but rather would be allocated to “other revenue” where the town could appropriate it for specific purposes as needed. He said he doesn’t believe the money should be part of the general fund but acknowledged that’s not his call.

Selectmen Dennis Lamarche stated open support for the lease and said he feels like the solar farm will be mutually beneficial for the town and Citizens Energy.

“I looked at the contract in detail. It looked really good to me,” Lamarche said. “I’m not a lawyer, but it seemed like the town was making out pretty good and hopefully maybe in the future the residents too.”

Selectmen did approve the lease but did not sign it at the meeting at the request of selectman Cheryll LeBlanc who wanted to read the lease fully before signing the document. This solar farm would bring Oxford to four farms up and running in the town according to Palaia, but there are seven approved in all. It’s the only one that would be on town property.

CRASH

a 21-year-old Leicester native, whose area of the vehicle struck the tree, according to photos from the scene of the incident, received significant injuries from the crash. She was extricated and transported to UMass Hospital. While the injuries were apparently bad enough to warrant her immediate transport to the hospital, the exact extent of those injuries were not divulged in the police report and her status as of this report was unknown.

No other passengers or occupants were reported to have been in the vehicle at the time of the crash and exactly how the crash occurred is under investigation. The Central Massachusetts Law Enforcement Council is conducting and investigation into the circumstances of the crash utilizing an accident reconstruction unit to assist Spencer Police in determining exactly what occurred that morning.

Reaction to the incident on social media has seen many sending prayers and well wishes to the families of both victims. Comments on the police report released on Facebook have ranged from simple “rest in peace” messages to tributes to Elias and well wishes and showing of concern for Olsen’s wellbeing. Witnesses who said they saw the Mustang in the area of the crash that morning have indicated the vehicle may have been traveling at a high rate of speed before the crash. Whether or not this is true or played a role in the accident will all be part of the police investigation where foul play, driver error, and other potential causes of the accident will all be examined.

Any information regarding this accident or any witness accounts should be reported to the Spencer Police Department at 508-885-6333.

Tree removal eyed to improve commuter safety drive. There are about three trees on the right hand side of that intersection that limit the visibility when pulling out of that intersection all the way down to the intersection of Dudley Southbridge Road,” Gion said. “Two other trees on the northern end of Hickory Drive that block the view pull out of there and with the speed the cars that come Route 31 there it’s definitely a problem. The last tree is at the northern end of Route 31 just past the intersection of Koebke Road. It’s actually a good-sized tree that splits in two. One part hangs over the road. It’s been hit a few times over the years.”

Gion said there is a seventh tree he personally would like to see the town remove, but that would need to be done at Dudley’s own expense and is not part of the DOT plan. Town Administrator Greg Balukonis assured selectmen that the trees are all off of private property and that there would be no issue with property owners when removing them. He added that Mass DOT decided these trees should be taken down after doing their own inspection.

Selectman John Marsi expressed his full support for the initiative, “Even though they’re healthy trees we get notifications of accidents on that road and all those intersections it seems like very frequently. Anything that will open the visibility up at a reasonable price I think is a good thing,” Marsi said.

When exactly the tree removal will take place was not specified during the public hearing and no citizens stood to object to the removal of the trees by the DOT.

Sleep away post holiday stress

TAKE THE HINT
 KAREN TRAINOR

Extreme exhaustion is a common side effect of the high-energy hustle and bustle of the holiday season. With sleep deprivation and post holiday stress taking its toll, often all it takes to cure "festive fatigue" is a good, long snooze – and now sleepers have society's blessing, as "Festival of Sleep Month" is celebrated each January.

The unofficial holiday offers a guilt free pass to relax, chill out, and catch up on some well-deserved Z's. Moreover, the day, which promotes sleeping, also encourages adequate slumber throughout the year, which can boost both physical and mental health.

In honor of "Festival of Sleep Day," this week's column shares sleep facts, suggestions and stats – all in the name of 40 winks!

Benefits of Proper Sleep: Getting the proper amount of sleep is of optimum important for good health, so it's necessary to get your nightly sleep quota. According to published reports, toddlers need 11 hours of sleep every night, plus a two-hour nap during the day; preschoolers require 11 to 12 hours of sleep a night; school-age children need 10 hours of sleep each night; Teens require nine and a quarter hours of sleep every night – most get less than eight and a half. And adults need about eight hours of sleep every night.

 Getting your share of quality sleep not only makes you refreshed, but experts reveal it boosts your immune system, which can halt a pending cold and flu virus.

 Good, deep slumber also helps turn back the clock because it sharpens your mind and defuses stress. It also rejuvenates your body. During sleep, your body secretes melatonin, cortisol, and other hormones that help you repair cells and burn fat according to experts.

 Sleeping well can also help ward off diabetes, according to a study by the Kettering Sleep Disorders Center of young, healthy adult males. When the participants decreased their sleep time to about four hours per night for six nights, every one of the healthy young men showed impaired glucose tolerance, a precursor to developing diabetes, according to the data. The study revealed after a few nights of regular sleep, the men in the diabetes study returned to a normal state of glucose tolerance.

 Medical research also points out a link between lack of sleep and obesity in both young and old. In one study, people who slept five hours per night were 73 percent more likely to become obese than those getting seven to nine nightly hours of sleep. In fact, one study found that lack of sleep was a bigger contributor to childhood obesity than any other factor.

Insomnia Cures: If you're always tired, you're not alone. The National Sleep Foundation in Washington D.C., conducted a study that revealed just 26 percent of adults said they get a good night's sleep a few nights a month or less. Another 24 percent say they get a good night's sleep only a few nights a week. In fact, to current medical and psychological research, over half of Americans are sleep deprived, and California studies show who have less than six hours sleep a night have a 70 percent higher mortality rate. People getting only six to seven hours of sleep every night have a longer life expectancy than those who sleep eight hours.

 Think your body will never miss a few winks of sleep? Think again. If you get

There have been plenty of newsworthy antique and auction happenings since the New Year.

A British piano tuner saw more than strings when they began work on a piano in Shropshire, England according to the UK Independent News. A "potential treasure" of gold described as "stunning" was hidden inside the piano. The current owners had been given the piano and consulted with "Peter Reavill of the British Museum's Portable Antiquities Scheme." The objects were mainly made of gold and "appear to have been deliberately hidden within the last 110 years." Experts are trying to trace the gold back to the original owners. If they aren't found, the government will claim the treasure.

The Dallas Observer reports that James Kenner brought a sculpture that had been in his family for many years to an "Antiques Roadshow" taping in Fort Worth. It belonged to his father's great aunt. Kenner's great grandmother then willed it to his grandmother. It was handed down to his father who told him that he would eventually pass it down to Kenner. There has been a change of plans though. The appraiser believed that it was an original work of Auguste Rodin who created his works in the late 19th and early 20th century. The Committee of Auguste Rodin has determined that it is an authentic Rodin sculpture. The appraiser estimated the value at $400,000 to $500,000. Instead of being passed down to Kenner, the piece is on its way to auction.

With the play "Hamilton" getting rave reviews it seemed like the perfect time for a descendant of Alexander Hamilton to sell some of his belongings. CNN reported that "Pacifcus VI" was a previously unknown essay where Hamilton debated James Madison over America's neutrality. It sold for $262,500. The document appointing him as General George Washington's aide-de-camp brought $212,500. A lock of Hamilton's hair brought $37,500. The total for the Hamilton items sold at auction was $2.6 million.

An auction was held after the "Hall of Presidents and First Ladies Museum in Gettysburg" closed in November. USA Today reported that more than 300 people attended the auction, which was held on Jan. 14. Wax figures of the first 44 presidents and "their miniature first lady counterparts" drew bidders from as far as Canada. The Jackie Kennedy Onassis figure at $550 and Hilary Clinton at $675 brought the highest prices for First Ladies. Theodore Roosevelt at $8,000 and Abraham Lincoln at $8,500 were the highest selling presidential figures. As our country was preparing for the peaceful transition of power figures of past presidents were transitioning their way to collections throughout North America.

Thank you to those who attended the Jan. 14 appraisal event in Athol and our live auction in Worcester on Jan. 26. Registration begins on February 6th for my "Evaluating Your Antiques" class at Bay Path Evening School in Charlton. The class takes place on March 6. Other events are being scheduled. REALTOR'S REPORT
 JAMES BLACK

1) I suggest you set an appointment with a realtor to come look at your home and give you a comparative market analysis. This will give you an idea of what you can expect from the sale of your home. They can also provide you with a net sheet that will outline an estimate of the costs of selling a home so you know what you can expect to receive after commissions and other closing costs.

2) If you are buying a home also and need to obtain a mortgage then you will want to get preapproved to ensure you can get the amount needed and not have a blemish on your credit that will not allow you to buy a home.

3) This is the time when you will employ your realtor by signing contracts and they can give you some suggested items to repair and staging ideas and/or provide a staging consultation from a professional stager.

4) Once any and all repairs are completed and staging is complete it is time to book the professional photographer to take pictures of the home and then the home gets listed on the multiple listing service as well as the other websites that the realtor will be advertising on.

5) You receive an offer on your home, negotiate the offer and sign it.

6) The buyers do a home inspection on the home, typically within 10 days of the signed offer.

7) If buyers move forward with the sale after the home inspection then you will sign another contract, which supersedes the first contract which is the purchase and sale agreement.

8) If you are buying another home and using the proceeds from the sale you would now start looking to find a home to offer on since you will typically need an accepted offer on your home to get an offer accepted on the home you are buying and you will coordinate dates for the two closings to coincide.

9) Then the appraisal will be done on your home, which is ordered by the bank to ensure the condition and value line up with the loan the buyers are going for.

10) At this point the bank underwriting department will make a final decision and decide if they give a commitment to do the loan and will typically provide a formal loan commitment letter. There are usually still items that need to get cleared up that are not crucial to the decision making at the bank.

11) Then they give a clear to close and schedule the closing. Typically the seller will be moved out prior to closing and the buyers will do a walk-through right before closing to verify the home is empty and in broom swept condition and all items agreed on in offer are left in the home.

As I wrote this I noticed I had to write typically several times because this is a decent guideline but your realtor based on your situation may advise differently or some of these steps may happen in a different order. This is why I always advise hiring a real estate professional to guide you through the process so they can see if your scenario may require a different strategy.

Online dating safety

CHIEF'S CORNER
 STEVE WOJNAR

The subject of on-line dating safety was recently brought to my attention. Our society now relies on the internet for many day to day activities. For this reason, more and more people are using web sites to find romance. In these situations, similar to most on-line activities, you must consider your security and personal protection. I wanted to provide a few safety tips for people to observe if they choose to date on line.

Dating web sites are available for nearly every life style. Whatever your belief or preference, you can find someone to match. Many of these sites offer safety tips for users. The same general precautions apply to most on-line activities. The key is to be smart whenever you are dealing with strangers on-line. Be certain to protect your personal information and financial documentation. Anytime someone is looking to know a great deal about you quickly or requesting money from you, it should cause you great concern. With this in mind, keep initial conversations general in nature. When meeting someone in person, always use common sense and trust your instinct. Do not knowingly put yourself in a situation that you feel leaves you vulnerable. If you are uncomfortable, make alternate plans. Be sure to keep your personal items, such as wallets and handbags with you at all times. This will limit opportunities for theft.

Whenever you arrange these initial meetings, make them in public places. It is never a good idea to go back to your home or to that of the other person. Arrange for your own transportation to and from these locations. It is a good idea to tell a friend or family member where you will be and make arrangements to contact them when you arrive and leave. Above all, and as difficult as it may be in some cases, try to remain sober. When people are intoxicated, they may have a tendency to lower inhibitions. This can lead to problems. If you do drink, be sure not to leave them unattended. This will limit the possibility of tampering.

Bottom line, when it comes to on-line dating, remember to take it slow. Use trusted companies that protect your privacy until such time as you wish to reveal it. You may also use the internet to your advantage and do your "homework" on people by viewing any public information available. This may be beneficial to you. Proceed cautiously into these situations and protect yourself and your personal information. Any valuable relationship should be worth the wait.

The story of the Tanheath Club

Numerous rod and gun clubs were organized in the Blackstone Valley many years ago.

A local group formed the Tanheath Club, in July of 1958. A small group of people held their first meeting at the Glean Maura farm in Ashland! This beagle club grew rapidly and had 60 people in the 50's, enjoying the weekly hunts at Lynbrook farm in Southborough! Residents David and Virgla Sibson and their children, along with Peter Guage, Mary Sanbon, Bill Albin, and others, decided on the new club's name (Tanheath) derived from "Tangle" a well-bred female dog, and "Heathen," a good hound from a good neighborhood.

The group later switched from running beagles to harriers, and started to hunt fox. There were three sizes of beagles back in the 60's — 13 inches, 15 inches and harriers which stood over 15 inches tall. The club most often rode on horseback, and followed the baying hounds through the wood lots as they tracked the elusive fox.

In 1959, Attorney Francis Cove, of Uxbridge, handled the club's incorporation, and the club was granted their colors by the National Beagle Club in 1960. The Tanheath Club later changed to all harriers and held mostly foxhunts in 1984, and became recognized by the Masters of Foxhounds Association of America. Harold "Spider" Kieth, of Douglas, also had a small group of hounds men outside of the "Tanheath Club" that ran their hounds on fox back in the day. Foxhunts are still held today, but use scented drags for the hunt.

Back in the 60's and 70's numerous other beagle clubs were formed throughout New England.

This writer and a group of local sportsmen formed the Blackstone Valley Beagle Club, which is still in existence in Douglas, but no longer enjoys the running of beagles. Rabbit populations have dwindled, and snow shoe hare can no longer be purchased live from Canada and stocked in local covers like the Douglas State Forest.

This writer owned a few beagles back in my younger years, and ran them in the Douglas State Forest for many years on snow shoe hare, along with local sportsmen like Jack Cunningham, Bob Blakely, George Mercer, Fran Magowan, Floyd Richardson and his wife Anna, Ray Green, Fred Pelch and others. The baying of the hounds was music to our ears as the hounds trailed the elusive hare through the Douglas Swamps for hours, before we finally caught them and headed for home at 1 a.m. in the morning.

After a few hours' sleep, it was back to work at the former Whitin Machine Works. Hunting cottontail rabbits almost every Saturday in the fall, provided this writer and other beaglers like Bob Campo and Mike Bikes, many enjoyable days in the field. There are still a handful of beagle owners that hunt cottontail rabbits in the fall locally, but most head out to neighboring

Great again and again

Due to the nature of deadlines and newspapers, I'm writing these words just hours before the Presidential Inauguration and the day before the Women's March on Washington, D.C. with over 600 "Sister Marches" scheduled both nationally and internationally, with the number of "Sister Marchers" estimated to be well over 1 million.

By the time you read this, President Trump will have been governing for approximately one week. He will have given speeches and made tweets. You will be feeling whatever it is you are feeling. Perhaps you're someone like President Trump and myself who shares your feelings publicly through venues like Twitter. Please know you are invited to follow me @PJsPeace.

You have your thoughts and feelings, as do I, about our new president, new policies and new forms of leadership. On Twitter, on the day of the inauguration, using a repeated theme of our president, I invited people to be great, again and again, by goodness and humility, and to write peace through the developing stories of their lives. Then, I was bold enough to speak to President Trump directly. I said: "#LISTEN WELL @realDonaldTrump with humility & love. This skill, above all else, changes lives and heals the world. #InaugurationDay"

Regardless of your politics, consider the million or so women who marched in the Women's March. Whether you agree or disagree with the various messages publically shared, whenever a million women from all over the planet get together to speak, it's important for everyone to listen, leaders and every common person.

These women come from all walks of life, all political persuasions and all socioeconomic backgrounds. They represent all religions (including no religion), races, sexual orientations and ages.

Their various life journeys have taught them to either be bold or submissive and yet, despite that, they marched together. Many of these women have suffered the injustices of low wages, the objectification of their bodies as sexual possessions and even deeper levels of violence to their minds, bodies and spirits. Many of these sister marchers live in countries where such actions pose genuine risks to their own lives and the lives of their families.

In addition to marches in cities across the United States, women marched in Argentina, Australia, Austria, The Bahamas, Belgium, Brazil, Bulgaria, Canada, Caribbean Netherlands, Cayman Islands, Colombia, Congo, Costa Rica, Czech Republic, Denmark, Ecuador, Finland, France, Georgia, Germany, Ghana, Greece, Madagascar, Malawi, Mexico, Myanmar (Burma), Netherlands, New Zealand, Nigeria, Norway, Peru, Poland, Portugal, Saint Kitts and Nevis, Saudi Arabia, Serbia, Singapore, Slovakia, Slovenia, South Africa, South Korea, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, Tanzania and the United Kingdom.

These women do not all think, believe, live or feel one way. And so, what is this collective voice of more than a million diverse women from all over the planet saying? In part, I believe, these women are simply saying their voices matter and that they ought to be counted equally among all other voices. Therefore, it is important that we respectfully listen and engage with them.

There are words in the sacred texts of many traditions, including my own, which urge women to be silent and submissive. Within The United Church of Christ, where women can serve in every level of church leadership, we take every word of the bible seriously, not literally. Yet in many communities 1 Timothy 2:11-15 (NRSV), "Let a woman learn in silence with full submission. I permit no woman to teach or to have authority over a man; she is to keep silent." is still used to keep women silent today. Fortunately, our scriptures also have the example of John 8:11 where Jesus risks his own safety to stand up for the life of a woman about to be stoned because she has broken the laws of men, saying in verse 7: "Let anyone among you who is without sin be the first to throw a stone at her." In a culture where women's work was entirely confined to the home as opposed to world leadership for the creation of the kingdom of God, Jesus invited women to travel as leaders in a revolutionary movement towards justice, peace and reconciliation. (Luke 8:1-3)

In 2017, for the next four years and beyond, I pray we hear the voice of God Still Speaking to us now and come to a deep realization that women worldwide are to be silent and submissive no longer.

In 2017, for the next four years and beyond, we will become great again and again, through our goodness and the strength of our willingness to listen well to the marginalized and the vulnerable and all those whose voices are suppressed, then respond in humility and with love.

Blessings always,

one hour less sleep than you need each night for eight nights in a row, your brain will need sleep as desperately as if you had stayed up all night.

Insomnia can also affect the body as much as drinking alcohol. Studies show 17 hours of sustained wakefulness can result in a decrease in performance equivalent to a blood alcohol-level of 0.05 percent. And after five nights of partial sleep deprivation, three drinks will have the same effect on your body as six would when you've slept enough. Reports reveal sleepiness is second only to drunkenness as the leading cause of automobile accidents.

Want to ensure a good night's sleep? Experts advise against watching TV in bed, because the noise increases alertness, which makes sleep difficult. If you wake up in the middle of the night, don't look at the clock; reading the time will jerk your brain awake. To avoid temptation, turn the clock face away from you before you go to sleep. In the morning, get up once you wake up. Lounging in bed cuts into your waking hours and will postpone your bedtime that evening, a problem if you have to wake up early the next day.

In a study published in the British Medical Journal Lancet, elderly patients slept "like babies" when a lavender aroma was wafted into their bedrooms at night. These patients had complained of difficulty falling asleep and had to take sleeping pills to get sleep prior to the aromatherapy.

Lemon Balm also promotes sleep as it acts as a very mild sedative and Chamomile is a muscle relaxer that has mild sedating properties. Chamomile tea has long been used to relieve stress and promote sleep. It is also used to treat anxiety in sufferers young and old.

Insomnia can also be successfully combated by bathing in hot (up to 103 degrees) water approximately two hours prior to bedtime. And walnuts can even help you sleep more soundly.

The nuts boost melatonin levels, which induces sleep, to three times the norm.

Good Night World: Sleep habits can vary greatly according to geographical area, according to Dr. Michael Breus. The doctor, who is author of "Good Night: The Sleep Doctor's 4-Week Program to Better Sleep and Better Health," reports the following sleeping stats:

- 75 percent of people in Portugal stay up past midnight, the highest percentage of any country.

- 2.7 of the top 10 nocturnal areas are in Asia, led by Taiwan, where 69 percent turn in after midnight.

- The Japanese sleep less than anyone else on the planet, with 41 percent snoozing just six hours or less each night.

- Australians go to bed the earliest and sleep the longest. In a poll, nearly one-quarter of Australians say they go to bed by 10 p.m., and 31 percent said they average more than nine hours of sleep every night.

- One of the loudest snores recorded in Guinness World Records was 93 decibels (120db is a jet engine), by Kare Walkert of Kumla, Sweden, in 1993.

Rivalry renewed as Shepherd Hill outlasts Indians in OT, 80-77 met was on Dec. 30, 2013, and it went down to the wire, with the Indians winning, 67-66.

Well, the rivalry was renewed on Saturday, Jan. 21 — more than three years since the last game — and this one was also a classic. Shepherd Hill trailed for most of the game and faced a 67-59 deficit with just a few minutes remaining.

The Rams rallied, though, and scored 10 of the final 12 points to force overtime with the score deadlocked at 69-69. The Hill then won the overtime session, 11-8, to take an 80-77 decision.

"We were very fortunate today to do the right things at the right time and cash in," said Shepherd Hill head coach Scott Provost.

The Rams forced overtime by getting five straight points from Jason O'Regan (9 rebounds), who finished with 13, including 11 in the fourth quarter. Bartlett's Anthony Grzembksi (17 points) then hit a floater but Shepherd Hill's Kenny Flynn (14 points, 10 rebounds) followed with a layup to make it a 69-66 game. Vaughn Hammond then tied it with an open 3-pointer with 8 seconds to go before the teams did battle in a four-minute overtime session.

"You look at that last minute and a half, and it was wild," explained Provost. "Vaughn hits that big 3 to give us that opportunity."

"I just had to step up for everybody. I like the pressure," added Hammond, who finished with 10 points and 13 rebounds on his 18th birthday. "Best one yet."

Shepherd Hill's Danny Cavic then gave his team the boost it needed in the overtime when he knocked down back-to-back 3-pointers to open up a 75-69 advantage.

"I had [Bartlett's Tyler] Davern on me and Jason [O'Regan] came over with the guy that was supposed to be covering me and they both collapsed onto Jason," Cavic said of the first trey.

Cavic then said he was also open for his second 3-pointer, and shooters shoot, so he took it and made it.

"We were on a fast break and Paul [Veronis] got me the ball in the corner. I was just open and I shot it," he added.

Cavic followed those 3's with a layup to score the first eight overtime points.

"We always have somebody who's ready to step up," said Provost. "They knew what they had to do and they got it done. Danny had a breakout game for us."

Cavic scored 18 points and pulled down 10 rebounds, while Veronis scored a team-high 23 points and secured 8 boards.

"They're really our neighbors, I'm friends with almost the whole team, so we really wanted to win," Veronis said of the important victory over the Indians.

But Bartlett rallied in the overtime and found themselves down just three points, 80-77, with a few seconds to play and with possession of the ball. Grzembksi let a straightaway 3 fly just before the buzzer, but the ball rimmed out.

The Indians dropped to 10-2 as Tyler Davern led the charge with a game-high 33 points and 14 rebounds.

Shepherd Hill snapped its losing streak and improved to 4-5 in the process while renewing their rivalry with their neighbors.

"We got the rivalry back here, this is probably the oldest rivalry for Shepherd Hill. They started the first year the school opened playing Bartlett," Provost said of the 1973-74 season. "All of these kids play AAU together...it's great for the kids."

Kyle Anderson of Bartlett ponders taking a 3-pointer as Shepherd Hill defender Kenny Flynn lingers close by.

Tyler Davern of Bartlett gets set to receive a pass from teammate Cody Adams.

Undefeated Woolies too much for Bartlett to overcome

WEBSTER — Nothing seemed to work out for the Bartlett High girls' varsity basketball team during their home game against Millbury High last Wednesday night, Jan. 18. But it was for good reason, as the Woolies have been surging and are now a perfect 10-0 following their 43-26 victory.

At times the Lady Indians, who dropped to 2-9, made a great effort to stay in the game and fought valiantly throughout, but Millbury's point production began with a 16-point first quarter, which proved to be just too much in the end.

'A win is a win' for Bay Path over Broncos

SPORTS STAFF WRITER

CHARLTON — At the end of the day when any basketball team snaps a four-game losing streak, they'll take the win under any circumstance. Such was the case for Bay Path Regional's boys' varsity team on Tuesday, Jan. 17 when they struggled at times but still did enough to defeat Keefe Tech, 66-43.

"We started off the season real strong with four wins and the last couple of games we've hit a tough stretch," said Minutemen head coach Al Greenough. "Our shooting is down a little bit right now and we're trying to work our way out of that. Our free throw shooting has also been very sub-par."

Bay Path held a large lead of 23 points at halftime (33-10) but the Broncos began the second half on a 10-0 run to trim the deficit down to 33-20, which led Greenough to call a couple of timeouts to try and solve his team's woes.

"What looked like an easy win all of a sudden turned into a closer game than we would have liked," he said.

The Minutemen then righted the ship and finished the third on a 15-9 run to take a 48-29 lead into the final frame. They then won the fourth quarter by an 18-14 count to finish the job and improve to 5-4.

"At the end of the day a win is a win and we're happy with it and we'll move forward to the next game," Greenough said.

Greenough added that the start to the game was promising, with Bay Path finding its offensive rhythm to surge ahead, 19-2, after the initial eight minutes.

"It was nice to get that lead so we had a little bit of a cushion to be able to miss shots later on," Greenough said in a tongue-in-cheek manner.

The Minutemen actually scored the first eight points of the second quarter to build its lead up to 27-2 before settling for the aforementioned 33-10 halftime advantage.

Bay Path's scoring was balanced, with nine players registering at least two points. Drew Paulhus led the charge with 14 points, while Caiden Ellis (13 points) and Andrew Cotton (11 points) were close behind. Teammate Rob Starr pulled down a game-high 11 rebounds.

Greenough hopes that following this victory his team plays like they did during their 4-0 start to the season instead of their recent 0-4 stretch. A record of 10-10 or better at the end of the regular season would push the Minutemen into the Central Mass. Division 4 district tournament for the first time since the 2012-13 season.

"That's our goal is to get those 10 wins and get to the districts. We know we have some tough work ahead of us but we're going to work hard," he said.

And Greenough truly

Drew Paulhus of Bay Path works the baseline to inch closer to the basket versus Keefe Tech's defense.

Joren Ellis of Bay Path catches the ball in transition and in front of Keefe Tech's Brandon Andujas.

Cory Cotton of Bay Path drives into the paint with a lane to the basket.

believes that his squad can get to 10 wins and beyond...if they play Bay Path basketball.

"If our team plays the way they're capable of playing and they play our kind of basketball — which is good defense and transition basketball — if they do that and play our game, then we can compete with anybody on any night," he concluded.

What should you know about taking RMDs?

As we get older, the end of another year takes on greater meaning, in many ways, than it did when we were young. And if you're a certain age, Dec. 31 has a very specific meaning in terms of your finances, because it's the deadline for withdrawing money from some of your retirement plans. What should you know about these withdrawals? And how much control over them do you have?

Here's the picture, in a nutshell: Once you turn 70 1/2, you generally need to start taking withdrawals — the technical term is "required minimum distributions," or RMDs — from your traditional IRA and your 401(k) or similar plan, such as a 403(b) plan (for employees of public schools, religious institutions and other tax-exempt organizations) or 457(b) plan (for employees of state and local governments and governmental agencies). After the first year in which you take these RMDs, you must take them by the end of each year thereafter.

If you don't withdraw at least the minimum amount (calculated based on your age, account balance and other factors) you face a penalty of 50 percent of what you should have taken out — a potential loss of thousands of dollars. So, here's priority number one: Take your RMDs before the end of the year. The financial services provider who administers your IRA or 401(k) can help you determine the amount you must withdraw.

However, after that point, it's your decision as to whether you want to exceed the minimum. Of course, you may need to take more out to meet your living expenses. But if you have enough additional income from other sources — such as Social Security and interest and dividend payments from investments held outside your retirement accounts — you may be able to stick with the minimum withdrawals.

And this could prove to be beneficial, accounts is that these withdrawals are typically taxable — so the less you take out, the lower your tax bill.

You can also potentially lower your tax burden arising from RMDs by being generous. If you take money from your IRA and donate it to a qualified charity (one that has received tax-exempt status from the IRS), you can exclude the withdrawal from your adjusted gross income and count the donation against your taxable RMDs. Suppose, for example, your RMD for 2016 is $5,500. If you take $5,000 from your IRA and donate it to a qualified charity, your taxable RMD obligation will be reduced to just $500. If you were to take another $500 from your IRA, you would satisfy your entire RMD for the year. (Consult with your tax advisor to make sure you're following the rules governing these charitable donations from your IRA.)

You worked many years to build your retirement accounts. So when it's time to tap into them, make the right moves — and do whatever it takes to maximize the benefits you get from your required minimum distributions.

Quaboag's Paquette nets 1,000th career point early as Pirates' late rally falls short Oxford's Kayla Soto shields the ball away from Quaboag's Jillian Routhier after securing a steal along the baseline.

SPORTS STAFF WRITER

WARREN — In the first half of their game versus Oxford High on Wednesday, Jan. 18, the Quaboag Regional girls' varsity basketball team came out strong, which led to a 36-11 halftime advantage. In addition, Cougar senior Lexi Paquette scored her 1,000th career point early in the second quarter to keep the positive party going.

Quaboag then withstood a furious second half rally by the Pirates to win a 54-38 decision.

"I've been waiting for it for a while, it's great to get it done so I can breathe," Paquette said of the pressures leading up to her 1,000th point. "It's kind of the only thing I've been thinking about."

Paquette was quick to add that the team victory was more important than her individual accomplishment, though.

"The win comes first and I knew it was going to come to me, I wasn't going to rush it," she said.

With the Cougars ahead, 20-9, and with 5:25 to play until halftime, Paquette and fellow senior Shaylah Dorman worked a pick-and-roll to perfection, which led to Paquette's easy inside look at the basket for career points 999 and 1,000.

"It's something me and her kind of do a lot," Paquette said of the play. "Whenever we see someone overloading one side we look at each other and we know what to do."

Paquette finished the first half with two more baskets from close range as Quaboag took their 25-point lead into the locker room at halftime.

"She's just a great kid that has really worked," Cougar head coach Cliff Lanier said of Paquette, whose game total included a double-double of 15 points and 12 rebounds.

Lanier then told a story of how hard Paquette has worked on becoming efficient with her left hand that he sometimes needs to remind her to still use her dominant right hand around the rim.

"What a tremendous player she is and she's got a great attitude," added Oxford head coach Joe Pietrzak. "She's just dominant underneath."

That down low dominance was certainly a problem for the Pirates, especially in the first half of play, according to Pietrzak.

"Shots didn't fall, but my problem was defensively. We just gave up too much in the paint, missed assignments, things like that," he said.

The second half was a different story for Oxford. Senior Jordan Tremblay scored 11 third quarter points, which equaled her team's entire first half output. The team totaled 15 points in the third to Quaboag's four to turn it into a 40-26 game entering the final frame.

"Jordan's working so hard every day," Pietrzak said of Tremblay, who finished with 17 points and 8 rebounds. "It's so good to see her come out and do what she did tonight. We have every confidence in her that she's another scorer on our team and we had her guarding Paquette."

Jordan Tremblay of Oxford sets her eyes on the basket before attempting an outside jump shot.

The Pirates then opened the fourth quarter on a 9-4 run at the midpoint to trim the deficit down to 44-35. But the Cougars ended the game on a 10-3 run to finish off their 16-point victory.

"I thought in the second half we won the final 16 minutes so I'm encouraged moving forward," said Pietrzak, as Oxford dropped to 7-2.

In addition to Tremblay's strong performance, sophomore Gina Parmenter (11 points) and senior Kayla Soto (9 rebounds) helped the Pirates get back into the game.

Quaboag, meanwhile, improved to an even 5-5 as they appear to have shaken off a slow start to the season.

"We just have to play hard. We did come out a little soft," Paquette said of her team's early woes. "I don't think we'll have any problem, we just have to work hard."

"We've been playing better," added Lanier.

Other top performers for the Cougars included Dorman (12 points, 13 rebounds) and freshman Jillian Routhier (8 points, 7 rebounds).

Oxford's Karlie Parmenter dishes a pass down low into the block.

Gina Parmenter of Oxford sends a pass into the interior of the lane.

All Saints students participate in MLK Art Contest

WEBSTER — Students in Grades 4-6 at All Saints Academy participated in the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. Art Contest sponsored in partnership by the Worcester Historical Society and the MLK Community Breakfast and Black History Month Committee.

Students read about the life and ideas of Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr. and then answered the questions in a visual form. The questions were "What were the rights that were so important to Dr. King that he was willing to die for them?" and "What are the rights that we would defend with our lives today?"

Out of all the entries submitted to the Worcester Historical Society, three students at All Saints Academy received top honors and one student received honorable mention. In the 6th Grade Division, Ellie Adams was awarded first place, Anna Czechowski was awarded second place, and Keira Giles received Honorable Mention. In the 5th Grade Division, Catherine Sirard was awarded second place.

Attended by state and community dignitaries, Ellie Adams was honored at the annual Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Community Breakfast on January 16 at Quinsigamond Community College.

All four winners will be honored at a celebration at the Worcester Historical Museum on Feb. 4 and their artwork on display at the Worcester Historical Museum from Jan. 10 to Feb. 25 for the public to view.

State Rep. Joe McKenna, Officer Timothy Whiting, Officer Robert Ela and State Sen. Ryan Fattman.

Fattman, McKenna honor Webster police officers

WEBSTER — State Sen. Ryan C. Fattman (R-Webster) and State Rep. Joseph D. McKenna (R-Webster) presented citations from the State Legislature to Webster Police Officers Robert J. Ela and Timothy S. Whiting in recognition of receiving the Medal of Valor at George L. Hanna Awards.

Ela and Whiting were two of only 21 officers honored by Massachusetts Governor Charlie Baker in September. Both officers were recognized for their actions in response to what started as a domestic violence call, and ended in a shootout.

“As a Webster resident, I am grateful for Officer Ela and Officer Whiting’s heroic actions which have helped keep our community safe. Putting themselves selflessly in the line of danger; these men personified the tradition of excellence and courage held by the Webster Police Department,” said McKenna.

The George L. Hanna Awards is named after a Massachusetts state trooper who was shot in the line of duty at a traffic stop.

“We are proud and fortunate to honor our hometown heroes. Officers Ela and Whiting exemplify what it means to be honorable and brave,” said Fattman.

Generac Gives Tips To Prepare A Safe, Winter Storm-Ready Home

You and your family can weather any storm more easily with the proper precautions and preparations.

(NAPS)
Ice, snow, wind and freezing temperatures create hazardous winter conditions that can lead to utility power failures. Preparing the home for extreme winter weather is central to creating a safe and comfortable environment. Generac Power Systems offers an abundance of helpful tips for preparing a safe and winter storm-ready home.

Focus first on emergency power. Power loss can have a negative and cascading effect on the home that amplifies existing health and safety risks. Arranging for backup power with a home standby generator is the best way to ensure a warm, well-lit, safe environment for homebound families. Home standby generators will automatically keep critical home systems running during a utility power outage. It is important to consult an expert, such as an authorized Generac dealer, who is familiar with local electrical and building codes as well as product options to meet personal and home needs.

Perform outside maintenance. Trimming long tree branches near the house and power lines reduces the risk of home damage and power outages. Keep gutters, exterior chimneys and vents clear of debris and snow. Cover window wells with plastic to keep water from seeping into the basement. If you're using a portable generator, it's important to use it safely. Clear an exterior area for safe use of the unit. Never operate a portable generator inside the home or in a garage. Portable generators must be stationed outside, a safe distance away from windows or doors, while in operation.

Keep storm safety and maintenance tools accessible in the garage. Make sure the snowblower and portable generator are working properly. Winterize automobiles with a full tank of gas, water, flashlights, a snow brush, sand, warm clothing and blankets. Keep a supply of sand, salt, snow melt and shovels for clearing the driveway, walkway and steps.

Stock the pantry and kitchen with food, water and first aid supplies. Keep a three-day supply of food and water for family and pets and a first aid kit with bandages, alcohol wipes, antibiotic ointment and a thermometer.

Double-check the medicine cabinet in the bathroom. Running out of life-sustaining medications can be disastrous when wintry conditions preclude a trip to the pharmacy. A three-day supply of medications—both over-the-counter and prescriptions—is recommended. Stock water for flushing if the home is on a septic system.

The home office is command central for emergencies. Vital documents may be needed at a moment's notice. Keep a list of medications and other pertinent medical information, the deed or lease to your home, birth certificates, insurance policies, and family and emergency contact information together in the home office.

What You Should Know About Home Comfort System Warranties

To be sure you get the most comfort from your heating and cooling system, read the warranty carefully.

(NAPS)
Selecting a new heating and cooling system is most often about equipment features and price. But warranties should also be considered as you compare systems. A good warranty will minimize your out-of-pocket expenses if something goes wrong with the equipment. That's why it's important to know what you can expect from the warranty that comes with your purchase.

The terms of a warranty vary by manufacturer. Although every reputable manufacturer offers a warranty with its equipment, the terms or duration of the warranty vary, usually covering equipment anywhere from one to 10 years after installation. Manufacturers' warranties typically cover parts, not labor, and the parts are usually limited to large system components—things like compressors and heat exchangers, not filters and fan belts. Labor is rarely covered because the manufacturer has no control over how its equipment is installed and maintained.

Good contractors provide a written, money-back guarantee of their installation work. This ensures you do not have to pay for a technician's mistake.

Extended warranties provide long-term protection. Sometimes offered by manufacturers and almost always offered by heating, ventilation and air-conditioning (HVAC) contractors, extended warranties usually provide an additional five to 10 years of parts and/or labor coverage.

Planned maintenance agreements provide additional peace of mind. Planned maintenance agreements call for regularly scheduled maintenance, which can help detect problems early, prevent unexpected breakdowns, keep system efficiency high and minimize energy bills. In addition, manufacturers' warranties often require equipment to be serviced by qualified contractors, making a maintenance plan even more important.

It's easy to accidentally void a warranty, which is why it's important to read it carefully and adhere to its conditions. You can void your warranty if you do any of the following: fail to register your equipment or warranty within the required time frame; use another manufacturer's replacement parts; improperly install parts or service the equipment (be sure to use a certified, licensed contractor); neglect annual professional maintenance; or fail to keep good records, including proof of maintenance and repair services.

A warranty should provide peace of mind. To ensure that that happens, take time to read it carefully, review the details and ask questions: Is there a processing fee? When is warranty service available? How long can you expect to wait for a technician to arrive?

Coleman® HVAC warranties provide more than minimal coverage. In fact, they lead the industry in many instances by covering parts and key mechanical components for longer terms than other manufacturers'. A Comfortable Way To Save On Energy Right below your feet is a free and renewable reservoir of solar energy. You can tap into it with a geothermal heat pump, an increasingly popular alternative.

(NAPS)
When it comes to getting a good deal on home cooling and heating, an increasing number of homeowners are going underground.

They're turning to geothermal heating and cooling as an alternative—for five very good reasons.

1. Efficiency and savings: Geothermal systems use the energy already stored in the earth and offer savings in the range of some 75 percent a year. Plus, you're not left vulnerable to volatility in the fossil fuel market or delivery prices.

2. Convenience: There's no waiting for fuel deliveries or running out of fuel at an inconvenient time. Unlike other renewable technologies such as solar or wind, geothermal heat pumps work year-round and day and night, regardless of outdoor conditions, and they require less space.

3. Durability: Geothermal heat pumps have about a 25-year life span, while the underground piping system that accesses the underground energy can last more than 100 years before needing to be replaced. Fossil-fuel furnaces, however, generally have to be replaced after 15 years or so.

4. Rebates: In many places, government and utility rebates are available to homeowners who install heat pumps.

5. Versatility: Unlike traditional systems, a single geothermal unit from WaterFurnace—which manufactures and sells more geothermal systems for homes than anyone else—can provide both heating and cooling. Some can even heat water. In certain cases, this can mean up to 70 percent savings on utility bills.

Easy Decluttering Tips

(NAPS)

Even the cleanest home will look messy if it's not properly organized. Jule Eller, director of trend and style at Lowe's, says there are a few simple ways to declutter your home and make your space look tidy.

Start by assessing each room. Every home and family is different but kitchens, garages and closets tend to get the messiest the fastest.

A kitchen is a gathering place for everyone in the family, so it can become cluttered with everything from backpacks and junk mail to cereal bowls and pizza boxes. Cabinets and pantries can also become cluttered with too many dishes, utensils and spices, but installing a Rev-A-Shelf basket from Lowe's makes it easy to keep things neat.

If you have a garage, you know it's tempting to simply stash away bulky or rarely used items in it, rather than find a space inside your home. But if you make a habit of doing this, you could eventually run out of room to park your car. To avoid that from happening, put a Kobalt cabinet or rail system in your garage to transform it into a functional storage space.

While closets aren't rooms, they can definitely become a cluttered nightmare. Some people think if the door can close, there's still room for storage. Don't let closets get to that point—you'll be a better person for it.

Here are a few additional tips for sprucing up your home while keeping it functional and orderly:

1. Rearrange furniture to maximize the space in each room.

- The sofa in the living room, the bed in the bedroom and the desk in the office demand the majority of space available. Arrange these pieces first.

- Don't place too many pieces of furniture in a small space. A love seat may work better than a full-size sofa depending on the size and shape of the room.

- When creating areas for conversation, keep furniture pieces within eight feet of each other so people can talk comfortably when seated. If possible, keep these pieces facing each other instead of side by side.

- With seating used for reading, remember to incorporate a light, whether it's a floor lamp or an end table with a lamp on it.

2. Create the illusion of space by adding lighting and mirrors.

- Lighting is a key element in opening up a space. If you're lucky enough to have natural light, let it shine in.

- Recessed spot lighting is visually appealing and is perfect for a small space.

- A torchère lamp is great for bouncing light off the ceiling and back down on the room.

- Skylights and solar tubes are natural alternatives for adding light to a space.

- Increase the appearance of the size of the room by adding mirrors. They not only reflect images, but also reflect light and color while adding a decorative element to the room.

3. Use storage products to help you get organized.

- If shelving and closet organization kits aren't enough, keep clothes in storage bins. If you have too much, hold a garage sale or donate items to charity. A good rule of thumb is if you haven't worn it in two years, it's time to let it go.

- Store your utensils in an orderly fashion. Inexpensive baskets and bins work for oddly shaped items or small appliances. Keep stemware, plates and bowls grouped by function, style and shape. This will not only create a uniform look, but save time when meal prep is in full swing.

- You always have the option to build custom solutions, but sometimes that forces you to choose between style and functionality. If you'd rather not sacrifice one or the other, Lowe's offers a wide variety of products that allow you to have both.

You can save time and trouble when your home is neat as well as clean. A few simple steps and inexpensive items can help.

Ultimately, it's important to remember to not bite off more than you can chew. One of the biggest mistakes people make when decluttering is not setting realistic goals on the front end. Come up with a plan before diving in. Look at the room as a whole and then focus on one corner at a time.

Once progress is being made, it will motivate you to keep going.

Monitor Your Comfort And Savings

When you use a geothermal heat pump, you get a system that saves energy, money and the environment while keeping you comfortable.

(NAPS)

You don't have to sacrifice comfort to save money and energy when heating and cooling your home.

Geothermal heating and cooling systems are efficient, energy saving and environmentally friendly. They give decades of reliable, safe home comfort at a low cost.

Lower Operating Cost

A geothermal system operates more efficiently than ordinary heating and air-conditioning systems because it can deliver an astounding five units of energy for every one unit of energy used. Because it combines stored earth energy with safe electric power, many heat pump owners realize savings of up to 70 percent for heating, cooling, and hot water.

Enhanced Comfort

Geothermal systems provide precise distribution of comfortable air all year long, eliminating hot spots and cold spots. During heating, you'll experience warm air without the hot blasts associated with ordinary gas furnaces or the cooler air of an air-source heat pump. When cooling, geothermal systems deliver cool, dehumidified air.

Quiet

Unlike ordinary air conditioners, there's no noisy outdoor unit to disturb your outside environment or your neighbors.

Reliable

Geothermal systems are installed indoors, so they're not subject to wear and tear caused by rain, snow, ice, debris, extreme temperatures or vandalism.

Convenient

New technologies make the systems a joy to use. WaterFurnace offers remotely controlled, cloud-based access to your system from your smartphone, tablet or computer. The platform includes detailed feedback about your system in real time.

You can even choose to eliminate clutter from your walls with an invisible-mount temperature sensor. They offer a zoning solution that allows you to customize conditions in up to six rooms in your home.

Environmentally Friendly

According to the Department of Energy and the EPA, geothermal systems are the most environmentally friendly way to heat and cool your home. WaterFurnace, which manufactures and sells more geothermal systems for homes than anyone else, points out that its systems emit no carbon dioxide, carbon monoxide or other greenhouse gases, which are considered to be major contributors to environmental air pollution.

Keep Safety In Mind When Using Your Snow Thrower

(NAPS)

When snowflakes pile up, knowing how to use your snow thrower safely is an important responsibility.

"A snow thrower is indispensable during the winter for home and business owners," said Kris Kiser, the president and CEO of the Outdoor Power Equipment Institute (OPEI). "But remember, never put your hand in the auger or chute of a snow thrower to clear a blockage. You should always use a clean-out tool to remove snow or debris that gets stuck in your snow thrower."

Kiser offers 10 tips to help you operate snow removal equipment safely:

Look over the owner's manual. Remember to review your owner's manual for safe handling procedures. Most manuals can be found online, too.

Clear pathways and driveways ahead of a storm. Heavy snowfall can hide objects that could clog the chute or damage your equipment. When snow is forecast, clear the area of doormats, sleds, boards, wires and other debris before flakes fall.

Have the right fuel on hand. Use the correct fuel recommended by your equipment's manufacturer. Buy fuel ahead of a storm. And remember, it is illegal to use any fuel containing more than 10 percent ethanol in any out door power equipment, including snow throwers, unless specified for that equipment. For more on fueling properly, see www.LookBeforeYouPump.com.

Store and use fuel properly. Always store fuel in authorized containers. Avoid spills by using containers with spouts. Fill up the fuel tank outside and before you start the engine and while the engine is cold. Never add fuel to a running or hot engine.

Set up a safe work zone. Do not operate your snow thrower close to people and pets. Keep bystanders, children and animals out of your work area. Never throw snow toward people or cars. Don't let anyone stand in front of your snow thrower.

Know your energy level. Excessive vibration, noise, emissions and uncomfortable positions may cause fatigue. Take frequent rests.

Know how to operate controls. Review safe handling procedures for equipment, including how to stop the snow thrower quickly and immediately. If you need to remove debris or Snow thrower safety can be simpler if you heed 10 cool tips.

unclog the chute, always turn off your snow thrower first.

Ensure safety guards are functioning. Never remove safety guards and always keep your equipment in good working order.

Never operate your snow thrower without good visibility or light. Keep a strong footing and firm hold on the handles. Wear safety glasses, warm clothing, and heavy footwear that can handle slippery surfaces. Eye, hearing or head protection gear may be needed.

Use extreme caution on slopes and hills. Do not attempt to clear steep slopes. Use caution when changing directions on slopes with your snow thrower.
